CONTEMPT SHOWN FOR BRITISH FLAG BY MEXIC REBELS

Luis Terrazas, Jr., Is Seized in the British Consulate at Chihuahua City and Is Placed in Prison.

DEMAND FOR $250,000 REFUSED BY TERRAZAS

All Foreign Consuls Join in Protest — No Foreigners Injured in Fighting at Tampico — Battle Likely on Border.

Juarez, Mexico, December 11.—Americans who arrived tonight from Chihuahua reported that the rebels, since their occupation of that city, had entered the British vice consulate and forcibly seized Luis Terrazas, Jr., a son of the wealthy land owner, and placed him in jail.

According to the Americans, the rebels also served notice upon 100 Spanish residents of Chihuahua that their must leave the city within ten hours.

The entry of the British consulate and the seizure of Terrazas, who had gone there for protection after hearing that his life was in danger, were reported to have taken place during the absence of British Vice Consul Scobell. It was said that Scobell, engaged at the action of General Francisco Villa's troops, was denied facilities to protest to the British minister at Mexico City, or to the British ambassador at Washington, and that he then appealed to United States Consul Marion Letcher.

The foreign consuls are said to have joined in a protest, as they also regarded as a violation of the rights of asylum under a foreign flag.

It was said that a demand for $250,000, which he failed to pay, was the chief motive in the arrest of Terrazas.

United States Consul Edwards, at Juarez, said he had received no official confirmation of the arrest of Terrazas up to a late hour tonight. The telegraph between Juarez and Chihuahua was not working.

NO FOREIGNERS HURT IN TAMPICO FIGHTING

Vera Cruz, December 11.—The American consul at Tampico, Clarence A. Miller, reports by wireless that no Americans or other foreigners were injured in the first day's fighting there between federals and rebels. He expresses regret that no vessel is now available at Tampico for the reception of American refugees other than the warships, the British and Germans being more fortunate in having merchant vessels under their flags in port. The consul requests authority from the state department to charter a vessel.

A number of refugees were taken on board the scout cruiser Chester and the cruiser Tacoma. Other refugees were in buildings near the water front.

The Tacoma and the Chester are in the river, with marines aboard, and the guns of the ships control the neutral zone which Admiral Fletcher has fixed for Americans and other foreigners.

Admiral Fletcher has warned both the rebel and federal leaders that fighting will not be allowed near the neutral territory assigned to noncontestants, nor near valuable foreign property.

HUERTA NOT WORRIED BY TAMPICO BATTLE

Mexico City, December 11.—The knowledge that Tampico was in danger of falling into rebel hands did not appear to disturb President Huerta in his routine of affairs and this afternoon he was the guest of honor at a banquet at Tacubaya, a suburb, to celebrate the inauguration of the interurban railway. General Huerta gave the impression that he was not troubled by the possible outcome of events at Tampico.

At the time of the fighting, according to a private message, fighting was in progress at Tuxpam, the rebels being in possession of the freight yards at Dona Cecilla, between Tampico and the coast, from which point the federals had been forced back into the city. Official messages indicated that the federals would be able to resist the attack, but the same note of optimism was lacking in the few private messages received here.

DESPERATE BATTLE LIKELY ON THE BORDER

Juarez, Mexico, December 11.—Convinced that General Salazar intercepted with his 4,000 soldiers, the largest body of federals in the north, is preparing at Ojinaga, on the border opposite Presidio, Texas, to withstand the attack, the rebel forces today sent a strong detachment with ten cannon to reinforce the 2,500 rebels already approaching Ojinaga.

Until the outcome of the situation at Ojinaga is determined, General Francisco Villa's march with his rebel army southward to Torreon and Saltillo will be checked. The rebel leader, now at Chihuahua, has ordered all foreigners in Juarez that he would not leave the north with federal troops behind him.

It is believed that an attack at Ojinaga would be of long duration, as the town stands on a hill and the rebel forts the federals have a sweeping survey of its approaches. During the Madero revolution the place held out long against superior numbers, even though the water supply had been cut off and all provided ditch from the river had to be dug.

Five federal soldiers were killed eight miles south of Juarez today, when they ran into an adobe house when the federals replaced scouts more than ten days ago. Before being taken they held off several hundred rebels for hours, but finally were overpowered.

MADRID BANK BROKEN BY MEXIC REBELLION

Madrid, December 11.—The Hispano-Americano bank has suspended payment today. It had been obliged to temporarily yesterday owing to a run but the Bank of Spain came to its assistance. It was reported that the bank was overloaded with Mexican securities.

NO VERDICT REACHED BY LEE WILL CASE JURY

Unable to Agree, 12 Men Are Carried to Hotel for Night.

Shortly before midnight last night the jury, which for the past three weeks has been wrestling with the Lee will hearing, was taken to a local hotel, as there were slight signs at that hour that the twelve men could reach a verdict.

At 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon the jury, which had retired to deliberate at 2 o'clock, sent word to Judge Bell that they wished to be reinstructed on certain parts of the evidence submitted.

Judge Bell was at his residence, but came downtown and told the jury brought before him, in his courtroom. He again went over his charge given to the twelve men earlier in the day, touching upon the points involving undue influence upon Mrs. Lee in making her will and also the question of what constituted mental incapacity.

Soon after the jury again retired. They were kept in the courtroom until well after 6 o'clock, whe nthey were taken to a restaurant under guard and given supper.

Case Long Drawn Out.

The Lee case has dragged through Judge Bell's division of the superior court for the past three weeks. The hearing has created several sensations, one of them being the statement of Handwriting Expert Carvalho of New York city, that the will held by the two sisters, whom Mrs. Larue Misell is suing to regain possession of her late mother's estate, was undoubtedly a forgery.

The case has also produced an estrangement between Mrs. Misell and her two sisters, while one of the witnesses in the case has sued her husband for divorce because he objected to her testifying in the action.

Two Wills Produced.

The fight over the estate of Mrs. Emma G. Lee opened three weeks ago when Mrs. Larue Misell brought suit against her sister, Mrs. Maud Lee Thompson, to recover a portion of her mother's estate. Mrs. Misell produced a will dated several years before her mother's death in which she was sole executrix of the estate, which is valued at over $50,000. The sisters produced a will signed a few days before Mrs. Lee's death, which made them executrices.

Prominent attorneys on both sides fought each step of the way through the action and the arguments to the jury lasted four days.

Judge George L. Bell read a lengthy charge to the jury on Thursday morning and the twelve men retired to which it verdict shortly after 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

GEN. WOOD WILL CEASE TO BE CHIEF OF STAFF

Secretary Garrison to Select New Man—"Pull" Is to Cut No Figure.

Washington, December 11.—Announcement was made today by Secretary Garrison that on April 21 next, Major General Leonard Wood would cease to be chief of staff of the United States army. On that date General Wood's four-year detail expires, and though there is a provision in the statute by which he might serve the term to be extended in case of war or any other emergency, Secretary Garrison declared that he would follow the spirit of the law and choose a successor.

The secretary's reference to the subject today was occasioned by the publication of a report that the Mexican situation provided an "emergency" under which General Wood might be continued in office.

"I think the law is a good one," said Mr. Garrison, "and I propose to live the spirit of it by choosing another man."

The secretary was somewhat incensed by suggestions, which in this campaign was afoot to bring about the selection of certain army officers.

"I would consider it just as much an imperfection to be asked by a man to tell me whom I was to marry or whom I was to invite to my dinner table, as for anyone to tell me who should be chief of the staff. That office is a very close, personal adviser of the secretary of war and must be personal gifts to him. I will consider unfit any man who has his friends working in his behalf to secure the place."

FOR SWIFT HANDLING OF CHRISTMAS PARCELS

Washington, December 11.—In order to facilitate the handling of holiday parcels during the holiday season, Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Blakeslee today authorized postmasters at second-class offices having both city and rural delivery service to use rural carriers in the delivery of parcel post mail within city limits wherever possible.

30-MINUTE LIMIT FOR AUTO PARKING

Members of the aldermanic committee, after hearing from Whitehall street merchants yesterday afternoon, decided to recommend that under the proposed new traffic laws, no automobile be allowed to stand within the Whitehall street zone for more than thirty minutes. A paragraph prohibiting any street car from standing in the zone for more than two minutes, and the narrowing of the limits of the zone marked the only other changes of importance.

The traffic law, as it will now go to council, allows both electric and gasdriven cars, with or without chauffeurs, to be parked in the streets for thirty minutes, provided the machines are in single file and as near as possible to the curb. Beaumont Davison, of Davison-Paxon-Stokes company, speaking for the dry goods merchants, asked that the time limit be made sixty minutes, and declared that no women could shop in half an hour.

The change in the zone makes Pryor the east line of the zone; Forsyth street the west line; Ellis street the north line, and Mitchell, instead of Trinity, the south boundary.

Peachtree and Whitehall streets, from Forrest avenue, on the north, to Mitchell street, on the south, are included in the zone, irrespective of the other limits.

Other Features Unchanged.

In its other features the traffic law is practically in the shape in which it was originally drawn by the committee of council and members of the chamber of commerce.

Alderman F. J. Spratling sought to have the recommendation made to council that street cars be allowed to run only one way on Whitehall and on Broad streets, but on objection of his fellow committeemen that this would tend to clutter up the bill, he withdrew this. It is expected that he will present a bill before council asking that this be made a law.

The hearing of the new law was a lengthy one. John W. Grant, chairman of the joint committee from council and the chamber of commerce, urged the passage of the original bill. He suggested several different plans which he said he did not recommend, but which he declared the committee of aldermen might adopt if they consider the original one too drastic. One feature that Mr. Grant suggested was that automobiles be allowed to park on the streets running east and west within the zone.

W. G. Humphries and Mr. Davison, as well as Secretary Walter G. Cooper, of the chamber of commerce, presented their views on the matter. Mr. Davison urging, on behalf of the merchants, that women shoppers in Whitehall street be allowed more than thirty minutes to park their machines.

Committee Will Meet Again on Christmas.

That Chicago allows the parking of machines for sixty minutes was a statement made by Mr. Davison. He declared that Atlanta could afford to allow as much time as was allowed in Chicago. Members of the committee replied that greater streets and lack of subways make Atlanta's thoroughfares even more congested than Chicago's.

"There are 2,000 people, mostly women and girls, working in the Whitehall street stores, and there is two million dollars' worth of inflammable material there," said Secretary Cooper. "If between Atlanta to clear the congested streets and give protection to life and property in case of fire. That, I think, is the supreme consideration. Ten minutes' delay to a fire engine from a blocked street might mean fifty lives or ten thousand dollars' worth of property along there."

Members of the aldermanic committee and of the original joint commitee decided that they would, at the time of the traffic law, that it appeared a drastic one, but that drastic measures were needed to clear the congested traffic in Atlanta.

The one-way feature in regard to Edgewood avenue and Decatur street between Peachtree and Pryor was not changed, except that on those streets traffic will be allowed to pass street cars on the left hand side of the street as well as on the right. The automobiles may stop also on either side of the street to unload passengers or parcels. All vehicles on Edgewood will move west with those on Decatur between Pryor and Peachtree.

The proposed law will be taken before council next Monday, as this will be the last meeting of the present council, and it is expected that the law will be acted upon in some shape at that meeting.

OVER 900 DIVORCES IN THREE MONTHS

Chicago, December 11.—Judge Baldwin completed today a call of 953 contested divorce cases heard by him in the last three months. Decrees have been granted in more than 500 of the cases. It is said that this constitutes a record for the dispatch of divorce litigation.

GIRL-KILLING PRIEST AND WITNESSES

The trial of Hans Schmidt, priest and self-confessed slayer of Anna Aumuller, parts of whose body were found in the Hudson river early last September, has attracted wide attention before Judge Foster in New York. The most unconcerned man throughout the early proceedings was the defendant himself. As counsel referred to his act as "atrocious," "brutal" or "monstrous" he showed not the slightest sign of emotion. His appearance was even more unkempt than when he appeared at the coroner's inquest. His fair hung well down over his collar, and his beard showed no signs of having been trimmed. He came into court wearing a long fur overcoat and derby hat, while a handkerchief tied carelessly about his neck took the place of a collar. Three lawyers—W. M. K. Olcott, T. J. McManus and Alphonse G. Koelble—appeared to defend him, the prosecution being in charge of Assistant District Attorney James A. Delehanty, with Deputy Assistant District Attorneys Deacon Murphy and Morris Koenig as his assistants. Mr. Olcott and Mr. McManus are two of the best known lawyers in New York city. Mrs. Josef Igler, a friend of the victim, was examined by the prosecution to show that Schmidt was intimate with the murdered girl. Little Anna Hirt was one of the children that discovered a part of the body that led to the arrest of the priest.

TAFT BACKS WILSON IN MEXIC MUDDLE

Former President Says the Monroe Doctrine Must Be Upheld and a Solid Front Presented to the World.

New York, December 11.—"We are international trustees of the prosperity of the Americas, and the power we enjoy and we are in duty bound to use them when it is both civil and proper to help our neighbors," declared former President William H. Taft tonight in a lecture before the New York Peace society on the Monroe doctrine, which he held should be continued in full force despite the hostility to it expressed in some quarters.

"We cannot be too careful to avoid forcing our own ideas of government on peoples, who, though favoring popular government, have such different ideas as to what constitutes it," continued Mr. Taft.

He alluded to criticism of the application of the doctrine as leading to "intermeddling by our government in the politics of the Latin-American states like San Domingo and the central American republics," and that we are exercising a protectorate of a direct character over some of them. "What we are doing with respect to them," he continued, "is in the interest of civilization, and we ought to do it to aid our neighboring governments, whether the Monroe doctrine prevails or not.

Taft on Mexico.

"When we come to Mexico, where anarchy seems now to reign, the question is a most delicate one. Intervention by force means the expenditure of enormous treasure on our part, the loss of lives and the dragging out of a most tedious war against guerillas in a trackless country. All that those of us who are not in the government can do is to support the hands of the president and the secretary of state and to present to the European powers and the world a solid front.

"Despite the discouraging conditions in Mexico the present situation illustrate the beneficient influence of the Monroe doctrine on the attitude of the European powers, which, in spite of the injury to the property and persons of the nationals look to the United States as a guide whom they are willing to follow in working out a solution."

Taft Praises Roosevelt.

Mr. Taft alluded to Theodore Roosevelt's visit to South American countries, and said he was glad to see that Mr. Roosevelt had sought to impress them with the view of the Monroe doctrine that the speaker had expressed, alluding particularly to the call of the United States under that doctrine to mediate for peace when war between a European power and a Latin-American republic was threatened.

"Indeed," continued Mr. Taft, "he would have helped them, and us, too, far more if he had confined his teachings and lectures to explanation and limitations of the Monroe doctrine and had not sought to destroy the independence of the judiciary and demoralize the sense of justice in two continents.

"Mr. Root, whose great constructive labors in the cause of world peace have just received just recognition in the Nobel peace prize, in his visit to South America, tempted to convince the people of those territories that we wish no more territory.

Hopes for Better Feeling.

"After some years," continued Mr. Taft, "I hope that a consistent course on our part may effect an abatement of the present feeling, but, however that may be, and whatever infuatice the South American peoples may do us in suspecting us of selfish plans against them and their territory, we ought not to allow the present expressed hostility to the Monroe doctrine to change our course."

OGLETHORPE FUND REACHES $180,736

DAILY OGLETHORPE FACTS.

Another $5,917 added to the Oglethorpe university fund.

The committees think it a poor day unless they get over $5,000.

Atlanta has still to raise $69,264.

It will be done before Christmas!

The young men of Atlanta are building a great university.

When Oglethorpe is finished it will be their monument and it will stand to their credit.

A comparison between the campaign opening here and those in other cities will show many of the speakers who will appear before the closing campaign supper.

On Saturday the convention will entertain delegates with auto drives about the city, as well as a sumptuous banquet on Saturday night at the Hotel Ansley. Governor John M. Slaton will address the diners, and several other prominent men will be on the program.

Other officers of the Georgia Hotel Men's association are: T. W. Hooks, of Dublin, Ga., president; S. J. Newcomb, of Augusta, Ga., first vice president; H. N. HOBSON AND UNDERWOOD CLASH OVER PROHIBITION; PROHIS APPLAUD HOBSON

"Dry" Advocates, Packed in Galleries, Shatter Rules of the House as Alabamians Thrust at Each Other.

PERSONAL POLITICS LUGGED IN BY HOBSON

He Quotes Underwood in Way Latter Bitterly Resents—House Cheers Underwood, But the Galleries Yell for Hobson.

Washington, December 11.—Shattering the rules of the house of representatives, champions of prohibition who packed the galleries late today broke into repeated outbursts of applause and shouted as Representative Richmond Pearson Hobson, of Alabama, pleaded for a resolution which would submit a constitutional prohibition amendment to the states.

The extraordinary demonstration continued unrestrained for many minutes as Mr. Hobson proceeded dramatically to discuss the prohibition question, and was not checked until Mr. Hobson had drawn into controversy his colleague, Representative Underwood, who is now engaged with him in a race for the United States senatorship from Alabama. The injection of personal politics into the situation brought the majority leader to his feet with a reply to Mr. Hobson, and this in turn aroused the ire of the members on the floor.

Hobson Strikes at Underwood.

Republican Leader Mann, at this point, demanded that the rules of the house be observed, and Representative Moon, of Tennessee, who was in the chair, admonished the spectators. Quiet was restored temporarily after a voice from the gallery shouted:

"We're American citizens."

In the course of his speech Mr. Hobson had said:

"We ought to have our party understand now while the war is on, that it never was intended for an alliance with the liquor interests. Let there is a great cause, a great Alabaman, who is present today, who recently announced at least that is the way I read in the reports—that if prohibition continues to be injected into democratic politics, either prohibition would be ground to dust or the democratic party

Grandchildren Seeking To Secure the Relics of Jefferson Davis

Washington, December 11.—Relics of Jefferson Davis that for years have rested unnoticed in a little safe in the office of the secretary of war, are sought for by the grandchildren of the president of the confederacy. Secretary Garrison has asked the judge advocate general of the army, Major General Crowder, to decide whether the property can be surrendered without an act of congress.

The relics include Mr. Davis' overproof coat and a shawl that belonged to Mrs. Davis and which Mr. Davis is said to have been wearing when he was captured while trying to make his escape through the south Georgia swamps. There are also several pistols and other articles, the property of Jefferson Davis' son-in-law, W. M. Mays, of Columbus, Ga., and Memphis, Tenn., and Florida. The position is a most responsible one and pays about $5,000 a year.

FLETCHER, OF FORSYTH, FOR BANK EXAMINER

Washington, December 11.—Acting Comptroller of the Currency Kane today announced the appointment of Thomas E. Fletcher, of Forsyth, Ga., chief national bank examiner, to be assigned to a vacancy in the district composed of South Georgia and Florida. The position is a most responsible one and pays about $5,000 a year.

CANADIAN MINISTER COMING TO ATLANTA

Charleston, S. C., December 11.—The Hon. Frank C. Cochrane, Canadian minister of railroads and canals, after resting a week at Summerville, a resort village, twenty-two miles from Charleston, left today for Augusta and Atlanta, in each of which towns he and his party will spend one day. From Atlanta the party will proceed direct to Ottawa, Canada, the minister's official residence. Mr. Cochrane is accompanied by his wife and daughter, Miss Edith Cochrane, and by the family physician, Dr. R. F. Preston.

Terminal District Auction

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 12, 10 A. M.

The Terminal District is a tangible, logical situation with a definite purpose. The railroads have grown around it and developed it up until they have fairly crowded value into it.

Forrest Adair says that its proximity to the business section makes it a property with a positive value and a positive purpose.

E. P. Ansley says that the Terminal District has just been awaiting an opportune time to develop to its fullest height, that that time has now arrived and that within two years this section will be tremendously built up.

R. F. Maddox says that by drawing a radius of 300 miles around Atlanta, which is a reasonable distance, figuring on the time required for mail to leave one city after the close of business to arrive in the regional reserve city by the opening of business the following morning, such a circle will include the States of Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Florida, and a part of Mississippi. In that circle is a population of 10,000,000 people. It takes in a section growing 6,500,000 bales of cotton, with approximately $400,000,000 deposits. Atlanta, by virtue of having fourteen independent lines of railways radiating from it to practically every point of the compass, becomes the logical center for the business of that section in respect to the establishment of the proposed regional bank.

For the following points within this circle, there are about 200 "Package Cars" leaving Atlanta each day over the Southern and A. B. & A. Railroads:-

These cars leave Atlanta every day between 5 o'Clock and 10 o'Clock P. M., running on regular schedules, and give a better and safer service than the express companies. A merchant or manufacturer, if he has as much as 10,000 pounds of freight for one of these points, can have one of these cars placed at his back door in the Terminal District, and load his goods direct to his customers without any further handling by truckmen until the freight arrives at its destination, and without switching charge.

This Package Car service is moving big concerns to Atlanta. A shipper showed the writer where he was able to deliver goods quicker from Atlanta to Lynchburg, Va., than he could from Greenville, S. C., to Lynchburg, because of our Package car service.

There is no denying the fact that the Terminal District is just beginning to come into its own.

Walker and Nelson streets will be widened twelve feet.

The Terminal District Improvement Club is arranging these matters now. It is a section where there are plenty of moderate priced homes to rent to the employe.

It is in the heart of Atlanta.

This is the logical time to buy.

This season will see many of the speculators and investors move back to the centers and make their investments.

After a city has had a few years of developing on the outskirts, there is always a reaction and the centers come in for their part.

The centers are the known revenue earners.

A Little Reasoning About Atlanta and the Terminal District

Every cotton mill of the New England States is wearing out; some have worn out; and as fast as this happens, they are moving to the South to be closer to the raw product.

Every automobile builder now needs either a warehouse or a branch factory situated on railroad tracks to distribute in this Southern territory.

Cheap power furnished by the Georgia Power Co., and in unlimited quantities, is the "smokeless powder" of commerce that will forge us ahead.

A regional bank in Atlanta with the backing of $400,000,000.00 deposits will finance all our undertakings, and more.

Fifty million more people in twenty years in the South will more than double the value of the Terminal District.

Hundreds of millions invested in fourteen railroads, with industrial departments pushing us ahead, is all working in the direction of the Terminal District as a center.

All of Atlanta, the New York of the South, with all of her men and women, the liveliest citizenship in the world, make for us the Atlanta Spirit, a commodity that is always at par.

Don't forget the time, 10 o'clock, a. m.

E. D. Duncan Says:

"The man who buys and builds on this property will find a tenant waiting for him. I have urgent requests in hand now for more than 200,000 square feet of space in this Terminal District which tenants will lease on a splendid interest basis. I have several applicants who want ten-year leases with the privilege of purchasing.

WILLIAM WOODHEAD TO VISIT THE AD MEN

Luncheon to National Head on January 13—Colonel Edgar Watkins Delivers Address.

William Woodhead, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America and general manager and publisher of The Sunset Magazine, of San Francisco, will be the guest of the Atlanta Ad Men's club at a 190-plate luncheon January 13.

This announcement was made at the luncheon of the Ad Men at the Ansley hotel at noon Thursday.

Mr. Woodhead is perhaps the best known advertising expert in the United States. The place for the luncheon is his honor has not yet been selected, but a committee which will select the place and make all arrangements was appointed Thursday. This committee consists of L. D. Hicks, chairman; W. L. Halstead, H. M. Atkinson, George J. Aner, St. Elmo Massengale, J. H. Lewis and Samuel C. Dobbs.

Mr. Woodhead will attend the meeting of the executive committee of the national organization in New York city, January 6 and 7, and will visit Atlanta on his return trip to the Pacific coast.

At Thursday's luncheon Colonel Edgar Watkins, president of the Atlanta Ad Men's club, addressed the Ad Men on "The Ethics of Advertising," Colonel Watkins said, in part, as follows:

Colonel Watkins Speaks.

"Fundamentally the ethics of advertising is based upon the same principle as the ethics of anything else; that is, to return in service, or otherwise, a fair measure for what you receive. The man gets something for nothing cheats some one and injures himself. Honesty means that you pay for what you get, and be sure you must pay. You may not always pay directly but in one way or another you must pay, and the best policy is to pay at once, pay edequately, and pay the right party.

"To advertise is but to make known by signs, words, pictures, or print, some fact or statement. What might be called 'commercial advertising' is making facts concerning something in order that those who may be in need of that thing can know where and how to obtain it. Proper advertising then includes statements of facts. If the statements are untrue, those sought to be interested by the advertisement are deceived if they rely on the statements.

Georgia Needs Law.

"The law permits 'puffing.' Neither the law nor common honesty permits a false statement of fact.

"While honesty is the best policy, every one does not live in that belief, and, as some are dishonest, there should be legal protection, not only for those who may be deceived and defrauded, but for those who being honest themselves need protection from dishonest competitors.

"Our association has done and is doing much to raise the standard of advertisements, but more moral suasion and the dictates of good business are not always sufficient. Those who will not be honest must be compelled to act honestly, or be punished for acting otherwise. Legislation never made an honest man, but laws do restrain dishonest acts.

"It is not only within the legislative power, but proper and necessary, that laws to prevent fraudulent practices in advertising be enacted.

"The law abhors fraud and fraud vitiates all contracts, and the legislature of Georgia can and should enact laws that will punish the dishonest advertiser.

"In advocating a law to prevent fraudulent advertising, I have not overlooked the fact that you have, without legislation, done much to raise the ethical standard of advertisers."

NOTED WOMEN ARTISTS IN CONCERT TONIGHT

Three noted women artists will appear together in the Alkahest Lyceum concert tonight at the Tabernacle auditorium. They are Mme. Grace Hall Ribeldaffer, soprano; Mary Dennison Galley, violin virtuoso, and Ruby Askew, pianist.

Mme. Ribeldaffer is one of the best known singers in the concert stage today. Her stage presence is superb and she possesses a magnificent voice trained to the perfection of art. She has temperament, and the tones of the voice always reach the heart. Miss Galley as a violinist accompanied by the critics, when compared at all, only with Maud Powell and Leonora Jackson.

While the program will be high class music, it will not be heavy. Mme. Ribeldaffer will sing the aria "Ah, fors' e lui" from Traviata, and an aria from Trovatore. She will also sing the Bach-Gounod "Ave Maria" to a violin obligato by Miss Galley.

BAPTISTS WILL RALLY TO AID OF ORPHANS

An investigation of the Georgia Baptist Orphans' home, at Hapeville, last Monday revealed the startling fact that that institution is $15,000 in debt for its current expenses and without funds to meet the bills for food for the 250 orphans who are being cared for there.

To meet this situation the Baptists in all parts of the state will take a special collection at the Sunday schools next Sunday. That day has been designated as "Orphans' Home-Gathering day" in all the Baptist Sunday schools. Eighteen hundred Sunday schools will contribute and it is expected that not less than $16,000 will be raised for the orphanage in a single day.

RELIEVES TURNER OF RESPONSIBILITY

Hurt Building Engineer Declares He Ordered Wiring Torn Out—Turner on Stand for Hour.

Testimony given by R. L. Doolittle, engineer of the Hurt skyscraper, changed the status of the "graft" charges against City Electrician R. C. Turner before the councilmanic committee, Thursday afternoon.

Engineer Doolittle told the committee that he engaged the Russell Electric company to tear out the spliced cables in the Hurt building after he had heard rumors that the Cotton States Electric company, of which Jack J. Peters is president, allowed the cables to be installed contrary to the city electrical code. Doolittle's assumption of the responsibility has a tendency to relieve the city electrician of responsibility.

Aldine Chambers, attorney for the Cotton States Electric company, admitted at the close of she hearing that he had failed to offer proof in substantiation of two of his charges of discrimination. Chambers told the committee that he attached no importance to the charge that Turner accepted a gold watch at a luncheon tendered by the Elektron company.

Attorneys representing Turner contended that the posecution had fallen flat, and made a strong appeal for Turner's exoneration.

The committee took the case under advisement. It will meet at noon Friday to frame the report.

Gifts for Personal Use.

The prosecution stressed the contention that the contributions made by members of the Elektron companyto Turner's campaign fund were accepted by the city electrician after he had filed his report of campaign expenses with J. O. Cochran, secretary of the city executive committee. It was charged that Turner used a part of the money contributed for personal disbursements.

Attorneys representing Turner charged that the prosecution was conceived by Aldine Chambers, attorney representing Peters. W. L. McGaughey, an electrical arbitrator, told the committee that Peters told him that he was "going to get Turner's goat, no matter what it cost," and that he did not care who got the job of the city electrician.

Turner occupied the witness stand nearly an hour when the hearing was resumed Thursday afternoon. He again admitted that he received contributions from electrical contractors, but he said that every penny was used to defray the advertising expenses. Turner could not tell the committee the exact dates he said part of the money, and referred to the receipts which he filed with the chairman. He said that he could not remember, when he was asked to give the names of the persons to whom he paid the money.

Turner admitted that he borrowed $50 from Gus Cantrell, an electrical contractor, and offered a canceled note to show that he paid the money back. He denied that Cantrell did not want to lend him the money. On the contrary, he said, he paid Cantrell 8 per cent on the loan.

Turner's Trip to Chicago.

An effort was made to slow that Turner went to Chicago as the guest of Joel Hurt, principal owner of the Hurt building. Turner said that he went to Chicago with Engineer Doolittle, paying a part of his expenses and allowing Doolittle to pay the balance. He explained that he was taken to Chicago to make a test of traction elevators, also to study the lighting system. Turner admitted that Mr. Hurt was on the same train, but explained that he was going to Louisville. He told the committee that he assisted Mr. Doolittle to make readings.

Turner told Mayor Woodward that he was going to Chicago to study the electric lighting system.

Doolittle's Testimony.

R. D. Doolittle, engineer of the Hurt building, threw some interesting light on the controversy between Turner and Peters relating to the wiring in the Hurt building, in his petition, Peters charged that Turner caused about 2,000 feet of cable to be torn out, causing a damage of $1,000. Peters charged that Turner's act was inspired by prejudice, and before the board of electrical control his attorney charged that Turner had no right to cause the wiring to be torn out.

Doolittle told the committee that Turner had absolutely nothing to do with the tearing out of the cables. He explained that he caused the cables to be torn out. He said that he had employed an electrician to do some odd work around the building, and that a few days afterwards some of the other electricians, whom he believed to be in the employ of Peters called on him and said that the new man had stolen a lunch from one of the men. A few days later the men came to him again and charged he had stolen some tools.

Doolittle said that he called the electrician into his office and told him of the charges, and that he replied that he knew that an effort was on foot to get him discharged because he knew of some defective work. Doolittle said that was the first direct statement he had of the spliced wiring in the conduits. He employed another electrician named Carter. Carter was also attacked by the other workmen, and, according to Doolittle, Carter told him that he knew of the spliced wiring and for that reason the men wanted to get rid of him.

Orders Wiring Torn Out.

Doolittle said that with Carter and Crow's statements he decided to have the wiring torn out. He said that he did not consider Peters or the Cotton States Electric company when he decided to examine the wires. He did not even ask the city electrician to make the inspection. He explained that he felt that the work was dangerous if defective, and ordered it torn out by the Russell Electric company. An examination of the wires, he said, showed that two were spliced. Splicing, he said, is not allowed by the law of the city or the underwriters.

Sam Donaldson, one of Turner's assistants, told the committee that he was present when Peters called on Turner to get his approval of the Hurt building job. The witness said that Peters represented to Turner that he needed an approval from him to get money for the payroll.

Donaldson said that he heard Turner ask Peters if he would give an affidavit to the effect that the cables were not spliced, and that Peters told Turner that the cables were put in according to the rules.

A number of witnesses were called by Turner to testify that he was fair to them.

W. & A. COMMISSION RETURNS FROM TRIP

Members of the Western and Atlantic railroad commission who went to Chattanooga Wednesday afternoon to inspect the state's property in Tennessee, returned last night. They did not all go on the same train nor did they hold a meeting in Atlanta on their return. They were in a great hurry to get to their respective homes on account of business engagements and most of them went straight through to the city without stopping.

There will be another full meeting of the commission some time in January, at which time the results of their inspection trip will be fully discussed.

Ellery's Band Plays At the Auditorium In Concert Series

Channing Ellery, head of the Ellery Royal Italian band, arrived in Atlanta yesterday with his complete organization, which will begin a series of concerts tonight at the Auditorium-Armory under Music Festival association auspices. Tickets will be obtainable at the Auditorium box office.

Mr. Ellery was met at the train by President W. L. Peel, of the Music Festival association, and by several directors. A reception in Mr. Ellery's honor will be given at the Ansley hotel this afternoon at 5 o'clock, to which all Atlanta music lovers are cordially invited.

The programs will be the most artistic and at the same time most popular ever offered by a high-class musical organization in Atlanta. The most wonderful features of the Ellery band work are in the instrumental quartet, quintet and sextet combinations. The sextet from "Lucia," as played by six of the Ellery soloists, is said to be the finest instrumental rendition of this masterpiece on record. The same is true of the Rigoletto Quartet. Saturday night program includes such well known selections as the William Tell overture, Mendelsohn's Spring Song, selections from Puccini's Mme. Butterfly, and the most wonderful of all Liszt's symphonies, "Les Preludes."

DIRECTOR ELLERY.
Of the Ellery band.

Mr. Ellery's two Scottish singers, who will appear in this city with the band, are making a tremendous success wherever they are heard. In San Antonio and Austin, Texas, both men were compelled to sing four songs before the audience could be calmed. Mr. Wallace's voice is a tenor of wonderful charm, full of that alluring quality that comes from a backing of sincere musical sympathy. Mr. Young has a baritone of exceptional range and high cultivation and is equally successful in grand opera, arias and ballad encores, while his singing of humorous songs is quite unique. Tickets in advance for any performance may be had at the Cable Piano company, and Phillips & Crew's.

900 Men to Be Laid Off.

Cleveland, Ohio, December 11.—Orders were received at the Collinwood shops of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railway company here today to lay off 900 men indefinitely, effective December 22. At previous times, when retrenchment has been made, the men have simply been put on a shorter schedule of hours.

MOTHER! IS CHILD'S STOMACH SOUR, SICK?

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember, there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

EPOCHAL RESPONSIBILITY.

President Wilson has tentatively launched his program for trust regulation, in a recent conference with the democratic members of the house committee on judiciary he outlined a provisional procedure touching the fundamental aspects of the question. No attempt has yet been made to elaborate details, a wise decision considering the enormous ramifications of the subject. The distinguishing principles of the Wilson idea is to restore legitimate competition so far as possible and to clear the anti-trust law of the present "twilight zone" which impedes and endangers its enforcement.

Control of industrial monopolies and "big business" generally is of course inevitable. The Baltimore platform pledges the party in that direction, national sentiment has crystallized and the operation of the new tariff law would not be complete or logical unless with it went a revision of the code under which the country now does business. Especially is it essential to eliminate or minimize the uncertainty now hedging the Sherman anti-trust law. The memorable Standard Oil decision of the supreme court, while incisive as to generalities, is nebulous as to particulars. No one now knows what is a "reasonable" and an "unreasonable" restraint of trade. No enterprise, large or small, has any safe way of determining whether it is violating or obeying the law. The sense of uncertainty is a deterrent upon prosperity and expansion, and should not be allowed to continue any longer than conservative relief can be devised.

But if the need for action is apparent, the need for caution is imperative. There can be no question that the nation has had, and now is having, a surfeit of legislation on the great fundamental issues that touch business vitally. We have been tinkering with the tariff for five years actively, and longer than that passively. Soon we will have a new currency system, which in itself will exert an effect profound and far-reaching. Today business and prosperity largely marks time until it shall have seen how to make allowance for these new laws.

In view of these facts, it is obvious that any program as to the trust or the railroads must be advanced with infinite care. The work must be undertaken in a spirit of constructiveness and of tolerance. There must be none of the "baiting" which made the era of the demagogue despicable. There must be, as far as possible, a minimizing of those disquieting influences which invariably follow a tampering with business customs with a growth of decades.

President Wilson and his advisers have shown singular felicity in dealing with the tariff and currency questions. There has thus far been no disposition to run off at a tangent or to go crusading St. George and the dragon fashion. The trust and railroad issues must now be approached in the same spirit, else we shall aggravate and not relieve a confessedly delicate situation.

Fate has brought the democratic party into power at a time when issues agitated for many years have reached the point of legislative enactment. The party must show itself equal to the epochal responsibility. But if these mighty problems are to be solved without penalty the party must close upon them with a mind purged of fanaticism, and with statesmanship and not political egotism the guiding light.

ANTI-VIVISECTION.

One sympathizes with the emotions of the members of the International Anti-Vivisection and Animal Protection congress, now in session at Washington, with judicious grief over their misdirected fervor. The sessions of the congress have been characterized by the old denunciations of animals needlessly tortured by research students and laboratory experts, with the added and sensational charge that vivisection is now extending to helpless human beings.

When one considers that to experiments paralleling vivisection we owe such gains as our practical conquest of diphtheria and hydrophobia, and the promised conquest of cerebro-spinal meningitis, it is a little difficult to understand the insistency of the anti-vivisector. The three diseases we have named are, moreover, only a small allotment of those we now seem bound to cure through experiments on animals. We dismiss the charge that human beings are subjected to these processes as imaginary. Closer and less heated investigation would prove such charges to be of fictional figment.

There is no danger that humanity, misled by mawkishness, will pit the lives of animals against the lives of human beings. That is what vivisection and animal experiments signify. For if animals and their use were barred from the laboratory we would deal medical science a reactionary blow from which it would be years, if ever, in recovering. Knowing how kindly is the average person enlisted in the anti-vivisection crusade, we wish they could be as temperate and clear-visioned as they would have the physicians.

THE WARNING NEW HAVEN.

If any final warning were needed to turn railroad men from the old piratical financial practices of the past, the complicated crisis that now confronts the New Haven railroad should furnish it. For the first time in forty years the New Haven has passed its dividend. The reasons assigned in the public statement are inability to profitably market large cash resources, need for great expenditures for rehabilitation and increasing operating expenses, due largely to wage increases.

Almost concurrently with its action in passing a dividend, the New Haven is making tentative arrangements looking to the flotation of a huge issue of securities for the purpose of undoing the consequences of gross neglect of the past. Here is the rub: If New Haven cannot now pay dividends what attraction is offered prospective buyers of its new securities? The management is thus seen to be brought into an impasse characterized by embarrassment in every direction.

The case of New Haven concentrates in its various features the weaknesses of railroad operations for the past twenty years, weaknesses that still visit their penalties and that must be removed if recovery is to be permanent and not patchwork. If, for example, the New Haven had not for years been conducted as a sort of adjunct to the personal ambitions and greed of a few very wealthy capitalists; if revenues had been turned to betterments instead of "melons;" if megalomania had not seized its operators, and tempted them to milk the property in an effort to monopolize the transportation facilities of their territory, the present awkward situation would not now be confronting the road.

It is of course too late to cry over spilt milk, and it would be folly to attempt to punish the railroad for the sins of the past. The New Haven, like every other important railroad in the country, must make adequate improvement in its facilities or threaten the commerce of its region with stagnation. The only way to make these improvements is to secure loans. The only way to secure loans is to make capital reasonably sure of a return, and in that direction lies the request for the right to slightly increase freight tariffs. In time, of course, the situation will resolve itself. Once the people are sure money is to be spent legitimately, the opposition to an increase of rates will vanish. But it is going to be rough sledding for the New Haven, as well as several of the other roads, until commissions and people alike are assured that the old days of buccaneering are not to return.

It is estimated that the huge sum of one billion dollars will be required to rehabilitate American railroads. That amount turned into the channels of trade will insure an era of universal prosperity. The one uncertain factor is the pledging of the railroads against just such ruinous customs as have brought the New Haven to grief. It is inconceivable that railroads the country over, perceiving the embarrassment with which the New England system is now struggling, will not learn the lesson and make impossible a recurrence of the nightmare-haunted era through which the great systems of the nation so recently passed.

A magazine article is entitled "The Poetry of Christmas." Some of it is sold by the yard, but there are editors who have whole crates in cold storage.

Just From Georgia

Says My Old Man.

I.

"Cold wind's a-blowin'
Jes' in the best I can;
Goin' to have some snowin'."
Says my old man.

"But what's a world o' weather?
The providential plan'
We're all at home together,"
Says my old man.

II.

So sweet each Christmas day is—
No ache nor sigh nor dim;
I don't know where the way is
I wouldn't walk with him.
And with his arms around me,
Still in the sweetest land,
He says he's glad he found me—
Says my old man.

Prose Poem on Roses.

"Roses are the souls of apples," says the Los Angeles Times, "and their leaves are like the foliage of apple trees. They are of one family. Flowers are never just accidents. They are all related to something else. As a little wild rose is like a dear baby, so a big apple tree is like a grown-up person. Some roses have turned in one direction for their fragrance and beauty. Others have been brought up into apple trees for the fruits they bear. Nearly everything people like to eat was a flower until its improvement made it something else."

Literary Note.

"When some folks get in the literary swim," says a Georgia orange, "the first thing they do is to holler for rope and a savage critic hauls them ashore and reads them a lecture which makes them feel like the little end of nothing sharpened to a point."

The Christmas Dance.

Long 'bout the Christmas the joy o' life you feel,
Room a-spinnin' 'round you in the old Virginny Reel!
Old-time happy feelin' that thrilled you long ago,
And kiss yer rosy sweethearts when they reach the mistletoe!

Come in, you fellers.
Out limps in the cold:
Here is all the happiness
The arms o' you can hold.

The big hall rings with laughter an' a fellow's heart—it speaks
In answer to the rose-bloom on a willin' sweetheart's cheeks;
The world outside, a snowy dream by winter-glories crowned,
And you feel yer pulses tingle when the cry is "Hands around!"

Sweethearts of the golden hair—
Brightest of the girls,
And look at Mother's lover
A-kissin' Jenny's curls!

They tell us heaven is far away, but still
That heaven is mighty sociable and comes to see us here;
If the angels hearin' our music a-goin' with a will
Their fairy feet would fidgit, an' you couldn't keep 'em still!

Oh, 'long 'bout the Christmas
Ain't you feelin' fine
(Don't forget me, Jenny)—
The next dance mine!)

If They Should!

The Dalton Citizen has this editorial comment:

"The North Georgia conference is not yet willing to recognize the rights of women as to the ballot. Well, if the women should retaliate by refusing to attend church, the preachers might be able, in the course of a year, to bring a lot of empty benches to repentance."

A Georgia youngster writes of the holiday season:

"It is the time when Dad slips in with bundles when he thinks we're fast asleep, and hides 'em, along with the flask which he calls a 'vy-nette,' and puts one apiece on the dresser and goes to bed with the other one because he can't untie it, and falls off to sleep while Maw is telling him what to get her. A Story of the Moment

The Famous Prose Poet.

USELESS PRECAUTIONS.

"I hear that Jim Bilderbeck is, down with the pneumonia again," said the bosom doctor, "and he says he simply won't take care of himself. Before he was recovered from his last attack he insisted on leaving the house, contrary to the doctor's orders, and now he's in such shape that the undertakers are beginning to quarrel about him.

"I sometimes think," mused the village patriarch, "that it makes no difference whether we take care of ourselves or not. It seems that we are billed to have a certain amount of sickness, and we have to fill our engagements.

"Every winter for many years I have had a succession of bad colds. As soon as I got over one I'd contract another, and by the time spring came my legs were wabbly like those of a calf, and I hadn't strength enough left in me to eat my victuals. This fall my present wife said in a determined tone of voice that there would have to be a reform. I am in the sere and yellow leaf and apt to fall off the earth if I don't watch out, and she was going to take care of me and see that I contracted no more of those fifty-seven varieties of bad colds.

"No man was ever more carefully guarded than I have been since she hauled down this pronunciamento. I am wearing underclothing heavy enough to make horse blankets, and I have a mackinaw vest to protect my lungs, and every time I go home my wife feels my pulse and examines my tongue, and slips a thermometer down my back to see how many degrees in the shade I am registering. She has several large bottles of medicine with quinine in it, and if she sees a hectic or bobtail flush on my cheeks she gives me one right off the bat. All of I have had the average number of colds this fall, and I feel another one getting its tentacles on me—and I am straining here.

"I look forward to the long bleak winter with dread. It's bad enough to have colds under ordinary conditions, when you can let them wear themselves out, but in a million times worse when you are under surveillance, and have to take a large tablespoonful of disagreeable medicine every time you give expression to a hacking cough. I doubt whether I'll survive the winter, but if I do, I know my legs will be more wabbly than ever in the spring.

"I have always been taking precautions against some sort of calamity, and I can't recall a time when they did any good. One year I loaned a vacant lot in the suburbs and undertook to raise a crop of watermelons. I toiled diligently every morning and evening, and in due season had the finest collection of unadulterated melons that human eyes ever saw. Then people began stealing them, and this filled me with indignation. I bought a shotgun and mounted guard over my melon patch for several nights, and nothing happened. Then one night I was off duty, being wornout by my vigils, and that night the yeggmen visited the patch and made a great haul.

"Then I borrowed a savage dog and staked him out among the melons, with a long chain, so he could cover considerable territory. I felt sure that nobody would be so foolhardy as to steal melons in the presence of that man-eating critter, but when I went around to see him next day the dog was in a groggy condition. People who should have been more usefully employed had relieved him of a few bones, with rocks, and had then stolen all the melons worth taking away.

"To add insult to injury, they left a note saying that they had intended leaving my melons alone after the previous haul, but they accepted the presence of the dog as a challenge, and, being dead game sports, they felt it their duty to call out the patch. I have an idea that fortune takes a similar stand. When fortune or fate sees us taking all sorts of precautions to stave off disaster, she considers it a challenge, and goes out of her way to call our bluff and make us realize that we are but small potatoes and few in a hill at best."

HONEST TOIL.

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

Jesus was a Carpenter. Cromwell was a Farmer. Washington was a Surveyor. Franklin was a Printer. Lincoln was a Backwoodsman. To get at great Character and mighty Achievement, you are invariably led to the source of it all—Honest Toil. We are all toilers. And there is just as much dignity and honor back of the sweat of the man who digs with his shovel or wields with a hammer as there is behind the brain of the man whose thoughts, trained and organized, direct the energies of countless workers.

The Glory and Reward of Toil lie in the Worthy Spirit which inspires the unselfish effort of a Man.

This earth does not belong to the people who inhabit it, but to those who, in Honest Toil, magnify its Benefits. You owe more to every man than any man owes to you. We are all Debtors—from the humblest to the greatest. Nor is any one of us entirely Independent. In Honest Toil, however, every man earns and pays his Heritage.

The most Pitiful man on Earth is the one with nothing to do. Whereas, the Happiest man on Earth is the one with the most to do.

So long as you have within you, sound and intact, the scores of marvelous Instruments for Labor and Service that are Hands, Feet, Eyes, Ears, Mouth—each overlorded by a Master-Creative-Brain—you have reason not that there is nothing for You in Honest Toil. There is everything in it. There is nothing for you outside of it.

Curious Bits of History.

(From The Chicago News.)

Mixed bathing was a question that caused trouble under the Roman empire. It came in with the collapse of austere republican manners, and the Emperors Hadrain and Marcus Aurelius found it necessary to issue orders against it. Alexander Severus also forbade the opening of "balnea mixta" in Rome. Later on we find great diversity of view in Europe on the matter. In the fifteenth century Bohemian and Spanish travelers were astonished at the goings on at Bruges, Malines and Brussels, while Bernard observes that "the bathing together of men and women, old and young, naked and as innocent as is, with us, a visit to church." The public baths at the Swiss Baden, where only married people visited the sexes, scandalized Poggio Bracciolini.

Attempts to fix by statute the wages of agricultural laborers in England were chiefly responsible for the great revolt of 1381, or "Wat Tyler's rebellion." It represented the despairing effort of landowners to get back to the level of wages before the black death ceased to make labor dear. But the lord of the manor overshot the mark. He wanted the day wage kept down to 4 cents or 6 cents a day. He put 6 cents or 8 cents in the schedule there might have been no rebellion.

It is now about ten years since the first flight in a motor driven aeroplane by the Wright brothers. The Wrights did not complete their petrol engine until December, and it was on the 17th of this month, 1903, that Wilbur flew 852 feet. That was only ten years ago, but the Wrights maintained great secrecy about their experiments until three or four years later, and were regarded with much incredulity.

The World's Mysteries

HOW DID WELLINGTON ACQUIRE HIS NICKNAME?

The Duke of Wellington, the English conqueror of Napoleon, is familiarly known as the Iron Duke, but this nickname as attached to Wellington has called out a great amount of controversy as to how it was acquired. One explanation has it that it was bestowed on account of his having officiated at the launching of a big ship of the same name at Liverpool. Others have tried to show that the title was bestowed on Wellington long before the launching of the ship.

In a biography of Wellington by Sir Herbert Maxwell, M. P., published in 1899, there is the following paragraph: "The sobriquet conferred on the Duke of Wellington of the 'Iron Duke,' it is true came to him in a roundabout way. An iron steamship, a novelty at the time, was launched in the Mersey and named the Duke of Wellington. The vessel came to be known as the Iron Duke."

An equally notable writer, still further comments on this origin and says: "Great misapprehension prevails at home and abroad concerning the origin of this sobriquet. The fact is it arose out of building of an iron steamboat which plied between Liverpool and Dublin, and which its owners called the Duke of Wellington. The term of Iron Duke was first applied to the vessel, and bye-and-bye, rather in jest than in earnest, it was transferred to the duke himself. It had no reference whatever, certainly at the outset, of any peculiarities or assumed peculiarities in the duke's disposition."

There is a question that is much discussed as to whether this nickname was applied to Wellington during his lifetime. If the iron vessel was the origination of this title, it would appear that its application must have been during the lifetime of Wellington, and Maxwell, already referred to, claims that the sobriquet was not applied to him until after his death. Exception has been taken to this by certain authorities who claim that during his lifetime Wellington was popularly known as the Iron Duke.

In the search for information on this point Richard Edgcumbe states that he consulted an old Berkshire magistrate who often met the Duke of Wellington out hunting. He was responsible for the statement that Wellington at that time was popularly known as "The Iron Duke." But a son of one of the duke's most intimate friends is responsible for the following statement:

"I can safely say that never in my young days, nor when I had arrived at maturity, did I hear the name of the Duke of Wellington converted into 'Iron Duke.' Of course, I have often seen that sobriquet in print—probably in 'Punch' or some comic paper."

No one has been able to ascertain with any degree of certainty when the vessel that the duke was supposed to have christened was launched. In 1844 one of the Dublin mail steamers was called "The Iron Duke." In The London Punch, of 1842, the hero of Waterloo is spoken of as "the wrought iron duke." Eight years later in an issue of the same paper, Wellington is alluded to as "the iron duke." These facts would seem to indicate that the duke's appropriate sobriquet was, in a naval sense, prior to the iron age.

A locomotive called "The Iron Duke" was built at the Great Western Railway Locomotive Works at Swindon in 1847, and it is supposed to have been named for Wellington.

Summing up all the evidence, there is no doubt that the Duke of Wellington was commonly called "The Iron Duke" in lifetime. But whether his officiating at the launching of the steamboat had anything to do with it is a question for which no data this explanation: "The sobriquet came of his having had iron shutters put up at Apsley house to protect the windows in some time of political disturbance." By many it is believed that it originated with London Punch, like so many other odd and interesting things. As early as 1849 in this journal in an article headed "The Iron Grammar," the following sentence will be found: "The Iron Duke rides down the grammar of our language with the same daring with which he rode down the Old Guard at Waterloo."

THE HOG.

By GEORGE PITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

The hog is a machine for the transforming of corn into money. He is also a refutation of the saying that in union there is strength. When a hog is united and in good running order he is a nuisance and a great expense. But when he has disintegrated and his fragments have been scattered from Maine to California per refrigerator car he becomes a national asset and a source of wealth to which we point with pride if we are selling him, or which we view with alarm if buying.

The hog when intact is an appetite equipped with two legs and a squeal. This distinguishes him from the great financier, who has to go galloping with two legs. Men eat to live, but the hog eats to die. A man can eat enough to keep himself alive for 70 years, but a hog, if industrious he can eat enough to die with great eclat and profit in eighteen months.

The hog has never been called handsome, even by a post-impressionist. He has a large round head, snoverend nose, heavy bristles, short stout legs, small uninspired eyes, ears which look like corn husks and a ridiculously ineffectual tail. His face runs almost entirely to nose, and for tearing up ground four long nosed hogs are equal to one Panama steam shovel. The rest of the hog consists of mouth and digestion. This is the secret of his great usefulness. With the aid of his nose he turns corn into bank stock, farm land, automobiles and general prosperity. After a hog has consumed the contents of a corn crib he stops being a hog and becomes bacon, ham, lard, pork chops, sausage, pickled pigs' feet and other luxuries and can readily be traded for the common, hard-faced dollar which is so popular in all sections of society.

Because of his wide acquaintance with mankind, the hog has no race prejudice and spends his time trying to keep what he can't eat himself away from his friends. He lives a wild free life on the farm, but dies with great science and enthusiasm in the great packing houses at the rate of fifteen miles an hour. Modern enterprise and efficiency every part of the hog except his squeal and arrangements are now being made to reproduce these squeals by phonograph in order to perpetuate the remarks of Wall street during the passing of a tariff bill.

Plain Speaking.

(From The Chicago News.)

It is now universally recognized that consumption is a curable disease—curable when caught in time. What is needed to conquer the disease is fresh air, wholesome food, proper care and cheerful surroundings.

In spite of these established and widely heralded facts the first impulse of the person afflicted with the white plague is to run in search of the arid regions of the west. He deserts his home and the comforts which the home or a sanitarium near home could provide and goes to Colorado or southern California. The climate does not compensate him for the detrimental effects which the change has forced upon his constitution. The atmospheric benefits are offset a thousandfold by the waste and inconveniences to which the patient exposes himself in a strange country. A ticket to Colorado or California in the hands of a tuberculosis victim of limited finances is frequently a pass to the Beyond.

The possible health service in Washington is now doing some plain speaking on this subject. It says to consumptives to stay at home and get all the fresh air and good food and cheerful company they can instead of going to get beautiful climate, but poor food, homesickness and isolation.

Demand for the Minuet.

The outcry against the tango, it is recalled by The London Everyman, is only what happened in the case of the waltz, which was once denounced by Byron and in the case of that demure and restrained exercise of the light, fantastic toe, the polka, which at first blush was looked upon by our grandmothers with the same aversion that has been inspired by the bunny hug, turkey trot and tango. "By the way," asks Everyman, "is there any one great enough to revive the minuet? If it could be done, the cult of awkwardness would receive its death blow."

BEEF STEAK PIE.

Beefsteak pie need not be made from beefsteak. Any cooked poultry or game will do quite as well, so it is cut in small pieces.

After the meat is cut prepare the seasoning; this is in three parts, one part salt, one pepper and the third just a pinch of nutmeg. You may dispense with the nutmeg and use onion salt or onion juice if you prefer, but the bit of nutmeg is delicate and makes it nicer.

Put this seasoning mixture in a shaker and sprinkle it lightly over the pieces of meat, then sprinkle minced parsley over it and place in a well buttered baking dish with white potatoes cut in quarters, between the layers of meat. Add boiling water to make gravy and sprinkle with a little flour so the gravy will not be too thin.

Cover with a short paste and wash its top with yolk of egg diluted with a little water. Bake in a moderate oven until you are sure the potatoes are done. Serve in the dish it is baked in.

Chicken pie may be made from the same short paste with creamed chicken for the filling. Roll the puff paste out into a sheet about half an inch in thickness and cut in good sized rounds. Chop or cut the cold chicken into small pieces. A little veal may be added to help out if there is too little chicken. Make a thin cream sauce and stir the chicken into it, season.

Fold each round of paste over one-half, so as to form a sort of pocket and place a tablespoonful of the chicken mixture in it. Pinch the edges firmly together, wash the top with egg and bake. These little "cakes" may be baked with a top and bottom crust if you wish by using gem or cup cake pans.

Oyster patties are made in this same way, but the oysters must be steamed in their own liquor and thickened with a little cream and corn starch. The seasoning for the oysters is pepper, butter and celery salt.

If you use muffin rings bake the rounds of pastry in them and when finished cut the middle right out with a sharp knife and fill this well, or cavity, with the creamed mixture.

FAVORITE RECIPES OF DISTINGUISHED WOMEN

By MRS. JAMES F. BYRNES,
Wife of Representative Byrnes of South Carolina.

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

It is fortunate that all terrapin are not diamond backs, for if such were the case and the present high rates per dozen still prevailed, it is certain that there are hundreds—yes, thousands, of families who would never acquire any closer acquaintance with this queer table delicacy than could be obtained from observing the window display of a high-grade fish dealer or a fancy market.

Terrapin are always sold alive and are considered in season from November to March, and, though the smaller and diamond backs are the finest of them all, there are varieties of the fresh water terrapin which are both good and inexpensive.

My favorite way of serving terrapin is to cream it and the recipe is as follows:

Creamed Terrapin.

Make a cream sauce to be steamed two tablespoonfuls of butter and one of flour in a saucepan over the fire and cooking it to a smooth paste, then a pint of cream is gradually added, stirring slowly until it boils. Season with a teaspoonful of salt and one-quarter teaspoonful of white pepper, a bit of nutmeg and a dash of cayenne pepper.

Next put a pint of terrapin meat on to heat to the scalding point and then stir in the well-beaten yolks of three eggs. Do not allow the terrapin to boil after adding eggs. Pour in one-half a cupful of good Madeira wine, a tablespoonful of lemon juice, and serve at once, while hot.

Her Shopping Husband.

Here is something new, a widow's "shopping husband," and it comes from a London court. A widow had sued to recover 30 pounds sterling, the value of a pair of diamond earrings.

Plaintiff stated that on June 23 she went to the shop and bought the earrings. Afterward she was not satisfied, went back to the shop, and after a heated discussion recalled at a pawnbroker's, who valued the stones at 20 pounds sterling.

Counsel read a letter from the plaintiff, in which she said that her "husband was not satisfied with the stones." "But you are a widow?" he added.

Plaintiff—Yes, I sometimes when shopping use the term "my husband," because I have been "done" so often.

THREE CHURCHES PLAN EACH TO BRING 1,000

Demand of Friendship Baptist for 1,000 Seats Gives Impetus to Big Mass Meeting.

Another one of the negro churches came out yesterday with a demand for 1,000 seats at the big mass meeting next Sunday night at the auditorium-Armory, making the third church to demand this number of seats, and giving a big impetus to the enthusiasm existing for the meeting. The new entrant into the ranks of "highest bidders" is the Friendship Baptist, one of the largest churches on the south side of the city, of which Rev. E. R. Carter is pastor. The other two that have asked for 1,000 seats are the Wheat Street Baptist and the Big Bethel African Methodist Episcopal.

In making his request to the Auditorium distribution committee Thursday, Dr. Carter expressed the greatest enthusiasm for the meeting and declared he would use every energy possible to help the Y. M. C. A. secure the $250,000 necessary to begin work on the new building. Dr. Carter is, in point of service, the oldest pastor in Atlanta, having been pastor of Friendship Baptist for thirty-one years.

"I believe there is a moral obligation resting upon the negroes of Atlanta to pay up their old subscriptions and to make new ones, in order that this project may not fail," said Dr. Carter in addressing the committee Thursday.

"It is the duty of everybody to pay up at once, without further delay, and I heartily believe that every seat will be raised at Sunday night's mass meeting in the auditorium."

Professor John Hope, president of Morehouse college, will make an address next Sunday morning in the Friendship Baptist church in the interest of the campaign, and it is announced that every colored pastor of Atlanta will preach on the same subject on Sunday morning. Special addresses are being arranged in a number of other churches.

Final arrangements for the Sunday morning services will be made at a special called meeting of the colored ministers for Friday evening at 7 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. rooms on Auburn avenue. At this time reports will be made by the finance, distribution and entertainment committees, as well as other committees in charge of different work.

CRISP FARMER SWINDLED BY SAME OLD "CON" GAME

Cordele, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—S. R. Johnson, a well-known farmer of Worth county, was yesterday victimized out of $98.51 by the scheme of a negro tramp, who is, perhaps, the same negro who has been working a similar "fleece" game in other communities of this section recently, in which farmers were the victims.

The negro went to the home of Johnson with the statement that he wanted to make a contract to work a two-horse farm that his family was in Crisp county, and that he had been employed by W. H. Cunningham, a turpentine operator at Coney, whom he owed an amount near a hundred dollars. Before he would be free to make a new contract he would have to settle this obligation, said the negro. Johnson agreed to settle the account due to Coney in company with the negro with his wagon to move his family to his farm. Upon their arrival there, after night, the negro went into a store owned by the turpentine operator, purchased a box of matches and then placed on a slip of paper with a fountain pen the amount "$98.51." He returned to the farmer seated in the wagon and handed him the slip stating that that was the amount of the debt. Johnson started to settle the account, but the negro explained that Mr. Cunningham was very busy and that he could settle the account more quickly and satisfactorily himself if he had the money. The blandishments of the negro worked and he got the money, then disappeared in the darkness, making good his escape.

3 WHITE SLAVERS GIVEN YEAR TERMS IN ATLANTA PEN

Savannah, Ga., December 11.—Three men were sentenced here today to a year and a day each in the United States prison at Atlanta by Judge Walter B. Sheppard for violation of the Mann white slave act. Allen H. Young and Charles Crosby, of Savannah, were convicted of bringing two young women here from Jacksonville in May, 1912.

John Derbyshire was sentenced for bringing Mrs. Emily Kalman here from West Brownsville, Tenn. He was arrested on complaint of Mrs. Kalman.

THE ENTIRE COUNTRY IS ENJOYING FINE WEATHER

Atlanta, Ga., the entire southeastern states and the whole country, in fact, at the present time is enjoying unusually fine weather.

Local by the weather makers say that it will be fair, with but little, if any, change in the temperature.

Save for certain parts of Texas and in the extreme north Atlantic coast, there wasn't a smudge on the entire weather map of the United States, when it came from the press on Thursday.

So far as the local weather forecasters can see, Atlanta is due for an uninterrupted succession of beautiful southern winter days.

Unless all signs fail, Sunday will be as pleasant as the weather makers say today will be before the sun sets.

The entire state reports the same kind of weather as prodded locally, bearing out the hint given out two weeks ago by the local weather bureau that Christmas would bring forth a magnificent brand of weather unless conditions changed materially in the next week.

Handkerchief Made by Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Brings U. D. C. $20.25

A hand-embroidered linen handkerchief sent by Mrs. Woodrow Wilson to the Atlanta bazar conducted by the United Daughters of the Confederacy was sold for $20.25 yesterday. Immediately after being bought by a general subscription of about a dozen ladies who are members of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the handkerchief was presented as a gift to Mrs. Helen Plane, the honorary president of the Atlanta chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy.

The $20.25 goes into the treasury of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, with credit given to Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, accordingly. When the ladies of the Atlanta chapter planned the bazar a few months ago, they wrote to Mrs. Wilson asking her to make some donation to be sold at the bazar, but on account of the white house wedding the handkerchief did not arrive in time for the regular bazar, which was held several weeks ago. The ladies were determined, however, to show their appreciation of Mrs. Wilson's gift, and decided to chip in their dollars and halves to purchase it as a gift to Mrs. Plane.

Government System Blamed for Thefts By Postmasters

Savannah, Ga., December 11.—Judge William B. Sheppard, in the United States court today heard the government for its method of paying fourth-class postmasters according to Samuel H. Baisden, postmaster at Pembroke, who convicted of making false returns, and was given sixty days in jail.

Judge Sheppard said that the government perhaps was as much responsible as the culprit in cases like this. He said that the method of paying fourth-class postmasters is a snare and a pitfall for the unwary, and that young and much responsible boys, having many of these positions, were often forced by temptation to fall into the trap to eke out a livelihood.

The government ought to pay the men by salaries, he declared.

LEDFORD REARRESTED AS HE LEAVES PEN

Judge Newman, of the United States court yesterday issued an order directing the removal of John Ledford, a United States prisoner, from Atlanta to the custody of the federal court in the eastern district of Kentucky, where he is wanted to answer an indictment by a federal grand jury charging illicit distilling.

Ledford walked out of the federal prison near Atlanta yesterday after having completed a two-year sentence imposed by the judge of the federal court in the eastern division of Kentucky into the arms of an officer awaiting him. From the federal prison gates Ledford was carried before United States Commissioner Carter by whom he was committed to jail in default of bond awaiting a transfer order by Judge Newman.

The prisoner, in charge of a federal officer, is now en route to Kentucky, where he will be again arraigned upon the warrant by which he was carried back to that state.

MRS. NUNNALLY LAID TO REST AT WEST VIEW

The funeral of Mrs. Winship Nunnally, who died at the Grady hospital Thursday morning, took place yesterday afternoon from the home of Dr. Woodward. The young men who had officiated at her wedding eighteen months ago acted as pallbearers, and a large assemblage of Atlanta's most prominent people were present at the impressive funeral services, conducted by Dr. Orme Flinn.

A wilderness of beautiful flowers expressed the love and devotion of many friends.

Mrs. Nunnally was the only daughter of the late Dr. Hunter P. Cooper, who was one of Atlanta's most eminent physicians. Her grandfather was Rev. Tucker, the first of the church men who brought spiritual guidance to Atlanta's early days.

Mrs. Nunnally is survived by her husband, Mr. Winship Nunnally, who is one of Atlanta's prominent younger citizens, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Nunnally; also her mother, Mrs. Henrietta T. Cooper, and by one brother, Hunter P. Cooper.

The interment was at West View.

MAN MISSES DEATH BY NARROW MARGIN

People on an incoming West End car early Thursday morning saw a man narrowly escape death when his horse "shied" at the car and ran away.

A man driving a high-spirited horse, hitched to a racing sulky met the West End car at Formwalt street and Trinity avenue. The horse suddenly stopped, and threw his master out of the sulky and between the shafts. The man managed to straw himself across the shaft as the horse dashed off down the street at a break-neck pace. The car stopped, and people crowded the platform to watch the fate of the driver.

When the runaway had gone a block a pedestrian dashed into the street to stop the horse, but the horse ran by him. The horse slowed up, however, sufficiently to allow its driver to climb upon the shaft and back into the sulky.

As he went on down the street at a smart pace he looked back at his breathless spectators and laughed.

Election in Cordele.

Cordele, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—The nomination of J. H. Lamb, W. Wilson and D. L. Hulloch as aldermen of Cordele was affirmed in a general municipal election held yesterday, a light vote being polled. The new aldermen will take office during the latter part of this month.

MERCHANTS TO CONFER WITH TRUCK GROWERS

Much Good Expected From Meeting Planned by the State Chamber.

Arrangements are being perfected by President Harry Hodgson, of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, for a conference between the truck growers of Georgia and several hundred representative commission merchants at Savannah on either January 15 or 16.

It is believed that a great deal of good will result from this conference. One of the planks in the state-wide constructive platform of the state chamber is diversification of crops. In order to make diversification desirable, the farmers of the state must have good marketing and distribution facilities. Marketing conditions in Georgia are at present in a chaotic state, according to the chief executive of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, and he believes that a meeting between the truck growers, especially those from south Georgia, and representatives of the large commission houses in all parts of the country will give the markets a healthful new impetus.

The state chamber, in conjunction with the Savannah commercial bodies, will issue invitations to scores of produce growers in the state early in January, urging them to meet the commission merchants in Savannah.

A definite date for the conference will be fixed in the near future.

The National League of Commission Merchants will hold its annual convention in Jacksonville on January 17. Several hundred delegates from every state in the union will attend the big meeting in Florida. The delegates will stop in Savannah one day on the return trip north, and it is now purposed to have the truck growers of Georgia meet them there at that time.

MRS. LANGFORD ASKS DAMAGES OF $15,000

Mrs. Jennie B. Langford on Thursday filed in Fulton superior court a suit against the Griffin Construction company, W. W. Griffin, W. Sosnal and James T. Anderson, asking $15,000 damages for the collapse of a building at 140 Whitehall street, which she owns.

The petition sets forth that the building at 140 Whitehall street, near Trinity avenue, collapsed November 26 last, and that this collapse was caused by the defendants' negligence in undermining its foundations and removing its lateral support.

In the petition the value of the building is given as $10,000, and the rental was placed at $12,000 and the rental at $1,500 per annum.

Mrs. Langford's attorney, who filed the petition, is Edmund W. Martin.

EXTRACTS NEEDLE STUCK IN FOOT FOR FIFTY YEARS

Waycross, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—Extracting a piece of a needle that broke off in his foot fifty years ago while at Austin, Texas, is the unique operation performed by George Trevor Lowell-known Ware county farmer of Manor.

He is working on a chicken house in his yard he ran a needle under and up examining the heel found the protruding needle. He sawed it off a part of one he used when a boy eight years old, and now wondering why the needle never gave him trouble before. He was bandaging up a hurt to his foot when he broke a needle fifty years ago by grunon from her home at Brookwood. The young men who had officiated at her wedding eighteen months ago acted as pallbearers, and a large assemblage of Atlanta's most prominent people were present at the impressive funeral services, conducted by Dr. Orme Flinn.

CHARGED WITH ATTEMPT TO SPIRIT OFF A WITNESS

Waycross, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—Charged with contempt of court and with having tried to induce a negro witness against his brother, G. C. Music, to leave Ware county, Arley Music, well known in this section, was served with notice tonight to appear in superior court for trial.

G. C. Music entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of burglary in court today. Solicitor General M. D. Mitchell called as a witness Pino and the investigation by the court showed that Pino, a day before court convened, left Waycross for Blountstown, S. C., having received a note and a sum of money from Arley Music. Sheriff Pittman got an inkling of the affair and had Pino arrested on the train in Pierce county, holding him for Music's trial. The brother charged with burglary was fined $250.

13 APPLICANTS TAKE EXAMINATION FOR BAR

Thirteen applicants took the examination for admission to the local bar before a committee of the court Thursday afternoon.

The applicants were seated at intervals of several feet and under the eye of the court they wrote their answers to a series of legal conundrums upon which will be based the question of their right to "hang out their shingles."

ARNOLD'S BODY SENT TO HOME IN NEW YORK

The body of Frank P. Arnold, who died Tuesday morning at the Georgia prison from an operation, was sent at midnight last night to New Berlin, N. Y., for funeral and interment.

Arnold was formerly a banker at New Castle, and had served sixteen months of a two-year sentence for violation of the national banking laws.

Eastman Real Estate.

Eastman, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—Big trade has been consummated between W. L. Jessup, of this city, and W. H. Cutter, formerly of this city, but now of Hawkinsville, whereby Mr. Cutter takes over the large farm of Mr. Jessup, together with its entire equipment, and Mr. Jessup comes in the possession of four stores in Eastman, three stores and Mr. Cutter's residence in Hawkinsville, the transaction involving about $50,000.

Kills 710-Pound Hog.

Canton, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—Z. T. Timmons, of Waleska, this county, has slaughtered a fine hog, weighing 710 pounds net. While a number of large hogs have been raised in this section this year, this is the largest one, and Mr. Timmons is being roundly congratulated for his success.

TWO AND A HALF DOLLAR GOLD PIECE FOR A CHRISTMAS GIFT

Atlanta's Oldest Savings Bank Will Supply You.

Why puzzle your brain about what to give for a Christmas present? Some people suffer a nervous breakdown and almost go crazy in solving this problem.

The Georgia Savings Bank and Trust Company, the bank that makes saving easy by accepting deposits as small as $1.00, will give free a brand-new Troy and a half dollar gold piece of the 1913 coinage for its equivalent in any other denomination.

A pass book would also be a nice thing to put in the stocking.

This bank pays 4 per cent interest and would appreciate your savings account.

$300 MORE IS ADDED TO RED CROSS FUND

Mrs. J. M. Cooper and Mrs. B. N. Boykin to Be the Chairmen Today.

Mrs. Luther Rosser, Jr., was very happy last night that her day's sales of Red Cross Christmas seals will run past $300 for Thursday, bringing the totals for the first two days close to $700.

"I think we did very well," said Mrs. Rosser, "when it is considered I had only twenty-nine girls, and only three or four of these girls are busy all day. Yesterday there were fifty workers, most of whom were busy all day."

It was generally agreed that the day's accomplishment, all things considered, was very satisfactory. Miss Laurie Johnston worked the entire days, registering fine sales for both days.

"We are just starting," said Mrs. Willet, general chairman. "In a few days now we will be running more than $500 a day. The girls are just becoming interested, and it will be easier each week to enlist a large number of enthusiastic workers. We are going to reach that million mark by the evening of December 24."

Mrs. John M. Cooper and Mrs. B. N. Boykin will be the chairmen for Friday, and they will have a large number of workers out. Both hope to set a new record. All young ladies are also requested to report at the Piedmont parlors, on the main floor, at 8 o'clock Friday morning at 9 o'clock Mrs. J. Wade Conklin, chairman of the open air school committee of the Anti-Tuberculosis association, with a bevy of young ladies, will leave from in front of the Gould building in four autos to distribute the seals to the schools of Atlanta.

The seals will be turned over by the committees to principals of the schools, who will deliver them in turn to the teachers. Teachers are limited to only each pupil, who will sell the seals until December 24.

SMALL TOWNS IN THOMAS VISITED BY ROBBERS

Thomasville, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—A number of robberies are reported from the small towns through the Thomas county section and there has been a good many on the outskirts of Thomasville also.

Reports from Coolidge state that the home of Dan Lee was entered a few nights ago, the thieves forcing an entrance into the building but finding only some small change in a drawer, as they were not able to get into the vault. They also broke into the express office and fared better there as they found a supply of Christmas booze on hand waiting to be called for by the owners and they promptly made away with all of it, having enough to celebrate the holidays in fine style.

The store of H. H. Drew, located on Cook street, some blocks from the center of the city, was entered a few nights ago, the thieves carrying away some $200 worth of merchandise, consisting of shoes, dry goods, groceries, etc.

Rome, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—The Lindale Rebekah lodge, No. 77, has selected the following official corps for the first semi-annual term of 1914: Miss Emma Frazier, noble grand; Mrs. M. E. McDonald, vice grand; Miss Angie Mae Mull, secretary; Mrs. Alma Rose, treasurer.

SICK, SOUR STOMACH, INDIGESTION OR GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" Makes Upset Stomachs Feel Fine in Five Minutes.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stomach poison, head dizzy and aches; belch gases and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated, and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if sour food is a damper instead of a help remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at any drug store. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things right, so quickly and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

POSTOFFICE THIEF SENTENCED TO PEN TO CURE DRUG HABIT

Savannah, Ga., December 11.—Confessing that he broke into the postoffice at Kingston, Ga., and stole about $75, taking it to buy a drug, George A. Clark, about 40 years old, was sentenced to eight months in the Atlanta penitentiary by Judge William B. Sheppard in the United States court today.

"I shall send you to the Atlanta prison to care you of this habitual use of this drug," said Judge Sheppard.

BOY HUNTER KILLED AS HE CLIMBS FENCE WITH A LOADED GUN

Dalton, Ga., December 11.—(Special.) While attempting to cross a fence near his home in the eastern part of this county this afternoon, Troy, the 12-year-old son of George J. Mitchell, a prosperous farmer, was instantly killed by the accidental discharge of a shotgun with which he had started hunting. One side of the unfortunate youth's head was blown entirely away. The boy was promptly pronounced dead and his tragic death is deplored throughout this section.

SWIFT COMPANY'S CASE IN AMERICUS POSTPONED

Americus, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—In Sumter superior court this afternoon a continuance was granted in the case of the state against Swift & Co. and their former Americus representative, T. L. Price, who are being prosecuted by state Pure Food Inspector P. A. Methvin, upon the charge of offering for sale and selling alleged infected meats. The grand jury last week, at the instance of Inspector Methvin and City Physician Wade Chambless, returned an indictment against the Swift Packing company, when, in reality, no such corporation exists. The misnomer was detected Monday and another indictment returned, this one against Swift & Co., which has an Americus branch. Upon plea of attorneys requesting sufficient time on second indictment for consideration and preparation of the case, and getting witnesses here, a continuance was granted. Inspector Methvin and City Physician Chambless appeared in court in the prosecution of the indictment.

CHARGED WITH BREAKING CATTLE QUARANTINE LAW

Rome, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—Charged with violation of the interstate cattle quarantine laws, four wealthy cattle raisers of north Georgia were summoned before United States Commissioner John C. Printup today, and gave bond of $200 each for their appearance here at a preliminary trial on December 19. The men are George W. Welch, W. H. Clarkston of Chatooga county; W. A. Bowen and Charles Hatfield of Walker county. They are accused with having shipped to Alabama cattle infected with fever ticks.

Dallas Odd Fellows.

Dallas, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—New Century lodge, No. 130, I. O. O. F., has elected the following officers for the coming year: H. Y. Holland, noble grand; W. A. Nodeen, vice grand; J. H. Carter, recording secretary; M. L. Bates, financial secretary; J. S. Boggs, treasurer.

POSTOFFICE RECORDS BROKEN ON WEDNESDAY

The Mail Was Many Thousand Pieces Greater Than Ever Before.

Though Christmas is two weeks off, the Atlanta postoffice is now handling more matter than it has in the past during the same period.

"Wednesday night marked a new record in Atlanta's postoffice history because the mail that night was many thousand pieces greater than for any previous twenty-four hours since Atlanta has had a postoffice," said Postmaster Jones yesterday.

Reports by the force handling the mail handed Postmaster Jones yesterday morning showed that during Wednesday's working hours 240,000 pieces of first-class mail and 90,000 pieces of second, third and fourth-class and 25,000 parcel post packages were handled. To handle the mail indicated the Atlanta postoffice is now calling for 1,200 to 1,600 mail sacks every day. In the mail handled Wednesday the force had to contend with 15,000 calendars sent out by a single Atlanta business house.

And Christmas is yet more than two weeks off.

With the same increase daily it will be easy for any one to compute what it may be during the Christmas week.

Great Congress of Dolls To Be Held at Mrs. Peel's

The entertainment on the afternoons of December 19 and 20 will be full of interest, these dolls having been sent from nearly every state in the union to swell the fund of the Joseph Habersham chapter house. The affair is under the auspices of the building committee, of which Mrs. Peel is chairman.

The individuality of these dolls is wonderful, no two being alike, from the baby in long white dress or the little girl in flowered muslin to the lady of higher degree in stiff brocade with tortoise shell lorgnette and hand-painted face.

In addition to the show a musical-tea will be given on Friday, the 19th, from 3 to 5, with some of our most popular amateurs taking part, and others who will be introduced on that occasion.

On Saturday, December 20, during the same hours, a children's carnival will be held, when they can also see the dolls. Children who wish can come in costume, which they always enjoy. Many amusements will be provided, a Lilliputian wedding, dancing by some of the most attractive children in the city, tableaux, etc.

The public is cordially invited to both these events. Admission, 25 cents; children, 10 cents.

Bridge Luncheon.

Mrs. W. M. Lewis and Mrs. John F. Burdine entertained at a pretty bridge luncheon yesterday in their apartments on Courtland street. The rooms were attractively decorated with ferns and pink roses, and the score cards were hand painted in quaint figures.

Mrs. J. J. Murphy won the first prize, an embroidered guest towel, and Mrs. E. B. Peckmore won the consolation prize, a calendar.

After the game the guests were seated in the dining room for luncheon about a round table covered with a Cluny lace cloth over pink satin. A tall crystal vase, filled with pink roses and maiden hair fern, was in the center of the table, and the candle shades, cakes, ices and other details were pink.

Mrs. Lewis wore a gown of black charmeuse satin combined with lace, and Mrs. Burdine's gown was black messaline trimmed in fur.

Those present were Mrs. Earl E. Watson, Mrs. John Farnsworth, Mrs. Cromer, Mrs. M. R. Dillard, Mrs. J. H. Watson, Mrs. R. B. Jason, Mrs. Irene Rockmore, Miss Pink Cherry, Mrs. Oscar Hunter, Mrs. Charles Jordan, Mrs. J. C. Wright, Mrs. J. J. Murphy, Mrs. W. A. Baugh, Mrs. Fred Lange, Miss Myrtle Rockmore and Miss Irene Rockmore.

Grady Nurses Entertain.

Quite an enjoyable evening was spent at the Grady hospital nurses' home on Wednesday evening in honor of Misses Callie Frazier, Grace Smith and Ethel Puryear, three nurses who will finish their course in the training school this month.

Delicious refreshments were served, Miss Gertrude Shepard presiding at the punch bowl.

The committee of arrangements was Misses Clyde Seawright, Goldie Weinbern, Julia Israel and Ruth Hall.

Birthday Party.

Little Thelma Florence Hunt entertained her friends at a birthday party at her home on Ripley street, December 9. The occasion was to celebrate her seventh birthday. The color scheme was beautifully carried out in pink and white. Miss Beatrice Hamlett presided at the punch bowl. The favors were little pink baskets tied with white ribbon and filled with candies.

The guests present were Misses Beatrice Hamlett, Juanita Strong, Fay Watson, Helen Wilcox, Dorothy Sarath, Frances Law, Arabelle Carpenter, Sarah Turner, Virginia Carpenter, Evelyn Brooks, Masters Dick McKinstry, Herbert Brooks, William Griep, Orie Wilcox, Leroy Watson.

Date of Dance Changed.

The date of the dance to be given by the boys of the high school has been changed from December 19 to December 23. It will be given at Taft hall and promises to be a very delightful occasion of the holiday season.

To Mr. and Mrs. Gray.

Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Elkin will entertain at the dinner dance Saturday night at the Driving club in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Inman Gray.

To Mr. Ellery.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Blosser will entertain on Saturday evening at their home in compliment to Mr. Ellery and a group of the others in the Ellery Royal Italian band, which plays at the Auditorium tonight and tomorrow.

The occasion will be an informal and delightful one, assembling a few musical friends to meet the noted visitors after the Saturday night concert.

Miss Smith Entertains.

Miss Callie Hoke Smith was hostess at a beautiful luncheon yesterday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ronald Ransom, the occasion a bright gathering of debutantes to meet Miss Katherine Ellis, guest, Miss Dorothy Alexshire, of Washington.

The party of twelve was seated at a handsomely appointed table, its decoration in pink and white. The centerpiece was of Killarney roses and larkspurs, the silver candlesticks had pink shades, and silver dishes held dainty confections in pink and white. The hand-painted place cards were figures of Dutch girls.

Miss Smillie to Entertain.

Miss Irene Smillie will entertain the members of her bridge club and their husbands on the evening of December 30, at her home on Piedmont avenue.

Franklin-Berman.

The wedding of Miss Reba Franklin and Mr. Clarence Berman was a pretty event of yesterday, taking place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. F. Franklin, at Decatur on same street. The house was decorated with palms and ferns effectively grouped with the profusion of red roses, carnations and narcissi.

The ceremony at noon was performed by Dr. David Marx, and was witnessed by a number of relatives and friends. The bridal party stood before an altar of palms and ferns in the drawing room.

The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Joseph Franklin, and she was attended by Miss Bernice Berman, of Columbia, S. C.

Mr. R. Berman, of Columbia, S. C., was his son's best man.

The bride wore a suit of Copenhagen blue cloth, the coat opening over a white lace blouse, and she wore a hat to match. Her flowers were a shower of bride roses and valley lilies, and she wore a diamond lavalliere, the gift of the groom.

The maid of honor wore a gown of white messaline with touches of satin.

A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony.

The centerpiece of the bride's table was a pretty arrangement of red and white carnations and narcissi.

Mr. and Mrs. Berman left for a trip of two weeks to New Orleans and other points.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. B. Berman, Miss Barnetta Berman and Mr. and Mrs. Sol Fleishman, all of Columbia, S. C.

For Mrs. Duncan.

Mrs. George Battey entertained twelve guests informally at tea yesterday afternoon at her home in compliment to Mrs. W. W. Duncan, of Spartanburg, S. C., who is visiting her granddaughter, Mrs. Turner Fitten.

Dancing Club.

The Tuxedo Dancing club will hold its regular semi-monthly dance at their clubrooms, in Lee street, tonight. It is expected that a large number of persons prominent in West End society will attend.

Miss Stephens Entertains.

The afternoon tea given yesterday by Miss Nannie Bagby Stephens at her home in Druid Hills was an occasion of unusual beauty and enjoyment, combining with the purely social feature a musical program of highest artistic standard.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stanley, newcomers in Atlanta, were the guests of honor. And assembled to meet them was a company of one hundred and fifty. Mr. Stanley was a pupil of Leschetizky at the same time Miss Stephens studied with the famous master in Vienna, and it was interesting that there were present two other prominent musicians who were also his pupils—Miss Edwine Behre and Mrs. Wayne Wilson.

Mr. Stanley played the first movement from Schumann's "Taschenbuch" and a Staccato Etude by Rubenstein. His work, founded on a technic masterful, and the force in the case of the first composer to suggest, and leave out, the interpretation to the hearer, and in the second number to drive home what Rubinstein would have done, his whole brilliant idea. His playing had the finish of concert quality, a characteristic of the entire program.

Mrs. Benjamin H. Elsas sang a Von Fielitz cycle, and its quiet intensity, all the more effective when it does ascend to climax, was ideally interpreted. Mrs. Elsas has the cultured sense of dramatic values, as well as a beautiful voice, and the combination is most satisfying. Miss Edwine Behre played artistic accompaniments.

Mr. Bonawitz, a baritone of fine ability, who is a recent musical acquisition in Atlanta, contributed German and French songs. He has a voice of delightful quality, an easy delivery, a pleasing freedom from mannerisms, and an enunciation which is well nigh perfect.

Mr. Geo. F. Lindner, who is one of the most substantial of Atlanta's musical assets, played a group of violin numbers.

Tasteful decoration in the holiday season flowers made appropriate setting for the music, clusters of narcissi, growing begonias, poinsettias and sultana the arrangement with effect, and delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. Arthur Hynds and Miss Nell Phillips poured tea at a table picturesque with sultana blooms in rustic baskets, and assisting also in entertaining were Miss Grace Stephens, Miss Daisy Martin, Mrs. Martin Dunbar and Miss Allie Candler.

Miss Stephens was becomingly gowned in white lace and ermine. Mrs. Stanley was gowned in blue brocade, the corsage of lace and silver.

Moore-Barrett.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Mathews Moore and Mr. Connor Barrett will be a great event of this evening, taking place at 9 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor A. Moore. There will be present only a family party. Rev. Mr. Barrett, of South Carolina, and Rev. Mr. Harrison, of Macon, will officiate, and there will be no attendants.

Mr. Barrett and his bride leave immediately after the ceremony for New York, where they will make their home.

To Mrs. Graham.

Mrs. W. H. Kiser was hostess yesterday at a delightful luncheon, assembling ten ladies to meet Mrs. James Edward Graham, of Cleveland, the guest of Mrs. James L. Dickey.

The table's centerpiece was an effective arrangement of begonias with ferns, and the rose pink of the flowers was repeated in pretty decorative details.

Mrs. Kiser wore a becoming blue cloth gown. Mrs. Graham was with a black satin gown a velvet heart trimmed with Paradise. Mrs. Dickey wore wistaria crepe and fur with a black picture hat.

DOUGLASS-ALLFORD.

Talbotton, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—The wedding of Miss Anne Douglass and Dr. Columbus Alford, of Sylvester, Ga., was a beautiful event of Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. at the home of the bride's father, Dr. John B. Douglass.

Rev. O. B. Chester, pastor of St. Luke's church, Columbus, Ga., performed the ceremony in his usual impressive manner.

Miss Mary Douglass, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Misses Clara Spivey, Martha K. Smith, Emily Baldwin. The ceremony was followed by a delightful luncheon.

Immediately following the luncheon the couple left for an extended trip through Florida and Cuba. After their return they will be at home to their friends in Sylvester, Ga.

Dinner-Dance and Luncheon For the Surgical Convention

The large social function complimenting the Southern Surgical association, which convenes at the Georgian Terrace next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday will be a dinner dance at the Piedmont Driving club on Wednesday, the 17th, at 8 o'clock.

The hosts of the evening will be a group of Atlanta physicians and their wives. The visiting surgeons will number one hundred, and some will be accompanied by the ladies of their families. A few of the married set will be invited to attend them.

The twenty-five ladies in the convention party will be entertained at luncheon on Wednesday at the Capital City club the hostesses to be the wives of the Atlanta members of the association.

Reception to Band Leader By Music Festival Board

The Atlanta Music Festival association will hold a reception this afternoon at 5 o'clock at Hotel Ansley, to which the public is invited, to meet Mr. Ellery and a group of the soloists of the Ellery Royal Italian band, which plays tonight and tomorrow at the Auditorium.

Mrs. W. L. Peel, assisted by the wives of the members of the association board, will receive, and the occasion will be one of social and musical interest.

A delightful musical program will be presented by several of the stars of the organization, and the reception will introduce in pleasantly informal way a delightful musical week-end.

MEETINGS

The Second Ward Civic club will hold its next regular meeting at the residence of Mrs. J. W. Haden, 643 Washington street, Friday, December 12, at 3 p. m.

The West End Mothers' club will meet in the kindergarten rooms, 122 Peeples street, this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Woman's Choral club will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Phillips & Crew's.

The Atlanta chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at Craigie House. A short but delightful program has been arranged, Judge John S. Candler will give a half hour talk on Georgia's part in the revolution. Tea will be served by Mrs. Joseph Thomas C. Whitner. Delegates to the state conference at Macon will be elected. A large attendance is urged.

BUTCHER'S BIG KNIFE SCARES OFF BURGLAR

Sam Swerdin, a butcher, put to rout two negro highwaymen yesterday when they attempted to hold him up shortly after he had opened his shop at 37 Richardson street. They escaped, and the detectives have no clue to them other than the description furnished by Swerdin.

Swerdin was bending over the cash register of his place about 6 o'clock, when two shabbily-dressed negroes entered. Both threw revolvers in the butcher's face. Swerdin grabbed a heavy butcher knife and threw it at the robbers. They took fright and fled. The knife stuck an inch deep into the floor. Had it struck either of the negroes it would probably still be imbedded in his body.

Adjourned Court in Ware.

Waycross, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—Judge T. A. Parker today ordered an adjourned term of Ware superior court, to start January 19 and complete the civil and criminal business announced ready for this term of court, which comes to an end tomorrow.

COTTOLENE
CONTAINS NO HOG FAT
USE 1/3 LESS

Here is what Marion Harland said in 1906 about

Cottolene

"Many years ago, I discontinued the use of lard in my kitchen and substituted for it, as an experiment, Cottolene, then comparatively a new product. Since my first trial of it I can truly say that it has given complete satisfaction. I honestly believe it to be the very best thing of its kind ever offered to the American housekeeper."

MARION HARLAND.

Cottolene makes biscuits that are tender when they are cold—that is a sure test of a good shortening. Try it yourself. Make the biscuits like this:

Won't you follow the example of famous cooks and make Cottolene THE fat for all your cooking?

Order a pail from your grocer; also send to us for the valuable FREE Cook Book, HOME HELPS.

BAKING POWDER BISCUITS

2 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons Cottolene, 3-4 cup milk. Sift flour, salt and baking powder together; rub in Cottolene; mix lightly and quickly; mixture should not be dry; roll out on board, cut into small biscuits, bake ten to fifteen minutes in hot oven. To make biscuits richer, mix with cream. Whole wheat, graham or rye biscuit may be made in the same way.—Edith L. Clift.

"HUB" TALLEY MUST SERVE HIS SENTENCE

According to the decision of the supreme court rendered yesterday, "Hub" Talley, the notorious Atlanta "blind tiger," must serve the sentence imposed upon him by Judge Reid in the criminal court.

Pending action on a conviction obtained against him in 1912, he was tried on a writ of lunacy taken out by his family on July 9, 1912, was adjudged insane, and was sent to the state sanitarium, at Milledgeville by Judge John R. Wilkinson, county ordinary. He was released by the sanitarium authorities as sane October 14, 1912, and was re-arrested in Atlanta October 19, 1912, to serve out the sentences of the court.

Then it was that W. B. Talley sought the habeas corpus writ, basing his petition on the ground that the detention of H. W. Talley was illegal because Talley had been adjudged insane and sent to the asylum.

The supreme court holds that inasmuch as no insanity plea was entered at the time of the trial, it did not become valid later in stopping penalties imposed by the court. The insanity verdict in the ordinary's court, and the commission of Talley to the sanitarium, delayed operation of those penalties, but when Talley was declared sane he became subject to them at once.

BURDETT LOOMIS SELLS WAYCROSS LIGHT PLANT

Waycross, Ga., December 11.—Announcement was made here today that Burdett Loomis, Sr., of Hartford, Conn., and members of his family have disposed of their interest in the $250,000 power and light plant, located in Waycross, to Stuyvesant Fish, of New York, president and now sole owner of the plant. It is reported that friction that arose over changes in the mechanical department caused the deal.

Mr. Loomis is now devoting his entire time to a large paper mill recently erected here.

Jackson-Alsop Wedding Preceded By Most Brilliant Entertaining

The wedding of Miss Eula Jackson and Mr. Edward H. Alsop, which takes place tonight at the First Methodist church, has been preceded by a series of brilliant entertainments, these concluding yesterday with a dinner party last evening at 8 o'clock at which Miss Katherine Ellis was hostess, and a supper and dance later in the evening, when Miss Margaret Grant was the hostess.

Miss Ellis received her guests in the rose drawing room, and was assisted by Miss Alsabire, of Washington, who is among the charming visitors in the younger society set.

Miss Ellis wore white brocade satin, the corsage sparkling with brilliants. Miss Alsabire wore nile green charmeuse, and Miss Jackson, the popular honor guest, wore a dinner gown of pale pink satin and lace. The party of twenty, including the bride, bridesmaids and groomsmen, Miss Alsabire, Mr. Charles Cox and Mr. Marsh Adair, were gathered about a circular table, which presented a most artistic decorative scheme. In the center was a miniature Italian garden. The fountain in the center was ornate with turtle doves, and in the water beneath there were tiny figures in bisque. About the lake narcissi in bisque urns were placed, and here and there were tiny vases holding miniature plants. At each end of the table were little white purgolos hung with pink roses and asparagus fern. On the crystal glasses were turtle doves each holding a billet doux, on which was the name of the guest. Souvenirs were little French bisque dolls.

The cakes and ices were in a design of lilies and orange blossoms, and the same idea was carried out in all the details of the table appointments.

After dinner the party repaired to the First Methodist church, where the rehearsal for the wedding was held, the ushers meeting the party at church.

After the rehearsal, Miss Margaret Grant, who will be maid of honor tonight, became the hostess of a bright party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Grant. Dancing was enjoyed in the hall room, amid decorations of palms.

Later a delicious supper was served, the guests assembling in the dining room. Here the decorations were in bridesmaid roses enchantress carnations and narcissi.

The sweets were served from a table in the center of the room, where a vase held a shower bouquet of the flowers. Silver candlesticks had shades painted in roses, and the cakes and ices were in a design of the roses.

Miss Grant wore a dancing gown of apricot silk with garniture of turquoise blue. Mrs. Grant, who received the guests in the drawing room, wore a white satin gown with draperies in shadow lace and silver.

The wedding of Miss Jackson and Mr. Alsop will be followed tonight by a reception and supper at the Capital City club, when the bridal party, relatives, out-of-town guests and close friends will be entertained.

TICKET SALE OPENS FOR KELLER LECTURE EXPECT BIG CROWD

Tickets for the lecture of Helen Keller at the Auditorium-Armory on the evening of December 19, opened Thursday at Cable hall, and indications are that the advance sale will be heavy. Interest in the first appearance of this remarkable personality is general, and there seems to be no doubt that a very large audience will be present on the evening she tells the story of her life.

Miss Keller comes to Atlanta at the solicitation of the Atlanta chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and the benefit will be for that organization. The local chapter feels, therefore, that Atlantans will be more than glad of this rare opportunity.

The lecture by Miss Keller is entitled "The Heart and the Hand, or the Right Uses of Our Senses."

The name of Helen Keller can never be separated from that of Mrs. Macy, the teacher and companion of twenty-six years, and who with infinite patience reached through the walls of silence and darkness of the then child and unfolded to that outside world and its multiplicity of interest to her pupil.

Mrs. Macy speaks first, and tells how she came to teach Helen Keller, and how she was first able to reach the child mind through the natural sense of touch. She reveals the slow and painstaking work of love and devotion in its primary stages, until the whole system of finger language came suddenly to the girl.

MANY WITNESSES IN CRAWFORD WILL CASE

The Crawford will hearing dragged through another dull day before Auditor James Anderson, in the Thrower building, Thursday.

Attorney James, chief counsel for the proponents in the civil action against Mrs. Crawford, which seeks to wrest from her control an estate valued at over $250,000, introduced several new witnesses in rebuttal to the testimony offered last week by Mrs. Crawford's attorneys.

Attorney James sought to have the witness bring out the fact that Mrs. Crawford and a former husband, named McKinnon, of Pittsburg, Pa., had conspired to secure a divorce, and, therefore, Mrs. Crawford was not legally a single woman when she married Joshua Crawford, her aged and wealthy husband.

Other witnesses declared that Mrs. Crawford had received a letter from Crawford before the pair were married, in which the old man said that Mrs. Crawford need not come to Atlanta from St. Lucaria to be married, as he had changed his mind.

The hearing adjourned at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon until this morning.

WATT KELLY INJURED BY AUTO ACCIDENT

Crashing into a telephone pole at Boulevard and Auburn avenue Thursday morning, an automobile driven by Watt Kelly, an attorney with offices in the Temple Court building, was badly damaged. The driver was painfully injured, having been buried from the machine.

The other occupants of the car, however, were uninjured. They were Frank Ferrell, manager of the Ferrell Building company, and William H. Bell, an insurance official.

The pole was severed cleanly, falling to the pavement. The accident occurred when Kelly swerved his car into the pole in order to avoid a collision with an oncoming car which had just rounded the corner.

SOUTHERN IS FINED $50 IN TWO CASES

The Southern railway, charged with violating a congressional act fixing the limit of time service for employees, on January 26, 1913, by running a crew between Jesup and Atlanta overtime, was found guilty on two counts in the indictment and was fined by Judge Newman $50 on each count—a total of $100 and costs.

FRANK'S LAWYERS COMPLETE BRIEF

Judge Roan's Ruling Is Severely Criticised in Appeal to Supreme Court for New Trial

Judge L. S. Roan's ruling in the Frank case was severely criticised in the brief which Frank's attorneys will file with the supreme court today. It is charged that Judge Roan refused to grant the defendant a new trial when he himself admitted that he was in doubt as to his guilt.

The brief was presented to Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey Thursday. The brief of the evidence has also been completed and the attorneys will be in readiness to begin anew their fight for Frank's life when the case is called in the supreme court next Monday. The brief of the evidence is very lengthy, filling 600 pages of ordinary size.

The arguments will consume another 289 pages and the original motion for a new trial together with the amended motion, 189 pages. The total is approximately 1,100 pages.

What Defense Claims.

In commenting on Judge Roan's statement in refusing a new trial, the defense says, in part:

"The court keeping in mind the danger and the temptation has repeatedly reversed the court below when it appeared from the record that the trial court, from timidity or from misapprehension as to the law, failed to exercise his own discretion and substituted the verdict of the jury, for the discretion which it is the solemn duty of the court to exercise.

"It is, of course, true that the court in determining whether or not the trial court has exercised or failed to exercise its legal discretion will look solely to the record, giving full force to the presumption that the court has exercised its discretion and that the verdict does, in fact, meet his approbation. In the present case the court rendered an oral judgment, as will be seen from the bill of exceptions.

"What must have been the state of mind of the trial judge when he denied this motion? What a turmoil of mental doubt and vacillation must have overwhelmed him? Think of the case as he might and as much as he said he did he was yet unable to find a yard of solid conviction on which to stand. Try as earnestly as he did, he reached and could reach no conviction that satisfied his heart or his conscience. Unsettled and perturbed, with no hope of peace or rest, he casts the whole burden upon the jury."

When the Frank case is called next Monday, the attorneys will ask for a longer time to present their argument than the usual two hours allowed to a side.

ENCOURAGING REPORTS HEARD BY METHODISTS

Increases in the donations for missionary work and also for national support and the reports of several new churches shown yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Northern Methodist Episcopal churches at Edgeston Memorial church, was decidedly gratifying to the laymen and pastors who assembled there for a three-day session.

The meeting is being held by the pastors and laymen of the churches in the vicinity of Atlanta, and a number of workers in the missionary and educational field are meeting with them.

The greater part of the first afternoon was taken up with reports from the various pastoral charges and by the committee engaged on the admission of men to the pulpit.

Dean R. D. Standel, of the Chattanooga university, delivered an educational address Thursday night. The missionary address was delivered by Secretary D. D. Martin.

Friday will be taken up with reports and addresses from the men in the various congregations who are working to increase church membership and to build up the work of the churches.

A reception at which there will also be addresses will be held Friday night at the church. The meeting will last through Sunday, when special sermons will be preached. Bishop L. D. Leete, of Atlanta, will preach in the morning; Dr. W. W. Bowen, of Birmingham, will preach Sunday night.

S.I.A.A. Annual Meeting to Be Held at Jacksonville Two Days; Important Action to Be Taken

The annual meeting of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association will be held at Jacksonville, Fla., today and Saturday. Many important matters are to be discussed.

Every college in the association will be represented at the meeting by one or two delegates, and the majority of them have already arrived in the convention city.

Reports indicate that the session is going to be a stormy one, and that there will be several matters to come up regarding which a strenuous fight will be waged by those favoring and those opposing.

New President.

The first important step to be considered at the meeting will be the election of a new president. Dr. W. J. Lyndley, of Vanderbilt university, who has held the reins for several years, has resigned and a successor must be named.

Vice President W. M. Riggs, of Clemson, who has been acting president of the association for several months, is in line for the presidency, and will probably be nominated and unanimously elected.

The sectional vice presidents, the secretary, and treasurer and all the other officials of the association will be re-elected, unless they decline the places.

One-Year Rule.

A one-year rule to take place of the one now in vogue will be presented at the convention by some of the delegates and a most strenuous fight will be centered around it.

According to those favoring the new rule, it proposes to make it absolutely essential that an athlete be a resident at a college one year before he is eligible to participate in any branch of intercollegiate sports.

This rule, so say those who favor it, will eliminate entirely the possibility of ringers on a team, as no ringer will want to be a bona fide student at a school for a year before being allowed to participate in sports.

The rule would work a hardship on some schools the first year, but if it is fair for one it is fair for all, and it is undoubtedly the most sensible one-year rule yet presented.

"Ole Miss" Case.

The University of Mississippi is going to ask for reinstatement in the association, according to reports from the home of that college.

Mississippi has been under the ban of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association for a year for violating rules of the association and playing ineligible men.

The Ole Miss is now said to stand ready and willing to abide by all the rules and by-laws of the association.

The University of Chattanooga will also ask for entrance to the association and will present their case.

Three Men.

Three cities, Birmingham, Atlanta and New Orleans, are going to make a strenuous fight for the consummation of intercolligate Athletic association track meet.

Atlanta can now make a strenuous bid for the meet, as with the fine stadium and athletic field at Grant field Tech can handle the meet better than any school in the association.

That the three-cornered fight between the three cities promises to be a warm one is certain, but expressions from several members of the association seem to favor Atlanta.

The Press Case.

Of principal local interest will be the battle that will be waged by Georgia Tech for the reinstatement of Wm. Press, the all-around athlete barred from competition on account of the association at a recent meeting.

Press was barred on the ground that he accepted a scholarship at Bingham's school. He did accept the scholarship, but both Press and Colonel Bingham have denied that it was for athletic services.

The Tech faculty has given Press a clean bill of health, and he has asked to vote that do the same. But in the face of both these, the executive committee judged him guilty. It looked like a clear case of prejudice against him.

Press is a fine, gentlemanly character, a splendid athlete and is worthy of help. The action of the executive committee was a mark of injustice, and it is to be hoped that the convention will reinstates him. They will earn a lot of friends by so doing.

Ty Cobb Peeved

Ty Cobb is all worked up over an interview recently given out by Oscar Vitt, the utility infielder of the Detroit club, in San Francisco, a friend of Cobb's who recently returned from Augusta, where he had been hunting with the "Georgia Peach," says that Ty was practically handcuffed for conversation when he read what Vitt had to say about his playing this last season.

"Why," exclaimed Cobb, "I did everything in the world for that fellow, and he says that I played for my individual record rather than for the team's success. Such a charge is ridiculous, because I am as fast as I ever was, and I led and lead the league in stolen bases. I can show you the letter Vitt wrote me when it looked like they were doing it for a record, but when they realized we were not, Collins, for instance, stole six bases in one game, with his club ahead. I should think Vitt would help the team if he would accumulate a little better individual average and not attack his fellow players."

Tyrus was evidently peeved.

FINN TIES CAN TO HAIGH AND SNELL

Memphis, Tenn., December 11.—Announcement was made today by Mike Finn, manager of the Memphis club, that three Texas players will be reserved from last season, have been dropped. Snell goes back to Montgomery and Haigh to the Austin, Texas, league club.

AUBURN FAVORS STRICT ONE YEAR RULE IN S. I. A. A.

Auburn, Ala., December 11.—(Special.)—Auburn's representative to the S. I. A. A. convention today is Dr. Mike Sovville, Fla., on December 12 and 13. Dr. Finn will go under instructions to vote for the straight one-year rule. This will require all students to be in attendance at college a full year before being allowed to participate in any intercollegiate sports. It also hopes that this rule will be passed by the S. I. A. A. moguls.

GOLF CLUBS INSTRUCTED TO FURNISH HANDICAPS

New York, December 11.—Notice is being served on the 357 golf clubs which are members of the United States Golf association to send at once their handicap lists. Because of the large number of players it has been decided to list only those allowed five strokes, based on par figures. Medal play, at herestofore.

The United States Golf association will not be responsible for names omitted from the national handicap list unless reports are received on or before December 20, and in the event of such an omission the golfer will not be eligible to compete in the national amateur championship, according to the notice signed by President C. B. Watson. The annual meeting of the association will be held here January 5.

WILSON STAYS IN BED BATTLING WITH COLD

Washington, December 11.—President Wilson stayed in his room today fighting a cold, and cancelled all his engagements. The president was to have been presented by Sir Cecil Spring Rice, British ambassador here with an embossed copy of an address delivered at Carlisle, England, and had several engagements with congressmen.

The president's indisposition really began a week ago. He started with a cold in the head and nose, and extended to his throat. He improved by staying in bed several days during the week, but during the last day or two took a little more cold, which affected his voice. He intends now to remain in bed until he gets rid of the cold.

The president remained in bed most of the day, sleeping during the late afternoon. He was reported to be resting comfortably and feeling much better tonight.

While the president denied himself to visitors, Secretary Tumulty had a busy day at the executive offices. Among his callers were Roger C. Sullivan, democratic national committeeman of Illinois; Thomas P. Riley, democratic state chairman of Massachusetts, and W. J. Conners, of Buffalo, New York state chairman, who came to talk politics of their respective states.

DR. BAHNSEN CHOSEN BY THE CATTLEMEN

Memphis, Tenn., December 11.—Dan-ville, Ill., Dr. Charles Hickory Valley, was re-elected president; Dr. Tait Butler, Memphis, secretary-treasurer, and C. R. Moorman, Jr., Kennett, Mo., and Dr. Bahnsen selected as the next place of meeting by the Southern Cattlemen's association at the final session of its second annual convention here today.

The following were named as vice presidents:

A committee was named to endeavor to arrange with southern banks for the acceptance of cattle paper, and loans on the same basis as cotton and other farm products are now accepted.

Dr. Bahnsen, of Memphis, is a Germanian of Georgia, in an address declared "ticks injure the quality of beef and that the price is kept up in proportion."

He asserted that the tick could be fully eliminated by the disinfecting of stock.

Prominent members of the association expressed the belief that the full-co-operation of the government would be extended the association in their fight on the cattle tick.

NEGROES IN STOLEN CAR HEADED THIS WAY

Two negroes in a stolen automobile are on their way to Atlanta, according to a telephone message yesterday from Chief of Police J. E. Holcombe, of Greenville, S. C., to Sergeant George C. Bullard, of the Atlanta police. According to the Greenville chief, the two were captured having passed Hartwell, Ga., in the machine.

Chief Holcombe gave few details of the theft and did not state the name of the owner of the car. He asserted that one of the negroes was about 21 years of age and of a bright yellow color. The other negro is described as black and slightly older. Marion Davis is said to be the name of the mulatto.

Chief Holcombe described the automobile as a Cadillac, model 1910, with the registration number of 317-G. Sergeant Bullard gave the men on the force a description of the car and also notified the county police.

FRANK'S FRIENDS GET THE PELICANS

Reported Somers Has Sold Control of New Orleans Club to Parties Who Will Retain the Dutchman.

New Orleans, La., December 11.—(Special.)—The New Orleans baseball club, the ownership of which has kept press, interpreters and public in a turmoil for the past three weeks, has been acquired by local men who heretofore have never been mentioned in any of the negotiations during the recent changes of the club and will be run next year as an independent organization free from entanglements with any outside club, according to information received from apparently reliable sources last night.

According to these authorities, those who have secured control of the local club have gone about the matter very quietly and, after securing the necessary financial backing, simply beat the time of the Heineman-Newman interests and completed the deal with Mr. Somers while the latter was in New York. At the same time it is understood Secretary Heineman was waiting in Cleveland for Mr. Somers to return and confer with him about the J. K. Newman offer.

It is said that the new owners are against syndicate baseball, as it is termed the brand of sport furnished to the fans here and at other points throughout the south as a result of the domination over the southern league of major league clubs and club owners.

Details of the plans of the new owners were withheld, but it is understood that baseball on a strong, profitable basis will be the policy.

It was stated that it is planned to start at once to rebuild the entire club, as far as players are concerned, with the idea of placing a winning team on the field for the season of 1914.

NEW DRAFTING METHOD FOR NATIONAL LEAGUE

New York, December 11.—The annual meeting of the National League of Professional Baseball clubs closed tonight. After adjournment the club owners were the guests at a private banquet given by John K. Tener, governor of Pennsylvania, and the newly-elected president of the organization.

During the day the league added three amendments to its constitution, favored a new method of holding the annual drafting of players and decided to hold the annual schedule meeting February 5, in this city. President Tener is to announce later his appointments of constitution, arbitration and rules committees.

Giants Lose Protest.

The league counted the ruling of the arbitration board, which failed to uphold the protest of the New York club regarding the awarding a quarter share of its 1912 world series receipts to the Brooklyn and Boston clubs.

The new drafting rule, which the league favored, was introduced by Charles H. Ebbetts, president of the Brooklyn club. It is designed to reduce the element of chance in the drawing, and to give second division clubs a free selection of players before first division clubs. In this manner strengthening the weaker clubs and thus strengthening the league. Concurrence by the American league, the national commission and the associated minor leagues is necessary before the rule becomes effective.

More Power for President.

One amendment passed was looked upon as an instance of how the league plans to broaden its president's powers. Governor Tener will have authority to arbitrate a dispute between two clubs over the waiver price on a player when one desires to release. If a club has paid several thousand dollars for a youngster and, finding him wanting, decides to let him go, the club will not have to dispose of him at the usual $1,500 waiver price to another national league club claiming him, but can demand a higher price. If the clubs cannot agree, President Tener will have power to strike a medium, by which the purchasing club must abide if it wants the player.

Another amendment prohibits the owner, manager or agent of one club negotiating with a player of another without first getting permission from the players' owner to do so.

Tinker Not Sold.

The meeting adjourned without any deal having been made for Joe Tinker, Cincinnati's deposed manager, although Charles Murphy, Chicago, is said to be next place of meeting by the Southern Cattlemen's association at the final session of its second annual convention here today.

The following were named as vice presidents:

A committee was named to endeavor to arrange with southern banks for the acceptance of cattle paper, and loans on the same basis as cotton and other farm products are now accepted.

Dr. Bahnsen, of Memphis, is a Germanian of Georgia, in an address declared "ticks injure the quality of beef and that the price is kept up in proportion."

He asserted that the tick could be fully eliminated by the disinfecting of stock.

Prominent members of the association expressed the belief that the full-co-operation of the government would be extended the association in their fight on the cattle tick.

AUBURN GIVES OUT 1914 SCHEDULE

Three Georgia Elevens on the List, Also Vanderbilt. L. S. U. Was the Team Dropped.

Auburn, Ala., December 11.—(Special.)—The Auburn athletic authorities today announced the football schedule for 1914. It will be noticed that this schedule is the same as the 1913 schedule, with the exception of the game with Louisiana State university.

The authorities deemed it advisable to cancel the L. S. U. game, and in its stead will play Georgia, a fact which is somewhat in the nature of a surprise. It was with great reluctance that this game was omitted, due to the fact that the game with the L. S. U. university of Louisiana have always been so extremely interesting.

The auburn played eight S. I. A. A. teams the past season, which is practically the number of S. I. A. A. teams now played by the other leading teams of the south. Auburn is the only team to have played only three teams in the Southern association. Namely, Auburn, Tennessee and Sewanee; whereas, University of Georgia played seven, and Clemson number that Auburn did. Georgia played Auburn, Clemson, Georgia Tech and Auburn.

Vanderbilt as Vanderbilt, Georgia and Auburn have been the leaders in the S. I. A. A. for the past few years, and are contenders for championship honors, by virtue of their high standing in the team ranking. If Vanderbilt and Georgia would include more S. I. A. A. teams in their annual schedule.

October 3—Montgomery Athletic club at Auburn.

October 10—University of Florida at Jacksonville.

October 17—Clemson at Auburn.

October 24—Mercer at Mississippi at Birmingham.

October 31—Mercer university (probable) at Auburn.

November 7—Georgia Tech at Atlanta.

November 14—Vanderbilt at Birmingham.

November 21—Georgia at Atlanta.

CASE AGAINST P. H. ALL IS QUASHED BY JUDGE

Savannah, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—The charge of conspiracy to trust against Percy H. All, confidential man for the Tinsley interests in the Tinsley & Hull was not-pressed in the superior court here today. Fleming G. Tinsley, who was acquitted some time ago of larceny after trust charges in connection with the firm's financial transactions were in the hands of All. In asking that the case against All be not-pressed, his attorneys argued that there was no criminal intent, or suspicion of such, against him.

The additional charges against Tinsley were placed on the dead docket today. This ends the case so far as the state courts are concerned. Tinsley was tried in the federal court the other day on a charge of extracting $15,000 from a national bank in which he was a director.

END OF LOCKER CLUBS NEAR, DECLARES WRIGHT

Says Decision of Appeals Court Will Put Them Out of Business.

Rome, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—"We are going to put all the locker clubs in Georgia out of business, under the latest decision of the court of appeals," declared Solicitor General Seaborn Wright today to a Constitution representative. Mr. Wright, who has organized "law enforcement leagues" in Augusta, Macon, Savannah, Rome and other cities, expressed himself as highly pleased at the decision, which declares that it is illegal for any club or association to keep intoxicating liquor, regardless of whether the purchaser is or is not a member."

Mr. Wright said: "That decision upholds every contention of the law enforcement leagues. It gives the same power to enforce the law that prohibition have done, that is that a locker club can only allow its members to keep their liquor there, as they do a horse, and cannot 'sell' it. Some of the clubs have operated upon the idea that they were operating legally if they sold only to members, and not to visitors or non-members. The decision knocks that out. The clubs cannot buy at wholesale and sell at retail.

"The courts have heretofore held that all charges for such things as 'service,' 'storage,' 'corkage,' 'refrigeration,' etc., are illegal. In most instances the profit from the bar is the financial backbone of the club, and that backbone has been broken. Our forces are active in Augusta, Savannah and elsewhere, as well as in Macon and Rome. You are going to find the locker clubs wiped out of Georgia in the very near future."

G. W. YOUNG IS ELECTED MAYOR OF CARTERSVILLE

Cartersville, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—Cartersville's first election under the commission charter was held today, when Hon. G. W. Young was nominated and elected as mayor for the coming term.

Mr. Young's nomination was given him after a spirited contest with Hon. Paul Gilreath, who has twice been Cartersville's mayor. The large majority by which Mr. Young was chosen was a great compliment to him, especially when Mr. Gilreath's popularity is considered.

Hon. H. J. Galt, a commissioner, and Hon. Sam Milner were elected the highest four candidates who will contest a second time for commissioners. W. R. Satterfield and M. G. Cline were also among the chosen four. S. C. Sloan and A. V. Collins were eliminated from the race for commissioners for the second vote they received.

The commission charter, under which Cartersville has been governed for two years, has proven greatly successful, and the city today is in better shape than in any term of its history.

Rome Pastors Organize.

Rome, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—The ministers of Rome have formed an evangelical ministerial union, embracing in its membership pastors of the local Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian and Christian churches. Dr. D. G. Sydnor is president and Rev. C. L. McGinity is secretary of the new organization. The ministers propose to hold monthly meetings for the discussion of topics of interest.

Overesch Navy Captain.

Annapolis, Md., December 11.—H. E. Overesch tonight was elected captain of the Navy football team for next year. He played tackle on this year's eleven.

BLACK FREED OF CHARGE OF CRIMINAL ASSAULT

Young 14-Year-Old White Girl Made Contradictory Statements on Stand.

Waycross, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—Following one of the most sensational trials known in Ware county in years, William Young, a negro, charged with criminally assaulting a 14-year-old white girl in the Waresboro district, was acquitted in superior court. The defense tore down the allegations of the prosecution, and the girl involved, who spent some time on the stand, made contradictory statements that at the very start caused doubt to exist as to the truth in the case.

J. L. Bird, father of the girl, is a prisoner in jail, charged with shooting Young. Bird claimed he shot Young in an effort to prevent his escape. Young denied the charge at the start, and said he was shot without provocation. Intimations that may result in disclosures of a serious nature were given by attorneys interested. It is the first time such a case has been tried in Ware in years, and is one of the few cases of record where a negro was freed after being charged with such a crime.

Primary in Eastman.

Eastman, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—A white primary election to be held in the city hall of Eastman for the purpose of nominating a mayor for the year 1914 and a councilman from each of the third and fourth wards for the year 1914-1915; also for the purpose of nominating five members of the board of education for a term of two years each, has been called by Mayor J. C. Rawlins for Wednesday, December 17. Mayor Rawlins, who is seeking re-election, has no opposition.

ROBERT C. HATTON LEADS RIVERSIDE

Gainesville, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—Robert C. Hatton, of Hatton Barrow, Fla., has been elected captain of the 1914 Riverside Military Academy football team.

Hatton played center on the 1913 eleven and was the unanimous choice of all the experts for the all-prep center. He weighs 170 pounds, is fast on his feet, a hard charger, a splendid passer and a wonderful defensive man.

Hatton has also been elected sergeant in the cadet corps of the school. He is one of the best students at the school.

FIFTH REGIMENT PLAYS COLUMBUS QUINT TONIGHT

The Fifth Regiment basketball team will leave Atlanta this morning for Columbus, Ga., where they play the Columbus Young Men's Christian association five tonight.

The local five is one of the strongest quintets that has ever been turned out in this city and that they will give the champions a fierce battle is confidently expected.

The following men will make the trip:

SIX-DAY RACE.

Leading Teams 20 Miles Ahead of Record.

New York, December 11.—At 1 o'clock the same eight teams led with 1,720 miles, 4 laps to their credit. Five teams will trailed a lap behind. Terry and Walker were a lap back of these, and the Kopsky-Weefe combination lost more ground and was six miles and five laps behind the leaders. The previous record for the end of the eighty-seventh hour was 1,709 miles flat.

"MADE IN ATLANTA" MOTORCYCLE TO BE RACED BY GILBERT

Hal Gilbert, the Atlanta entry in the Savannah motorcycle races, will sit astride of a "made in Atlanta" motorcycle when he essays what now seems to be the easy task of winning out the held in the seashore speed events.

Gilbert scoffs at the word "Betsy." It is named after Gilbert's famous "Betsy" and looks like it, but is a motorcycle until it comes to the tank and tires. Here it assumes the proportions of a regular auto. It has a four-gallon gas tank and regulation auto tires.

The machine can do better than 80 miles an hour on a straightaway. When it gets on a speed thoroughfare it may melt the tires.

Gilbert, and Betsy, Jr., are looked upon as "regular fellows" in the Savannah races.

Auburn Eleven Clears Over Eight Thousand In Three Big Games

Auburn, Ala., December 11.—(Special.)—The report of the treasurer of the Auburn Athletic association, as posted on the bulletin board today, shows that the past season has been by far the most successful in Auburn's history. This report shows that Auburn cleared over $8,000 on their three big football games, with Georgia Tech, Vanderbilt and University of Georgia.

DE SOTO FRANK FIRST IN ALL-AGE STAKES

Montgomery, Ala., December 11.—The sixth annual contests of the Southern Field Trials club ended this afternoon in the course at Lechatchie, pronounced to be one of best of its kind in America, when De Soto Frank, owned by A. G. C. Sage, of New York city, electrified the fanciers of setters and pointers by the most remarkable work of the week. His entry in the All-Age Stakes was the first time De Soto Frank has ever been tried out.

Hitchford Lou, owned by Hobert Ames, Boston, handled by Jones, second money.

All purses were paid tonight, bringing the sixth annual field trials to a successful close.

Owners of the dogs now here announced tonight that they will remain over with their strings and enter them in the National Field Trials club's first annual contests that begin over the Lechatchie course next January 5 entering. A. G. C. Sage is president of the National club. It expects a large number of additional dogs, some from Vancouver, B. C., to be here for next week's sport.

THOMASVILLE TEAM TO ELECT THEIR OFFICERS

Thomasville, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—A meeting of the stockholders of the Thomasville Baseball association will be held Friday, President Jemison for tomorrow evening. At this meeting stockholders will select officers for the coming year and elect directors. The officers and directors will then, as soon as possible, select a manager for the team for the coming season.

The names of both Manager Dudley and "Red" Murch, of the former team, are spoken of as managers and it is believed that one of the two will be chosen.

APPALACHIAN LEAGUE WILL ENLARGE CIRCUIT

Rome, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—Plans for the coming season of the Appalachian Baseball league are being made. A proposition will come up at the winter meeting of the managers to increase the circuit from six to eight clubs.

There had been some doubt as to whether Middlesboro, Ky., which lost money last year, would be in the league again, but wealthy citizens of that town have announced that they propose to back the team next year and keep it in the race. Gadsden and Anniston are being considered in connection with next year's plans, as also are Roanoke and Lynchburg, Va.

A WORD TO THE WISE

ACCUSES DETECTIVE OF ROUGH HANDLING

Complaint Against Coker Is Made to Mayor Woodward.

William W. Sykes, a collector, employed by the Atlanta Gas company, called on Mayor Woodward yesterday afternoon to bring charges against Detective Coker. Mayor Woodward referred Sykes to Councilman A. R. Colcord, who advised that Sykes lay the facts before Chief Beavers.

According to the story related by Sykes, he was roughly handled by Detective Coker and his partner. Sykes said that he stopped for a few minutes yesterday afternoon in a pool room on Forsyth near Marrietta street, and while seated in a chair he was approached by Detective Coker, who informed him that he was wanted at police headquarters.

"I have known Coker for a long time, and I thought that he was joking," Sikes told Councilman Colcord. "I laughed and told him that I was ready to go. Coker grabbed me out of the chair, and began searching me. I asked him what was the trouble, and he said that I would find out when he got through searching me. After he rifled my pockets he shoved me back in the chair. I asked him what I had done and what he was looking for and he said that he thought I had a gun on me."

Sykes said that he did nothing to warrant such treatment. He says that he has been employed as a collector for the Atlanta Gas company for two years, and that he has the confidence and respect of his employers.

Chief James L. Beavers stated to a Constitution reporter Thursday night that Sykes had talked to him about the treatment of the detectives, and that he had asked Chief Newport Langford to make an investigation.

"It was more, I suppose, a case of mistaken identity," said Chief Beavers; "but I am having the matter looked into. I can't say more than that, because I have not heard from the officers, and have not made an investigation yet."

HOBSON AND UNDERWOOD CLASH

the balance of the time that we are engaged in a personal political conflict with Mr. Underwood, but will fight in the field of politics, and let us devote our time here to discussion of public business without injecting into it our personal differences."

Applause from the floor followed. Then Mr. Hobson declared that the personal issue had become a national question; that the senatorial fight in Alabama was such that "the liquor interests on one side and the moral forces on the other, had made it a national question."

Up to this time no attempt had been made by the chair to restrain the enthusiasm of the galleries, packed with delegates to the convention of the Anti-Saloon league and the Woman's Christian Temperance union. The crowds extended into long lines in the corridors outside, and even those who could not see, but who could hear, joined in a demonstration as both Representative Mann and Representative Underwood arose.

"The rules of this house," said Mr. Mann emphatically, "always have been that there should be no applause from the galleries. Those in the galleries who are making these demonstrations, as good citizens, should observe that rule."

As Representative Moon pounded for order, Mr. Hobson turned to the chair to ask why, inasmuch as the members on the floor had made "a partisan demonstration, the rules cannot be extended to the galleries just this once?"

Underwood Again Speaks.

Quiet eventually was restored and Mr. Underwood again spoke.

"I cannot sit here in silence," he said, "and allow my colleague to assert that I am the candidate of any interest without challenging his statement. I am not, never have been and do not intend to be the candidate of the liquor interests. I never have received a dollar from the liquor interests, nor do I intend to receive such. I have asked the people of my state to elect me on other issues. He may assert it if he wishes, but I challenge his statement that I am the candidate of the liquor interests."

Mr. Hobson concluded his speech by declaring he came with a petition sanctioned by a majority of the American people demanding a referendum on the liquor question. The fight of the people for this referendum was an earnest one, he asserted, and men in public life had better realize it. Referring to Mr. Underwood as a reactionary, he added:

"If there is a man on this floor who is afraid of danger," he said, "he'd better get to cover in the next few years."

Alleges Packed Galleries.

When the Alabaman had taken his seat, Representative Bartholdt, of Missouri, suggested that Mr. Hobson had packed the galleries with a multitude of his adherents and that he (Bartholdt) could bring "two million German-Americans to Washington for intimidation, but he did not think it was a 'healthy' thing to do anything of that sort." He attacked Mr. Hobson's arguments and said that "sobriety and temperance are not identical with prohibition," as Mr. Hobson had said, but that prohibition "is an attempt to make a man sober by law."

"The Creator Himself put temptation in the Garden of Eden and it's been here ever since," concluded Mr. Bartholdt, after saying that the man he respected was the one who could resist temptation. "Abolish temptation. Why, you'd have to abolish women."

This ended the incident and the prohibition delegates left the galleries.

Prohi Speakers Urge Amendment.

Washington, December 11.—Spokesmen for the Anti-Saloon league and the Woman's Christian Temperance union urged the house judiciary committee today to favorably report the resolution for a prohibition amendment introduced yesterday by Representative Hobson.

Mr. Hobson outlined the purpose of prohibitionists to submit practical evidence to the committee from time to time of the devastation in the country caused by the use of alcohol.

Dr. Purley P. Baker, president of the Anti-Saloon League of America; Dr. Rufus W. Miller, representing the commission on temperance of the federal conference of churches; Lillian M. Stevens and Mary Harris Armor, of the Woman's Christian Temperance union, also urged the amendment.

Is Your Town Backsliding?

Unless it is making the right kind of progress it's going backward, sure as you live.

And your town isn't making the right kind of progress unless the health conditions, the sanitation, the lighting, the paving and other physical aspects are what they ought to be.

Has your town correct sewerage?

Is the water supply pure and plentiful?

Is the lighting system adequate?

Are the paving conditions the kind you ought to have?

The best paying investment any town can make is to spend money enough to make itself a good place to live in.

Improvements that make for the health and comfort of the people are the biggest dividend producers on earth.

Our business is to bring about correct physical conditions for towns that need them.

Native Kentuckians Name New Officers at Annual Banquet

Despite the absence of Kentucky's most famous product, the annual dinner of the Kentucky Society of Georgia, held last night at the Hotel Ansley, was anything but dry. The resources of the state, sky and sea, were drawn upon for a feast of good things to eat, and the after-dinner speeches were of the most eloquent type.

Over 100 Kentuckians and invited guests sat down to the dinner promptly at 8 o'clock, among those present being Major J. C. C. Black of Augusta, Judges John T. Pendleton and J. H. Lumpkin, Dr. John E. White and many other men and women of Kentucky who now make Georgia their home.

After the last course, Judge Pendleton, the retiring president of the society, introduced the speaker of the evening, Major Black. Major Black made an eloquent speech on Kentucky, its famous men and traditions. He was followed by Judge Lumpkin, who made a short talk. "My Old Kentucky Home" was then sung by the society, after which the officers for the ensuing year were announced. They are: William C. Warfield, president; J. L. Baldwin, vice president; R. S. Blackburn, secretary, and S. Lynn Rhorer, treasurer.

On the committee in charge of the dinner were: W. C. Warfield, chairman; W. W. Gaines, S. L. Rhorer, T. H. Jones and Dr. J. C. White. The ladies on the reception committee included Mrs. W. R. Price-Smith, Mrs. W. C. Warfield, Mrs. W. W. Gaines, Mrs. W. Woods White and Mrs. Isaac Shoen.

Chief Justice White Ill.

Washington, December 11.—Chief Justice White is confined to his home today with a cold. For two days he has had difficultiy in making himself heard from the bench on account of hoarseness. Justice Lurton is also absent from the court, suffering from a cold. Neither is seriously ill.

Child Welfare Exhibit Open To Colored People of City

A PRAYER FOR THE BABIES.

(Written for the Milk and Baby Hygiene Association of Boston.)

God, since Thou hast laid the little children into our arms in utter helplessness, with no protestion save our love, we pray that the sweet appeal of their baby needs may not be in vain. Let no innocent life in our city be quenched again in useless pain through our ignorance and sin. May we who are mothers or fathers seek eagerly to join wisdom to our love, lest love itself be deadly when unguided by knowledge. Bless the doctors and nurses, and all the friends of men, who are giving of their skill and devotion to the care of our children. If there are any who were kissed by love in their own infancy, but who have no child to whom they may give as they have received, grant them such largeness of sympathy that they may rejoice to pay their debt in full to all children who have need of them.

Forgive us, our Father, for the heartlessness of the past. Grant us great tenderness for all babes who suffer, and a growing sense of the divine mystery that is brooding in the soul of every child. Amen.

WALTER RAUSCHENBUSCH.

A well-to-do white mother passing through the Child Welfare exhibit yesterday, when attracted to the registered nurse who demonstrated how a baby should be washed and dressed, remarked:

"I don't have to bother with these things, my husband keeps a nurse for me, so I don't have to be bothered. She is a most competent negro woman."

As this tells the story of the care of many an Atlanta child, the opening of the Welfare exhibit, to the negro population will prove of marked value to white and colored alike. Every housekeeper in Atlanta who employs colored help should see to it that their men and women employees attend the Welfare exhibit during the next few days when it is open to negroes. There will be lessons taught there which will not only help the negro in the sanitation and health of his own home, where he maintains one, but it will help the negro employed in the white man's office or home, and be of equal value to both.

Give Nurses a Chance.

Since the child of the family is so frequently left to the care of the mother whose husband can afford to keep a nurse, that nurse should be given every opportunity to visit the Welfare exhibit. She should be encouraged and urged to go. It is this particular element—the men and women employed in the care of the white child—that the explainers will give special attention today and tonight. That there will be a large patronage of other elements, there is no doubt, for the seven educational institutions for the education of the negro in Atlanta have co-operated in making plans for their days of the exhibit; the public school children will be urged to come, and interesting exercises will be put on demonstrating through free kindergartens, settlement homes, etc., what the negro is doing for himself. Panels and illustrations will show the work being done in the training of children in the negro orphans' home, and exhibits will show the local conditions of the negro race generally, both in its lack of progress and its prosperity.

The kindergarten exercises today will be most interesting, there being five free kindergartens for negroes in Atlanta, these maintained by the negroes themselves and under the direction of Miss Ware, of the Atlanta university.

The mothers in the centers where these kindergartens are will be urged to attend the exhibit by the teachers of the school and by the negro woman's clubs organized for various phases of work for the betterment of women and children.

Negro physicians will conduct the free clinics today and negro nurses will be in charge. The explainers will be drawn from among the best colored citizenship of both men and women, and the Child Welfare exhibit will be accomplishing one of its greatest purposes when it assembles at the Leyden house the next few days Atlanta's negro population.

LOCAL SEWANEE MEN FORM ORGANIZATION

A number of the alumni of the University of the South, at Sewanee, Tenn., met last night at the residence of R. C. Dellinger, on Ponce de Leon, and perfected the organization of a local association of Sewanee men, to take the place of the old state association. The following officers were elected: John D. Babbage, jr., president; Beverly DuBose, vice president; Frank M. Gillespie, secretary, and Earle R. Greene, treasurer.

After the business part of the meeting, refreshments were served, and a pleasant hour was spent talking over old times on the "Mountain." There are sixty Sewanee men in Atlanta at present.

KAPPA ALPHAS MEET AT UNIVERSITY CLUB

The Atlanta alumni chapter, Kappa Alpha, met last night in a smoker at the University club. Ben Lee Crew presided and called upon several of those present, including John Temple Graves, Robert Lee Avery, W. S. Featherstone, Reynolds Kitchener, Dr. William Perrin Nicolson, Murphy Pound and Major P. E. Calloway to make short addresses.

A resolution was unanimously adopted called for action by the delegates to the national gathering of Kappa Alphas at Memphis on December 24, looking toward the annual dinner of the organization chapters on January 19, in commemoration of the birthday of General Robert E. Lee.

U. S. RAIL OWNERSHIP OPPOSED BY SETH LOW

New York, December 11.—Government railroad ownership in the United States was condemned by President Seth Low, of the National Civic Federation, in his address today opening the fourteenth annual meeting of that organization. Mr. Low was chairman of the federal board of arbitration which recently decided the controversy over wages between the eastern railroads and their conractors and trainmen.

"The considerations satisfy me," he said, "that the railroad employees are not only better off now under the private administration of railroads than they would likely be under public administration; but also that, under existing conditions, they can hope for a betterment in pay and rules of service which it would be vastly harder to realize from a federa lgovernment constituted as ours."

Mr. Low said that the actual situation of the railroads at the moment seemed to him so serious that "if this application for an increase of freight rates is declined, I fear that the impulse that will be given to the demand for public ownership and operation will be inevitably strengthened."

The report of the workmen's compensation department was presented by August Belmont, its chairman. Mr. Belmont suggested that the French system of sickness insurance carried in working men's self-managed mutual associations with moderate government subsidies and employers contributions was worth watching. From the American standpoint, he said, it might prove superior to the German system of elaborate government aid.

AUTO STOLEN AT MIDDAY IN SHOPPING DISTRICT

Mrs. Jos. W. Hill Reports Bold Theft of Buick Touring Car.

A two-seated Buick machine belonging to Mrs. Joseph W. Hill, of 186 North Jackson street, was stolen yesterday about noon, when she left the car on Hunter street, near Whitehall, to go on a shopping tour. An immediate report was made to detective headquarters, but at a late hour last night no trace had been found of the thief.

Mrs. Hill was almost in tears Thursday night when a Constitution reporter talked to her about the theft. "It was my own machine," said she, "and I drove it myself. Mr. Hill is out of town, and I don't know what I am going to do about it. I do hope that someone will find it for me. I put a little advertisement in The Constitution want ad page the first thing, and I'm glad you are going to write it up, too. Maybe that will help me find it."

The car, as described by Mrs. Hill, is a 1913 model, painted black, and having a small brass eagle on the hood. The registration number gave as 8022-Ga.

Mrs. Hill left the machine shortly before noon, and was gone about two hours. She has no idea who is the thief, or exactly what time the car was taken.

For years the South turned down new brands of cigarettes by the dozen. Then came SOVEREIGN and made the greatest success the South has ever known—"QUALITY TELLS"

Southern smokers know quality. That's the answer. SOVEREIGN is absolutely the best cigarette of Southern-grown Old Belt tobacco ever produced.

SOVEREIGN is made of the very finest Virginia-North Carolina tobacco that ever came out of the Old Belt district—aged and blended to a new degree of smoothness and mellowness.

SOVEREIGN is the one cigarette of straight domestic tobacco that does not require constant relighting,—that does not char and grow soft and soggy as you smoke.

SOVEREIGN is rolled in the most expensive cigarette paper ever imported from France. This fine paper burns evenly with the tobacco, insuring complete enjoyment.

Try SOVEREIGN and you will understand why the sales are rapidly growing—breaking all records for popularity.

COTTON WAS QUIET AWAITING REPORT

New York, December 11.—The cotton market was very quiet again today suggesting that business and departments was at practically a standstill, as though waiting the publication of the government's crop estimate at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. This estimate will be expressed in pounds and is based on 500 pounds gross weight, excluding linters.

According to the average of New York cotton exchange members, expectations are to-day showing range from 13,250,000 bales to 14,350,000 bales, with the average at 13,618,000 estimates showing 13,618,000 bales. This would seem to be about in line with the average trade view of the commercial crop, a compilation of 18 trade estimates according to calculations published today, averaged around 14,182,000 bales, and 500,000 bales is the most general allowance made for the probable volume of linters this season. These views of the crop should have a bearish effect on prices, which fluctuated within a range of 5 or 6 points, and closed quiet at a net decline of 3 to 5 points.

Liverpool reported a very small volume of business and the cables were about as dull on the other side as those of yesterday. The market here opened quiet at unchanged prices for a decline of 2 points under scattering liquidation, and showed practically no trading feature during the day. Mail advices came from Texas to-day predicting the crop of that country is turning out below earlier estimates, which may not even reach last year's figures, and reports from New Orleans to-day were also read rather more encouragingly from a bullish standpoint.

There was no change in the general character of southern spot sales however, and there was little indication of any fresh sentiment in the cotton ring.

A wire was received from Savannah reporting a good inquiry for spots and very little offering, while private wires from Memphis reported the sale of the largest stocks is accumulating there in the history of the city.

Stocks at the counted interior towns show aggregate stocks of 1,042,426, in excess of last year, while the port stocks are some 218,000 below last year, and the visible supply of American shows a falling off of 367,000 bales as compared with last year's figures.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, December 11.—The cotton market was dull and narrow today and the inactivity together with the uncertainty it plain how important tomorrow's estimate of the crop may be by the government is. There was more guessing on the exchange over the coming figures than ever known before and so many figures were received it has no attempt was made to figure an average, which, however, was probably under 13,700,000 bales.

The market opened quiet and steady, 1 point up to 1 point down, unchanged with the late prices of yesterday. Cables were not as good as Gee and the weather over the belt continued favorable. In the morning months went 5 to 7 points under steady close. This was the highest of the day. The market lingered under the influence of dullness and lack of fresh buying and in the afternoon the trading months went down 7 points under yesterday's last quotations. The close was at a net loss of 1 to 5 points.

A rumor was spread about during the day that organized bear selling would be seen immediately after the government estimate, no matter what the figures were, in order to the effect of scaring out considerable long cotton. Efforts were made in attempt to follow up their advantage and bulls offered the market on the slightest reactions, but the trade was not large enough to test the situation.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, December 11.—Business here today has again been very small and consequently prices have changed very little. The trade is awaiting the government crop report and the crop tomorrow and expects the figures to be the basis for future trading. Should they deviate from this any great extent it would probably bring more active trading and give the market a more definite course in either direction.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, December 11.—The market was simply marking time today waiting for the government estimate tomorrow. The market expects a government guess of between 13,500,000 and 13,750,000 bales. The trade is awaiting the government report to-morrow and expects the figures to be the basis for future trading. Should they deviate from this any great extent it would probably bring more active trading and give the market a more definite course in either direction.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York December 11.—Our market reflected the opening up of commitments before the government crop estimate is published tomorrow, which, from the average guess of the trade, indicates a net change today is expected to be 13,618,000 bales. As the market looks for no more than what the bureau report is and nobody knows what it will be, forecast as to what will happen are worthless, excepting that there is a general disposition that those of the average guess will be considered bearish. It should be borne in mind that the government estimate is on the basis of 500 pounds.

London Stock Market.

London, December 11.—Money was dearer today. Discount rates were firmer on the poor bank statement.

The settlement was concluded satisfactorily on the stock exchange, but business was slack and confined principally to professionals who supported foreign bonds, Kaffirs, coppers and Rio Tintos. Realizing in home and Mexican rails and Kaffirs on the government crop estimate is closing.

American securities were dull and featureless during the forenoon. Prices improved in the afternoon, but lagged on the late trading and finished uncertain.

TOO MUCH BUYING MADE WHEAT LOSE

After Early Advance, Market Closed Easy at Decline to a Shade Advance. Corn and Oats Lower.

Chicago, December 11.—Too much unanimity on the buying side today in wheat made the trade suspicious about the advisability of increasing holdings or even as to retaining what had been acquired. Accordingly, the market, which had shown a gain all around, closed easy at a range varying from ⅛@⅜ decline to a shade advance as compared with last night before. The grain showed a net loss—corn a sixteenth to ⅜, oats ⅛ to ⅜@⅝. In provisions the outcome was unchanged to 15 cents down.

Advices said that the Canadian premier had set December 16 as a day on which to receive grain growers and dealers, who were understood to favor free wheat, but considerable to do with checking bullish sentiment. Later Canadian figures showing wheat increases were smaller than generally supposed. This had general influence. In the prevalent feeling that there was need for cautious investment. Heavy rains and hail damage, said to be interfering with the Argentine harvest, were influential in lifting the market during the first half of the session. Remarkably low estimates on the Argentine exportable surplus cut a figure also during the early hours afternoon corrected so as to be less radical.

In the corn ground, reports of heavy shipments to Chicago from Illinois, Iowa and Indiana started general selling. The result was more than an offset for a previous advance due to reported signs for clear unsettled weather was at hand.

Oats followed corn, but did so more decidedly on the downturn. Liquidation of December was noticeable in both December and May.

Provisions lacked support and throughout the session owners were disposed to unload.

WILSON IS COMMENDED AND BRYAN CRITICISED

Civil Service League Alleges Secretary Has Used Offices to Pay Political Debts.

Boston, Mass., December 11.—Commendation of President Wilson and criticism of secretary Bryan for their actions in filling national offices, were contained in the annual address tonight of Dr. Charles W. Eliot, as president of the National Civil Service Reform league.

"This league can now congratulate itself and the country," said President Eliot, "on the fact that, no advent of a national administration which involved the transfer of power from one party to another has ever occurred, in which the principles of civil service reform have been so generally observed by the incoming administration.

"The secretary of state has clearly made or proposed appointments in payment for political services," Dr. Eliot asserted, "and some other cabinet officers have given signs of accepting a doctrine which Mr. Bryan publicly favored in 1912, namely, that the national offices should be divided between the two great parties in proportion to their political strength.

Wilson's Postal Order.

President Wilson's order of May 7 last, affecting fourth-class postmasters, was characterized by President Eliot "as a sound amendment of the practice under the preceding administrations called 'covering in.'

"But the league thinks that it will cost much time and money to carry out the order fairly and effectively," he added.

Regarding the department of state, President Eliot reported that the executive orders of the two preceding administrations have been adhered to in regard to secretaries of embassies, consuls general and consuls, but that "the policy of the administrations as to ministers and ambassadors has been different.

"Out of eleven ambassadors eight have been replaced," he continued, "and out of thirty-five ministers twenty-two have been replaced; with the result that some men of long experience have been replaced by untrained men."

As an illustration the speaker said: "Henry Morgenthau, a leading man of the democratic finance committee, displaced William Rockhill as minister to Turkey. Mr. Morgenthau was wholly without experience in diplomacy, Mr. Rockhill has been in the diplomatic service for nineteen years."

Dr. Eliot said that of the twenty-two ministers displaced thirteen had had several years' experience in diplomatic service, while none of the new appointees had had any experience.

The Moral to Be Drawn.

After citing figures which he said showed that "considering the long exclusion of the democratic party from the government the number of changes made in the first nine months of the new administration is within the test set by former administrations, President Eliot said:

"The moral to be drawn from these figures is that the United States cannot possibly have a proper civil service, that is, an efficient, honest and business-like service, until all the higher offices, which are now treated as spoils, are brought under the merit system of appointment."

Attacks on the merit system made in congress during 1913 have proceeded for the most part from members of the democratic party in both houses and senate, said President Eliot. He referred in that connection to what he termed "the pernicious income tax collection provision in the tariff bill," which was amended, and to the "unblushing attempt on the part of congress to limit the range of the merit system and enlarge the range of the spoils system," as contained in the rider on the urgent deficiency bill.

President Eliot told the league that the progress of the merit system in states and cities during the past year has been very encouraging.

More weight should be given in official appointments generally to natural fitness and to acquaintance from education," said Governor Simeon E. Baldwin, of Connecticut. "Examinations," he said, "have often proved a very inefficient test of fitness. The man who ranks highest in the examination may still be the one who ranks lowest in capacity to fill a public station well."

BOND GIRL COMING TO PRESS CHARGES AGAINST THE STOES

Mamie Bond, eighteen years of age, colored, charactrized as "frank" by Stoe and Annie Stoe, man and wife, charged with the murder of Anna Aumuller, directed by L. J. Bailey, local representative of the federal department of justice, to come from Athens where she made formal complaint against the Stoes before United States Commissioner Cornett, to Atlanta today for a conference indicates that the preliminary trial of the Stoes tomorrow morning before United States Commissioner Carter with offices in the federal building.

Since the arrest of the Stoes Bailey has made every effort to verify their charges. What he has ascertained he does not disclose. His instructions yesterday to Commissioner Cornett to issue the subpoena for the girl to Atlanta today for a conference indicates that the preliminary trial of the Stoes tomorrow morning before United States Commissioner Carter with offices in the federal building.

Information outside federal authorities indicates that the complaining witness has been married since that her husband now lives in a north Georgia town. Mr. Bailey has secured information satisfying him that an inquiry before a federal commissioner is necessary, he awaits a personal interview with the accusing witness before he can determine his full presentation of the charges against the Stoes when the inquiry is opened before Commissioner Carter tomorrow morning.

CONDITIONS IN SOUTH GOOD, SAYS HARRISON

Washington, December 11.—(Special.) President Harrison, of the Southern Railway company, speaking today of the business outlook in the south, said:

"Conditions throughout the territory traversed by the Southern railway lines are generally favorable. The farmers of the southland, except in restricted localities where they suffered from drouth, have had a highly prosperous year. The ginning reports of the United States census bureau indicate that the cotton crop of the states east of the Mississippi river will exceed that of last year, and current prices are above those of a year ago. We have the estimate of the total corn crop of the United States, made public by the United States department of agriculture, shows a large increase over that with last year, of 661,729,000 bushels, the crop in the nine Southern railway states having been 219,000,000 bushels, with 21,000,000 bushels more large as last year, the only southeastern states showing decreased yields on account of the drouth being Florida and Tennessee. Other crops, including forage, have turned out well, and, taking the territory as a whole, I doubt whether the farmers of the southland have ever had a more favorable year.

"Largely growing out of the prosperous condition of the farmers, wholesale and retail trade throughout the southeast is generally in good condition.

"Manufacturers in most lines are enjoying a good demand for their products, and their establishments are running on full time, though some slackening of production is to be expected during the winter season. Reports of cotton mill and knitting mill development are particularly noteworthy."

GIRL-CARVING PRIEST KISSES FATHER'S HAND

Schmidt Falls on Knees and Begs Sire's Forgiveness. Embraces Sister.

New York, December 11.—Hans Schmidt, the one-time priest, on trial for the murder of Anna Aumuller, fell on his knees this afternoon in District Attorney Whitman's office, kissed the hand of his aged father, who came all the way from Germany to try to save him from the electric chair, and in a flood of tears begged his forgiveness. This morning Schmidt refused to recognize his father and later wept.

Mrs. Elizabeth Schaadler, Schmidt's sister, who made the trip from Germany with her father, was present at the meeting. Schmidt embraced her affectionately. For half an hour she and her father tried to soothe the prisoner, but he refused to be comforted and was still weeping when they took his cell.

All the state's witnesses except alienists have testified, and Schmidt's trial was halted in midafternoon, today until tomorrow to permit the district attorney to confer with the alienists before putting them on the stand.

To Prove Him Sane.

The prosecution contends the presentation of evidence to show that when Schmidt killed the girl, cut up her body and threw it in the Hudson river he followed a carefully premeditated plan and acted in a way that would prove him sane. Schmidt's counsel against his will, are trying to prove that he was mentally irresponsible for these acts which he has confessed.

Dr. Carl Schaefer, who was sworn by his victim to Miss Anna Huttler, of Cincinnati, were read to the jury. Miss Huttler was 26 on Dec. 26 on them. In one of the letters the Aumuller girl wrote: "This remains between you, the name of Mr. Schmidt to me again, for sure love and affection in my heart." A little later she wrote, "I have made it again with Schmidt. The poor fellow is sick and a few days ago sent for me. Do not mention Schmidt's name on any card you send to the rectory, as I do not want them to know I am good with him."

"A Shameless Girl."

A third letter, written by Joseph Eigler, cousin of Anna Aumuller by marriage, protested against Anna's return to America from Austria, where Schmidt had met her in 1911. This letter was found on Schmidt at the time of his arrest, August 2. Eigler received just now word that Anna is coming to America. I am sorry for her husband now lives in a north Georgia town. Do not mention Schmidt's name on any card you send to the rectory, as I do not want them to know I am good with him."

HE WENT TO DOCTOR AND DROPPED DEAD

Raleigh, N. C., December 11.—A. T. Ridditt, a prominent broker and leading politician of Kinston, N. C., this evening fell dead in the office of a local physician, where he had gone for medical advice. Apoplexy, is given as the immediate cause of death.

TIRED OF LIVING, BRIDE DROWNS HERSELF IN RESERVOIR

Washington, Ga., December 11.—(Special.)—Leaving a note to her husband, stating that she loved him devotedly and that his happiness was her first concern, Mrs. Arthur M. Howell committed suicide Wednesday evening by drowning in an abandoned water reservoir in Forrest Home park.

Mr. Howell found the note in his room last night when he returned from a trip in the country and a search for the woman resulting in the discovery of the lifeless body under twelve feet of water. She was 43 years old and was married to Mr. Howell, a mechanic, about six months ago.

It is supposed that the rash act was committed during temporary mental derangement, due to ill health.

BOY AND GIRL FARMERS FLOCK TO WASHINGTON

Walker L. Dunson, of Alabama, Leads With 232 Bushels of Corn on His Acre.

Washington, December 11.—Champion boy and girl farmers from thirty states arrived here today and for a week will be the guests of the department of agriculture. There were eighty in the party, and each has a record for achievement in raising prize corn or potatoes or for having the best and most profitable canning or garden.

The boys and girls will spend the week in sightseeing in the national capital. For several years the department has awarded trips to Washington to the prize boy corn raisers, but this is the first time girls have been included. There are nearly as many girls as boys in the party that arrived today.

Alabama Boy Leads.

The most successful of the young prize winners in the party arriving today from all over the country is Walker Lee Dunson, of Alexander City, Ala., who, on his acre, raised 232 bushels of corn. This remains the record which was held for the past three years by Miss Lee Dunson, of Alabama, with 228 bushels. Young Dunson, however, grew his crop at a cost of $18.10, having spent only 25 cents per bushel. Miss Dunson's crop cost her 26 cents a bushel.

Second on the list this year is J. Jones Polk, of Prentiss, Miss., who raised on his acre 225 bushels, at a cost of about 21 cents a bushel. Besides the corn boys, prize winners in the potato clubs, girls' canning clubs and pig clubs are here.

From Every Southern State.

Boys and girls from every state in the south included among those here on a result of having been prize-winners in their respective states in corn raising or in canning. One boy, Onie Minyard, of Indianola, Okla., was interviewed today by reporters. The following boys are here: Walker Lee Dunson, Alexander City, Ala.; Jean Garner, Paragould, Ark.; Malcolm Miller, Baker, Fla.; Edward Calhoun, Madison, Ga.; W. Arthur Cooke, Owensboro, Ky.; W. Wardlaw, Red Oak, La.; Walter Garner, Waldorf, Md.; J. Jones Polk, Prentiss, Miss.; Ray Cameron, Kinston, N. C.; E. C. Montgomery, Ada, O.; Elbert Cash, Rush Springs, Okla.; Ernest M. Joye, Vernon, Tex.; Clarence Davis, Elizabethton, Tenn.; Roy Day, Slocum, Texas; John M. Hendrixon, Blind Bright, Texas; Henry Odon, Appomattox, Va., Lloyd Webb, Selbyville, Texas; Andy Young, Coleman, Texas, and Sam Matthews and Ervin Wilson, Angelo, Texas.

Georgia Girl Wins.

The prize-winning Canning Club girls here are:

Erin Westbrook, Odbville, Ala.; Fay Summerfield, Ark.; Isabel Davis, Summerfield, Fla.; Clyde Sullivan, Ousley, Ga.; Ruth Davis, Hebbardsville, Ky.; Hazel McDavitt, Welsh, La.; Ethel Cook, Owensboro, Ky.; Lucile Miss.; Margaret Brown and May Belle Brown, Whitehaven, Miss.; Nora Thompson, Guthrie, Okla.; Lizzie Kelly, Union, Miss.; Wynne Hamilton, Camden, Tenn.; Annie Davis, Jefferson, Texas, and Margaret Hall, Burkeville, Va.

The winning of the prize trip to the south was Miss Clyde Sullivan, of Ousley, Ga., who put up 2,464 cans out of a yield of 2,354 pounds of tomatoes.

BY UNDERHAND METHODS MRS. YOUNG WAS BEATEN

So Mayor Harrison Alleges. Chicago Women Working to Overthrow School Board.

Chicago, December 11.—Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, replaced as superintendent of public schools yesterday by the assistant Superintendent John D. Shoop, may be restored to her office again by a new popular demand, as she was last July. Mayor Harrison's office was besieged by representatives of women's organizations today protesting against the loss of Mrs. Young to Chicago's educational system. The mayor promised to aid them in their fight in every way possible. He said he would confer with the resignations of a number of members of the school board to be used against Mrs. Young in the session yesterday and brought about her undoing.

"I will let the first move be made by the children," Mr. Harrison said. "I suggest that they get Mrs. Young to reconsider her resignation and second that they remember it is now necessary to create a vacancy in the board of education if Mrs. Young is to be up to Mr. Shoop to resign. I understand that the women's organizations will urge his resignation."

Mayor Harrison Outspoken.

Mayor Harrison was outspoken in denunciation of the board members who voted against Mrs. Young. He said that he had resignations of six of them. "I am glad of his hands when they took office.

"Are you going to accept any of these resignations?" he was asked. "I shall not resign. I wrote letters to every member of the board asking Mrs. Young re-appointed, and believe some of them would not have voted against her if the vote had been taken in the open. They have adopted underhand methods, and they are not in sympathy with the administration. I know what I would do if I were a member of the board and I am sure many others are about me."

Meetings were held today at the Woman's City club, the Chicago Woman's club and other women's organizations. A mass meeting scheduled for Sunday, will be addressed by Miss Jane Addams and other prominent women. Mrs. Young has remained in seclusion and has made no statement since the announcement that she would not hold office without the unmistakable support of the board.

Frederic A. Delano, chairman of the school management committee of the board, who resigned immediately on Mrs. Young's retirement, declared that the change meant the end of the men' system.

Milwaukee Wants Mrs. Young.

Milwaukee, Wis., December 11.—A movement was begun here today to get Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools in Chicago, to assume the same position in Milwaukee. There has been a vacancy in the office here for months.

SEEDS, BULBS, ROSE BUSHES AND GARDEN SUPPLIES.
Bell Phones: Main 2?45, Main 2?62, Atlanta 1?.

THERE IS NO good reason why everyone that has a home in Atlanta should not have plenty of flowers. If not, we will furnish plants, bulbs, etc., that will begin blooming in early spring and continue to bloom until very late. Also roses bushes are field-grown, and transplanted in this season of the year doesn't set them back any. We have all of the popular varieties. Ask for our catalogue and make your selection.

HASTINGS' SEEDS—The beautiful pots of blooming Cyclamen we are showing! There are pretty ones for 25c and 50c, and our prices are only one-half what you pay at other florists. Bear this in mind, and Christmas, when you want to send a friend a blooming plant, come to Hastings' for it. We will also have pots of Narcissus and Roman Hyacinths.

WE HAVE ordered ten dozen Canary Birds to be shipped to us direct from Germany for the Christmas trade. A sweet-singing Canary Bird makes a very acceptable gift, and this lot will be extra good singers. The price will be the same—?5c each.

WE HAVE a nice line of Brass Cages at ?5c each. Regular price $1.25 up to $?.??.

GUESTS IN PANIC AS HOTEL BLAZES

Macon, Ga., December 11.—(Special.) Fire that destroyed the Hotel Williams here early today threw more than fifty guests to the street in scanty attire. Two women on the second floor, cut off by the flames, were taken from the windows by firemen.

The fire was discovered by the night clerk, who ran from room to room, arousing guests. The hotel was built two years ago at a cost of $100,000.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Lorig, who were married Sunday, lost wedding gifts valued at $3,500. A jewelry salesman claimed to have left a satchel containing gems worth $10,000 in his room. Few of the guests saved any of their effects.

Atlanta Women Rescued.

Mrs. R. Miller and Miss Alice Miller, of Atlanta, were carried down fire escapes through flames in their night clothing. Several other women were rescued in the same manner.

Judge H. A. Matthews, of the superior court, was in the building and is one of those missing.

Mrs. F. Vaughan and little daughter, W. S. Anderson and A. L. Whitaker, from Los Angeles, were among those rescued by the firemen.

Traveling men who were guests at the Dinkler readily gave up their rooms to the women of the burned hotel. The contents of the rooms on the third and fourth floors were destroyed. The firemen played several large streams on the fire for nearly an hour before the raging flames were put under control.

The building was completely gutted by fire, and is considerably damaged by smoke and water. Defective wiring is supposed to have caused the fire. The Williams hotel was one of the several new hotels that have been erected in Macon within the past two years.

Climbs Down Sheet Rope.

Grady Knight, of Eatonton, a traveling man, did not try to locate the fire escape, but made a rope of two sheets and two blankets and swung from the second story window to the street.

Out of the seventy or more people in the hotel, nearly all suffered some loss. The bride and groom seemed to deplore the loss more than any others. Wedding presents of all descriptions that had been given them were packed in their room, which was completely ruined by the flames.

The hotel records for the past year that were stored in one part of the building were also lost. W. H. Green, representative of the Hartford Fire Insurance company, had a number of valuable papers destroyed.

Every guest is now being cared for at the Dinkler hotel. Many of the ladies hastened to the hostelry without anything with which to dress, including Louis Lipsey, night clerk at the Dinkler, who rushed out early with a suit of clothing, which she readily donned and returned to the hotel and attempted to rescue her clothing from her room.

Phillips, a well known Atlanta lady, and a $500 subscription was also made by Mr. J. Phillips, brother of Mrs. Jeffers' Press. Mr. Kerr, who was present at the luncheon, was introduced by Dr. Thornwell Jacobs.

"I believe this is one of the greatest movements ever started in Atlanta," said Mr. Kerr, "and I am glad to give to it to the extent of my ability. I only wish I could give it a thousand dollars and even more."

Outside of the general committee to which the large subscriptions were credited, L. F. Battey's committee won the honors of the day, with a total of $910. Mr. Battey's committee was busy on Mitchell street and in the terminal station district, and reported eighty-nine subscriptions, ranging from $3 to $50.

One of the hardest and most persistent workers for Oglethorpe was J. J. Gartner. Mr. Gartner is a whole committee by himself, and without outside assistance has secured a long and imposing list of the most substantial subscriptions yet made.

Reports of Subscriptions.

J. A. FARLINGER'S COMMITTEE: A friend $10; W. H. Hirsch, $10; R. O. Walker, $10; friend, $140.

H. J. JEFFERS REPORTS: Mr. and Mrs. L. Britain, $25; T. D. Killian, $5; Hooper Alexander, $100; T. M. Brumby, $5; friend, $140.

CONTEMPT SHOWN FOR BRITISH FLAG

The minister of finance declared that the Bank of Spain had lent $4,000,000 to the Hispano-American bank and had offered to lend another $2,000,000. This had been declined by the Hispano-American bank on the ground that it was not enough to meet demands of the depositors, which amount to $20,000,000. All the depositors were demanding their money; it was explained, and the officials had decided it was better not to pay out more than later.

Long lines of depositors besieged the doors of the bank from an early hour this morning. Many of the small cities deposited there for safekeeping were allowed to withdraw.

The finance minister announced that if the Spanish people would avoid this a means of avoiding losses to depositors it would do so.

SOLDIERS OF HUERTA THREATEN TO MUTINY

Hermosillo, Sonora, Mexico, December 11.—A mutiny of the remaining 1,500 or more federal troops defending Guaymas is threatening, according to reports reaching the insurgent lines. It was reported today that three federal deserters arrived at the insurgent base above Guaymas with news of the execution of federal officers to prevent their desertion to the constitutionalist side.

The refugees, who brought arms and ammunition with them, said that Firal Lieutenant Castel and Second Lieutenant Manzonax were executed as an example to other federal officers. It was stated they had attempted to leave Guaymas with their companies of sixty men, taking arms and supplies.

The bank of Guaymas has not been open for three days, it was said, contrary to the usual custom of making small daily payments.

"Fine Feathers" Fascinates Large Audience at Atlanta

"Fine Feathers" is a play which grips and holds the interest that is unlike. Dealing frankly with business—the kind of business which enters into the sharp and keen competition of metropolitan life and causes one at times to lose faith in the honesty of the very terms it employs, Walter has constructed a play which pictures conditions with brutal frankness.

He lays bare a condition which we all recognize. He has taken business grant for his theme, and shows you just how it is impossible for the man without means to beat the game when the cards are persistently stacked, and he is playing with men who know the game. He shows you the folly of a man of honest instincts even attempting to be crooked. He pictures to you the fatal fact that the one who will win at the game must be a crook at heart—one who accepts conditions as he finds them—one devoid of ideals or finer feelings.

In doing all this and making it interesting, Eugene Walter has again displayed his cleverness as a playwright. In the hands of a man of touch less sure the dominant theme of "Fine Feathers" would be prosaic and lacking in convincing power.

The play is well constructed, convincing in a rare degree, and there are several great powerful scenes.

The various characters in "Fine Feathers" are acted with a skill that is consummate. One could expect nothing less of a cast containing such great artists as Lucile Watson, Edwin Son, Rose Coghlan and Max Figman. It is seldom that one is privileged to see so powerful an array of talent on the stage at one time. Whatever faults the play may possess—and it must be frankly confessed that "Fine Feathers" cannot be compared to "Trail of the Full" and "The Easiest Way"—are forgotten in the fine follow the development of the several characters in the hands of these artists.

Briefly stated, the play has to do with a young chemist who is struggling along on a pittance of a salary, in love with a girl who is his wife, paying for his little home, happy in his dreams for the future. His wife loves pretty things, but pretty things cost money and she scrimps and cuts down closely in her desire to get them. She even deceives her husband that she has paid the butcher and the money goes to buy a hat which had tempted her beyond her power of resistance.

Into the lives of this pair comes the tempter in the form of John Brand, a college mate of Reynolds. He is a man of the world—cold as ice, hard as steel, smooth as velvet, when seeking to gain his end—relentless as death itself in the pursuit of that end. He has been successful in business—the kind where success depends on stacked cards and callous conscience. Reynolds is necessary to his success in making an enormous profit in the construction of a dam. A young chemist in charge of the testing of the cement. A word and it means fortune to the young man. Reynolds has ideals and is honest. He refuses to countenance the fraud and blandly shifts the task to the woman. He plays on her love—begs her to make money and all money means; and under his skillful manipulation she is as plastic as putty.

In the end Reynolds consents. He becomes a party to the crime of inferior cement. He gambles in stocks and wins. Then comes the inevitable exposure—the arrest and the amateur. He is wiped out, and goes the penitentiary. He must have more money. He appeals to Brand, who turns a deaf ear to his demand and tells him he can expect nothing. He threatens to implicate the fool he has been, and shows him how hopeless it is for a man without money to investigate the man with money. He tells Reynolds to go to the penitentiary. The other has a powerful weapon to free himself from prison walls.

Reynolds is desperate. Drink has gained a hold on him. He drinks to nerve himself for one last demand—an equal division of the profit made on the fraudulent construction or a full breast of the robbery as an alternative. Brand spurns him with sneers.

Then comes the terrifying news that the dam has broken and scores have been killed. Reynolds decides to tell all. Brand brands him that he will wean prison for him and his wife as well. In the next room he awaits the final decision of the soul-racked man.

Reynolds calls the police station.

"Send a man to ——. It's a suicide." he shouts over the wire.

A pistol shot rings out.

"Suicide is confessed," cynically remarks Brand and leaves the darkened room and its dead.

The story is compactly told. The lines are terse. The truths of the play brutal.

Wilton Lackaye as John Brand has created a part which will long be remembered. He is the embodiment of the prosperous, pitiless man of affairs who has his office boy deals from the bottom of the deck and smiles suavely in the face of his victim.

Robert Edeson rose to splendid heights of dramatic intensity in the part of Don Reynolds in the last scene. In the first and second acts he was equally effective in the subdued moods of contented husband.

Max Figman has given us a newspaper man who is really human, and for this the actor may be praised. He doesn't carry a notebook, he doesn't use slang; he walks and talks like one of thousands of reporters do. He is cynical, but mildly so; he is humorous, with a humor that is refined and whimsical instead of boisterous and banal.

The character part of Mrs. Collins is admirably portrayed by Rose Coghlan. Lydia Dickson injects the most wholesome humor into the role of Fleda.

"Fine Feathers" will be seen again tonight, Saturday matinee and night.

SIDNEY ORMOND.

"Over the Sea."

(At the Bijou.)

The sixteenth week of the Bijou Stock company is proving one of the most successful of the stock season. The English musicians, who are featured in the specialties, continue to draw big audiences and point to a record attendance for the remainder performances. Much is expected from next week's play, which the company has in rehearsal, "A Modern Brothers," western border drama. "The Denver Express." The play was not written for any star, but for the great mass of humanity, which likes a great deal of excitement, considerable fun, a modicum of pathos, harmoniously blended together to make a true picture of life.

Little Emma Bunting.

(At the Lyric.)

The announcement of Miss Emma Bunting's engagement next week at the Lyric has created a stir in theatrical circles in Atlanta, and the box office of the Carnegie theater is one of the busiest places in town. Manager Grossman has been deluged with reservations have been made for the week and indications point to not only a successful engagement, but one of the biggest weeks' business of the popular lyric. For her engagement next week Miss Bunting will offer "Emma, the Girl from Yonder," a play in which Adelaide Thurston starred a few seasons ago.

"A Butterfly on the Wheel."

(At the Lyric.)

Eleanor Montell and her splendid company will give three more performances at the Lyric, presenting "A Butterfly on the Wheel," one of the most interesting plays of the year. The story is one that carries strong moral lessons and one that will be terrible consequences may come to the girl who is led into dissipation. In the part of the young wife Miss Montell does most effective work, in the third act, the courtroom scene, the wife occupies the stand, and the prosecuting attorney conducts the examination. The butterfly appeals to the court for protection and asserts her innocence to no avail.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

There are just four more chances to see the unusually clever bill the Forsyth has been offering this week. They will be matinee and evening performances today and Saturday. Here's the bill for the four chances. And there may not be a real advance sale registered, but the Forsyth management is confident it will be a good entertainment. It is neither too long nor too short; it's just right at that particular holiday time. Theatergoers see a show and have time for something else as well. Yvette, the dainty violinist, a perfect whirlwind of magnetic and charming entertainment, is making her first well American appearance at the Forsyth. A big bill for the coming week will be one of the sort that will be refreshing.

WITH THE MOVIES

The Alamo No. 2.

"Peg o' the Movies," a two-reel Edison masterpiece, will be seen at the Alamo No. 2 today. Peg, who was so good as she was pretty, was wooed by Stephens; but she would not consent to leave her family, who were much in need of her help. Her father, who had never amounted to very much, at his position through drink and then was not very long in following. Peg, who had very different ideas, by her simple looks and charming manner secured her a position in a motion picture studio. Stephens joins the movies, too. One day, during the rehearsal of a play in which Peg is the heroine, Peggy free from the Indians—he forgot his lines and ran away with the heroine of the movies clasped tightly in his arms.

The Alamo No. 1.

"The Three Gamblers," a two-reel Essanay will be seen at the Alamo No. 1 today. Broncho Billy, a professional gambler, is in love with Marguerite Corrigan. Her brother, Bob, a would-be gambler, calls on Broncho Billy to help him out of a difficulty. Bob has succeeded his father as agent for the express company and has been playing fast and loose with the company's funds at roulette and 21. He has completed his promises and 17 hits instead of forty-eight again in order to make good. Broncho Billy, Eddie Clark, popular entertainer in "Rags and Ballads," will begin an engagement at the Alamo next Monday. He comes to Atlanta strongly recommended by the critics.

UNCLE SAM SENDS GIRL BRAND NEW PANAMA HAT

Washington, December 11.—Lottie Lester, the little Seattle school girl who sought to buy a Panama hat from the government for her father's Christmas gift, will soon receive a brand-new hat from Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Hamlin. Lottie recently wrote the treasury that she had saved 63 cents for a new Panama hat, because a "Belgium hat ain't" had made a nest out of her father's old one.

"Uncle Sam wishes me to tell you that he pays a little better and was very much pleased with it," wrote Mr. Hamlin today to Lottie. "He told me to go right out and buy a Panama hat for you, as he did not want to send you one of those he took from the panama hats who tried to bring them into the United States without payment of the duty." I found a hat this morning and am sending it to you by parcel post."

MARRIAGE CEREMONY PERFORMED BY WOMAN

Birmingham, Ala., December 11.—A. T. Bailey and Miss Dolly Posey, of Mingo, Miss., were married at Russellville, Franklin county, Alabama yesterday, Miss Mattie Sevier, chief clerk in the probate judge's office, performing the ceremony. This is the first time in the history of the county that a woman officiated at a wedding. Chief Clerks to probate judges can, by law, perform marriage ceremonies in Alabama.

TEXTILE MILL WORKERS SEEK WAGE ADVANCE

Fall River, Mass., December 11.—A second demand for a wage advance of 25 per cent for the textile mill employees was forwarded to the Cotton Manufacturers' association today by the Industrial Workers of the World.

"The manufacturers will ignore this demand," said President Hills, of the manufacturers' association. "It is the province of manufacturers not to have anything to do with the Industrial Workers of the World."

GIRL IS SWIMMING THRU PANAMA CANAL

Colon, December 11.—Miss Elaine Goldine, of Bath Beach, N. Y., began to swim in the Panama canal from the Atlantic to the Pacific, started this morning from the Gatun locks and reached the lower locks at Pedro Miguel early in the afternoon. She will continue her swim across Gatun lake to Gamboa tomorrow.

Negro to Be Electrocuted.

Raleigh, N. C., December 11.—Jim Cameron, the negro who murdered August Leinbach Blue, a prominent citizen of Aberdeen, N. C., was today convicted of first-degree murder in the superior court of Moore county at Carthage.

FARMERS' COLD STORAGE IS PLANNED AT TOCCOA

Toccoa, Ga., December 11.—(Special.) A very important special meeting of the board of trade occurred Tuesday night to confer with Charles J. Haden, president of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce. It was resolved to change the name of the board of trade and that it hereafter be called the Toccoa and Stephens County Board of Trade, and the farmers of the county will be urged to join. An earnest campaign will be begun to improve farming and marketing methods throughout the county. The chamber unanimously resolved to become members of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce. A meeting will be called at an early date for the purpose of aiding in the state-wide campaign of preparation for the exhibit at the ball next year. The subject of cold storage and a warehouse system at Toccoa for the purpose of storing and handling agricultural products and thereby stabilizing food productions was earnestly discussed. It is quite probable that a cold storage plant will be erected and will take denite shape.

In a speech, Mr. Haden said that the Georgia Chamber of Commerce would, at a date about the middle of January, call a meeting at a central point in northeast Georgia, at which the entire apple growing section would be asked to participate to make plans for the upbuilding of the apple growing industry.

QUARTER AND PUMPS ALL ROBBERS GOT FROM THIS HOLD-UP

J. M. Fraser, returning from a dance clad in fur overcoat and silk hat, looked easy money to two hold-up men whom he encountered shortly before midnight at Ponce de Leon avenue and Hunt street while he was on his way to his home at 489 North Jackson street.

He was not as productive, however, as his appearance predicted. While one of the highwaymen held a pistol in Fraser's face, the other relieved him of twenty-five cents, a bunch of keys and—that was all he could find. This made the robbers sore.

Fraser notified police headquarters and gave a good description of the robbers to Policemen Evans and Shumate.

STATE COLLEGE ISSUES BULLETIN ON POULTRY

Athens, Ga., December 11.—(Special.) The State College of Agriculture has just issued a bulletin on "Profit in Poultry on the Farm," by Professor Leroy L. Jones, the head of the department of poultry husbandry. An extra large number of this bulletin was printed, and may be had on application. The work is the most complete that has ever been published as a bulletin in the south, indicating best breeds, best feed, disease, housing, marketing of poultry in the way to be profitable. The ordinary Georgia farmer, the south Georgia "chooter" yield in liberal supply of lard, is the main thought in a bulletin from the State College of Agriculture by Professors Jarnigan and Carpenter, who is issued today. The making of pork at a cost of 8 cents a pound is made possible and feasible in the south Georgia sections.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Jesse Lee Hall, 21, and Miss Ethel Mae Hall, 18, both of Atlanta.

Thomas Jefferson Hall, 21, and Miss Mary Lee
