ALL LIFT HAT TO ATLANTA.
Atlanta's great victory is the talk of all Dallas. The wonderful fight put up, the remarkable courage displayed and the magnificent rally from an unexpected hostile development has lifted Dallas' hat to Atlanta and everybody is complimenting the Crackers on all sides.

How it all failed, and how Adair's magnificent standing in the Shrine carried the floor fight by storm all go to make one of the most interesting chapters in Shrine history.

The imperial potentate's hostility to Atlanta is hard to explain, but it is, no one is trying to explain it particularly. There will be no bitterness developed by the fight.

Here's the Way It Stood Before the Fight Came

The developments in Atlanta's contest up to the time of the victory is indicated in the following news story from "The Georgiaian" of Wednesday, May 14, 1913.

DALLAS, TEX., May 14.—Take Forrest Adair's word for it, Atlanta is going to win today.
Just before closing campaign records and going into the session of the imperial council of the Atlanta Shrine, today Mr. Adair and his faithful Yaarab boosters and boomers held a final council of war.

Only One Contest for Office.

The only contest for any office in the Georgiaian is that for the lowest of the Imperial Council office of the Atlanta Shrine. The contest is for the office of the Imperial Council officer, chief rabban, J. Putnam Shreve, Jr., of Atlanta.

Ballot Wednesday Afternoon.

The Georgia Shriners will present Governor Colquhoun of Texas, a handsome figure, to-day as an evidence of their appreciation of his long friendship to the cause of Georgia. The Georgia Shriners will make a short tour of Texas, while other cities return home.

THOUSANDS WILL WELCOME VICARIOUS YAARAB PATROL

Atlanta's hotels will easily accommodate the thousands of those who will be expected to witness the Yaarab patrol.

The Shriners' convention undoubtedly will be the largest ever held in Atlanta. The Yaarab patrol, which will be the largest ever held in Atlanta, will be the largest ever held in Atlanta.

BURNS SAYS HE WILL HUNT PHAGAN SLAYER

Noted Detective Expected to Take Up Case June 1--One of His Experts Coming Soon.

Colonel Thomas B. Felder, noted Atlanta lawyer, Thursday issued the positive statement that William J. Burns would take charge of the Phagan investigation immediately upon his return from Europe, June 1.

In the meantime a criminal investigator will be sent from the Burns Agency's New York office to prosecute the investigation.

Colonel Felder gave out the following dispatch received from Raymond J. Burns, son of William J. Burns, in New York, which tells of the father's determination to take up the Phagan mystery:

Father still in Europe. Re-turns about June 1. He consents to take charge of Phagan investigation immediately upon his return. He suggests I send a good criminal investigator to start investigation immediately before game gets too cold.

Colonel Felder declared his surprise and indignation in Burns' ability to clear up the Phagan mystery and bring to light the person or persons guilty of the murder.

"This fund can be raised," he declared that his action in securing the detective was given impetus by the demands of Atlanta citizens to clear up the mystery regardless of cost, and he expressed his belief that sufficient funds to cover the investigation will be easily forthcoming.

Already, he declared, the foundation of a fund had been secured through the generous donations of friends of the Phagan girl and other people who seem to be doing their utmost to ferret out the mystery.

And now, with the subscriptions in an amount which, he believes, will make up the fund, he said that he would like to see the fund put to work.

Colonel Felder's statement in full is as follows:

Statement by Felder. The time I had in hand when I deem it not only proper, but necessary, that I take the public into my confidence relative to the far-reaching investigation of the Phagan murder case.

My firm was employed by neighbors and friends of the deceased shortly after the crime was committed to aid in the preparation of the case and the prosecution thereof.

Without intending to reflect in the slightest degree upon the vigilant detectives engaged upon the case, who seem to be doing their utmost to ferret out the mystery, it occurred to me that the magnitude of the crime justified an effort to secure the services of William J. Burns, a man with a record of successes covering a period of 30 years or more--and without a single failure charged against him.

Women Aid in Move. A committee of prominent women of the city, distinguished for their philanthropic work, called upon me, assuring me that funds sufficient to cover the expenses of Burns' investigation could be raised by public subscription. I assured these good women of my willingness to contribute our fee, and some additional amount if necessary. I immediately got into communication with Mr. Burns, and the result of my efforts will be reflected by a "release" which will reach you by way of the Atlanta Georgian, and which is published herewith.

I feel that those interested in seeing justice vindicated, by fixing this crime upon the guilty parties, will feel certain that I have brought to punishment through the efforts of this distinguished

East Point Town Marshal Is Found Dead in Street

Living face downward in the middle of the street, with the head buried in a faded straw hat, the body of East Point town marshal, was found dead in front of the Citizens' bank at East Point, Thursday morning at 11:30 o'clock.

Edward Thrall, a truck farmer, found the body. Coroner Donahoe will hold an inquest Thursday afternoon.

An examination failed to disclose any marks or wounds on the body. Dr. Griffin is of the opinion that death was caused by apoplexy, but he has not yet made a close enough examination to be sure.

The body was found by Thrall while he was driving into East Point with a load of produce. His horse shied, and Thrall, investigating, found the body lying in the street. Cash's revolver was still in his pocket, unexploded, and his club was lying by his side, where it had dropped when he fell.

Cash had been marshal of East Point for sixteen months.

The fund thus far raised by the friends and neighbors of the family of the deceased, and through the efforts of the good women who have interested themselves in the work, falls far short of the amount required to carry it forward.

Public Aided to Donate. The public is therefore invited to contribute to the fund. At the corner of 10th street and a fenced-in statement of receipts and disbursements in this behalf will be published by the press of the city for the information of the subscribers to the fund.

It is in what I am going to have the approval of the Board of Health, Hon. Hugh M. Dorsey, who will supervise and direct all work in this behalf.

For Felder, Anderson, Dillon & Whitman. Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey said that he expected no developments along the line of a new arrest, nor had there been anything at all in the case that would lead him to change the direction of his prosecution.

"There is absolutely nothing new in the case," he said, "and I am not sure that it is evidence that has not been made public. Our investigation has been extensive, and some rather important points have been brought out since the coroner's inquest, but there is nothing that could be called new."

"For the last two days our efforts have been directed toward getting the different statements in shape and corroborating what evidence we have."

New Arrest Not Unlikely. It became known, however, that for two days deputies from the office of the solicitor have been contemplating making a new arrest in the case, and that it is not unlikely the arrest may be made Thursday or Friday.

One of the deputies was responsible for the statement that there was almost as much evidence against the party or parties, under surveillance as there was against the two suspects held in the Tower. He said he had not made the arrest yet because the persons could not be seen and he wanted to get the sanction of the solicitor, which had thus far been withheld.

The solicitor said that he attached little importance to the slip of paper found in an old purse at Mary Phagan's home on which was written the man's name and address. Other than as a specimen of her handwriting, he said, it was of no importance.

He said he did not believe the girl expected to meet her death or had the slip of paper as an identification card, for the reason that it was left in an unsealed purse and at her home.

The solicitor had several conversations yesterday with handwriting experts and had interviewed Friday, but it is not probable the Phagan case will be closed until the next week, but the probabilities were that he might call a special session of the grand jury on Friday.

All the cases on the docket, with the exception of the Phagan case, were accepted on the Grand Jury calendar Thursday to "clean up" everything for the Grand Jury, which probably will take several days

Infant 'Damnation' a Vital Issue Smoking Pastors Under Debate 2 Live Topics for Presbyterians

By REV. CHARLES STELLE.

Whether all "non-elect" children are predestinated to damnation is a "human interest" problem which will produce unmitigated confusion in the minds of many mothers, to say nothing of some fathers. A vision of a former day is reported to have appeared in the cheerful information that the month of hell is choked with such infants. He did not state specifically how he came by this knowledge, but the sermon must have sent his congregation home shivering in spite of the warmth of his subject.

The Southern Presbyterian Assembly, now in session at Atlanta, will wrestle with this much discussed question. For some time its ministers and Presbyteries have been debating the proposition as to whether the confession of faith should be revised so as to declare plainly that all children dying in infancy should be saved--as probably practically all of them now sincerely believe--or whether this church shall continue to merely affirm that all "elect" infants dying in infancy "shall be saved from hell."

Elect Infant Clause Inserted Long Ago. However this matter may be finally disposed of, it should be said in all fairness that when the Elect Infant clause was inserted in the Westminster Confession of Faith, then dominant church--this was several hundred years ago--intended that only children under the age should be saved.

The Presbyterians of that day vehemently declared that this was not true--that at least all the infants of "the elect" or all the "elect infants," whichever way you may choose to put it, are saved.

This attitude was a radical advance in the system which limited so narrowly the number of "saved" infants, and these worthies of the old Presbyterian faith took much credit for their "radicalism."

There are large numbers of Presbyterians who are today unwilling to go much in advance of this doctrine. They say that whatever may be their personal opinions about the matter, there is absolutely no scripture passage which distinctly states that all children dying in infancy shall be saved, and they are not ready to incorporate in their Confession of Faith a doctrine they state is not specifically taught in the Bible.

They are willing to rest their faith upon the "revealed word," leaving as open questions all matters of uncertainty. They do not say that all such infants are not saved, but neither will they have the church teach that they are saved.

Perhaps the Atlanta Assembly will throw some further light upon this troublesome problem, but this is not likely to be the case.

Smoking by Pastors Again Under Debate. While the sterner and earnest men in these assemblies admit they do not know what the Almighty will do in the future with "damned" children, there are a good many who have agreed upon the question as to whether it is quite the thing for full-time ministers to smoke right now. They will probably declare, to say nothing of the practice of ministers smoking, that they are not ready to bear it, but they are more than ready to pass it up to the next assembly.

If the Northern Assembly do not pass it, the next assembly resolution against the practice of ministers smoking, it will not doubt be because they are meeting in a part of the country where this habit is far more common than it is in the North.

And yet it is a peculiar coincidence that nearly every ex-moderator of the Northern Assembly is a user of tobacco. As for the Southern--watch them in the lobbies of the hotels.

Triple Meeting A Sign of Progress. Few people appreciate the significance of this simultaneous meeting of the three Presbyterian Assemblies--the Northern, Southern and United. A few years ago such proceeding would have been an absolute impossibility. There are some folks here at this moment who are afraid of what may happen during the next 10 days. For if these 1,800 commissioners, representing the three denominations should really come to know each other and discover that some of the men of whom they have been hearing for many a year are actually free from horns and cloven hoofs, there's no telling what may come to pass. It isn't likely that they would be an immediate amalgamation, but that a tremendous relief it would be to have it down upon some people that these "apostles" actually belong to the same great Presbyterian family.

This realization may or may not come in the regular meetings of the assemblies--the discovery is more likely to be made in the homes--in which those commissioners are being entertained. It is the hunch element, not the theological, that will finally produce the spirit of greater brotherhood among Presbyterians, and the women in the homes are going to help right loyally on the job.

ASSEMBLIES AT WORK TO ELECT MODERATORS

Dr. Maitland Alexander, of Pittsburg, foremost candidate for moderator of the Presbyterian Church (North) and one of the leading figures in America's religious work.

Three Candidates in Field for Leadership of Northern Presbyterians; Southern Delegates Also Vote on New Church Head.

Thursday saw the inauguration of the real work of two thousand delegates and visitors to three great Presbyterian Assemblies, gathered in one city for the first time in the history of America.

The actions of this great body of men will affect nearly two million people, members of the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

Of chief importance among the events of the day are the elections of moderators for the two greatest assemblies--the Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., and the Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. The United Presbyterians already have elected Dr. Robert H. Russell moderator.

At the opening of the Northern assembly, in the Baptist Tabernacle, Dr. Mark A. Matthews, the retiring moderator, delivered the session which always is awaited with interest. His subject was "The Victories of Faith," the "Victories of Unbelief," and he declared in a rousing talk that the greatest need of the church was faith.

Three Candidates in Field. For the moderatorship of the Northern Assembly, three candidates have appeared in the field. That contest will be a body fought in almost certain, but all the indications favored a victory for the conservative.

The candidates are Dr. Maitland Alexander, of Pittsburg, Pa., who has the support of the conservative element; Dr. S. S. Williams of Columbus, Ohio, and Dr. William McKibben of Cincinnati, Ohio.

The session of the Southern branch was opened by Dr. Thomas G. Bryce, of Sherman, Texas, the retiring moderator, of the North Avenue Church. Owing to the policy pursued by the denomination, which prescribes all policies in the election of moderators, no candidate has appeared for that office.

Both branches will elect their moderators before night.

Moderator Fight in Northern Assembly. At the opening session of the Northern Assembly, at the Baptist Tabernacle, Thursday morning, Moderator Dr. Mark Matthews, of Seattle, former Georgian, now pastor of the largest Presbyterian church in the United States, preached what many of his hearers considered one of the most earnest sermons he has ever delivered. His subject was "The Victories of Faith," the "Victories of Unbelief."

Following the annual service of the moderator, the convention adjourned to 12:00 o'clock, when the second session was begun.

The session of the Southern assembly, at the North Avenue Church, followed the course pursued by the Northern Assembly, adjourning to 12:00 o'clock after hearing the annual sermon of the moderator, Dr. Thomas G. Bryce, of Sherman, Texas.

Interest in the Thursday sessions of the two assemblies centers in the election of moderators to head the assemblies of the church scheduled for the afternoon sessions. There have been previous intently mentioned by the Boston Herald, Dr. Maitland Alexander, of Pittsburg, Pa., Dr. S. S. Williams, of Columbus, Ohio, and Dr. William McKibben, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

TULSA, OKLA., May 15.--With drawn revolvers two masked youths held up a crowd of 200 men sitting early this morning and got away with $2,000.

One of the place was crowded with men when two slender youths appeared at the entrance to the room. They had blue handkerchiefs over their faces and while one man held the gun leveled at the astonished crowd, his partner went up all the money in sight and placed it in a strong canvas bag.

None of the men were searched, but they were taken to the room and down the stairway to the pool hall, where they had their escape through a rear door.

Fasting for Cancer, Paris Expert's Cure. Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. PARIS, May 15.--Dr. Kesting Hart, famous French cancer specialist, who founded the Academy of Medicine in New Jersey for the cure of the malignant disease, which consists chiefly of fasting, holds that cancer is not hereditary and that it can be cured.

The general treatment consists in reduction of food almost to the point of starvation; the local treatment, given when the disease is inoperable, consists of the usual operation, followed by the directing of a stream of high-tension electric sparks against the affected part.

Dr. Hart believes that the over-heated condition of blood, due to the fast, makes part of the body susceptible to cancer germs.

ATLANTA BAPTIST OPPOSED TO UNION

Dr. Gray, at Southern Convention, Presents Report Antagonistic to Denominational Merger.

ST. LOUIS, May 18.—Delegates to the sixteenth annual Southern Baptist convention as met on religious leaders of other denominations today are discussing the anti-unionism plank in the report of Dr. D. H. Gray, of Atlanta, for the Board of Home Missions.

The Grand Jury met Friday, but it is probable the Phagan case will be submitted then. Mr. Dorsey said that he might call a special session some time before the end of next week, but the probabilities were it would be considered on that day.

All the cases on the docket, with the exception of the Phagan case, were placed on the Grand Jury calendar Thursday in view of the fact that the collector has been investigating the case.

ATLANTA BAPTIST OPPOSED TO UNION. Dr. Gray, at Southern Convention, Presents Report Antagonistic to Denominational Merger.

ST. LOUIS, May 18.—Delegates to the sixteenth annual Southern Baptist convention as met on religious leaders of other denominations today are discussing the anti-unionism plank in the report of Dr. D. H. Gray, of Atlanta, for the Board of Home Missions.

It is held that the anti-unionism plank can best serve home missions by loyalty to the principles of their own faith. Union church efforts have failed and will fail, if the denomination is to be successful.

There is absolutely nothing new in the case. He said Thursday morning that he is not in a position to make any statement, but that he is not in a position to make any statement.

For the last two days our efforts have been directed toward getting different statements by the accused concerning what took place on the night of May 11, 1915.

Mr. Burns has not yet been arrested. He is still in New York. He is still in New York. He is still in New York.

It is believed, however, that for two days previous to the arrest of the accused, he had been in New York, and that he is not in a position to make any statement.

J. WYLLIE SMITH, FORMER HEAD OF THE COMMERCIAL LEAS AND DISCOUNT COMPANY, ATLANTA, ACCUSED OF FORGERY, WILL BE BROUGHT BACK TO THE CITY WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

Smith returned to Atlanta from Mexico to face charges of forgery.

Former Banker Asks Sheriff to Shield Him From All—Pleads His Illness.

Ultimate attention attended the first day's incarceration of J. Wyllie Smith, former head of the Commercial Leas and Discount Company, Atlanta, accused of forgery, who was brought back to the city Wednesday night.

Smith looked like a ghost of his former self. He is suffering from a severe case of malaria, which he contracted in Mexico, and he is unable to stand up at this time.

formal manner if necessary. I intend to get into communication with Mr. Burns, and the result of my efforts will be reflected by a subsequent article which reached me by way of his New York office, which is published herewith.

It is felt that those interested in seeing justice vindicated, by fixing this crime upon the guilty parties, whom I feel certain will be brought to justice, should through the efforts of this distinguished detective, are to be congratulated that we have been able to secure his services.

The fund thus far raised by the friends and neighbors of the family of deceased, and through the efforts of the good women who have interested themselves in the work, falls far short of the amount required to carry it forward.

Public Asked to Donate.
The public is therefore invited to contribute to the fund. At the conclusion of the work an itemized statement of receipts and disbursements in this behalf will be published by the press of this city for the information of the subscribers to the fund.

In conclusion I desire to say that in what I am doing I have the approval of the Solicitor General, Hon. Hugh M. Dorsey, who will supervise and direct all work in this behalf.

THOMAS H. FELDER.
For Felder, Anderson, Dillon & Whitman.
Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey said that he expected no developments along the line of a new arrest, nor had there been anything at all in the case that would lead him to change the direction of his prosecution.

There is absolutely nothing new in the case," he said "Thursday morning," unless it is evidence that has not been made public. Our investigation has been extensive, and some rather important points have been brought out since the coroner's inquest, but there is nothing that could be called new.
