Made in Atlanta--A Permanent Exhibition of Our Goods Would be a Liberal Education to the Whole Country--The Time to Act Is NOW.

The plan of the manufacturers and merchants of Atlanta to install a permanent exhibition of MADE IN ATLANTA goods in this city is excellent. Chattanooga has an exhibition along similar lines, and it is proposed by the Chamber of Commerce of this city that the manufacturers and merchants of Atlanta shall study this exhibition in Chattanooga, and install an exhibition of MADE IN ATLANTA goods here, so that people of the entire south, and other parts of the country as well, may know exactly what MADE IN ATLANTA goods really mean.

Here are three human question marks. When will the "statesmen" of the nation find time to answer, or try to answer, the questions that these three bodies ask? (See Editorial.)

What Is To Be Done for These Women and Others Like Them?

Who Will Answer the Questions That These Human Question Marks Permanently Represent in Our Civilization? Isn't It Time TO MAKE A BEGINNING?

Hold this paper at arm's length and the three women at the top of the page look like three question marks. AND THEY ARE THREE QUESTION MARKS. They are the oldest question marks in the world, or at least in the world as long as men have lived on it, some two or three hundred thousand years. From the beginning, women have done the hard work, the dull work, the work that wears the brain, the body and the nerves. AND THE HORRIBLE WORK THAT HOLDS OUT NO FUTURE HOPE.

What Is Ideal Love in a Man?

The Highest Type of Lover Is at Once Friend, Mate, Defender and Comrade to the Woman He Loves.

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX. WHAT is the highest ideal of man's love for woman? It is a more difficult question to answer than its companion--woman's ideal love for man--because woman is a more difficult being to satisfy in the matter of the affections than man. Given an orderly home, a well-supplied table and a faithful, cheerful woman to reign, and the average man is content with his domestic relations. But emotional woman wants more than these conditions grant. She wants continuous praise, a frequently recurring touch of sentiment, and even a misunderstanding, love and then, followed by a reconciliation, it sweeter to her than a moment of unrequited satisfaction.

WOODWARD IN DICTOGRAPH NET

Mayor's Conversation With Colyar Is Reported in Detail

NEGRO SWEEPER OWNS WRITING NOTES ON DEAD GIRL'S BODY

It was announced Saturday noon that Leo M. Frank had been indicted by the Grand Jury for the murder of Mary Phagan.

The authorities are of the opinion that they have a very strong case against Frank and Lee, and sufficient evidence to convict Frank of the murder.

Rumors about the Grand Jury room were definite to the effect that evidence produced against Frank convinced the entire jury that the case against Frank was very strong.

Of course the proceedings of the Grand Jury are secret and no member of the Grand Jury nor any member of Solicitor Dorey's staff would give the reporters information as to what had taken place in the Grand Jury room, or what evidence had been disclosed against Frank or Lee.

That the authorities have very important evidence that has not yet been disclosed in the public is certain. The Georgian has maintained this from the beginning of the investigation. The jury adjourned until Friday without indicting Lee.

Several most peculiar features mark the affidavits of James Connolly and Solicitor Dorey's charge about accepting the supposed admissions without a thorough investigation. The fact that the negro sweeper places the dirt as the Friday before the murder that Frank asked him for specimens of his handwriting forms the first mystifying phase of the confession.

No theory that has placed the responsibility of the crime upon Frank has been so far planned in detail one day before it was committed. The unanimous theory of those who have believed Frank guilty is that he did it on the necessity of the moment to prevent the girl from seeing the track which is supposed to have preceded the killing.

The belief that the killing was planned as far ahead as Friday has entered no one's mind in respect to the circumstances of the mystery. The negro also says in his affidavit that Frank muttered: "Why should I hang?" a very significant question if it could be regarded as likely to be made by a guilty person.

The entire affidavit is exceedingly peculiar. Connolly's testimony came as a surprise. Few persons know of the weighty evidence which was being carried before the Grand Jury when the negro sweeper was taken before that tribunal except the prosecution. Connolly was arrested on suspicion the morning following the murder. He had been confined in the Tower at that time.

Sent for Detective. Until Saturday morning his testimony had been considered by practically everyone connected with the case as of small value.

Just before the Grand Jury opened Saturday morning, however, Connolly was called to the witness stand. "Now, I want you to state," said the judge, "to the best of your knowledge, what was found in the possession of the father and where had been previously the only case of the kind he had investigated with a view to the possibility of the murder?"

When the negro had answered the question he was taken immediately to the court house. Reports of the handwriting that was taken were added there, it is said, complete to

A. S. COLYAR, who figures in the dictograph sensation. Records show he has been confined in two insane asylums and numerous prisons. His operations are alleged to extend from New York to Mexico. He is a member of a prominent Tennessee family.

M'CARTY KNOCKED OUT BY PELKY IN ONE ROUND

ALBANY, ALBANY, May 23.—Lester McCarly, white heavyweight champion of the world, was knocked out in the first round here this afternoon by Arthur Pelky.

SENSATIONAL EFFORT TO OBTAIN REAL INSIDE GRAFT EVIDENCE

Sensational dictograph conversations, in which Mayor James G. Woodward, Charles C. Jones, former Tenderloin proprietor and present owner of the Rex saloon; E. O. Miles, a private detective, A. S. Colyar, accused of Colonel T. B. Felder, and Chief Lanford's clerk, February, all figure, are made public by The Atlanta Georgian to-day.

The conversations, all reported by a dictograph installed in the Williams house, in the same room said by the same man who figured in the "trapping" of Felder, tend to throw new and startling light on the alleged plot to "get" Chief of Police James L. Beavers, who wiped out the Tenderloin, and Chief of Detectives Lanford.

As reported by George M. Gentry, who took down the conversation as it trickled over the thin spun wires through the door between Colyar's room, No. 31, and room No. 32, it is apparently made clear that the Mayor was not only after evidence of graft in the police department, but more directly after evidence on which Chief Beavers could be impeached and discharged. The Mayor has never hesitated to make plain that he was not in sympathy with the chief's attitude.

The conversation in which the Mayor figured seems to show that he promised protection to the man who would get the evidence if he should get in trouble doing it, and that he gave assurances the work would be well paid for.

The Mayor was present at the conference with February, Colyar and Miles. The entire dictograph conversation in which he figured is given elsewhere.

Far more sensational is the conversation in which Jones, Miles and Colyar took part. Jones viciously attacked the police department, charging graft and crookedness; accused Marshal Jackson, Men and Religion Forward Movement leader, of being the beneficiary of vice, and said he had been double-crossed in the wiping out of the Tenderloin.

Colonel Felder's name is mentioned there and again in the conversation of the three, and more than one reference is made to the alleged offer of $1,000 for evidence.

Jones Attacks Beavers and Charges Police Crookedness

The following conversation occurred in room No. 31, at Williams House, No. 2, 3432 N. Forsyth Street, Atlanta, Ga., Wednesday evening, between S and O'clock, between C. C. Jones, F. O. Miles and A. S. Colyar:

Colyar—He has been very warm to-day, hasn't he?

Miles—Yes, it has. I asked Mr. Felder if you mentioned Mr. Jones' name to him and he said no.

Colyar—He told me Monday night that Mr. Jones was a friend of his and he thought it an outrage the way he had done him.

Miles—You know I asked you this afternoon why you wanted to see Mr. Jones.

Colyar—If you don't want to talk, that's all right.

Miles—In what way?

Colyar—Tom told me that you pretty dirty down here at the station house.

Miles—Yes. They closed up the houses I had. I had a lot of property.

Colyar—He told me they framed up on you.

Miles—There is no doubt but what it was a frame-up.

Colyar—Tom told me he would like to see the gang out of business.

Miles—The record now is (voice very indistinct just then). They never grafted me. Wouldn't be any use for me to give them any money.

Miles—You told me you wanted to see Jones. It is not a question of lack of confidence, as you told me you were true as far as I know, but if he knows anything at all about it, I don't know just what it is.

Colyar—I don't know anything. I just told them to go ahead and build their houses and move them across the street. Even some of them went and paid for them. Three or four days before they closed the houses, the Chief of the City of Atlanta.

Miles—That would never do to close this district and I was surprised one morning by a telephone message from someone at No. 18, that the Chief had given five or six days notice to get out. I don't remember which, and I never even went to the trouble to go out to see this man to ask him what he meant, as I could not figure it out to save my life what he meant. That is all that I know of. I found out what he was doing. I understood that Jackson was holding conversation with him anywhere from one to three times a day.

Colyar—Who is Jackson?

Miles—Jackson is the man that owns the biggest house in Atlanta now.

Colyar—Who is that?

Miles—He is one of them Jackson crowd.

Dictograph Conversations in Which Mayor Took Part

Here is the entire dictograph conversation in which Mayor James G. Woodward took part as it was reported to the police. A copy is in the police files today.

A. S. Colyar, the man who engineered the entire sensation of course takes a leading part. The conversation is first principally between him and Chief Lanford's clerk, February and E. O. Miles, a private investigator, and a friend of Charles C. Jones, who comes later into the conversation.

Jones owned a number of houses in the restricted district closed up by Chief Beavers, which were conservatively estimated to have given him an income of $40,000 a year. He is the owner of the Rex saloon, and is by no means poverty stricken, despite the huge dent Chief Beavers' reform made in his roll.

Mayor James G. Woodward, who has never hesitated to let it be known that he was not in sympathy with the chief's vice crusade, comes into the conversation later, and is reported in full.

The conversation took place on Wednesday afternoon in Colyar's room—the same room where Felder was trapped, and was taken down by George M. Gentry, a nephew of the president of the Southern Bell Telephone Company. Here is a copy of the record.

The following statements were obtained by me, by means of dictograph located in room 31 of the Williams House No. 2, 3432 North Forsyth Street, Atlanta, Ga.; said dictograph being connected with room No. 31 of the said hotel, and E. W. M. Miles, whom I am personally acquainted with; Mr. O. C. February, whom I have known for several years, and Mr. A. S. Colyar, with whom I have not been acquainted for a short time; Mr. O. C. February, room No. 31 of said hotel at about on the afternoon of May 21, 1913.

On account of Mr. February having locked the door to room No. 31, I was delayed in getting in. After having witnessed the brief traffic of the Mayor mentioned above, room No. 31 of said hotel, in the emergency, I used the key to my front door, which, with a little difficulty, opened the door. After closing the door and going to the instrument, I was unable to hear what was being said very distinctly on account of the closeness of the said room being open. This necessitated my going to close them and after returning to my instrument I was able to hear the following. Several queries indicate that the voice just at that point has been inaudible:

Colyar—I can tell you some things. I am an executive secretary (voice made audible).

Miles—Now, just wait a minute. I know their voice made hearing inaudible. I have got several cases against individuals.

Colyar—(Question inaudible).

Miles—I am satisfied you ought, but you know when they go into it they are going to put up a law.

Colyar—(Conversation too low to catch).

Miles—The Mayor will give us absolute assurance that he will protect us.

Colyar—Will you bring the Mayor up here tonight? He will be here in the afternoon.

Miles—You are not a Jew, are you?

Colyar—No, I am not. I shall pay my money to the Mayor. I shall see to it that I get several cases against individuals.

CHURCH AND RURAL LIFE BOARD IS DOOMED

Attempt to Save Mission Department of the Northern Presbyterians Fails.

Defenders of the church and country life department of the Board of Home Missions went down to an injudicious parliamentary defeat at the forenoon session of the Northern Presbyterian Assembly.

As a result the report of the executive commission stands that this department "shall be discontinued as soon as practicable."

Every attempt to revise this decision ran against a stone wall in the hands of the moderator. One commissioner after another essayed to speak on the report, but each was told that no question formally was before the assembly.

Rev. John Deans, of Brooklyn, N. Y., asked what interpretation was to be made of "as soon as practicable."

Rev. Dugan was informed that he was to attend the next explanation. Rev. T. M. Hall, of the Erie, Pa., Presbytery, sought to introduce a resolution hearing on the subject, but was ruled out of order.

A military guard has been placed about the palace, although the crowds have been very orderly and quiet up to date.

A number of Shinto priests have left on a religious pilgrimage for Fujiyama, where there is an ancient shrine.

DICTOGRAPH RECORD USED AGAINST FELDER

Affidavits and an alleged dictograph record made public Friday afternoon, accuse Colonel Thomas B. Felder of offering to C. O. Colyar, a bribe of $1,000 for possession of police records of the Phagan case.

These affidavits and the dictograph record are sworn to by A. S. Colyar, Jr., of Nashville, and February, who is stenographer to Newport Lanford, Chief of the Atlanta Detective Department.

The Georgian on Wednesday published the fact that there were rumors on the streets that connected the name of Colonel Felder with the Phagan case in a sinister way.

Colonel Felder made a statement to a Georgian reporter to the effect that these rumors were false.

At that time, however, the police department was engaged in the effort to entrap Colonel Felder and bring against him a charge of bribery.

From developments Friday, it would seem that Colonel Felder was engaged in an effort to entrap Lanford and Beavers.

Chief of Detectives Lanford stated Friday afternoon that the premature publication of the affidavits had thwarted his plans and had defeated justice, and that he did not know what his future course would be as regards Colonel Felder.

No Mention of Case Except About Graft. Mayor Woodward Friday afternoon admitted that he had had conversation with Colonel Felder on Monday.

Colonel Felder said that he had run across a great many evidences of police graft in near-by saloons and resorts during the Phagan investigation, declared the Mayor.

Colyar Reported Long Talk With Felder. On Monday Colyar reported that he had had long and confidential talks with Felder and C. W. Tobie, the Burns investigator who was working here of the Phagan case under the direction of Felder.

Alarms Embassy. ALEXANDRIA, May 23.—Alarms by the Japanese Embassy in London that Emperor Yoshihito is being in danger of death.

Chinda and Bryan To Attend Banquet. WASHINGTON, May 23.—The banquet for the Japanese Embassy will be held at the Waldorf-Astoria.

day and the transcript of the police records of evidence in the case.

According to an affidavit made public Friday afternoon, a meeting was held Wednesday afternoon in the Williams House in North Forsyth Street between Colonel Felder, February and Colyar.

It is charged by Colyar that Felder offered $1,000 for the affidavit and other police records of the Phagan case.

Colyar Submits Report To Chief Lanford

Monday morning Colyar made a written report to Chief Lanford of the substance of which was as follows:

"I met T. B. Felder at 8:15 o'clock Sunday night at the Marion Hotel and went with him to his law office in the Equitable Building, and held consultation with him until 9:15 p. m."

"In my conversation with T. B. Felder, he stated that he had some thirty or forty clients, among whom were C. O. Jones, the Henderson Hotel and other liquor clients who were willing to raise a fund of $25,000 to impeach James L. Beavers and Newport A. Lanford, as both of them were corrupt, and that Beavers was at the present time living in open adultery with a prostitute, and was drunk half the time, and that Lanford missed his calling when he quit the farm, and threatened to go against both of them, and that he would have the backing of G. G. Woodward, Mayor of Atlanta, that Carlos Mack and two others of the police board had already gone back on Beavers because he was a fanatic."

"He said that he was employed to prosecute the Phagan murder by J. A. McCall and other citizens of Atlanta, and that his employment had been ratified by Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Coleman, and that he intended to have them arrested for perjury and could prove the same."

"This reference to perjury is based on the affidavit made by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Coleman that Felder's employment in the case was without their consent."

"In my conversation with him on Monday morning in the club rooms on the eighth floor of the Walton Building, he told me that he was very anxious for me to meet C. O. Jones, and that he could get me big money if I would help him secure the evidence that would throw Beavers and his flunky, Lanford, out of a job, and that he already had the assistance and cooperation of Henry Jennings, former Chief of Police."

"Said Affidavit Would Raise a Mob"

Further in his conversation this morning he said that the police department was at loggerheads, and that Pat Campbell was giving Chief Beavers and Lanford the double-cross, and that before the week was out Beavers and Lanford would find that the good people of this city were indignantly aroused against the Phagan case, and that the moment they published the affidavit signed by J. W. Coleman and wife, they would have a mob on their heels, and that they would have Beavers and Lanford to a telegraph pole."

He further said that if I would go to work for him, he would have Beavers and Lanford to a telegraph pole."

PHAGAN SLAYING IS TAKEN UP BY GRAND JURY

The Phagan case is now in the process of investigation by the Fulton County Grand Jury.

AMPHIONOL
 FOR RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA AND LAGRIFFE

of Mary Phagan, were presented before that tribunal at its session Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

A host of witnesses gave their testimony. The torn and blood-stained apron of the slain girl also was turned over to the Grand Jury for inspection.

The Grand Jury studied carefully an elaborate diagram drawn by Bert Green, one of the Georgian's staff artists, and sitting forth in black and white the prosecutor's theory of how the murder was probably committed. Intense interest was displayed in the drawing.

After being in session for nearly three hours, the Grand Jury adjourned until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, when the Phagan case will be taken up once more.

Whether the sensational testimony of Mrs. Mima Pombly, 40 Piedmont Avenue, or Miss Pombly, as the witness says her name is, will be introduced at the Grand Jury trial, is a matter of doubt. Mrs. Pombly's affidavit declaring that on the evening of the murder Frank called the apartment on the telephone and in an excited voice asked her to arrange a room for himself and a girl whose name he would not disclose, is in the hands of the District General.

Dr. Hurst was the first witness to go before the Grand Jury. He went into their room at 10:15 in the morning. He was dismissed at 11:15. Dr. Hurst's testimony, through his examination of the body, is considered of vast importance. He declined to make any statement whatever as he left the mortuary in doubt.

In rapid succession other witnesses followed. Their testimony, which he believed will weave the preliminary chain of events about the slaying of the girl, which will warrant the indictment, was placed before the Grand Jury.

Sergeant Dobbs Testifies.
 Police Sergeant Dobbs followed Dr. Hurst into the Grand Jury room at 11:45. His testimony is supposed to consist mainly of the condition of the Phagan girl's body which he observed on the scene, including its location and the evidence surrounding it. Most important probably of his testimony was that as to the location of the body and where the initial examination of it took place in the basement of the factory.

City Detective Barnes, after Dobbs' departure, located into the Grand Jury room a map of the pencil factory, supposed to have been the slaying scene, showing the floor upon which the girl lay, the body of the girl, and the location of the body down to the basement.

Dr. J. W. Hurst, coroner's physician, who examined the dead girl's body at the corner on the afternoon of the tragedy for Mary Phagan while she lay in the factory to get her autopsy.

Detective a Witness.
 Harry Brent, assistant superintendent of the local branch of the Pinkerton detective agency, who has been investigating the mysterious case of J. D. Darity, Frank's assistant at the pencil factory, was called to the Grand Jury.

Base Flower, city detective, who presented the call to the pencil factory investigation, the cracks about the second floor of the Thruway building were lined with paper in order that no chance conversation or view of the proceedings might escape. An immense throng crowded the corridors of the building and filled the adjoining rooms.

The witnesses were all bunched into the ante-room and there waiting while one at a time they entered before the tribunal and told what they knew regarding the death of Mary Phagan.

W. J. Burns Showing How the Famous Dictograph Operates

MAYOR WOODWARD ALSO IS CAUGHT BY POLICE DICTOGRAPH

Chief of Detectives Lanford said today that further evidence of the alleged plot to discredit him and Beavers, and to drive them from their positions exists in another sensational dictograph record of a secret conference in which Mayor Woodward, C. C. Jones and E. O. Miles figure. Jones is the owner of the "Rex," and was formerly interested in property in the restricted district when Atlanta was running open. Miles is a private detective.

Mayor James G. Woodward declared Saturday that he was lured into the room in the Williams House No. 2, where Attorney T. B. Felder was dictographing him and he would be glad if the detectives would give out for publication what the instrument recorded him as saying on that visit.

"G. C. February, secretary to Detective Chief Newport Lanford, and A. S. Colyar, that long-haired mysterious investigator, talked to me about evidence they had procured that Chief of Police Beavers and Chief Lanford were procuring disorderly houses and blind tigers. They talked of protecting February's job and the need of $1,000 to pull off the affair."

"My reply was, if February could show up any crooks in the police department, I did not think the people of Atlanta would stand for him losing his job. I told them to produce the evidence. If it was worth anything I told them I did not think there would be any trouble about it. Just reward, but that I did not have any $1,000 to give them."

"The Morgan case was not mentioned. Charles C. Jones, owner of some of the closed houses in our midst," also said he was acquainted with the mysterious figure of Colyar, No. 21.

"When he spoke about money I knew of Beavers, and I told him I was not interested, the interview ended," said Jones.

"Major Woodward said the first glimpse of Colyar was one day last week. Colyar called at the City Hall and told the Mayor's secretary, Frank Hammond, he had some important evidence to submit to the Mayor. When he was delayed in getting into the office, he grew impatient and declared that it was more trouble to see the Mayor of Atlanta than the President of the United States.

Felder Talks of Evidence. "Monday," said Mayor Woodward, "Colonel Felder came to my office, he told me that in working on the Phagan case he had unearthed some startling evidence of corruption in the Police Department."

"I gave him the evidence," he said to him, "and I will see that it is given proper attention and investigation."

"He explained that it would take funds to employ a detective to get the evidence together, as the man he had employed was confined to the Phagan case."

"My reply was that if the evidence was sufficient to convict, I did not think there would be the least trouble about getting up the money. His reply was that it was in documentary form."

"Just as he was about to leave, Charles Jones came by. As I remember, Colonel Felder left immediately. Jones had been to the meeting of Council Monday afternoon, I understand, and dropped by just for a minute."

Mayor's Next Experience. Mayor Woodward said his next experience with the alleged plotters came on Wednesday afternoon when February and E. O. Miles, a private detective, came to his office in the Simple Building.

"It was a little after 3 o'clock," said the Mayor. "They told me they could show up Beavers and Lanford with irrefragable proof, I was reluctant to go, but they insisted. As I told them, I was not interested."

Every accusation that is made by Lanford, Colonel Felder has denied in the Georgian, and has testified to Lan-

Burns showing how a dictograph can be concealed in a wall. The arrow points to the dictograph.

"PROVOKE A QUARREL WITH CHIEF BEAVERS AND SHOOT HIM TO DEATH"

A plot to assassinate Chief of Police J. L. Beavers is the amazing charge made by A. S. Colyar, Jr., the man who conceived and accomplished the alleged dictographing of Colonel T. B. Felder in connection with the $1,000 bribery accusations placed against the attorney.

This sensational disclosure came to light Saturday morning. The charge was laid before Chief of Detectives Newport Lanford by Colyar. He declared that he would produce a man who would make an affidavit to the effect that an attempt was made to employ him to "get" Chief Beavers and also, Chief Lanford. Colyar declared that this man would swear that if it became necessary that he had been instructed to "provoke a quarrel with Chief Beavers and shoot him to death."

This man, Colyar avowed, would swear that he had been promised immunity from punishment for his deed.

This report created an intense sensation in police circles and produced one of the greatest sensations of the Phagan mystery.

The name of this mysterious man has not been furnished detectives, but Colyar promised to take him Friday night to the office of Chief Lanford in the police station, where the affidavit was to be made. Up to a late hour Saturday morning, however, neither he nor Colyar had put in an appearance.

According to the story told by Colyar, this man is not a resident of Atlanta, but has been here several days. He is an old friend of Colyar. He said this man would swear positively that the murder plot proposition was made to him shortly after his arrival here, and that he would give the name of the man who engineered the deal.

FELDER'S FIGHT IS TO GET CHIEF AND LANFORD OUT OF OFFICE

Chief of Detectives Newport A. Lanford said Saturday that the whole sinister significance of the charges brought against Colonel Thomas B. Felder lay in the fact that the forces of evil in the city had been steadily laboring for the downfall of himself and Chief Beavers ever since the city was cleaned up and the disreputable resorts put out of business.

He declared that since that time spies and agents of "the interests" that were most harmful had been on the trail of himself and Chief Beavers trying to "get something out of them" which would result in their disgrace and dismissal from office.

The threat of assassination and other dangers from his side, he declared, was only a part of the deal plot to discredit the heads of the police and the objective department.

Every accusation that is made by Lanford, Colonel Felder has denied in the Georgian, and has testified to Lanford by saying that the detective department has not been seeking to find the real criminal in the Phagan mystery, but has been making every effort to save the guilty man from the consequences of his terrible crime.

Felder Charges Police Plot to Shield Slayer

Colonel Thomas B. Felder entered into an explicit and detailed denial to the Georgian of all the charges of attempted bribery contained in the affidavits signed by G. C. February, secretary to Chief of Detectives Lanford, and A. S. Colyar, a private detective with a speculative career.

Colony Felder declared the alleged dictograph record of conversation he is alleged to have had with Colyar and February in Williams House No. 2, a "frame-up" and a fabrication.

The report that he had offered $10,000 for the Coleman and Kelly in the Phagan case and a $10,000 bribe to the police department, he branded as an absolute falsehood.

The whole plot had been conceived, he said, to discredit himself and W. J. Burns and drive them from the Phagan case so the guilty person might be protected.

Every move made by the police in the Phagan case has been for the protection of the real criminal, said Colonel Felder. "The police have been in honest rivalry with the real criminal since they first set foot in the city three weeks in the hope that they can crush a confession out of him and get the well cultivated case fresh."

"If the death were not so prompt as the guilty person, why should they strive to eliminate Burns and myself? Burns has a reputation for honesty and every criminal he meets after a conviction for a crime is a credit to the name of the man who has done it. It is as certain as death that he will be successful."
