BITTER FIGHT CERTAIN TRIAL OF FRANK

Defense Prepares to Show Glaring Discrepancies in Affidavit of James Conley.

Developments of a startling nature may be expected from day to day in the Phagan case," said Chief of Detectives Lanford Tuesday morning. "They may be expected right up to the date that the trial of Leo Frank begins.

"That we feel we practically have a conclusive case against the factory superintendent does not mean that we are resting in our labors to the slightest extent. We are a little more at rest in our minds, that is all.

"The detectives are working constantly on new clues that present themselves and are investigating every story that is heard, whether it is told by a witness favorable to Frank or against him. We wish to see a court-ordered to establish our case against Frank so that not a single detail will be possible. That is, of course, if it still appears at that time as certain to us that he is the guilty man as it does now.

With the continued activity of the detectives, it has become noticeable in the last few days that the defense is at work on its case. Both sides are preparing for a titanic battle when Frank is put on trial for his life, the third week in this month. Frank's cook is still held in police headquarters.

GRAND JURY GIVEN VICE FACTS BY FELDER

Attorney Boldly Declares That Police Are Protecting Houses In Our Midst.

Accusations that Atlanta is honey-combed with vice and that the police and detective departments deliberately protect and encourage these conditions were made before the Grand Jury of Fulton County by Colonel Thomas W. Felder and Carl Hutcheson Wednesday morning.

Both men declared they had conclusive proof to establish the truth of their charges, and that they had submitted sufficient evidence to the Grand Jury to indict every one of the 100 or more proprietors of disorderly houses whose names and addresses they had sent with the members of the Grand Jury.

Felder Boldly Charges Grift.

Colonel Felder came out boldly and charged grift of the worst sort and he asserted that he had given the Grand Jury affidavits showing the alleged connivance between the police department and the holders of disorderly houses, as well as by reputable citizens who were aware of their conditions.

It was announced at the outset of the grand jury probe that the vice conditions of the city would be the only matter taken up at this time. Foreman Beck said that the jury was holding the charge delivered by Judge W. D. Ellis, who urged the Grand Jury, in view of the many Phagan tragedies, thoroughly to investigate the reported spread of vice in the city since the wiping out of the restricted districts.

Jury After the Real Truth.

"We have resolved ourselves into a committee of the whole to follow the instructions of Judge Ellis," said Mr. Beck. "We propose to sift the mass of charges and counter-charges that have been made and get at the real truth, if it is possible. We want to know if vice is protected here, and if that is so, we propose to indict those involved in the disgrace."

Hutcheson, Mayor Woodward, and Mr. Hutcheson, Mayor Woodward, who long has disagreed with Chief Beavers' vice policy, and C. C. Jones, owner of the Rex Station, were called before the Grand Jury. The Mayor and Mr. Hutcheson were before the jury about an hour each. The Mayor said to have given the Grand Jury a great amount of information in his possession, much of which has been furnished in connection with his controversy with Chief Beavers.

The Mayor was questioned closely as to his knowledge of existing vice.

Catch Tarpon and Pelican? We Know Darn Well We Can

Atlantians are sporting conspicuously this year in fine tarpon fishing off the west coast of Florida. The St. Petersburg Independent, in a current issue, tells how H. W. Brown, of Atlanta, who was fishing off Panama-Citelle with George Lisotte, landed four big ones in one day.

Mr. Lisotte, the genial Frenchman who makes two stone-crabs grow where only one grew before, is well known to Atlantians. The only thing more plentiful than tarpon this year on the west coast are pelicans. Mr. Brown sent to Atlanta a copy of a linerick just composed by Lisotte, in which the latter thus epitomizes the whole fowl. The linerick follows:

"There's a curious bird called the Pelican.

Whose month heads more than his bellcan.

He stuffs into his beak Enough grub for a week.

Though I don't see how in hellcan."

Cattle and Wheat To Go on Free List

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The free list of the Underwood tariff bill will be augmented by the addition of cattle and wheat, according to a statement of Senator Hiram, of North Carolina, after a conference with President Wilson to-day.

Senator Hiram to-day said the other executive had signified his willingness to have the duty removed from both.

"It is not expected that President Wilson will sanction any further changes in the measure."

Miss Mattie Kolwing, one of the fair mermaids of Piedmont Park, and her human springboard—Messrs. McKinnay (on the left) and Kelly.

2,000 Daily, Present Mark, Expected To Be Increased to 3,000 This Month.

Dabbling at Piedmont Park has become the rage.

From the moment the life-saver gets on his job in the morning until the closing time at night the beautiful pond is literally alive with bathers.

The daily average thus far has been something above 1,000, but Superintendent Dan Carey, of the Park Commission, expects the number to go well above 2,000 before the end of June and then some.

Attendance Records Broken.

Never, says Mr. Carey, has the sport been so popular. For the early season—winter is still far, far away—all records are smashed higher than before, and there is some talk of keeping a lower level in the pond for fear that an unexpected excess in the number of bathers would make it rise above the banks.

Such things as aquatics records are yet to be established, and smashed for the season. Right now there are some likely contenders for each and every one of the swimming and diving events, and they are not necessarily of the stranger sort.

Pond Is Making Good.

But most important of all is the fact the pond is making good. The water is just delightful and the most timid bathers will dive in head first without the customary taking of temperature with the big toe as a thermometer.

Women go to Piedmont Park in as large numbers as the men. In fact, says Mr. Carey, the women and girls hold the attendance records this far, and, unless something entirely unforeseen happens, they will come very near capturing the aquatic records when the meet is held later in the year.

HELD ON GIRL'S CHARGE.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., June 3.—C. H. Hamberg, 12, is still here, being held for the authorities at Chattanooga. It is when he is spotted on a charge made by a 13-year-old girl.

FLORIDA MAN HAD OVER $1,000,000 ON HIS LIFE, TAKEN OUT THIS YEAR

Fell Off Ferryboat and Was Drowned. Alleged to Have Taken Drug--Organs Lost on Way for Analysis. Insurance Companies Probe Death.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 3.—Did E. O. Painter commit suicide?

That is the question everybody here is asking.

Painter carried out $1,178,000—perhaps more—on his life, most of which was taken out in the past four months.

His death was unexpected and mysterious. One more mystery has been added to it by the disappearance of the dead man's heart, stomach and kidneys, forwarded from this city to the Johns Hopkins University for analysis.

Painter's death, so the life insurance companies suspect, was produced by an overdose of chloral, which overwhelmed him when he tumbled overboard from a ferryboat ostensibly on the way to his factory.

INQUEST AWAITS ANALYSIS

Those most free to talk of his death seem inclined to one of two theories, suicide or insanity, and the outside theorists seem to be in a quandary. But there are many who stoutly adhere to these opinions and steadfastly maintain that his death was purely accidental.

In the meantime expert physicians and chemists in Baltimore are ready to analyze the brain, heart, liver, lungs, stomach, and other organs of the dead man to determine whether they contain evidence of poison or disclose any other condition to explain his death.

While these analyses are in progress Coroner G. D. Abbott, of Duval County, is holding in abeyance an inquest over the dead man. A jury has been impaneled but has gone no further than to view Painter's body.

This autopsy was performed by four physicians, two of whom were acting at the instance of the Painter family, one for the State and the fourth called in by the other. But the body was dissected before the Coroner had seen it and had an opportunity to subpoena a jury.

Painter met his death in the river at 9:30 o'clock in the morning. His body was recovered and in an undertaker's morgue, removed organs were sealed in a covey in the river, stuffed and billed to Baltimore before night. The two physicians representing the family, Dr. P. O. Perry and John Jay Hoyd, went to Baltimore at the same time to be present at the autopsy.

The shipment was made to Dr. Charles Simon, of Baltimore, but he is in Nova Scotia, and his assistant, Dr. O. E. Hays, notified the Jacksonville authorities that he was instructed to turn the shipment over to Dr. Charles Glaser, of Johns Hopkins Hospital, who refused to undertake the analysis until Coroner Abbott had a representative present. The Coroner designated a Baltimore attorney to represent him, and the analysis proceeded.

The beneficiaries named in the policies were either some member of his immediate family—his wife or daughter—or his firm. The total amount was divided about equally between them.

Some two or three months ago, it has been reported to the life insurance companies concerned, Painter began taking chloral, perhaps for nervousness. It is charged that shortly before his death he became a very heavy user of the drug.

When his body was recovered from the St. Johns River and the suspicion that all was not right became fixed in the minds of the insurance companies, it was determined to set on foot a rigid probe of his death, and its cause, also all the circumstances bearing upon it.

Paid No Head to Rescuers.

Although Painter was an expert swimmer, when he fell from the ferry, he is said to have sunk like a log. A rope was thrown to him, but he paid no attention to it.

It is said that he was violently jolted before he fell into the water, and it was to relieve this thought that he is supposed to have taken chloral. Apparently, so those on the boat say, the man was dead before he struck the water.

It is theorized that his system had been overwhelmed with chloral, and that he died as directly as it is thought of that rather than to drowning.

These latter circumstances, so the suspicious groups in the west of the insurance companies, and they probably were another two days and Coroner nor others, interested in the

BITTER FIGHT CERTAIN IN FRANK

Defense Prepares to Show Glaring Discrepancies in Affidavit of James Conley.

Developments of a startling nature may be expected from day to day in the Phagan case, said Chief of Detectives Lanford Tuesday morning. They may be expected right up to the date that the trial of Leo Frank begins.

"That we feel practically have a conclusive case against the factory superintendent does not mean that we are raising in our labors to the slightest extent. We are a little more in rest in our minds, that is all."

"The detective working constantly on new clues that present themselves and are investigating every story that is heard, whether it is told by a witness favorable to Frank or against him. We wish to go into court prepared to establish our case against Frank so that not a doubt of his guilt will be possible. That is, of course, if it still appears at that time that he is the man who did it."

"With the continued activity of the detective, it has become noticeable in the last few days that the defense is at work on its case. Both sides are preparing for a titanic battle when Frank is put on trial for his life the third week in this month. Frank's trial is still held at police headquarters."

U. S. Biggest Market Place for Canada

WASHINGTON, June 3.—According to a report made public today by the Department of Commerce, the United States ranks second as a customer for Canadian products and first as a supplier of Canadian needs.

Canada buys more from the United States than from all other nations combined. We also would take the bulk of the exports except that Canada has little to sell that is not produced also in our own country.

The larger tabings of Canadian wheat constitute the principal factor that makes England loom larger in the export trade.

POLICE TRY TO BREAK NEGROES' ALIBIS

Stevens Suspects Cover in Cell in Fear of Lynching—Confession Expected.

With Walter Wilkes and Ernest Maynard, negroes under suspicion in the Stevens murder, covering in their cells in the DeKalb County Jail, with guards posted to prevent a repetition of Monday's attempted lynching by the mob of the Stevens family, detectives on Tuesday began trying to break down the alibi put forward by the negroes to account for themselves on the night of the murder.

Both Wilkes and Maynard were still badly frightened Tuesday morning, and rumors are being circulated that the negroes of DeKalb County, balked of their grey Monday afternoon by the revolver-wielding Chief Lanford, Sheriff McCurdy and Detective Ross, are planning to come on massed in an anti-lynch mob, and make another attempt to lynch the negroes.

Though none of the officials will admit it, it is generally understood that these rumors are being allowed to reach the ears of the prisoners, in the hope that they will be frightened into a confession of their crime.

Stevens and his daughter and brother-in-law, who were arrested on Tuesday, are being held in the same cell with the other negroes, and at every new face that peers at them through the bars they shrink back in terror, with terror written on their faces.

The suit was filed by Attorney H. B. Troutman and H. L. Graves.

ELDER SAYS HE WILL LAUREL 'STARTLING POLICE OFFICERS' PLANS

Attorney Ready to Go Before Grand Jury, but Has Not Been Called. Hutcheson Summoned in the Abing of the Dictograph Controversy.

Colonel Thomas B. Elder appeared before the Grand Jury Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, prepared, he said, to substantiate every charge he had made against the police department and its heads, and promising to open the eyes of the city to a condition of affairs that was startling in the extreme.

"I have not been served with a subpoena to go before the Grand Jury," Colonel Elder said, "but Mr. Hutcheson has been, and I will be there in case I am called upon. The people of Atlanta have no idea how far-reaching this thing will be. I will show the conditions as they are, and the men higher up will not escape. If the grand jury takes up this thing fully it will be the most sensational probe that has ever been made into Atlanta's affairs."

The announcement that the Grand Jury would take up the Elder-Beavers-Lanford dictograph controversy with the attending charges of corruption and bribery was made late Monday afternoon when Foreman L. H. Beck said the assistant solicitor general serves a number of subpoenas to those concerned.

Mayor Woodward, Chief of Police Beavers, Chief Lanford, Charlie Jones, proprietor of the Rex saloon, City Detachment John Black and Mrs. Mina Fomby were the persons summoned.

The fact that Mrs. Fomby, a witness in the Phagan case, has been summoned, adds the mystery of the case. It was stated on reliable information, however, that her testimony would have nothing to do with the Phagan case. It is understood that her name was one on the list that was to be furnished the police department by Carl Hutcheson, in which the attorney alleged his wife was receiving police protection.

Whether the Grand Jury would take up charges of Chief Beavers and Chief Lanford that Attorney Elder offered a bribe of $100 to Lanford's sister, brother-in-law, or the county charges on the part of Colonel Elder and Attorney Hutcheson, would not be discussed by the foreman.

Chief Beavers, Chief Lanford and C. C. Febery, Lanford's secretary, were served Tuesday morning. Foreman's subpoena demanded that he bring the dictograph and documentary evidence he had taken in the affair. A. B. Colver, Jr., had not been served, but Deputy Phoenix Minor stated he would locate him during the morning.

Before going into the Grand Jury room Chief Beavers made the following statement:

"I want the truth of this whole affair to be known. If there is retaliation in the department, I certainly want to find out about it and get it out. I want the jury to have some idea of what is going on and why they are there."

Grant Lewis, Foreman.

The dictograph stenographer, George Gentry, could not be located and it was reported he had left the city. Colonel Elder said he knew of the whereabouts of Gentry, but he would locate him during the morning. He said there was some probability of his being brought into the case in a very early capacity.

Foreman Beck would not discuss the Grand Jury meeting at all. He said he had no information that he was his intention to take up the matter until it was presented by the Board of Police Commissioners. He said absolutely nothing of the nature of the meeting until informed by his assistant, Deputy Phoenix Minor. He said then that he did not know positively the Grand Jury would take the matter up, but he believed it would, and would conduct its own investigation.

FRANK DEFENSE TO ATTEMPT AN ALIBI

Five Persons to Swear Defendant Was Home at Hour Conley Says He Aided Him.

Hall before the coroner's jury. She testified that she left the building about 11:45 Saturday forenoon. Conley described her as coming to Frank's room more than an hour later.

Sheff's Mungum made indignant and emphatic denial Monday of the reports that Conley had been approached, threatened or intimidated while he was in a cell at the Tower.

Conley, he said, was not threatened in any way. He was not approached by friends of Joe Frank and no one was permitted to see Conley when the negro did not wish to see.

"There is not a bit of truth in the statements that have been made to the effect that Frank's friends were allowed to go to Conley and make attempts to frighten him into a confession," said the sheriff.

"I have nothing to say against Chief Lanford," would suggest that he try his case in the court and not attempt to settle the whole case and hang one man of another before the twelve men law prescribes have had a chance to pass on the prisoner's guilt or innocence.

Conley made a personal request of Chief of Detectives Lanford Monday morning to be taken to confront the factory superintendent.

"I think I could make him tell everything if I could just go there to his cell and tell my story again," said the negro.

Conley's attorney, Lanford, said that he would make no further effort to bring the negro and the factory superintendent together. All rested the hands of Luther Z. Rosser, Frank's attorney, Lanford announced.

"I have made several attempts to take Conley to Frank's cell since the negro began making his disclosure," explained Chief Lanford.

AUSTIN, ENGLISH POET LAUREATE, DEAD AT 78.

London, June 2.—Alfred Austin, poet laureate of England, died at his home, St. James' Palace, in London, Monday.

Mr. Austin, who succeeded Lord Lytton as poet laureate in 1896, was 78 years of age on May 10, just two days before his death.

He was named poet laureate in 1896 by Mr. Gladstone in preference to many candidates who were distinguished in literature.

After writing much for the periodicals he became editor of The National Review in 1883 and continued in that position until he was named poet laureate of the realm.

Among Mr. Austin's better known productions in verse are "The Religion," a satire (1881); "Bavonolena," a story (1881); "The Englishman's Boy," a play (1885); "The Conversion of Winchcombe," a play (1885); "The Old English (1892) and "A Tale of True Love" (1892).

Mr. Austin appeared to fall about his elderly wife's death, which he had written, and his last work was produced in London, Monday.

Mr. Austin became poet laureate at a time when every one thought that this honor was about to go to Rudyard Kipling.
