WILSON MAY REPLY TO LOBBYING CHARGE

Says He May Cast Aside Official Title to Defend Himself Against Attack.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—As a result of the attack of Senator Townsend, of Michigan, on the "lobbying" of President Wilson, the Chief Executive to-day is considering casting aside his official title and testifies before the senatorial investigation committee as a private citizen, both as to what he knows of the lobbying and also to defend himself against the attacks of Republican Senators.

Senator Townsend's charges that the President himself is lobbying for the passage of the Underwood tariff bill have aroused great resentment at the White House. Secretary to the President Tamm to-day said that he did not consider the Townsend charge specific enough to warrant an official reply from the President of the United States, though it likely that the President will testify as a private citizen.

"Before deciding on such a step, however, the President will consult with several of his cabinet members, and it is considered probable at the White House that he will appear before the lobby committee and deny and without warning. It is admitted that his testimony would be sensational because he has made a number of careful investigations of the lobby situation before the passage of the Underwood tariff bill, which started the Congressional investigation.

PEWITT SAYS BEAVERS SHOULD BE IMPEACHED

Superior Court Judge Defends Order Which Was Attacked by Chief of Police

"That Chief of Police James L. Bevan and Police Commissioner James H. Kirke are subject to impeachment, if the facts in the temporary restraining order of Mrs. M. P. Powell, who has been sentenced to four months in jail are substantiated in court, was the startling declaration of Superior Court Judge John T. Pendleton in discussing the case this morning.

The judge defended the State courts in granting the temporary injunction and said that Chief Beavers had misapplied the facts. He said the courts were interfering with his breaking up a disorderly house. He said the injunction directly results that the police were forced to move from the woman's home from the house and in no other way pulled any action that might be contemplated.

Know She Can Not Testify

Mr. Dorsey and the detectives know that I can not go on the witness stand and deny the affidavits which have been published in the newspapers, and from my own lips in the torture chamber by the third degree process, because I am informed that under the law a wife will not be permitted to testify either for or against her husband. The law puts this absolute seal upon my lips, and my only recourse is in leaving the community, which the facts through the newspapers as far as I can.

No Charge Against Woman

The Journal and The Constitution stated that he had had my coat arrested and carried to his office and quised to such an extent as to bring her into historic and that after this he had her remaining in the Police Station in the Police Station. After she had her office she was taken to the detective's Torture Chamber and, according to The Atlanta-Constitution, she there had the third degree applied to her to the point of exhaustion, after which she made an affidavit which the detectives, in my opinion, immediately gave out to the papers.

Thinks Public Is Opposed

While Mr. Dorsey thinks all this is "fairly proper," it is the fact, thing to me, is impossible to believe that many persons in the community will agree with him. Indeed, I would agree with him, that he should have been in the newspaper's torture chamber testimony to take away a man's life.

Former Head of Champs Shipbuilding Firm Dead

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—Charles H. Camp, former head of the great shipbuilding firm of William Cramp and Sons, Philadelphia, died to-day at the home of his son, Camp and H. Camp, of this city.

MR. FRANK HAS MADE PUBLIC THE FOLLOWING LETTER WHICH EXPLAINS HIS POSITION

Editor Atlanta Georgian:

I think fairness to Mr. Frank requires that the public should clearly understand Mr. Dorsey's position as stated by him in his card in The Constitution of June 8, and repeated in the paper yesterday, in reply to my statement that he proposed to use testimony which comes from witnesses as the result of torture.

My real position, as gleaned from his card, can be stated in the following sentence, which he employed:

"I have only to say, without in anywise taking issue with her premises as I might, that I welcome all evidence from any source which will aid an impartial jury under the charge of the State in determining the guilt or innocence of the accused."

That is to say, he thinks it unnecessary to waste time in disputing the fact that the detectives are procuring testimony from witnesses by torture. He considers this point immaterial. He believes he is thoroughly justified in using tortured testimony, if it turns out to him for to say, "I welcome all evidence from any source."

Know She Can Not Testify

Mr. Dorsey and the detectives know that I can not go on the witness stand and deny the affidavits which have been published in the newspapers, and from my own lips in the torture chamber by the third degree process, because I am informed that under the law a wife will not be permitted to testify either for or against her husband. The law puts this absolute seal upon my lips, and my only recourse is in leaving the community, which the facts through the newspapers as far as I can.

RATE DECREE

Supreme Court Decision Upholding Lower Court of Far-Reaching Effect on Business.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The Supreme Court's decision of the Minnesota rate case today laid down the principle that the State has jurisdiction over interstate commerce, but that Congress has authority to exercise freedom of interstate commerce. In the case of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific Roads the court concluded that proof is insufficient to justify a finding that the rates were confiscatory. The decree of the lower court was reversed in this respect.

DRINK WHAT YOU BEAVERS TELL'S WANT TO, SAYS COL. CODY OF VICE WAR AT CHIEFS' MEET

Buffalo Bill Won't Dictate, But He's Not Strong For Grape Juice.

"Let the people drink what they want—grape juice if they are willing to stop at that—but don't say to them drink this or that they do, for nine times out of ten they'll do just the opposite."

Colonel W. F. Cody, better known as Buffalo Bill, in Atlanta Monday with his Wild West show, staked up the much-anticipated drink question when he spoke at the meeting of the Atlanta chapter of the National Prohibition League.

"I have always adopted the policy of letting people—especially the people who are connected with me—do what they want to do and drink what they like," continued Colonel Cody. "I want to say, too, that I have found jobs depended upon it. They would not stop to think whether it is necessary or not. The trouble is higher up."

Having staked his position on certain points, the Colonel proceeded to deny vigorously that he was in bad health recently, as reported by Knoxville. Nor was this necessary, for he looks the part of a healthy man. . . .

Just prior to entering the parade, Colonel Cody was hailed by The Georgian, managing editor of the Free Press hotel, where he is stopping while in Atlanta. . . .

CHIEF TELLS U.S. POLICE HEADS OF WIFE WAR

Beavers, at National Convention, Declares Atlanta's Crusade Has Been Successful.

Declaring that there is not one recognized force of vice in Atlanta and that not one would be tolerated, Chief of Police James L. Beavers, who gained national fame by wiping out the restricted district in Atlanta, made a stirring address to the International Association of Chiefs of Police in Washington, D. C., to-day.

The chief vigorously defended his policy as the only one that could be taken by decent men, and declared that the movement against aggression had been an entire success. He asserted that there were no more complaints from residence districts now than before the Teresian was abolished.

Here is the chief's address in full: "Chief Beavers' Address" at the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

One of the most vital questions that is interesting our cities to-day is the social evil.

Vice commissions and investigating committees are being appointed by our large cities, and many reports have been made by them. Some commended one thing and some another, but very few of them have recommended suppression.

Rambo Worsted in Worthy Battle With Traffic Policeman

R. K. Rambo, clerk for the John Silver Company and prominent autoist, and Traffic Officer Jack Clark engaged in a spirited word battle before Recorder Broyles Monday morning when the officer arrested Rambo on a charge of disregarding traffic signals at Five Points.

Shaking his fingers in an another's face, each declared the other had "bawled him out."

"I'm not a member of this Faller district," said Rambo, "and I would report this officer's conduct," exclaimed Rambo.

"You're the man who led the car down," retorted Clark vigorously. Judge Broyles ruled that it is important that traffic regulations be strictly obeyed to prevent accidents, remarking that a traffic officer occupies the position of an umpire. He imposed on Rambo a fine of $27.50.

GRAND JURY CALLS ALL QUIZZED BEFORE

Figures in Graft and Immorality Probe Ordered to Appear Tuesday.

All the witnesses who have testified in the graft probe before the Fulton Grand Jury were summoned Monday afternoon to appear again Tuesday and Wednesday morning.

Alton Young and J. F. Skegs, who told of the alleged fight in a house on Myrtle street in which a man high up in police circles was concerned, were among the first summoned. Chief of Detectives Lamford, Carl Hutchison and several women received subpoenas with the batch that went out from the solicitor's office.

The sudden determination on the part of the jurismen to have all the witnesses testify again intimates that the probe will be exhaustive.

Since the adjournment Thursday when the foreman announced the jury had been concluded, the jury has been furnished the names of several new witnesses, who, it is said, have expressed a willingness to testify.

Mrs. N. P. Powell is one of the witnesses, and it is more than likely she will be summoned. Mrs. Powell was recently sentenced for four months in jail after being found guilty of fraud.

COAL BOYS GO TO DEATH IN RIVER

Mrs. Ethel Smith, Grieving Over Husband's Huris Self From Treasts, But is Saved.

Despondent because she had not heard from her 8-year-old son in a reform school at Athens, Mrs. Ethel Smith attempted suicide Monday by leaping into the Chattahoochee river from the highest point of the railroad bridge, but was saved by her railroad, which, acting as a parachute, kept her afloat until aid arrived.

For something like ten minutes Mrs. Smith was kept afloat by the bulging railroad until it receded was effected by a dog, displaced, named Harrison, who saw the leap into the river, secured a boat and rescued her.

When placed afloat on the shore, her husband's bagged to be allowed to drown, saying she didn't want to live. Further evidence of suicidal intent, in the shape of a note, was found in the woman's pocket.

FOREMAN TELLS WHY HE HOLDS CONLEY GUILTY

R. P. Barrett, in Letter to Georgian, Gives Reasons for Suspecting Form of Orphan.

R. P. Barrett, foreman of the grand jury, in a letter to the Georgian, Monday, gives his reasons for holding that Jim Conley was guilty of the murder of Mary Phagan.

It was Barrett who found the strands of hair on the bathing chair in the department, which were found to be those of the victim.

Barrett's letter is a full and complete statement of his reasons for holding Conley guilty. He says that he is sure that Conley is the man who killed Phagan.

Frank L. Opatowski.
Leo N. Frank maintained his cheerful and optimistic attitude during the visit of many of his friends and relatives Sunday and Monday.

Frank's presence was admitted to the Tupper to see him on the Sabbath.
Among them was Mrs. Frank, with whom he dined in the afternoon.

He had little to say to any of his visitors directly in regard to the charges which have been made against him. He declared, however, that he was awaiting his trial with every expectation of receiving a complete vindication. He said that he believed not only that his own innocence would be proved, but that the guilt would be fixed upon the real author of the crime.

"The statement which bears out his statement that he is not worrying come to get him to talk. "I will tell the story, no matter how often I have to repeat it. It is the absolute truth, and it is impossible, therefore, for me to hold anything back."

Trouble is "Higher Up."
I dare say that 99 officers out of 100 would enforce the law against the social evil if they knew that their job depended upon it. They would not stop to think whether it is neces-

Defenders of segregation have been so busy with their own social evils that they have not noticed that they are committing a social evil. Some of them almost seem to be committing a crime.

Under the segregation plan the law would stand for a return to the old condition. Sooner or later men

CHIEF TELLS S. POLICE HEADS OF WAVE OF PROSPERITY

Beavers, at National Convention, Declares Atlanta's Crusade Has Been Successful.

Declaring that there is not one recalcitrant house of vice in Atlanta and that not one would be tolerated, Chief of Police James L. Beavers, who gained national fame by wiping out the restricted district in Atlanta, made a stirring address before the International Association of Chiefs of Police in Washington, D. C., to-day.

The chief vigorously defended his policy as the only thing that could be taken by decent men, and declared that the movement against vice had been an entire success. He asserted that there was no more complaint from respectable citizens now than before the Fendlerian was abolished.

Here is the chief's address in full: "Mr. President and Gentlemen of the International Association of Chiefs of Police:—

One of the most vital questions that is facing our cities today is the social vice.

Vice commissions and investigating committees are being appointed by all of our large cities, and many reports have been made by them. Some recommend one thing and some another, but very few of them have recommended suppression.

Rambo Worsted in Worthy Battle With Traffic Policeman

R. K. Rambo, clerk for the John Silver Company and prominent autoist, and traffic officer Jack Clark engaged in a spirited word battle before Recorder, Broyles Monday morning when the officer arrested Rambo on a charge of disregarding traffic signals at Five Points.

Shaking their fingers in one another's face, each declared the other "bawled him out."

"I'm not a member of this Forder diagraph gang, but I'm sure Chief Beavers would appreciate it if I would report this officer's conduct," exclaimed Rambo.

"You're the man who did the ceiling down," retorted Clark viciously. Judge Broyles ruled that it is important that traffic regulations be strictly obeyed to prevent accidents, remarking that a traffic officer occupies the position of an umpire. He imposed on Rambo a fine of $17.50.

For something like ten minutes Mrs. Smith was kept afloat by the bulging raincoat until a rescue was effected by a soda dispensing, named Harrison, who saw the leap into the river, secured a boat and rescued her.

PROSPERITY HIDE THINGS TOWARD DIXIE

Bradstreet Heads, in Meeting Here, Predict Greatest Fortune Tide in Dixie's History.

Atlanta and the South are being swept onward toward one of the highest tides of prosperity ever known in Dixie, according to representatives of the Bradstreet Company in the South, who opened their annual convention here Monday morning.

Officers of the company's branches in thirteen Southern cities, covering practically the entire South were present. From each came glowing prophecies of a spectacular rise from the post-war depression of finances and general slump of operations.

J. E. C. Pedder, division superintendent of Bradstreet's, with offices in the Empire building, where the meeting was held, declared that Atlanta and surrounding districts were in the process of a wonderful advancement.

"Mr. Pedder, a well-known expert on the depression of industrial conditions and finances in this city for the past two years, but said the crucial point had been passed and a general rise to normal and above was on.

"Optimism of Future.
"I do not see any cloud on the financial horizon of Atlanta, or, in fact, the South in general, to cause any alarm," declared Superintendent Pedder. "I am looking toward the institution of a business this fall.

Mrs. Edith Russell Gambler, by the untimed bride, by the spotlight, through the institution of another suit, according to New York newspaper, against her husband, Edward Victor Gambler, the New York banker, from whom she obtained a separation two years ago.

Her marriage on an Atlanta girl to the well-known New Yorker was a brilliant social event, and the subsequent separation provided a sensation in the society circles of the two cities.

"This time she wants the wedding presents she says her husband has retained since the separation. They consist of silverware, cut glass and jewelry, and are of considerable value, she declares.

"Mrs. Gambler has visited relatively several times in Atlanta since leaving her husband, but she is reported to be in the West, where she has made a decided success in selling automobiles.

COURT DENIES MAN OF WORTH TO REWED

John C. Brewer Asks Removal of Disabilities When Wife Gets Divorce for Desertion.

John C. Brewer, 70 years old, named the Superior Court Monday morning to remove his disabilities so that he could marry again, when he granted his wife, Mrs. Mary J. Brewer a divorce on the statutory grounds of desertion. It was the third case called on the undocketed calendar of more than 100 divorces cases that will be disposed of the first three days of this week.

Judge W. D. Ellis told the jury that at the age of 70 the removal of disabilities was of no consequence and the jury found a verdict for the defendant, declining to give its sanction to any third contemplated marriage.

Mrs. Brewer said she married the defendant in 1910 when she was 40 and he was 38. She said she thought he had a profitable business until after the marriage, when she had to buy a horse and wagon to enable him to carry on the business. She said he asked her to manage her home and give him funds, and when she declined he deserted her. Both were married before, she said.

Mrs. Annie B. Haney obtained a divorce from J. B. Haney on the grounds of desertion. She said she had not heard from him in three years since April 1911, when she saw a card of 400 offered for his capture for desertion from the army.

FOREMAN TELLS WHY HE HOLDS CONLEY GUILTY

R. P. Barnett, in Letter to Georgian, Gives Reasons for Suspecting Negro of Crime

R. P. Barnett, foreman of the jury department at the National Football Academy, in a letter to The Georgian Monday, gives his reasons for holding that Jim Conley, negro, was guilty of the plan, abetted and arranged for the murder of Dr. Thiroloz.

It was Barnett who found the strands of hair on the laboratory table in his department, and he was the one who told the jury that the hair was from the Negro, and that the Negro was guilty.

"I would like to see the jury that held the verdict of guilty against Conley," Barnett writes.

"I think that the jury that held the verdict of guilty against Conley was a jury of fools, and that the jury that held the verdict of guilty against Conley was a jury of fools, and that the jury that held the verdict of guilty against Conley was a jury of fools."

FEAR OF NEGRO INVASION STIRS FOURTH WARD

Citizens Plan Demonstration in Support of Ashley Segregation Ordinance

Armed by threatened invasion of white residence districts by negroes, a demonstration of Fourth Ward citizens is planned to stress a hearing by the Police Commission of Council Thursday of the Ashley ordinance segregating the negroes in Atlanta.

Citizens of the Fourth Ward especially are expected to be there, a report says of property to a negro in a purely white section being the cause. A cottage in Houston Street, between North Jackson and North Boulevard, has been sold to negroes, and it is reported they are moving into the house.

Councilman Ashley is pushing his ordinance, and he is apprehensive as to the outcome unless something is done to stem the tide. When questioned as to why he is so sure of the ordinance will become a law, and also believe it is constitutional, as does City Attorney James L. Mayson. This ordinance has worked admirably in Richmond, Va., and in Baltimore, Md., so why shouldn't it work in Atlanta?

I have seen one of the prettiest sections in Atlanta from North Jackson Street east from Edgewood Avenue to Houston Street, between North Boulevard and North Jackson, owned by negroes, and unless some effective action is taken when the section is deemed "undesirable" School, which, when erected, was in the very heart of a white section, is at present completely surrounded by negroes. Morris Brown College having been erected on the adjoining Hilliard Street.

Hilliard Street from North Boulevard to North Jackson, was one of the best streets in the Fourth Ward a few years ago. Today there is not a single white resident on this street. It began when a negro little above his class bought a home on the corner of Hilliard and Cain Streets. The white neighbor next door moved out, the house stood vacant for a time, eventually was sold to negroes, and it went until the street was by them.

In a street another section where a majority of the residents owned little homes, was next to go. A piece of property with a little rent was put on the market. The white person would take the chance, but no more did so. The next day a white resident on this street, advised that the negro would purchase on account of the negroes was a white man, and he was not to be added.

Johnston Avenue, running from North Boulevard to Randolph Street, was populated three years ago entirely by whites. A majority of the residents owned their homes, and it was not until the negro would move in that some distant owner sold to a negro and the white man was forced out until not one remains.

James Story of the streets. This story can be repeated of a hundred streets in this section. Property values have reduced until the income to the city for taxes is not more than half that ten years ago.

A meeting of the white citizens of the Fourth Ward—an indignation meeting, if you would—probably will be called at once, certainly before the ordinance is not given a favorable report by the Police Commission. I predict that unless something is done to relieve the situation, a war between the races is inevitable.

The purchase of Morris Brown College by the city would go far to relieve the situation, and the investment would be a good one.

Men past the meridian of life and men with the snows of many years upon their heads displaced the rolling figures of the Tech quarter-century celebration Tuesday.

The day was set apart as a tribute to the founders of the institution and to those who had supported it and encouraged it from the early days when it was struggling for life against the opposition of many hostile forces as well as the natural obstacles which an educational institution is bound to encounter.

Gray-haired Dr. W. M. Hopkins, the first president of the Georgia School of Technology, was one of the principal speakers of the day. He related the difficulties he and others met in their efforts to give the young men of the State an opportunity for technical education. He pictured the little shop he had at Henry and the little, asking if he could not give them some instruction, he asked them to beat he could with the limited facilities. From this small start grew the school, which is now one of the foremost in the country. When the movement for a regularly organized school was started in 1884, Dr. Hopkins was one of the men mentioned as its president. With the movement consummated in 1888, he was chosen without opposition.

Spreading of the early history of the institution, Judge N. E. Harris, president of the board of trustees and the man who introduced into the Legislature the bill founding the school, made most eloquent reference to the ambitious students who, without means and without moneyed friends had entered the portals of the school and had worked and fought their way through to graduation. To this end, he stressed the school owed its existence almost as much as to the men who had contributed their time and money to his support, declared Judge Harris.

Other speakers were R. M. Inman, Dr. W. J. Emerson, dean of the school; Dr. James E. Coon, head of the mechanical engineering department, who has been with the school since its beginning; A. C. Colcord, president of the alumni association; Attorney W. L. Moore, Prof. Edward Holmes, Rev. E. Lyman Hood and Dr. K. C. Matheson, president of the School of Technology.

The election of Dr. W. M. Fambrough of the class of '03, as president of the Tech Alumni Association featured the annual meeting of the association Tuesday morning. Dr. Fambrough succeeds A. C. Colcord. The meeting was a roving success in every way, as nearly 400 Tech graduates, the greatest number on record at any gathering, took part.

After Dr. Fambrough's election, Robert Gibbs was made vice president, and H. F. Markes, secretary and treasurer. The president announced that the executive committee would be appointed later. A further feature was the adoption of a resolution for the presentation of letters of appreciation by the alumni and faculty to Nat Harris, chairman of the board of trustees, and to Dr. C. Hopkins, first president of Tech.

Following the election of officers, an open discussion. For the Good of Tech was held. Coach J. W. Heisman told Tech men of the bright prospects for future athletes. He Heisman told Tech men's teams would be strong as any teams in the history of the college. President Colcord and the board of trustees were also present. The discussion evoked much favorable comment on the present relations between members of the alumni and between the alumni and the faculty of the college. Great praise was given to the men who have made possible the new athletic playground, the gymnasium, the swimming pool, the new dormitory, the new building to be erected in the South.

Following the presentation of letters of appreciation, a committee to investigate the proposed new building, headed by Robert L. Inman, was organized. The committee will be composed of Inman, Moore, (Chas.) Roberts, Mr. Spruce and White City Park Now Open

Begs for Sentence in Atlanta Prison

CHARLESTON, S. C., June 10.—When Judge Smith, in Federal Court here, had sentenced Charles Williams, a negro, to six months in the Backley County Jail for depot-breaking, he begged to be sent to the Atlanta penitentiary.

Judge Smith told him the sentence would have to be made a year and a day if he went to Atlanta, and Williams begged the judge to give him the extra time, so that he could serve the time in the Georgia prison. It was done.
