

LANFORD AGREES TO LET CONLEY FACE FRANK

Expected Grand Jury Will Be Asked to Hold Negro as Suspect, Not Witness.

to confront Frank by the negro at any time in the discretion of the jurors.

These circumstances present a bitter skirmish over Conley Friday morning. It is not, or it would appear on the face of it, a plan to liberate the negro entirely. It has resolved itself into a contest to determine whether Conley shall be held at the police station, or whether he shall be released.

It is Mr. Dorsey's trial first. Conley is to be tried on the charge of murder. Judge Jones has ruled a decision that this is the only proper place to hold him and that he was without authority to commit the negro to the custody of the police.

Then will be the trial of Conley. He will be held at the police station until another jury is called. He will be held at the police station until another jury is called.

He will go further and show that Conley not only had the same opportunity to murder Harry Phagan as that afforded Frank, but that every incident at the factory on that fatal day, as well as the negro's subsequent conflicting stories, points more nearly and more certainly to the guilt of Frank. He will state, for this reason, that he would be the most egregious blunder to let Conley out of the custody of the State, even though he is still held by Sheriff Manung.

Solicitor Dorsey has given as a reason for his action that Conley had been intimidated at the Tower and preferred to stay at the police station.

GRACE CHURCH IS NEARLY RAZED BY FLAMES

Historic Structure Almost Total Loss From Effects of Fire and Water.

Who started old Grace Church at Boulevard and Houston Streets Thursday morning, causing a loss of several thousand dollars and damaging the historic building almost beyond repair.

It was an hour before the fire department succeeded in checking the flames in the neighborhood. After this it was a stubborn battle, the fire having a strong hold in the dried timber at the old edifice.

When the blaze finally was under control, the roof had been burned away and the interior badly charred. What furnishings the flames missed, the water almost totally destroyed.

Stones of granite and sparrows, which had made the towering spire of the church, were scattered in all directions. The spire itself was a mass of twisted iron and steel.

The Railroads Must Pay to End Their Murderous Grade Crossings

If the Railroads Had Spent Less Money in Dishonest Politics, They Would Have More for the Requirements of Their Honest Business

To the Editor of the Georgian:

I note in The New York Evening Journal an excellent editorial reference to the fact that the railroads of the United States are responsible for the rather stern and uncompromising attitude of the public toward them.

As a matter of fact, even more could be said and more positively said along this line and in support of the position of the State of New Jersey that the railroads must protect the lives of the citizens at the murderous railway crossings.

Unquestionably the railroads must conduct all their business with due regard for the safety of the public, and they must take at their own expense the steps necessary to INSURE the safety of the public.

Mr. Rea's suggestion that the public pay for making the grade crossings safe is no more just than would be a suggestion that the public pay for safety couplings, or steel cars, or—in cases like the neglected and deteriorated New York and New Haven trackage—for new tracks.

Of course, the public pays for everything indirectly, but that is one reason, and a good reason, why it should not pay again directly.

If the railroads had issued less watered stock they would have less dividends to pay on water and would have enough money to keep up their equipment and modernize their conditions generally.

If they had spent less in subsidizing Senators and bribing bosses, corrupting public service commissions and debauching the people's government, they would have more money to spend in conducting the legitimate functions of their business and maintaining satisfactory relations with the public.

Of all the bribing, bullying, corrupting and intimidating influences in the United States, the worst have been the railroads, and among the worst of the railroads, alongside the New York Central with its "public be damned" policy, and the New York and New Haven with its record of monopolistic extortion, stands the Pennsylvania Railroad, the convicted enemy of Quay and acknowledged accomplice of Archbold in political corruption.

The Pennsylvania Railroad and the Standard Oil Company have made a rotten borough of the whole State of Pennsylvania—a borough so rotten that the State is known throughout the nation and throughout the world as a fearful example of the destructive evil of corrupt money in politics.

But like most bullies, the railroads are cowards, and, after having kicked the public when it was down, now beg for mercy when the people are rising to a proper position of strength and power.

The railroads speak of "justice," but that is the last thing they want. They want no justice that they can not control, no justice that they do not own.

Thus Mr. Rea asks that this question of safeguarding the railroad crossings be decided not by the people and their elected representatives—the people would be unwise and unjust—but by some appointed public service commission, composed of railroad attorneys, who would decide everything "justly" in favor of the railroads and get their reward in legitimate fees or honorable retainer's then or thereafter.

But the people know the railroads, and they know the railroads' private public service commissions, and the railroad judges and the railroad public officials and political methods.

Knowing these things—and they may all be called "things"—the people are no longer leaving their business to unfaithful agents and corrupting agencies.

They are taking the control of affairs into their own hands. They are creating the referendum and the recall as part of their government. They are passing laws and establishing justice for all the people and not for any special and privileged class of the community.

There is a new order of things, and those corporations which attempt to maintain the old order of things are likely to be subjected to some severe but salutary discipline.

An economic republic is being established. An economic aristocracy is being deposed. Industry is being democratized. Battles of privilege are falling. Financial feudalism is passing. The seigneur of industry is losing some of his "divine rights" of outrage and oppression. The public will not "be damned" to-day any more than it would "eat grass" in Louis the Sixteenth's time.

Wise corporation leaders—and Mr. Rea in character and ability should be such a one—will abandon their claims to a superior order and a "divine right." They will step down from their high estate, will mingle with the citizens on an equal footing and wear the tri-color cockade of liberty, equality and fraternity.

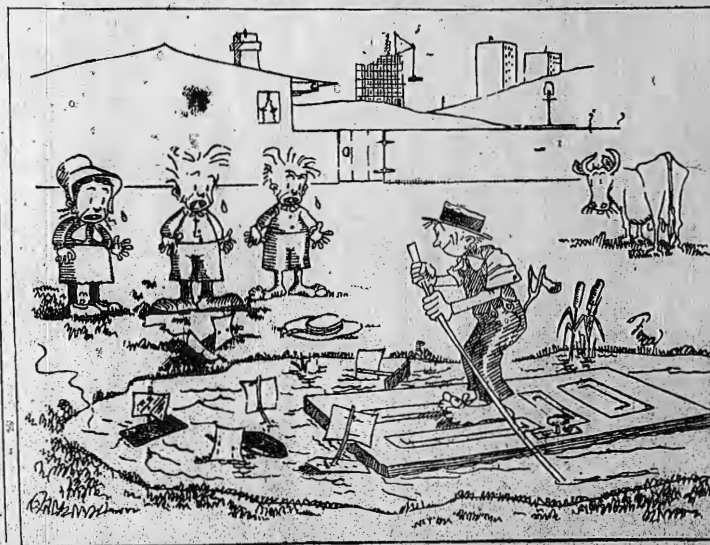

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST.

Writes on Free Ship Law Proves a Failure

It Will Keep Out American-Built Ships, He Declares, and Only Bring in Foreign-Built Ships.

By JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES

THE "free ship" provision of the act of August 24, 1911, should be repealed, before the new tariff bill is passed. Nine months ago Congress enacted that foreign built vessels not over five years old, if American owned, could be admitted to American registry, and SUCH FOREIGN BUILT VESSELS, WOULD BE ELIGIBLE TO RECEIVE SUBSIDIES UNDER our existing subsidy act of March 3, 1892.

What Free Traders Said.

For 50 years free traders have claimed that the free admission of foreign built ships to America would solve the American shipping problem. Subsidies and bounties were by them denounced as robbery, loot, graft, stealing from the people.

And yet, in 1912 a Democratic House joined with a Republican Senate and President in FREELY OFFERING FOREIGN BUILT SHIPS AMERICAN SUBSIDIES if they would ACCEPT FREE AMERICAN REGISTRY.

Neither free admission to our registry nor the bait of American registry, has brought one foreign vessel under our flag. Would Admit Anything.

The law is a failure. It should be repealed forthwith! The failure is "extraordinary" as due to the age limitation.

Some Americans are so enamored of free foreign ships that they would admit any lowering, doddering old bulk, cottonizing fit only for the scrap heap, IF FOREIGN. They would give good American gold for old, worn-out, uneconomical, expensive-to-operate, inefficient, foreign built ships of 10, 10, even 10, years old—NO MATTER HOW OLD, SO LONG AS THEY WERE FOREIGN BUILT.

The seafaring foreigners who sold their old foreign ships to us would take our gold and buy new, up-to-date, economical, efficient, foreign ships, to compete with our worn-out foreign built. Could pro-foreign lobby conceive of more fatuous folly?

This country is able to build all the merchant ships it needs. It has the materials in abundance.

It has race-bred, intelligent, skilled, well-paid and well-fed American workmen able to build them all.

It has the money and it has the commerce. Will Keep Out U. S. Ships.

BUT IF THE DISCRIMINATING DUTY SECTION OF THE WILSON-UNDERWOOD TARIFF BILL HAD BEEN LEFT IN THE BILL, IT WOULD SUFFICE TO BRING VESSELS UNDER OUR FLAG. THAT FREE SHIP LAW WILL KEEP OUT AMERICAN BUILT AND ONLY BRING IN FOREIGN BUILT SHIPS.

It has the kind of an American merchant marine the people of the United States want?

Wives and Fibs

By WINIFRED BLACK.

HERB told you a fib, all about where he had been to dine, and you found it out, and never can you believe him again, never, never, never! And, oh, what shall you do with the faith and love and trust gone out of your little dark, lonesome world, and where shall you turn for comfort, and, oh, "Ain't it, ain't it perfectly awful!"

Why, yes, of course, it is awful for you both—just now. Not so Bad as You Think.

Get out of the "now" into the "pretty soon" as quickly as you can and you'll find that it isn't half so awful as you think after all.

Of course he was a dunder to fight you about the dinner, he might have known you would tell it out, no fib ever really deceived a really loving woman for very long.

And, of course, there was something foolish and ill-adviced about the truth or he would not have tried to conceal it from you, but did you never do anything foolish in your life as you go out of confessing it?

No, to be sure you can't care for a man who fibs habitually. Who could? A fibber is a bit of a coward and no one likes a coward—a woman, least of all, but then, what's the use of making such a fuss about it, now that it is done? You can't undo the fib, can you?

I Think of the Twine. Once I saw two little boys tied together with a strong bit of twine, and when one moved the weight of the other swung and hurried, and neither of the two had any peace till some one came and cut the twine and set them both free.

I never see a woman tearing her heart out, with suspicions of her husband without thinking of the two little boys and the strong twine that bound them so close together and made them both suffer so. Cut the string dear little woman, cut the string now, to-day, before it cuts so deep that you can never be happy again.

Either your husband is a man to be trusted or he is not; either make up your mind to trust him utterly, or make up your mind that you do not own what he does, and show him quite plainly that he can never deceive you again, because you are not in the least interested in what he cares to tell you.

Don't watch him! Don't "keep tabs" on him! What's the use? Let Him Go His Way.

Be happy. Let him go his way and you go yours, both in peace and friendly trust. If he is the kind of man who does things he is ashamed of, how can you be enough interested in him to worry over him and his doings for one fleeting moment?

If he is a good man, what a world of good's peace, you are giving up, just because you will not get the stripe of wretched suspicion that is making you both so miserable, and let him go—free—a man about his man's business.

Don't snarl! There, that's better. Why, what a deep ragged hurt the hateful string was making, I'm glad it is cut—ain't you?

TIMES PROVE PROSPERITY A REALITY IN SOUTH

Atlanta Real Estate Men Predict Banner Year--Big Demand on For Houses.

Despite the apparent slump in Wall Street over conditions, no pessimism is to be found in the South, and business men here feel that times are good.

Atlanta's principal real estate business men look ahead to good times. Business, they say, is good, and values are on a conservative basis. Atlanta has few vacant houses than at any previous time in the city's history, they remark. They tell of steady demand for small homes, and of an influx of new population, demanding houses.

Stringency of money is noted, but already this is being relieved. Men who handle large sums are loaned on mortgage again and sums at their disposal. No pessimism is found in the ranks of those who have done so much more than any other class for the rebuilding of the city.

Real estate business is good, he says. "There is a steady demand for rental property."
"The tariff is not worrying Atlanta. Manufacturers are engaged in active business, and most of them are behind in filling orders. There are more people on the streets than ever seen before in Atlanta."
"I go to New York five or six times a year, and every time I go I swear I never want to go again. In New York, signs are bound to be depressed by the tax he fears. The business outlook, however, is not so gloomy as it may be concerned by the many money coming South."
"The South should profit if there is depression in the East and the North. In the opinion of E. T. Ambler, a prominent times necessarily built up large reserves of ready cash. These must be invested. If there is depression in the East, what is more natural than that the big corporations should turn their attention to the South?" he reasons.
"The man with a regular salary or regular income of any kind can buy property now to good advantage. It does not need to worry over the trouble of the big financial circles."

Mayor Will Return Budget Monday, but As Yet Is Undecided

Mayor James G. Woodward announced this afternoon he would see on the June appropriation as it is in time to return it to the General Council Monday. He had not decided whether he would approve or veto.

"I'll tell you one thing I won't do, though," he said. "I won't approve anything which conflicts with the Supreme Court's decision on the crematorium. I have an eye single to that decision--that's a good expression, isn't it?"

The only reference to the crematorium in the budget is the appropriation for its purchase. The contract of purchase has been drawn up, but can not be approved by the General Council until the budget is either approved by the Mayor or adopted over his veto.

King George Loses $100,000 in Flyer In Canadian Pacific

Special Cable To The Atlanta Georgian. LONDON, June 12.--King George V. has been successful in his attempt to secure the Canadian Pacific. The King's losses are understood to have resulted from operations in the Canadian Pacific. Last week that stock declined 10 points, and the King's loss is estimated at $100,000.

Lord Revelstoke is the King's private financial adviser, but the operations were undertaken contrary to the latter's advice.

WIFE QUIRKY IS RESCUED BY GRAND JURY

Grand Jury Refuses to Return True Bill Against Colonel Thomas B. Felder.

The vice probe in its various ramifications was resumed by the Grand Jury Thursday morning. Before examining any witnesses, the jurors discussed an early investigation of the telegraph charges. It was understood that witnesses would be summoned during the day and the matter taken up Friday and probab until the substantial facts were brought to light.

The first bill of indictment to be acted upon Thursday was against Colonel T. B. Felder, charged with carrying a pistol. Dr. Horace Grant, the only man who claims to have seen the revolver when Colonel Feder and Chief Detective Neffert, Lanzford were preparing to fight, waited his turn to testify before the jury. He said he would tell everything he knew about the clash in the witness room of the Grand Jury Wednesday last.

The Grand Jury had found no grounds to sustain the indictment against Colonel Feder. Flegerman took said that the Grand Jury will take the case under consideration at its next session, probably during the present week.

Frank Edson Toling, charged with investigation into the charge that Colonel T. B. Felder carried a concealed weapon, was present at the sitting of the International Association of Chiefs of Police. Four teams of four men each were entered. Each team started at a long pole and galloped down the stretch. Chief Heavers was the leading man. He carried the lead of his twelve competitors by three strokes. He was given a handsome blue badge.

American League Is Sued as Trust By Jack O'Connor

ST. LOUIS, June 12.--A move to test for the first time in court the legality of the organization which controls baseball is about to be made in the United States Court in St. Louis by John J. O'Connor, former manager of the St. Louis Browns.

A petition asking $100,000 damages and naming each of the eight clubs of the American League as being in a trust has been drawn up by O'Connor's attorneys.

It will be alleged that organized baseball is interstate commerce and is such as to be regulated by the United States Government, with a view to preventing the clubs from making contracts of the ball players. O'Connor recently, in the Circuit Court, won a suit for $5,000 against the St. Louis club on the ground that it had failed to pay him his contract salary for the year 1912 and had at the same time prevented him from playing with any other club.

New sensations are expected in the Phagan mystery Friday morning when the petition of Solicitor Dorey for the revocation of the order holding James Conley as a material witness is heard before Judge L. B. Roun.

It is not yet known whether the order will be granted. It is believed that the order will be granted if the evidence warrants it.

Chief of Detectives Lanford Thursday replied to the demand of Lott's attorney that Conley be taken to the police station for the purpose of making a statement. He said that Conley would be taken to the station if he refused to make a statement.

That the dramatic situation is not beyond the pale of possibilities within the next few days is indicated by the attitude of Frank's friends, who have been suggesting just such an arrangement.

FACE CONLEY BASEBALL AND FRANK LAZARD URGES

Detective Chief Ready to Have Accuser Confront Prisoner Before Grand Jury.

Chief of Detectives Lanford Thursday replied to the demand of Lott's attorney that Conley be taken to the police station for the purpose of making a statement. He said that Conley would be taken to the station if he refused to make a statement.

That the dramatic situation is not beyond the pale of possibilities within the next few days is indicated by the attitude of Frank's friends, who have been suggesting just such an arrangement.

Chief Lanford is willing. "I am perfectly willing that Conley should be taken before the Grand Jury," said Chief Lanford. "I think it is only fair, however, that Rosen permit his client to have three or four days, where he may be confined by the negro and where the negro may tell the story right before the Grand Jury."

Just the instant that Rosen consented to an arrangement of this sort, he was prepared to have Conley on his way to the Grand Jury room. There will be no delay. It is irregular, of course, but I am perfectly willing to waive that phase of the matter. The fact that Frank already indicated that it was unnecessary for Conley to be called before the Grand Jury to give testimony against him.

Chief Lanford, referring to the effort to remove Conley from the station house to the jail, said that he would hold the negro at police headquarters until there was a court order to the contrary. He said that if Solicitor Dorey's petition was successful and Conley was freed from the present court order, that he would still be held at the station as a material witness.

Attorney Rosen would make no comment for publication on the proposition made by Chief Lanford, except to say that he stood on the order published earlier in the week. In this letter he made an emphatic denial that the Grand Jury investigation of Conley was a view of the Grand Jury to probe Jim Conley's story to indict him as the supposed murderer of Dr. Frank. He said that the investigation of Conley was a view of the Grand Jury to probe Jim Conley's story to indict him as the supposed murderer of Dr. Frank.

SATIATION IN FIGHT OVER CONLEY

TIMES PROVE PROSPERITY A REALITY IN SOUTH

Atlanta Real Estate Men Predict Banner Year—Big Demand on for Houses.

Despite the apparent gloom in Wall Street over conditions, no pessimism is to be found in the South, and business men here feel that times are good.

Atlanta's principal real estate men look ahead to good times. Business, they say, is good, and values are on a conservative basis. Atlanta has fewer vacant houses than at any previous time in the city's history, they remark. They tell of steady demand for small homes, and of an influx of new people, demanding houses.

"Stringency of money is noted, but already this is being relieved. Men who handle large sums are not on mortgage again and sums at their disposal.

"No pessimism is found in the ranks of those who have done as much or more than any other class for the upbuilding of the city.

Business Good, Says Adair.

Forrest Adair is optimistic.

"Real estate business is good," he says. "There is a steady demand for rental property."

"I go to New York five or six times a year, and every time I go I swear I never want to go again. In New York, anyone is bound to be depressed by the talk he hears. Atlanta ought not to be concerned by it."

More Money Coming South.

The South should profit if there is depression in the East and West, North, in the opinion of E. P. Anley.

"Quiet times necessarily build up large reserves of ready cash. These must be invested, if there is depression in the East, which is more probable than that the big corporations should turn their attention to the South," he reasons.

"I have in mind a financial representative of one of the greatest insurance companies, who has been in Georgia for some time looking at the situation. I am certain his company will on his report begin lending money on farm lands in the State. Four or five others have already done the same."

The man with a regular salary, or regular income of any kind can buy property now to good advantage. He does not need to worry over the troubles of the big financial circles.

Big Demand for Homes.

"Building has not halted. Col. J. B. Ponce, builder of the Ankey Hotel, defends his investment very wisely. He points to the fact that nine out of ten offices in Atlanta are occupied by branches of corporations with head offices outside of the State. As long as this exists, Atlanta is bound to be a good hotel town, for representatives of the home offices must visit the branches several times a year."

"I've competed with Atlanta, and the real estate situation shows an improvement," says H. T. Turman. "I might bring it closer to date and say that things look better even than some months ago. We handle considerable sums of money. Here are some of the mortgages. March 1, of this year, we found it difficult to get money for such purposes. Within the past 30 days, though, it has become available."

Buy Vacant House Here.

There are fewer vacant houses in Atlanta than here before seen at this season of the year. Offices are occupied in demand also. I look to see the new office buildings filled without any loss to those already occupied.

"I can't see any cause for worry in the present real estate situation," declared J. H. Smith, of the Smith and Knover Real Estate Agency. "We built in the past 30 days more houses for property than we had during the same time in any other year in this connection in the demand for good houses."

Crematory Bill Goes Over Until Budget Is Passed

Just before the General Council met yesterday Mayor Woodward announced he would take four days to consider the June appropriation sheet. The Council therefore adjourned without approving the crematory contract, since the budget carrying the necessary appropriation of $268,000, must be approved by the Mayor or passed over his veto.

The sheet did not reach the Mayor at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. The executive has until next Tuesday to act, but he announced he would try to decide by Monday, the regular meeting time of Georgia Council.

Mayor Woodward has signed the ordinance requiring registration of master plumbers.

FIRE NEARLY DESTROYS OLD GRACE CHURCH

Historic Building Is Damaged Almost Beyond Repair by Flames and Water.

Fire gutted old Grace Church at Boulevard and Cain Streets Thursday morning, causing a loss of several thousand dollars and damaging the historic building almost beyond repair. Hundreds gathered about the ancient structure when a blast suddenly swept from the interior and spread with amazing rapidity.

It was an hour before the fire department succeeded in checking the flames in the slightest. After that was a stubborn battle, the fire having a stronghold in the dried timber of the edifice.

When the fire finally was under control, the roof had been burned away and the interior charred. What furnishings the flames missed, the water almost totally destroyed. Scores of pews and windows, which had made the towering beauty their roofing place, were rudely torn from their frames when the flames shot upward. Some were badly singed before they escaped and tumbled to the ground.

Grace Church originally was a Methodist institution. When it was abandoned by this denomination it was purchased outright by George P. Chastner to be used by the Baptist Union congregation. Mr. Chastner said Thursday that he hardly thought he would attempt to rebuild.

Sparks From Laundry Blamed.

A laundry in the basement, owned by Clem Phillips, was damaged only to the extent of singeing or slightly more. The explanation of the fire's origin is that it caught from a spark from the laundry fire.

Twelve persons are in the congregation of the Union Baptist, formed after the split from the East Atlanta Baptist Church a few years ago, charging that the mother church was negligent in the fire.

During the fire a horse burst, injuring Driver W. P. Palm, of Company Palm, was knocked to the pavement in a conspicuous position.

The President's room has always been a show place of the Capitol. Tourists, spring the bright, new telephones, immediately apply for permission to call up some number. Less than ten days ago a recent experience demonstrated that a telephone in the President's room would never ring.

King George Loses $100,000 in Canadian Flyer

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. LONDON, June 12.—King George is holding daily conferences with Sir George White, his private secretary, as a consequence of heavy losses suffered in the recent big slump of the stock market. The consultations are to arrange for the realization of 50-carriage held in trust for the King.

The King's losses are understood to have resulted from operations in Canadian Pacific. Last week that stock fell 14 points, and the King's loss is stated to be $100,000.

Lord Revelstoke is the King's private financial adviser, but the operations were undertaken contrary to that banker's advice.

WIFE INQUIRY IS RESUMED BY GRAND JURY

Dictograph Charges and Felony Indictment for Gun-Toting Also Are Taken Up.

The vice probe in its various ramifications was resumed by the Grand Jury Thursday morning before examining any witnesses, the jurors discussing an early investigation of the dictograph charges. It was understood witnesses would be summoned during the day and the matter taken up Friday and probated until the substantial facts were brought to light.

The first bill of indictment based upon Thursday was against Colonel T. B. Fisher, charged with carrying a pistol. Dr. Horace Grant, the only man who claims to have seen a revolver when Colonel Fisher and Chief Detective Lanford were preparing to fight, waived his turn to go before the jury. He said he would tell everything he knew about the clash in the witness room of the Grand Jury Wednesday night.

Some members of the Grand Jury have taken the position that the facts contained in the dictograph report of the conversation in room 41 of the Williams House and the charges that have been exhibited against Colonel Fisher and the head of the detective department are of so grave a nature that they can not be dropped without a searching effort to establish the truth of one or the other side in the controversy.

Dictograph Probe Promised.

Then, it is understood, the probe will go deep into the alleged corrupt conditions, and if there is any truth in the accusations that followed so closely on the heels of the published "dictograph bribery charges," these witnesses will be able to establish it.

Colonel Fisher announced Thursday that he would have George Gentry, the dictograph stenographer, in town any time the Grand Jury might call for him, and that the young man was willing to go on the stand and give further facts substantiating his attorney published version.

Chief of Detective Lanford said he was investigating Gentry's hurried departure from Atlanta, with a view to establishing his theory that the youth had been guilty in the City Court, and that the young man was willing to go on the stand and give further facts substantiating his attorney published version.

Alabama Widow Buys a Title Mrs. Bishop To Be a Countess Girlhood Dream to Come True

Snapshot of Mrs. Marion Bishop, of Montgomery, Ala., fiancée of Count Lionel Moratti, taken on her arrival in New York from Europe.

Mrs. Marion Bishop, of Montgomery, Ala., says "Price Was High, but I Had the Money."

NEW YORK, June 12.—So easy was Mrs. Marion Bishop, young widow of Montgomery, Ala., who has just announced that she is to marry a first foreigner, that after her husband's death she went to Italy and mingled with purchased counts and princes.

Mrs. Bishop announced her engagement to Count Lionel Moratti, a retired lieutenant of the Italian army, when she first reached Italy 11 years ago. She was a countess at the time, and she had a title and I had money. Her price was high, but she was a fortune teller of my childhood to be a Russian prince whose daughter was a countess.

"When I first reached Italy I found quite an expensive selection of titles and I took my time in deciding on Count Moratti. It was more of less a matter of cream of my childhood to be a Russian prince whose daughter was a countess."

The Count Moratti has a woman's title and he is a woman's man. His talks are beautifully maintained, and he creates a sensation every time he enters a cafe. He is as good as a man who has settled my affairs here. I am glad to see him.

FACE CONLEY AND FRANK LANFORD URGES

Detective Chief Ready to Have Accuser Confront Prisoner Before Grand Jury.

New revelations are expected in the Phagan mystery Friday morning when the position of Solicitor Dorsey for the revocation of the order for the arrest of James Conley as a material witness is heard before Judge L. S. Boye.

Luther Z. Rosser, attorney for Conley, will go through his own testimony formally to present his reasons for the holding of James Conley only as a material witness in the Phagan murder mystery, but as an actual suspect.

Will be asked indicated that the attorney will disclose his hand too freely. It is to be supposed that he will present every argument he believes necessary to keep the neutral the custody of the State.

Chief of Detective Lanford has replied to the demand of Luther Rosser, attorney for Conley, that the Grand Jury be made the starting proposition that he would take the case to the Grand Jury. This has the effect of having the case against the Grand Jury be made the starting proposition that he would take the case to the Grand Jury.

Grand Vizier Buried, Guarded by Troops

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. CONSTANTINOPLE, June 12.—While troops patrolled the streets to prevent looting, the body of Mahmud Shevket Pasha, Grand Vizier of Turkey, who was assassinated, was buried to-day with all the honors of the Moslem faith.

Turkey left without a leader at a critical moment. It has long been recognized that Mahmud Shevket Pasha was the real power behind the throne.

For the most part quiet prevailed in army circles feeling run high, and it was openly promised that there would be further bloodshed before political peace is restored.

Eugenics Lorimer's Cure of Vote Thefts

CHICAGO, June 12.—Twenty-five before the election commission began fighting alleged crookedness in the last election in Chicago, William Lorimer, formerly Senator from Illinois, said:

"The election of last November was just as it has been in the past. A. A. McCormick, president of the County Board, said: 'It was the most honest election ever held here.'"

"I go for a remedy insuring honest elections. Lorimer said:

"Assured the human family."

Van Dyke and 4 Who 'Doubted' Win Church

NEW YORK, June 12.—The Presbyterian of New York, meeting in St. Paul's Church yesterday, again gave sanction and acceptance to the five dissenting ministers of the theological seminary, who would not admit, upon examination, a belief in the divinity of Jesus Christ and other dogmas.

The acceptance was not without protest. A statement in reply to the objections of the Rev. John Fox against the ordination of Tertius VanDyke of the disestablished St. Henry VanDyke, and the other Union Seminary graduates, was read.

Millionaire, 20, to Marry Divorcee, 38

ST. LOUIS, June 12.—Adolph Busch III, 20-year-old grandson of the famous St. Louis multi-millionaire brewer, Wednesday announced to his friends that he is soon to be married to Miss Helen Foster Lamont, 38, divorced wife of Marlon L. A. Lamont.

The announcement followed closely on the heels of the departure of Adolph Busch and family for Europe on a tour of the continent.

The divorced Lamont, twenty-eight of the Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, obtained custody of their three children.

Mrs. Astor Mystifies Boston Hotel Guests

BOSTON, June 12.—Mrs. John Jacob Astor, who was Madeleine Porce before her marriage, is registered at the Copley-Plaza.

There are two mysteries agitating other guests at the hotel.

"Why does a party of two young women and baby less than a year old reside a valet?"

"Why did Mrs. Astor register at 'Mrs. W. H. Porce' her mother's name?"

She has been accompanied by her sister, Miss Katherine Porce; her baby, a maid—and the valet.

Bank President Pays Big Blind Tiger Fine

MALDEN, June 12.—W. C. Gibson, formerly "the blind tiger king" of Malden, but now a bank president, has paid a fine of $1000 for having violated the prohibition law here in 1911 and paid a fine of $1000. This was his second fine for selling liquor.

"Another whisky case and a charge of polluting a pond at a hotel here are being argued today."

Gov. Dunne to Clinch Suffragist Victory

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 12.—Governor Dunne to-day announced that he would sign the woman's suffrage bill passed by the House yesterday by a vote of 83 to 24.

"This means a woman's suffrage bill in Illinois," he said, "it will give the women the right to vote in the measure."

Stick for Worse, Too, Marshall Tells Girls

THREE HATS, IND., June 12.—Vice President Marshall at the Young Women's College commencement said:

"You are going to quit making fools of yourselves along the dress line. There will be at least five breaths to your skirt. You will use some lining for better or worse and if you turn out worse you are going to know to him. Marriage is a sacrament that no man can out-nause."

Unwritten Law Is Girl Slayer's Plea

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., June 12.—It was declared to-day that the unwritten law would be the defense of Miss Letha Mitchell, the 15-year-old girl who killed James Hendrick, the husband of her dead mother.

She says she was wronged in her promise of marriage and that three weeks ago she had a nervous breakdown.

Russia Loses Dove of Peace in Balkans

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. ST. PETERSBURG, June 12.—Formerly a Russian offer to arbitrate the territorial dispute between Serbia and Bulgaria is given a new twist.

It is believed here that it is the first step which will result in averting hostilities between the two Balkan powers.

Another step being the Bulgarians further grounds for arbitration by arresting 100 Bulgarian women and children near Belgrade.

LANEBOO AGREES TO LET CONLEY FACE FRANK

Expected Grand Jury Will Be Asked to Hold Negro as Suspect, Not Witness.

vinced of the guilt of the negro that he will not be satisfied with Frank's acquittal, but will go on to the extent of the law that no other conviction can be reached than that "Conley" was the man who attacked and strangled the 14-year-old girl to death.

These circumstances present a bitter question over Conley's future. It is not, as it would appear on the face of it, to be a matter of mere expediency. It has resolved itself into a fight to determine whether Conley shall be held in the police station, where the Solicitor and the detective with him, or whether he shall be taken back to the Tower, where Attorney Roser vigorously has asserted he properly and legally should be held as a material witness.

If the Solicitor succeeds in obtaining the revocation of the court order, it will be assumed that Conley will continue to be held at the police station under the agreement signed by himself and his attorney, William M. Smith, by which they consented to Conley's incarceration at police headquarters under the terms of the Tower Pledge for Conley.

Mr. Roser's petition fails, Conley will be taken to the Tower. Judge Roan has prepared a decision that this is the only proper place to hold him, and that he was without authority to consent to the Tower, where the police station is the guard and tutelage of the detective before he made at his affidavit.

Attorney Roser in his own letter to the public demanded that the negro be taken from this influence and placed in the Tower along with New Lee, the other material witness in the case.

It is hardly thought that the public will stop at showing any Conley should be held as a material witness.

Show Conley Had Chances. He will go further and give up Conley to the Tower and the Tower.

Conley's mother had a long talk with the police, but that they were not to be swayed by her. She was informed that she had no influence at the Tower and that she was not to be at the police station.

$500,000,000 OFFER REVEALS STREET

Treasury's Emergency Currency Fund Is Open to Stem Financial Scare if Needed.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The voluntary statement of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo that $500,000,000 of emergency currency is ready for issue under the Aldrich-Vreeland act whenever required was eagerly seized upon to-day by opponents of new currency legislation during the present session as an argument in favor of their position. The law has been on the statute books five years.

At an informal meeting of the Banking and Currency Committee, Senators O'Connor and Hitchcock opposed immediate legislation and suggested that the bill be held over until the next session.

Secretary McAdoo has been called in to-day by the committee and he declared the campaign would go on until the bill is passed.

Force of Outlaws Captured After Fierce Assault—Americans Are Determined to End Revolt.

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. MANILA, P. I., June 12.—Six American soldiers were killed and twelve others wounded to-day in an assault on the defense of the Bulacan of the rebellious Moros near Davao.

The American force, which included a number of native troops, finally carried the works by storm, capturing a company of the Moro outlaws.

LET THE GRAND JURY INVESTIGATE DICTOGRAPH RECORDS

FROM the moment the famous, or infamous, dictograph records were made public, it has been clear to every right-thinking person that the only way to get at the truth was to have an investigation by the Grand Jury.

Charges and counter charges have been made, until the public is so bewildered that the real issues have been lost sight of. What is wanted is THE TRUTH. Are there any GENUINE dictograph records? Are there any records that will bear LEGAL analysis? If so, whom do they involve?

If the charges, as published, are crooked, or padded, the public has a right to know it. If the records are genuine, the public has a right to know that also.

It is time to STOP this scandal mongering. The Grand Jury is the proper body to investigate, so that the truth may be known.

At the moment Atlanta is being made ridiculous to all the rest of the world, and it is not unlikely that injustice may have been done to some of our officials, and perhaps private citizens also.

It is time to stop muck-raking and establish the truth!

Atlanta Bankers See Good Business Year in South Despite Wall Street's Gloom

Business in Atlanta and the South is good, according to Atlanta business men. In some cases it is above last year's level. There is some stringency of money, but well-established business houses, carrying on conservative operations, are getting their usual accommodations from the banks. The country banks in Atlanta territory have been supplied to the limits of their capacity.

Weather Man Says Cold Snap Is Over; Low Record Is 49

After smashing all low records for June 11 in Atlanta with a minimum temperature of 49 degrees Wednesday morning, the mercury left off its record-breaking and started off at a slow and dignified climb to more sane and reasonable levels.

Winter is over on the word of Weather Forecaster, Vonliermann. He promised the mercury would continue its ascent through Wednesday, and Thursday would be still warmer. The lowest temperature on June 11 of any previous year was in 1858 when the mercury dropped to 51 degrees. Tuesday's high temperature was 58 degrees, the lowest maximum June 10 temperature recorded in Atlanta, June 10, 1891, recorded the lowest maximum temperature previously, 52 degrees.

GRAND JURY OF TURKEY SLAIN IN AUTO

Mahmud Shekret Pasha and Aide Shot by Assassin—Was Power Behind the Sultan.

Social Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. LONDON, June 11.—Mahmud Shekret Pasha, Grand Vizier of Turkey, and his military aide were shot to death today by two assassins in the streets of Constantinople. News of the double assassination was first received here in private dispatches. Later it was officially confirmed. Mahmud Pasha and his aide were returning to the Rialto Hotel where the murderers, who came into power in February, had been exercising the prerogatives of military dictators. He was one of the chief leaders of the Young Turk party, and the closest adviser of Enver Bey, the commander-in-chief of the Turkish army.

Miss Wilson Gives Stinging Rebuke to Street Car Boors

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Miss Eleanor Wilson, who last season in street car politeness today to three Washington men when she gave up her seat to a old woman.

Miss Wilson, accompanied by Dr. Cary Grayson, White House aide, boarded the car at Connecticut and Florida Avenues. Two old women in shabby black got on at the next corner. Dr. Grayson immediately yielded his seat, but three other men were not so gallant. Miss Wilson, with an indignant look at the men, arose and plied the other occupants to her seat, while she swung on a strap the remainder of the trip to the White House.

G. M. HARPER ANALYZES PULGAN CASE

In a Brilliant Letter, He Arrays Facts as They Affect Leo M. Frank and Conroy.

The Georgian published the following letter written by George M. Harper, the well-known lawyer, on the Phagan case, as it gives for the first time a legal analysis of the case for and against Frank.

W. P. Fain, accused Police Commissioner, above, and J. A. Skaggs, who told story of alleged rowdiness.

Asks Public to Suspend Judgment Until He Can Prove Innocence.

Police Commissioner W. P. Fain has indicated on two counts by the Fulton County Grand Jury, according to the announcement of the jury's findings made public Wednesday morning.

The Georgian published the following letter written by George M. Harper, the well-known lawyer, on the Phagan case, as it gives for the first time a legal analysis of the case for and against Frank.

To the Editor of The Georgian: This section of our country has been the scene of a very few criminal cases so profoundly interesting as the Phagan case. Indeed, it is questionable whether the entire South has ever had enacted within it a crime which has created such intense and widespread interest.

Personally, I have no concern in the case save as a citizen of the State, desiring that the public safety be maintained within a crime which has created such intense and widespread interest.

Profusely interested. As a lawyer, being retained in the case, says as a citizen of the State, desiring that the public safety be maintained within a crime which has created such intense and widespread interest.

This mental state of the community did not last. The remarkable success of the local press in obtaining and publishing every detail of the evidence of the detective failed the reading public to weigh the testimony presented. It is safe to say that there lately have been many occasions to those who from the first hesitated to accept the story of the guilt of Frank, or of the circumstances going to negative the plea to kill the young Jew, especially on the part of the white man, who were imbued in an unprejudiced manner with the evidence of the white man, who were imbued in an unprejudiced manner with the evidence of the white man, who were imbued in an unprejudiced manner with the evidence of the white man.

Your Dress Is Your Morals

Not your real moral, explains Lady Duff Gordon in an interesting article illustrated with some of her newest hats and gowns, but your manners that make your morals are controlled by the clothes you wear.

Urges Moderate Revision

"Things are going to turn out all right. As I said, although I am and always have been a protectionist, I believe we could stand a moderate revision downward of the tariff. I believe in the income tax, too. I would make no exceptions, though. To my mind, the man who makes $100 ought to be willing to give his $10.00 for the benefit of the Government which he enjoys."

"I have known President Wilson since he was a young lawyer in Atlanta. He is a splendid American; I want to see him elected."

"These fellows in New York are a little too blue, I think. The South has no cause to fear. No man who is doing a conservative business is going to be hurt in the least."

"I have been training too much in my studies," says Mr. Hawkins. "None but lightness of mind is to be commended."
