

ROYAL PAIR
SEE DEATH
AS OF MARRIAGE

Male Suffragist Repeats Davison
Feat In Front of King's
Box at Ascot.

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian.
ABOUT HEALTH, ENO, June 19.—A male suffragist, emulating the feat of Miss Emily Widdowson, who was fatally hurt trying to break up the Derby, dashed into the race course here to-day when the first and only event, the chief race of the day, was being run and tried to ruin the event. He is said to be lying in a hospital where he was carried.

Drawing a revolver from his pocket he pointed the weapon at Jockey Whalley, riding August Belmont's horse, Tracery, but before he could pull the trigger the iron shoe struck him, knocking him to the ground.

The man was picked up unconscious and carried into the paddock, where it was discovered his skull was fractured. Doctors said he could hardly recover from his wounds.

Royal Party Seen Accident.
The man had taken a position near an obstacle in the royal paddock, which was occupied by King George and Queen Mary. He stood at the rail when the crowd was being restrained to prevent just such a step.

The royal party, with the numberless throngs of fashionable spectators, including many traveling tourists, were waiting the start when the man dashed into the race.

He was running his horse, a pinto named the running horse.

Tracery evidently was mistaken for a royal escort, and he was riding close to the jockey and waving his hat about as though something was lost in the noise of the race.

Jockey Edward Usher, Tracery waving, throwing Jockey Whalley, who signed a complete acknowledgment in relief. Another horse running neck and neck with the Belmont entry, struck the suffragist. A moment later another horse, running neck and neck with the Belmont entry, struck the suffragist.

Queen Mary was greatly agitated by the fall.

In the royal paddock with his waistcoat was King Manuel of Portugal, the Crown Prince of Sweden and the Crown Princess.

The excitement attending the attempt to break up the race was produced by another incident which followed.

After the suffragist had been knocked down by another man, the spectators and picked up the revolver which had been knocked from the suffragist's hand, turning to the crowd which began to stream upon the race course.

The police were unable whether the shooting was accidental or intentional, but the excitement of the firing of the shot had gone unnoticed.

60,000 Women to Storm Capitol.
WASHINGTON, June 19.—The biggest gathering of women was held as yet gathered together will be Continued on Page 10, Column 2.

Woodward, to Keep
An Eye on Council,
Abandons Vacation

Mayor Woodward has announced he will not take a vacation this summer. No matter how hot it gets or how irksome his duties, he will stick close to his chair and attend to the city's business to the best of his ability. Mayor Woodward said he would not take a vacation this summer because he would not be able to keep an eye on the city council. He said he would not be able to keep an eye on the city council because he would not be able to keep an eye on the city council.

The Sunday American sees everywhere all over the South. If you have anything to sell The Sunday American is the best advertising medium.

The man had taken a position near an obstacle in the royal paddock, which was occupied by King George and Queen Mary. He stood at the rail when the crowd was being restrained to prevent just such a step.

The royal party, with the numberless throngs of fashionable spectators, including many traveling tourists, were waiting the start when the man dashed into the race.

He was running his horse, a pinto named the running horse.

Tracery evidently was mistaken for a royal escort, and he was riding close to the jockey and waving his hat about as though something was lost in the noise of the race.

Jockey Edward Usher, Tracery waving, throwing Jockey Whalley, who signed a complete acknowledgment in relief. Another horse running neck and neck with the Belmont entry, struck the suffragist.

Queen Mary was greatly agitated by the fall.

In the royal paddock with his waistcoat was King Manuel of Portugal, the Crown Prince of Sweden and the Crown Princess.

The excitement attending the attempt to break up the race was produced by another incident which followed.

After the suffragist had been knocked down by another man, the spectators and picked up the revolver which had been knocked from the suffragist's hand, turning to the crowd which began to stream upon the race course.

The police were unable whether the shooting was accidental or intentional, but the excitement of the firing of the shot had gone unnoticed.

60,000 Women to Storm Capitol.
WASHINGTON, June 19.—The biggest gathering of women was held as yet gathered together will be Continued on Page 10, Column 2.

Mrs. Wilson Succumbs to Strain
Remains in White House to Rest
Slum Work Too Heavy a Burden

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, who found her social duties and slum work too heavy.

Southern Physician
Isolates Germ of Leptospirosis; Cure Near

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., June 19.—Dr. C. Duval, of New Orleans, bacteriologist of Tulane University, announced before the American Medical Association that he has succeeded in isolating the germ of leptospirosis, the disease which causes jaundice and hemorrhage.

First Lady of Land Ordered to Abandon Social Whirl Until June 28.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The first lady of the land, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, was ordered to abandon her social whirl until June 28.

Atlanta Advantage
In Leather Freight
Rates Is Abolished

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today held that rates on leather from Cincinnati and various other points in the Middle West to Atlanta, Ga., over the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific Railroad were discriminatory and prejudicial in favor of Atlanta, Ga.

Gaynor Says Tolstoy
Had Wrong Notions

NEW YORK, June 19.—Mayor Gaynor does not think as much of Tolstoy as do many. He said so in a letter written to Herman Berryman, the author, thanking him for a copy of his book, "With Master Tolstoy."

ATLANTA AT FORBURY STATION
Great Inaugural Fete Planned

Bishop Nelson Asks Greater Fourth of July Celebration

To testify to the fact that we are a united people and no longer a number of segregated sections, we should make our definite contribution to all national festivals or occasions. This does not detract from the propriety of commemorating local celebrities or in keeping of memorial days which mean so much in the lives of the people and precedent to the lives of the present generation of Southern men and women.

To observe the Fourth of July, therefore, with dignity and independence is a part of every loyal American, if he values the American citizenship.

The populace always will have modes of its own, such as the firing of salutes, the waving of flags and processions with music which are in no wise reprehensible, but there is a wiser and saner method of observing the day which is to be commended to young and old alike.

Christianity has played an enormous part in the organization and maintenance of all that is good in this republic, hence it is eminently consistent and proper that, without any formal proclamation of President or Governor, Christian people should assemble in their places of worship for united acts of praise for Divine protection and prayers for a continuance of His guidance to harmonize co-operation among ourselves and for the spirit of unity and comity with other nations.

A very impressive and effective ceremony might be made by the assembling of a multitude at the Capitol of the State, or at our courthouses and public buildings, citizens upon the call of a committee appointed by the Governor, the Mayor or other competent officer, for the purpose of hearing, read the Declaration of Independence and joining in songs of patriotism and loyalty to truth and government.

On this day parents would do wisely to instruct their children in the great principles upon which our nation and State are founded, and to encourage them to remember that their honor, prosperity and the permanent good of the country which it is a part of their duty and privilege to maintain and preserve.

Guard Promotions
Are Announced by
Gen. Van Holt Nash

The following promotions in the Georgia National Guard were announced by Adjutant General A. Van Holt Nash Thursday.

Family and Business
Man Bound Over on Disorderly Charge

NEW YORK, June 19.—The application of Mrs. Hugo Greenberger, the "Klanskie Hilda," for an order of sequestration and $151 a month alimony, was argued before Justice Goff yesterday.

Prehistoric Flying
Reptile Discovered

CASPER, WYO., June 18.—Dr. F. Salas and Dr. Van Wagoner, geologists, who are prospecting this vicinity for oil, reported the discovery of a prehistoric flying reptile, which is the most perfect specimen of the prehistoric flying reptile that has been discovered in this vicinity.

MoAdoo's Son Denied
Marriage License

BALTIMORE, June 19.—A man who had been married for which he applied in Baltimore, Md., was denied a marriage license by the city clerk because he was not a resident of the city.

Bankers Hear Talk
On "Blue Sky" Bill

The Bankers and Brokers Club met Wednesday evening to hear a talk on the "Blue Sky" bill by the Hon. W. L. Wardlaw.

Steamer Sinking in Pacific; Crew Adrift

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—A steamer was sunk in the Pacific Ocean, and the crew was adrift.

Both Prosecution and Defense Are Confident

Statements gathered Thursday morning from attorneys interested in each side of the case in the approach of the trial of Leo M. Frank for the strangling of Mary Phagan indicate that in one respect at least, it will be one of the most remarkable cases ever brought before a Fulton County court.

Phagan Slays

That the defense in the trial of Leo M. Frank will be able, if it wishes, to produce three or four witnesses who will testify that the defendant, Mrs. Minna Formby is unable to discover Thursday morning the identity of the other persons in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered, was learned.

It was from Mrs. Formby that the detective obtained what they consider one of the most sensational affidavits against Frank. She signed a statement asserting that Frank called her up a half dozen times the night of the murder and during the period she was in bed with a cold, she said she refused to see him.

Her mother, Mrs. Formby, she said, had been advised by a doctor to go to the hospital, and she said she refused to see him.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Frank, however, according to Atlanta Wednesday, after a long stay in the hospital, was released and he was in the house of Mrs. Formby, 409 Piedmont Avenue, the night of April 24, when Mary Phagan was murdered.

Punish the Real Promoters of the Bribing, Murdering Railroad

On December 30, 1912, I wrote as follows in The Boston American: "New England is suffering under the oppressive monopoly of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad."

I received from Mr. Louis D. Brandeis a letter commending the above statement of the situation, but offering a suggestion.

Instead of saying "It is a case of your money OR your life," Mr. Brandeis suggested that the situation would be more accurately described if, in view of the disasters on the New York and New Haven Railroad, I had said, "It is a case of your money AND your life."

I accept Mr. Brandeis' amendment. But even his amendment does not go far enough, nor does it state the whole disheartening truth.

The course of this murderous and traitorous monopoly constitutes a case of your money AND your life AND your public honor.

This monopoly of greed, without heart, or head, or conscience, or civic spirit, robs its road in order that it may have money to bribe a legislature, plunder the people in order that it may have the power to strangle a State, murders its patrons as part of its treasonable plan to defebate the people's Government.

At the very moment when the lives of citizens were being sacrificed to the callous indifference and cruel selfishness of this reckless and conscienceless monopoly, the people's legislature in Massachusetts was being bribed or bullied into passing a trolley merger bill further to extend and strengthen the menace of this monopoly.

In there in this whole country a more dangerous and destructive institution than this New York and New Haven monopoly, which makes money out of plunder and murder and uses it to undermine the very foundations of government and society?

Is there any punishment inflicted upon individual criminals that is too great to inflict upon this collective criminal, or upon the individuals responsible for this collective criminality?

Is there any motive which inspires the individual criminal which is meaner than the mercenary motive which inspires this collective criminal?

Is there any consequence of individual crime which is more menacing to society, to law and order and to respect for law and order, to property rights and to human rights, than the consequences of the collective crime of the New York and New Haven Railroad?

If an individual steals, he is sent to jail. What has happened to the individuals who are responsible for the plunder of the public in the conduct of the New York and New Haven Railroad?

If an individual bribes, he is pilloried and imprisoned. What has happened to the individuals who are responsible for the habitual political debauchery of the New York and New Haven Railroad?

If an individual kills, he is hanged. What has become of the individuals who are responsible for the continual killings on the New York and New Haven Railroad?

Is punishment to be meted out only to the little? Is immunity to be extended always to the great?

Is there to be forever in this alleged republic of ours large punishment for small crimes and no punishment for large crimes?

The unhappy engineer is merely the agent of Mr. Mellen. Are we to punish the agents and let the principal go free?

Mr. Mellen is not the instrument of Morgan & Co. and William Rockefeller. Are we to punish the instrument and allow the responsible individuals to escape?

Are we to make a joke of justice, a laughing stock of law? Are we to encourage anarchy in high places and seek to suppress it in lower stations? Are we to incite discontent by obvious injustices, and then complain of the consequences of our cowardice and our folly?

The American people have had enough of the brutal methods of the hands under the cloak of business. They have determined to make an end of bribery as an investment, of treason as a business transaction. They have determined to terminate highway robbery and high-handed murder as accessories of high finance.

There is no objection on the part of the people of this country to Mr. Wilson's "gibbet of infamy," except that it has stood empty too long.

There will be nothing but approval on the part of the public for a hanging as high as Haman's, as long as the hanging is of responsible heads of these criminal institutions and not merely of the irresponsible agents.

The unhappy engineer makes a few hundred dollars a year out of the part he is compelled to play in these tragedies.

Mr. Mellen makes a few thousand dollars. The responsible promoters make many millions.

Let the punishment for theft and murder and political corruption be meted out in proportion to the profit made by those responsible for these crimes.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST

JAPAN'S PREPARATIONS

First of Her EIGHT New Swift Super-Dreadnoughts

THIS is a photograph of the launching at Barrow, England, of the latest Japanese super-dreadnought, Kongo, of 27,500 tons and a speed of twenty-seven knots, which would enable her to catch or run away from any United States battleship afloat, as she pleased.

A Letter to a Lad of 10

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX Copyright, 1912, by Star Company. I am writing to you because you are a lad of 10 and you are about to take a seat at one of those "bad" places, and you look her purse and paid the carfare and returned the purse to her, all so quietly and neatly with a few words and a smile.

Rev. John E. White

Writes on The Great Band Wagon

Irresistible Forces Are at Work—Invincible Movements of Powers Outside of Us, He Says, Are Catching On—Adjustment to and Co-operation With Them Is Success.

WRITTEN FOR THE GEORGIAN BY REV. DR. JOHN E. WHITE

OFF on the "band wagon of the universe." This exhortation of an astroscopic moralist writer about the music of the spheres and the rhythmic sympathy between men and the stars sounds farfetched and impossible.

The will of the higher powers presents itself and he mounts upon it. The movement of a triumphant purpose which can not fall before as a life at his and he steps out, not conquered, but conquering, to be borne away.

The politician looking for the "band wagon" becomes the statesman when he drops his selfishness and becomes a serious student of the inevitable in democracy.

A COUNTRY DANCE

By WILLIAM F. KIRK. It was held in a ball neither ding nor grand, And the various details for weeks had been planned.