POLICE HUNT PRINCIPALS IN EXPOSE

Search Records of Guests for the Leaders of System Named by Girl Victim.

A general roundup of hotel registers by detectives for the identification of notorious men and women added the latest sensation to the vice investigation instituted following the startling disclosure of Hattie Smith the pretty 17-year-old girl, who claims to be the victim of the "system."

The first move was made Tuesday morning when the manager of the Cumberland Hotel was subpoenaed to appear in Police Court with his register that afternoon. The register will be examined by the Smith girl who she claims frequent the hotel.

Detectives say they will examine every hotel register appearing in this latest expose to identify the names of the parties involved. In each case the register will be searched carefully and the name of every person noted as to character and general reputation.

Get Evidence for Court.

Such evidence as may be found will be presented before Recorder Broyles, together with the case which is made out against hotel managers and other parties.

Two other cases in connection with the investigation into the Cumberland Hotel scandal will be made out Tuesday afternoon, according to information at police headquarters.

The Smith girl has not only laid bare to the police every detail of the "system" but she has told the whole story of her own misfortune.

Tuesday morning she was visited by her father, to whom she told every thing—how she, disaffected, left home last Wednesday; how she went to a identify the names of the parties involved in the case.

GIRL IN CLUB SHOOTING FREED

Thompson, Man in Case, Bound Over for Carrying Concealed Weapon.

A war of extermination upon the Atlanta "locker club" that are violating the law will be declared by Recorder Nath Broyles Tuesday afternoon at the locality into the mysterious shooting at the Owl Club last Friday night, when Captain A. C. Thompson, County Sheriff, was wounded by his companion, Mrs. Lucy Ballou, of 18 Lynch Street.

Recorder Broyles, called upon by the police department to make a right investigation of the conditions at the Owl Club after duty to Broyles had admitted that he did not have his own private locker at the club.

The inquiry into the shooting mystery was unproductive of sensational. Captain Thompson and his young woman companion, Mrs. Ballou, both asserted that the discharge of the revolver was accidental and was unprovoked by a quarrel.

Wanda, is Exonerated.

The case against Mrs. Ballou was dismissed, Thompson was bound over under $100 bond for the charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Recorder Broyles, however, took occasion to severely rebuke Harry Latham, court deputy for his part in the apparent attempt to keep the whole case secret from the police.

The Recorder asked Latham why he had tried to hide the matter from the police and why he had not suggested to Thompson, whom he wished to protect.

Broyles said that the idea of an officer's duty, exclaimed Recorder Broyles. "If all of the officers thought like their sole duty to protect other officers in their wrong-doing, we would have a badly reformed system."

Recorder is Aroused.

The Recorder's attack on the locker club system came when he had Thompson on the stand. He told Thompson with questions as to the conditions under which the Owl Club operated at the club. Attorney George P. Whitman representing Thompson, and W. M. Smith, representing Mrs. Ballou, objected on the ground that the questions were irrelevant.

"It is making no sense in the law to make it a crime to have a locker in the clubhouse," said the Recorder. "If there are violations of the law, I will investigate the club, and see if the members have private lockers as required by law and their personal stock of liquor."

Chief Broyles said after the trial of Mrs. Ballou and Thompson that he would make the investigation. He indicated that he could not investigate the Owl Club without investigating the locker club crusade was in imminent prospect.

The Fifty Million Yellow Menace

Do You Think It Is Necessary to Plan NOW Against the Invasion of the Brown Men of Japan?

Copyright, 1912. Marvellous are the Japanese, wonderful their power and facility in learning.

In a generation they have changed from a nation of ignorant nobles, depending upon their fighting men—the Samurai, or two-sword men—into modern, intelligent beings, drillers of armies and builders of navies, as big, as powerful, and MORE EFFICIENT THAN THOSE OF THE WHITE MEN IN MANY RESPECTS.

Nature's power only kept the masses of the people fixed within their borders. Mountains and rivers alone suffice to keep back the moving herds. When population became too dense, and the great crowd of Tartars, Mongolians, and other Asiatics started on weary marches, hunger, disease and battle killed them.

There could have been no thought a few years ago of the Japanese crossing the great Pacific Ocean to this continent.

And to-day, in the minds of intelligent Americans, THAT VERY POSSIBILITY, THAT PROBABILITY, SHOULD BE THE FIRST AND CONSTANT THOUGHT.

The Japanese have changed from men with little canoes, unable to navigate out of the sight of land, into a people that are building torpedo boats swift as express trains, battleships the biggest in the world, AND FLYING MACHINES THAT WITHIN THE LIVES OF THOSE NOW LIVING WILL CARRY MEN AND ARMS ACROSS ANY OCEAN.

We wish that every man in this country, those who make laws, and especially such men as Mr. Wilson and Mr. Bryan, who encourage Japanese ambition and arrogance, JAPANESE AMBITION TO OWN AND CONTROL THIS COUNTRY—we wish that they could read a few pages of a small pamphlet prepared by A. W. Thomas, a pamphlet of facts.

When we are told that the Japanese "do not want to come to America," that there is no reason why they should come, or when it is alleged that America discriminates against the poor yellow man as other countries do not, have at your finger tips a few facts.

The United States, in the first place, has been more gentle, more considerate in its treatment of the Japanese, Chinese and other Asiatics THAN ANY OF THE COLONIES OWNED BY GREAT BRITAIN.

The English call themselves the friends of Japan, and they have an alliance with Japan, offensive and defensive.

And yet the English Government, that England whose newspapers criticize American action, has been more determined in exclusion of the Japanese than any other nation. And the treaty between England and Japan is largely based upon England's desire to be upon good terms with Japan IN ORDER TO BE ABLE TO KEEP THE JAPANESE OUT OF THE ENGLISH COLONIES, AND THUS AVOID LOSING THOSE COLONIES.

What is Japan? It is a country of intelligent, determined men and women—ambitious, vain of their power and reckless of life.

The whole of Japan is only equal to two-thirds of the State of California. And more than half of Japan is worthless for the purpose of raising food.

There are in Japan FIFTY MILLIONS of human beings. Think what that means.

And in Japan the birth rate exceeds the death rate vastly. Every year the number of Japanese born is seven hundred thousand greater than the number of those that die.

What is to become of those seven hundred thousand surplus Japanese yearly?

We do not know, BUT WE DO KNOW THAT THEY SHALL NOT COME HERE TO SPREAD NORTH AND SOUTH AND EAST, AND MAKE THIS NORTHERN COUNTRY THE BREEDING GROUND AND THE BREEDING GROUND OF AN ASIATIC RACE.

Civilization has always traveled around this world—as long as we have known history—from the East to the West. From Asia to Greece, from Greece to Rome, from Rome to Spain and France, from France to England, from England to the United States, from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The people of this country do not intend that the thing shall be reversed, or that power and conquest shall come eastward across the Pacific Ocean from Japan to America.

Should there be any continuing of the movement of conquest, in the future as in the past it will still be westward from the western coast of California, west across the Pacific, toward Asia—and that already has been done and begun in Hawaii and in the Philippines.

Think of the temptation that is held out to those fifty millions of Japanese crowded together when they look upon the coast of California.

The three great States of Washington, Oregon and California have a population of only nine people to the square mile, and IN JAPAN THE POPULATION AVERAGES THREE HUNDRED AND THIRTY TO THE SQUARE MILE.

Do we need wonder that the Japanese, fifty millions of them packed in a small territory, the greater part of it arid and worthless, should be eager and determined if possible to overflow and come into the land of promise and wealth, AND OF THE WHITE MAN?

Theorists may say what they please, and sentimentalists may talk as they please.

The white people of the United States are determined that the thousands of square miles on our Pacific Coast, and every other square mile of this continent, SHALL BE PEOPLED IN TIME BY WHITES—AND MEANWHILE THE YELLOW AND THE BROWN RACE SHALL STAY OUT.

The fight which the Americans must carry on now, the fight to keep the Asiatics from coming eastward across the Pacific to this land, is the fight that the plucky men of Hungary fighting Frenchmen, the determined Germanic tribes carried on for centuries against the Asiatic invasion moving westward.

Baby's Lessons in Evolution of Progress in the Great Step of Life.

Child Begins as Quadruped and Its Acquired Erect Attitude Reveals Its Passage from the Animal Stage

By GARRETT P. SERVISS.

YOUR baby is a quadruped! Have you noticed that? It is no more able to stand erect without the aid of its hands than a monkey is. It goes on all fours.

Upon that simple fact you may build up the whole case of evolution, which some persons find as difficult to comprehend.

If you doubt that the earliest human forms resembled those of the apes and monkey, who had the same common ancestor with us, you can get rid of that doubt by studying the attitudes of your baby, and the changes that take place in its bones and muscles as it gradually acquires the ability to stand and to walk freely about upon its feet.

One of the strangest things and one of the most illuminating that science has discovered is the fact that animals of all kinds, including man, exhibit, during their individual development, beginning from the earliest germ of physical life, the principal stage of evolution that their race has passed through in its slow rise through the various orders of being.

Many of the ancestral peculiarities that were possessed by their remote predecessors show up at the start of their existence, but disappear, one by one, as they approach the adult, or full-grown form, that characterizes them at present.

If you will look into the works of Huxley, Haeckel, Stenhook and others who have studied and illustrated the development of the form of man, you will be astonished by the similarity between the embryo (from Greek words meaning "in the bud") of a human being and that of a lower animal, and you will be yet more astonished to see how this likeness is maintained by successive steps, as the human form emerges and the animal characteristics drop away.

To fully understand the arguments based upon these scientific investigations you must have considerable knowledge of anatomy and physiology. But, if you will study, without any special scientific knowledge, the daily development of your baby, you will comprehend evolution practically just as well as if you had gone through a course of study in biology. And, perhaps, your conviction of the truth will be all the stronger.

The baby begins as a quadruped, taking the attitude of its comparatively remote animal ancestor, who could not walk erect because their hip joints (as is still the case with monkeys) were so placed that the center of gravity of the whole body was ahead of them. The baby still retains this awkward ("monkey" or "monkey-like") characteristic after it has otherwise become a miniature man or woman.

But, very rapidly, a change manifests itself. As the baby grows the curvature of its spine alters in such a way as to bring the center of gravity of the body not only over the line of the hip joints, but even a little back of it. This causes, as you will notice, a tendency of the child, when it first begins to hold itself erect, to totter and fall backward. But a monkey never undergoes the change in the form of the spine which transforms a quadruped into a biped, it can not fall backward even when, with the aid of its forefeet, or hands, it sets itself into a partially erect attitude. Its center of gravity remaining in front of the hip line, it always comes down face forward.

In the case of the baby nature provides for the backward falling tendency by the development of bands of powerful muscles on the front of the hip joints, which enable the human being to hold himself in balance when he is standing upright, and which no other animal possesses. Nothing is more interesting than to watch a child gradually acquiring control of these muscles. When that control is acquired, it runs, jumps and rejoices in the possession of the most universally effective bodily machine that evolution has yet developed on our globe. Then, at last, the last monkey characteristic has disappeared.

Some people seem to resent the idea that the human form takes its rise by regular variations and graduations out of more animal shapes, and, for sentimental reasons, persist in rejecting it. But, if they considered the process of evolution is the strongest possible argument for the existence of some kind of "divinity" in man, because it shows that, without violating the laws of nature, he has been enabled to reach the position which seems to place him, in some respects, above nature.

The Corn Law

By REV. THOMAS B. GREGORY.

SIXTY-FOUR years ago the plain people of Great Britain scored one of the greatest triumphs of the age—the passage through Parliament of the act known as the "Corn Law."

The campaign leading up to this "famous victory" was one of the most wonderful in the history of the platform. If the meetings were never seen before and have never been seen since, meetings of fifty, seventy-five, a hundred thousand people, worked up to the highest pitch of interest, an interest that came home to men's business and became in a most direct, practical and pathetic fashion, such subscriptions—as much as 50,000 pounds being raised at a single meeting. The great fund of 1841, aggregating 250,000 pounds ($1,250,000), was raised like lightning.

Many of the chairman and speakers were what they call "common laborers," but they possessed uncommon ideas and uncommon ability in expressing those ideas, and they shook old England up as she had never been before.

Crusaders, and never was a great and noble propagandist blessed with a more perfect victory. The "intercessors" fought the league tooth and nail, with fair means and foul, and the league fought back.

At last the great day came—the "famous victory" when the Lords read the bill for the third time and caused it—passed it because of the irrepressible pressure that was brought to bear upon them by the plain people. By the provisions of the bill all grain was admitted into the country practically free, and the poor man's bread was no longer in jeopardy.

The mighty spirit of the league was, of course, Richard Cobden, the "international man," without whose genius, fire and perseverance the Corn Law bill would never have won out. For seven years, from the foundation of the league to the accomplishment of its purpose, he worked incessantly by his profuse self-sacrifice, and everywhere storming men's hearts by his profound earnestness, and winning their reason by his cool unanswerable logic.

HOUSE STIRRED BY SLAP AT WOMEN

Lower Body Will Take Up Resolution Giving Women That Chamber for Meeting.

Contrary to general expectation, the Senate made no effort to take from the table today the resolution of Mr. H. of the thirty-fifth, permitting the use of the House chamber tomorrow and Thursday nights to the Georgia Woman Suffrage Association. This means that the resolution now pending in the House, permitting the women to use the Hall of Representatives instead will be taken up for action tomorrow, and a lively time is anticipated.

Representative John W. Smith, of Putnam, who offered the House resolution Monday, had intended calling it up for action to-day, but he learned that a move might be made in the Senate to take up the twice-rejected resolution and put it on its passage. Mr. Smith purposely refrained from raising the matter in the House.

Smith to Push Measure. "I had heard," said Representative Smith, "that the Senate might reconsider its action, and I wished to avoid the possibility of making even a seeming issue with that body. However, I shall call up my resolution tomorrow and vigorously urge its passage."

"As it stands now, I do not wish my resolution to be considered as a slap at the Senate, but I think the women of Georgia should be permitted to use one hall of the Legislature, particularly as we have permitted their use in the past in all sorts of political organizations, including unions."

The Woman Suffrage Association meets Wednesday, and I can not hold my resolution farther. Many members of the House and numerous members of the Senate seem to think that a mistake has been made in withholding from the women permission to use one of the halls, and, anyway, I, for one, wish to see no record so coming in favor of extending this courtesy to them."

Members Are Bitter. There are many members of both sides who feel keenly the impending difference of recorded opinion between the Senate and the House that will be spread upon the journals in the event the House vote to permit the use of its Hall to the suffragists.

Senator Covert would be thought in view of the fact that the House purposely deferred action today in order that the Senate might reconsider its action of Monday. If it carried, that the Senate could vote against the House and still permit the use of its hall to the suffragists.

"I do not think the grant of the use of the hall to the suffragists will be used entirely for the purposes of the women. The Senate will, in any way have committed itself to the cause of woman suffrage, and I might say that it would have committed itself to the cause of woman suffrage by permitting its use to a full House of Representatives."

House Not to Hear It. Nevertheless, now that the Senate has let us its last opportunity to forestall any action on the part of the House, there are very many members of the

WATER FAMINE THREATENS AS PUMP FAILS

ALL POLICIES ON PAINTER'S LIFE NOT PAID

Breaking of Atlanta's Biggest Machine Forces Double Work on Smaller Ones.

First work by employees of the City Waterworks Department in all that stands between Atlanta and a water shortage. The 10,000-gallon pump at the river station broke down Tuesday, leaving only a 30,000-gallon pumping capacity. This is the daily demand for the city. Should one of the smaller pumps break—and one of them has collapsed several times during the past year—Atlanta's only salvation from a water famine would be the $600,000 gallons stored up in the reservoir at the Hemphill station.

The broken pump in the Frank P. Rice, which has given considerable trouble. One of the cylinders broke cracked, and anticipating a break new cylinders were ordered. Tuesday the cylinder head fell apart. Mayor Woodward and Zede Smith, general manager of the waterworks, went out to look over the plant Tuesday.

letter body in favor of going right through with the completion of the record, thereby putting the House exactly opposite to the Senate in its opinion of extending to the women the same discount as to the women of Georgia.

When the matter comes up for action tomorrow, there likely will be some lively debate in the House, but the impression is gaining ground that the suffragists will meet Wednesday night in the capital.

As usual to Back Falls. It is understood that an error was quickly made in the House, when the Georgia suffrage bill, which was introduced in the Senate chamber in the afternoon, was amended to take a step that might be construed by the House as an attempt to take a step that he should have taken. Members admitted that they had not intended to consider it as a gratuitous blotting at the Senate, but they just happened to do so.

Delegation of Atlanta Is Expected to Visit. A delegation of Atlanta is expected to visit the Legislature in the afternoon of the latter day before they adjourn.

Suffragists Urge Reform Measures.

Georgia suffragists, who convene in Atlanta Wednesday, have addressed letters to every member of the Legislature imploring certain bills relating to social and economic conditions. The letters are written on the report of the committee on legislation composed of Mrs. Amelia Woodall, Mrs. Mary L. McCallister, Mrs. Alice C. Daniel, Mrs. J. E. Gilchrist, Mrs. M. T. McWhorter, Miss Louise C. Smith and Miss Katherine Smith.

Child labor, compulsory education, limiting the sale of alcohol, with a view to the woman's lawyer bill, indeterminate sentences and the prohibition system are issues covered in the letters. The letters will be read at the convention of the suffragists.

The treatment of the two-day convention of the suffrage association will be held in Atlanta, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Trinity Avenue. Mrs. Walter H. Hill, secretary, will be in charge of the convention.

GRANTS RIGHT TO DEMAND LEE'S FREEDOM

Negro's Counsel Secures Chance to Argue for Habeas Corpus Writ Wednesday.

Attorney C. J. Graham, of the firm of Graham & Campbell, went to the home of Judge W. D. Smith Tuesday afternoon to obtain the court's signature to an application for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of New Lee, Negro night watchman of Mr. Frank Ketchum, who was killed by a National Police Officer prior to the killing of Mary Phagan.

Judge Smith said he would sign the application and set Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock for a hearing on the writ. The hearing will be held in Judge Bill's court. Mr. Graham announced that he would ask the court to make a writ of habeas corpus for New Lee out of the Tower, where he has been confined since April 17, first as a suspect in the Mary Phagan murder case and later as a material witness. He said he had advised Lee's attorney not to take the action, as the negro was regarded as an important witness in making a complete chain of evidence against his attorneys.

The plan of Judge Conley and Frank Graham may meet an insurmountable obstacle when it comes to getting the permission of Frank's attorney. The law allows an indicted man to testify or to refuse to testify, but he is not a witness at any time, but he has placed himself under the protection of his lawyers and the matter is entirely in their hands.

Attorney Hines is out of town, but Robert Arnold, associated with Mr. Hines, is in the city. He was asked to appear in the habeas corpus hearing and that he would not say what the attitude of the defense would be.

The settlement of the new Grand Jury in the Phagan mystery with a verdict of homicide, jury also was a most interesting event in that the defense will be called upon to show that it is against Conley.

Race Guards His Evidence. Lee's counsel for the habeas corpus has stated that Lee had told a dramatic story on the witness stand, and that he was a suspicious circumstance that pointed to the guilt of Conley, but he has not fully explained the nature of the score of a Madison in his possession which was said to have been a possession of a not about the negro.

Grand Jury to Judge Conley. Attorney Hines is a member of the grand jury department, probably will be asked to examine the evidence for an impartial determination of Lee's story. He is expected to take the action.

The unwritten law, invoked in her aid by Attorney W. S. Coburn, failed to obtain the acquittal of Mrs. Cora Lanier Lee, the pretty young woman charged with whipping T. D. Thompson, in police court Tuesday afternoon. Recorder Brown has her $1025.

Alleged Coburn's plea that Mrs. Lee had been free by the unwritten law that permits a woman to protect her honor and character, came after Mrs. Lee had told a dramatic story on the witness stand. She said she whipped Thompson because it seemed the only way she could evade herself for alleged slanderous remarks made by Thompson. "It had not been for my little boy I would not have done it."

In his plea for the acquittal of his client, Attorney Coburn declared that a woman's character is all she has, and she should not be punished for defending it.

"I am sorry I can not tell Mrs. Lee's story, but I have heard her story, and she has vindicated the law. It is not possible for the unwritten law to be applied in the present case. She should have recorded the facts to clear her name."

The state attorney, Thompson was dismissed. Mrs. Lee is the wife of Judge Lee, of the Central of Georgia railroad, but her name has been mentioned in the past.

WOMAN EXPECTS VINDICATION OF LASHING MAN

Mrs. Cora Lee Roterates She Was Slendered and Horsewhipping Was Only Redress.

Mrs. Cora Lee Roterates, a pretty young woman who applied the lash to T. D. Thompson, of the Washington Street, because, she asserts, he made slanderous remarks about her, finally expects to be vindicated when she is tried in Police Court Tuesday afternoon on charges of disorderly conduct.

Thompson, the man she whipped, will be tried at the same time on similar charges.

Mrs. Lee desires a horsewhipping was the only way she could exact reparation.

"I don't think anyone can blame me for whipping a man like that," she said. "I have no one to protect me, and I had to take care of myself. I did not want to hit him severely, because I was afraid people would place a wrong conception on it when the trouble was tried in police court. No I did what I thought was right, and I would have been whipping him any day if he had not interfered with me. The things that he said about me would drive any good woman to distraction, and I had to do something to stand it no longer."

Mrs. Lee is the wife of J. Lee, of Central of Georgia Railroad, but has been separated from her husband for two months. Several months ago she was separated from her husband, and she is now living with her mother, Mrs. J. W. Smith, of the Washington Street. STATE SURE LEE WILL NOT BE RELEASED

Dorsey Confident That Move, Which May Confront Frank With Conley, Is Futile.

Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey said Tuesday he was confident the State would be able to defeat any attempt to get Newt Lee out of the Tower, where he has been confined since April 27, first as a suspect in the Harry Thurston case, and later as a material witness.

No petition was filed in behalf of Lee Tuesday afternoon. There was no judge before whom the petition could be brought, in the instance of Lee, although in rare instances writs of habeas corpus are filed with the ordinary of the courts.

CABIN CREEK MINE WAR RENEWED

Five Thousand Shots Fired From Ambush Into Camp of Non- Union Workers.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 8.—Fighting such as has made life and property in the Cabin-Creek coal field unsafe for more than a year, broke out anew here last night when 150 strikers hidden in the thick wooded hillsides, opened fire with rifles upon the mining camp of the Cabin-Creek Consolidated Coal Company at Ohley, on Cabin Creek. The firing started about 8 o'clock, when some of the miners who refused to obey the strike call were leaving the mine. Two minutes, whose names were given out, are reported missing by Superintendent Harry Davis. Sheriff Spencer Hill was notified of the shooting and he held a hurried conference with Governor Hatfield, 6,000 Shots Fired.

The sheriff was advised to consult with Judge Henry K. Black, of the Intermediate Court, and Judge Samuel D. Littlepage, of the Kanawha Circuit Court, since it is the duty of those officers under the law to attempt to handle the situation before calling upon the Governor for assistance. It is estimated that nearly 5,000 shots were fired from the hillsides. Many of the bullets were directed at the power plant, and it is especially damaged.

This morning the strikers turned upon a heavy mine mule at the mouth of the mine and started it down the long slope toward the tipple house. Before reaching the tipple the mule was struck by a bullet in the class of a mule which had been shot down on the tramway.

The Ohley mining camp is at the mercy of the victors, as the company has but little coal. Workmen in reach, Sheriff Hill is expected to send a posse to their relief.

Ohley is located between Eshelby and Miami, both of which have large strikers' camps.

At various points along Cabin-Creek scattering shots were fired from the hills this morning, but no casualties are reported.

ATTITUDE OF SUFFRAGISTS DEFENSE SECRET

Keeps Him From Facing Ac- cuser if They Wish.

That Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the National Pencil Factory, and James Conley, Frank's accuser in the Harry Thayer murder mystery, would be brought face to face Tuesday was the strong possibility presented by the contemplated application for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of New Leo, negro night watchman at the factory.

The plan of bringing Conley and Frank together may meet an insurmountable obstacle when it comes to getting the permission of Frank's attorneys. The law allows an indicted man to testify or to refuse to testify.

Arnold is non-committal. Attorney Hines is out of town, but Ruppen Arnold, associated with Mr. Frank in the defense, said Tuesday that he thought he had been taken to the possibility that Frank would be asked to appear in the habeas corpus hearing that, therefore, he could not say what the attitude of the defense would be.

Leo's attorney said he would ask that both Conley and Frank be sworn witnesses to show that neither of them could testify that Leo had anything to do with the murder, although he will not explain the reasons for his position.

Local suffragists confidently expect to be given permission either by the Senate or the House to-day to use one hall or the other two nights during the big convention of the Georgia Woman Suffrage Association, which begins in Atlanta to-morrow.

There are two resolutions now pending in the Legislature, one in the Senate and the other in the House. The Senate resolution has been, in effect, rejected twice, but it never has been killed, and an attempt will be made to take it from the table to-day and pass it.

The resolution in the House was introduced Monday, but under the rules went over one day before being acted upon, and is in order for disposition to-day.

Depends on Senate. If the Senate passes the resolution now before it, the House resolution will not be acted upon at all. If the Senate fails to adopt its resolution to-day, however, the House resolution will be called up and probably passed.

There is a disposition in the House not to pass the House resolution if the Senate desires to reconsider its former action in burning down the suffragists. The House does not care if the position recently in reputation of a Senate act.

CLOSING OF BANK WITH LOSSES 40 MILLIONS

One of the Oldest Institutions in Pittsburg Ordered by U. S. Comptroller to Suspend.

PITTSBURG, July 7.—The First National Bank of Pittsburg, one of the city's oldest banking institutions, closed its doors today by direction of the Acting Comptroller of the Currency.

The Pittsburg Clearing House had a special meeting last night to consider the impending failure and today another conference was held.

Hundreds of depositors, many of them foreigners employed in the great steel mills, crowded the bank today by a squad of police kept every one moving.

THE FIFTY MILLION YELLOW MENACE

Marvelous are the Japanese, wonderful their power and facility in learning.

In a generation they have changed from a nation of ignorant nobles, depending upon their fighting men—the Samurai, or two-sword men—into modern, intelligent beings, drillers of armies and builders of navies, as big, as powerful, and MORE EFFICIENT THAN THOSE OF THE WHITE MEN IN MANY RESPECTS.

Nature's power only kept the masses of the people fixed within their borders. Mountains and rivers alone sufficed to keep back the moving hordes. When population became too dense, and the great crowd of Tartars, Mongolians, and other Asiatics started on weary marches, hunger, disease and battle killed them.

There could have been no thought a few years ago of the Japanese crossing the great Pacific Ocean to this continent.

And to-day, in the minds of intelligent Americans, THAT VERY POSSIBILITY, THAT PROBABILITY, SHOULD BE THE FIRST AND CONSTANT THOUGHT.

The Japanese have changed from men with little canoes, unable to navigate out of the sight of land, into a people that are building torpedo boats swift as express trains, battleships the biggest in the world, AND FLYING MACHINES THAT WITHIN THE LIVES OF THOSE NOW LIVING WILL CARRY MEN AND ARMS ACROSS ANY OCEAN.

We wish that every man in this country, those who make laws, and especially such men as Mr. Wilson and Mr. Bryan, who encourage Japanese ambition and arrogance, JAPANESE AMBITION TO OWN AND CONTROL THIS COUNTRY—we wish that they could read a few pages of a small pamphlet prepared by A. W. Thomas, a pamphlet of facts.

When we are told that the Japanese "do not want to come to America," that there is no reason why they should come, or when it is alleged that America discriminates against the poor yellow man as other countries do not, have at your finger tips a few facts.

The United States, in the first place, has been more gentle, more considerate in its treatment of the Japanese, Chinese and other Asiatics THAN ANY OF THE COLONIES OWNED BY GREAT BRITAIN.

The English call themselves the friends of Japan, and they have an alliance with Japan, offensive and defensive.

And yet the English Government, that England whose newspapers criticize American action, has been more determined in exclusion of the Japanese than any other nation. And the treaty between England and Japan is largely based upon England's desire to be upon good terms with Japan IN ORDER TO BE ABLE TO KEEP THE JAPANESE OUT OF THE ENGLISH COLONIES, AND THUS AVOID LOSING THOSE COLONIES.

What is Japan?

It is a country of intelligent, determined men and women—ambitious, vain of their power and reckless of life.

The whole of Japan is only equal to two-thirds of the State of California. And more than half of Japan is worthless for the purpose of raising food.

There are in Japan FIFTY MILLIONS of human beings. Think what that means.

And in Japan the birth rate exceeds the death rate vastly.

Every year the number of Japanese born is seven hundred thousand greater than the number of those that die.

What is to become of those seven hundred thousand surplus Japanese yearly?

We don't know, BUT WE DO KNOW THAT THEY SHALL NOT COME HERE TO SPREAD NORTH AND SOUTH AND EAST, AND MAKE THIS NORTHERN COUNTRY THE SPREADING GROUND AND THE BREEDING GROUND OF AN ASIATIC RACE.

Civilization has always traveled around this world—as long as we have known history—from the East to the West.

From Asia to Greece, from Greece to Rome, from Rome to Spain and France, from France to England, from England to the United States, from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The people of this country do not intend that the thing shall be reversed, or that power and conquest shall come eastward across the Pacific Ocean from Japan to America.

Should there be any continuing of the movement of conquest, in the future as in the past it will still be westward from the western coast of California, west across the Pacific, toward Asia—and that already has been done and begun in Hawaii and in the Philippines.

Think of the temptation that is held out to those fifty millions of Japanese crowded together when they look upon the coast of California.

The three great States of Washington, Oregon and California have a population of only nine people to the square mile, and IN JAPAN THE POPULATION AVERAGES THREE HUNDRED AND THIRTY TO THE SQUARE MILE.

Do we need wonder that the Japanese, fifty millions of them packed in a small territory, the greater part of it arid and worthless, should be eager and determined if possible to overflow and come into the land of promise and wealth, AND OF THE WHITE MAN?

Theorists may say what they please, and sentimentalists may talk as they please.

The white people of the United States are determined that the thousands of square miles on our Pacific Coast, and every other square mile of this continent, SHALL BE PEOPLED IN TIME BY WHITES—AND MEANWHILE THE YELLOW AND THE BROWN RACE SHALL STAY OUT.

The fight which the Americans must carry on now, the fight to keep the Asiatics from coming eastward across the Pacific to this land, is the fight that the plucky men of Hungary, the fighting Frenchman, the determined Germanic tribes carried on for centuries against the Asiatic invasion moving westward.

WHAT RACE TRACK GAMBLING DID FOR ONE MAN

A reader asks us to print a brief account of one man's gambling experience, published in a newspaper at El Paso, Texas.

He writes: "The story is one of the most direct appeals on the subject I have ever read, and if presented with the forcible coloring you are prepared to give it, it will undoubtedly 'go home' to those who are just starting to feel what the man it tells about must have felt when he still had the opportunity of honorably quitting the game."

We print the story exactly as the El Paso newspaper printed it—no "coloring" is needed.

We say once more to the young men tempted by gambling, OLD STORY OF RUIN IN THE RACING GAME.

The Man Who Followed It, Precariously and Otherwise, for Years, and His Bad Ending.

It is the old story of ruin from the racing game. He drifted to El Paso when the Juarez track was opened for the first time. Then he claimed to be representing a string of Eastern papers as racing correspondent. But this was only for the purpose of obtaining a badge and admission to the press box. That first season was a hard one for the followers of the game, and he finally started issuing racing results in the form of posters to be hung in saloons and restaurants and cigar stores at the close of the day's racing. This made him a living and left him a little margin to play on the ponies, and that was all life held for him. In summer, when the racing plant in Juarez was closed, he would drift from place to place, where short races were held, and he succeeded in getting a living in some manner unknown to his friends.

One rainy Sunday morning, in a little second-class restaurant, he told the story of his downfall. It is the cut-and-dried story of the effect of racing on young men. But it was true as he told it. Once he had been the confidential man and assistant manager of a big book-making and stationery house in Buffalo. He was earning a good salary with the promise of a place in the firm soon. Then the company decided and to fathers and mothers careless about their sons' associations:

GAMBLING IS THE WORST, MOST DANGEROUS VICE IN CIVILIZATION.

It is worse than drink, for it destroys honor, as well as health.

Gambling long maintained will make any man a thief or a worse criminal.

There is NO honorable professional gambler, as there is no honorable professional burglar.

Gambling leads to sorrow, poverty, disgrace and crime.

Here is the plain story of one gambler, published in the Texas newspaper:

to open a branch plant in Chicago to supply the bank and whiskey trade. The young man was selected as the branch manager because of his ability. He went to Chicago and was doing a big business for the firm and had received a half dozen raises since the branch was opened.

One Saturday afternoon in summer he spent his half holiday at the track where the horses were running. He laid a bet for Sam. He won and wagered another. This likewise doubled his money, and he plumed. The term had entered his blood, and he started a consistent policy of race track gambling.

The inevitable happened and he lost his position. Naturally, he turned to the easy money game which had cost him his job. He became a bookmaker, a sheet writer and a gambler. He followed the game to Florida when it was outlawed in Illinois. From there he went from place to place, finally landing in El Paso. By that time he was middle-aged and there were streaks of gray in his hair. When the races closed last spring he was neither physically nor financially able to follow the crowd to Lubbock.

He remained here and lived the best he could. His brooding resulted in his making $1,000,000 and bets on favorites in races that had been run. Wednesday night he was detained by the police on a charge of being insane. His brood. His downfall had been too much for his mind, and it had failed him. He is now in the county jail, where he will be held until he is examined by an insanity board.
