SAYSWOMEN OVERHEARD CONWILEY CONFESS

Attorney Leavitt Declares Tale That Negro Admitted Killing Girl Will Stand Test.

That several negro women overheard Jim Conwiley when he ran the insurance agent, Mincey, away with the alleged statement that he had just killed a girl and didn't want to kill any one else, and that the affidavits from the women are in the hands of the attorney for the defense, was stated Saturday by Attorney J. H. Leavitt, who aided in obtaining the sensational affidavits from Mincey.

Attorney Leavitt defended the character of the man who made the affidavit and denied emphatically that Mincey ever asked about the money he would receive as a witness, except whether his railroad fare would be paid if he were out of the city.

"I am an attorney for the American Insurance Company and know its manager, J. S. Drake, very well," said Leavitt. "He sought to discredit the affidavits very likely because Mincey left his employ to get a better position and he had to do some of the outside work. Mincey is a college graduate and is well known in Atlanta. It will be utterly impossible to shake his evidence.

"I am not employed to represent Frank and aided in getting this affidavit purely because it happened to stumble on to the information. Before I submitted it to Mr. Robert Frank's attorney, I spent several days investigating the character of the man, questioning the women in the neighborhood and generally verifying the facts. When I turned it over to him I was convinced of its absolute truth and that it would stand the test."

Habeas Corpus Fight Falls.
Habeas corpus proceedings to release Ned Lee collapsed in the court of Judge Ellis Saturday morning.

By agreement, Edward L. Chappell, representing Lee, withdrew his application for a habeas corpus. Solicitor Drogan promised to present a bill against Lee as a suspect in the Phagan murder case, with the expectation that a "no bill" would be returned. This appeared satisfactory to the attorneys for Lee, as well as to the State.

Two Large Receptacles at Sides Feature of New Fad From Paris—Fine for Suffragettes.

Just what women suffragettes should have pockets in their skirts is a mystery. Still they've got 'em, and they make no secret of the fact.

Strange to say, this new fad originated in Paris, where suffragettes are rare. It came to Atlanta via New York, and has found favor here, not only as an instance of the cause, but for convenience sake.

According to Mrs. N. Sprinkle, the New York creator of fashionable goods, who imported the pocket skirt, it is going to be the sensation of the season.

Women and suffragettes especially sought to halt the advent of the new skirt with particular joy, she declared, because of the pockets. There are two of them, one on each side. And they are not merely little affairs, the pockets that used to be put in women's dresses in the ancient days before fashion frowned on such features of feminine apparel.

In Atlanta a few of them were seen at the recent convention of the Georgia Woman Suffrage Association.

Seeking Crawford Widow With New Warrant

CORONER'S WRIT HELD ILLEGAL

Delay in Hearing Will Mean Woman's Commitment to Jail, Attorney Says.

Following steps upon a decision by Superior Court Justice Pendleton Saturday morning that a warrant signed by the coroner of Carroll County, G. Z. Crawford, a nephew and beneficiary under the $250,000 will of Joshua B. Crawford, went before Justice of the Peace C. H. Girardeau and swore out a second warrant charging the widow, Mary Belle Crawford, with murder.

Constables R. F. Mauldin and W. Rogers went immediately to the home of Mrs. Crawford at West Peachtree and Fourteenth streets, to arrest her and take her before Justice Girardeau for commitment trial.

The first warrant charging Mrs. Crawford with murder was signed by Coroner U. W. Baskin, of Carroll County, who had disinterred the body of Joshua B. Crawford and found evidence of poison. Crawford died in Walton county March 17, 1909.

Hearing May Be Delayed.

The warrant reached Atlanta Friday and Sheriff Mangum notified Mrs. Crawford to appear before Justice of the Peace D. K. Johnson Saturday morning, when a hearing would be held as to the authority of the Sheriff to serve the warrant in Fulton County.

Colonel J. S. James, attorney for the writ, said later that he did not know whether both writs would be ready for the commitment trial, as the prosecution has several material witnesses out of the state.

In the event of delay in the commitment hearing, he said, Justice Girardeau would have no other alternative than to commit Mrs. Crawford to jail.

Arnold Says Exonerated.

Attorney Arnold said Mrs. Crawford would be completely exonerated at the prospective hearing before a justice of the peace. He held the action was nothing more than a move to "force" civil procedure.

"It is not really the Crawford heirs who are fighting me," said Mrs. Crawford, "but the rather distant relatives who were not mentioned in any will. I settled with the real heirs according to the will left by Mr. Crawford's first wife. Every one was satisfied."

I gave Charles Crawford more than he was ever entitled to by the will that was made before I even knew the man I later married. He thanked me for the generosity by later letting the very distant relatives prevail upon him to fight me. He decided then an interest in his share of the property and filed suit. Since then he has fought me. The closer relatives have never been anything but my best friends.

Sheriff Mangum will select the justice court for the hearing instead of the attorneys. It is more than likely it will start in the forenoon, and it is not improbable it will be necessary to conclude Monday.

Widow's Side of Case.

Attorney Arnold, for Mrs. Crawford, issued the following statement Friday afternoon:

"There is nothing whatever new in the recent developments of the Crawford case.

"Four years after Crawford's death Mrs. B. Crawford and his first wife, who are seeking to recover the estate worth perhaps $100,000, from the widow and legatees under Crawford's will, went to Carroll County with their lawyer, J. S. James, and Dr. H. F. Harris, and on some kind of a show-up which we know nothing of persuaded the coroner to subpoena the coroner to examine the body."

Attempt to Reduce Number of Foreclosure Notices Deferred. Committee Report Ignored.

The effort to reform the mortgage law of Georgia so that the mortgage holder would be required before foreclosing to advertise once a week for four weeks instead of for four months prior to the next term of the Superior Court, met with defeat in the House Friday, despite the favorable recommendation of General Judiciary Committee No. 1.

SLAUGHTER CHARGE FOR CONLEY EXPECTED

Speedy Indictment of Negro is Likely Following Publication of Mincey Affidavit.

Mincey was employed until two weeks ago, was seen Friday and was disposed to discredit Mincey's affidavit.

He declared that Mincey was something of a braggart and that on the Monday following the crime had asserted his belief in the guilt of New Lee. When Conley was arrested, said Duke, Mincey's case became just as certain that Conley had committed the crime.

"Mincey was wondering how much money he might make as a witness and seemed more concerned with this phase of the case than with the identity of the murderer," after the fact, Conley Indictment Likely.

The speedy indictment of Jim Conley on the charge of murdering Mary Phagan was the latest development discussed in court circles Friday following the sensational turn given the strangling mystery.

For nearly two months a self-confessed accessory after the fact of the murder of the little factory girl, Conley has been allowed to go without an attempt at bringing an indictment against him. The starting new evidence which indicates most strongly if the credibility of the defense's witness can be established, that Conley was not the accessory after the fact, but the actual principal in the crime, is expected to result in a thorough investigation by the Grand Jury of all the rumors and stories which have been in circulation of the negro's connection with the pencil factory tragedy.

Dorsey Makes No Comment. Bailor Dorsey Friday morning would make no comment on the new evidence.

The detectives openly declared their disbelief in the statements of Mincey. They said that Mincey had related to them the story told in his sensational affidavit, but that they had had an immediate investigation in an attempt to determine if they would have sworn out a warrant charging Conley with the murder.

Denies Police Assertion. Mincey's statement that he did not provide an answer to the detectives, who he had killed a girl, and did not know who had killed her, was declared to be a lie by the police. He had killed a girl, and did not know who had killed her, was declared to be a lie by the police.

LEGISLATOR PROUD OF HIS LIKENESS TO BRYAN

Representative Samuel L. Olive of Richmond is kept himself hard in every nook and corner when speaking.

Representative Samuel L. Olive of Richmond is kept himself hard in every nook and corner when speaking.

He is ingenious in argument, happy in colloquial effect and sense, and altogether well worth listening to when under full steam ahead on the floor of the House.

The gentleman from Richmond is one of the younger members of the House, but has had considerable legislative experience. As a consequence he knows his way around amazingly well. He is popular and influential throughout the State.

Because of the marked facial resemblance to Mr. Bryan, Mr. Olive is known to many as "The Boy Orator of the Savannah" and he rather likes it.

Not only does Mr. Olive look the part of the Peasey Leader, but he acts it in numerous ways, particularly in speaking.

Oliver, admittedly, is the very best orator in the House.

In one way, though, Mr. Olive differs from the Peasey leader, and that is in his attitude toward the people.

He never "thats" come to be entirely like the Peasey leader, and did not want to kill anybody else," Mincey once declared.

"This man Mincey never made money, but he did tell the same story to them that he did tell to the police."

Vice Squad Is Ordered to Increase Activity

DRAGNET FOR 'SLAYERS' IS SET

Arrest of Additional Men Named by Girl Victim of the "Ring"

With rapid-fire developments featuring the day's investigation of the "vice ring" said to exist in Atlanta, Chief of Police Beavers announced at noon that he is accumulating new evidence through which he hopes to bring down the net on the gang. The new evidence, he intimated, is startling, and is expected to result in arrests of several men and women within 24 hours.

The principal developments of the day, through which Chief Beavers is struggling, through which he is accumulating new evidence are as follows:

Oona Rothstein has made a new statement, implicating three more persons in her downfall, and naming half a dozen girls as victims of the ring.

The detective department, following a severe grilling given them by Chief Beavers Friday night, is seeking evidence against the vice ring with renewed vigor.

Two prominent business men, implicated in the welfare of the little Rothstein girl, have entered the case and are aiding Chief Beavers in securing evidence.

Information has come to Chief Beavers of a house where young girls are taken by men and ruined, and then taken to hotels or immoral resorts.

The dragnet has been thrown out for the son of Atlanta's most prominent business man, named by Hattie Smith in her story of immorality at the Cumberland Hotel.

Four persons—Hattie Smith, Mrs. Lola White, Paul Estes and Hoyt Moore—were held for the afternoon of Thursday morning on new charges, following the Smith girl's story of a "vice ring." Estes is charged that he will make a confession, in which he will involve men hitherto unsuspected.

Chief Beavers' Detective.

In his conference with the detective department late Friday afternoon, which was held in Chief Landorf's office behind closed doors, Chief Beavers took the detectives severely to task for their laxity in reporting vice cases. He intimated strongly that the detectives were not doing their duty and not getting results.

A "vice" suspension threat.

"It is as much your duty as it is the duty of any other man on the force," Chief Beavers is said to have told them, "to report the existence of vice. In the future all knowledge gained by detectives as to the existence of immoral resorts must be reported at once to headquarters. If you personally find engaged on some other case and have not time to work the vice case, report it to some one else can investigate and make the case."

Chief Beavers urged the detectives to greater activity in the war against vice, and declared that they would fare the same as unformed men if it was shown that they know of immoral houses and do not report them. They will be promptly suspended, the chief said.

May involve Hattie.

The story of the Wilson girl is fraught with possibilities. Chief Beavers declares she will give a detailed account of her adventures after she meets Oona Rothstein at the White City on July 12. It is understood that she will make a confession of her life before she was married, several months ago, by which she will name several doers and slayers. She has promised Chief Beavers that she will make public the names of those who have been with her and the Rothstein girl during the past two months.

Trainmen in Strike Meeting Hunt Room To Find Dictographs

NEW YORK, July 12.—Nearly 1,000 representatives of the men employed on railroads east of Chicago met here today to determine definitely whether or not 100,000 trainmen shall strike in support of their demand for more money and a reorganization of working conditions.

To keep news of their deliberations from the managers every corner of the meeting hall was searched for hidden dictographs.

It also was to be decided today whether the trainmen would participate in a conference in Washington, at which President Wilson and Secretary of Labor Wilson are to try to establish peace.

Forecasts were made that a strike would be called immediately unless guarantees were given that the first step would be the arbitration of disputes affecting common carriers, it is amended to provide for six instead of three arbitrators.

ENVOY LANE PROTESTS EQUITY

Mexican Government Asserts It Is Attempting to Crush Equity.

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. MEXICO CITY, July 12.—Formal protest was lodged today by the United States Government against the action of the Mexican Government in allowing the Mexican press to stir up anti-American feeling.

Two notes were presented by United States Ambassador H. L. Wilson. At the same time denial was made of the report that United States officials in the harbor at Guaymas used their wireless and searchlights to aid the rebels.

"Those publications have resulted in scattered demonstrations and rioting, although no arrests have been reported. Notices have been posted in the schools here for the children to secure small Japanese flags. These will be carried in a procession of children who will welcome the new Japanese Ambassador upon his arrival."

Jap Concessions Reported.

"Lane is commending her relations with Japan, and it is reported that a special envoy will soon be sent to Tokyo to invite the investment of Japanese capital and rich concessions will be given, it is said.

Following is a translation of the notice posted in the schools:

"The representative of the Japanese Emperor to our Government is about to arrive in this city. The attitude of mutual sympathy and esteem which our people and the people of Japan possess is well known."

"National Unity in Balance."

"We firmly believe that the time has come to tender a public and solemn testimonial of international sympathy now that our national life has been put to a test by the imperialistic ambitions of a strong people."

"Therefore, the students of all the schools are asked to be at the railway station, each carrying a Japanese flag, to receive the Japanese Emperor's representative. The day and hour of the Japanese Ambassador's arrival will be announced later."

A number of American families have made preparations to leave here if further evidence of hostility are shown.

Minister Admits Crisis.

"It is true that the situation is delicate," said Minister of War Blanco. "But the Government feels it can cope with it. Lamentable consequences may be occasioned by the anti-American feeling, but we are trying to kill it."

El Palo, most rabid of the newspapers, today published nearly a full-page picture of Friday's anti-American demonstration by students. On the editorial page the paper said:

"We see in Japan a future ally and defender of our independence, because such an alliance would be dangerous to the United States."

CONFESSION OF 60-LL 4 HOURS

After Gruelling Third Degree, Officials Refuse to Deny or Affirm Negro Confessed.

Habes corpus proceedings to release Newt Lee collapsed in the court of Judge Ellis Saturday morning.

By agreement, Bernard L. Chapell, representing Lee, withdrew his application for a habeas corpus; Solicitor Dorsey promised to present a bill against Lee as a suspect in the Phagan murder case, with the expectation that a "no bill" would be returned. This appeared satisfactory to the attorneys for Lee, as well as to the State.

Luther Z. Roman, Reuben R. Arnold and Herbert J. Mass, of counsel for Frank, were in court to fight against the appearance of Frank as a witness. William M. Smith represented Collier, one of the witnesses subpoenaed.

Judge Conroy, under oath, reading the third degree late Friday afternoon at the hands of Solicitor General Hugh H. Dreyfus and Attorney Frank A. Hooper in an effort to verify or discredit the W. H. Minney affidavit, in which the negro was charged with confiding to the murder of a girl on the afternoon that Mary Phagan met her death.

"The grilling of nearly four hours followed 'The Georgian's' publication of the details of Minney's accusations and was undertaken with the utmost secrecy, an attempt being made to avoid knowledge of the 'sawing' becoming public by taking Conroy to the commissioners' room on the second floor of the police station by a circuitous route.

It was the most severe ordeal through which the negro has passed. The ordeal was kept profound secret both by the Solicitor and Attorney Hooper. Neither would deny the rumor that Conroy had made a complete confession admitting that it was he that killed the little factory girl, nor would they admit the report which arose when it was learned that Solicitor Dorsey apparently was making a confession to the press.

"Dorsey, Hooper and Chief Landorf were present in the Commissioners' room when the 'inquisition' began. After a few minutes Chief Landorf departed and did not return while the questioning was in progress. He was inclined to deny at first that Conroy even was behind the closed doors. But ocular proof had been afforded and the newspaper men hovered about the hallway in the hope that some scrap of information might come out of them.

Policeman Guards Door.

"The hovering tactics received a bad setback when Chief Landorf detailed a policeman to guard the door and keep all speculative persons away.

For an hour Dorsey and Hooper alternated in shooting questions at the negro, apparently without getting anything from him that he had not already told. Then they removed their coats and repeated the grilling. At one point, it seemed Conroy must have wavered in some of his statements or changed some of the testimony he previously had given. Dorsey emerged from the room and got a blotter from Chief Beavers' office. He talks to 'man' there a new statement was being obtained from the negro.

"The questioning was resumed and the Solicitor from a distant vantage point shot the testimony already given by Conroy and compared it with the statements then being made.

Dorsey, Hooper and Conroy were present when the negro was questioned after the manner in which the negro was questioned before. Conroy's statement was obtained from either.

JUDGE HOLDS GOVERNOR'S WARRANT NOT LEGAL

Delay in Hearing Will Mean Women's Commitment to Jail, Attorneys Say.

Following close upon a decision by Superior Court Justice Pendleton Saturday morning that a warrant signed by the Coroner of Carroll County was not enforceable in Fulton County, G. Z. Crawford, a nephew and beneficiary under the $250,000 will of Joshua B. Crawford, went before Justice of the Peace C. H. Girardeau and swore out a second warrant charging the widow, Mary Belle Crawford, with murder.

Constables R. P. Mauldin and W. W. Rogers went immediately to the residence of Mrs. Crawford at W. Peachtree and Fourteenth streets, to arrest her and take her before Justice Girardeau for commitment trial.

The first warrant charging Mrs. Crawford with murder was signed by Coroner C. W. Beakins, of Carroll County, who had disinterred the body of Joshua B. Crawford and found evidence of poisoning. Crawford died in Fulton county March 17, 1910.

Hearing May Be Delayed.

The warrant reached Atlanta Friday morning. Sheriff Meagor notified the Justice of the Peace D. K. Johnson Saturday morning, when a hearing would be held as to the authority of the Sheriff to serve the warrant in Fulton County.

Colonel J. S. James, attorney for the heirs, said later that he did not know whether both sides would be ready for the commitment trial, as the prosecution has several material witnesses out of the State.

In the event of delay in the commitment hearing, he said, Justice Girardeau would be asked to hold as to the authority of the Sheriff to serve the warrant in Fulton County.

Arnold Sees Exonerated.

Attorney Arnold said Mrs. Crawford would be completely exonerated at the prospective hearing before a Justice of the peace. He said the action was nothing more than a move to "force" civil procedure.

"It is not really the Crawford heirs who are fighting me," said Mrs. Crawford, "but the rather distant relatives who were not mentioned in any will, I settled with the real heirs according to the will left by Mr. Crawford's first wife. Every one was satisfied."

"I gave Charlie Crawford more than he was even entitled to by the will that was made before I even knew the man I later married. He thanked me for the generosity by later letting me know that he had stolen the property upon him to fight me. He needed them an interest in his share of the property and had suit. Since then he has fought me. The closer relatives have never been anything but my best friends."

Sheriff Meagor will select the Justice Court for the hearing instead of the attorney. It is more than likely it will start in the forenoon, and it is not improbable it will be necessary to adjourn Monday.

Witnesses of Case.

Attorney Arnold, for Mrs. Crawford, issued the following statement Friday afternoon:

"There is nothing whatever in the case of the Crawford heirs. The four years after Crawford's death some of the collateral kinship were seeking to recover his estate. They were seeking to recover his estate. They were seeking to recover his estate. They were seeking to recover his estate."

$150,000,000 Baby Gets Farm as 'Toy'

NEWPORT, R. I., July 12.—Vincent Walsh McLean, the $150,000,000 baby, has a new plaything which his father, Edward McLean, says is the most valuable of all his toys, the total cost of which would foot up nearly as much as the salary of the President of the United States for a year. The infant is playing in a farm with an Angus goat on it.

With goats, sheep and chickens, and a negro boy whom his father has picked out as a playmate, the young multimillionaire may grow up Democratic.
