'BEAR CAT RAG' IS FROWNED UPON
BY THIS DAINTY ATLANTA DANCER

She appeared in classical poses with Faneline and won local fame.

Successful Operatic Career Is Predicted for Gate City's Premiere Dancer.

Which do you prefer to do—the "bear" or a classical dance?

An Atlanta girl who prefers classical dancing to the more modern rag is rather unusual, yet pretty. Miss Theodora Aline Warfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Warfield, of No. 79 West North Avenue, declares that she can not see why people dance the graceful modern dances, when there are so many other classical dances far more artistic and almost as easy to learn.

That is, they are easy to learn if you have talent.

Miss Warfield was two years old when she began dancing, and always she is evolving new steps. Her dancing is not like Isadora Duncan's or Maude Allan's, or any of the famous modern dancers. It is all her own, and her friends declare it is the prettiest and most graceful possible.

Miss Warfield has appeared on the stage at Atlanta. She was the premiere dancer at the past two performances of the Kirmess, and won great applause. She was presented with a beautiful silver bracelet by the Atlanta Lodge in recognition of their appreciation of her talent. At various private entertainments Miss Warfield has danced also, and has always won the admiration of by the beauty and grace of her dancing.

Every one who has seen her dance has urged that she go on the stage, and her parents intended to present her to the Atlanta Opera. In addition to being a dancer of rare grace and beauty, she has an attractive voice, and it is being cultivated with her dancing.

Two years ago Miss Warfield sang in Atlanta with Charles Parson, and Miss Parson was enthusiastic in her praise. After finishing a course at a school here, Miss Warfield will go to New York to study under a well-known artistic teacher. A wonderful career is predicted for her. There is no doubt that she will add her name to Atlanta's already brilliant Hall of Fame.

Profile of S. Pryor Grade Is Prepared

A profile of the permanent grade of South Pryor street is being prepared by the city engineering department for presentation at the beginning of this street. According to the present plan the street will be widened into a boulevard. The movement for the improvement of South Pryor is the result of action taken by the citizens of the street, and the canvass of property owners within the past few weeks.

ACCUSE BULGARS OF MASSACRE OF 20,000

Plains Near Kavala Strew With Victims—Fear Felt for Safety of Foreigners.

Bulgarian Massacre—July 19.—Twenty thousand Greeks and Mussulmans are reported to have been slaughtered by Bulgarian soldiers at Xanthi, 40 miles northeast of Kavala.

The Bulgarians had retreated surrounded the town and, after bombarding it, set it on fire.

A dispatch arrived here to-day with the information, all communication with Xanthi by wire having been cut off.

Fear is felt for the 70 foreigners in the city.

King to Lead Army

Of Reprisal Into Sofia.

ATHENS, July 19.—A Balkan dispatch states that King Constantine has issued orders to the fleet to lead the army which the Greeks, in co-operation with Serbia and Roumania, will throw into Sofia.

"I intend to go to Sofia in person to avenge the massacre of the Bulgarians," telegraphed the King to Foreign Minister Coronatas.

The Greek army is 42 miles from Sofia, and the Greeks and the Roumanians only 25 miles away.

Minister of War says estimates of 100,000 Greeks have been killed since the war with Bulgaria began in April, and that 15,000 innocents have been massacred by Bulgarians.

Greek and Serbian troops have crossed the frontier, and the other, and there is documentary evidence to show bloody reprisals were made.

Two hundred thousand peasants are homeless and many entire towns or villages have been wiped out or depopulated.

Reckoned from a comparison of maps from the second Balkan war in Macedonia and Thrace is $100,000,000.

After the Greek troops have been bombarded, men and women have been captured and the blood-drunk soldiers danced about them. Mosques have been set afire, while women and children have been tortured and burned, while the army pipes played their instruments about the pyres.

Mutilated dead bodies are found in the deserted villages. Many of the scenes are officers.

St. Petersburg Protects Interests of Bulgarians

ST. PETERSBURG, July 19.—Russia will not allow Bulgaria to be treated with extreme humiliation by either the allies or Turkey. A note to this effect was handed in to-day at Constantinople by Athens, Belgrade and Bucharest. Russia, it is reported, will attempt to hold Adrianople for Bulgaria.

The Bulgarian Minister of War's dispatch to Foreign Minister Ruffo from Sofia, before an infuriated mob, accompanied by Crown Prince Boris.

Adrianople Menaced by Invading Turkish Army

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 19.—The vanguard of the Turkish army which is invading Thrace arrived in front of Adrianople to-day and an attack upon the city may be made next week. The Turks are said to have received here-to-day from the field.

The small Bulgarian force in the garrison at Adrianople has been strengthened the fort, about 100 men.

Peace Advocates File Stories of Atrocities

PARIS, July 19.—The most appalling stories were told yesterday in dispatches received here-to-day from points in the Balkans and from Athens. They will be compiled by the International Peace Society, the use of its crusade universal peace movement.

Copies of the arms pulled out and the eyes gouged out are common sights.

The Bulgarians have taken a wanton delight in the torture of Greek Catholic priests. Crucifixes of unfeigned horror have been invented.

NATURAL CRANK, MAYOR'S SHOT AT BROYLES

"Dyspeptic, Fanatic, Stoneheart, Monomaniac" Are Other Terms in "Final" Report.

Mayor Woodward Saturday said he was finally disinterring Recorder Nash R. Broyles from his mind with the statement:

"He is a natural drapetie, crank and fanatic. If he ever had a heart it would turn to stone. Therefore, it is natural that he should become a monomaniac over the subject of using his cast-iron authority in his own way. He is a natural crank and fanatic."

Mayor Woodward again went over the head of Recorder Broyles Friday when he reduced the sentence of George Poulos, a restaurant keeper who had been sentenced to 30 days in the Stockade for violating the prohibition law.

The Mayor said the Recorder did not make the fine $40 and the sentence 30 days so as to stay outside the jurisdiction of the Mayor.

It was expected that Mayor Woodward would reduce the sentence but he didn't. He just reduced it to 30 days to $40 and the sentence to 30 days.

MEXICO STEALS UNITED STATES CIPHER CODE

State Secrets in Envoy Wilson's Messages to Washington Bared.

Powers Recall Ministers.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—A copy of the official code of the State Department, containing information worth millions of dollars to foreign governments, has fallen into the hands of the Mexican Administration. It is being used to further the ends of the Huerta regime, it was asserted here to-day.

For months State Department officials have suspected that the Government telegrams from Mexico City have been tampered with. It is declared that the secret is of the utmost importance, as all the dispatches were in code, and therefore theoretically illegible.

About three weeks ago, however, Government officials learned that the Mexicans were obtaining the gist of the dispatches passing between the State Department and Ambassador Wilson.

At first it was suspected that an employee of the State Department had run off with the traitor and evidence was obtained that the Government had been tampered with from the wires in Mexico and decoded, the information contained therein was given to General Alvaro Obregon, Secretary to Secretary of State Bryan, and the Secretary of State himself, Aldo S. Hart.

The agents of the almost unknown "secret service" of the Bryan administration were run off the trail and evidence was obtained that the Government had been tampered with from the wires in Mexico and decoded, the information contained therein was given to General Alvaro Obregon, Secretary to Secretary of State Bryan, and the Secretary of State himself, Aldo S. Hart.

As this was being done, at times, highly confidential to the present Government in Mexico, the master mind of the traitor, who had been sent to Mexico secretly left here last night for Vera Cruz. Significance is attached to his departure, as it is believed he was urgently ordered to do so.

Every effort will be made to locate the traitor, and the State Department will do its best to furnish the public with full details of the plot, and the efforts of the department's agents to discover the "leak" were redoubled.

Italy Orders Minister Home From Mexico City.

MEXICO CITY, July 18.—It was learned yesterday that the Italian Minister to Mexico secretly left here last night for Vera Cruz. Significance is attached to his departure, as it is believed he was urgently ordered to do so.

This action is doubly impressive on account of the fact that Francis Brionne, Italian Ambassador to Mexico, has been succeeded by another and will leave here for London in a few days.

Many persons here believe that the minister of international diplomacy apparently because of the attitude of the Italian Government and the condition of growing anarchy here.

Ambassador Thinks He Will Leave Post.

MEXICO CITY, July 18.—Despite the statement of United States Ambassador Wilson that he expects to return here in his official capacity following his conference at Washington, it is believed that the Italian Ambassador secretly believes his days in office are numbered.

In view of the situation he ordered the removal of a costly silver service and other valuable articles from the United States Embassy to a United States warship at Vera Cruz. The families of some of the diplomatic corps in the embassy have been sent to Vera Cruz for safety.

Interest was aroused by the announcement that the Minister of the Interior, who has been serving as a big part of the State of Morelos to which the Japanese colonial

ARSON AND VAIN POISON RUSE CHARGED

Rooming House Keeper Accuses Boarder as Firebug—Alleges Jealousy and Threats.

Police investigation of the burning of the home of Mrs. A. C. Klappier, at 500 Peachtree Street, Atlanta, Saturday morning, for which O. A. Vaughn, an employee of the Trading Company and a roomer at the Klappier home, is held on suspicion of being the instigator of the fire, turned up unexpected turn Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Klappier, when questioned by Detective Coker, declared that Vaughn tried to poison her one day last week.

"I am sick," Mrs. Klappier said, "and asked Vaughn to bring me a glass of water. He was very nervous when he brought it, and I became suspicious that something was wrong with it. When I took it, the bottoms of the glasses were some white powders. I was sure they were poison, and refused to drink the water. Vaughn offered to bring me another glass, but I refused to have it."

"I am sure Vaughn tried to poison me. He is insanely jealous of me, and he has several times threatened to burn me and to destroy my property."

Vaughn was taken from his cell and grilled by Detective Coker and Chief of Detectives Lantford for more than an hour Saturday morning, in the hope that he would confess his connection with the burning of the Klappier home. He was not asked to sign a confession, but he tried to poison her.

He was asked to pay the water, but denied that there were any powders in the glass.

The police say that Vaughn was in love with Mrs. Klappier, and declared that he had been threatening to burn her down for the past year or more.

In addition to the police investigation, State Fire Marshal W. R. Joyner, who is investigating the fire, has started a probe of the fire which destroyed the roof of Mrs. Klappier's home.

According to the story told to the police, she quarreled with Vaughn over the purchase of a coat, and Vaughn made threats and then went into his room.

He then rang the telephone in the house and called the police.

A few minutes later, he says, he heard a noise in the kitchen across the hall. Half an hour later he called the police on the telephone and asked if he could speak to the chief detective.

One of the other brothers who answered the phone told him the chief detective was not available, so he left his office and rushed to the scene of the fire. Mrs. Klappier was standing near the door, waving her hands, when Vaughn burst into the house. She interrupted him.

"You've burned my house down," she said. "You've ruined my life, and you're going to arrest me."

Mr. Klappier began struggling with Vaughn. At the request of the police, an officer, who declared she would prefer a trial by jury, held him back. Vaughn was arrested and taken to police headquarters.

Two women and a man who was said to be the husband of one engaged in a struggle before hundreds of pedestrians on Peachtree street in front of Parks-Chamberlain-Hardwick Company's store, 2 caskets, many affidavits and the like before their names or the cause of the trouble could be discovered.

"Dr. Smith," shouted the second woman, "turn me out to the man and the woman in the store."

"Mrs. McRae again!"

The woman hurled a bottle of browned liquid at her enemy. They clinched as they tussled toward the door, but the liquid, a carbolic acid was used in the encounter.

As a crowd rushed up the woman called Mrs. McRae hurried into the store and up the elevator. She went to the third floor and hurried down the back stairs.

"Dr. Smith" and the woman who had made the attack hurried around the corner.

A woman who ran on the corner had rushed up. He said he talked with the woman called Mrs. McRae. She said her opponent was the divorced wife of Dr. Smith and that they had been separated for five years.

No Arrests Made.

The policeman said he noted a little blood on the woman's arm. As police were called to the scene, no one who was present knew exactly what the prosecution the policeman said he would make no arrest.

Clerks in the store said they did not remember any of the principals with the possible exception of the man. They were not sure about him, but thought he lived in a downtown hotel.

They knew of the state of affairs when they met and the explanations of the woman said to be the divorced wife of the man.

The man, they said, seemed so be-wildered and full of the woman who had attacked his companion that only thought seemed to be got away.

BOARDER IS ACCUSED OF ARSON

Rooming House Keeper Also Says
Man Tried to Poison Her,
"Jealous, Police Say.

Police investigation of the burning of the home of Mrs. A. C. Klapper, at No. 255 East Hunter street, Saturday morning, for which G. A. Vaughn, an employee of the Boston Trading Company and a roomer at the Klapper home, is held with suspicion of being the incendiary, took a new and unexpected turn Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Klapper, when questioned by Detective Coker, declared that Vaughn tried to poison her.

"I was sick," Mrs. Klapper said, "and asked Vaughn to bring me a doctor. He came and stayed with me when he brought it, and I became suspicious that something was wrong."

I looked into the glass, and lying on the bottom was some white powder. I was afraid it was poison and refused to drink the water. Vaughn offered to bring me another.

"We do not know how big the defalcation may be," said Mr. Kane, "but our preliminary examination has shown that it is not less than $30,000." The building has occupied since May 22, when the fire was last examined. Suspicion on the part of officers of the bank several days ago that a shortage existed caused them to call in Examiner Dunlap. Discovery of the embankment resulted.

"In his telegraphic advice to me Mr. Dunlap does not say to whom suspicion attaches," said Mr. Kane.

"I am insanely jealous of me, and he has several times threatened to hurt me and to destroy my property."

After releasing Mrs. Klapper, Dunlap Mr. Kane is advised that steps are taken to make an arrest.

"He admitted taking her the water, but denied that there were any powder in the glass," said Coker.

Police investigation of the burning of the home of Mrs. A. C. Klapfer, at No. 256 East Hunter street, Saturday morning, for G. A. Vaughn, an employee of the Boston Trading Company, who had been staying at home, to hold on suspicion of the incendiariness, took a new and unexpected turn Saturday afternoon.

Sgt. Kinney, when questioned by Detective Coker, declared that Vaughn tried to poison her one day last week.

"I was sick," Mrs. Klapfer said, "and asked Vaughn to bring me a glass of water. When he came in I was very suspicious that something was wrong. I took him into the bathroom and lay on the floor. There were some poison bottles there. I gave him water and refused to drink the water. Vaughn offered to bring me another glass, but I refused to have it.

"Calls Boarder Jealous."

"I am innocent," Vaughn said. "He is insanely jealous of me, and has several times threatened to hurt me and to destroy my property."

Vaughn was taken from his cell and grilled by Detective Coker and Chief of Detectives Lanford for more than an hour Saturday morning, in the building connected with the fire which destroyed the roof of Mrs. Klapfer's home, causing damage of $600. According to the frenemy, the blaze was started by Vaughn, who was on the second floor.

Vaughn was charged with trying to burn the building by Mrs. Klapfer, according to Coker, who told the police she was shocked with fear before he went to work this morning, and Vaughn made threats and then went into his room.

Call House Over Phone.
A telephone call from the outside hurried downstairs and went down town. Half an hour later had called him on the telephone and asked if everything was all right. He says, and he was not. He answered the phone, the police told him, when he answered the phone he told him the house was on fire. Vaughn immediately left his office and rushed to the scene of the fire. He was seen running across the street, and the door, waving her hands, when Vaughn appeared and started into the house. She intersected him.

"Please, mind my house," she screamed. "I have you arrested." Mrs. Klapfer began struggling with Vaughn, and Call Officer Watson came up. At the request of the men, who were armed, Vaughn was arrested and led out of the door, and Vaughn was arrested and taken to police headquarters.

GRAND JURY SPLIT ON CONLEY

Mercury Hits 96,
But Cooling Rain
Is Promised City

With the thermometer at 96 o'clock Saturday morning, Atlanta is still sweltering in the heat spell of the summer. Relief is promised Sunday, however, as the weather man states that a thunder storm is to come in the early afternoon. More moderate weather will follow for several days.

The maximum temperature during Friday night was 98, which is very high for Atlanta. The mercury began to rise along with the sun, and is expected to break the summer's record of 97 by 3 o'clock.

Clouds have been few, except in the downtown business sections. The mercury has been falling from being an extremely hot, except in the afternoon.

Solicitor Dorsey is fighting vigorously the movement in the Grand Jury to indict Conley for the murder of Max Phagan, despite the bombardment of letters from many citizens and by the sentiment of most of its own members.

It is to the grand jury that the 20,000 union men will end Monday, and the streetcar employees will back to work, satisfied that the new syndicate would grant their demands for wage increases.

The meeting has been called at Chattanooga.

A delegation of Atlanta boosters, headed by Fred House, of the Atlanta Convention Bureau, will leave over the Western and Atlantic Railroad at 4:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon for Kansas City to attend the 1912 convention of the National Photographers' Association of America, which opens Saturday, Aug. 21.

Other members of the delegation include E. H. Goode, president of the Ad Club; L. D. Hicks, of The Southern Herald, and several local photographers.

The meeting will be joined at Chattanooga, with the first marshals, who are going to boost for Atlanta, and also by a number from Macon, who will be here to assist in the souvenirs and the beauties of Atlanta, and will work to capture the 1912 convention for the Gate City.

For some months State Department officials have suspected that the Government telegrams from Mexico City have been tampered with. It is declared, but this was not considered important, as all the dispatches were in code, and, therefore, theoretically illegal.

Employes First Suspected.

About three weeks ago, however, Government officials here had their first inkling that the Mexicans were tampering with the code of the dispatches passing between the State Department and Ambassador Wilson.

At first it was suspected that a member of the diplomatic corps in the city was to blame, but investigation proved this to be impossible. The telegrams were read only by three persons in Washington—the official telegrapher, the postmaster, and the Secretary to Secretary of State Bryan and the Secretary of State himself. All of these were above suspicion.

The agents of the administration were suspicious of the service of the State Department, but put on the trail and evidence was obtained that the Government dispatches had been "lifted" from the wire to Mexico and delivered to the information bureau, who then transmitted them to President Huerta and his Cabinet.

Made International Issue.

After the information was made public, the State Department denied that it was to blame, and the agents in Mexico were exonerated.

Every effort will be made to locate the copy of the State Department code and destroy it. The proof of the tampering is the code of it, but it is impossible to print another code and to distribute it all over the world within six months.
