U. S. ORDERS MEXICO TO ATONE

Presents Drastic Demand That Federals Who Shot American Official Be Punished.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Ambassador Wilson's impending conference with President Wilson is overshadowed by American demand for speedy punishment of the Federal soldiers who shot Charles B. Dixon, an American immigration officer at Juarez, and the immediate release of Charles Hissell and Bernard McDonald, who were arrested by Federals and thrown in jail at Chihuahua City for attempting to carry refugees from Juarez.

Hissell and McDonald are said to be in danger of execution. The American demands were couched in language more mandatory and drastic than any used by the United States Government since the beginning of President Wilson's administration. It is believed any other action by the Mexican Government except unconditional compliance will be considered an affront to the United States, which may lead to strong-arm measures.

JUDGE PRESIDING IN TRIAL OF LEO FRANK

Judge L. S. Rowland, of Stone Mountain, Circuit.

Three months and a day after the body of little Mary Phagan was found in the cavernous depths of the National Penitentiary, the trial of Leo M. Frank, accused of her murder, began today. Judge S. Rowland, the Criminal Court of Georgia, presided in the courtroom and a deeply stirred city almost breathlessly watched the outcome.

There was a straining of necks as the young factory superintendent, calm, cool and collected in the face of the terrible ordeal confronting him, was brought into the courtroom on the first floor of the old City Hall building to take his seat with his counsel.

Solicitor General Hugh Dorsey, chief of the prosecution, declared himself ready yesterday and there was little time lost in beginning what promises to be the greatest legal battle since the man's life in the history of the South. Frank Hooper sat at the Solicitor's right.

Published Every Morning Except Sundays... Entered as second-class matter at postoffice at Atlanta, Ga., under act of March 3, 1879.

Who Makes the "Criminals?"

Much interest just now in CRIMINALS. Much horror aroused by depravity. Many plans more or less appropriate for making the air pure.

What is CRIME? Who are the CRIMINALS? Who makes the criminals?

Do criminals viciously and voluntarily arise among us, eager to lead hunted lives, eager to be jailed at intervals, eager to crawl in the dark, dodge policemen, wear in stripes and die in shame? Hardly.

Will you kindly and patiently follow the lives, quickly sketched, of a boy and a girl?

THE GIRL. Born poor, born in hard luck, her father, or mother, or both, victims of long hours, poor fare, bad air and little leisure.

As a baby she struggles against fate and manages to live while three or four little brothers and sisters die and go back to kind earth.

She crawls around the rooms of a small house, a good deal in the way. She is hunted here and chased there.

She is cold in winter, ill-fed in summer, never well cared for. She gets a little so-called education. Ill-dressed and ashamed beside the other children, she is glad to escape the education. No one at home can help her on. No one away from home cares about her.

She grows up white, sickly, like a potato sprouting in a cellar. At the corner of a fine street she sees the automobiles passing with other girls in warm furs, or in fine, cool summer dresses.

With a poor walk around her and with heels run down she peers in at the restaurant window, to see other women leading lives very different from hers.

Steadily she has impressed upon her the fact, absolutely undeniable, that as the world is organized there is no special place for her—certainly no comfort for her.

She finds work, perhaps. Hours as long as the daylight. Ten minutes late—half a day's fine.

At the end of the day aching feet, aching back, system ill-fed, not enough earned to live upon honestly—and that prospect stretches ahead farther than her poor eyes can see.

"WHAT'S THE CHARGE, OFFICER?"

"Disorderly conduct, Your Honor."

There's the criminal that Society is hunting so ardently.

THE BOY. Same story, practically.

He plays ball in the street—ouffed, if caught by the policeman.

He swings on the awning poles, trying to exercise his stunted muscles—ouffed again.

In burning July, with shirt and trousers on, he goes swimming in private ponds—caught and ouffed and handed over to the police.

He tries for work.

"What do you know?" "I don't know nothin' nobody ever taught me."

He can not even endure the discipline of ten hours' daily shovelling—it takes education to instill discipline, if only the education of the early pick and shovel.

He has not been taught anything. He has been turned loose in a city full of temptation. He had no real start to begin with, and no effort was ever made to repair his evil beginning.

"WHAT'S THE CHARGE, OFFICER?"

"Attempted burglary; please guilty."

In prison he gets an education. They teach him how to be a good burglar and not get caught. Patiently the State boards him, and educates him to be a first-rate criminal.

There's your first-rate criminal, Messrs. Bishops, good men, politicians and benevolent women.

Dear bishops, noble women, good men and seeming politicians, listen to this story.

In the South Sea Islands they have for contagious diseases a horror as great as your horror of crime.

A man or woman stricken with a loathsome disease, such as smallpox, is seized, isolated, and the individual cases of the small-pox patient are earnestly scraped with sea shells—until the patient dies. It hurts the patient a good deal—without ever curing, of course—but it relieves the feelings of the outraged good ones who resist the sea shells.

You kind-hearted creatures, hunting "crime" in great cities, are like the South Sea Islanders in their treatment of smallpox. You ardently wield your reforming sea shells and you scrape very earnestly at the sores so well developed.

No desire here to deary your earnest efforts.

But if you ever get tired of scraping with sea shells, try vaccination, or, better still, try to take such care of youth, to give such chances and education to the young, as will save them from the least profitable of all careers—CRIME.

Scrape away with your sea shells, but try also to give a few more and a few better chances in youth to those whom you now hunt as criminals in their mature years.

God create boys and girls, anxious to live decently. YOUR SOCIAL SYSTEM makes criminals and jail cells.

Divorce

THINKING of one thing all day long, at night... But when I went too long you turned away. It was hurt, not realising that my grief was selfish.

And then your children came. Deep in my soul, from the first hour of conscious motherhood, I knew I should conserve myself for the most holy office; knew God meant it so.

Mysteries of Science and Nature

The Sun Is a Variable Star and Its Changes Affect the Price of a Man's Dinner--What Science's Latest Discovery Means.

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

THE recently announced conclusion of Professor Frost, of the Yerkes Observatory, that the sun is a variable star in accordance with what has been said repeatedly in these columns. It is a tremendously important fact, and its demonstration is mainly due to the labors of Messrs. G. O. Abbott and P. E. Powell, of the Southwestern Institution.

Minor Changes in the Sun Affect the Earth's Temperature. It seems now to be certain that the intensity of the rays which the sun sends to the earth often vary at least as much as five per cent in periods of only a week or ten days.

It can not be that you at last no longer mean to move. Unhappy mortals like the grass before you are you go!

The sun has a sun spot. The sun has a sun spot. The sun has a sun spot.

It is not so good. But there is something at the heart of a united Community and, what was more to be desired, the sun has been discovered ten years ago.

Solfenno

By REV. THOMAS B. GREGORY

THE battle of Solferino, won by Napoleon III and the Sardinian King from the Austrian King four years ago, was one of the costliest of victories, a booby trap the like of which is but seldom found on the pages of history.

It was not so good. But there is something at the heart of a united Community and, what was more to be desired, the sun has been discovered ten years ago.

PINKERTON CHIEF IS SCORED BY LANFORD

WILSON'S APPOINTMENT ANGRERS SOUTHERNERS

FIGHT NEGRO AS FEDERAL OFFICIAL

Dixie Lawmakers Roused by Wilson's Selection of Oklahoma Lawyer as Treasury Register.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The selection of Adam B. Patterson, a negro, of Muskogee, Okla., for Register of the Treasury by President Wilson has created a stir here among Southern Democrats, who declare they will fight the negro's confirmation to the last ditch.

Patterson, a lawyer and author of several treaties on the Democratic party, has received the indorsement of Senator Gore and Representative Carter, of Oklahoma; it is said, "With these exceptions, the Oklahoma delegation is solid against him."

During the last three Republican administrations a negro has held this office. The first of the trio was Judge J. M. McPherson, of New Orleans, La. The second was Joseph E. Rusk, of New Orleans, La. The third and present Register is J. C. Napier, of Nashville, Tenn.

Believes Him Capable. "While I believe this man to be a colored man," Representative Tamm said, "I do not believe any man should be placed in a position of authority over white men and white women. I don't think anything ought to be done to accelerate the race question."

Representative Murray, commonly known as "Alfalfa Bill," said he was surprised at the President's action in selecting Patterson and believed it was a political mistake on the latter's part. The grandfather clause in the Oklahoma Constitution, he said, made the negro a negligible factor in politics.

London Surprised When Suffragettes Parade Peacefully

Special Cable to The Georgian. LONDON, July 27.—London was treated to a great surprise to-day. Four processions of peaceful suffragettes from all over England marched through the streets and were accorded a great demonstration.

SAYS PIERCE BROKE HIS WORD TO POLICE

Detective Head Also Asserts Phagan Inevitable Private Sleuth Unearthed Was Plaintiff.

Chief of Detectives Lanford roundly scored H. B. Pierce, head of the Pinkerton Detective Agency in Atlanta, Saturday for what he termed questionable procedure in connection with the Phagan murder investigation.

"When application was made by the agency for permission to operate in Atlanta, said the master was under consideration by the Police Board, the promise was made that the Pinkertons would work in harmony with the city detective department and would cooperate in the apprehension of criminals.

"This promise, according to Lanford, was broken by the agency when it was reported by the Police Board that the Pinkertons had broken their word to the city detective department.

Lanford also said that the Pinkertons had broken their word to the city detective department by refusing to cooperate in the apprehension of criminals.

Maurice E. McLoughlin at the finish of his career.

Special Cable to The Georgian. WIMBLEDON, ENGL., July 27.—On the flaming red head of Maurice E. McLoughlin, the "California Comet," will rest the laurel for bringing the Davis cup back home after a ten years' stay abroad, providing either the McLoughlins or Norris Williams win his match Monday.

McLoughlin, assisted by the veteran Harold Hackett, to-day played a ring around H. Roper Barrett and C. P. Dixon in the doubles and by a surprising victory, put the American team in the lead in the International match. Yesterday McLoughlin was out of form. To-day he was a white wind and, while Hackett played a steady and dependable game, it was McLoughlin's terrific serve and inventive play which gave the Americans a decisive victory over England's best doubles team. The score of the match was 6-7, 6-1, 3-6, 7-5 and 6-4.

The matches Monday will bring to Arthur McGovern and Dixon and H. Roper Barrett and C. P. Dixon, who defeated Dixon yesterday, and J. C. Parke. Parke, who represented the American contingent by defeating McLoughlin yesterday.

OPENING GLASSES JUST BE- FORE DEFENSE; FORGED A START TO MEET ITS WITNESSES

At 11:55 o'clock Solicitor Dorsey announced that he was ready to open the case of the State against Leo M. Frank, charged with having killed Mary Hogan by strangulation. This was followed by the request of the defense that the State's witnesses be called, sworn and put under the rule.

The prosecution opened by announcing its readiness to go on with the trial and called the list of witnesses. Half an hour had passed when the second time a regular order called their names were: Mrs. J. W. Coleman, mother of Miss Phagan; J. W. Coleman, the girl's stepfather; George Pops, treasurer of the Dobbs, policeman; W. W. Rogers, detective and also prosecutor on the indictment; H. J. Kuglar, detective; Grace Hicks, girl who identified Mary Phagan's body; Jim Conley, boy who for the defense, now supposed to be a star witness for the prosecution; Henry F. Roser, the Frankston detective; R. P. Davis, for cause; David Woodruff, for cause; M. J. Howell, for cause.

The following men were struck on the third round: Charlie Wilcox, for defense; H. J. Kuglar, for cause; C. J. Hale, for cause; J. B. Davis, for defense; W. W. Rogers, for cause; W. H. Abbot, for cause; K. P. Maynor, for cause; Boyd Perry, for cause; Dr. H. H. Harrison, member of the State Board of Health; Dr. J. W. Hurt, Georgia physician; E. L. Perry, court stenographer; E. B. Smith, Montana State girl employee at pencil factory; M. J. McLaughlin, Georgia State girl employee; Albert McKnight, Minnola factory; E. W. Dyer, for cause; Helen Percy, mother of Mrs. Arthur White, wife of factory employee, and Attorney Reuben Arnold asked concerning the doors room that he had served on the State's witness for the affidavit of Jim Conley and others. On the promise of Solicitor Dorsey that he would produce the doors whenever needed the doors were released.

Solicitor Dorsey said he did not concede the right to the defense to force a production of the affidavit. He, however, at the request of Mr. Arnold, dictated a statement giving the affidavit of each of the witnesses named by Conley, saying that if he would produce them whenever necessary.

Conley's name being then that the defense's witness be called and sworn. This was met by strenuous objection on the part of Attorney Roser and Arnold, who claimed their plea was fragmentary.

Conley's protest was vehemently declaring that it would be executed under the oath of a witness to swear the witness at this time. Judge Roser said he would delay the trial to complete their list.

Judge Roan ruled that he would give the defense time to get their list. The defense capitulated and it took five minutes for the list to be made up.

Witnesses for Defense
Attorney Hopkins, at the table for the defense, called the names of the witnesses by whom they expect to clear Frank. They were: Mary Clarke, Nora Smith, Ella Thomas, G. Gilbert, P. Payne, Ralph Flowers, George Baker, Matt Thompson, Mrs. L. J. Cohen, J. C. Lowe, M. J. Leibman, Miss Beattie White, Williams, Fred Howell, Wade Campbell, P. F. Price, J. L. Lyon, Charles Sanders, M. O. Nix, J. C. Matthews, P. W. Jones, Joseph Bell, John G. Miller, J. H. Haas, W. H. Minter, J. H. Campbell, H. E. Robinson, J. C. Mayratt, Rebecca Clark, C. H. Hall, Matthew Hall, J. Hollister, Mrs. George Jefferson, Jerome Miller, Mrs. M. H. Farwood, M. J. Morrow, Ralph Davis, Mrs. M. T. May, P. W. Haas, W. P. Marcus, Ed. Mont, L. H. Haas, W. D. J. These were all of the witnesses whose names were called, but at least 100 more who will be used mostly as character witnesses, were on the list on the second floor waiting to be called.

WHOLE TRAIL OF A LITTLE GIRL LATER REVEALED BY PHOTOGRAPH

Story of Pretty Little Girl's Death Gripp'd Public, Eager to Discover Her Slayer.

As Leo Frank faces to-day the ordeal decreed by law that for man's life, man's life shall pay, interest in the case that has held Atlanta, Georgia and the South transfixed for three months has diminished not a whit since the Sunday morning, the body of the little girl was found.

The young girl, who was found dead in the woods of Decatur, Ga., was the daughter of a prominent family. Her death was a tragedy that gripped the public imagination.

THROUGH AT THE COURTHOUSE DOORS AS THE TRIAL OPENED

FRANK, FEELING TIGHT, SMILING AND CONFIDENT, IS UP LONG BEFORE TRIAL

Frank was escorted from the Tower to the courthouse shortly after 7 o'clock in the morning, nearly three hours before the trial was scheduled to begin. This was done to avoid the curious crowd which it was expected would be about the courthouse and thronging the corridors at 9 o'clock.

NEWY PHAGAN'S MURDER TESTIFIES

New Lee Repeats His Story in Court Room

NEGRO GIRL LOST 3 WEEKS

Lynette Awtry, Aoworth Heiress, Strangely Missing, Wires Plea for Help from Utah.

A dramatic story behind the mysterious disappearance of Miss Lynette Awtry, 18-year-old daughter of wealthy Orlando Awtry, one of the leading citizens of Aoworth, Ga., a member of one of Cobb County's most prominent families, who, after a tour of Europe, boarded a train in New York for Atlanta and then vanished as mysteriously as though she had been snatched by a fiend, which she has been located in Ogden, Utah, where she has been located.

Miss Awtry has been missing for nearly two weeks. Becoming homesick during her tour of Europe, she returned to New York and wired her father to send her money to come home. Mr. Awtry wired her $500 on the same day and received a telegram asking him to meet her in Atlanta. Her trunk was packed for the trip, which she was supposed to come but there was no track of the girl.

Since then her father has exhausted every means to locate the missing girl. The aid of the William J. Burns Detective Agency was enlisted and the operatives of the famous sleuth searched the cities of the United States, the aid of police departments all over the country was invoked but with no result. For all the detectives were able to ascertain is, contrary to the girl had boarded the train in New York absolutely no trace could be found of her.

Bonds Mysterious Telegram.

With constant reports of false telegrams by Americans most noted sleuths, Mr. Awtry redoubled his efforts to find his missing daughter. More agencies were made to police departments, private detective agencies were enlisted in the search, and photographs of the young girl were put out secretly by the Burns men in the hope that someone could be found who had seen her.

Sunday morning Miss Awtry broke her silence of two weeks with a telegram from Ogden that intimated the mystery. It contained no explanation of her disappearance. This telegram was a sketchy appeal for aid—a cry that she was alone and penniless in a strange land.

"Please, help me," the telegram said. "I have no money. I am very ill. I left home, but can't explain now. I'll tell you about it when I get home."

The message was signed "Lynette" with no address in Ogden save the Western Union. Mr. Awtry immediately wired his daughter money and a ticket to Aoworth by way of the Union Pacific. It is probable that either he or one of the girl's brothers will meet her at Nashville on Saturday.

The disappearance of Miss Awtry is almost identical with that of Dorothy Arnold, the missing New York heiress, who still is being sought by detectives after a disappearance of almost a year, and has traced and perplexed Cobb County years ago.

The cause from leading family.

The fact that the girl comes from one of the leading families of North Georgia makes the interest in the mystery all the greater. Her father is president of the Aoworth Cotton and Manufacturing Company of Aoworth, and is interested largely in the commercial life of the town. She is a niece of Mrs. J. K. McClatchy, wife of the leading citizen of the Georgia House of Representatives, and a niece of John Awtry, a prominent attorney of Marietta, and of Howard Awtry, editor of the Marietta News. She is also related to Mrs. E. M. Horn and a number of other prominent Marietta and Cobb County people.

Miss Awtry is prominent in Atlanta.

NEGRO WATCHMAN SWEARS FRANK ACTED ODDLY DAY OF CRIME

Here are the important developments in the trial of M. Frank for the murder of Mary Phagan. Jury chosen at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. Coleman's mother, takes stand after recess at 3:15 and tells of Mary leaving for the factory 11:45 a.m. on April 26.

The first question asked by the jury was: "What was your name on the night of the murder?"

"My name was M. Frank," he answered.

"Where did you see Mary Phagan alive?"

"April 26 at 11:45."

"What was she going to do when she left home?"

"She was going to the pencil factory to draw pens."

"Not yet 14 years old?"

"What did she say before leaving?"

"I was the last time when you saw her the last night of her life."

"She was very pretty."

"At this point Mrs. Coleman's voice began faltering. She could not bear to look at the witness.

"Did she have a duplex in her cheek?"

"Yes, I remember."

"What was the duplex for?"

"It was for a lip-plate."

"What was the lip-plate for?"

OPPOSING LAWYERS IN FRANK CASE.

LUTHER Z. ROSSER, SOLICITOR HUGH DORSEY.

A. Seven minutes past twelve.
Q. Did you ever see these clothes before (exhibiting Mary Phagan's clothes)—A. She had them on when I left her.
Q. Where did she say she was going?—A. Right to the factory to draw her pay.
Q. Did you expect to meet her again?—A. She said she would meet me at a clock to see the parade.
Q. Where did she say she was going?—A. Right to the factory to draw her pay.

Q. Where did she say she was going?—A. Right to the factory to draw her pay.

Frank said he went to the factory at 12 o'clock. He was rubbing his hands and kept on rubbing them. He told me I could go out for an hour and a half or not later than by usual time for getting there. He told me he was sorry he had to go to work so early and I told him I was sorry because I could have slept some more. He told me to go on out to town and have a good time.

Reuben R. Arnold.
The history of every venieman and had investigated whether or not he had ever expressed an opinion on the guilt or innocence of the accused was demonstrated when W. W. Hommet, a salesman for the Knobby Shoe Company, was being examined as to his qualifications.
"Have you ever said you thought Frank was guilty?" Mr. Dorsey inquired.
"No, I never have," replied Hommet.
"Here the Solicitor referred to some notes at hand and proceeded to call to Hommet's recollection a certain fact that had with acquaintance at a certain time. Hommet was forced to admit that he had talked at the case at that time, but declared that he had not expressed a definite opinion.
"I only said I would have to hear some evidence before I would believe Frank was guilty," he told Judge Rosser.
"He was rejected for cause."
The defense showed that it was exactly as violent when the next witness was examined. As soon as A. L. Bellinger, No. 91 Millidge avenue, arose from his seat, Attorney Arnold was on his feet, prepared to state the objection of the defense. He pointed out that Bellinger was the brother of Henry Bellinger, who had been employed in the Solicitor's office during the Phagan investigation and that he was reported to have given an opinion on the guilt of Frank.
"I do not desire to see any of my fellow negroes on the jury. With Jim Conley, a negro, likely to be on the jury for the murder in the event that Frank is cleared, and a negro on the jury, I am sure that the jury will not be fair."
The two negroes were Earl Davis and E. J. Williams.
May Sumner Rogers was the attorney for the defense.
When court opened for the afternoon session, Attorney Arnold announced that he would like to see the members of the press as witnesses. I don't want to put them under the court rule which would exclude them from the courtroom.
Solicitor Dorsey hereupon arose and said:
"All right, but I want to reserve the right to do so at a later date if necessary."

Juryman chosen.
The reading of the list named came as a complete surprise. It developed that the defense had secured the country for persons who had known Frank when he was a student at Cornell. They were subpoenaed to bring the character testimony in the behalf of the time he began his business career.
The picking of the jury proved less difficult than anticipated, twelve men being obtained before 11 A.M.

Here are the jurors chosen:
A. H. Hinkle, No. 74 Oak street, a traveling salesman for the Franklin Bussey Company; F. V. Smith, No. 411 Cherokee avenue, manufacturer's agent with the Empire Building; J. P. Higdon, a contractor, No. 38 Ormswell street; E. E. Winburn, No. 313 Lucie avenue, claim agent Atlanta and West Point; H. A. L. Wray, No. 31 Hood street, cashier of the Buckeye Building; Maxwell J. Johnson, No. 1145 James street, a machine shop; N. A. Street, M. L. Woodard, cashier of the Maryland Company, Three Park avenue; C. O. O'Quinn, an optician for Hawker, was chosen from the list panel.
D. Townsend, No. 34 Whitehall, representing the Central Bank and Trust Corporation.
W. Metcalf, No. 135 Kirkwood.

Wife Helps Prisoner Pick Men to Try Him

FRANK SKETCHED IN COURT

ALL IN READINESS FOR REAL TRIAL TO BEGIN AFTER SHORT RECESS

RICH GEORGIA GIRL LOST 3 WEEKS

Lynette Awtry, Acworth Heiress, Strangely Missing, Wires Plea For Help From Utah.

DAVIS TENNIS CUP COMES TO U. S.

McLoughlin's Brilliant Play Returns Trophy to United States After Ten Years.

A dramatic story behind the mysterious disappearance of Miss Lynette Awtry, 18-year-old daughter of wealthy Orlando Awtry, one of the leading citizens of Acworth, Ga., and a member of one of Cobb County's most prominent families, who, after a tour of Europe, boarded a train in New York for Atlanta and then vanished as utterly as though she had left the earth, is expected to be heard this week when the girl arrives home from Ogden, Utah, where she has been located.

Miss Awtry has been missing for nearly two weeks. Becoming homesick during her European trip, she returned to New York and wired her father to send her money to come home. Mr. Awtry wired her $500 and the news of her father's telegram asking him to meet her in Atlanta, she frantically ran to the train on which she was supposed to come, but there was no trace of the girl.

Since then her family has exhausted every means to locate the missing girl. The aid of the William J. Burns Detective Agency was enlisted and the operative of the famous sleuth secured the office of the United States; the aid of police departments all over the country was invoked, but with no result. For all the detectives were able to ascertain to the contrary the girl had dissolved into thin air. After the board of the train in New York absolutely no trace could be found of her.

Special Telegram.

With constant reports of failure being filed by America's most noted detective agency, the search for Lynette here appears to have been abandoned. Here appeals were made to police departments, private detective agencies were enlisted in the search, and photographs of the young girl were sent to secretly by the Burns men, the hope that someone could be found who had seen her.

On Sunday morning Miss Awtry broke the silence of two weeks with a telegram from Ogden that intimated the mystery. It contained no explanation of her disappearance. The telegram was a piteous appeal for aid—a cry that she was alone and penniless in a strange land.

"Please, help me," the telegram said. "I have no money. I am sorry I left home, but can not explain now. I will tell you about it when I get home."

The message was signed "Lynette" with no address in Ogden, save the Western Union. Mr. Awtry immediately wired his daughter money and a ticket to Acworth by way of the Union Pacific. It is probable that either he or one of the girl's brothers will meet her at Nashville or Chattanooga.

The disappearance of Miss Awtry is almost identical with the case of Dorothy Arnold, the missing New York heiress, who still is being sought by detectives after a disappearance of more than a year, and has stirred and perplexed Cobb County more than any mystery of recent years.

Census From Leading Family.

The fact that the girl comes from one of the leading families of North Georgia makes the interest in the mystery all the greater. Her father is president of the Acworth Cotton Mills Manufacturing Company of Acworth, and is interested largely in the commercial life of the town. She is a niece of Mrs. D. P. McClatchy, wife of the leading clerk of the Georgia House of Representatives, and a niece of John Awtry, a prominent attorney of Marietta, and of Bernard Awtry, editor of The Marietta News. She is also related to Mrs. R. M. Moon and a number of other prominent citizens of Cobb County people.

Miss Awtry is prominent in Acworth.

Special Cable to The Georgian.

WIMBLEDON, ENGLAND, July 28.—The Davis trophy, the most sought-for cup in the tennis world, which has been away from the United States since 1902, will come back to America.

The United States team, after beating the Australians in the preliminary rounds in New York last June and working their way up to the challenge round by defeating the German and Canadian teams in England, today won the trophy for the United States by defeating the English defenders.

Maurice D. McLoughlin, the young Californian, brought victory to his country by defeating C. P. Dixon in three straight sets in the single match today. Although his service "was faulty at the beginning of the match today, McLoughlin soon got into his stride."

Last Two Sets Easy.

He won the first set after a hard-fought set-to, the score being 6-4.

From this, so the lanes were never in doubt, the American proving himself the better of the Englishman at all stages of the second and third sets, winning the former 6-3 and the latter 6-2.

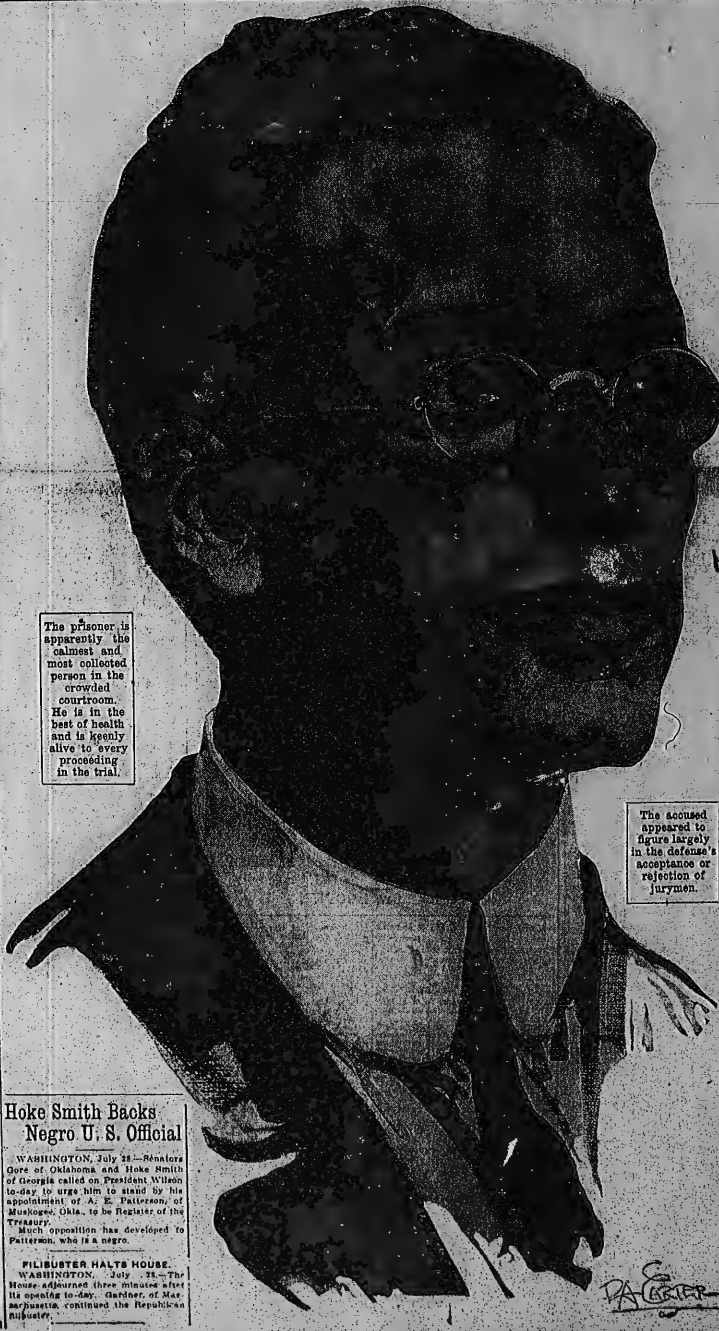

The match for the trophy began on Friday, when McLoughlin was defeated by J. C. Parke, the Irish champion, R. Norris Williams, of Philadelphia, scored up matters when he defeated Dixon in the other single match that day.

Gets Back to Form.

Saturday the Americans jumped into the foreground, when McLoughlin and Harold H. Hodson, the double team, defeated Dixon and H. Roper Barrett.

McLoughlin's play, which was a little off color on Friday, was much improved Saturday and to-day. His individual still did much to bring the cup back to America.

In the semi-final game between Parke and Williams, the Englishman won after a hard match of five sets. The score: 6-2, 7-1, 6-4, 6-2. This defeat did not have any bearing on the general result.

The prisoner is apparently the calmest and most collected person in the crowded courtroom. He is in the best of health and is keenly alive to every proceeding in the trial.

The accused appeared to figure largely in the defense's acceptance or rejection of jurymen.

Events on the opening day of the trial of Leo M. Frank, accused of the slaying of Mary Phagan in the National Pencil Factory, moved with an unexpected swiftness that it was apparent that the trial proper would be under way and the first witnesses called before the close of the first day's session. The jury had been completed by the time recess was taken at 1:30.

After a few preliminary clashes between the opposing attorneys which presaged a bitter struggle when the fight for Frank's life actually was begun, the court settled down to the selection of the jury. The whole morning session up to the recess was occupied with the examination of witnesses.

All the force of attorney's efforts for the defense, which has been the subject of much comment, was directed toward the selection of a jury which would be favorable to the accused.

After the jury was selected, the court proceeded to call the witnesses for the prosecution. The first witness called was the janitor of the National Pencil Factory, who testified that he saw Frank enter the factory at 10:30 p. m. on the night of the slaying. He testified that he saw Frank enter the factory at 10:30 p. m. on the night of the slaying. He testified that he saw Frank enter the factory at 10:30 p. m. on the night of the slaying.

Jackson Will Tell Juvenile Trustees Of Charges by Girl

The Rev. Crawford Jackson, secretary of the Juvenile Protective Association, who is charged with making improper advances to his young typist, has called a meeting of the trustees of the association to lay the case before them.

Although the Rev. Mr. Jackson has been bound over to the Grand Jury on the testimony of Miss Louvena Durden, the typist, he declared that he would be fully vindicated.

He was released for cause.

The defense showed that it was exactly as violent when the first victim was examined. As such, Mr. A. J. Bellgrath, of No. 21 Millidge avenue, wrote from his desk. As the Rev. Mr. Jackson was not prepared to state the objective of the defense, he pointed out that Bellgrath was the brother of Henry Bellgrath, who has been employed in the saloonery office during the Phagan investigation and that he was supposed to have expressed an opinion on the guilt of Frank.

Savannah Ship Rams Tender; Three Drown

NEW YORK, July 28.—Three men were drowned when the steamer City of Atlanta, of the Savannah Line, ran down and cut in half the tender of the Government Lightship Off Cape Lookout, N. C., last Friday. The accident was reported when the steamer arrived here to-day.

There was some delay in launching a lifeboat after the accident, and the remaining two of the crew on the tender were rescued in an exhausted condition.

Children and Their Influence

BY JERRY K. COOKE

(It may be asked why I, of all men, should write upon questions of domestic life and other relations. In reply, I could say that one who has gone through what I have, suffered as much as I have, and seen so much of the world and its hard side, may possibly have something to say that will be of use to others. Hope so, at least.—JERRY K. COOKE.)

An elevator apartment, a poodle dog and a married couple. The man is a crooked, the woman unhappy and the poodle dog is the recipient of their affection, care and consideration. But this is not a home! The home is an elevator flat. It has no dog, but the companion of the man and the woman are a group of happy curly-headed children whose ages suggest a pair of twins. There are the joys of living, the happy voices, the running feet, the children play, the merry laughter, the home with sunshine and contentment. The children play, the merry laughter, the home with sunshine and contentment. The children play, the merry laughter, the home with sunshine and contentment.

A Life Story. Children hold a man and wife together. I once knew a man who had apparently everything that heart could desire—a beautiful home, a charming wife, a fine position, and was well-liked by a host of friends. Only one thing was lacking on the part of their union there was no offspring.

He seemed happy but there were times when the evening hours approached he had an undrawn look about his face. He would sit in the twilight hour, or in other hours, the children's hour, become a lone-some word to him. He would go down the street to the club, or anywhere get away from himself. I got by with the husband and wife drifted apart. She was angry at first that he would not share away from her society, and then she got so she did not care. Had she only had one child, the curly-headed toddler at her side to hold out chubby arms in unselfish love, how different it might have been.

Understand You

He felt to happy that he wanted to take the whole world into his arms. Last night happiness had come to him, wonderful, indescribable happiness, surpassing all that he had ever known. He was smiling, wrapping him in such a splendor light that his eyes were dazzled by its brightness. He had met with first success in his career, and he was proud. For the first time he had felt the intoxicating effects of the starmine, reaching the phase of the hunder-headed audience, and he was in his element, especially when you are young and strong and full of passionate longings and desires. Then it is quite impossible to make the child, stand by and watch you. You must rush out into the world and look the eyes of the souls of other people. So he took his young fans out for a walk, confident that his new friend, Fortune, would give him a new proof of her benevolence. A proof, of course, should be connected with some young and lovely maiden.

WOMAN'S PILLS DISAPPEARED

Like Magie After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. NORTH BANGOR, N. Y.—As I used Lydia E. Pinkham's vegetable Compound with great benefit, I feel it my duty to write and tell you about it. I was ailing from female weakness and had headache as a result. What might she be, they named the lady, and she was a member of the lady's regular daughter of a family that he had known for many years. It was a woman who had been and so sick that she had to go to bed.

Another Made Well. ANN ARBOR, MICH.—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done wonders for me. For years I suffered terribly with female weakness and had pain so intense that sometimes I would not get out of bed. I was so weak and so sick that I had to go to bed until I took your remedies to me. I feel now that I am a new woman. I have been able to do all the work I want to do. I have been able to do all the work I want to do. I have been able to do all the work I want to do.

A Woman Builder

THE astonishing manner in which women of to-day are invading the fields of employment which were formerly the prerogative of men is once more strikingly illustrated by the remarkable achievements of Miss Alice Durkin, New York's only master builder, who employs over 700 men, and who competes with the contractors of this city for skyscraper contracts.

For four years Miss Durkin has been situated among the master builders of the city, and in that time she has erected buildings to the value of $1,000,000. She is the first and only woman member of the Building Trades Association of New York. Her career is a veritable romance of industry. The daughter of a wealthy man who lost his money, she took a post when quite a young girl in the office of a leading New York builder, thirteen years ago.

Precoiousness in Love

BY FRANKIE FAIRFAX

Precoiousness in love is a great mistake. It prevents the enjoyment of love, and years which should be spent in happiness and joy, are passed in a lonely and unhappy solitude. It is a mistake that many women make, and it is one that is easily avoided.
