Defense Attacks State's Case From Many Angles

MODEL OF FACTORY WHERE MARY PHAGAN WAS KILLED

In the top corner the narrow points on which sections may lean they were hinged. To the left of the steps in the corner picture is shown the ball of the partition which was used when the body was found by the police. To the left, that in front of the window, is shown by two cigarette butts where she stood when she saw the body. The main picture shows the platform and the platform generally show a perspective view of the factory. The top at the left shows Frank's private wall, with the two doors. The view to the right side is shown. The stairs lead to the second floor. The top of the model is the second floor, and by looking down the jury will be able to see the points where the body is shown. To have been found by Gentry, and the point where the stairs are dropped in the basement can be seen. In the center, the floor, the partition, and probably every part that appears in the testimony about the scene.

NEW THEORY OF HOW CRIME MIGHT HAVE BEEN COMMITTED, INTIMATED BY ENGINEER'S TESTIMONY

Albert Kaufman Describes Passageway on First Floor Leading to Chute, Through Which He Declares Human Body Could Easily Have Passed-Spots, Said to Be Blood, Found in Passageway

A new theory of the Mary Phagan murder was hinted at by the witness at the trial of Leo M. Frank Friday while Albert Kaufman, a chief engineer, was under examination. From questions asked by Attorney Gentry, Mr. Kaufman testified that there was a chute in the rear of the National Fanbelt Factory building leading from the first floor through to the basement and that the trap door to this chute was large enough to slide a human body through, in fact, he said it was large enough to slide several bodies through at the same moment.

The case of a dark and narrow hallway leading from the front of the building by the stairway back to the rear by the trap door. Many questions were asked concerning this hallway and other testimony by Gentry which the defense is preparing a way for introduction of other testimony possibly bearing out the theory that the child was murdered here, but also to leave the building, was dragged through this dark hallway and dropped through the chute into the basement. Questions were asked the engineer about a red stain in the hallway. He declared that it was plenty large enough to hold the body of a girl who measured five feet and three inches tall.

BLOOD IN DARK PASSAGEWAY

It is known that the defense has found dark red spots, presumed to be blood, on the floor leading to the dark passageway, which is the fear of the building and to the chute, to which so much attention was called by the attorneys. The dark spots on the floor have been given a name and analyzed, the result of which is not known, but has been made for the public.

The circumstance is certain to be used by the defense in its effort to show that the murder could have been committed on the first floor without the knowledge of Frank or Gentry. It is known that a search of the National Fanbelt Factory was made by the police on the night of the murder. It is known that the police searched the factory on the night of the murder, and that they did not see the body. It is known that the police searched the factory on the night of the murder, and that they did not see the body. It is known that the police searched the factory on the night of the murder, and that they did not see the body.

IMPORTANT WITNESSES FOR DEFENSE

After proving the correctness of the cardboard model of the "plant" made by T. H. Willard, 120 Highland avenue, who made it from Kaufman's blue prints, the defense, it is understood, will call Delray or Holby to the stand, to contradict statements made by the negro Colley. The next witness is expected to be Herbert Scott, Frank's young assistant at the factory, and he is one of the most important of the state's witnesses. He will testify, it is said, that on the day subsequent to the murder, when the police were there and there was considerable excitement, he found Colley sitting under a pile of boxes on one of the upper floors and apparently very much frightened.

DAVEY HOPKINS CALLED

A statement was received on the opening of court Friday morning when the defense called Davey Hopkins, inventor by the testimony of C. B. Dalton, and two or three minutes. "You are not going to leave the stand," he told Colley's attorney.

HOPKINS' OATH TESTIFIED

Davey Hopkins was called by the defense on the morning of the trial and testified that he had seen the body on the night of the murder. He testified that he had seen the body on the night of the murder, and that he had seen the body on the night of the murder.

Afternoon Session of Frank's Trial Thursday Is Without Any Interesting Development

Phinkerton Detective Harry Scott Testifies That Conley Never Told Him New Features of Story—Dr. Leroy Childs Testifies in Effort to Break Dr. Harris' Story

When court adjourned Thursday afternoon at 10 o'clock Detective Harry Scott, called by the defense to impeach Jim Conley, had just concluded his testimony by the solicitor. Scott had been put through a long series of questions by Attorney Hoover, the purpose of which was to show the discrepancy between what Conley told Scott as to what he swore on the stand.

Harry Scott, of the Phinkerton, was called on the second witness for the defense of Lee M. Frank Thursday afternoon when Dr. Leroy Childs, a remarkable game work by whom the record on Harry's stand, immediately upon learning that Mrs. White had been sitting on a box at the foot of the stand, immediately called attention to the fact that information was withheld from the jury in violation of the law.

Dr. Childs while under the examination of Attorney Arthur Charbonnet last winter similar to some of that given by Mr. Harris and Harris Charbonnet, testified that when the stand was set up, he was told by the solicitor that Mrs. White had been sitting on a box at the foot of the stand, and that he was told to take care that she did not get up.

When asked if he had seen any one else at the stand, he testified that he had seen Mrs. White, and that she had been sitting on a box at the foot of the stand. He also testified that he had seen Conley, and that he had seen Conley sitting on a box at the foot of the stand.

When asked if he had seen any one else at the stand, he testified that he had seen Mrs. White, and that she had been sitting on a box at the foot of the stand. He also testified that he had seen Conley, and that he had seen Conley sitting on a box at the foot of the stand.

"I wrote it myself" replied the witness.

"You furnished to you the facts stated in the report?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you furnish to you any other facts?"

"No, sir."

"In this statement, Conley contended that he had seen Mrs. White at the day of the murder, didn't he?"

"Yes, sir."
