Forty Atlantans took the stand during Friday morning's session of the Frank trial and testified to the good character of the accused. In all of the two hundred and fifty witnesses called to testify, only one witness, and that only about the witness related something other than the attorney's version of the case. That witness was the girl who testified that she saw Frank in the factory on the night of the murder.

Senator Penrose, Republican, in a heated speech, demanded that the state department shall act immediately in Mexico to aid U. S. citizens. He impugned the character of the president's adviser and said he would wait a few days on the findings of a "mysterious mission" and then expose the entire situation to the public.
