SCATHING TERMS ROSSETT TO POLICE COURSE

Scathing terms were hurled at a witness in the courtroom today by the attorney for the defense in the trial of Mrs. Frank for the murder of her husband. The witness, a woman named Mary, was called to the stand by the prosecution to testify that she had seen the defendant at the scene of the crime. The defense attorney, in a scathing cross-examination, attacked her credibility and the accuracy of her testimony. He questioned her memory of the events and suggested that she was being paid to testify against the defendant. The witness maintained her composure throughout the ordeal, despite the intense questioning.

Leo M. Frank's alibi was the subject of intense scrutiny in the courtroom today. The defense attorney presented a detailed timeline of Frank's activities from the morning of the murder until the time the body was discovered. He argued that Frank's movements were consistent with the testimony of several witnesses and that it was impossible for him to be at the scene of the crime at the same time. The prosecution, however, presented evidence that contradicted Frank's alibi, suggesting that he had been in the area of the murder at the critical time. The jury is expected to reach a verdict on the matter in the coming days.

The trial of Mrs. Frank has attracted a large crowd of spectators to the courtroom. The atmosphere is tense, with everyone watching the proceedings with great interest. The defense team has made a strong case for their client, but the prosecution's case remains strong. The judge has maintained order throughout the trial, and the proceedings are expected to continue for several more days. The public's curiosity about the case is evident, with many people coming to the courtroom just to see the trial from the gallery.

The courtroom was filled with people today as the trial of Mrs. Frank continued. The defense attorney made a powerful closing statement, arguing that his client was innocent and that the evidence against her was circumstantial. He urged the jury to acquit Mrs. Frank. The prosecution's attorney responded by pointing out the inconsistencies in the defense's case and the strong evidence against Mrs. Frank. The judge then adjourned the trial until the next day. The crowd outside the courtroom was still large, and many people were taking pictures of the building.

The trial of Mrs. Frank is a major event in the city, and it has captured the attention of the entire community. The media is covering the trial extensively, and the public is following the case with great interest. The defense team has a lot of work to do to prove their client's innocence, and they will be presenting their case to the jury in the coming days. The prosecution's case is also strong, and they will be presenting their evidence to the jury as well. The trial is expected to be a long and difficult one, but everyone is watching it with anticipation.

Prejudice and Bigotry Plot Alleged By Hooper Is Ridiculed By Arnold In Masterly Argument

Hooper Asserts That Frank Could Not Have Known That Mary Phagan Would Come For Her Pay on Friday. He Declares That Jim Conley Killed the Little Girl With Robbery as His Motive—Here Is His Speech

In his speech to the jury Thursday afternoon Rebekah R. Arnold, for the defense, undertook two things: First, to refute the "plot" as it is termed, outlined by Attorney Hooper; for the state. This is to expose the theory of the Conley against Frank.

Second, to make out a case against the negro, Jim Conley, that would be an strong case against Frank.

There was other brilliant features, but these were the two big points that Attorney Arnold made in his masterly argument.
