

To Test Jersey Bulkhead Law.

TRENTON, N. J., May 18.—Alleging that the law passed by the last Legislature, relative to the construction of bulkheads along the Jersey Coast is unconstitutional, James H. Donnelly, of Longport, made an application in the Supreme Court, before Justice Black, this afternoon for a writ of certiorari to review the passage of an ordinance by the Longport Common Council for the construction of bulkheads there. Donnelly holds the law was special legislation.

Siegel Depositors' Meeting Put Off.

The meeting of the depositors of Henry Siegel's bank, scheduled for Thursday at the University Settlement, 184 Eldridge Street, will not take place, according to an announcement made by Adolph Schwartz of 1,450 Greene Avenue, Brooklyn, Chairman of the Depositors' Committee. The committee has no progress to report, and until definite information is obtained concerning the amount of money Mr. Siegel will guarantee to return, no meeting will be called. Depositors are asked to communicate with Mr. Schwartz or with the Vice Chairman of the committee, Adolph Maller of 142 East Fifteenth Street, for further information.

Mass Meeting to Aid Frank.

Appeals for justice for Leo M. Frank, sentenced to die next month for the murder of Mary Phagan, a factory girl, in Atlanta, Ga., will be made at a mass meeting at Public School 91, Forsyth and Stanton Streets, on the evening of May 27. The meeting has been called by the League of Foreign Born Citizens, and the speakers will be Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Anna Rhodes, Louis Marshall, L. W. Fehr, William J. Burns, and the Rev. Dr. Masliansky.
