Washington, March 29.—Ernest William Emery, chief of wire traffic in the Associated Press, died suddenly here today of heart failure. He had been in weak health for some years and was subject to heart attack.

Besides being one of the early press operators in this country, Mr. Emery was one of the first employees of the Associated Press and was well known in telegraph and newspaper circles. He began telegraphy when he was 17 and worked for several of the first operators to man a leased wire for the transmission of news. He was a specialist in the telegraph messages sent by the Associated Press to send the news of first importance at many national political conventions. At one time he was a member of the editorial staff of the Washington bureau and he was a past exalted ruler of the Elks.

Mr. Emery was born at Seneca Falls, N. Y., fifty-five years ago. Early to work, he celebrated the twentieth anniversary of his employment in the wire service last year. He is survived by a widow, a 17-year-old son, Ernest, and a daughter, Mrs. M. J. Emery.

CONVULSIVE BATTLE FOR VANDERBILT

Bishop Hoss, of Nashville, Here for a Visit, Says the Church Has Suffered Great Injustice.

The Methodist church feels that it has suffered a great injustice and will make a strenuous fight to regain control of Vanderbilt, according to Bishop E. E. Hoss, of Nashville.

Bishop Hoss arrived in Atlanta late Saturday night on his way home from Baltimore, and spent Sunday with Dr. H. M. DuBose, pastor of the First Methodist church, where Bishop Hoss preached Sunday morning. Bishop Hoss left for Nashville last night.

Upon his return to Tennessee, Bishop Hoss will consult with the attorneys for the church with a view to appealing the case of the church to the United States supreme court.

Grounds Are Unknown.

On what grounds this appeal will be made, or whether the church can find grounds, Bishop Hoss stated that he did not know, and he refused to discuss the case from a technical standpoint in any way.

"We feel," he said, "that neither statement of fact nor exposition of the law in the decision of the court is correct. We are sure that the church has suffered a great injustice in the whole matter. If we can get an appeal to the supreme court of the United States we will certainly take it. Otherwise, we shall submit with the best grace we can command."

Although Judge N. E. Harris, of Macon, is one of the attorneys for the church, Bishop Hoss declared that he had not consulted him in this trip to Georgia, and further stated that his stop-over in Georgia was for the sole purpose of a visit to his friends, Dr. DuBose. He regretted that he would not have time to consult Judge Harris now.

The remaining attorneys for the church whom he will consult upon his return to Tennessee are P. J. Madden, of Nashville; Fitzhugh & Briggs, of Memphis; and Judge O'Hear, of Frankfort, Ky.

Preaches in Morning.

Taking his text from the First Epistle of John, 1:3, Bishop Hoss, of Nashville, spoke at the First Methodist church Sunday morning upon the love of God, and the love of the world, and the love of the world.

The text is as follows: "Behold, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be, but we know that when he shall appear, we shall be like him; we shall see him as he is."

Bishop Hoss characterized the verse as one of the greatest passages of the Bible setting forth the love of God, and the love of the world, and the love of the world.

His text, he declared, set forth two facts of our position as a result of God's love.

First, the dignity of our present position—"Now are we the sons of God." Second, our future position—"We shall be like him."

Bishop Hoss entered into a history of the development of the position of the followers of Christ, as set forth in the Bible.

He pointed out that early in the ministry of Christ, he called his disciples "sons of God," and that this was the first step toward the "sons of God."

It was only until the night before the crucifixion that he called his disciples "sons of God," and that this was the second step toward the "sons of God."

He declared that the "sons of God" are those who are "born of God," and that this is the third step toward the "sons of God."

"WOMEN CRAZY OVER DRESS AND PLEASURE"

"They Are Lowering Standards of Morals and Religion," Says Rev. A. C. Shuler.

"Many homes in this great city are as morally dark as perdition itself. The women folks have gone crazy over styles of dress and varied forms of worldly pleasure."

"They are corrupting and lowering the standard of morals and religion, wrecking and ruining their health and bringing physical as well as spiritual destruction upon the human race. May God Almighty open the eyes of preachers and physicians, fathers and mothers, and redeem this generation from the bondage of hell."

Pastor A. C. Shuler, in his address Sunday night, to a large audience at the East Side tabernacle, startled his hearers into rapt attention when he made the above statement.

GAY DECORATIONS FOR THE CITY HALL FOR THE SHRINERS

According to plans proposed by Councilman S. L. Dallas, chairman of the building and grounds committee of council, Atlanta's city hall will be among the most artistically decorated buildings in Atlanta during "Shrine Week," and on the occasion of every other big convention and gathering in Atlanta.

Chairman Dallas proposes having the electrical decorations permanently installed. The work will cost the city in the neighborhood of $1,500, but it will be installed in such a manner that whenever there is occasion the building can be decorated from roof to basement by the mere turn of a switch.

Councilman Dallas will meet with his committee and with Custodian Joe Shearer and the city electrician during the coming week, and the plans and designs submitted by a score of decorating houses will be carefully considered.

Council has authorized the expenditure of $2,000 for putting the hall in shape for the Shriner, and Councilman Dallas has already started work by putting the painters at work on the interior of the building.

Custodian Shearer will soon have his army of janitors at work scrubbing the building, and Chief Jensen, of the sanitary department, has promised to lend some of his street cleaning gang to the task of cleaning Grady monument.

The following were the officers elected:

President, P. T. Samuel, Atlanta; vice president, R. W. Crenshaw, Atlanta; corresponding secretary, Miss Mabel Langford, Whitesville; secretary, Mrs. J. R. Thaxton, Griffin; treasurer, Miss Naomi Duncan, Macon; superintendent of Tenth Legion, Marshal Woodson, Atlanta; superintendent of Tenth Legion, R. E. Mehl, Atlanta; junior vice president, Miss Ina Barnett, Savannah; superintendent Christian City, Woodson, Atlanta; secretary, J. H. Wood, Atlanta.

The West End Christian church, of Atlanta, was awarded the state attendance banner, while the efficiency banner was given to the Watkinsville society with seventy members. The Watkinsville society is one of two in the south and of eleven in the whole world who have reached 100 per cent in efficiency. The report of Miss Mabel Langford, state field secretary, made today, showed the working in Georgia has been more than doubled in the last year. There are now a total of eighty-one societies in the state, forty-five of which were organized last year.

Miss Langford was appointed to represent Georgia at the meeting of the national state society conference at Sagamore Beach, Mass., July 14-15. The national board will be asked to send a field secretary to Georgia for three months.

Gainesville Negro Killed.

Gainesville, Ga., March 29.—(Special.)—Lee Mack, negro byrander, while other negroes were carrying on a running pistol duel near the Holiness church (colored) at night last night, Ed Harrison and Will McKenney were shooting at Ed Estes and John Brown when Mack was killed. The coroner's jury was unable to decide whose revolver caused the death, and both the assailants are held in jail without bond.

Japanese Empress Ill.

Tokio, March 29.—The Dowager Empress Haruko, who is suffering from pneumonia, continues in a serious condition at the imperial villa at Numama, a watering place southwest of Yokohama. Court physicians are in attendance.

CLARKE AND KIRBY RUN NIP AND TUCK

Little Rock, Ark., March 29.—With returns from about 100 small townships missing, William Kirby, opponent of United States Senator James P. Clarke, in the contest for the senatorial nomination, had a lead of eight votes in unofficial reports received up to 9 o'clock tonight of the ballots cast in the democratic primary election of last Wednesday. Of 131,112 votes reported, Mr. Kirby is accredited with 55,640 and Senator Clarke 55,552. Less than 3,000 of the estimated vote of the state is unaccounted for.

Of course the result will be made in the various counties tomorrow. In Arkansas the democratic nomination is equivalent to election.

DR. WHITE WILL PREACH G. N. & I. BACCALAUREATE

Millersville, Ga., March 29.—(Special.)—Dr. John E. White, pastor of the First Baptist church of Atlanta, and one of the best known preachers in the south, will preach the baccalaureate sermon at the Georgia Normal and Industrial college here this Sunday in June.

Dr. White will have the distinction of addressing the largest graduating class that has ever been turned out by any institution in Georgia, there being 130 members of the senior class, exceeding all the past records of this college for Georgia women.

May Sentence Woman Today.

Judge Newman, of the United States court, is expected to pass sentence this morning on Mrs. Annie Stoe, convicted white slaver, now a resident of Fulton county jail. Sam Stoe, her husband, was given five years by the same presiding judge shortly after a jury hearing the evidence returned a verdict of guilty.

Kipling Story Told in Music By Philharmonic Orchestra

A brilliant feature of the concert to be given by Atlanta's Philharmonic orchestra Tuesday evening will be Pemberton's orchestral interpretation of Kipling's story, "The Light That Failed." In the music there is brought out all the tragedy, and the many dramatic incidents in the hero's life, this number on the program to be one of the most ambitious yet undertaken by the orchestra, under the able direction of Mr. Mortimer Wilson.

The work of an American composer, W. F. Mason, of Los Angeles, will be the symphonic overture, and the various numbers on the program have been selected with a view to their world-wide popularity in an appeal to people of all elements.

Eva Emmett Wycoff, one of the best-known and most talented of American singers, will be the soloist of the evening. The formal program is:

Symphonic overture, Romance, Allegro, M. F. Mason.

From "I Pagliacci," Intermezzo, Mennuto and Gavotte, R. Leoncavallo.

From "The Case of Fire," Ave-Maria, M. Bruch, Miss Wycoff.

Solvejg's Love Song, Edv. Grieg; Lullaby, J. Brahms.

Reverie, Symphonic poem, "The Light That Failed" (after Kipling), C. E. Pemberton.

"The Damnation of Faust," Hungarian March, H. Berlioz.

ENGINE BIDS COME BEFORE COMMITTEE

City Purchasing Agent Chambers and members of the advisory committee appointed to confer with him in all matters pertaining to purchase of city supplies will meet this week for the purpose of again taking up the bids on engines for the eighth and ninth wards. The advisory board consists of Mayor Woodward, Councilman W. G. Humphrey, chairman of the finance committee, and City Comptroller Goldsmith.

Under the ordinance creating the office of purchasing agent, council approved that clause of the ordinance which provides for the advisory committee acting with the purchasing agent. The ordinance had the effect of taking from the various city departments the authority to control purchases, but it does not in any way exclude the various city boards from participating in the discussions of the purchasing supplies for the departments they administer.

Mayor Woodward has asked Councilman Ashley to examine the specifications submitted by the various bidders. Councilman Ashley is a technical engineer, and is well versed in the subject of motive power. Councilman Ashley will make a report to the purchasing agent and the advisory committee. His report will be in the nature of an analysis of the various machines from the standpoint of efficiency and economy.

The American La France company submitted the lowest bid in dollars and cents, but it rests with the purchasing agent and the advisory committee to decide which is the cheapest from the standpoint of money, efficiency and durability.

NEGRO SHOTS OFFICER TWICE NEAR THE HEART

Newport News, Va., March 29.—Deputy Sheriff Edwin Curtis, of Elizabeth City county, was shot twice near the heart and probably fatally wounded today by John Henry Carter, a negro he had arrested in Hampton for selling whisky on Sunday.

A posse pursued Carter, but he escaped, and is believed to have boarded a boat for Norfolk.

After arresting the negro, Deputy Curtis had allowed him to go into his house to get some clothing before starting for the jail. Carter returned with a pistol and opened fire on the officer.

ACCUSED OF GAMBLING, STUDENTS GREW RIOTOUS

Newspaper Correspondent Assaulted at Chapel Hill for Telling the Truth.

Raleigh, N. C., March 29.—(Special.) Threatened by a crowd of students of the University of North Carolina, in the lobby of the postoffice at Chapel Hill at noon today, S. R. Winters, correspondent of The News and Observer at that place, was struck by one of them because of the publication of an account of gambling by students at the state university in Sunday morning's paper.

A party of eleven, including students and citizens of Chapel Hill, were on Saturday bound over to court on the charge of playing "craps," and the report gave their names. This caused the attack on him, the evidence being that only the intervention of students and a hurried call for the police kept the crowd from beating up Winters.

The faculty of the university and the authorities of Chapel Hill are on a campaign to break up gambling at the university and in the town. The chief of police of Chapel Hill, in a statement tonight, says that with what evidence in hand, he will be able to round up the ring leaders in gambling in the university.

CHOOSING YOUR PARENTS.

An inhabitant of Pensacola, Fla., has just died at the age of 111 years. He attributed his longevity to regular habits. Until lately he had risen at daybreak each day and retired early at night. Incidentally, he comes of a long-lived family.

Once and so often, the public is treated to some remarkable instance of unusual length of days, varying from the nineties to the century mark and beyond. All sorts of reasons, ranging from non-use of tobacco and whisky to promptness in putting the cat out at night, are assigned by the more or less fortunate individuals thus thrust in the limelight.

Regularity of habits, as cited in the Pensacola instance, is a first-class thing. It conserves vitality and it makes your neighbors and your family happy. They know how to place a man who is regular. But while we would not discourage the person given to doing the right thing at the right time, or words to that effect, it will do us no harm to remember that many persons who observe scrupulous habits die at a green young age, while the "irregulars" live on until they are apt to become the despair of Father Time.

One element the average person forgets, and it is illustrated in the Pensacola case, is the wisdom of, according to Oliver Wendell Holmes, carefully "choosing one's parents." It appears the Pensacola man did, for the family stock was so strong that a brother lived even longer than he. In other words, the father or mother, or both parents, of these men were discreet liars. And their descendants, in fulfillment of Biblical promise, "lived long in the land which the Lord their God had given them."

The moral, of course, is that if your own parent has been careless with regard to the physical and mental inheritance he passed on to you, it is incumbent upon you to be more scrupulous with the birth-right you pass on to your own child. This doesn't necessarily mean the strict application of eugenics, which excellent science is nowadays being carried to an unhappy extreme. It does mean reasonable attention to the primary principles of hygiene, as they are today available to every man, woman and child able to read a text-book, magazine or newspaper.

We can live with as rigid regularity as we please. But if the vitality passed on to us by our parents is faulty, we run small chance of adding to the illustrious record of centenarians.

PAGE VINDICATED.

President Wilson has approved the speech which got Ambassador Walter Page into trouble. It will be remembered that some of the Anglo-phobists, who have terribly sensitive feelings nowadays, took offense because of what they believed was "trucking" to Great Britain. The senate demanded a copy of the speech. It has been forthcoming and now has the formal imprimatur of the president's approval.

It is to be hoped the incident will end right here. Walter Page is not the kind of man to practice indiscretion. His speech was entirely impromptu, and the press covered it fragmentarily. What sounded like good-natured bantering when heard in person, read a trifle curiously in cold type and disjointed sentences. Some of our more unimaginative and critical brethren could not, however, see the matter in this light. Hence, the implied rebuke to Page. That the shaft went home is shown in the fact that the next address the ambassador delivered, he read from a carefully prepared typewritten manuscript.

By and large, the whole incident is a tempest in a tea-cup. Mr. Page is suffering from the glaring breaches made by other diplomats, and from the tendency toward censoriousness, where our foreign representatives are concerned. It is, however, to be hoped that the senate will sufficiently recover its sense of humor to allow our most important foreign diplomat to utter a few facetious extemporaneous remarks without having to go on the grill for them.

SNOWING PROSPERITY.

The federal department of agriculture last week issued a statement to the effect that the nation faced a prospect of bumper crops by reason of the succession of snow storms that have blanketed practically every part of the country.

The Constitution commented recently on the series of snowfalls in Georgia, with the prediction that they heralded an unwonted prolific season of crops covering the range of agriculture.

Conditions on an approximate scale have been reproduced throughout the nation. The providential and fortunate feature is that the snow appears to have fallen at such season as not to injure fruit, while benefiting every other product.

Science gives snow precedence as the best form of natural fertilizer available. The longer the white mantle lingers and the slower it is in melting the better the prospect of results from the dollars and cents standpoint.

Measured by these standards, it has this winter been literally snowing prosperity, or at least a reliable forecast of prosperity in America. From the Atlantic to the Pacific, and excluding only the sub-tropical parts of the country, the waiting acres have everywhere had the stimulus of soil-enriching ingredients straight from the laboratories of nature.

These underlying conditions make more pertinent The Constitution's contention that all interest, business, political, economic and industrial, should co-operate this year in assuring a season of prosperity without parallel in the country's history.

To that end, congress should be charged about more radical legislation. The interstate commerce commission should decide, and not play with, the decision as to whether railroad rates are or are not to remain stationary. An adverse decision, even, is better than uncertainty. The demagogue should be chained up. The croaker ought to be exiled to outer darkness.

When nature arranges all the stage settings for prosperity, it is the least human agencies can do to adjust themselves to this benevolent program.

OTTO KAHN ON ART.

Otto H. Kahn, chairman of the board of directors of the Metropolitan Opera company of New York, was the central figure in an unusual and significant scene at an assembly of the girls' high schools of that city recently. As related in an extract from The New York Times, published elsewhere, Mr. Kahn, who is also chairman of the board of the Century opera house, which gives the people grand opera at popular prices, had presented to the high school girls of the city 2,000 tickets to representative performances. It was to accept the appreciation of these young women that Mr. Kahn, to whom Atlanta is primarily indebted for the annual engagement of the Metropolitan here, attended a "convention" they had arranged for that purpose.

In his address Mr. Kahn said: "Wealth is only in part made up of dollars and cents, and the occupant of a 25-cent seat who has a love for music gets more from the opera than the wife of the millionaire yawning in a box." Mr. Kahn advised the girls that the cultivation of a love for the artistic was a sure guarantee for happiness and development.

He is right not only with regard to individuals, but equally with regard to cities. The city that comes to appreciate grand opera, or any other form of art, comes finally, as he says, to ignore that which is cheap in recreation or amusement and to demand that which is elevating and expanding. From this angle the value that accrues to Atlanta from her grand opera seasons must be measured in the dimensions of the future, and cannot be estimated in money or in temporary advantage. The sentiment comes with especial pertinence from Otto Kahn, who in accumulating a fortune has become one of the most prominent and intelligent devotees of all forms of art in America.

We have with us this spring the annual killers of time and the fruit crop.

Mr. Bryan needn't worry. While he is lecturing on "Peace" they are christening battleships to preserve it.

Mrs. Pankhurst congratulates the British government on the trouble in Ulster.

John Lind would make good as president of a correspondence school for diplomatic discretion.

Grand opera season in Atlanta will also produce a bumper crop of southern peaches.

Huerta's foreign policy probably includes liberal deposits of a personal nature in foreign banks.

It may be only a coincidence that Mr. Taft waited till the Colonel was out of the country before waiting him to the tune of three pages in The Saturday Evening Post.

"Just From Georgia"

By FRANK L. STANTON.

Why the Editor Feels Relieved.
"The president had a hard time filling the ambassadorship," says the editor of The Whitsett Courier, "but we feel greatly relieved to know that one will not be offered us. We have all along been afraid that he would call on us to serve our country in that line, and we didn't want to hurt his feelings by declining the job. We wouldn't leave the cotton and watermelon fields of Lowndes for the best job in the gift of the government."

For Peace and Profit.

A peace-loving Billville brother, after studying the Mexican question, sends us the following:

"When Spring first holt upon us takes I don't for fighting battles;
Just want to trap them rattlesnakes.
An' sell 'em fer their rattles.
My soul by no war note is stirred
To action high an' strong;
Just want to trap a mockin'bird
An' sell him for a song."

THE ARGENTINE REPUBLIC

By GEORGE FITCH.
Author of "At Good Old Slawsh."

The Argentine republic extends from the throat to the foot of South America, a distance of 2,500 miles, and is one-third as large in area as the United States. It is, roughly speaking, a large wheat field and cattle ranch with a metropolis in one corner and a backward, uncivilized, and uncultured wilderness in the other. It is, however, a nation being very strong on mountain climbing.

Argentina is shut off by the Atlantic in front, the mountains behind, the South Pole below and about 3,000 miles of unplanted wilderness above. Those Americans wishing to visit the country need not wait for the train. It will not come along for a good many years. To reach it one must travel by the steamer across the equator and so far beyond that baseball is unknown, English is a foreign language and an American newspaper is a curiosity. For all this Argentina is very much up-to-date and Americans who visit it come home with many valuable suggestions.

Argentina raises wheat and cattle for a living and exports both to the hungry nations of the world who eat knife and fork in hand, for the ships from Buenos Ayres. There is enough good land in the republic to feed the world, but Argentina hasn't experimented with the idea. The wheat and most of its good land is owned in vast ranches. To be a great land owner in Argentina with a winter residence in Buenos Ayres and a house in Paris, is one of the most desirable things in the world, but to be a common citizen, farming on shares, and blamed poor shares at that, is not much more attractive than sewing pants for a living in New York.

Argentina was settled almost four hundred years ago, but suffered from a common South American disease called Spanish government, until 1810, since which time it has been a republic. It is very stable and sedate for its location and has only had a few dozen revolutions. It has been quiescent for twenty years.

Argentina has as many people as Pennsylvania, and raises more wheat than Minnesota, though not so much corn as Illinois. Its capital is Buenos Ayres which has a sixth of the population and most of the advantages. It has fifteen thousand miles of railroad, a battleship or two and enough public schools to educate about half of its people. It speaks Spanish, thinks Parisian and grows American fashion. We need not envy Argentina in anything, but it is more than it needs a porterhouse is cheap down there.

Brevities.

Dr. Johnson's house in Gough square, London, has been removed and will be opened to the public as a museum. The house is narrow and has only two rooms on each floor. It was the house in which Johnson worked. On the entrance door there is still the old chain, as strong and big as a trace chain, which was stretched across the door at night to keep out marauders. State authorities of Colorado are making a thorough study of minerals having a supposed to have radio activity, and authorities now assert that every curative mineral spring in Europe can be duplicated in that state. It is said there are fifteen springs in Colorado having radio activity. The Tanganyika railway, crossing German East Africa, has been finished. It is 700 miles long.

Love of Art an Asset, Otto Kahn Tells Girls

(From The New York Times.)

Otto H. Kahn, chairman of the board of directors of the Century opera house, told the Washington Irving high school girls yesterday morning that his two initials "O. H." did not stand for "Opera House," as some people supposed.

Mr. Kahn was receiving an "appreciation" from the high school girls in return for 2,000 opera tickets which he gave to the different high schools of the city. In the different high schools of the city, in the Washington Irving high school, a "convention" and girls were in attendance from the fifteen high schools of widely separated parts of the city.

In return for his gift of 2,000 tickets, Mr. Kahn received during the exercises 50,000 tickets. The return gift might be described as a shower of tickets, for the tickets were thrown to him, making a carpet of red, white and blue at his feet, while others fell upon him. Many he caught in a early decorative basket that had been given to him for the purpose. The tickets came from 1,500 girls of the school who marched into the room, down one aisle, past the stage, and out of the room by another door. The Washington Irving high school was so many pupils that all cannot be accommodated in the assembly hall at one time. The girls who flung the tickets were those for whom there were no seats.

The tickets in appearance resembled theater tickets. On the coupons were the date and the words, "Sec. O. K." The body of the ticket read: "This ticket for Otto H. Kahn, the man who 'Gilded' the house of public school pupils with tickets to high-class opera, admits him to the leading gratitude of representatives of the schools of New York, and is issued to him in an appreciation convention at the Washington Irving high school, March 25, 1914."

A Pretty Scene.
The exercises began, as they do regularly at the school, with the reading of a psalm and the salute to the flag. Mr. Kahn had a central place on the platform between two of the officers of the Pupils' association. At the rear of the platform, with other guests, were Mrs. and Miss Kahn. Mr. Kahn, as hero of the occasion, looked on if it were not for the fact that he was an opera singer than that great gathering of happy school girls. But he bore it bravely and bowed his thanks when the mistress of ceremonies made a nice little speech and told him what she and the girls thought of his generosity and that he was a modern Christopher Columbus in discovering a very nice way to be generous. Then things began to happen.

Aida, an Egyptian dandy bearing a large green lotus leaf "from the Valley of the Nile," marched upon the stage to the music of an air from the opera and presented her gift. Then came other dandies from other operas, all moving to the familiar music, Marguerite laid a long string of pearls at the hero's feet; Cenerentola, a slender, dark witch, danced with her tambourine and flung him a rose, and the stately Brunhilda laid her rose before him.

Following the opera heroines came a band of uncommonly pretty girls in high school dress, of different colors. They were representatives of the different girls' high schools who had received tickets. Each of them said a pretty little word of thanks for her school. It was then that Mr. Kahn had a chance to talk back and tell them that opera house was not part of his name.

Mr. Kahn then spoke of the necessity for the higher forms of amusement. "I believe," he said, "that the reason we have so many cheap novels and objectionable plays is that we have neglected to give families of moderate means the opportunity to hear the best music and the best drama."

It was then that the army of 1,500 girls, all wearing white middie blouses, passed in front of Mr. Kahn, back of whom had been placed a big American flag, and showed their appreciation of the gift of tickets.

President Churchill, of the board of education, and Mrs. Churchill were present, and President Churchill made a speech which kept the girls laughing.

Deprecates Maudlinism In Handling Criminals

Editor Constitution: The papers tell us of another bold attempt to rob a bank. Every day similar things occur. There must be a reason. Perhaps a mistake has been made in the purpose of the law and the business of the courts. A burglar or bandit intent upon robbery—murder, if necessary—is caught, given a fair trial, as most criminals get, and some people who have heard of such a case, criticize the courts and juries who have listened patiently to all the evidence and say they are guilty. A thief robs a bank or home, complacently folds his arms and pleads guilty and is sentenced to a penitentiary. Five or ten years, and sometimes comes out with money in his pockets—$5,000 or $10,000 per year for his services.

A burglar or bandit or murderer is sentenced to a penitentiary. He decides not to work, defies and taunts the guards and is very properly given the lash and flogging as some sentimental folk, who say law is to "reform," not to punish, rush into the print and sometimes bring such pressure upon our grand juries as to compel them to find bills against men who only discharge their duty.

Law is for the protection of society. Courts are to see that the law is executed. Chancellors are not "reformatories," but means of punishment.

Sale of Titles.

(From The London Chronicle.)

Dom Pedro II, who lost the throne of Brazil in 1889, was the last monarch to offer titles for sale. In order to obtain funds for the erection of a hospital in Rio de Janeiro, the emperor announced that he would confer the title of "baron" on every subscriber of 100,000 milreis, and the title of "count" on every subscriber of 250,000 milreis. Many proved willing to become ennobled on these terms, and the emperor met his object. He had to endow the hospital as well as build it. Over the main entrance may still be seen the inscription suggested by Dom Pedro, "Man Vainly to Human Misery." Although French titles of nobility were abolished at the time of the revolution by a decree revived in 1871, yet the ministry of justice issues certificates of nobility. Members of the French diplomatic service who use titles have to obtain one of these certificates, and pay stiffly for the transaction. The fees in the case of a duke amount to £720, a marquis pays £400, a viscount £250, a baron £50, and a chevalier £52. The certificate sets out the pedigree of the holder, and the holder has been fully established, and the seal of the republic is affixed to this patent of nobility.

ATLANTA WILL BE MADE

"SMOKELESS CITY" BY GEORGIA WATER POWER

By E. M. Hall, M. Am. Soc. C. E.

Atlanta has often been described as a railroad center, and as a commercial center, but its strategic position as a water power center is to be one of the main advantages that will make it a smokeless city of 500,000 inhabitants within the next decade. It is located on the elevating hills 1,070 feet above sea level and 300 feet above flood plane of the nearest river, and yet it is entirely surrounded by water power, having about an equal amount in every direction for 100 miles and including within a radius of 100 miles 1,151,000 net 10-hour horsepower based on average low water. This would warrant a wheel installation of more than 1,000,000 horsepower, to take care of peak loads and secondary power. Within the same area there is probably 500,000 additional horsepower on small streams not included in the above figures.

Within this circle of about 100 miles radius the Georgia Railway and Power company owns 10 great water power plants with an aggregate capacity for wheel installation of 345,000 horsepower. Five of these powers are on the Savannah water shed, four on the Chattahoochee water shed and one on the Etowah water shed. Two other powers on the Chattahoochee are fully developed and in operation, one on the Savannah water shed is in operation, but not yet fully developed. This last is the great power at Tallulah Falls, Ga., on Tallulah river, which has a working head of 165 feet. The big storage dam, at Mathis, a short distance above, which is nearing completion, will bring the plant up to its full capacity. The wheel installation at the plant will ultimately amount to 80,000 horsepower. This is warranted by the peculiar conditions of ample storage, high head and electrical transmission on a line that receives power from several other sources, and delivers it to consumers requiring a high peak load. There are also other consumers who are willing to take secondary power from high stages of river that would otherwise run to waste. The Georgia Railway and Power company proposes to develop its 10 water powers, which are located in three different water sheds and in different areas of rainfall and connect them all with the same system of transmission lines under the same management.

The advantages of such a system are evident. High water, one plant can compensate for low water at another plant, and power coming from different sources will minimize the delays caused by breaks in transmission lines. It is easily seen that in such a system the different water sheds will bear a much higher wheel development than could be installed by a single power plant not thus connected with others.

The completed and proposed developments of this great water power company are only a beginning. Their most important powers are within 100 miles of Atlanta and they do not own more than one-fifth of the developed and undeveloped power that is within the same radius. There are other water power companies, and much undeveloped power within this radius, and the city of Atlanta will be able to get all the power that is needed. Long transmission lines will not be necessary, but if they are resorted to, streams and power sites within 155 miles of Atlanta will produce 3,163,000 horsepower. The fall on the streams is based on government surveys and the flow is based on long records of stream measurement.

The Canal Tolls Issue Very Succinctly Stated

Editor Constitution: The exemption of American coastwise shipping from Panama canal tolls has turned out to be a matter of national integrity rather than politics. The president expresses his opinion very plainly when he says: "If the promises we make in such matters are debatable, for one to do not make a debate with the people. Our best men have said that since we built the canal, and since it is on our continent, it is ours to do as we please with it. We built it, it is on our continent, and it is ours—also that is very true—but it is not ours to do as we please with it."

As far back as 1857, H. de la Serna explored Central America for a canal route. Numerous other explorations and proposals of canals followed, but it was not until 1881 that a French company, under Count de Lesseps, of Suez fame, began work on a canal in Nicaragua. In view of this work the Clayton-Bulwer treaty was signed with England in 1850, and it is true that the treaty pertained to Nicaragua particularly but it also stated its purpose as "not only to accomplish a particular object, but to establish a general principle." It required that neither country should have any exclusive rights or concessions, and that both should guarantee its neutrality in war. In consideration of this, England gave up a number of island possessions on the Mosquito coast.

By 1894, the de Lesseps company, which had been backed by private capital, mostly American and French, had failed, and his work gone to decay. A number of the high officials of the company were accused of fraud and sent to prison in France. De Lesseps, it is said, died of a broken heart. Soon after this our government proposed to build a canal through Panama. Great Britain was asked to release us from the Clayton-Bulwer treaty unconditionally, but refused, as in that case she would be simply out her before mentioned island possessions without gaining any advantage. Consequently the Hay-Pauncefote treaty was drawn up in 1900 to supersede the old treaty. England conceded us the privilege of fortifying and controlling the canal with the proviso that there should be no discrimination between the ships of any nation as to tolls. This is stated in the treaty in unmistakable terms.

The point has arisen that this does not apply to coastwise shipping. The treaty does not specify what shipping it refers to, but since the term is general, it appears that it applies to all shipping. Whether that is the case or not, there is little reason for exempting American coastwise transportation, for it is practically an American monopoly—almost a monopoly—of the coastwise foreign ships offer very little competition in that line.

There were others who favored exemption, but preferred to go around the treaty than through it, so to speak. They offered two solutions. One was to refund the tolls charged on entrance to all American coastwise ships when they passed out the other end; the other method was to subsidize all American coastwise shipping of any kind. These methods might have stood in the court of law, but not in a court of equity—and honor is certainly above law.

The fact that England subsidizes her shipping and that the Suez canal, though unfortified itself, is controlled by the great Gibraltar, does not bear on the matter in the least; still some of the papers have made much of those facts. Under the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, England put us in her debt by her concessions on the Mosquito coast, and under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty we promised to pay off that debt by allowing ships of all nations to pass through the canal at the same toll rates. That was what we pledged our word to, and there were no specifications as to free coastwise shipping at the time. It is too late to specify now.

GEORGE J. RAWLINS,

urement by the United States geological survey. Average low water is arrived at by taking the average flow for the two lowest weeks in each year, for the seven years from 1900 to 1906 inclusive, and taking the average of these for a water power basis. In making additions to the power thus obtained for a proper wheel installation we must consider the storage facilities not only at the power under consideration, but also at powers on the same stream above it. We must also consider whether the power is to be run as a separate plant or in conjunction with others. To the 10-hour horsepower at average low water an average addition of 25 per cent has been made for wheel installation, but in some cases more than 100 per cent should be added, while in others there should be no addition.

Geological Conditions.
The great water powers in this region are at the escarpments where the rivers pass from the crystalline rocks of the older to the younger formations. The Piedmont escarpment that formed the ancient coast line of the Atlantic ocean runs through Columbia, Augusta, Milledgeville, Macon and Columbus, these cities being the heads of navigation on the respective rivers. The Piedmont escarpment, or "fall line," is the line between the crystalline archaean rocks and the cretaceous clays and limestones lying unconformably upon them. From Columbus, Ga., the escarpment continues westwardly and northwardly through Tallahassee and Wetumpka, Ala., Cedartown and Cartersville, Ga., and other points as an approximate division between the crystalline rocks on the east and the paleozoic rocks of the west. It still the fall line from an older to a younger and softer formation and causes precipitous shoals in the streams that cross it.

Typical Rivers.
The Savannah river flows from the Seaboard railroad bridge to Augusta dam; distance, 57 miles; fall, 216 feet; average low stage, 3,100 second feet.

Oconee river from Georgia railroad bridge to Milledgeville; distance, 145 miles; fall, 202 feet; average low stage, 3,000 second feet.

Ocmulgee river from head of Jackson reservoir to Macon; distance, 62 miles; fall, 265 feet; average low stage, 660 second feet.

Flint river from Woodbury, Ga., to fall line; distance, 47 miles; fall, 234 feet; average low stage, 500 second feet.

Chattahoochee river from West Point to Columbus; distance, 34 miles; fall, 360 feet; average low stage, 1,110 second feet.

Cosawattie river from Ellijay to Cartersville; distance, 24 miles; fall, 580 feet; average low stage, 345 second feet.

Tallapoosa river, above Tallahassee, Ala.; distance, 10 miles; fall, 165 feet.

Cosco river, rapids above Wetumpka, Ala.; 95 feet fall in 15 miles; 45 feet fall in 14 miles, and 81 feet fall in 16 miles; average low stage, 3,800 second feet.

Oconee river from Tennessee, 95 miles from Atlanta, 618 feet fall in 18 miles.

Hiwassee river, in Tennessee, 100 miles from Atlanta, 230 feet fall in 9 miles.

Tennessee river, Hixson power, 111 miles from Atlanta, fall, 33 feet; average low stage, 10,000 second feet; 65,000 10-hour horsepower.

Tennessee river, Muscle Shoals, 185 miles from Atlanta; fall, 12 feet in 15 miles; average low stage, 12,000 second feet; 238,000 10-hour horsepower.

The main thing that we wish to impress is the fact that water power is abundant and well distributed in this region.

The First Vote on Question of Free Tolls

Editor Constitution: In view of the nation-wide interest in the question of tolls for coastwise vessels through the Panama canal, Georgians will be interested in the part her senators took in the passage of the present law, which grants free tolls to our coastwise ships.

By reference to The Congressional Record, page 10,511, it will be seen that the vote in the senate upon "free tolls" was taken on August 7, 1912.

Senator Bacon, chairman of foreign relations committee, was president pro tem of the senate and presiding. No man was better versed in international law, or more familiar with all of our treaties than Senator Bacon. As presiding officer he need not have voted, except in case of a tie; nevertheless, he had his vote recorded in favor of free tolls for our coastwise ships.

The then junior senator from Georgia, Hoke Smith, offered two amendments to the free tolls clause, both being intended to strengthen the law. One of his amendments was adopted. The word "exclus

MARSHALL TO FIGHT TO KEEP GIRL HERE

Starts Habeas Corpus Proceedings to Balk Efforts of Her Father.

A writ of habeas corpus was taken out Sunday by attorneys for Ed Marshall, alias Rhynata, in order to block the efforts of the father of Edith Carbraugh, of Piqua, Ohio, from taking the girl back to her home. Police Chief James L. Beavers received a telegram from the girl's father, stating that he would send a ticket to his daughter to come home on if she would do so.

Edith Carbraugh, who was supposed to be the wife of Marshall, states that she will return to Atlanta if she is carried to her old home. She declares that her people do not treat her right, and that she loves her husband.

Marshall, when seen in his cell at the jail, expressed absolute confidence that the woman he claims as his wife would stand by him in his trouble to the end. "I am not guilty of attempting to rob that negro bank on Auburn avenue," declared Marshall. "The evidence offered against me in Judge Broyles' court Friday afternoon was a bunch of lies, and those negroes were paid money to swear against me."

"I will give bond in a few days. I am a member of the White Hats, and the theatrical men throughout the country will come to my aid in giving bond for $10,000."

Both Edith Carbraugh and Marshall declare that the letter from the chief of police at Piqua, Ohio, stating that Marshall had married another woman there, and, therefore, he and Edith Carbraugh are not married, is a lie. They claim to have been married, but when asked "when and where," neither would give an answer.

BOY IS UNDER ARREST FOR KILLING TEACHER

Little Falls, N. Y., March 29.—Jean Glanini, who had been held as a suspect for the murder of Lydia Beecher, the young Poland, New York school teacher whose body was found in a clump of woods near that town, was arrested today on a warrant charging him with the crime. Alleged admissions made by Glanini, who is 15 years old and a former pupil of Miss Beecher, are held by the authorities as tantamount to a confession.

In support of the girl's reputed statements an affidavit was made today by Brainard Will, a companion of Glanini, and a neighbor, to the effect that the accused boy several days ago asked Will to assist in murdering Miss Beecher, and that he was safe in the second largest business house in Poland. Will said he did not think Glanini was in earnest.

The weapons which are alleged to have been used to commit the crime are in the possession of the authorities. There is a wrench belonging to a carman, to whose barn Glanini had access, and a hunting knife.

The wrench was recovered near the scene of the tragedy, and a knife was taken from a pantry at the Glanini home. A coat which the boy wore was stained with red spots, which he said were paint marks. The garments had been sent to a chemist for examination.

The holding on an autopsy has been delayed because the authorities have encountered difficulty in finding a physician willing to perform it. The Herkimer county physician and his supervisors recently disagreed over the scale of prices for medical work.

PARIS SUFFRAGETTES ARE TURNING MILITANT

Paris, March 29.—French suffragettes today made the first attempt to hold an outdoor meeting on a street of the boulevards. The meeting had been frowned upon by the police, and a large number of women, some of whom were wearing red caps, were seen to be on hand for the proposed demonstration, however.

On a big board which hung from the balcony of a nearby building was a threatening notice, warning the women in making the laws we obey. We denounce with indignation the legal sham which gives us the quality of French women without the rights of citizens.

Several women made speeches, after which an attempt was made to march to the boulevard, but the police strikers were dispersed by the police.

SECTION OF MOUNTAIN OVERWHELMING VALLEY

Brive, France, March 29.—A large section of a mountain near here has become detached and is sliding down into a valley, sweeping over everything in its path. Already a number of farms and cottages have been blotted out.

Heavy rumblings indicate that the mass is gaining impetus, and inhabitants are fleeing from their homes. Government engineers are at the scene to limit the extent of the disaster.

No Clue to Robber.

Columbia, S. C., March 29.—Special officers of the first and second companies continued the search today for the lone bandit who last night robbed the Seaboard Air Line railway's fast train, No. 2, to the north, in Columbia when a small package of Seaboard Air Line letters and reports was secured. No arrests have been made.

TIMELY NOTES OF OPERA STARS OF THE PAST AND THE PRESENT

By Isma Dooley.

In the group of opera singers who will assemble here this year, the distinguished presence of Putnam Griswold will be sadly missed. His last appearance here was in "Faust," when he superbly interpreted the role of Mephistopheles. He was internationally recognized as America's greatest singer.

He bore no decorations from his native country (we have not grown big enough yet to single out our people of merit and decorate them for their achievements in the arts), but on this great singer's coffin was a robe of green and gold and ermine, one of the great decorations conferred upon him by the Kaiser. "My singer," the Kaiser affectionately referred to Mr. Griswold when the latter, by special invitation, sang at the wedding feast of the Kaiser's daughter last year, on which occasion the czar of Russia and the king and queen of England were present.

The New Opera, "Julien."

Those Atlanta people who were disappointed when they heard that "Julien," Charpentier's new opera, was not in the Atlanta repertoire will be somewhat consoled, probably, when they hear that the consensus of opinion is that the opera is disappointing, and that it was not for the fact that it was not in the repertoire that it would have no chance at all in the favor of Metropolitan art lovers.

"The third act of the opera gives Geraldine Farrar an opportunity not only to sing as only she can, but to prove more conclusively that she is one of the greatest actresses in the world," said a New York man who has seen "Julien" played several times.

The famous "third" act it is called, and pictures of Miss Farrar in the part are being used in many publications, "Town and Country," of recent date, carrying a page photograph of her. In the first production of the opera, both Caruso and Farrar were given a dozen encores, and this continued ovation has followed them in the presentation of the opera which has not brought the composer the enthusiastic criticisms he expected.

"Manon" Instead of "Carmen."

Whereas there is evident disappointment over the announcement that "Carmen" will not be presented as the premiere of the Atlanta opera this season, those who stop to think will realize that if "Carmen" were not presented, there are few operas written which have in them more beautiful music than Massenet has put into the hackneyed but nevertheless dramatic theme of "Manon Lescaut."

Five great composers have dealt with the theme. It is an opera the world has always applauded and those who know declare that the Massenet music rivals in beauty of that expressed by any other composer selecting the theme.

Geraldine Farrar as Manon has every opportunity for the dramatic work which completes her operatic art, and with Caruso interpreting the part of the lover as splendidly as he did that same part last year, the performance commends itself at once. In the cast will be Farrar, Caruso, Sparks, Van Dyck, Duchene, the always excellent Segurilla, Ananian, with Toscanini, the unrivaled in his line, the director.

It was Puccini's "Manon" which was presented here last year, Mlle. Bori singing the role of Manon. While the theme is the same, the music is very different, and the treatment of characters and many incidents very different.

In the salon scene Miss Farrar is said to do some of her most ravishing work, while her love and appreciation of the French language makes the Massenet opera most pleasing to her.

Facts About "Rosenkavalier."

Gatti-Casazza, Conductor Hertz and Richard Strauss are given equal honors by the majority of the New York critics in the success of "Rosenkavalier."

which will be presented in Atlanta the Wednesday night of grand opera. The Musical America gives two pages and illustrations to a review of the opera.

Referring to opinions of Strauss' compositions in the past, and the different expressions as to his more meritorious productions, the editor of The Musical America writes of the opera as follows:

Anticipating details it may here be recorded that the new score necessitates no fundamental revaluation of Strauss. He is still himself in aesthetic ideals, in musical system—as basically himself as the Wagner of "Tristan" was the Wagner of "Meistersinger." And such differences for good or ill are to be noted as attributable to degree and quality of inspiration, not to absolute novelty of manner.

Recognizing rightly enough the full import of the production, Mr. Gatti-Casazza set it for a night outside of the regular subscription series. Moreover, the prices of tickets were raised. Parquet chairs were at $10 and other accommodations rose proportionately—a measure sanctioned by the precedents of "Rosenkavalier" and "The Girl."

Whatever may be the eventual consensus of opinion regarding "Rosenkavalier," the attitude of Tuesday's large and brilliant audience seemed to point to a popular success. The reception of the opera was cordial and sincere, and much of the hearty laughter was provoked by the farcical situations and by lines unbecomingly uttered by the singers.

German. Great enthusiasm was manifested over the artist and Mr. Hertz, curtain calls being numerous and flowers abundant.

Goritz and Ober.

In commenting upon the cast, the same writer continues, in part: There are no less than twenty-seven speaking parts in "Rosenkavalier." More than half of them are of secondary importance and yet the vitality of the scenes depends utterly upon the smooth co-operation of all these as well as the choral-factors. The present production leaves little to be desired in such respects. Arduous rehearsal has caused the machinery of the scenes to move like clockwork.

The signal honors of the performance fell to Goritz, to Mme. Ober as Octavian, to Hertz as the Prince, Miss Case, the Sophie, and Mr. Gatti-Casazza. As just noted, Mr. Goritz, the incomparable comedian, succeeded in maintaining the character within the necessary bounds, while at the same time presenting a portrayal of unctuous humor.

Mme. Ober's Octavian.

At the Berlin Royal Opera he latter sang the title role of this opera some two dozen times. To note that she has developed an admirable character is, therefore, scarcely necessary. A woman masquerading in boy's garments is seldom convincing. The new mezzo-soprano may be termed an exception. Not only does she convey a reasonably adequate illusion in appearance, manner and gait, but even when disguised in maidenly attire she preserves with admirable consistency and delicious humor, the masculine semblance by her broad stride and general awkwardness in walking her skirts. Vocally, she maintained the high standard previously established.

Mme. Hempel made of the Princess an attractive and genuinely poetic figure, and proved that she was a singer satisfying in pure cantabile than in coloratura.

POLICEMAN PRAISED FOR KILLING A MAN

Buffalo, N. Y., March 29.—Edward T. Piqua, a patrolman, was praised today by Chief of Police Michael Regan for killing Charles G. Keller, 27 years old, a notorious criminal, a policeman interfered in a fight between Keller and another man, and shot Keller through the heart.

It is hard to be forced to kill a man," said Chief Regan, "but there are toughs who think their purpose in life is to beat a policeman. Once in a while they buck the wrong man."

BRITISH NAVY LEADS IN FLYING MACHINES

Winston Churchill Interests Commons by His Story of the Naval Airships.

London, Friday, March 29.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—William Ewart Gladstone was the last British statesman who could make popular reading with a speech expounding the annual budget of government appropriations. Winston Churchill has done the same thing for the naval estimates. The young first lord of the admiralty compelled the house of commons to listen for two and a half hours while he gave a review of the latest achievements in naval science so interestingly that even the "little navy" men kept their seats to the end.

Battle between ironclads the first lord described as "more like a battle between two egg shells striking each other with hammers" than two men in armor striking each other with heavy swords. The offensive power of modern battleships is out of proportion to their defensive power. Never was the disproportion so marked. In the light of that illustration the importance of the new type of aircraft carrier was emphasized. It is a home to us—the importance of hitting first and hitting hard and keeping on hitting until the necessity of spending money in arriving at the highest possible efficiency.

Leads in Flying.

Mr. Churchill believes the British navy leads the world in flying. He promised his fellow members a unique exhibition later in the season by bringing out a fleet of airships over the parliament buildings. "If the house will take it kindly," he remarked, "I will remove the doubts which lurk in some breasts as to the existence of aircraft carriers in either of the naval or military services."

The admiralty now possesses fifteen airships, of which are large vessels of more than 45 miles an hour speed, with sixty-two sea planes and forty-four land planes. Mr. Churchill declared his belief in the future of the aeroplane but admitted that the airship is a more practical means of action, greater carrying capacity and efficiency at night work. There are 20 officers and 120 crew who have received certificates of proficiency from the Aero Club. Attached to the flying school are 125 officers and 500 men, and Mr. Churchill predicted the number would reach 150 officers and 1,500 men before the end of the year. When he came to the admiralty two and a half years ago there were 1400 or 1500 men before the end of the year. When he came to the admiralty two and a half years ago there were 1400 or 1500 men before the end of the year.

TWO MEN ARE SHOT IN DUEL ON BRIDGE; HOLD-UP ALLEGED

Macon, Ga., March 29.—(Special.)—Two men were wounded in a pistol duel on the Fifth street bridge at an early hour this morning, in an alleged attempted hold-up. The men are W. S. Lane and C. C. Crooms. Lane claims Crooms and his brother, J. E. Crooms, attempted to hold him up, and the shooting began.

Prosperity Returns to the Philippines.

Washington, March 29.—Apparently complete recovery from drought and storms that paralyzed trade and farming activities of the Philippines last year was announced today by the bureau of insular affairs.

Customs returns from the islands show the total imports for the calendar year just ended amounted to only $2,112,786, or $2,352,165 less than for 1912, while the exports show a reduction of $1,762 from the 1912 total of $4,772,936.

The 1914 sugar crop, now in process of harvesting, is expected to exceed all recent records, while the coconut and hemp plantations are expected soon to resume normal production.

Race Riot Quelled by Fire Department.

Sedalia, Mo., March 29.—A race riot here early today was quelled only after the fire department was ordered out. The police and sheriff and deputy drive the combatants to their homes. The trouble arose at midnight between whites and negroes in a grocery store. Armed with bricks and clubs, several hundred persons battled in the downtown district for two hours.

After several arrests were made the crowd was dispersed. No one was seriously injured.

Five Persons Drowned.

Fresno, Cal., March 29.—The breaking of a suspension bridge across the San Joaquin river last night plunged four men and one woman, crossing in an automobile, 50 feet into the swift stream. They were drowned. Among the occupants of the machine were L. N. Peart, general superintendent of the San Joaquin Light and Power corporation, and E. Burgess, assistant superintendent.

Wickersham and Child Hurt.

New York, March 29.—George W. Wickersham, formerly United States attorney general, and his 4-year-old granddaughter, Winifred Akin, were cut on the face by glass from the windshield when the automobile in which they were riding dashed into a trolley pole today.

"This is a delightful surprise!"

"Come right in. We'll have luncheon in a jiffy."

Swiftly she recalls a neat little row of red-and-white labels on the pantry shelf. And she says comfortably to herself:

"Campbell's Tomato Soup"

No need of anxiety over unexpected guests. No matter how sudden the emergency, she is always ready without delay or bother to begin the cozy luncheon or the satisfying dinner with a soup which pleases the most capricious taste—fragrant piping-hot and hospitably inviting.

How is it with you—today?

GRAND OPERA STARS ARE CAUGHT IN CRUSH

Boston, Mass., March 29.—Several stars of the Boston Grand Opera company were hurt slightly when they were caught in a crush of people on the dock today just before the sailing of the steamer "Lafayette" for Europe.

The crowd of people who gathered to bid farewell to the singers, who were leaving for Paris, when the steamer "Lafayette" left, caused a crush of the crowd on the dock, which resulted in several persons being injured.

The Rev. Ding Lee Mei, the famous Chinese evangelist, has probably the largest personal prayer list of any Christian in the world. Some months ago he had more than 1,262 names on his list.
