three attacks made again of Dismode by the Germans, who again are using asphyxiating gas. The Germans sustained heavy losses.

Today along our front the artillery of the enemy has shown a certain amount of activity. Our artillery replied with success and by a strong fire provided of useful help to the French. These troops made an attack on Litzers, which yesterday fell into the hands of the enemy, but which was wrested from them again this afternoon.

PROGRESS MADE BY THE ALLIES.

Paris, April 27.—Tonight's war office statement said:

"To the north of Ypres our progress continues, as well as that of the British army. We have taken a number of prisoners and have captured a quantity of material, including bomb throwers and machine guns."

"On the front of Les Eparges-St. Remy—French of Calonne, German attacks have been repulsed. At one point on the front alone an officer estimated the killed at nearly a thousand. We have taken the offensive and are making progress."

"At Hartmann-Walckerhof, after having taken the summit we have advanced for a distance of two hundred meters down the eastern slopes."

The communication issued in the afternoon follows:

"There is nothing to add to our communications of the night. We have consolidated our positions and continue to make progress to the north of Ypres (Belgium) and also on the front of the Somme."

"The summit of Hartmann-Walckerhof was taken from us yesterday morning, was recaptured by our troops during the same day. We also took some prisoners."

By Taking a Ribbon, Girl Sends Bullet Into Lover's Head

One End of Ribbon Was Attached to a Revolver Concealed Under Cow's Coat.

Bridgeport, Conn., April 27.—Arthur Henry Cow, died at midnight in a local hospital from a bullet wound in his head. According to the story told to the police by his supposed fiancée, Miss Emily Wheeler, she played an innocent part in his death.

The police version is this: Cow came from New York today and went to the Wheeler residence in Stratford, near here, spending the evening with Miss Wheeler. He gave her an engagement ring, but before she could say anything he handed her the end of a ribbon. The other end of the ribbon was attached to the trigger of a revolver which Cow had concealed under his coat.

Miss Wheeler asked what the ribbon was for and Cow replied that it was a "surprise." At his request she pulled the ribbon which caused the revolver to explode, and the bullet reached into Cow's brain.

Miss Wheeler summoned help and Cow was taken to the hospital.

Cow recently had returned from a tour in Bermuda, where he went to recuperate from a nervous breakdown.

VAUDEVILLE MANAGERS SUED FOR BIG DAMAGES

New York, April 27.—The country's leading vaudeville booking agencies are being sued for $250,000 damages in the federal court at Chicago today in their refusal to honor certain attractions offered by the plaintiffs.

The suits are brought by Charles F. Hornsby, who maintains theatrical agencies in this city, London and Brussels, and Clifford Fisher, who has similar offices in London and Paris, against the United Booking Office of America, the Central Vaudeville Promotion company, H. B. Macpherson, Ltd., Paul Keith, Frederick F. Proctor, Charles F. Albee, John J. Murdoch, Morris Meyerfeld, Jr., and Martin Beck.

The petitioners allege that they have suffered damages of $100,000 each, and under the Sherman law a treble damages suit is alleged that since they have lost some time of a $250,000 damages suit brought by the Macpherson company against the United Booking company and others, the sole right, self to be drawn into a discussion of these demands, which Yuan Shi-kai has instructed him to refuse to discuss.

QUIT MEAT IF YOUR KIDNEYS ACT BADLY

Take tablespoonful of Salts if Back hurts or Bladder bothers—Drink lots of water.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood from the uric acid, but become weak from the overwork, and get sluggish, thus allowing uric acid to collect and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system. When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have aching pains in the back or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night, when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, and stomach or rheumatism in the morning, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jael Salts, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act free. This famous salt is made from the acid of uric acid and is a powerful diuretic, with little, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, to neutralize the uric acid in the blood, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jael Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure, makes a delicious effervescent water-drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

JAPANESE RESOLVED TO DOMINATE CHINA

According to Peking Reports. New Japanese Demands Said to Be More Menacing Than the Old.

Peking, April 24.—(225. m.)—With the new draft of the Japanese demands on China in the hands of the Chinese foreign minister, interest is aroused in the nature of the modifications Japan has made in the original document. President Yuan Shi Kai and his advisers have examined the demands as amended, but no decision has been reached and they are likely to be the subject of further discussions.

Group one of the original demands has not been altered from the form to which the Chinese government already has agreed. This group relates to Shan-Tung province.

The group dealing with South Manchuria, six articles of which China also has agreed, remains unchanged. The second article of group three, bearing on property rights and interests of the Manchurian company, is eliminated, but the first article of this group is made stronger from the Japanese viewpoint by requiring that China shall promptly compel shareholders of the Manchurian company to accept the formation of a joint company, which shall include the two nations.

The Japanese already had accepted the Chinese proposal regarding group four, which provides that the Chinese government shall not give or lease to any third power any island, port or harbor along the coast.

(The Chinese government's proposal with respect to group 4 was to the effect that while it was willing to make public declaration that China should never seek or lease a port, harbor or island to another power, it would decline to pledge itself to that effect to Japan.)

New Proposal More Menacing

The new draft entirely reconstructs group five in a manner which the Chinese representatives declare is more menacing, however, they say, the amendments are based on statements which Lu Cheng-chang, the Chinese foreign minister, made in the conference with the Japanese minister, Shi Hoki, and M. Okada and which, it is alleged the Japanese are attempting to disguise as plausible. Shi Hoki further it is declared that the Chinese foreign minister permitted himself to be drawn into a discussion of these demands, which Yuan Shi-kai has instructed him to refuse to discuss.

Group five comprises seven articles relating to the employment by the Chinese government of Japanese as advisers in political, financial and military affairs, supervision of the Chinese police, the right of Japanese ownership of land for the building of hospitals, churches and schools, the purchase of mortgages of war from Japanese, revenue railways and mining rights, as well as the right to the Japanese to propagate Buddhism in China.

At the beginning of the conference the Chinese proposed the taking of joint minutes, but to this the Japanese representatives declined to accede. As a result both Japanese and Chinese kept records of the sitting. Nevertheless, from time to time the Japanese representatives, it is asserted, leaked out that the Chinese initial certain statements, which was done.

Jap Advisers for China

With reference to article one of group five, Japan requires annexure from China declaring that when any important crisis arises China shall ask Japan to appoint "many Japanese advisers."

Article two of group five, Japan requires the right either to rent or lease lands. The Chinese express themselves as far from willing to grant the right either to rent or lease lands, because this article, which is a source of trouble from that relating to Buddhism, would have the effect of opening the entire country to the Japanese, individually, and thereby religious societies.

Article three of group five, relating to police administration, has been modified, but Japan reserves the right of appointment of police advisers and two joint Chinese-Japanese tribunals for land disputes in Manchuria, under the authority to which the Chinese and other foreigners are everywhere privileged.

The new requirement of article four of this group is also a source of concern, in which Lu Cheng-chang is said to have allowed that he is not willing to accept the new demand, namely, that China shall not be drawn into a discussion of the purchase of mortgages of war from Japanese, and the Chinese government is to adopt a procedure for the purchase of mortgages of war from Japanese, and the Chinese government is to adopt a procedure for the purchase of mortgages of war from Japanese.

The new draft of article five says that China must grant to Japan the right to build in China an armaments depot, subject to Japan reporting an arrangement with an armaments power (Great Britain) or else must grant Japan these concessions in full. It can be shown that they already have been granted to another power, and the railway in question are lines connecting Shanghai with Hankow, and Hankow with Chungking, and Chungking with Yunnan, and between Nan-chang and Chiao-chau.

Veto Power Given Japan

Article six of group five, as amended, says that China must give Japan a pledge that no foreign power shall receive a concession and that no foreign power shall be engaged in the province of Fukien without Japan's consent.

Regarding Buddhism, an act forth article seven, which is a concession to Japan's right to discuss this at a future date.

The four articles in the new draft which provide for the granting of loans may be secured by Mongolia and without Japan's consent, the opening of a number of treaty ports to Japan.

When on Monday last Lu Cheng-chang received the new draft of the demands, he wished to discuss the demands with an armaments power, but M. Hoki replied that his minister, Shi Hoki, was not to be drawn into a discussion. Lu Cheng-chang then asked him to define the limits eastern or inner Mongolia. M. Hoki replied that he was without instructions on this point.

The Japanese, however, composed of Russian, Mongol and Chinese representatives, soon about to terminate at Kishio, is expected to define the limits of outer Mongolia, which declared its autonomy and was recognized by Russia during the Russian revolution.

The Most Comprehensive, Most Satisfying Display Of Bedroom Furniture

Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. Has Ever Made

Let every housekeeper who has in mind a new bed, a new mattress, a new dresser, a new chiffonier, a new dressing table, lie herself to the Fifth Floor—the bedroom floor—of the Furniture Store.

Our great spring stocks are in their places—the greatest we have ever collected.

Greatest—a word much misused in advertisements. But its justification lies in the splendid choice this display presents—and in the prices! Everything so solid and substantial; everything built in such graceful lines—the prices come as a distinct surprise.

Will you allow us to prove these claims? We base them on such values as these—

Mahogany Beds

Post Bed, in twin or full size . . . $35.00
Post Bed, in twin or full size, rather heavy . . . $32.50
Post Bed, in twin or full size, massive . . . $40.00
Post Bed, in twin or full size, massive, with gracefully outlined headpiece . . . $47.50

Bedroom Suits

Mahogany Post Bed, Colonial style, full size . . . $40.00

Special Bungalow Bed, Spring & Mattress, Priced at $15.00

Here is value! We have a limited number of heavy, strong, white enamel bungalow beds (made very low, with hardly any headpiece) that we shall sell at $15.00, with the spring and a mattress that is half staple cotton felted. An opportunity.

A Fifty Pound Cotton Mattress $15

This mattress is filled with pure, white felted staple cotton—fifty pounds of it—and is covered with either sateen or art ticking.

To sell it at $15.00 is a triumph, inasmuch as that is the price of many branded mattresses that are filled with half linters and half felted cotton.

Mrs. Paul Althouse, one of the most charming of the wives of the Metropolitan stars. Mr. Althouse sings in "Mme. Sans-Gene" Saturday night.

A scene of bewildering beauty was presented at the Piedmont Driving club last night when the club's hospitality to opera visitors was expressed in a dinner dance, the largest at which the club has entertained at any time during previous opera festivities.

The spring foliage had made canopies of the branches of the trees hanging over the circular side of the terrace, and the boxed evergreens outlining the terrace had placed between them boxes of growing plants showing blooms of all colors. Japanese lanterns hung in festoons from the trees, and between the vine-covered columns of the balcony porch, white electric lights studied the vines covering the sides of the old stone walls of the chab, this garden marking the site of the chab of the club of twenty years ago. The small, one-story structure, did well in housing a company of one hundred people. Among these people were Presidents Cleveland, Harrison, McKinley and on two occasions President Roosevelt, in later days President Taft, and Woodrow Wilson when he was president of Princeton university.

Now, on the driveway where the members formerly came in carriages, victorias and tea-carts, and where Colonel Lowry used to make that famous turn with his coach and four, a wonderful terrace is placed, and it was on this

In the spacious ballroom, the loggia and dining room dinner was served at 8 o'clock and later the tables were removed from the ballroom and the dancing began. An orchestra was provided in the ballroom, and on the terrace.

Mr. James H. Nunnally, president of the club, and Mrs. Nunnally, and Mr. Brooks Morgan, vice president, received the guests on their arrival, and dinner began at 8 o'clock. Instead of the usual long table at which formerly only the stars of the opera have been entertained, the officers and directors of the club, and the board of directors of the Musical Festival association, entertained the stars in parties of ten and twelve, thus affording the Atlanta hostesses the pleasure of meeting in a social way the gifted people now

The ballroom was hung with garlands of amilax and above each of the columns defining the sides of the ballroom were wall baskets of pink roses showered with white snap dragons and sprays of spirea. Each table had as centerpiece a basket of pink flowers, roses, carnations and a luxury of sweet peas used. The candlesticks had shades of pink and the symbols of peace and war were expressed in the arrangement at each place.

The menu included the delicacies of the season, with fruits as ornate as delicious. The service was without flaw, and the scope and beauty of the entertainment reflected great credit on the club management and the superintendent, Mr. W. E. Richardson.

OPENS THE DOORS—OR LOOT.

If the police commission wishes that the public should give full credit to the fairness of its investigation of the police department, it must freely and frankly take the public into its confidence. Otherwise it might as well conclude its inquiry right now and admit its failure.

Conducted upon the plan that the commission's committee seems inclined to follow—open one minute, if it suits it to disclose the evidence, and closed the next in the evident desire to hold something back—it is insane and useless, convincing to no body; and, carried out upon these lines, it would have been better never to have held it.

Already there has been an effort made in certain quarters to discredit the investigation; the word "whitewash" has been used in connection with it, even before the inquiry was fairly begun. The constitution takes no part in these insinuations; we prefer to believe that the committee appointed to make this inquiry is composed of men who propose to do their duty to the city as they see it, and to present a finding in accordance with the facts developed.

Nor has the constitution made any charge whatsoever against the conduct of the department. It has taken only the position that conditions as to crime in Atlanta demand some remedy; and whether that remedy should be applied to inefficiency in the department as at present organized, or to failure of control in supply of adequate men and equipment, is a matter for the committee to determine after it has learned all the facts.

The constitution feels, therefore, that it is in a position to point out to the committee, without prejudice, the importance of an open door investigation, if it would elicit the public confidence.

The people of Atlanta are entitled to the fullest possible protection—to a feeling of personal and property security—in their homes. If they are not getting it, they have the right to know the reason why, to know wherein the protective system which they maintain is lacking and just what remedies are proposed for its strengthening.

If the doors of the inquiry room are closed, the best they can hope to do is to substitute the committee's judgment for their own. With a free and open investigation these two opinions may finally be in thorough accord; but if there is one thing more than anything else which will have a tendency to pull them apart, it is the executive session. There is nothing which more quickly breeds suspicion or casts doubt, than the door closed upon an official public inquiry. The sooner the committee realizes this and gets away from it, the better will be public reception of the evidence adduced and the decision based upon it.

Either open the doors or quit!

Upon no other basis will the people of Atlanta be satisfied with this inquiry into a system which involves the protection of their lives and property, and for which they are paying the bills.

-PAN-AMERICAN CONFERENCE.

Now, if the Colomes continue to "knock the ground from under Barnes," the unfortunate gentleman won't have standing room.

No special "Mayday" poets now. All months look alike to them.

It will require weeks of indiscriminate tipping to make Huerta a hero to the bel-lievers.

It seems fitting that the Grub Street poets should sing songs of bread.

very nature of it, as well as on account of present world conditions, the commercial aspect is certain to prove a dominating factor.

Illustrative of the interest manifested by the South and Central American republics, eighteen out of twenty of them have already given notice of their appointment of their delegates, and they are sending their leading diplomats and financiers. Haiti is sure to come in, and Mexico will be represented, though probably unofficially on account of the perturbed state of that country.

The delegates to this conference, from the time of their arrival in this country, will be the guests of the United States,

until the conference and entertainment program is concluded. In it leading American financiers will come together with those of the Latin-American countries, and opportunity will be given them to arrive at a full understanding of the needs and conditions of our neighbors to the south. The program of entertainment will include a tour of several leading cities and possibly a visit to the Panama Canal exposition at San Francisco.

This conference comes at a time when the European nations are practically all engaged in a commercial war. There is in doubt, and for which, some years of rehabilitation will be required. Events themselves have made it clear to the European struggle is largely a commercial war. There are colonization and trade schemes in abundance, back of it, and the Latin-American nations are one of the fields of trade action for which the fight is waged. It can hardly appeal to the Latin-American to know that he is part of the commercial booty of the European war, whatever be the outcome of it.

Finance and commerce are so interwoven that they can scarcely be separated in a conference of this nature. It may foresee, therefore, a conference which will have as many, if not more, commercial than strictly financial aspects. The business of the financier comes after that of the trader; the exchange of products must precede the cash settlement. If it is a question of development of whatever nature, it must depend at last on trade.

We may look, therefore, and that is the most important part of it, for a conference whose result will be to contribute materially to better commercial relations between the United States and the Latin-American countries.

As a result of the war conditions in Europe, they are already looking to us far in excess of former purchases, while we are buying in correspondingly larger proportion of their products. This conference can be made to contribute materially to the further extension of inter-American trade relations.

There is scarcely a doubt that it will be given that turn.

THE TRUCE OF MUSIC.

We have heard much of the music of the march—its inspiring, stirring, and heroic rhythms in and out of battle, but the following story, credited to "a soldier of Belgium," tells of music that resulted in a truce between the belligerents.

"It was a miserable night. A heavy rain had filled the trenches. Suddenly the music of the German band was heard.

It was a waltz tune called 'The Girl in

SPECIAL VAUDEVILLE STARS

FOR WORK IN "TALES OF HOFFMAN"

After two years' absence from Atlanta,

Lucerna Bort, as Antonia in "The Tales of Hoffman," found great praise in her her at the matinee performance yesterday by the Metropolitan Opera company.

The same qualities which have made her a very young woman, rise in three years' experience, more than make up for the Metropolitan, overwhelmed her Atlanta audience, and she made her last appearance in her beautiful beauty puts her audience at once in receptive mood. The winsome and pleasant Antonia makes real, and the equivalent flows forth with an ease and simplicity that is the envy of Antonia, one of the finest incidents of competition in the opera, she made a gem of the role, and she was finished as it was charming, and afterwards, when she would answer encore with the others of the cast, her audience would not rest until she came out alone, when they overwhelmed her with their applause.

An Ideal Performance.

The production had splendid precedent in the past, but was lived up to the

and the ideal of the opera—that of beautiful

READING LIGHT STOCK MARKET

Extensive Selling in Last Hour of the Day Caused Gains, Secured Early, to Be Lost.

New York, April 27.—Such activity was manifested by today's stock market was almost wholly at the expense of quoted values. Trading in the first half was the lightest of any for several weeks, but in the last hour extensive selling movement wiped out a good part of the early gains and caused a net decline.

Selling was preceded by reports on Italian political developments. There were some recoveries from the lowest points in the market, but the closing was distinctly irregular. The market was the feature of the closing, resuming its place as leader. It registered a small decline at first, but then steadily stronger and was at its peak when the closing bell rang.

Coppers were prominent throughout the day. A higher quotation for the metal, however, did not result in a recovery for the stock. A firming tendency only overtook by concerted liquidation.

Total sales of about $75,000,000 were made fairly from an moderate amount of decline.

Stocks, prices, volume, aggregated $15,840,000.

Atlanta State bonds unchanged on call.
