

have required at least three and one-half hours. This statement was later corroborated by Joel Hunter, an expert accountant, who verified the mathematical work entering into the financial statement. He said it would have taken him fully that length of time.

Defense Trains Guns on Harris.

The big guns of the defense were trained on the expert testimony of Dr. Harris, who made a post-mortem examination of Mary Phagan's body and who testified with a finality which was startling that Mary Phagan's death must have occurred within a half to three-quarters of an hour after eating.

The consensus of expert opinion testifying for the defense was that Dr. Harris was hazarding the wildest sort of a guess.

An interesting echo of the recent differences between Dr. Willis Westmoreland and Dr. Harris was heard while Dr. Westmoreland was on the stand. It will be recalled that Dr. Westmoreland was formerly president of the state board of health and preferred charges against Dr. Harris. When the board failed to remove him, Dr. Westmoreland resigned.

On the stand Monday Dr. Westmoreland was asked by Solicitor Dorsey what his feelings were toward Dr. Harris. He replied that he had none. Asked as to the trouble he had had with him he replied that he had "found Dr. Harris scientifically dis-

Expert Flatly Contradicts The Testimony of Dr. Harris

Professor George Bachman, professor of physiology in the Atlanta College of Physicians and Surgeons, and formerly a demonstrator of physiology in Jefferson Medical college, was put on the stand following Schiff.

By him the defense made a further attack on the deductions of Dr. H. F. Harris. He declared that the statements made by Dr. Harris amounted to guess work, according to his knowledge of the subject.

What is your nationality, professor? Mr. Arnold asked.

"I'm a citizen of Atlanta," replied the witness.

"I mean where were you born?"

"I was born a Frenchman," replied Dr. Bachman.

"Do you investigate chemistry as regards digestion?" Mr. Arnold then asked.

"Yes I teach that subject."

"How long would you say from your knowledge that it would take to digest cabbage?"

"It takes about four and a half hours for it to pass into the intestines."

"Is it acted upon after that?"

"Yes most of the action upon that substance comes after it has passed into the small intestine."

"What acts on it there?"

"The pancreatic juice."

Mr. Arnold then had the expert go into a detailed explanation of the constituents of pancreatic juice.

Night Take Much Longer.

"Suppose the person does not chew the cabbage?"

"Then it takes longer for the juices to act upon it."

"Is there any regular rule that you will find in the digestion of cabbage and bread governed by?"

"No, there are too many factors to be considered."

"Suppose a person had not thoroughly masticated the cabbage and pieces of it fell upon the opening of the stomach? Would that close up the opening and prevent the passage out?"

"Yes, when a large unchewed piece of food falls this opening it closes up and the food is kept longer in the stomach."

"Would a chemist could know all about how many of these pieces had touched that opening and how often he could not tell much about how long the food had been there could he?"

"No, it would be guess work."

"How much of the cabbage is acted upon in the stomach?"

"The protein which constitutes one and one-half per cent of the cabbage."

Showing the witness the samples of cabbage taken from the stomach of the dead girl Mr. Arnold asked if the undigested pieces could not have been sufficient to have caused a closing up of the passage to the intestines.

"Yes, they certainly would have if they touched it," the expert replied.

Mr. Arnold then drew from the expert the statement that when an indenter drew out from the body one gallon of his liquids and injected a like quantity of formalin that the ferment of the pancreatic juice made it much harder to judge anything in regard to what had been done.

Impossible to Form Opinion.

"If you were to investigate a stomach and find acidified and cabbage in the stomach or a gallon of the body substituted by one gallon of formalin no person 32 degrees of hydrochloric acid and practically nothing in the lower intestines could you or in your opinion could any physician hazard an opinion as to how long the food had been there?" asked Mr. Arnold.

"It would be impossible to form an opinion," replied the expert.

Mr. Dorsey here took up the cross-examination and asked the witness a number of technical questions as though trying to show weakness or not he was as expert as claimed by the defense.

"Where did you say you were born?" the solicitor first asked.

"In Alsace-Lorraine," Dr. Bachman replied.

"Are you German or French?"

"I'm a French birth and parentage," replied the physiologist, referring to Alsace Lorraine as French as Frenchmen the world over still do despite the fact that it has been German territory since the Franco Prussian war.

"How long have you been with the Atlanta College of Physicians and Surgeons?"

"This is my fourth year."

"Whom did you succeed?"

"Dr. Stewart Roberts."

"What is your work?"

"Physiological chemistry."

"Are you the head professor of your department?"

"Yes, I am."

Well, professor what is the chief principle in wheat bread?"

"Starch," replied Dr. Bachman.

"What is the chief ferment in saliva?"

"Ptyalin is the chief ferment."

"What is amidulin?" the solicitor next asked.

"I never heard of it," replied Dr. Bachman.

"You mean to say that you, an expert on this subject never heard of amidulin?" queried the solicitor.

"No I never heard of it and you can't find it in any dictionary," replied the physician stoutly.

"You mean to say that you never saw it in a dictionary or medical book?" the solicitor repeated.

"I certainly do and no other physician ever did."

Webster's dictionary gives the definition of amidulin as soluble starch and according to the solicitor it is one of the stages through which starch passes while in process of digestion.

"Will you ever hear of amidulin did you ever hear of erythrodestrin?" asked the solicitor.

Press Table in Despair.

By this time the press table had thrown up the sponge and was ready

Guesswork and Not Science Asserts Dr. J. C. Olmstead

Dr. John C. Olmstead followed Dr. Westmoreland to the stand.

He was questioned by Arnold.

"What is your occupation?"

"I have been a physician for thirty-six years, and am a graduate of the University of Virginia and the University of New York."

"Would you characterize your opinion as the one you have read of by Dr. Harris as being a guess or a scientific conclusion?"

"As well as a guess as I've ever heard of," Corroborates Other Doctors.

He was questioned extensively along the same line of questions as were put to Dr. Westmoreland and Dr. Hancock relative to the conflicting opinions of ascertaining the period cabbage had remained in the stomach of a corpse. His answers were in substantiation of the physicians who had preceded him.

"Could an amount of hydrochloric acid in the stomach have been determined in a body nine days after death?"

"It could not."

"Suppose a chemist had made an examination nine days after death and had revealed pancreatic juice, would you have attached any importance to it?"

"I would not. I'd be surprised if he did find that and would like to know just how he did find them."

"Didn't you hear him say he could?"

"No, I did not."

"Dictation to the stenographer and the work necessary to complete the financial report represents all the work that kind done in the office that day, doesn't it?"

"Yes, as far as I know."

"Is there anything to show that Frank had anything to do with billing those eleven orders?"

"Yes, his handwriting shows he did it."

Witness Admits Mistake.

By a series of questions the solicitor finally got the witness confessed on one point and made him admit a mistake before the inquest.

"Didn't you say at the inquest that it would take from one and a half to two hours to get up the financial sheet?"

"I declared that he had sworn to two and a half to three hours, or there had been a mistake somewhere."

Well, if you swore to one and a half hours to two hours then and now make the time longer, will you please tell the jury why?" asked Solicitor Dorsey.

"I must have misunderstood the question if I swore anything like that at the inquest."

"If a man was working on a job like this and for some reason wanted to get through quicker than usual wouldn't he be able to do it in thirty minutes less than usual?"

"Not and make it look the same and be accurate," replied Schiff.

"Isn't Frank a faster worker than you?"

"Yes on financial work."

"How fast?"

"I can't say."

"Didn't you tell the coroner that Frank could get up the financial sheet in half an hour less time than you?"

"No I just estimated it."

"Do you deny that you answered it that way?"

"I don't deny the answer, but I didn't use those terms."

"Did you tell the coroner that it would take one and a half hours to balance about $60 to $70?"

"Yes but I didn't mean exactly that means that you can do it if you balance right away. You see, our money is kept in nickels and dimes and it takes a long time to count it."

Deals Thanksgiving Day Incident.

After referring to last Thanksgiving day one of the occasions mentioned by Jim Conley in his declaration that he acted as lookout for Frank, the solicitor began asking Schiff about that date.

"Do you know what Frank did that day?"

"I was with him in the office until 12:30 and I know he did not come back to the factory that afternoon."

"How do you know it?"

"A man who was with him told me."

"Oh," said the solicitor sarcastically, "you told me when Mr. Arnold was talking to you that Frank did not come back and you gave the jury the impression that you knew it and now you admit it was only hearsay."

"I didn't say I was with him that afternoon," retorted Schiff.

Mr. Dorsey then questioned the witness to his statement that he remembered the presence of Helen Ferguson in the factory on the day before the murder and he declared that he remembered her and could name a hundred others who were there. The solicitor asked him to name twenty-five, and after he had named several, interrupted by asking him how he remembered so much about that particular occasion Schiff replied that the murder came right after that and that he had tried to think of everything that had happened the day before and while it was fresh in his mind had impressed it upon himself.

"How do you regulate the clock?"

"By watches and by the 12 o'clock whistle in factories."

"Do you deny that the clock was five minutes fast?"

"No, but I don't think it ever was."

"Do you keep employees who are unreliable and untruthful?"

"We have done so."

"And you have them there now, haven't you?" asked Mr. Dorsey.

Judge L. S. Roan sustained the defense in its objection to this question.

Didn't Try to Fire Conley.

"When did you discover Conley to be unreliable?" the solicitor next asked.

"The first time I spoke to him."

"Didn't you try to fire him and did Frank overrule you?"

"No."

"Whoever talked to you about Conley's untruthfulness?"

"Plenty of people."

"For instance, Miss Rebecca Carson?"

"Did you think enough of these complaints to protest to Frank?"

"It was not under Mr. Frank's authority," Schiff replied.

"Oh, you had authority to fire Conley?"

"Yes."

"Why didn't you do it?"

"He new the business too well."

"How did you first discover his untruthfulness?"

"In the first days he went to work."

"Who called your attention to it?"

"I can't recollect, he's been to the changing two or three times."

"You are sure, I suppose, that he's been to the changing?"

"Yes."

"State positive, now, whether you know by fact or hearsay, that he's been to the changing," said Mr.

Did Mr. Dorsey subpoena you? No, he telephoned me.

"Dorsey subpoenaed you." Mr. Dorsey then renewed his cross-examination.

"Was it customary for Frank to make engagements on Friday afternoon to go to places Saturday afternoon and leave the financial sheet uncompleted when it had to be at Montags on Monday?"

"No."

"How long would it take Frank to go from the Pencil factory to Montags?"

"I don't know."

"There are only short blocks along the way, aren't there?"

"The block on Forsyth from Hunter to Mitchell is a long one," replied the witness.

"What time on Monday was it that you observed the peculiar bearing of Conley?"

"About 7:30 or 8 in the morning."

"What time was it you went with Starnes to arrest Gant?"

"In the morning I don't know what time."

"Was it after the plant was shut down that you went with Starnes to arrest Gant?"

"Yes."

"You don't know whether the detectives found out Conley could write before you told them do you?"

"No, sir."

Mr. Arnold held the witness for one more question.

"Is there any way to shut all the light out of the metal room in the day time?"

"No, sir," the witness replied. He was then excused, having been on the stand for two hours and forty-five minutes Monday.

NEGRO DROWNS SELF TO ESCAPE POSSE

Tallahassee Fla. August 11.—Surrounded by a sheriff's posse John Balkman, a negro who shot Deputy Sheriff Matthis several weeks ago, drowned himself today in Lake Jackson rather than be captured alive. His body was recovered later and showed that he had been wounded three times by Sheriff Houston when he escaped after the shooting.

The negro was chased to the lake by bloodhounds after a colored woman had telephoned to Sheriff Houston that he had stopped at her house during the day for food. Despite the fact that he had been repeatedly sought by a sheriff's posse Balkman never went far from the scene of his crime.

Schiff Admits He Kept Conley Knowing He Was Worthless

H. G. Schiff, Leo Frank's assistant in the National Pencil factory, was put on the stand for conclusion of the state's cross examination when court convened Monday morning.

"How many books and papers were there that you say had not been worked on Friday night, and that you found completed Monday?" asked Solicitor Hugh Dorsey.

"The principal sheet and those papers I showed you Saturday," Schiff replied.

"Isn't it true that he could have done the work in one and a half hours?"

Dr. Hancock, Called by Defense, MADE CABBAGE DIGESTION EXPERIMENTS Assails Dr. Harris' Testimony

Dr. T. H. Hancock, a well known Atlanta physician, was the first of three medical experts to be presented in the afternoon in behalf of the defense. Dr. Hancock is official physician of the Georgia Railway and Electric company, and is a man of twenty-two years' experience.

An astonishing feature of his testimony was the statement he made in answer to a question from Attorney Arnold to the effect that he had treated 14,000 surgery cases, a record hitherto unparalleled in Georgia history.

He was examined directly by Mr. Arnold.

"What is your occupation, Dr. Hancock?"

"I have been a physician and surgeon for the past twenty-two years."

"How many cases of surgery have you treated?"

"About 14,000."

"Have you made a physical examination of Leo M. Frank?"

"Yes."

"Is he normal?"

"He is perfectly normal."

"You have read the stenographic report of the testimony delivered by Dr. Harris, haven't you?"

"Yes."

"If a subject dies, and eight or ten hours after death, one gallon of blood is taken from the body and is replaced by one gallon of embalming fluid, 8 per cent of which is formaldehyde, and eight or ten days after death the body is exhumed and examination made on the head reveals a wound and hemorrhage near the brain, could the physician who made the examination ascertain whether or not death was caused by the wound?"

"No, not entirely."

Could Only Guess at Opinion.

"Are there any means to tell whether or not such a blow produced unconsciousness before death?"

"No."

"Wouldn't such an opinion be conjecture?"

"Yes, purely guess work."

"If a wound was made during life, wouldn't there have been considerable flow of blood?"

"There might have been, and might not."

"In case it had been made by a sharp instrument?"

"There probably would be much blood, but not by a blunt instrument."

"Suppose the lungs of such a subject had been examined visually, and no congestion was found, is it possible to tell whether or not death was caused by strangulation?"

"I have never had any experience in such cases. Authorities, however, on such a subject, are widely divided."

"If the stomach was removed and an examination made of contents and bread and cabbage, 'partly digested,' were found, would it be possible to determine the period the food had been in the organ—could an intelligent opinion be reached?"

"No—nobody could."

"Where does the indigestion begin, doctor?"

"In the mouth."

"Where does the indigestion of cabbage begin?"

"I'm not what you might call an expert on digestion."

Three or Four Hours Required.

"What time does cabbage require to digest?"

"I would say from three to four hours."

"Is it possible for foods not muldified to obstruct the passage into the stomach?"

"Yes."

"Aren't there many things which retard digestion, anfer, violent exercise, retard digestion, as well as other things?"

"What effect has formaldehyde on the pancreatic juices?"

"It stops all process of fermentation."

"Then, after formaldehyde had been injected, would you expect to find the pancreatic juices?"

"No."

"Or pepsin?"

"No, nor saliva."

"Do you think that by any chemical analysis you could give any dependable opinion of how long this particular cabbage had been in the subject's stomach?"

"No."

"Have you made on men or women any tests on cabbage?"

"Exhibits Results of Experiments."

"Yes. I experimented yesterday with four women and one man."

"Here the witness produced a number of vials containing emulsified cabbage which had been drawn from the men and women with whom he had experimented. The vials were numbered respectively."

"No, nor anyone else. It would be the wildest guessing I have ever heard of."

"Isn't there an ascending and descending scale of acidity in the stomach?"

"Yes."

"How long would cabbage like this specimen which is said to have been removed from the body remain in the stomach?"

"Until the process of digestion had completed."

"Doctor, couldn't one man eat another man's stomach and the acids that would digest the foreign stomach benefit the stomach in which it had been placed?"

"Yes."

"Have you ever known such stomach tests to have ever been made before on dead bodies?"

"No."

Says Harris Destroyed Specimens.

"Have you ever before known a chemist to make an analysis in a lawsuit of parts of a body, then destroy the parts without showing them to the other side or produce them in courts?"

"Such conduct is unethical, isn't it?"

An objection was made by Dorsey, to this question.

Mr. Arnold, in argument, said:

"Here's a case of an alleged chemist who is hired by Dorsey and who takes the specimens to his own back room and, after he has finished with them, destroys them. I want to show that it was unethical and unprecedented."

Solicitor Dorsey replied:

"It is irrelevant in every respect, and should not be permitted."

Judge Roan ruled, however, that the rules and ethics of the medical profession could be shown by the witness.

"What are your ideas of ethics?"

Dr. Westmoreland was asked.

"In the case of a chemist destroying the specimens, I would first call in another expert or preserve the specimens of my test."

"If you take the case of the stripped epithelium after a digital examination of the stomach, would it be possible to tell whether or not death was caused by strangulation?"

"No."

"Would death by strangulation cause dilated blood vessels in the female organism?"

"It depends. It might in one case and might not in another."

Solicitor Begins Cross-Examination.

Here the solicitor began the cross-examination.

"You are surgeon for the Georgia Railway and Power company, aren't you, doctor?"

"Yes."

"Are you familiar with the standing of 'The American Medical Journal'?"

"I know that it represents most eclectic and pathological schools and colleges of medicine."

"Are you acquainted with G. H. Brill, of Columbia, where you graduated?"

"No."

"You don't mean to say, do you, that homo-sexuality is confined to defected patients?"

"Yes, by experience. I have not touched much on that line."

"Didn't you say you had examined Frank?"

"Yes, but I judged merely from his outward appearance."

"You know but little, then, of homo-sexuality?"

"I do not undertake to tell the jury any expert testimony on the examination I made of Frank."

"Are you an expert on stomach analysis?"

"No, I can't say that I am."

"You are surgeon, and you give a good statement of stomach conditions, you must be an expert, eh?"

"I am a practicing physician, and they generally know as much of the stomach as any others."

As the Very Wildest of Guessing Dr. Westmoreland Characterizes Testimony Given by Dr. Harris

Dr. Willis Westmoreland, former head of the state board of health, who resigned some time ago after the board gave a clean bill to Dr. Harris, the secretary, whom he had accused of "scientific dishonesty," followed Dr. Hancock on the stand.

He also made an examination of Leo Frank, stating in answer to Mr. Arnold's question that he had found the accused man to be normal.

"He was questioned by Arnold."

"What is your calling?"

"I am a physician of twenty-eight years' experience."

"What is your main practice?"

"General medicine and surgery."

"Have you occupied any chairs of prominence during your career?"

Former Head of State Board.

"I formerly occupied the chair of surgery in the Atlanta College of Surgery and, at one time, was president of the state board of health."

A number of questions of the same nature as those put to Dr. Harris by his opinion of the time of death and of his belief that violence had been inflicted were asked Dr. Westmoreland. His replies were substantial.

"On the question of how long this wheatbread and cabbage had been in the girl's stomach," he was asked.

"No, nor anyone else. It would be the wildest guessing I have ever heard of."

"Isn't there an ascending and descending scale of acidity in the stomach?"

"Yes."

"How long would cabbage like this specimen which is said to have been removed from the body remain in the stomach?"

"Until the process of digestion had completed."

"Doctor, couldn't one man eat another man's stomach and the acids that would digest the foreign stomach benefit the stomach in which it had been placed?"

JUNIOR ORDER MEETS FOR STATE CONVENTION

Expected That Benj. J. Simons, of Savannah, Will Be Elected State Counsellor.

Macon, Ga., August 11.—(Special.)—The biennial state convention of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics will convene in Macon tomorrow morning with about 100 delegates in attendance. This will be the nineteenth meeting held in this state.

It is expected that Benjamin J. Simons, of Savannah, will be elected state counsellor, succeeding Judge Walter W. Sheppard, of Claxton and Savannah.

The convention will be in session only two days this year, and for that reason the Macon lodge has been requested to eliminate the social features, and the convention will be given over to business entirely.

Considerable interest centers in the endorsement of a man to fill the position of national councillor. At the last national convention, John Stofer, of Savannah, was elected national councillor, and his Georgia friends think he is qualified now to hold the higher office in the national body.

Athens will probably be chosen as the meeting place of the state convention in 1915. The following are the present state officers: Judge Walter W. Sheppard, of Claxton and Savannah, state counsellor; Benjamin J. Simons, of Savannah, state vice counsellor; T. D. Ridley, of Macon, junior past state counsellor; J. E. Lovelace, of Atlanta, state secretary; O. H. Puckett, of Atlanta, state treasurer; A. B. Coogler, of Riverside, state conductor; J. W. Keweenaw, of Macon, state warden; B. S. Horton, of Macon, state outside sentinel; Rev. W. E. Porter, of Brunswick, state chaplain.

Porterdale. Hits: Starrsville 15, Porterdale 4. The batting and fielding of M. Jones was a feature. He made four hits in as many times at bat. Goits for the locals made a clean home run, with one man on base.

Starrsville Wins.
Starrsville, Ga., August 11.—(Special.)—Starrsville, won another game today by defeating Porterdale; score 15 to 4. Batteries—Jones and Miller for Starrsville; West and Worsham for Porterdale.

Why is the soda cracker today such a universal food?

has been made, and the hemorrhage and the distended blood vessels in the female organs, is that any indication of "honorability?"

"The epithelium is easily separated and a digital examination could have detached it from the wall. Such conditions would not necessarily indicate violence."

Opinion Would Be Asked.

"In such a case, could a chemist give a scientific opinion on violence?"

"No. Such an opinion would be the wildest I ever heard of."

"Did you examine Leo Frank?"

"Yes."

"Does he appear to be a normal man?"

"Yes."

The cross-examination was then begun by the solicitor.

"Aren't sexual inverts normal so far as physical structure is concerned?"

"Yes, unless they belong to certain classes."

"Aren't there about three classes?"

"Yes, about forty."

"If a corpse is hit on the eye with the fist, what's the effect?"

"Discoloration."

"If you hit a blow on the back of the head with no fracture of the skull and no effect on the brain and but little blood, accompanied by a deep indentation in the throat, livid features, purple fingers and nails, bulging eyes and tongue, what would you say caused death?"

Caused by Strangulation.

"Strangulation under those conditions."

"Would the lick on the eye cause swelling if inflicted after death?"

"It is possible."

"It is possible for a digital examination to be made without impairing the blood vessels, walls or organs, isn't it?"

"Yes."

"How long does it take cabbage to digest?"

"About four hours."

"What is your personal feeling toward Dr. H. E. Harris, kindly or unkindly?"

"Neither one way or the other."

"What has been your past connection?"

"I was the president of the state board of health and obtained him the position of secretary."

"Direct examination was resumed by Mr. Arnold."

"What was your trouble with Dr. Harris?"

"I preferred charges against him for scientific dishonesty, and when the board found him guilty, but refused to drop him, I resigned."

"Do you consider him the same doctor he used to be?"

"I know he isn't."

"Whatever troubles you have had, it doesn't influence you in this case, does it?"

"I had no trouble with him."

Blood Spots Likely.

"There is a final question I will ask, doctor. If the girl who was killed had received the blow on the head at the lathing machine, wouldn't she have bled instantly, and wouldn't big blood spots have been on the machine and in the spot where they say her body had been lain?"

"Yes, more than likely."

Mr. Dorsey continued the cross-examination.

"Wouldn't water have eradicated fresh blood?"

"Blood is a difficult stain to remove."

He was then called from the stand.

had been made, and the hemorrhage and the distended blood vessels in the female organs, is that any indication of "honorability?"

"The epithelium is easily separated and a digital examination could have detached it from the wall. Such conditions would not necessarily indicate violence."

Opinion Would Be Asked.

"In such a case, could a chemist give a scientific opinion on violence?"

"No. Such an opinion would be the wildest I ever heard of."

"Did you examine Leo Frank?"

"Yes."

"Does he appear to be a normal man?"

"Yes."

The cross-examination was then begun by the solicitor.

"Aren't sexual inverts normal so far as physical structure is concerned?"

"Yes, unless they belong to certain classes."

"Aren't there about three classes?"

"Yes, about forty."

"If a corpse is hit on the eye with the fist, what's the effect?"

"Discoloration."

"If you hit a blow on the back of the head with no fracture of the skull and no effect on the brain and but little blood, accompanied by a deep indentation in the throat, livid features, purple fingers and nails, bulging eyes and tongue, what would you say caused death?"

Caused by Strangulation.

"Strangulation under those conditions."

"Would the lick on the eye cause swelling if inflicted after death?"

"It is possible."

"It is possible for a digital examination to be made without impairing the blood vessels, walls or organs, isn't it?"

"Yes."

"How long does it take cabbage to digest?"

"About four hours."

"What is your personal feeling toward Dr. H. E. Harris, kindly or unkindly?"

"Neither one way or the other."

"What has been your past connection?"

"I was the president of the state board of health and obtained him the position of secretary."

"Direct examination was resumed by Mr. Arnold."

"What was your trouble with Dr. Harris?"

"I preferred charges against him for scientific dishonesty, and when the board found him guilty, but refused to drop him, I resigned."

"Do you consider him the same doctor he used to be?"

"I know he isn't."

"Whatever troubles you have had, it doesn't influence you in this case, does it?"

"I had no trouble with him."

Blood Spots Likely.

"There is a final question I will ask, doctor. If the girl who was killed had received the blow on the head at the lathing machine, wouldn't she have bled instantly, and wouldn't big blood spots have been on the machine and in the spot where they say her body had been lain?"

"Yes, more than likely."

Mr. Dorsey continued the cross-examination.

"Wouldn't water have eradicated fresh blood?"

"Blood is a difficult stain to remove."

He was then called from the stand.

HEIR TO MILLIONS DIES IN COUNTY ALMSHOUSE

Aurora, Ill., August 11.—Wilfred Fabian Kallsten, a porter in a saloon at Geneva, who for 25 years has been the butt of village jokers because he once said that his father was immensely wealthy, told the truth. It was learned yesterday after he died at the county almshouse. In his clothing were found papers showing him to be the son of Carl Abraham Kallsten, enterprising manufacturer at Eskilstuna, Sweden.

Young Kallsten differed with his family and recently refused to return to Sweden to claim his share of an estate of several millions.

Frank's Financial Sheet Would Take 3 Hours Work to Finish

—Joel Hunter

Joel Hunter, an expert accountant, was put on the stand to testify to the amount of work required in the compilation of the financial sheet upon which the defense declares Leo Frank worked during the afternoon Mary Phagan was murdered.

"What is your occupation?" he was asked by Mr. Arnold.

"I am a public accountant."

"Do you hold a position with the state board?"

"Yes, I belong to the board of examiners."

"Did you examine Leo Frank's financial sheet?"

"Yes."

"Did his assistant, Schiff, acquaint you with the data contained in the report?"

"Yes."

"Did you go through all the work required to make the report?"

"Yes; but I did not make a new sheet. I only made the calculations and verifications."

"Did you find them correct?"

"All except one item."

The witness explained thoroughly to the jury the tedious process of compiling the financial sheet.

"What time does it take to make out this sheet?"

"I would judge about 150 to 170 minutes, and, even within that length of time it would take a man with a superior knowledge of the process of compilation."

Mr. Hooper took the witness from cross-examination.

"You couldn't calculate on the exact length of time, could you, inasmuch as you're not familiar with the work yourself?"

"Not exactly."

"You say it took you more than three hours to make this report?"

"Yes."

"If it was made in the afternoon, then, it would take all the afternoon, wouldn't it?"

"Yes, practically so."

"It would hardly give time for the man who was working upon it to attend a game of baseball, would it?"

"I would not think so, I didn't study that phase of it, however."

"It would take all afternoon with no time to do anything else, wouldn't it?"

"I would certainly think so."

Sends Message to the General Assembly Dealing With the Financial Condition of Georgia and Urges Action.

Governor Slaton on Monday sent a message to the legislature, in which he made its members aware of the financial condition of the state to date and urged that this session of the legislature pass some sort of a tax reform measure.

He showed that when the immediate demands have been made upon the treasury there will remain but about $30,000 in the treasury. This is, he points out, without the payment of a single dollar to the school teachers, which condition has not existed in thirty years.

The governor commended the legislature in passing the inheritance tax measure, but stood on the tax equalization question just where he stood at the time of his inaugural address, which was that this is the fairest and only effective means of rehabilitating the state's finances.

The message was read in the senate, but in the house, which spent a good part of Monday in the discussion of the advisability of allowing "suckers" to be fished for with state money, the appropriation of $500 to unfortunates near beer dealers of Terrell county, whether or not heifer calves should be slaughtered, and airing the political differences of the Cobb county representatives, the reading of the message was delayed until it was agreed by unanimous consent that 200 copies of the message should be struck off and spread upon the desks of the members on Tuesday.

The message in full follows: To the General Assembly: In a former message I declared it to be my purpose to keep you advised of the financial condition of the state.

Today the total available balance in the treasury is $75,519.25, of which about $35,000 will be necessary to pay the running expenses of this legislative session. I am paying the state sanitarium in semi-monthly installments, and on the 15th of this month a warrant must be drawn in its favor for about $20,000, thus leaving about $30,000 in the treasury, with no taxes in sight until fall. Each of the other institutions and departments of government must be maintained, and you will observe the condition of the treasury.

For the first time in thirty years the teachers have not been paid by August, one dollar by the state and you will perceive that a payment on the common school fund of even the amount given it by the constitution is being withheld, closing the asylum and prevent the collection of your per diem.

The borrowing power, under the constitutional amendment of 1911 is limited to the deficit occasioned only by delay in the collection of taxes, and must be repaid out of the taxes for the year in which the money is borrowed. If, by reason of excessive appropriations, the taxes shall have been exhausted in the fall of the year, the governor cannot borrow for the purpose of running the government since he is not allowed to pay back out of the next year's revenue.

It is appropriate to say that in anticipation of the passage of the usual revenue empowering the governor to borrow, believe I will be able to make satisfactory arrangements with patriotic financiers whose confidence has been increased by the manifest determination on your part to establish the finances of the state on a sound business basis.

It is well to remember that when money is borrowed now, it must be repaid in the fall, and but establishes a new period of postponement of obligations due to appropriations in excess of revenue.

Tax Equalization. I further desire to submit to your consideration as lawmakers, and as representatives of the honor of the state, through whose actions are reflected the intelligence and moral tone of Georgia, the eternal justice of every man and county bearing his proportionate part of the public burden. The man worth a hundred dollars who pays his fifty cents is the equal in splendid citizenship with the man who pays thousands in the same proportion.

Mr. Gladstone, after a half century's public service, in the great contest which made him for the last time prime minister of England, made his fight under the motto "Be just and fear not." That splendid spirit and everlasting confidence in the final success of justice placed him among the immortals.

In your position as representatives of the best in the state, the founders of precedents which shall determine the character and welfare of posterity, you have it in your power to disregard the fears of petty misconstruction and to place upon the statute books a perpetual memorial to your courage and statesmanship.

Why should not each man pay in proportion to the protection he receives from the government? Why should not each county pay according to its tax values? Who can ask without blushing, that any person or section shall be the beneficiary of his own delinquency and the fairness of another? What sire's voice can sing so sweetly as to blind our eyes or close our ears to these fundamental truths? Sections sparsely inhabited or limited in means may and should receive aid from their more fortunate neighbors—when they have done their part. County lines are but imaginary, separating Georgians only by a fiction, and all should be and I believe are willing to contribute their proportion to the general fund. Legislation accomplishing this purpose, both in regard to visible and invisible property, will so operate as to make the same percentage effective on every citizen, regardless of the county in which he lives. Such a law would and should not reduce the property to its full value. A fraction of its worth, if equally returned, would be amply sufficient to meet every need of the state. Not one dollar more than is necessary for its economical administration should be exacted from the taxpayer, but his payment should be accompanied with the consciousness that his neighbor is proportionately bearing his burden.

Another necessary consequence will result from tax equalization. Every citizen should keep constant watch over the expenditure of the public money. As long as he contributes nothing out of his means, appropriations may be extravagantly made without criticism to every new scheme suggested by a passing popular wave. There is no check on waste, and with a feeling of luxurious generosity, the legislature is encouraged to give to whomsoever may ask. But when the taxpayer knows that for every dollar appropriated, he must go into his pocket for more money, and there is an immediate connection between the expenditure and the draft on his purse, no representative will vote for any appropriation bill without being able to give a good reason for his action. Every citizen, from whatever county he comes, will be equally interested in the money, and in opening the treasury only to causes for which he is willing directly to pay his money.

And then he is on constant guard to see that the money is so utilized as to accomplish the best results, and he will hold to stern account those entrusted with its stewardship to give the public his money's worth.

Where the Disparity Exists. It is to be remembered that the greatest disparity in the tax returns of the state is not between the city and rural communities, but between the rural counties themselves. One rural county will make returns three times as much in proportion to values as its neighbors. What sound argument is there in opening the treasury in its injustice? In my opinion, this system has been permitted to continue only because the attention of the people has not been called to it.

The house has wisely passed a bill taxing inheritances. Its direct result is not equalizing, and cannot, until tried, be made the basis of appropriations. But I am informed that it will prove the best instrumentality for bringing into the treasury taxes from personal property. That has been the experience of states which have tried it. Men with personal property in the shape of bonds, notes, etc., will not like to leave estates evidencing that for years they have escaped their civic duties, when, after their death, the state may collect its taxes. An expert, properly enforced, will tend to exact from the delinquent mortgagee a contribution on an equal basis with the land owner.

Millions of Acres Disappear. The report of the comptroller general shows that for 1912 there were 371,000 less acres of improved land and 143,000 less acres of wild land in Georgia than in 1911. The reason for 1913 is in the report. The result of thousands of acres, and if it continues Georgia, in a few years, will disappear from the map. If these acres have been omitted entirely from the tax digests, no government should permit such unfairness to be visited on the citizens. No system should be continued which provides no method for explaining how it came about.

As I have said before, leniency may be shown to the man who pays something from his means for support of government, but the man whose property escapes entirely deserves less consideration.

Tax equalization does not necessarily mean increase of taxes. The man giving in now more than his due share should have his valuation reduced to such proportionate amount as universally enforced will economically support the state. The man who is delinquent in this regard should be raised.

The people can then send representatives who will spend only such money and for such purposes as their constituents desire. Being aroused to the situation, the tax levy will be increased and directly under their observation and control.

Guarantee Against Deficit.

I submit to you whether under tax equalization, with the tax rate promptly responding to an appropriation bill, there would or could be a deficit of the size now existing. Without considering the business side of the question, is it not the highest aspiration of a statesman in a democratic government to have every citizen interested in public affairs, with his attention constantly directed to legislative action which will affect the happiness and welfare of his family and posterity?

In my judgment, any system without authority to equalize between counties may result in greater inequality. Now, the per cent on value of tax returns between counties varies from 18 to 324 per cent, and such system is unthinkable. Equalization between counties should be established.

No apprehension need be entertained that any system harsh in itself, if harshly administered, will be adopted. Whoever administers will be Georgians subject to responsibility to their fellow citizens. We all yield unhesitatingly to obedience to nature's laws, because they fall impartially upon man. Contentment will also be a company justice, and a bill, enforcing this cardinal virtue engraved on our great seal, will meet with approval.

You have before you the refunding of the bonds of the state. In the absence of unusual conditions, the price you obtain and the demand they create will have tremendous influence upon the reputation of the state and the development of its wonderful resources. This responsibility has not fallen upon a legislature in thirty years. It is peculiarly appropriate that you, upon whom must rest this burden, should establish the state upon a sound financial basis, and show to the world that Georgia, blessed with a wealth of climate and untold resources, is peopled by a citizenry worthy of those ancestors who embodied in the constitution the lasting wisdom of the ages.

BIG JEWELRY HOUSE SELLS AT AUCTION

Eugene V. Haynes Co., Whitehall St. Firm, Holding Daily Sales to Reduce Stock Before Moving.

The well-known jewelry house of Eugene V. Haynes company, at 27 Whitehall, is the scene of much activity and many bargains these days. Preparatory to moving to their new quarters at 49 Whitehall, they are holding auction sales every day in order to reduce their stocks. The first sale was held yesterday morning at 11 o'clock and the second started promptly at 3:30 p. m. Many of the best and most valuable of their silver, gold and diamond pieces were sold at these sales at ridiculously low prices and there are many Atlantians today who are congratulating themselves on their wisdom in attending this sale. The company is determined to reduce their stock to as low a point as possible before they have to move. To do this they have arranged to hold these sales every day right up until the time they move. As they have to be out of their present quarters by September 1, the sales will be held until a very few days before the same. The hours will remain the same, 11 in the morning and 3:30 in the afternoon.

Everyone who knows a good bargain in the jewelry and silverware line is urged to take in these sales as often as possible. They are money-makers for the purchaser.—(adv.)

Deliberate Selection In Loose Diamonds

Our diamond rooms are especially arranged for the secluded and comfortable privacy of our customers, and to afford quiet and careful selection.

It is our desire to have our patrons know all that any expert can tell about a diamond, and we, therefore, display diamonds loose (unmounted), the only way in which any diamond expert would consider a purchase.

Diamonds come from the "cutters" in "papers" containing many carats of stones of wide variety of color, degree of perfectness and class. Every diamond we handle we buy direct from the cutters in papers aggregating many thousand dollars.

Our President assort and classes these papers into grades and values, and they are gone over and over with unusual care until every value is absolutely correct.

This is not possible with the jeweler, both because it requires years of experience and an expert and also a large amount of capital in our one specialty.

After selection, we mount our diamonds in any variety of elegant design that our customers could desire, using care that only the most perfect work is delivered.

The certainty of knowing what grade and value you are getting in any purchase has all to do with contented possession, and our price, grade and weight are always marked in plain figures.

Our one, plain figure price, from which we never vary, necessitates that we be sure that our prices are as low as the same diamonds can be bought for anywhere in the world.

"Our Diamond Book," Set No. 7, explains how our diamonds have a guaranteed cash return value, also exchanged at full price, and purchased on partial payments, by good notes running over as much as ten months.

The Legislature of Georgia

"If you only knew---
"There are human beings who live in death.
"There are little girls---"

- Saturday, the House appropriated to—
- Entomology twenty thousand dollars.
- Chemicals seventy-five hundred.
- And the department of agriculture ten thousand dollars.
- But Saturday, the House, by its Rules Committee, refused to give time or money to the care of the wayward and delinquent girls of the State.
- One explained: "GOVERNOR SLATON opposes House Bill No. 4."

Monday the GOVERNOR said frankly that he had opposed the bill: this, because of the financial condition of the State; and not because the GOVERNOR does not believe in the State caring for its wayward girls, even as it does for its boys.

But, Monday, the GOVERNOR also said that on that day he had requested a member of the RULES COMMITTEE to let the Bill come to a hearing.

Those who heard him were led to believe that the Governor had changed his mind—that the GOVERNOR no longer opposed a reformatory for girls in Georgia.

But the Rules Committee, of which Burwell, Speaker of the House, is Chairman, and Blackburn, of Fulton, Vice-Chairman, caused disappointment by its report to those who hoped the order of business for Monday was Nos. 165, 8, 25, 73, 18, 48, 109, 22, —, 4.

NOTE THE NUMBERS.

NO. 4 provides for the care of wayward and delinquent girls.

But the RULES COMMITTEE, of which BURWELL is Chairman, and BLACKBURN, of Fulton, is Vice-Chairman, considered HOUSE BILL NO. 165, to protect and encourage cattle raising in Georgia, as of supreme importance for consideration on this day—the last for considering house bills in the house with the hope of passing them in the senate at this session. And so Monday afternoon HOUSE BILL NO. 165 was still being considered.

Less than two hours of time remained. Men were using it—this precious time so sorely needed for helping suffering humanity—men were using it to make jokes upon the saving of heifer calves.

NUNNALLY, of Floyd, and SLADE, of Muscogee, members of the Rules Committee, which could not find time for the hearing of House Bill No. 4, were among these. And SHUPTRINE—

SHUPTRINE, another member of that committee, and a representative from Chatham, waxed eloquent on calves. And when he referred to the Parable of the Prodigal Son, that story which has brought so many thousand fallen men and women home, the House rocked and roared with laughter.

AND DOUBT NOT THAT SATAN LAUGHED!

Later came another report of the Rules Committee. It recommended that the time of the session be extended until the hour of six for general business and that from six until seven thereafter the House take up for reconsideration House Bill No. 159—which deals with hogs.

Heifers and hogs will be remembered.

But tonight Georgia has no place to keep her girl offenders.

In one court there are seventy-five—not hardened women of the streets, but children under seventeen years old.

What shall the State do with them?

Until both the HOUSE and the SENATE have finally adjourned, without action, men and women will believe and hope that those to whom the State has entrusted power will awake to the seriousness of the situation.

This is not a problem for philanthropy.

Charity cannot solve it.

The STATE MUST care for her prisoners.

There are girls among them.

Forty States have reformatories for girls.

What will Georgia do?

Her GOVERNOR and her LEGISLATIVE bodies have in their power the making or the marring of the life of many a girl-child by their action at this session of the Legislature.

God open their eyes!

SULZER IS SUSTAINED BY WALL STREET FIRM
New York, August 11.—With reference to the contention of Governor Sulzer in his statement made last night that his account with the stock exchange house of Harris and Fowler was not a speculative one, but a loan, the firm issued this afternoon the following statement: "The governor's statement is correct as borne out by the transcript of the account which we rendered to the Frawley committee. It was not a speculative account in any sense of the term. "The statement of Judge Olcott, my attorney, before the Frawley committee previous to the testimony of our Mr. Melville B. Fuller, explains our position perfectly. "When the value of the collateral contracted so that the equity in the loan was below the required amount, of course, it was a matter of business for us to ask for more collateral or a reduction of the debt. "When we delivered the collateral the equity in the loan at the then market prices was approximately $8,000,000, considered ample to protect the loan.

Substitute to Senator Longino's Resolution Passed—Other Bills Considered.
The substitute to Senator Longino's resolution providing for the creation of a commission of ten members to investigate the advisability of leasing and receiving bids for the release of the W. & A. railroad was passed yesterday morning by the senate. It was adopted favorably by the W. & A. committee of the senate.
The commission is to be composed of three members of the senate to be appointed by the president, five members of the house to be appointed by the speaker, and two members from the people to be selected and appointed by the governor. The bill stipulates no remuneration for the members of the commission, but it is expected that the house will grant funds of $4 per diem to the members.
An amendment by Senator Harrell, providing that the railroad commission shall air with the commission of ten without other remuneration than their annual salary was defeated by a vote of 24 to 14.
Senator Sweat's amendment striking the clause in the resolution referring the commission to the expense of double tracking the road was defeated.

Report Disagreed to.
The adverse report of the general judiciary committee to the bill giving the mother prima facie right to the custody of children under 12 years of age was disagreed to. The motion was made by Senator Smith, who urged that the committee's action be reversed so that the bill might be introduced a substitute leaving the custody of a child to the discretion of the judge without any prima facie right.
Senator Stark was in favor of standing by the report of the committee stating that he has never heard of any giving the child to the father when it was better for the child to be given to the mother.
"Does the gentleman not know that this bill was drafted on account of the action of Judge Hammond in giving the custody of a child to its father?" asked Senator McKell.
"Yes, I realize that this bill was drafted to satisfy the eccentricities of Judge Hammond, the distinguished Augusta judge, but at this particular stage of legislative work and especially the work of the senate, I hope the report will not be reversed by the senate," replied Senator Stark.

Insurance Bill Passed.
The bill of Senator McKell not allowing insurance companies to invest more than 10 per cent of their capital in any one institution was passed by a vote of 27 to 3.
The bill of Senator McKell amending the code so as to allow interstate freight trains carrying perishable stuff, live stock and ice to operate in this state on the Sabbath was passed by a vote of 26 to 5.

Richard Joyner Better.
Captain W. R. Joyner, for many years efficient chief of the Atlanta fire department, yesterday received a letter from his son, Richard W. Joyner, now a resident of Dallas, Texas, bringing the information that the former Atlanta is now convalescing. Dick Joyner was taken ill with typhoid fever a month ago and for many days his condition was extremely critical, but the devoted care of his wife and the best medical attention obtainable seems to have brought him through safely. Richard Joyner has now been a resident of Dallas, Texas, for three years.

Jerome Jones Returns.
Jerome Jones, editor of The Atlanta Journal of Labor, one of the best publications in the country in the interests of organized labor, who has been absent from the city for more than a month because of illness, has returned, but not strong enough to resume newspaper work. Mr. Jones' health has been anything but satisfactory for the past six months and in the early summer he was sent to Borden-Wheeler Springs, Ala., by his physicians for a complete rest. It may be several weeks yet before he will be able to resume his work.

Mother and Neighbors Helpless to Aid, Watch Youth Hang by Hands for Half Hour.
Attracted by the screams of the boy's mother, hundreds of people rushed to the home of J. R. Roseberry, 448 East Georgia avenue, Monday morning at 8 o'clock, to find 8-year-old Max Roseberry hanging by his hands from a live wire in the topmost branches of a large tree in the front yard.
Powerless to aid him, the distracted mother and neighbors stood by and watched the apparently lifeless form of the child for nearly half an hour, when a street car motorman, passing on his run, climbed into the tree and brought the boy down. He was unconscious and part of his right hand, which had been clasped about the heavily-charged wire, was burned completely off. His feet were also badly burned, and his body had suffered terribly from the effect of the shock.
Dr. W. H. Wright, who attended him, states that he will live.
Young Roseberry had climbed into the top of the tree from a playhouse built in the lower branches, and losing his balance, grasped at the wire to prevent a fall, and was unable to release himself.

Baby's summer skin troubles
How to prevent them
During the hot summer months your baby's skin needs especial care. The high temperature and free perspiration cause the slightest thing to irritate it.
To prevent it becoming raw or chafed and breaking out in rashes and red spots bathe your baby daily with Woodbury's Facial Soap in the following way: Use lukewarm water, and with a very soft washcloth or silk sponge apply a generous lather of Woodbury's over the entire body. Then rinse with slightly cooler water and pat with a soft towel until the little body is thoroughly dry.
Woodbury's Facial Soap is the work of an authority on the skin and its uses. It has been recommended for years by physicians because of its valuable properties. Its cleansing action and mild antiseptic quality are just what your baby's skin needs for summer protection.
Woodbury's Facial Soap costs 25c a cake. No mother hesitates at the price after her first cake. Begin now to get its benefits. Get a cake today and try the treatment described above. See how delightfully sweet, smooth and soft it leaves your baby's skin.

House Passes Resolution Calling for Appointment of Commission—Frank Trial Cited.
While many of the legislators have been deeply interested in the Frank trial, some of them having read the entire testimony as reproduced in the newspapers, mention of the famous trial had never been made on the floor of the house until Monday morning.
During a discussion of a resolution for the appointment of a commission to investigate the civil and criminal procedure of the state with a view to facilitating the disposition of litigations, Mr. Slater, of Bryan, advocating the commission, referred to the long-drawn-out proceedings of the Frank trial as an example.
Mr. Edmonston, of Brooks, was on his feet instantly.
"Mr. Speaker," he said, "I object to the Frank trial being dragged into the discussions before the Georgia legislature."
No notice of the incident was taken by the house.
The resolution was adopted by the house. It calls for a commission of seven members, who shall conduct their work without compensation. Of these members two shall come from the senate, three from the house and the remaining two shall be citizens appointed by the governor.

AMERICANS BEAT WORLD IN CONSUMING SUGAR
Washington, August 11.—Americans continue to be the greatest consumers of sugar of any race in the world, according to a report issued today by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. In the fiscal year of 1919, ending June 30, the United States used approximately 8,000,000 pounds of sugar, an amount never disposed of, before in any twelve months.
Of this great amount fully one-half was imported from foreign countries, one-fourth came from the nation's islands and possessions, and the remainder was produced at home. Cuba supplied the greatest amount of any nation, her contribution being nine-tenths of all sugar received abroad, exclusive of the island possessions. Of these, Hawaii contributed the largest amount, Porto Rico and the Philippines following in the order named.
The latest available figures indicate a consumption in India of about 6,000,000,000 pounds, in Great Britain over 3,000,000,000, and in Germany of 2,750,000,000.
Sugar produced within the United States, the report sets forth, was only one-third of our sugar, the remainder being derived from beets.
Masonic Convention.
Acworth, Ga., August 11.—(Special.) The annual meeting of the Cobb county Masonic convention was held at Powder Springs, Saturday, and fully 2,000 people were in attendance. The program was an unusually strong one. Among the prominent speakers of the occasion were Thomas H. Jeffrey, best grandmaster of Georgia; N. H. Ballard, deputy grandmaster of Georgia, and Hon. Wilbur Colvin.

Solons Spend Much Time of the House on Monday Morning—Discussing Refund of $100 Each to Five Near Beer Dealers.
The greater part of the time of the house on Monday morning was occupied in the discussion and passage of a number of minor matters which were contested. Much disorder prevailed and the speaker had repeatedly to call upon the messenger to seat gentlemen in the aisles.
In the very opening of the session the split in the Cobb county delegation, which has on several occasions displayed itself on the floor of the house, cropped out again, in the consideration of a measure affecting the powers of the Cobb county board of commissioners of roads and revenues. The measure, being supported by Mr. Moss and opposed by Mr. Cheney, the Cobb county representatives, was lost.
After much heated discussion $100 each to refund a part of the near beer license tax of five dealers in Terrell county, who were compelled by the county to go out of business, was passed.
The salary of the general oil inspector was increased from $1,200 to $1,800 per annum.
A measure for facilitating trials in the juvenile courts of Fulton county was passed.
A considerable discussion was had over whether "suckers" should be allowed to be caught in nets during the closed season, which measure was lost.
A resolution for the appointment of a commission to devise means in the civil and criminal procedure of the state for facilitating the disposal of litigations was passed.

ARREST 80 I. W. MEN FOR INSULT T OFLAG
Minot, N. D., August 11.—Arrests still were being made here today as a result of the clash night between citizens and Industrial Workers of the World. The trouble followed alleged insults to the United States flag by the Industrial Workers during a street meeting in which they encouraged harvest hands to hold out for higher pay. More than 80 persons have been arrested thus far.
The police were unable to control the rioters last night and called upon the sheriff and fire department for help. Industrial Workers today telegraphed to St. Paul and Minneapolis for more workers and a band of them is expected to arrive here before night. If an attempt is made to continue the street meetings it is possible state troops will be called to preserve order.

JUVENILE COURT BILL INTRODUCED IN HOUSE
A measure, which, if it becomes a law, will be of great assistance to the workers in the juvenile court of Fulton county, was passed by the house Monday morning.
This is the bill of Mr. Blackburn, of Fulton, empowering city court judges and probation officers of the juvenile court to preside over trials of children in the absence of the superior court judge. This provision means that it will not be necessary to make children remain in the detention ward over Sunday, as has been done in time past, before their cases can be heard.

MONEY TO MOVE CROPS TO BE PLACED AT ONCE

Government to Begin Making Deposits in the Southern Banks.

Washington, August 11.—Treasury department officials practically decided today to begin within the next few days in placing with banks in the cotton states their proportion of the additional $50,000,000 government deposits for crop moving purposes. The need for these deposits in the southern states was outlined by the bankers from that section at the recent conferences with officials of the department.

It was stated at the department that the cotton crop movement already had begun and that the need for the money was urgent. Representatives from several Florida Statesmen, from St. Petersburg, Fla., were in the city to tell the department that unless the money could be placed within the next few weeks it would be practically valueless to them.

A consideration that was most potent in deciding the department was that the south would return the money in time for its use in the other sections.

It was indicated that the cotton planters would be through with money during September and that it could be returned to the treasury department not later than the middle of November. No final decision has as yet been reached on the proportion of the deposits that are to be made in the respective sections, but it was made clear that at least half would be placed in the south.

Announcement as to the proportion of the various kinds of security that will be accepted has not yet been made. Government bonds are not to be accepted, however, it was stated at the department. It had been determined that 10 per cent of the security should be in this class, but at the request of the bankers this condition has been waived. Instead, it is said the proportion of good commercial paper has been increased.

On most of the questions involved in placing these deposits, however, the final decision and announcement will not be made until after the conference at the department with the far western bankers next Thursday.

ATLANTA TO BE CHOSEN FOR HEADQUARTERS

Washington, August 11.—In making a physical valuation of railroads the interstate commerce commission will divide the United States into probably six territories. Each will have its own headquarters, which will report to headquarters here. In addition to commission headquarters the headquarters of the eastern territory will be in Washington. Headquarters of other divisions have not yet been definitely selected, but one probably will be in Chicago, one in the south, likely at Atlanta, Ga., one and perhaps two in the middle west, and one on the Pacific coast, probably at San Francisco.

Hanged for Murder of Girl

Harrison, Ark., August 11.—Odus Davidson, aged 20 years, son of a former justice of the peace and member of a well-known family, was hanged here today for the murder of Ella Barham, 18-year-old daughter of a farmer, whose mutilated remains were found in a field here Pleasant Ridge, this county, November 21, last. Davidson died instantly. He maintained his innocence to the last.

DECOLLETE GOWN ON STREET SHOCKS SAVANNAH JUDGE

Savannah, Ga., August 11.—(Special.)—A young woman who was arrested Saturday night for parading Broughton street in a gown that would have been for more appropriate in her dressing room, was fined $50 by Recorder J. E. Schwartz in the police court today.

The young woman's name is Bessie Carter, and she was arrested at Ball and Broughton streets, the very center of Savannah's retail shopping district.

The skirt was abbreviated at the bottom, although there was no slip effect, that being unnecessary. The dress was of the sleeveless variety and was described by the young woman as being an advanced decollete.

"I didn't know it was any harm to wear the dress on the streets," said Miss Carter. "In fact, I can't see why it should be called immodest."

The courtroom was crowded. Recorder Schwartz had no comments to make. He simply imposed a fine of $50, which she was unable to pay and was locked up.

MRS. PANKHURST TALKS TO FOREIGN DOCTORS

London, August 11.—London delegates to the International Medical Congress today occupied front seats at the weekly meeting of the Women's Social and Political Union, the militant suffragist organization.

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst was present, attended by a nurse. She made a brief speech, which lacked the fire and militancy of her previous addresses. She welcomed the doctors, saying she supposed "our foreign friends are trying to understand the strange movement which is sweeping the whole world and making the so-called weaker sex able to go through experiences which would have been deemed incredible a few years ago."

Remarking that her license had expired Mrs. Pankhurst attributed her immunity from re-arrest to desire of the government to avoid any occurrence while the medical congress is in session.

BUILDING BIG SILO ON BEN HILL COUNTY FARM

Fitzgerald, Ga., August 11.—(Special.)—What is probably the first silo in south Georgia is now under construction on the farm of August Diemel, just south of the city. It is being built by Mr. Eldred, an up-to-date dairyman, who expects to fill it with corn, peas and any other green stuff that on this farm will be used from the benefit to himself. Mr. Eldred will demonstrate to the farmers of this section the advantages of the silo in saving corn, fodder and other green feed for winter feedings.

The silo will be built of concrete blocks. It will be circular, 15 feet in diameter, and 22 feet high, and fitted with modern machinery for shredding and elevating the silage.

MAYOR WILL PROBE CAREY-BOARD ROW

James G. Woodward Says He Believes the City Electrician Exceeded His Authority.

A personal investigation of the park board row will be made by Mayor James G. Woodward. He made the announcement yesterday morning following a conference with General Manager Dan Carey.

The mayor said that he is anxious to find out who is responsible for the installation of the $329 underground wiring system in Piedmont park.

Mayor Woodward declared that he was of the opinion that City Electrician Turner exceeded his authority when he gave out the contracts for the system.

"I have heard that he has done the same thing in other instances," he said.

Manager Carey told the mayor that the park board has to its credit $1,295.20 against which there are no outstanding claims. The mayor suggested that Manager Carey go to Chairman Humphrey, of the finance committee, and secure authority by which the $329.52 may be paid from the fund now in hand.

President J. O. Cochran, of the Park board declared that he will oppose any effort to pay the money from the fund, "if the funds which have been set aside for the improvement of Piedmont park are transferred to the payment of these bills it will seriously interfere with the work which has been contracted for," he said.

City Electrician Turner declared that he is now worried over any investigations.

FOES OF SUFFRAGE CHANGE THEIR TITLE

Washington, August 11.—Convinced that the title to their organization, the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, was too lengthy and cumbersome to carry into the fight against "votes for women," members today announced that they would hereafter be known as "women conservationists."

"We think that putting woman in politics," said the officials of the "conservationists," "and forcing to do man's work as well as her own, is a terrible waste. Our aim is to conserve the home, to conserve motherhood, to conserve womanhood."

Leading suffragists continue to arrive from the states having equal suffrage to be in attendance at the conference of the national council of women voters, which begins Wednesday and continues throughout Thursday and Friday.

"There's a Reason"

500 ARE CONVERTED AT GREAT MEETING AT CARTERSVILLE

Cartersville, Ga., August 11.—(Special.)—Sunday, the last big day of the San Jones Tabernacle meeting, ended in the greatest service held in the city since the death of the famous evangelist. Following a week of most successful services, it attracted more than 10,000 persons who came on excursions, in automobiles, wagons, bugles and on foot from points as far distant as Arkansas and New Jersey.

"Gipsy" Smith and "Bob" Jones both received ovations this morning, and "Bob" Jones, who was last year chosen to manage the annual campaign, was offered a home if he would move to Cartersville. The citizens were more enthusiastic than at any time since the death of San Jones. Mr. Jones declined to make a definite answer without thought.

Following the collection of the annual donations to the Tabernacle fund, which netted more than $1,500, "Gipsy" Smith was surrounded by hundreds who begged him to return next year, while Rev. Calhoun was also asked to return.

During the course of the meeting more than 500 persons were converted, and it is estimated that more than 20,000 visitors came to the city.

WHIFFS

Wake Up, Lewis!

RUBE LEWIS, of the Birmingham Bearcats, wrote his "lead" story in Monday's paper, "Leading the Crackers by a scant margin, etc." Mr. Lewis has his standing wrong. He had Atlanta score 27, beat 89, Grand old one on each side (58-51). Incidentally, Mobile, Memphis and Nashville had one game less than they should have had on. Rube's race is getting too close now.

Will Make Good.

RASEBALL men, who are in position to know, say that John Voss, the ex-Mercer star, purchased by the Crackers from Mazon, will make good from the jump.

A Real Hunter.

"STUSS will make good from the jump," said a Sally League mogul, who was in Atlanta yesterday. "Here's a fellow with plenty of nerve, a tall long chap, with a grand old one on each side (58-51). Incidentally, Mobile, Memphis and Nashville had one game less than they should have had on. Rube's race is getting too close now."

May Lose Him.

THE CRACKERS may lose Harry Holland at the end of the season. It is reported from Washington that the big pitcher will be in place of Smith, swinging on to Love as at first reported.

Not Covered Up.

"STRANGE as it may seem to some, the sale of Love to Washington was not a 'cover up,' as would be the impression that one would naturally get. Griffith wanted Love in place of Smith. When told that he did not have any curves, Griffith said: 'What do I care. He's a big fellow, got a world of speed, and he's a natural. He's a left hander's flax, lack of control, routed to a fare you well. I can teach him how to throw a curve.' Griffith was right. Griffith is making him anxious to land all the good left handers in captivity for the Senators.

Strong For Him.

NASHVILLE writes are strong for Elliott Dent, the big right hander of the Crackers. Here's what The Banner says of him in part: "This Elliott Dent, who held the Vols to one run up until the ten-inning, is certainly regarded about as cool as the proverbial cucumber. The hooting of the crowd and the stirring tone of his voice, which he had no effect on him-whatever. Mr. Dent is in every sense a good pitcher and has enough confidence in his whip to make a pitch, no matter how unguardedly of the attempts to rattle him."

Other Comments.

A SCRIBE on the New York World has quite a nice boost for Dent. He says that Dent is "the one who will hit this time. The World scribe points to the fact that Dent is always a late starter, but as the weather comes, he hits his true stride and from the middle of the season to the end he looks as good as any in the league he's twirling in."

Keeping In Record.

LAST YEAR with Newark, Dent got off to a bad start, but toward the end of the season he won eleven of his last twelve starts. He had had ten games with the Crackers. Dent has won six, lost three and tied one. In the twenty-two games he has taken part in, Dent has talked but thirty batters. Some control, eh, what? In the ten games mentioned, he has allowed but two runs to the game and lost than seven hits to the game.

Quick Change.

BILL SMITH evidently underwent a quick change of heart. After ordering Price to retire he was called back to the order when he returned to the Hotel that night and Gil was in uniform on the coaching lines in all the remaining games of the Nashville season. The chances are that both men lost their heads temporarily and after the heat of battle cleared away they are naturally admitted to the game and the differences were patched up.

Thank You, Sir.

"THIS JOE AGLER is some first sacker," says the Nashville Banner. "While nobody is more acquainted with that fact than Joe himself, he can hardly be blamed for thinking himself first in the first column. He is mentioned, for he gets 'em every where on apparently impossible chances. And the old kid is in the immediate vicinity when it comes to hitting, and the box score every day shows that Joseph annexes about as many safeties as any of his henchmen."

Here's A New One.

DICK KINNELLA, scout of the New York Giants, is in bed with Mique Finn, manager of the Mobile Gulls. According to the Mobile Item, Dick sat on the Mobile bench until the first game was called, a direct violation of all of the Knight of the Signs' rules and the Gulls' superstitions. Superstitious Mike, of course, blames it all on Muggsy's scout. Dick should worry.

Fall Hurlinger.

SPALDING'S Official Football guide is just from the press. When this book comes out one knows that fall is rapidly approaching and that the sound of the boot meeting the pigskin will be heard throughout the land. The present issue of the book is easily the best one turned out from a news, illustrative and attractive standpoint.

Splendid Work.

WE ARE in receipt of a book which we are pleased to add to our library. "Gotch, world's champion wrestler, his life, battles and battles and lessons on how to wrestle." The book is most attractively arranged, is well illustrated and to all interested in wrestling is certainly worth having. Joseph B. Rowles, of Chicago, is the publisher.

A Correction.

THE OTHER day we inadvertently stated in answering a question that Matthews had never played in the minors. As he has been thirteen years' service with the New York Giants it is no wonder that the fourth column editor of the Virginia League, after he left college.

Two Southpaws Hammered By Cracker Wrecking Crew In Fight for the Third Place

By Hugh W. Roberts.
Birmingham, Ala., August 11.—(Special).—Waging an unrelenting battling onslaught Atlanta scored an easy victory over Birmingham in the first battle of an important series 2 to 2. Southpaw Price baffled the Barons until the Cracker sacker and Foxen were batted freely.
Opening the battle with a fusillade of drives which netted two runs the Crackers continued the effective willow-wielding, while Price held the Barons at his command until the fourth inning, when the local sacker and Foxen were batted for two runs and was prevented from scoring a shut-out. With the exception of a brilliant catch by Long the battle was featureless.
Evans inaugurated the game by permitting the left hander to win at will. After the southpaw had remained on the mound long enough to endow the Crackers with a victory, Bill Foxen was injected in the battle, but was soiled with ease. Price allowed the Barons but two singles during the first five innings, but stepped up as his henchmen spouted onward.
Agler Starts Twirling.
Agled opened the battle with a single to center and advanced to third on Long's double to right field. Welchance rapped a high bounder to first, which McGilvray knocked down after a lofly leap into the air. Agler crossed the plate and wanted his long fly to Knieszly and Tomny Long talked.
While Price mowed the Barons down with consistency, Evans was rapped for another due in the fourth. Bisland singled to right and Holland attempted to sacrifice, beat out a bunt in front of the plate, filling the sacks. Chapman scored Bisland with a long sacrifice fly to right, while Price drew a walk. Agler landed safe to center, counting Holland and Evans was yanked from the mound in favor of Southpaw Foxen. In the congested condition the sacks were freed of their luggage when Long bled out to McBride.
The third series of runs were announced in the following line: McGilvray, sacrifice hits; Paulist, error; Wares, double; Knapp to Wares to Sneeder, Campbell to Stock to Paulist; struck out, by Campbell 2; Brown 2; base on ball, by Campbell 2; Knieszly, sacrifice; by pitcher, by Brown (Stock); balk, Brown; left on bases, Mobile 1, Montgomery 7. Time, 1:55. Umpires, Field and Rudderham.

Three-Cornered Match Race Motordrome Feature Tonight

A three-cornered match race tonight between Jock McNeill, Morty Graves and Harry Swartz, who at the present writing possess the three fastest machines, will be the feature event at the Motordrome tonight.
These three riders have had a friendly rivalry ever since they have been imported faster machines than the ones with which they started racing on the local saucer.
Tonight's races are the result of several weeks of good-natured kidding and side bets have been placed by the three men that they will win handily.
The first race will be over the mile distance, the second two miles and the third three. Two of the heats have to be captured for one of the men to be declared the winner.
The special match race between Harry Glenn and George Lockner will also attract considerable interest. Friday night they ran a dead heat in their first heat, then each won a heat. Tonight's race will be the run-off.
The Southern Merchants' purse, staged for the benefit of the visiting merchants, three one-mile heats and a two-mile final should also furnish some rare sport.
Two two-mile heats and a five-mile final will be run in the Forrest Adair sweepstakes, with five of the six starters in the two heats sure to qualify for the final.
Here is the complete program:
Southern Merchants' purse (one-mile trial heats and two-mile final). First heat—Swartz, McNeill, Luther. Second Event. Second heat, Merchants' purse—Graves, Renel, Richards. Third Event. Third heat, Merchants' purse—Lockner, Lewis, Glenn. Fourth Event. Three-cornered match race (one mile). First heat—Graves, Swartz, McNeill. Fifth Event. Special match race (carried over from Friday, when Glenn won a heat and Lockner won a heat, while the other heat was declared a dead heat.) Two miles—Harry Glenn v. George Lockner. Sixth Event. Final heat, Merchants' purse (starters; winners of trial heats and second man in fastest heat). Seventh Event. Second heat, three-cornered race (two miles)—Graves, Swartz, McNeill. Eighth Event. Forrest Adair sweepstakes (two-mile trial heats and five-mile final). First heat—Glenn, Lockner, Richards. Ninth Event. Second heat, Forrest Adair sweepstakes—Luther, Lewis, Renel. Tenth Event. Third heat, three-cornered race (three miles)—Graves, Swartz, McNeill. Eleventh Event. Final Forrest Adair sweepstakes (starters; winners and second in trial heat and third man in fastest trial heat).

Family Trouble Causes Afford to Kill Attorney Coulter and Son—Bullets Fired Into the Corpses.

Trenton, Tenn., August 11.—Hon. W. F. Coulter, one of the most prominent lawyers in West Tennessee, and his son, Harry Coulter, also a prominent lawyer of this section, were shot to death at the depot here at 5:30 o'clock tonight by J. A. Afford, a prominent citizen of Rutherford.

Afford got off the northbound M. & C. train as it came in and without a word shot W. F. Coulter three times with an automatic .32-caliber pistol and then turning toward Harry Coulter, shot him twice.

After Harry Coulter fell to the ground, Afford shot him again in the back. Then walking over to the lifeless body of the elder Coulter he shot twice into the back of the corpse. Neither of the Coulters was armed. Afford had two automatic pistols and used them both.

Domestic difficulties are said to have been at the bottom of the trouble. Afford later surrendered to a Rutherford constable.

Death Rate in Mill Cities.

"Thousands of adult operatives work for $7 a week, and live under wretched conditions; the death rate in our New England mill cities is the highest in the United States. It is highest in the cotton industry of New England should not receive any special consideration in the pending bill, due to past conduct."

"In a recent contest in New England for United States senator certain democratic members of the legislature changed to be employed of a certain great textile corporation. They were waited upon at their homes and requested not to vote for the caucus candidates. They were not threatened with discharge, but the implication was very plain. What sort of a claim have men like this to special favors at the hands of a democratic congress?"

Though Senator Hollis did not say so, the inference was taken by other senators to be the recent New Hampshire contest in which he was elected after a deadlock.

2,000 MEN LYNCH NEGRO ASSAILANT

negro was carried to Laurens and placed in jail under a heavy guard.

At 7 o'clock tonight bloodhounds from the state penitentiary were brought to Laurens and placed on the trail. The dogs trailed the negro from the scene of the crime to a house where he was found by the officers. At 9 o'clock about fifty armed men gathered in front of the house. The door was soon battered down. The sheriff and his deputies were overpowered.

The body was left tonight swinging to the beam of the tree and the request will probably be held tomorrow.

BOARD TO ACT TONIGHT ON WOMEN POLICEMEN

At the regular monthly meeting of the board of police commissioners tonight the question of the advisability creating the office of a woman probation officer will be introduced.

Chief Beavers stating yesterday that he will make a recommendation that the board take the matter up with the city council immediately. The need of such an officer is pressing one, according to Chief Beavers, who believes that such good could be accomplished through the appointment of a competent corps of women officers, to deal with girlish offenders against the law.

PLAT TO DISCREDIT DETECTIVE CHARGED

What is thought by the police to have been a carefully arranged plan of Arnold R. Chisenhall and his brother, John Chisenhall, who lived on Carroll street, to discredit City Detective E. A. Coker, because the officer is to appear this morning against John Chisenhall, who is charged with "blind tigers," was brought to light in the recorder's court Monday afternoon, when Arnold Chisenhall was arraigned on a charge of impersonating an officer.

Sunday morning Riley Mason, of 7 Main street, telephoned to the police that he had been held up at the point of a revolver at the Boulevard underpass and robbed of $37 by man who said later that he was Detective Coker. Mason followed the robber at a safe distance.

The man turned into 811 Carroll street, the home of Mrs. Della Baker and Mrs. Leila Meeks, and representing himself as Detective Coker, compelled the two women to open the doors of every room and made a search of them.

The genuine E. A. Coker caught Chisenhall, who admitted his guilt, and the charge of impersonating an officer, and said that he will plead guilty to highway robbery this morning. This case will be heard today.

John Chisenhall was arrested Thursday night and charged with selling in tickets without a license, and will come to trial today.

A century ago there were in all Europe only twenty-two cities with more than 100,000 inhabitants.

AT THE THEATERS.

Moving Pictures.

(At the Grand.)
Patrons of the Grand last night saw a first-class bill of first run "movies." In these summer bills the Grand is exploiting the last word in the perfect "moving picture."

The pictures shown this week include a variety of drama and comedy which is sure to please any "movie" fan, or for that matter, any one who loves the play, regardless of the "movie" antics which are pictures that have never been produced in Atlanta before and represent the very best that the picture market affords.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)
An enjoyable hot weather show. Above the average bill is at the Forsyth this week.

"Fifteen minutes of music, rhyme and reason," presented by Wood and Wyde, put an unexpected twist on the comedy and won their audience from the start, and responded to a half dozen encores and then returned more.

Milo Beldon and his associate players filled seventeen minutes of time with a comedy sketch under the title of "Oh Doctor."

Buffalo Bill in his halcyon days couldn't beat the Randallis, who put over a sharp shooting act extraordinary.

Instrumental solos by Brabagan and Saville filled space in a pleasing manner, and Williams L. Westcott & Company presented a musical act which went good from pit to gallery, and then some.

Ralph Herz, star in many musical comedies, was the headliner. In his impersonation, "Old Blind Joe," he touched the hearts of his audience with a "Warfield" act-note. Herz was worth the price of admission in that alone.

"The Adams Family," close the bill in the best acrobatic offering of the season, and that's saying something, as some might say. What sort of a claim is shown at the Forsyth this season. Five girls and two men make this act a ripping success.

Ferrandou.

(AT THE ALAMO.)
Don Ferrandou, former baritone soloist with Doanster, is having a very successful long. He is the highest grade singer ever heard in an Atlanta motion picture house.

MEXICAN TENSION GROWING LESS

was translated into Spanish today. Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American charge d'affaires, took steps today to ascertain whether the Mexican government would receive the communication. That it will do so there is little doubt, since the receipt of this message would not involve the reputation of the American ambassador.

All persons concerned in the presentation of the statement of the attitude toward Mexico are recent as to its character, but there is reason to believe that the first note, if it is accepted, will be followed by at least one other and that the full import of Washington's suggestions or demands will be left for a still later stage.

Lind and Hale Coifer.

Mr. Lind and Dr. Hale were in close conference for several hours today. The most of Mr. Lind's time, however, was spent in his hotel chiefly in order that he might be near Mrs. Lind, who is unable to leave her room because of illness. Her indisposition is not serious. The plan to lodge Mrs. Lind and Mrs. Lind at the embassy was abandoned, as the building is practically dismantled.

Mr. Lind had numerous callers today. A few of them were old friends who were desirous of reviving old acquaintance. None of the visitors were Mexicans.

to Put Three Bullets in Dr. Clontz.

Asheville, N. C., August 11.—Dr. W. J. Clontz, 59 years old, of Alexander, N. C., eight miles from this city, one of the best known physicians in this section of the country, was shot and killed on the streets of Alexander about 5 o'clock this evening, by O. M. West, three bullets, any one of which might have caused death, taking effect in the breast and left side. Dr. Clontz died less than half an hour after the shooting, which is said to have been the result of a feud of four years standing.

West, who is a rural mail carrier, met the deceased in front of the post office, and with no other warning, it is said, than the remark, "I hear you are going to kill me; throw up your hands," drew a .44-caliber revolver, and fired point blank at the doctor, who fell to the sidewalk, bleeding copiously from the three wounds inflicted.

West surrendered to a local constable and was later brought to this city by a sheriff's deputy and lodged in jail, charged with murder, "hall being refused up to 11 o'clock tonight."

Various reports are afloat as to the cause of the shooting, and the general drift of these reports to domestic difficulties dating back four years ago, just prior to the death of Dr. Clontz's wife. During this period, it is said, "bad blood" had existed between the doctor and West, and neighbors allege that threats had been frequently bandied between the doctor and the mail carrier.

The deceased is survived by three children, two married daughters and a son, the latter being unmarried.

Chattanooga Gets Several Players and Cash Consideration for "Big Pole."

"BLUE SKY" BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

privilege because his bill had not come before the house as he had expected.

Mr. McCrory stated that he had been assured by the speaker of the house, who is chairman of the rules committee, that his measure would certainly be submitted to the house on Monday, and would, in fact, be the first on the program. He was told by McCrory that he was much surprised and disappointed that this alleged promise had not been carried out. He declared that it appeared to him as if there were a studied effort to suppress his bill, which he alleged, the house and people of the state are clamoring to have heard.

Speaker Burwell replied to Mr. McCrory that he had not promised to place the bill first on the day's order, but merely to do his best to have it placed on the order, and further that, in as much as he did not constitute the entire rules committee, he could not promise that it would get on at all. He stated that the rules committee had wanted to favor Mr. McCrory and had placed his measure so that it would follow the unexhausted order of Saturday, but that if the house would be taken up in the discussion of this unexhausted order.

Blue Sky Law Passes.
The "blue sky" law, which passed the house by a vote of 128 to 0, requires the registering of securities before the stocks and bonds of a concern can be legally placed on the market.

The W. & A. commission is to consist of two members from the senate, three members from the house, the chairman of the railroad commission and two civilians, appointed by the governor, one of which shall be an expert. An appropriation of $5,000, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is made, and the members of the commissions are to receive compensation per diem and expenses.

The commission is to investigate the value and all legal questions of the road and to make recommendations for a lease.

The house failed to pass the bill prohibiting the killing of heifer calves.

Not Represented by Counsel.

Attorneys Rembert and Dunbar raise the point now that Mrs. Zachry was not represented by counsel in the trial before the ordinary, and that all the subsequent decisions in the superior court are predicated on that first decision.

Messrs. Henry Cohen, John T. West and Hamilton Phinizy, of Augusta, representing Zachry, deny that Mrs. Zachry was not represented. They say that she was attended at the trial by two distinguished attorneys.

Under the decision of the ordinary's court Mrs. Zachry took possession of Frances, the eldest child. The case was taken on appeal and the lower court sustained. Mrs. Zachry was allowed ten days for her children to visit her at Augusta.

Takes Children to Carolina.

Zachry's attorneys charge that the decision of the court of appeals was given at 11 o'clock in the day, and at 1 o'clock when Mrs. Zachry was informed of the action, she took her children out of the jurisdiction of the court. She went in an automobile to Columbia and there asked for the protection of the South Carolina courts and Governor Blease.

At a subsequent trial for possession of the children instituted by Zachry before Judge Gary, in Columbia, he was again given custody of the children. The sheriff of the court took the child, Frances, from the arms of the mother and turned her over to the father, Zachry, accompanied by his attorneys, drove out of the state of South Carolina with the child in an auto.

This act on the part of Zachry precipitated the charges of kidnapping, cruelty and failure to provide for the child. Attorney Cohen made a statement before Governor Slaton to the effect that Zachry took his child with the knowledge of Judge Gary. Attorney Rembert informed Governor Slaton that the charge of kidnapping was on Zachry's compelling the child to make a tedious journey in an automobile from Columbia, S. C., to Augusta, Ga. Zachry's attorneys, on the other hand, assert that they were with the father and child on the ride, and that they were touched by the kindness and affection shown by father and child for each other.

Alimony the Trouble.

The charge of failure to provide is based according to Messrs. Rembert and Dunbar, on the failure of Zachry to send his wife alimony of $60 a month in accordance with the court decree. Zachry's attorneys say that he paid his wife the first $50 and that she moved out of the state of Georgia before the second installment was due. They also stated that Zachry attempted to send $25 to his wife through her attorneys, but she refused to accept it. This was admitted by her attorneys at the hearing.

The strongest contention of the attorneys from South Carolina is that immediately after Judge Gary gave his decision in favor of Zachry in Columbia she took an appeal from that decision and Mrs. Zachry leaves and Mrs. Zachry's attorneys contend that the appeal acted as a stay of judgment.

"If the Carolina supreme court decides that Judge Gary was wrong, what redress will we have?" asked Attorney Rembert. "The child will be out of the custody of the court and not in the jurisdiction of the state." The decision will probably be given Tuesday afternoon.

SECOND WEEK IS OFF WITH A RUSH

Many Delegates Registered Yesterday, and Prospects Point to an Even Bigger Crowd Than Last Week.

The second week of the 1913 Southern Merchants' convention started off with a rush yesterday morning. On account of the fact that last week finished the meetings of the convention, and that this week will be devoted exclusively to entertainment, the registration headquarters were changed from the Auditorium to the Piedmont hotel. The incoming merchants found the welcoming committee waiting for them with even greater enthusiasm than previously and each man as he came in was made to feel that he was a royal guest and had been eagerly expected—as he had.

GEORGIA'S CRACK SHOTS LEAVE FOR CAMP PERRY

The crack of Georgia's militia left Monday morning at 7 o'clock for Camp Perry, Ohio, where they will compete in the great national and international matches with the best shots of the world. Adjutant General J. Van Holt Nash, as team captain, was in charge, and was confident that the team will come back not only with an unbeaten record, but with a better one.

Heretofore the Georgia team has stood well up in the shooting, producing, in fact, one of the world's champions. This member, W. S. Hale, I with the team this year, as are his brothers, E. C. and D. L., who ran next to him in the state's team.

of the speaker's gavel in the assembly chamber. For nearly three hours the Frawley committee report lay before the assembly until the evidence during that time member after member spoke, not so much to the question of adopting the report as to the greater question each man knew would follow—the question of impeachment.

Republican Leader Hinman opposed what he termed snap action on three grounds, namely, that the assembly had not read the evidence. During the voting, that the assembly could not impeach the governor while in extraordinary session unless called together for that purpose; that the governor could not be impeached for acts committed prior to taking office, but only for misconduct during his administration.

Give the Governor a Chance. Assemblyman Gibbs, democrat, aroused the only applause of the evening, by asking "every man with red blood in his veins to give the governor a chance."

Senator Duhamel, of Brooklyn, created a breeze in the senate, following the reading of the Frawley report, when he practically accused the committee of "appearing to have crucified" the governor.

Senator Frawley, chairman of the investigating committee jumped up in his place and exclaimed: "When the senator makes the statement that this committee has crucified the governor he says what is not true. I want to say that no man in this state is more friendly to the governor than I."

Half a dozen other senators argued in favor of accepting the report, and the impeachment resolution. Here is the resolution calling for this impeachment: "Whereas, the joint legislative investigating committee has filed report in the assembly on the eleventh day of August, 1913, together with testimony annexed thereto, showing or tending to show, that Governor William Sulzer, of the state of New York, made a false and fraudulent report to the secretary of state under his oath as required by law, that the total contributions in aid of his campaign as state hospital commissioner as Governor were $5,480 and no more, and

"Whereas, in truth and in fact, the amount was greatly in excess of said sum to the personal knowledge of said Sulzer; and such report further showing or tending to show, that he conspired to his own private use, contributions given in aid of his said election for the purchase of securities or other private uses; that he engaged in stock and that he did not know of the campaign contributions omitted from his sworn statement. The check was endorsed by Sulzer personally and he acknowledged the letter of Elkus transmitting it as a campaign contribution.

Alleged Sulzer Perjured Himself. "We submit to the legislature that it was false when William Sulzer swore that he had received only $5,460 of campaign contributions and that he did so with full knowledge that he had received an amount many times that sum and had converted the same to his private uses; that he used contributions given to aid in his election for the purchase of stocks in Wall street which he or his agents still hold; that he has been engaged in stock market speculation at the time that he, as governor, was earnestly pressing legislation against the New York Stock exchange, which would affect the business and prices of the exchange; and that there was evidence before this committee to sustain a finding that as governor he has punished legislators who opposed him by vetoing legislation enacted for the public welfare and has traded executive approval of bills for support of his direct primary and other measures."

Investigation Not Completed. "This committee, therefore, has not completed its investigation, either on this subject or others covered by the resolutions under which it is acting, and it is the duty of the legislature to call for the testimony and the attention of the legislature at once, without awaiting a final report either on this or other subjects."

"The committee is of the opinion that it is above party or partisanship. They are vital to the citizens of the state and call for prompt and well considered action. They call for an answer from Governor Sulzer, because both his obstructive tactics and his silence warrant the conclusion that the charges can neither be answered nor explained."

The report is signed by James J. Frawley, chairman; Eugene Lamb Richards, secretary; and Matthew T. Herzog, secretary of the investigating committee. An epitome of the main evidence brought out before the committee prefaces its conclusions. The affidavit of Governor Sulzer accompanying his declaration that he received and spent the money directly or indirectly as candidate for governor, is followed by the statement that the testimony shown a much larger sum to have been paid him for this purpose. This unaccounted-for surplus included checks for $2,500 from Jacob H. Schiff and $500 from I. Elkus, in addition to various amounts, including $500 from Wm. F. McCombs, chairman, and $1,000 from Henry Morgenthau, chairman of the finance committee of the democratic national committee, which it is asserted, that "no one could" have contributed specifically for campaign purposes.

Sarecky's Refusal to Testify. With reference to Sarecky's refusal to testify concerning the account he opened as Sulzer's agent with the Mutual Alliance Trust company, the report says that he directly or indirectly, as candidate for governor, is followed by the statement that the testimony shown a much larger sum to have been paid him for this purpose. This unaccounted-for surplus included checks for $2,500 from Jacob H. Schiff and $500 from I. Elkus, in addition to various amounts, including $500 from Wm. F. McCombs, chairman, and $1,000 from Henry Morgenthau, chairman of the finance committee of the democratic national committee, which it is asserted, that "no one could" have contributed specifically for campaign purposes.

LACK OF RAINS ADVANCED COTTON

Market Closed Steady at an Advance of Three to Six Points—Spot Cotton Quiet and Unchanged.

New York, August 11.—The failure of today's weather report to show rains in the southwest, as predicted on Saturday, caused a short advance in the cotton market at the opening, but a flurry of covering was followed by reactions and fresh buying seemed to be the dominant feature of the market in Arkansas, increasing demand for receipts and favorable crop advices from the eastern belt. The close was steady, with last prices 3 to 6 points net higher.

Business was active early and many of Saturday's sellers appeared to be buying back their contracts on reports that nothing more than a few light showers had fallen in Texas over Sunday. Cables were a shade better than due, which naturally contributed to the prevalence of recent sellers, and first prices were 10 to 11 points above the closing figures of last week. The first flurry of buying seemed to exhaust the immediate demand, however, while the market met considerable cotton above 11 cents for December and prices soon began to sag off. Business became less active on the decline and after easing off to about the closing figures of Saturday the market was again steadied by covering with the closing rallies of 3 or 4 points from the low.

Reports of good rains in sections of Arkansas and an official forecast for unsettled weather in Oklahoma encouraged private predictions of a break in the southwestern growth. The detailed weather report showed continued high temperature in both Oklahoma and Texas, with a few light showers in the eastern part of the latter state and noon weather reports showing no change in conditions, helping the closing rally. Weather reports of the crop outlook generally noted deterioration in the western belt, but claimed continued favorable progress east of the river.

HEAVY SELLING SENT CORN DOWN

Increase of Rural Offerings Main Factor in the Decline. Wheat Showed Firmness on Weather Reports.

Chicago, August 11.—Rain relief which, however, missed Kansas and most Missouri, brought about a set-back today in the price of corn. The finish of trading was nervous at a net decline of 3-8 to 5-8c. Wheat closed unchanged to 1-8c higher, oats the same as Saturday night to 1-4c up and provisions varying from a shade off to 3-8c advance.

Heavy selling took place in the corn pit, especially at the opening. Many belated longs were sacrificed and some shorts became aggressive, taking the ground that the current prices were high and many of the grangers, whose advance was ascribed to belated recognition of the benefits to be derived from rains in the middle west, Canadian Pacific's gain of almost 4 points preceded the declaration of the regular dividend.

While considerable realizing was seen in the later dealings, the market lost little of its advance, average gains extending from 1 to 2 points. Southern Pacific was almost the sole stock of prominence to show some backwardness.

London, which sold a small amount of our stocks here, was listless and the virtual failure of another colonial underwriting project was accepted as proof that the British market for securities still is in congestion. A rise in rates was the only feature of the Paris market and Berlin's bourse suggested a halting attitude.

The bond market was irregular, but advanced towards the end of the session with stocks. Government bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales, par value, aggregated $1,250,000.

STOCKS STRONG IN FINAL HOUR

There Was Some Realizing in the Late Dealings, But the Market Lost But Little of Its Advance.

New York, August 11.—After four hours of alternate decline and advance today's stock market took on an appearance of strength and activity in the final hour, transactions in that period more than equaling all the other hours of the session. The leader was United States Steel, in which large buying orders made their appearance, ostensibly from influential sources. There was no news to account for the sudden inquiry for Steel.

The buying later comprehended Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific, St. Paul and many of the grangers, whose advance was ascribed to belated recognition of the benefits to be derived from rains in the middle west, Canadian Pacific's gain of almost 4 points preceded the declaration of the regular dividend.

While considerable realizing was seen in the later dealings, the market lost little of its advance, average gains extending from 1 to 2 points. Southern Pacific was almost the sole stock of prominence to show some backwardness.

O'NEAL'S WARNER HE LACKS POWER

To Appoint Successor to Late Senator Johnston—Democrat Wire Alabama Governor to Observe the Law.

Washington August 11.—A telegram was sent tonight to democratic leaders in Alabama by Senator Overman, acting chairman of the senate judiciary committee, advising them that Governor O'Neal, in the opinion of the democratic lawyers in the senate, had no power to appoint a successor to the late Senator Joseph F. Johnston.

The message added that a majority of the lawyer senators held the governor could call a special election once, but that he would be adding that there was much difference of opinion in the judiciary committee as to whether it was necessary to call the legislature into session to authorize a special election.

Governor O'Neal, Senator Bankhead and others had asked for an opinion from the judiciary committee as to the quickest way of filling the vacancy under the terms of the recent constitutional amendment providing for the direct election of senators.

The question was discussed at all meetings of the judiciary committee. Later the democratic members consulted with practically every lawyer among the democratic senators. It was stated after the meeting that the unanimous opinion was that the governor had no power to fill the vacancy until the legislature met and authorized him to do so.

Indicative of Delay.

Some of the senators viewed the day's discussion as indicative of delay in filling the seat. They urged that it would consume much time for the holding of a special session of the Alabama legislature should the governor call the legislature upon that course, and said the selection of a senator by a special election without a meeting of the legislature might result in a contest and delay in seating the senator. It was suggested that an attempt be made to enter into a party agreement with the republicans in case of the selection of another senator during the session. Republican senators approached on the subject, however, did not give the idea their approval.

The main difference of opinion in the committee arose over the interpretation of the clause in the Alabama constitution which authorizes the governor to call elections to fill the vacancies in certain specified state offices, "and such other offices as may be provided for by law."

Some held that the language of this section was broad enough to cover the position earnestly.

The Warning to Governor O'Neal.

Senator Overman's telegram read: "By new amendment governor is charged with duty of issuing writs of election to fill the vacancy, but has no power to appoint a successor until legislature authorizes him to do so."

By subsection five, section 439, your code, it is provided that special elections are to be held in cases other than those elsewhere specified in the section which are or may be provided by law. The following section shall be held on such date as the governor may direct. This is the general opinion of the democratic lawyers of the senate. O'Neal does not call an election until he appoints John E. Knox, I knew him ten years ago and even then he was regarded as one of the ablest lawyers in Alabama.

O'Neal May Name Clayton.

Birmingham, Ala., August 11.—Alabama's senatorial situation tonight appeared to be chaotic following receipt of the advice of the senate judiciary committee from Washington that the CARLOADS SHIPMENTS OF LIQUOR TO FITZGERALD HAVE RESULTED IN WARM MUNICIPAL CAMPAIGN.

Fitzgerald, Ga., August 11.—(Special.)—A prohibition campaign is on in Fitzgerald.

There are now seven near beer saloons doing business in this city under a $1,000 license from the council, and it is openly charged by the days that every one of these saloons are selling "near" beer and real liquor. It is charged that drummers for wholesale liquor houses visit Fitzgerald regularly and take orders for liquor, and that it is shipped in by the carload openly, without restraint or restrictions by the police authorities.

Fifty Barrels of Liquor.

Recently a shipment of fifty barrels of liquor was received and the prohibitionists attempted to lay the blame for the bill against its delivery. The effort proved a dismal failure.

So openly, it is claimed, has been the violations of the prohibition law that the ministers and church people have organized to fight the city primary. The present mayor, A. H. Cook, was elected as a prohibitionist, but he has a "wet" council and he claims to be powerless in enforcing the prohibition law.

Biggest Registration on Record.

The white primary is set for August 20, and the registration closed yesterday night with the heaviest registration in the history of the city. The white population of Fitzgerald is about 6,000, and the registration is 913 out of a possible 1,050.

The prohibition fight is being led by J. P. McDonald, candidate for mayor. In his announcement he says: "I am in favor of a right enforcement of the laws against the sale of liquor; against bawdy houses, gambling houses and other places. Should become mayor, violators of laws against these evils must cease their operations. I will enforce the laws without fear or favor. I am against and while not fanatical about the subject, I want to see the laws enforced to the letter."

Mr. McDonald is being backed by every minister of the city.

There are two other candidates opposing Mr. McDonald, J. P. Adams, W. Frank and D. P. Adams.

Frank's friends are very confident, but the voters say if both the others remain in the race McDonald is a sure winner.

Ticket Named at Meeting.

A full ticket of five councilmen who have pledged themselves against "drinking" have been nominated by a citizens' mass meeting. They are as follows: A. N. Davis, J. H. Goodman, E. K. Farmer, E. J. Dorminy, J. H. Mayer.

The "wet" council ticket is W. R. Paulk, M. L. Lee, Ed Thurston, W. Paulk and D. P. Adams.

The "wets" men claim they will win by a safe margin, but this is disputed by the "drys."

EQUALIZATION BILL PASSED BY SENATE

valuation of more than $13,000,000, which is lost to the state.

Here Senator Miller had the general report of the comptroller general, showing that each year the counties are returning a smaller acreage than for the preceding years, and cited the fact that the total amount of acreage returned last year was 700,000 acres. He also showed that many counties had not returned their land for more than twice the amount per acre than the whites. This is true in Fulton, Bibb, Muscogee, Richmond and many other counties.

Says House is Incompetent.

"It has gotten so that the people's representatives at the capitol here and give unlimited amounts for appropriations because they think it will raise their political standing and then turn right around and refuse to support a measure which provides for every fund which they have appropriated. They say they are going to say to the house if they do not pass this bill or some other one which will efficiently effect its purpose that they will not grant them a cent on their appropriations measure, no matter how important the measure of legislation may be. We will have to increase the tax rate, reduce expenses or provide some way to raise more revenue.

"The people of this state want this measure and they vote for it and go and tell you your constituents they will say, 'Well, done, thou good and faithful servant.'"

Senator DuBose, of the thirtieth, who led the opposition, spoke nearly an hour. He will not have it said that he is fighting the administration of this state by a representative of the people must stand for what he thinks right first and for his friends next. I voted for our governor, being one of his strongest supporters, and hope I will have the opportunity of voting against him, but I can't conscientiously support such a bill.

Sheppard Substitute Not Read.

"I can't give out what happened in the finance committee, but I can state what did not happen. The Sheppard substitute was never even read."

"Were you not present at the committee meeting?" asked Senator Stark.

"Yes, sir."

"Did you ask that the Sheppard substitute be read?"

"No, sir."

"How do you know what was in the Sheppard substitute?"

"Oh, I'm talking sense now," shot back the senator, and went on with his argument, refusing to answer any further questions on the ground that the corporation of lawyers of the state could not reply to one before another was hurled at him.

"I have no objection to the county board feature of the bill, but I do not believe this bill would be acceptable to the people of Georgia. If you could get a tax commissioner who could do the duties this bill places on him he would be cheap at $10,000 a year.

"The main reason for my opposition to the measure is that I believe its passage would raise a howl from Rabun Gap to Tybee light. While I realize these lawyers won't benefit from my advice, perhaps they may be advised by Chief Justice Brewer."

Some Property Invisibly.

Here he read an extract from a supreme court decision in which Justice Brewer cited that a large amount of property was necessarily intangible.

Senator Tarver moved the previous question at this juncture and his motion was carried, twenty minutes of time being allotted to the chairman of the committee to the minority report.

Senator McGregor spoke fifteen minutes for the minority, characterizing it as exceedingly unfortunate that the finance committee saw fit to put off action on such a measure as this until the legislature had passed. He stated that he thought this the most important piece of legislation ever attempted in Georgia.

The senator then compared the present depletion of the Georgia treasury to the depletion of King George III's treasury and then attempted to raise revenue as similar to the efforts of the famous king to put the stamp act and other offensive taxes on the American colonies.

Senator Olliff spoke the remaining five minutes with the question of a state commissioner eliminated. I am in favor of this substitute, but I am afraid of a centralization of power. The senator from the twenty-fourth asked us to lay down partisan politics. I know not what he means, and am very sorry that he has injected into this matter. If he refers to the administration, I defy any man to say there is a concerted opposition to the governor.

Defends the Farmer.

"I am sorry the advocates of this substitute saw fit to call the previous question and thus shut our mouths. I am tired of hearing the farmer, the backbone of our country, maligned and accused with vicious charges."

The committee divided its twenty minutes to Senators Sweat, Smith and McNeil.

Senator Sweat, who had previously been opposed to the bill, stated that after hearing the subject exhaustively he had concluded that he was heartily in sympathy with it.

Senator Smith said: "I do not know that I am properly entitled to speak on the side of the committee for I favor the bill only with some amendments which I have offered. I want a board of assessors to consist of twelve members, to be appointed by the governor from each of the twelve congressional districts, to act in the place of the state tax commissioner."

The amendments offered by Senator Smith were all defeated and he voted against the passage of the bill.

Clarion Call to Duty.

"It is the one clarion call to duty," said Senator McNeil, "regardless of how it may affect our own immediate localities. It affects the honor and integrity of our state. We are not here to have honest tax-payers, but the tax-payers have been correctly informed

SPACE IN MANUFACTURERS' EXHIBIT WILL ALL BE ALLOTTED BY AUG. 19

If you are an Atlanta manufacturer and haven't signed up for space in the manufacturers' exhibit which will be placed in the new chamber of commerce building, you have only seven days more in which to get in. At the end of that time all space will be taken, and it will be absolutely impossible to get a single square foot of space to go into the exhibit. The space continues to be allotted as it goes, and manufacturers have signed up already, and every unassigned one will be given an opportunity during the week's whirlwind campaign, which began Monday, and will end Tuesday, August 19. Absolutely no favoritism will be shown, and the remaining space will be allotted as applied for. It is expected that before the week is up that every available space will be taken, and that some time in the future it will be necessary to build additional room.

The chairman of the various committees in charge of the campaign will meet at 1 o'clock each day beginning Wednesday until the week is over.

The manufacturers' exposition proposes to have a competent man in charge of the exhibit, telephone service on each floor, and visitors to the exposition will be shown every courtesy and all information will be furnished in regard to the manufactures and the goods on exhibition. By this means, manufacturers showing their goods in the permanent exhibition will be placed in touch with visitors and prospective buyers. A registrar will
