

U. S. TROOP TO BE MOBILIZED ON MEXICAN BORDER; "COME HOME," WILSON CALLS TO AMERICANS IN MEXICO

HARRY THAW WINS IN CANADIAN COURT AND CROWD CHEERS

Ovation Given to the Slayer of Stanford White Would Have Done Honor to a Prince of Royal Blood.

THAW AND BRITISH FLAG GIVEN ROUND OF CHEERS

"We'll Give You Justice, Harry," Spectators Shouted—New York Authorities Disappointed by Decision.

Sherbrooke, Quebec, August 27.—Harry K. Thaw won three victories over the New York state authorities today and was locked tonight in the Sherbrooke jail, immune for the time being from the dominion immigration authorities, after having received an ovation from the townspeople of Sherbrooke that would have done honor to a prince of royal blood.

So riotous was the scene in the superior court when at the morning session Judge Arthur Gloaguen refused to allow counsel representing New York state to be party to the proceedings, that the court subsequently warned spectators that a repetition of the cheering, chair climbing, handkerchief waving and general hysteria would mean jail sentences for the demonstrators.

Speaking from the bench at the afternoon session, Judge Gloaguen said that never in his experience as a member of the bar and of the bench had he been a witness to "such disgraceful scenes." It was carried out in the presence of court attendants and four armed dominion police, who stood immobile while emotional women rushed toward Thaw, who was being taken to the jail. Three cheers for Thaw! Three cheers for the British flag! We will give you justice, Harry.

Exodus of Thaw's Foes.
Tonight, with Thaw's term of confinement indeterminate and the key to the riddle still not found, there was a general exodus of those who rushed hither after the fugitive's sensational escape from Matteawan, and Thaw's friends and supporters on matters appertaining to his life, left tonight for Quebec, accompanied by Franklin Kennedy, deputy attorney general of New York.

Either tonight or tomorrow District Attorney E. A. Conger and Sheriff Hornbeck of Dutchess county; Superintendent Kleb, of Matteawan; John E. Mack, former district attorney of Dutchess county; and deputies sheriff of Vermont and New Hampshire, who were ready to string themselves along the border line and seize Thaw in event of his deportation.

Messrs. Jerome and Kennedy will confer at Quebec with the attorney general of the province in the hope that he, as the province's chief officer of the crown, may be able to open the legal lock that holds Thaw in jail.

Three Points Won by Thaw.
The three points in which Thaw's lawyers were successful in their first legal skirmish were:

1. New York state was denied the right to be party to the proceedings in court.
2. Counsel for the state failed in their efforts to have Thaw arraigned before a magistrate and the commitment on which he is held quashed. This would have released him to the immigration officers.
3. Judge Gloaguen granted the plea of Thaw's counsel for a discontinuance of the writ of habeas corpus which might have brought about his release.

MEXICAN OFFICIALS SILENT IN REGARD TO EMBROGLIO

No Member of the Huerta Government Will Make Statement About the Message of President Wilson.

Mexico City, August 27.—Without comment Frederico Gamboa, the minister of foreign affairs, presented to the standing committee of the Mexican congress tonight all the facts in the controversy between Mexico and the United States.

The congressmen comprising the committee received the facts without comment other than that indulged in as individuals after adjournment. Unless there are new developments it is improbable that discussion, even of a private character, will continue long.

Senator Gamboa insists that the negotiations are not entirely concluded, but should they be, it is probable that soon the entire affair will be regarded as a closed incident. The congressmen in discussing the notes freely commended the action of the Mexican government and that small portion of the public which is cognizant of the character of that action was long in its praise of what is characterized as the patriotic and dignified attitude of the administration.

No afternoon paper in the capital carried any part of the correspondence between the countries or reference to President Wilson's message. Officials of the government refuse to discuss it with the exception of Senator Gamboa, who referred to the exchanges then only sufficiently to explain that the documents he was handing out for publication were those exchanged up to last night.

Statement for Huerta Regime.
All the government cared to say regarding the situation was published tonight in the official Diario, a paper which was in great danger of being changed between the channels.

"Since the strained relations existing between Mexico and the United States began," said Senator Gamboa in this article, "the ad interim government with a full understanding of the obligations of the government, has endeavored with the greatest possible spirit of conciliation to preserve national decorum, which was in great danger of suffering a serious and transcendental affront had another line of conduct been adopted from that which was followed by the present administration. The strictly secret character of the negotiations, which were still under way, was maintained until the publication of the whole of the correspondence exchanged between the channels."

"In view of the fact that the president of the United States already has submitted to congress the constitutional ad interim government believes it to be its duty through the official organs to inform the inhabitants of the republic of the state of these delicate negotiations. Purposely not a single comment is added, since the government believes that the documents are eloquent enough in themselves. It confines itself to hoping for approval of its acts by the people whose destinies it temporarily guides and recommending the great respect and solemn course of the aforementioned negotiations may not be hindered."

Huerta the Stumbling Block.
"Many Mexicans believe that the only bar to the acceptance of the propositions in the second note is the situation which changes every day—almost every hour—than the rest of us, and speaks with fuller knowledge. The most practical suggestion that I can make is that Americans should come out of Mexico as rapidly and as soon as possible."

Representative Harrison, of Mississippi, a member of the foreign affairs committee, said he believed the placing of an absolute embargo on the shipment of arms from the United States would be followed by similar action by other world powers.

No action is looked for on any of the resolutions now pending in the two houses of congress, calling for information and for steps by the government to protect Americans in Mexico. Senators Sheppard and Penrose, both of whom have resolutions pending, said today they would make no effort to secure action upon them, or to discuss the Mexican situation.

GOVERNORS APPROVE MESSAGE OF WILSON

Denver, Col., August 27.—The Denver Post today prints statements of nineteen governors attending the conference of governors at Colorado Springs on President Wilson's Mexican message. Most of the statements are favorable.

Governor McDonald, of New Mexico, declared that the president was right in his views as to the hopelessness of Huerta's attempts to restore order. "As to armed intervention," he added, "I cannot say that I am in favor of it."

Governor Colquhoun, of Texas, remarked: "Wilson seems to have come around to the opinion of the Texas governor when he says peace and Huerta are at opposite poles."

Governor Eberhart, of Minnesota, approves the policy of the government and is opposed to intervention.

Governor Spry, of Utah, said: "It is easy to tell Americans to get out of Mexico. None of us wants to see war, and personally, I don't think the whole of Mexico is worth the lives it might cost, but if we have to go in there with an army, I am in favor of doing the job right and taking over the entire country for ourselves."

Ultimate war with Mexico is foreseen by Governor Byrne, of South Dakota, who says the Wilson plan "looks to me to be rather a weak policy."

Governor Hunt, of Arizona, "Things are in a terrible condition in Mexico, and it grieves me to think of our people down there. Does President Wilson say for them to get out of the country?"

The Mexican Trouble-Maker

The good offices of the United States to aid in restoring peace to Mexico have been flatly declined by General Huerta. President Wilson and his advisers seem to think that the Huerta regime will soon fall. Meanwhile Huerta has been informed that he will be held responsible for the safety of Americans in Mexico. President Wilson has also advised Americans in the troubled republic to return to the United States.

"DEVIL WOULD ENJOY HIMSELF IN GOTHAM"

"Slit Skirts and Other New Styles Would Please Him Much," Says Broughton.

New York, August 27.—(Special.)—"If I were the devil," said Dr. Len G. Broughton, pastor of Christ church, London, and formerly pastor of the Baptist Tabernacle in Atlanta, in his sermon today at the tent evangel on West 14th street, "certainly I would not enjoy anything so much as a walk up Broadway or Fifth avenue looking at the slit skirts and other new styles of women's dress."

The lively picture drawn of his Satanic Majesty's complacent smiles as he goes among his people like Haroun Al Raschid, drew considerable applause. The audience even applauded when Dr. Broughton said in unmistakable terms that the answer to the question which formed his text: "Shall we know our loved ones in heaven?" amounted to this, for the silhouettes of the women's dress.

"I have recently I never knew a woman who was not interested in jewels and clothes," he continued. "But now they have lost their interest in clothing and are going around the streets without any on. I don't know any place where the devil could be happier than in New York this summer, where the prevailing fashion for women is to wear as few clothes as possible and make those few as short as possible. These things lead only to the devil. They tempt men, and no woman ever fell without the aid of a man."

"Yes, I know some of you will say: 'You needn't come over here from London and criticize the way we New York women dress,'" continued Dr. Broughton. "Then, why don't you New York women quit telling yourselves in such a fix as to get talked about. Many of the women dress the way they do to get talked about."

Dr. Broughton will come south in a few days to conduct a revival meeting in Macon under the auspices of the Baptist ministers, beginning September 7.

AUTO TOUR ENABLES THIEF TO ROB BANK

Hazlehurst, Miss., August 27.—While the population of Hazlehurst, including the clerks of the Bank of Hazlehurst, were watching the arrival of automobiles in a good road tour today, a thief entered a side door of the bank and extracted something over $1,000, escaping without being seen. The loss was discovered when the clerks began to check up the counter cash. Bloodhounds failed to pick up a trail beyond the sidewalk where many persons had massed.

country? A great many of them have already done so and others would like to, but can't. Some have been killed while trying to get away."

Governor Lister, Washington, "It seems to me that the president's position is logical."

Governor O'Neal, of Alabama, "Huerta can never pacify the country, and it would be disgraceful for this country to recognize a man like him. I see no occasion for intervention by this country."

MISS JESSIE WILSON UNCONSCIOUS BY ROAD

President's Daughter Is Thrown From Horse—Found by a Physician.

Plainfield, N. H., August 27.—Miss Jessie Wilson, daughter of President Wilson, while riding near here late yesterday, was thrown from her horse and lay unconscious for more than half an hour on the roadside.

She was found there by Dr. Charles W. Worthen, of White River Junction, who applied remedies and restored her to consciousness. Later Miss Wilson was taken to a house nearby and the Cornish home of President Wilson was notified by telephone. Her injuries are not believed to be serious.

Miss Wilson's fiancé, Francis B. Sayre, with whom she had started for a ride, had gone ahead of her and knew nothing of the accident until the riderless horse dashed past him. The scene of the accident was on the New Hampshire side of the Connecticut river, just opposite the Vermont town of North Hartland.

Cornish, N. H., August 27.—At Harlakendon, the Wilson summer home here, it was said tonight that Miss Jessie Wilson had received no serious injury, apparently, from the fall from her horse, though she was still suffering somewhat from contusions.

JONES IS CONFIRMED ATLANTA POSTMASTER

Accounts of His Office Are in Good Shape, Declares Hugh L. McKee.

The nomination of Bolling H. Jones as postmaster at Atlanta was confirmed by the United States senate Wednesday afternoon. This action automatically removes Hugh L. McKee from the office. Mr. Jones will take charge as soon as he receives the necessary authority and makes the required bond.

Mr. Jones has stated that he intends to conduct a thoroughly business administration, without allowing politics to enter into his office. He will adhere strictly to the civil service rules where they apply and the public is assured of competent service.

Mr. Jones last night said that he had not as yet received any official confirmation of his nomination, and so did not know when he would take office.

Mr. McKee also has not yet been officially notified of Mr. Jones' confirmation, but stated Wednesday night that the accounts of the office are in good shape and that he is ready at any time to turn over the office to his successor.

UNITED STATES PREPARES TO PROTECT ITS CITIZENS FROM HARM BY MEXICANS

American Consuls Ordered to Notify All Mexican Officials That They Will Be Held Strictly Responsible for Harm or Injury Done to Americans or Their Property.

UNITED STATES TO BE NEUTRAL AS BETWEEN MEXICAN FACTIONS BUT TO PROTECT OWN CITIZENS

Money Will Be Furnished by Government to Get Americans Out of Mexico—President Wilson Is Hopeful That the Moral Force of Governments of World Will Bring Huerta to Reason.

Washington, August 27.—President Wilson tonight warned all Americans to leave Mexico at once. At the same time the American embassy and all consular representatives throughout the southern republic were instructed to "notify all officials, civil and military, in Mexico," that they would be held strictly responsible for harm or injury done to Americans or their property.

UNITED STATES WILL AID AMERICANS TO GET OUT OF ANARCHY-RIDDEN MEXICO.

Secretary Bryan dispatched long telegrams to the embassy and all consular representatives, quoting extracts from President Wilson's address to congress today, in which he reviewed the little peace negotiations with the Huerta government and the policy the United States would pursue hereafter toward Mexico.

In these messages the consuls were instructed to render every aid possible to departing Americans, furnishing transportation and any other pecuniary assistance to the needy. They were informed that a sufficient number of ships would be provided to carry away those in the seacoast towns.

Foreign governments will be notified of the action of the United States so that they may give similar advice, but the American consuls will help all foreigners in any emergency.

LARGE NUMBER OF AMERICAN TROOPS WILL BE MOBILIZED ON THE BORDER.

Within a day or two an announcement is expected of the mobilization of a large number of American troops along the southern frontier to enforce neutrality in the traffic of arms and munitions of war. President Wilson was in touch with Assistant Secretary Breckenridge, of the war department, tonight, but the nature of his communication was not revealed.

MILLIONAIRE JURY TRYING CAMINETTI

San Francisco, Cal., August 27.—The trial of F. Drew Caminetti, charged with violation of the Mann white slave act, proceeded today before the jury that was selected before the morning session ended. The interest and tension that characterized the trial of Maudie L. Dicks, companion of Caminetti, who was convicted a week ago, were lacking, and counsel on both sides seemed anxious to hurry the case to a conclusion.

Lola Norris, the Sacramento girl, Caminetti is accused with enticing, with Marsha Warrington, her chum, to Reno, Nev., will take the stand tomorrow. It is expected, Theodore Roche, assistant United States district attorney, said today that her testimony would be identical with that given in the case of Dicks. Miss Warrington will follow her on the stand.

Just before adjournment a comment was made by Judge Van Fleet bearing directly upon Caminetti's responsibility in the Reno trip. Counsel for the defense, in objecting to questions asked by Roche seeking to show that the defendant had participated in arranging and conducting the trip, stated that members of the train crew and the ticket agent who had just testified, had failed to connect Caminetti with the purchase of tickets or the engaging of the drawing room on the train.

"It is not necessary," said the court in overruling the objection, "to show the defendant handled the money or made the purchases. Certainly, if the government proves that he was in the party, under the circumstances they have set forth, it is sufficient showing to develop the connection of the defendant with the transaction."

The jury is conspicuous for the number of wealthy men it includes, and, as in the Dicks trial, a majority of the jurors are married.

It is already known as "the millionaire jury."

C. F. von HERRMANN, Section Director.

lance by troops already watching the international boundary.

Secretary Garrison, of the war department, it was announced tonight, will be in New York next Wednesday to confer with Francis Burton Harrison, but it was said at the white house that his return to the east from his western inspection trip was not prompted by any prospective troop movement.

MORAL FORCE OF WORLD SUPPORTING WILSON.

These developments following closely upon the reading by President Wilson of his address to congress today, in which he outlined the policy of the United States toward Mexico as one of absolute non-interference and strictest neutrality. The president held out hope for a resumption of negotiations and ultimate success of a policy of persuasion backed by the moral force of the governments of the world.

First results of the president's optimism were apparent tonight when Secretary Bryan announced the receipt of a message from John Lind, now at Vera Cruz, stating that Senor Gamboa, Mexican minister of foreign affairs, had sent a new note. Secretary Bryan described the situation as "encouraging," and commented on the fact that he had for several days used the word "unchanged."

Secretary Bryan said that while the Lind message was not only a summary of the Gamboa note, sufficient had been received to warrant taking an encouraging view. Mr. Bryan added that the Gamboa note was in reply to the supplementary suggestions made by Mr. Lind before leaving Mexico City for Vera Cruz.

RECEPTION BY CONGRESS PLEASES WILSON.

The president was informed of the late developments, but offered no comment. He was particularly pleased tonight with his reception in congress. Not only from the applause that greeted him as he began his address and at its conclusion, but through personal congratulations, President Wilson felt assured that he had behind him the undivided support of congress, irrespective of political party.

The president had an informal talk with Senator Root, republican, in the speaker's room, just before he was escorted to the house rostrum, and learned that the New York senator soon would make a speech in support of the administration's policy. Mr. Root's utterances are calculated to attract attention in Latin-America, because of his famous tour there a few years ago as secretary of state.

WOOD HURRIES TO WASHINGTON TO TAKE UP TROOP QUESTION

Major General Wood, chief of staff of the army, who has been inspecting the troops in Texas already is on his way to Washington.

General Waterspoon, attached to the office of the chief of staff, said tonight that much would depend upon the experience of the next few days on the border in determining upon the order for more troops. Secretary Bryan planned to confer with President Wilson early tomorrow on the subject, and the assurance was given that everything necessary would be done to carry out strict neutrality.

Secretary Daniels conferred with the president during the day, and the navy department is ready to dispatch more ships to Mexican waters if required to prevent the shipment of arms to Mexico by sea.

Foreign powers, it was understood tonight, have not been asked to place an embargo on the shipment of munitions of war or arms to Mexico, but the president, in his message, asserted that this government had been given the generous moral support of foreign nations in the proposals to the Huerta government which have been rejected. It became known that the administration has under serious consideration the ordering of several thousand more troops to the Mexican border line, and it is said that cabinet members have urged that this be done.

NOT OVER 15,000 AMERICANS IN THE MEXICAN REPUBLIC

The president's urgent request to Americans in Mexico to be patriotic, emphasized to congress the necessity for action on the recent request of Secretary Bryan for an appropriation of $100,000 with which to aid citizens of the United States in their exodus from the scene of conflict. Each appropriation is included in a deficiency bill now in the hands of the house appropriations committee, and it is expected that action upon it will be hastened. The state department estimates that there are now in Mexico not more than 15,000 Americans, whereas there were 60,000 several years ago. In Mexico City it is estimated that there are less than 2,000 Americans today.

The diplomatic relations between the two countries, it is understood, will remain as they are at present, each country maintaining an embassy without official recognition, presided over by a charge d'affaires. Though the president made it plain in his statement that all negotiations thus far have come to naught, and the message of Foreign Minister Gamboa, rejecting the Huerta government's American proposals, left no room for doubt as to the situation, the way is open for future negotiations, either at the initiative of Mexico or the United States.

Meanwhile Nelson O'Shaughnessy, probably will remain in Mexico City in charge of the American embassy. John Lind, the president's personal representative, still is in Vera Cruz, and probably will remain there as long as there is any possible chance for a renewal of negotiations.

APPEAL WAS MADE BY WILSON TO MORAL FORCES OF WORLD

In his message, which was in the nature of an appeal to the moral forces of this and foreign nations, the president made it clear that he based his hope upon the effect the announcement of this government's policy will have upon, not only the people of this country and the governments of other nations, but upon the people of Mexico themselves. Now that the United States has exhausted the effort to bring about peace and a stable Mexican government, the president believes that this government's example to the world will avail great gain in the end.

"The steady pressure of moral force," he said, "will before many days break the barriers of pride and prejudice down and we shall triumph as Mexico's friends sooner than we could triumph as her enemies."

The president told congress that everything this nation did in the situation confronting it must be "rooted in patience and done with calm, disinterested deliberation." He had no word of rebuke for Mexico and reached the determination to maintain strict neutrality after having waited for nothing but the members of the foreign relations committee in congress.

NOT A DETAIL WAS WITHHELD IN THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Not an essential detail did the president withhold in his presentation of the case for the public, publishing also to the world the reply of the Mexican government to Mr. Lind, in which Senor Gamboa says that the American proposals as "humiliating," denies the representation by President Wilson that the Mexicans had not made progress toward peace and though expressing appreciation of the avowed friendly intent of the United States, declares that "if such good offices are to be of the character of those which the United States has shown to Mexico, we should have to decline them in the most categorical and definite manner." Everything that Mexico had said to this government in response to the proposals was made public, including the Huerta alternative that nothing could be welcomed except unrestricted recognition of his government. After he had concluded his message and listened to the applause which greeted it, the president turned toward the white house and awaited its effect. He believes that it will be beneficial.

UNITED STATES AND MEXICO ARE DISCUSSED BY WILSON IN MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

The President Outlines American Position—"Hands Off" Policy, But Huerta to Be Held Responsible for Safety of American Lives and Property.

Washington, August 27.—President Wilson appeared in person before congress today and laid before the world the details of the United States' efforts to bring about peace in Mexico, the facts concerning Huerta's rejection of the peace proposals, and the policy to be pursued now by this government.

DEMANDS MADE BY UNITED STATES.

The president announced the position of the United States to be as follows:

No armed intervention.

Strict neutrality "forbidding the exportation of arms or munitions of war of any kind from the United States to any part of the republic of Mexico."

Under no circumstances "to be the partisans of either party to the contest that now distracts Mexico, or constitute ourselves the virtual umpire between them."

To urge all Americans to leave Mexico at once and to assist them to get away in every way possible.

To let everyone in Mexico who assumes to exercise authority know that this government "shall vigilantly watch the fortunes of those Americans who cannot get away and shall hold them responsible for their sufferings and losses to a definite reckoning."

"That can and will be made plain before the possibility of a misunderstanding," declared the president. "Negotiations for the friendly mediation of the United States are open to resumption at any time upon either the initiative of this government or of Mexico."

PROPOSALS MADE BY HUERTA REGIME.

Accompanying the president's address was the reply of the Huerta government to the American proposals. It was written by Foreign Minister Gamboa. It suggested the following alternative policy for the United States:

Reception of a Mexican ambassador in Washington.

That the United States send a new ambassador to Mexico without restraints.

Strict observance of the neutrality laws and "see to it that no material or monetary assistance is given to the rebels."

Unconditional recognition of the Huerta government.

The occasion had not been paralleled in more than a century. No other president since George Washington has appeared before congress on a foreign affair. The senate and house assembled in the house chamber, the senators filling in two by two. As the president mounted the platform where Speaker Clark and Vice President Marshall were waiting the big chamber was hushed. Attired in a conventional frock coat suit the president stood at the clerk's desk and read his address in the easy conversational tone for which he is noted. Scarcely a sound interrupted.

WILSON OUTLINES MEXICAN SITUATION.

First pointing out that it was his duty "without reservation to lay all the facts concerning the relations of the United States with Mexico," the president outlined what the United States had done "as a friend and neighbor." Asserting that this nation was glad to call itself the friend of Mexico, and hoping for many future occasions to show that disinterested friendship, the president declared that "we shall yet prove to the Mexican people that we know how to serve them without first thinking how we shall serve ourselves."

Describing Mexican conditions and the events that led up to the negotiations just concluded, President Wilson outlined how "war and disorder, devastation and confusion, seem to threaten to become the settled fortune of the distracted country." As friends, he said, this country could wait no longer for a solution of things in the sister republic.

INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN ENVOY LIND.

President Wilson read his instructions to John Lind for a settlement. "All America cries out for a settlement," read the note Mr. Lind bore to Mexico. "A satisfactory settlement seems to us to be conditioned on the immediate cessation of fighting throughout Mexico, a definite armistice solemnly entered into and scrupulously observed by all parties."

"Security given for an early and free election in which all will agree to take part."

The consent of General Huerta to bind himself not to be a candidate for election as president of the republic at this election; and,

"The agreement of all parties to abide by the results of the election and co-operate in the most loyal way in organizing and supporting the new administration."

WHY GENERAL HUERTA REJECTED PROPOSALS.

The president "emphatically praised the execution of his mission by Mr. Lind and said he was led to believe the Huerta government rejected the American proposals because the authorities in Mexico City had been grossly misinformed and misled" upon the spirit of the American people in the matter, "and upon a mistaken belief that the president's proposals did not speak for the people of the United States." So long as such a misunderstanding continued, the president asserted that this nation "could only await the time of their awakening to a realization of the real facts."

"The situation," declared the president, "must be given a little more time to work itself out in the new circumstances."

He then outlined the position this government should take. Concluding his address the president predicted that the "steady pressure of moral force will before many days break the barriers of pride and prejudice down, and we shall triumph as Mexico's friends sooner than we could triumph as her enemies."

NOTE FROM HUERTA NOT READ BY WILSON.

Senor Gamboa's note which was appended to the president's address as an exhibit was not read by the president, but was furnished to congress as a printed document.

Mrs. Wilson and her daughters and Secretary Bryan were in the executive gallery. Other members of the cabinet were on the floor. Every head of the administration was bowed and the solemnity of the occasion was impressive as the chaplain, Rev. Henry D. Couden, in his prayer, said:

"Rule Thou in the hearts of our servants, that as a nation we may move forward to all that is pure and noble until all the peoples of all the world shall recognize the purity of our motives."

Although a deafening volley of applause rang out as the president appeared, he plunged into the reading of his message without delay.

The president finished reading at 12 o'clock. Another great roar of applause rang out. Then the joint session dissolved, and the house adjourned and the senate fled back to its side of the capitol.

THE MESSAGE ON MEXICO

President Wilson's message follows:

"Gentlemen of the congress: It is clearly my duty to lay before you very fully and candidly the facts concerning our present relations with the republic of Mexico. The deplorable posture of affairs in Mexico I need not describe, but I deem it my duty to speak very frankly of what this government has done and shall seek to do in fulfillment of its obligation to Mexico herself, as a friend and neighbor, and to American citizens whose lives and property are daily affected by the distressing conditions which now obtain beyond our southern border."

"These conditions touch us very nearly. Not merely because they lie so close to our southern border, but because they are a constant reminder of the fact that we are not alone in our efforts to bring about peace and stability in Mexico. We are joined to the people of Mexico and to American citizens who are daily affected by the distressing conditions which now obtain beyond our southern border."

"The effect of this unfortunate misunderstanding, which has led us to leave them singularly isolated and without friends who can effectively stand continuous with the misunderstanding, is now our duty to show the people of Mexico to set their affairs in order again and wait for a further opportunity to offer our friendship to them."

"Meanwhile, what is it our duty to do? Clearly, everything we do must be rooted in patience and done with calm and disinterested deliberation. Impatience on our part would be childish, and would only bring with it the risk of wrong and folly. We can afford to exercise the self-restraint of a really great nation which realizes its own strength and seeks to misuse it."

"It was our duty to offer our active assistance. It is now our duty to show that true friendship and to enable the people of Mexico to set their affairs in order again and wait for a further opportunity to offer our friendship to them. The actual situation of affairs in Mexico City will presently be revealed."

"The effect of this unfortunate misunderstanding, which has led us to leave them singularly isolated and without friends who can effectively stand continuous with the misunderstanding, is now our duty to show the people of Mexico to set their affairs in order again and wait for a further opportunity to offer our friendship to them."

Situation Must Be Ended.

"While we wait the contest of the rival forces will undoubtedly for a little while be sharper than ever, just as it actually is in the field of battle. The position of outsiders is always particularly trying and full of strife and contention. We cannot stand by and see them get away in every way possible—not because we would mean to slacken in the least our efforts to secure peace and order, but because it is imperative that they should take no unnecessary risks, when it is physically possible for them to leave the country. We should let everyone who assumes to exercise authority in any part of Mexico know in the most unequivocal way that we shall vigilantly watch the fortunes of those Americans who cannot get away and shall hold them responsible for their sufferings and losses to a definite reckoning. That can and will be made plain before the possibility of a misunderstanding."

"For the rest, I deem it my duty to exercise the authority conferred upon me by the law of March 1912, to see to it that neither side to the struggle now going on in Mexico receive any assistance from this side of the border."

"I shall follow the best practice of nations in the matter of neutrality by forbidding the exportation of arms or munitions of war of any kind from the United States to any part of the republic of Mexico—a policy suggested by several interesting precedents and certainly dictated by many manifest considerations of practical expediency. We cannot in the circumstances be the partisans of either party to the contest that now distracts Mexico, or constitute ourselves the virtual umpire between them."

"I am happy to say that several of the great governments of the world have given this government their generous moral support, urging upon the provisional authorities at the City of Mexico the acceptance of our proffered good offices in the spirit in which they are made. We cannot in the circumstances be the partisans of either party to the contest that now distracts Mexico, or constitute ourselves the virtual umpire between them."

ing or what is likely to happen in Mexico. We offer our good offices, not only because of our genuine desire to play the part of a friend, but also because we are convinced that the powers of the world to act as Mexico's nearest friend."

"We wish to act in these circumstances in the spirit of the most earnest and disinterested friendship. It is our hope that the peace, happiness and prosperity of a whole people are involved in this perplexing and distressing situation not only to pay the most scrupulous regard to the sovereignty and independence of Mexico—that we take as a matter of course to which we are bound by every obligation of right and honor, but also to give every possible evidence that we act in the interest of Mexico alone, and not in the interest of any person or body of persons who may have personal or property claims in Mexico which they may feel that they have the right to press."

"The government of Mexico has paid due attention to the advice and considerations expressed by the government of the United States; has done this on account of three principal reasons: First, because Mexico entertains the highest respect for the personality of the president of the United States; second, because certain European and American governments, with which Mexico cultivates the closest relations of international amity, having in a most delicate, respectful way, highly gratifying to us, made use of their good offices as the president of the United States; and, third, because Mexico was anxious, not so much to justify its attitude before the world, but to enter into agreement with the great majority of whom have signed their adherence and approval as a result of its cause, in every way the justice of its cause."

Conditions in Mexico.

"The 'imputation in your instructions that no progress has been made toward establishing in the capital of Mexico a government which enjoys the confidence and obedience of the Mexican people is unfounded. In contradiction with their gross imputation, which is not supported by any proof, principally because there are none, it affords me pleasure to refer, Mr. Confidential Agent, to the following facts:

"The Mexican republic is forced by twenty-seven states, three territories and two political entities are under resolute control of the present government, which, aside from the above, exercises its authority in the most complete manner in the republic and consequently over the custom houses."

"Its southern frontier is at peace. My government has in arms 80,000 men in the field with no other purpose than to insure complete peace in the republic, the only national army of the present provisional president. The above is sufficient to exclude any doubt that my government is worthy of the confidence and obedience of the Mexican people."

"My government fails to understand why it is that it does not find itself in the same case with reference to the other nations of the earth concerning what is happening and is likely to happen in Mexico. Conditions of Mexico at the present time are unfortunately neither doubtful nor secret; it is afflicted with internal strife which has been raging almost three years and which I can only classify in these lines as a fundamental mistake. With reference to what might happen in Mexico, neither you, Mr. Confidential Agent, nor I nor anyone else can prognosticate, because no assertion is possible on incidents which have not occurred."

"Good Offices Declined.

Senor Gamboa says that government appreciates the good offices tendered by the United States, "but if such good offices are to be of the character of those now tendered, no lives should have to decline them in the most categorical and definite manner."

"Inasmuch as the United States is willing to act in the most disinterested friendship, it will be difficult for it to find a more profitable use of its neutrality laws. If it would only watch that no material and monetary assistance is given to rebels who conspire, and provide themselves with arms and food on the other side of the border; if it should demand from its inhabitants loyalty to the strictest observance of the neutrality laws, I assure, Mr. Confidential Agent, that the complete pacification of the republic would be accomplished within a relatively short time."

HUERTA DECLINES TO ACCEPT PROPOSAL OF UNITED STATES

Mexican Reply Alleges That President Wilson Is Ignorant of Real Conditions in Southern Republic—Recognition of Huerta Demanded

Washington, August 27.—The text of Senor Gamboa's reply to the proposals submitted through John Lind, by instruction of the president, is in part as follows:

"The government of Mexico has paid due attention to the advice and considerations expressed by the government of the United States; has done this on account of three principal reasons: First, because Mexico entertains the highest respect for the personality of the president of the United States; second, because certain European and American governments, with which Mexico cultivates the closest relations of international amity, having in a most delicate, respectful way, highly gratifying to us, made use of their good offices as the president of the United States; and, third, because Mexico was anxious, not so much to justify its attitude before the world, but to enter into agreement with the great majority of whom have signed their adherence and approval as a result of its cause, in every way the justice of its cause."

Impatience on our part would be childish, and would only bring with it the risk of wrong and folly. We can afford to exercise the self-restraint of a really great nation which realizes its own strength and seeks to misuse it."

"Let Mexicans Purchase Arms And Settle Their Differences"

Pat J. Donahue

With This Amendment Former Resident of Mexico Approves Message of President Wilson.

After a residence in Mexico of six years, during which time he has seen much of the strife and change in the sister republic and has been upon practically every foot of her territory, Pat J. Donahue, a former Atlantan, has returned and is now visiting his brother-in-law, Herman Agricola, of 526 Central avenue.

When he heard the news Wednesday afternoon of President Wilson's declaration of the policy to be followed by the United States toward Mexico he was much pleased with the judgment the president had shown and commended him highly. Mr. Donahue has business interests and friends in Mexico and had awaited this declaration from the president with interest.

Policy Will Be Approved.

"I believe that this policy will meet with the approval of the American citizens in Mexico and also with the approval of the powers."

"Of course, to one who has never lived in Mexico in a business capacity, the real situation is hard to understand. I have but one point on which I differ with the policy outlined by the president in his message. That is regarding the importation of arms into Mexico. I believe that the embargo on arms should be lifted, and that rebels and federalists alike should be allowed to fight it out unhandcapped. Arms is what they need and the sooner this equipment with which to settle their differences is supplied the quicker will the trouble be settled and peace restored. By no other means, I am satisfied, will the people ever come to an understanding with themselves."

"In that the United States should not interfere with an armed force, the president is eminently correct. To do this would be to interfere with a family quarrel that is not ours. Further, this would mean the annexation of a great part, if not all of Mexico by the United States, which would displace the other powers who also have great interests in Mexico and would be jealous of the United States in the possession of this territory."

Americans Should Leave.

"I believe that all Americans who can leave Mexico should do so, and that the government should assist them to get away until peace is restored. There is no question, of course, as to the duty of this nation in the case of violence to such citizens as find it necessary to remain in Mexico."

"I have for six years dealt intimately with the Mexicans, and I am firmly convinced that there is but one of the courage of the Mexican women. They not only lug their children along and carry great burdens in the wake of the army, but they dare the hail of rifle balls to carry water to their wounded husbands.

"But, to revert to the pay of the soldiers, Madero offered a division of the lands of Mexico when his administration should have been established. Upon this rainbow promise the poor people and federal soldiers alike flocked to his standard, and when he had gained the presidency of the nation they sat down and waited for their 40 acres and a mule, which was not forthcoming.

Promises Not Fulfilled.

"This was but one of the promises made by Madero and his leaders which were not fulfilled.

"It is not surprising, therefore, that when these impossible promises were not fulfilled that the people readily followed the next leader who offered."

"The next insurrection resulted in a raise to 50 cents in the pay of the army in order to hold the federal soldiers true to Madero.

"Today Huerta pays his soldiers $1.50 per day. Per day's literal for each member of the army does not receive his $1.50 at sunset he immediately deserts. That is why I say the Mexicans are without patriotism."

Americans Are Hated.

"Of course, the Mexicans cordially hate the Americans. The Americans are largely responsible for this, because they pay them so much that they call us fools and lose respect for us. A Mexican will make three trips up a long hill with a heavy trunk on his back each trip and an American will pay him 50 cents, but you take an Englishman, a German or well-to-do Mexican and he will give him 15 cents and tell him to get about his business and be quick about it."

"They are not afraid of us and openly boast that should we intervene they would have Japan for an ally and would have small trouble in wiping us off the map."

"There are many Japanese colonies in Mexico. Thousands of Japs have moved to Mexico and bought land there. But Mexicans are taking entire the wrong interpretation of this. I believe, it is my honest opinion that today Japan is the greatest enemy that Mexico has to fear. That Japan is looking for a foothold on the western hemisphere, and especially in convenient proximity to the canal, there is no doubt."

"But I have talked with the Japs in Mexico and they laugh at the idea of joining Mexico in case of intervention. They admit that the United States buys about 67 per cent of Japan's exports, while Mexico buys about 3 per cent, and say that they are not inclined to turn against their best customer for so poor a one as Mexico."

Preparing for Trouble.

"Mexican leaders are preparing for trouble, though. The last week that I was in Vera Cruz, just before I left for the state, I was told by a worker in my hotel that the Mexican government was taking a census of all the able bodied men in that city. This was being done under the pretext of a grand parade to be held September 16, 17 and 18, which are Independence days. But few eyes were blinded to the fact, however, that Huerta was but casting about to know where he might find a ready force."

"I have nothing against the government officials, however. They have always treated me courteously and I have never come to harm."

"Incidentally, I am a great admirer place to the definite government which may be elected by the people.

"The request that General Victoriano Huerta should agree not to appear as a candidate for the presidency of the republic in the coming elections cannot be taken into consideration because it is a matter of public policy and a warranted character, there is a risk that the same might be interpreted as a matter of public policy. This point cannot be decided by Mexican public opinion when it may be expressed at the polls."

"The feeling that all parties should agree beforehand to the results of the election and to co-operate in the most loyal manner to the elected president is something to be tacitly supposed and desired and that the experience of what this internal strife means to us in loss of life and the destruction of property will cause all contending political factions to abide by the results and it would be extemporaneous to make any assertion in this respect, even by the most experienced statesmen in civil matters inasmuch as no one can foresee the errors and excesses which men are likely to commit, especially under the influence of political passion."

"Present Tension Deplored."

"We cannot signify our appreciation of the United States because they agree from today to recognize the government which we, the Mexican people, may elect to rule our destinies. On the other hand we greatly deplore the present tension in our relations with your country, a tension which has been produced without Mexico having afforded any cause therefor. The legality of the government of General Huerta cannot be disputed. Article 85 of our political constitution provides that the president shall be elected for a term of six years."

"If at the beginning of a constitutional term neither the president nor the vice president is elected, the president shall be elected by the legislature. If the legislature is not in session, the president shall be elected by the people. If the legislature is not in session, the president shall be elected by the people. CLAYTON FIGHTS FOR SENATE SEAT

Judiciary Committee Takes Up Case of Gov. O'Neal's Appointment—Bankhead Is Urging Clayton Be Seated.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, August 27.—(Special.)—The question of whether Representative Henry D. Clayton is entitled to a seat in the senate on the credentials issued to him by Governor O'Neal, of Alabama, was taken up by the senate committee on privileges and elections tonight.

A speech by Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, upholding the right of Governor O'Neal to appoint Mr. Clayton, and a general discussion of the constitutional amendment for direct election of senators featured the session. No action was taken.

"Election or Term."

An earnest argument in favor of seating Mr. Clayton was made by Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, who pointed out that the new seventeenth amendment provided in its closing words "this amendment shall not be so construed as to affect an election or term of any senator chosen before it becomes valid as part of the constitution." He said the controversy in the Clayton case turned upon the word "term" and that the "term" of Senator Johnston would continue until 1915, no matter how many other senators may occupy the office.

"So there is no way for a senator to get rid of his term," inquired Senator Kenyon.

"No, unless he resigns, and he seldom does that," replied Senator Robinson.

"If congress had intended to provide what you say it did would it not have said when in the course of his term any senator is chosen?" suggested Senator Pomerene.

Senator Robinson quoted several state decisions to support his position. R. B. Evans, legal adviser to Governor O'Neal of Alabama, argued that strict, indeed, must be the construction of the law which would deprive a sovereign state of that equal representation to which the constitution entitled it.

He further argued that senators are state officers and under the Alabama law the governor was authorized to fill vacancies in state offices.

Bankhead Works for Clayton.

Senator Bankhead, of Alabama, is leading the fight for Representative Clayton, and insists that there is no question of his eligibility. He cites language of the third article of the seventeenth amendment in proof. This says the new amendment shall not affect the election "or term" of any senators chosen before it became valid.

The seating of Mr. Clayton may have an effect upon the tariff bill, hence the urgency in having this disputed point settled. Members of the judiciary committee, the law committee of the senate, reached the conclusion that Governor O'Neal was required under the amendment to the constitution, to call the legislature together and have it authorize him to fill the vacancy.

Vice President Marshall is quoted as believing Mr. Clayton's credentials are valid. Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, has issued a statement supporting this view. Hannis Taylor, a famous law writer and authority on international law, will appear before the senate committee in his behalf.

BIG SUFFRAGE MEETING AT THE CAPITOL FRIDAY

Everything is in readiness for the big open suffrage meeting which will be held in the senate chamber Friday night at 8 o'clock. A special feature of the meeting will be the men who will speak in favor of the enfranchisement of woman. Among those who will be heard will be Rev. A. M. Hubert, Dr. M. C. Harlan, Attorney Leonard J. Grossman and others of note.

Mr. Grossman will discuss the forming of men's leagues for the enfranchisement of Georgia women. Mr. Grossman expects to announce soon the plans. The address of welcome will be made by Mrs. Mary L. McLeod, president of the Georgia Woman Suffrage association.

C. B. ALVERSON TO RUN FOR COUNCIL IN FIRST

Charles B. Alverson, 26 Peters street, of the grocery firm of Alverson Bros., 83 South Forsyth street, announced Wednesday night that he would be a candidate for the office of councilman from the first ward in the coming election.

Mr. Alverson has lived in the first ward for ten years, and makes the announcement of his candidacy only after his many friends have importuned him to do so for many weeks. E. F. Byfield, of the first ward, who has been prominently mentioned for the office, will not be in the race, according to friends of Mr. Alverson.

YARD CONDUCTOR HURT BY A FREIGHT TRAIN

Ivan Doyle, a yard conductor in the employ of the Western and Atlantic railroad, was run down by a freight train in the Bolton yards of the road Wednesday afternoon, sustaining the loss of one leg and other injuries. It is not known exactly in what way Doyle was caught under the engine.

The injured man lives at 7 Twenty-second avenue in Birmingham. He was taken to Elkin & Gohs's ambulance in Patterson's ambulance, where it was found that the amputation of his right leg would be necessary. It was stated last night by attending physicians that Doyle would survive.

SOUTHERN CARRIAGE MEN MEET IN ATLANTA

The Southern Carriage Builders met in Atlanta Wednesday in the committee rooms of the Hotel Ansley. There were about forty members present. The association was formed at High Point, N. C., a few years ago by the Vehicle League of that place and the meetings heretofore have been held in the Carolinas, but failing to broaden the sphere of activity and usefulness, it was decided to hold the meeting nearer the center of carriage building and construction and Atlanta was decided upon as the point. The association had a delightful luncheon in the pine room of the Ansley.

HUERTA REJECTS WILSON'S PROPOSALS

the government had that they were going to foreign lands to work against its interests.

No Armistice With Rebels.

"Were we to agree with them to the armistice suggested they would, in fact, recognize their belligerency and this is something which cannot be done for many reasons which cannot escape the perspicacity of the United States which to this day and publicly, at least, has classed them as rebels just the same as we have."

And it is an accepted doctrine that no armistice can be concerted with rebels.

The assurance asked of my government that it should promptly convene free elections is not the most evident proof and the most unequivocal concession that the government of the United States considers it legally and solidly constituted, that it is a peace-loving government, like all those of its class, acts of such importance as to indicate the perfect civil operation of a peace-loving government, inasmuch as our laws already provide such assurance, there is no fear that the latter may not be observed during the coming election. As people will the present government is of a provisional character, it will cede its proposals to Huerta.

In conclusion Senator Gombosi says: "With reference to the final part of the instructions of President Wilson which I beg to include herewith and which say, 'If Mexico can suggest any better way in which to solve our friendship, serve the people of Mexico and meet our international obligations, we are more than willing to consider the suggestion,' that final part causes me to propose the following: That our ambassador be received in Washington. Two. That the United States of America send us a new ambassador without previous conditions."

"And all this threatening and distressing situation will have reached a happy conclusion; motion will cease, the cause of the causes which might carry us, if the tension persists, to no one knows what incalculable extremities will be avoided. We have the unavoidable obligation to continue being friends, provided, of course, that this friendship is based on a basis which is indispensable between two sovereign entities wholly equal before law and justice."

SWITCHMAN ON GEORGIA LOSSES ARM IN ACCIDENT

O. Y. Layton, a switchman for the Georgia railroad, fell from a box car while performing his work Wednesday evening about 6 o'clock and in some manner his right arm was caught in front of the rolling wheels and was completely severed from his body.

He was rushed to the Tabernacle infirmary in Patterson's ambulance, where it was found that aside from the right arm his injuries were not grave and that he would recover.

way that peace can be restored. That is to get all disinterested parties out of the way as far as possible and allow both federalists and rebels every possible facility with which to carry this fight to the bitter end, to which it is destined to go, and with the greatest possible speed.

"That is why I think the embargo on arms should have been lifted by the United States."

"There is reason enough why I am of this belief. In the real Mexicans I do not think there is a spark of patriotism and the quicker they make themselves sick of blood, pillage and fire the quicker will the fight be settled."

Soldiers' Pay Lifted.

"Under the regime of Porfirio Diaz, which credit him, was peaceful and prosperous, the soldiers received 30 cents per day and fed themselves. The reason that they fed themselves is that they will not go to war without their wives and families. So their wives go along and do the cooking. They are quartermasters."

ENTRANCE FEES MUST BE PAID BY SEPT. 12

Date Was Fixed at Meeting of City Executive Committee on Wednesday.

September 12 will be the last day candidates for council, aldermanic board and general manager of the water board have to pay their entrance fees and qualify for the election, which will be held on September 30.

The date was fixed at the meeting of the sub-committee of the city executive committee, held Wednesday morning. The committee decided to assess candidates as follows: General manager of the waterworks, $150; aldermen (full term), $95; aldermen (unexpired term), $50, and councilmen, $70. The entrance fee will be handled by Paul Toland, treasurer, or J. O. Cochran, secretary. The committee fixed the amount of bond of the two above named officers at $1,500 each.

The committee anticipates receiving $1,320 from the assessments. The money will be used to defray the expenses of the election, and in the event there is a surplus after the expenses are paid, the money will be pro-rated among the candidates.

John Y. Smith, chairman of the committee, denied the charge made by Mayor Woodward that the committee moved up the date of the first primary in order to keep down the registrations and freeze out candidates who are considering announcing.

INDUSTRIAL BULLETIN WILL BOOST ATLANTA

The Atlanta Commercial and Industrial Bulletin, an eight-page publication prepared for the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce by W. H. Leahy, of the industrial bureau, has gone to press, and will be ready for distribution within a few days. Twenty thousand copies will be printed, which will be given away free to all who wish it.

Among the articles which the booklet will contain will be one on the industrial conditions of Atlanta, the manufacturers' exhibit, a complete copy of the "blue sky law," notes of the convention and industrial bureau and general chamber gossip.

Original photographs of this skyline will be sent all over the country by Mr. Leahy to people interested in the future of Atlanta.

Mr. Leahy received a letter Wednesday from Valencia, Spain, asking for the names of Atlanta produce dealers who handle peanuts, oranges, almonds, onions, garlics, etc. This Spanish firm offered to pay for the information.

WRONG SANDERS NAMED IN CEDARTOWN ACCIDENT

Cedartown, Ga., August 27.—(Special.)—Recent reports of the accidental shooting at this place of Miss Frances Brown have been incorrect in stating that the pistol was in the hands of J. P. Sanders when it was discharged. Instead, it was A. J. Sanders, who was with the young woman when the weapon was accidentally fired. J. P. Sanders was not present when the accident took place, and knew nothing of it until some time afterwards.

Shadow Gowns May Be Worn When Judge Joel Branham Celebrates His 87th Birthday

Rome, Ga., August 27.—(Special.)—Unique invitations specifying that attire may be "for men, anything; for ladies, street or dress or shadow costumes as they may prefer," were sent out today by Judge Joel Branham, who will celebrate his seventy-eighth birthday on Thursday at his home in this city with an "at home."

Judge Branham was born at Eatonton in 1835 and has long been one of Rome's most prominent citizens, having served as judge of the superior court, president of the bar association and in other offices of trust. His annual "birthday parties" are always events of interest to his Rome friends and scores from other cities. In his invitations Judge Branham further says: "If you are of cheerful disposition your presence will be appreciated; if not, your absence will be regretted or observed. Exemption from written or verbal acknowledgments and congratulations is most earnestly requested. Refreshment will be served to suit taste, humor, prejudice and predilections."

"TRAVELING" TIGER ARRESTED AT TIFTON

Tifton, Ga., August 27.—(Special.)—Chief Thrasher added another pet to his bag of tiger skins Tuesday afternoon when he arrested J. C. Dasher, "butch" on the Atlantic Coast line, between Waycross and Albany. As the 10:25 train passed through Tifton Tuesday morning for Albany, the chief was on the watch and saw several local characters go to the "butch" and give him money. When the "butch" handed one of the men a package from the 3:30 train on his return from Albany, Chief Thrasher placed him under arrest. Dasher entered a plea of guilty before Recorder J. S. Bridgill to keeping liquor for sale, and was assessed a fine of $75 or four months. Dasher had been operating as a tiger for some time. Taking orders for whisky as he passed through for Albany in the morning and delivering the goods in the afternoon as he came back.

NEGRO IS LYNCHED BY A LOUISIANA MOB

Jennings, La., August 27.—James Comeaux, a negro, was lynched by a mob here early today. He was taken from his cell in the jail sometime after midnight, shot to death and his body left lying at the jail door where it was found later by a night watchman.

Comeaux had been arrested for assaulting A. W. Joseph, an Italian merchant, who had accidentally swept dirt on the negro's shoes while he was passing the Italian's store.

Two of Joseph's relatives have been arrested in connection with the lynching.

Rome's First Bale.

Rome, Ga., August 27.—(Special.)—Rome's first bale of cotton was sold at auction on the streets here Wednesday and brought 19 cents. The bale was raised by Arthur Cox and J. T. Phillips, tenants on the farm of Hamilton Vancey. Four other bales reached town soon after. Indications are that the crop will be a heavy one in Floyd county, as all conditions have been highly favorable for the past month.

WAR PROSPECT LURING YOUNG MEN TO ARMY

Record Number of Enlistments in Atlanta Division During July and August.

According to Lieutenant J. A. Gallogly, U. S. A., who is in charge of the Atlanta district of the United States army recruiting stations, embracing the cities of Macon, Augusta, Columbus, Birmingham and Atlanta, the possibility of war with Mexico is leading many adventurous young men to enlist in Uncle Sam's service.

One hundred and one men were enlisted in the army from more than three hundred applicants during the month of July, which is a record for this district, the largest number of recruits secured in this territory previous to July, 1913, being forty-two for any one month. The average number of recruits who enlisted during the last six years has been nineteen for each month.

Lieutenant Gallogly stated Wednesday that the number for the month of August would far exceed the record-breaking enlistment of July, as 109 men had been accepted up to and including Wednesday, the 27th day of the month, and from the indications, a large number will enlist before the month is out. More than thirty men applied for admission on Wednesday, according to the officer, and of this number about sixteen were accepted, after passing the physical examination. The recruiting officers of this district, to which the office at Columbus was added Wednesday, are preparing for a great influx of applicants who have accepted President Wilson's ultimatum to Mexico as a practical declaration of war and it is expected that this district will establish a record for enlistments which will exceed any former records of the war department for any district in the United States.

PERRY MAY OPPOSE HON. SAM J. TRIBBLE IN CONGRESS RACE

Madison, Ga., August 27.—(Special.)—It is rumored here that the friends of Hon. Grant D. Perry, of Morgan county, are urging him to enter the race for congress next year from the eighth district, opposing Hon. Sam J. Tribble. Mr. Perry at present is a member of the state senate from the twenty-first district. He is a man of strong personality, big, brainy and bright. Should he enter the contest he would make a strong race.

GA. MILITARY COLLEGE OPENS NEXT TUESDAY

Milledgeville, Ga., August 27.—(Special.)—Arrangements for the opening of the Georgia Military college next Tuesday have been perfected. It now seems certain that the attendance will exceed that of any previous year.

President O. R. Horton is now occupied in arranging and assigning rooms in the barracks to the boarding cadets who will begin to come in the latter part of the week.

The military department will organize four full companies at the coming session, which will be headed by a well-organized band.

NEW FIELDS OF WORK FOR BUSY LITTLE BEE

Washington, August 27.—New fields of endeavor for the "Busy Little Bee" that is said in proxy to "improve each shining hour" have been found by the scientists of the department of agriculture, who announced today that they had completed a motion picture film of the winged workers engaged in their industry of honey making.

The film is declared to be one of the most remarkable ever taken by the department. It is to be included in the series the government is getting out for educational purposes along agricultural lines.

MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN TROPHY IS AWARDED

The president's cup of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, given to the committee which obtained the largest number of new members during the spring membership campaign, and which was won by committee No. 4, Fred Houser, chairman, was received in the chamber rooms a few days ago. It was formally turned over to the victorious committee, and placed in the office of Fred Houser, of the convention bureau.

"WHITE SLAVER" CASE TO BE HEARD IN CAMERA

Pensacola, Fla., August 27.—A hearing of charges of violation of the Mann white slave act against Ben C. Heinberg, prominent merchant of this city, will be held tomorrow. Heinberg, who is a member of a wealthy Pensacola family, was arrested yesterday charged with having transported Nellie Ward, a 15-year-old girl, from this city to Birmingham for immoral purposes. A number of witnesses from Birmingham have been summoned to testify. The public will not be admitted to the hearing.

PRELIMINARY HEARING OF MRS. GODBEE TODAY

Slayer of Judge and Wife to Appear Before Justices at Millen.

Savannah, Ga., August 27.—(Special.)—Doubt as to whether the preliminary hearing of Mrs. Edna Perkins Godbee, who shot and killed Judge Walter S. Godbee and fatally wounded his last wife, Mrs. Florence Boyer Godbee, would be held in Millen tomorrow apparently was set aside tonight. James A. Dickson, one of the attorneys for the accused woman, said positively that the hearing would be held. A. Sanderson, attorney for Mrs. W. G. Boyer, mother of the slain woman, made the same statement.

At the same time it was stated that the justices of the peace, who will preside, have not been chosen. Several have been asked, but for different reasons have declined.

It is not certain that R. Lee Moore, solicitor, will be there to conduct the prosecution. W. H. Davis, a Waynesboro lawyer and close friend of the late Judge Godbee, will act as prosecutor in his stead in case Mr. Moore can't be there.

It is believed that the plan of the defense is to attempt to secure bail for Mrs. Godbee if she is remanded at the preliminary hearing.

ROBERT MORTON WANTED ON CHARGE OF FORGERY

Alleged Prominent Savannah
Raised Mother's Check From $16 to $1,600 and Cashed It.

Savannah, Ga., August 27.—(Special.)—Robert Norton, son of the late Dr. R. G. Norton, and member of one of the most prominent families in Savannah, is being sought by the police for a forgery transaction in which he is alleged to have obtained from the People's bank $1,100 on a $15 check.

Norton, it is charged, went into the bank yesterday with a check signed by his mother and presumably made out for $1,600. He said he wished to deposit $500 of this sum, get $100 in cash and New York exchange for $1,000. The check was honored and Norton left the bank with $100 in cash and New York exchange for $1,000.

This morning it was found that the check given to Norton by his mother was for $16, and that it had been raised to $1,600. Steps have been taken to stop payment on the exchange.

An ordinary cup of coffee contains about 2½ grains of caffeine—a poisonous drug.

Five grains of caffeine is enough to kill a rabbit. Of course that much wouldn't kill a man.

But continual coffee drinking usually produces biliousness, headache, dullness, sleeplessness, irritability and heart agitation. Many people have gotten rid of these troubles by quitting coffee and using

INSTANT POSTUM

It is pure and made entirely of Northern wheat and the juice of Southern sugar-cane. Postum is a genuine food-drink—rich in Nature's phosphates, and contains no drug whatever.

Postum comes in two forms.

Regular Postum (must be boiled.)

Instant Postum requires no boiling, but is made instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful in a cup of hot water with cream and sugar to taste.

Experiment until you get it to suit your taste, then have it always made that way. Made right, Postum has a delightful flavor, resembling high-grade Java.

If coffee don't agree, suppose you leave it off ten days and try Postum.

Drink it instead of coffee.

CELL OF LEO M. FRANK NOW LIKE LIVING ROOM

Prisoner Is Preparing Statement as Answer to Solicitor Dorsey's Argument.

The cell of Leo M. Frank in the Tower is fast assuming the appearance of a living room. Yesterday a new bed and a number of furnishings arrived. All the day prison attaches worked renovating the interior, oiling the floor and cleaning the windows.

Mrs. Frank appeared at the jail shortly after noon. For the first time since her husband's imprisonment she visited him in his cell. Heretofore they have accepted the use of the jailers' dining room on the first floor. Frank's mother, Mrs. Rea Frank, also visited him Wednesday afternoon. The wife remained until nightfall.

Frank Cheerful, Say Friends.

Frank is cheerful, his friends say, and is hopeful of the future. He expresses confidence of a new trial and of the prospect for complete exoneration in the long run. He apparently has suffered no ill effects from the strain of the four long weeks at trial and of the resultant verdict. He has suffered not a moment's illness during his entire imprisonment.

It was stated Wednesday by friends that Frank is preparing a statement for publication in which he brands the speech of Solicitor Dorsey as unfair and underhanded. "It was as full of holes as a sieve," they quote him as having said, "and if I could have had just one hour in which to reply to his argument, I could have convinced the jury that I was an innocent man and that the solicitor was misrepresenting facts."

"I am preparing a statement in reply to his argument," he is said to have stated, "and if my lawyers deem it advisable, I will make it public. I know that his statements were presented to the jury unfairly and that they had their weight in influencing the twelve men. Therefore, this is the only way by which I will be able to cope with this unfair situation."

Summons Chief Clerk.

Frank summoned his chief clerk, Herbert Schiff, who was an important witness for the defense, to the jail Wednesday morning and dictated a number of letters, business and otherwise. The prisoner is compiling a diary.

Attorney Luther Rosser is busy preparing his case for presentation to the courts. In case Judge Roan refuses to grant a new trial, it will be immediately carried to the supreme court. At present, the defense is holding down its plea to the required brevity.

41-2-POUND POTATO GROWN IN CENTER OF SOUTH GEORGIA TOWN

L. G. Lucas, of the real estate firm of Lucas & Knight, of Alma, Ga., brought to The Constitution office on Wednesday what he claims to be the biggest potato ever dug up in Georgia so early in the season. It tips the scales at only slightly under 5 pounds, measures 9 inches from tip to tip and is 22 inches in circumference.

The monster potato was dug up in the garden of J. C. Cockman, whose residence is situated in the center of the town of Alma. Mr. Lucas declared that his thriving town of 1,000 inhabitants is just as much of a record-breaker in other respects and that it is going to keep up the fight for the new county of Hardeman, of which it would be the county seat, until it is won.

CRAWFORD WILL CASE HEARING IN OCTOBER

Litigation in the Crawford will case in which Mrs. Mary Belle Crawford is accused of the poisoning of her wealthy husband, the late Joshua B. Crawford, and which has been postponed during the Frank trial, is not expected to be resumed before Auditor James L. Anderson before the middle of October.

Attorneys Paul R. Arnold and Luther Z. Rosser, two of the men who defended Leo M. Frank, are associated with Luctor Smith in the defense of Mrs. Crawford, and it is known that they are not willing to re-enter the long and bitter fight over the Crawford estate until they have had a rest from the fatigue of the long criminal trial.

Colonel J. S. James, who represents Charlie Z. Crawford and other relatives of the slain man, agreed to the postponement in order that there might be no delay in the murder case, and it is expected that he will agree to further delay in the matter. S. J. James has been unable to locate Fred Jumb, the New York barber, who is accused of intimacy with the widow.

"IF WOMEN WANT 'EM THE MEN WON'T MIND"

Waycross, Ga., August 27.—(Special.) Mayor Reed says he will not instruct Waycross policemen to arrest women who appear in public in waycross with the slit skirt. "It's for woman to decide what is best for her to wear," says the mayor, "and if she decides on the slit skirt that's her business. Men have nothing to do with it, and if the women can stand to wear the new fangled affair, I guess the men won't mind. A few of the new style skirts have appeared here, but excepting the first one, no undue excitement was created."

MANAGER DAN CAREY ATTACKS NEW RULES

Head of the Park Department Charges Attempt to Force His Resignation.

General Manager Dan Carey, of the park department, charges that the new rules introduced before the park board by President J. O. Cochran and adopted by the rules committee, were drawn up with the evident purpose of embarrassing him and forcing him to resign.

Manager Carey directs attention to the section of the rules which require him to report to council members of the board who absent themselves from two consecutive board meetings without excuse. Under the law creating the park board, a member who fails to attend two meetings without being excused, is automatically removed from his place. Manager Carey says that if he has to report absent members to council he will always be in hot water.

Manager Carey says that under the new rules the general manager cannot maintain discipline among his subordinates. He is authorized to suspend, but the board can reinstate subordinates after giving them a hearing. Another rule which Manager Carey says will hamper the work of the department is the one which says that the general manager shall not order material or start work on any improvement until directed by the board.

Park President Cochran denies that the rules were aimed at Carey in an effort to force him to resign. He says that the board believes it proper to deal with all matters of policy and finances, and leaves the administrative features to the manager.

PLAN ENTERTAINMENTS IN THE EXHIBIT ROOMS

The committee on the permanent manufacturers' exhibit of the chamber of commerce is preparing plans by which entertainments, especially for the Atlanta people, will be given from time to time in the exhibit rooms.

These entertainments will take the nature of musicals, minstrel shows, etc., at which the manufacturers may give souvenirs of their products, etc. W. H. Leahy, head of the industrial and statistical bureau, who is one of the men engineering the establishment of the manufacturers' exhibit, is daily signing up more space in the exhibit. As matters now stand, though, there is much good space left, and the committee in charge of the work is extremely anxious to get this taken, so that the actual work of establishing the exhibit may begin.

W. C. PUCKETT IS ILL.

Gets Leave of Absence and Buchanan Will Do Work.

Assistant City Attorney W. D. Ellis, Jr., asked the claims committee of council for a thirty-day leave of absence for W. C. Puckett, investigator attached to the office of the city attorney. Captain Ellis told the committee that Investigator Puckett is seriously ill.

The committee will recommend that Mayor Woodward grant the leave. Under a recent city ordinance, the mayor only has authority to allow a city employee to leave his duties.

Weight Inspector Buchanan has been selected by the committee to make an investigation of all claims filed against the city. It is understood that Mayor Woodward has agreed to let the weight inspector do the work until the claims committee can make other arrangements. It is probable that Inspector Buchanan will be retained by the committee until Puckett returns, and will compensate him for the extra work.

SLAYER OF MARCHMAN HELD IN THE TOWER

Rushed to Atlanta for safe keeping, Walter Brewster, negro slayer of L. C. Marchman, a prominent Meriwether county farmer, is held in the Tower. He was captured in the northern part of Heard county day before yesterday. Sheriff J. B. Jernell, of Meriwether, rushed him to this city in an automobile. On the way Brewster admitted his guilt.

The crime was committed several days ago. Already one lynching has resulted, Virgil Swanson, a negro accomplice in the murder, who was strung up by a mob last Monday night in Meriwether county.

WHO OWNS THE TREES ON CITY'S SIDEWALKS?

The old mooted question as to who owns the trees adorning the sidewalks of Atlanta has been resurrected through a protest filed with the claims committee of council by S. R. Bridges, of 238 Forrest avenue.

The park department sent Mr. Bridges a bill for $1.35 for trees planted in front of his property for purposes of adornment. Bridges protests on the ground that he is of the opinion that the trees are the property of the city, and for that reason he should not be called on to pay for them.

City Attorney Ellis declares that under a recent decision by the supreme court the city has nothing to do with the trees planted on sidewalks or private property, even though the city planted them. Mr. Bridges will have to pay the $1.35, according to the city attorney.

"THE VICES OF SOCIETY,"

BY ISMA DOOLY.

Every reader of The Constitution is familiar with Miss Dooly's capability of expression, her keen insight into all things of and pertaining to society. The text for this article was given by a country lady who wrote Miss Dooly asking some very pointed questions about what she had read regarding smart society, and Miss Dooly's answer is at once illuminating and conclusive. If you miss it you'll miss one of the smartest literary hits of the season.

"The Speed Mania,"

BY NED MCINTOSH.

Mr. McIntosh, in his own inimitable style, will give a new phase of the "speed mania," which is daily resulting in deaths in every nook and corner of the world. According to Mr. McIntosh, it is not those who risk their life and limb who are the sufferers from this modern madness, but the thousands who watch the feats of daring and urge the racers to even more desperate efforts. Mr. McIntosh's feature is gripping in its appeal to the every-day sort of a person, and will make intensely interesting reading.

"The Dream of the Man in the Tower,"

BY BRITT CRAIG.

Is a story that peers into the inner workings of the switch tower, that intensely interesting institution that guards the lives of the hordes of travelers that ride daily into Atlanta over the railroads. It reveals the intricate systems that operate the multitude of switches and the fearsome responsibility that rests upon the tower man in guiding the swift and roaring trains over their various paths.

Some of the Other Great Features

The above-mentioned are only a few of the great features contained in Sunday's Constitution. There are hosts of others; among them we will mention:

Best Sporting Section in the South.

Dick Jemison, sporting editor of The Constitution, is famed the south over for excellence in handling the news of the sporting world, and in addition to the telegraphic news, covering every feature of outdoor sport the world over, he has arranged for special articles by some of the foremost sportsmen.

Associated Press Dispatches.

The Sunday Constitution is in touch with the remotest corners of the world via the Associated Press, that marvelous organization that maintains correspondents everywhere and gathers and sends the news as fast as it becomes known.

Society Department.

The Sunday Constitution's society department, covered by alert correspondents the state over, is the wonder and admiration and envy of the newspaper world. The local field is always fully reported by a competent staff.

Fashion Page in Colors.

The latest and newest styles, direct from Paris, are pictured in colors in The Colored Comics.

"The Quality Kid" is making the hit of his young life with the readers, both old and young, of The Sunday Constitution. Along with him are "Hank, the Hermit," an old friend of all, and the other bright spots that make the Sunday jolly for the kiddies and keep them at home and happy.

Foreign News.

A special page of happenings in the old world, fully illustrated, is one of the very interesting features of The Sunday Constitution.

Club, Federation and Women's Departments.

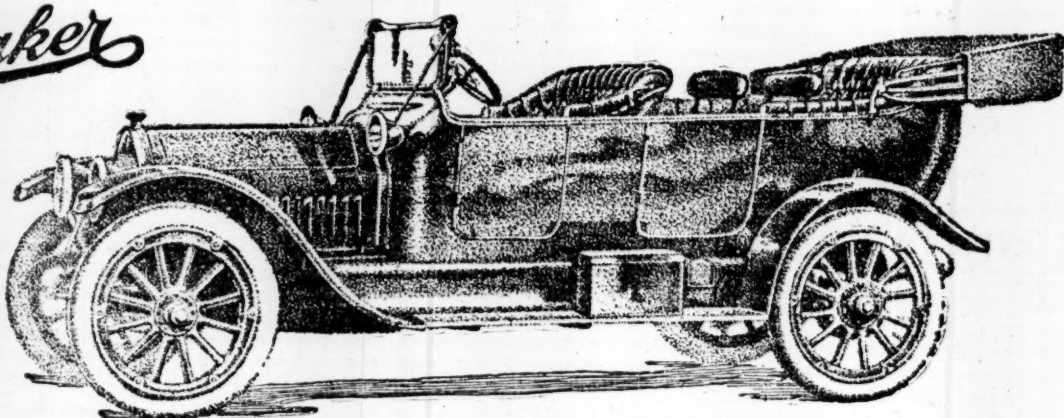

No other Sunday newspaper in the country devotes as much space as does The Sunday Constitution to departments of particular interest to women. Among them are: Federation of Women's Clubs; Mothers' Congress; United Daughters of the Confederacy; Daughters of the American Revolution, and Political Rights of Women. They are all there. The Constitution is the official organ for all these organizations.

Order The Sunday Constitution left at your home. It will be there when you arise in the morning to amuse and instruct you and all the family.

Remember, "The Poison Belt," by Conan Doyle, starts Sunday, September 7.

The "SIX" $1550

When You Get Acquainted With This "SIX" You Will Surely Want One

A drive in the Studebaker "SIX" will charm and convince you.

If there has ever been confusion in your mind concerning the qualities of a worthy Six, your questions will be fully answered after you have driven this "SIX".

And even if you are aware what some good sixes can do, you will enjoy a greater glow of satisfaction when you drive this car.

As you sit behind the alluringly smooth and responsive motor, no one will need to tell you why you like it. You will know perfectly well.

Buy It Because It's a Studebaker

Studebaker "Six" Engineering

The design of a fine six-cylinder car, especially in the motor, calls for exceptional skill and wide experience.

Efficiency at all speeds and the absence of vibration, which are the unique advantages of a worthy Six, can only be attained by the most scientific engineering.

To attain perfect results we use experimental laboratories of large size and full equipment, where every idea built into the Studebaker "SIX" has been proved correct beyond the possibility of error.

We work by knowledge, not by theory.

Every ton of steel we buy is first made according to Studebaker formulas and later rigorously tested to be sure it is up to standard.

Throughout the manufacture, which is carried on entirely in our plants, from forty huge power hammers which forge out over 250 parts for every Studebaker "SIX", to the last operation, accurate to the one-thousandth of an inch, the "SIX" is built with a scrupulous regard for fine work and the best materials.

Studebaker Standards of Luxury

From the beautifully balanced chassis to the deep upholstery and complete equipment, the "SIX" shows careful attention to appearance and comfort.

It is, of course, electrically lighted and started.

The auxiliary seats, making ample room for six-passengers, are exceedingly comfortable and yet may readily be folded to one side.

The painting is lustrous, requiring twenty-four operations, including many days of drying and aging, before it is finished.

We use Studebaker-Jiffy storm curtains, the most ingenious improvement ever made in automobile curtains.

The Studebaker "SIX" is a car of complete comfort and strikingly handsome appearance.

A SIGNIFICANT WARNING!

The message of President Wilson to congress, on the Mexican situation, brings affairs nearer than ever to a crisis.

It is not expected by anybody that conditions will remain as they are for much longer. Every American in Mexico has been warned by the president to leave at once, which, of course, means that the situation is critical, and that serious developments may be expected at any time.

The president makes it clear that he opposes intervention in the struggle now going on between Mexicans for Mexico, and that it is the intention of this country to occupy a position of strict neutrality.

The whole trend of the message, however, which is an exceedingly able document, means that there is a fuse under the Rio Grande powder keg, and that the fire which has been slowly burning for months is likely to strike the business part of the keg before many days.

All of which means that if peace cannot be restored in Mexico in one way it may be brought about in another.

THE "SENATOR'S" CONTEST.

The ground on which Governor Emmett O'Neal, of Alabama, claims the right to appoint Representative Henry D. Clayton to the vacancy in the United States senate caused by the death of Senator Johnston is contained in the third paragraph of the new seventeenth amendment.

It provides:
"This amendment shall not be so construed as to affect the election, term of any senator chosen before it becomes valid as a part of the constitution."

The words "or term" are the crux of the whole matter. Those supporting Mr. Clayton's right to his seat insist that it affects not alone senators chosen before the adoption of the seventeenth amendment, but the terms of those senators.

Had this not been the intention of congress in proposing the amendment, the language might presumably be limited to "the election of any senator." But when it included the words "or term," an entirely different effect is claimed to have been created.

Had congress intended that the new amendment should not become effective until the end of the term for which senators then serving had been elected, regardless of how many men might succeed them in the six years or less that remained of their terms, it seems this would have been set forth in the congressional debates. As we recall, little attention was paid to this possibility.

The popular impression was that the new seventeenth amendment became effective as soon as it was proclaimed after being ratified by three-fourths of the states.

Yet there is much force in the argument of those who point to the letter of the amendment as deciding the intention of congress.

It is noticeable that no personal reflection upon "Senator" Clayton is voiced by any critic of Governor O'Neal's action. That he would fill the high place with distinguished ability and credit to his state is proven by his long and honorable service in another branch of the national congress.

Should the senate finally decide that he was entitled to his seat it would insure Alabama having another able lawmaker in the chamber which was honored so long by the presence of John Tyler Morgan and Edmund W. Pettus.

THE AUDITORIUM CONCERT.

Of great interest to those who are interested in music will be the appearance of the Fifth Regiment band, assisted by Organist Charles A. Sheldon, and the Atlanta Music Festival association, at the Auditorium Thursday evening. Only a nominal admission will be charged, the proceeds of the entertainment to go to the militia and to assist in defraying expenses of the free Sunday organ concerts, to which thousands of people have flocked during the past year.

An exceedingly attractive program has been arranged for Sunday's performance, which begins at 8:30 o'clock in the evening, and those who attend will be guaranteed entertainment worth many times the price of admission. Every seat in the Auditorium should be occupied.

MISSOURI MIXES.

The tables have turned. Missouri has shown something to somebody. Recently, in accordance with a proclamation of Governor Major, every able-bodied male citizen in the state lent a hand for two days in putting the roads of the state in better shape.

Since the Missouri experiment the press of the nation has poked a good deal of fun at the state in one way or another. Vivid verbal pictures have been drawn of the judge and the blacksmith pressing down the sides of the same scraper, and of the minister and the bartender riding the same plow.

These pictures were intended to be humorous, but they are not. If, in those two days, Missouri sacrificed a hundred thousand dollars—from neglect of other business—and if the roads were not improved a single thousand dollar's worth, two days of state-wide social leveling, of practical democracy, will prove to be of incalculable benefit to the commonwealth.

It has been called "Missouri's Plenic." What if it was a plenic? What if a hundred-dollar-a-day business man did accept sandwiches from the hand of the wife of a two-dollar-a-day laborer? What if the wife of a millionaire did pour coffee for the blacksmith?

Whether the efforts of those two days pulled Missouri out of the mud or not, they furnished an occasion for bringing together, on pleasant terms, those who had previously had no common meeting ground. Other states may well follow the example of Missouri in promoting good fellowship among all classes, and, incidentally, in cultivating a feeling of personal interest and ownership in highways that have felt the touch of every man's hand in the state.

THAW'S MILLIONS.

Bitterly complaining of the frequent newspaper talk of "Thaw's Millions," Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, mother of the erstwhile prisoner of Matteawan, blames these reports for much of the public hostility to her son.

With that quality of mother love which blinds the devoted parent to all the sins and defects of her own offspring, she laments that Harry Thaw would have fared better but for the hateful references to his millions.

She insisted that her husband had left a mere bagatelle of $10,000,000.

"Why, one might imagine we were Vanderbilts or Astors," the frantic mother complained to the reporters. "Why, Mr. Thaw, when he died, left an estate valued at $10,000,000, to be divided among his ten children and a number of benevolences. It's positively ridiculous to talk of 'Thaw's Millions.' Some people have been after Thaw's millions ever since he was put in Matteawan."

Regardless of the estimated expenditure of $500,000 to employ expert alienists and counsel in the several fights Harry Thaw has made for life and liberty, the wild and reckless expenditures of the millionaire patron of New York roof gardens, and the man who is charged with bribery of attendants at Matteawan and the employment of professional gunmen to aid his escape, his mother sees no reason for references to his wealth.

No one believes that if Harry Thaw had not inherited a one-tenth share of a $10,000,000 estate his case would have nauseated the public for so long. His own escapades have kept his name in the papers to an extent to make some persons mistakenly believe he has been the victim of persecution.

Huerta has been sparing for time to learn how to fall gracefully.

Note that the Colonel is doing some interesting and perfectly harmless magazine writing now.

And, too, the Mexican trouble has deprived the lecture platform of one of its most eminent and paying attractions.

Great mining country is Mexico, but frequent explosions there seem to indicate that powder mines predominate.

To have to pledge the kaiser in lemonade is enough to make his subjects sour on him.

The "tiger" flask usually accompanies the bulldog revolver of the deadly hip pocket.

John Lind escaped with his head, being too wise and careful of himself and mission to talk it off.

Looking for this item in The Matteawan News: "Harry Thaw, late of our berg, after a flying trip through several states, will probably spend the winter in a nice, warm Canadian jail."

Just Growling.

I.
When de sun is on de blaze
You growlin'!
When come blizzard-blowin' days
You growlin'!

Any way de weather goes,
Reap a thorn whar dar's a rose;
What you made fer goodness knows—
Des growlin'!

II.
When you piles de dollars
You growlin'!
Kaze dey des can't reach de sky
You growlin'!

An', up dar, whar angels shout,
Dey will tell you: "Face about!
You'll tun heaven wrong side out
Des growlin'!"

Why He Tarries.

"That old gray-headed fellow you see over yonder is waiting on 'em to settle the tariff, and I reckon he'll live to see the day, as he comes from the longest-lived family in the county, and was here before the county site was staked off."

Sets yer veins a-tingle to hear de dollars jingle! Double file, or single, we're movin' right along; whar grim Care has bound you, Plenty's hosts surround you; Joy at last has found you with the music of a song! Toil, that didn't tire, saw its hopes climb higher; still kept up the fire, burning late and soon; Life's no more a riddle; Plenty's on the griddle; Hey! Take down that fiddle and reel us off a tune!

Learn How to Raise Yourself.

I.
Lay them new style capers
Forever on the shelf;
Instead o' raisin' Cain, my boy,
Learn how to raise yourself!
To raise yourself—I'll tell you plain:
Beats all the fellers raisin' Cain!

II.
Jes' lay them new style capers
Forever out o' sight;
The bees are raisin' honey—
And they're raisin' o' it right.
Raisin' yerself's the lesson plain:
Beats all the fellers raisin' Cain!

The Origin of Laughter.

The philosopher of The Manhattan Nationalist gives this analysis of "laughter":
"Laughter is supposed to be a development of the primitive grin, and the grin is supposed to have begun as a peeling back of the lips at the sight of food. One good square meal in the Pleocene Age was good for one oblong grin. The more refined we are, the less we laugh. I have known a man who was so refined that he could actually go through the motions of laughter without a sound of escaping from his mouth. He was as solemn and shiny as a boiled shirt in a cold storage warehouse."

Says the Major.

A land of loveliness we see
As bright the seasons pass;
Dreams for the poet-soul; for me
Let me drink in the glass.
The blessing of a shady tree,
A couch of coolest grass,
And where the bright mint-gardens be
Let me drink in the glass.

Not Satisfied With Well Enough.

The Adams Enterprise believes in holding your ground and not soaring too high all at once, according to this comment:
"Instead of remaining in the legislature, where he made a reputation, our representative is resolved to elect himself to congress, where he will never be heard of afterwards—unless they give him a vacation and he takes what Mr. Bryan has left of the lecture platform."

The Invitation.

I.
Come in 'Old Times'! Let the New
Shake the farewell-hand of you!
Maybe you some word can say
Giving cheer along the way.
After all the dangers passed,
Ain't you glad to rest at last?

II.

Come in, where the New Times make
Merry for the Old Times' sake!
Life is young with them, and they
Have no minute's space to stay.
Night around the old glooms fast;
Ain't you glad to rest at last?

His Precaution.

You'll know when you read this paragraph from The Kansas City Star that it never was as hot as you said it was in Georgia:

"An Indiana man who didn't know the Kansas heat wave had been broken sent a letter inclosed in an asbestos envelope to a friend in Stafford."

Don't Need a Monument Yet.

The Nashville Banner says: "Now that Georgia has passed a law providing for prompt payment of school teachers, a monument should be erected on the peak of Lost mountain to George Bailey, of Texas, for his arduous and unceasing labor in the cause." But perhaps George would rather have a block of stock in a Georgia rock quarry? If so, we'll vote him that.

A Toss.

To lift Joy where no sky is dim
And with rare roses crown him;
To get old trouble in the swim
And—down him!

At Close Range.

"Never saw a statesman who didn't dwindle some at close range," says a philosopher; "but it can't be helped. They're obliged to mend their fences and howl for help, just like ordinary human beings."

A Story of the Moment

By WALT WATSON,
The Famous Prose Poet

A CHAIN OF INIQUITY.

"I sent you my bill a week ago, colonel," said the grocer, "and you paid no attention to it. I've got to have my money this time, so dig up. The wholesalers from whom I buy are jacking me up, saying they must have what I owe, and I can't pay it unless my customers loosen up."

"Who are the wholesalers?" inquired the colonel.

"Jenks & Jankinson, although it's none of your business."

"It is my business. I want to know the names of the cormorants who make the grand hailing sign of distress in such a way that people who are entire strangers to them are seriously inconvenienced and annoyed. Jenks & Jankinson want their money, and so they send you a threatening letter, saying they'll place a bomb under your back porch if you don't get busy and send them a registered letter. Then you adopt their Black Hand tactics and tell me you'll organize a vigilance committee unless I bring you my hard-earned savings."

"Not having any hard-earned savings to spare at this juncture, in order to meet your requirements I'd have to get a sandbag and lure some stranger into a dark alley and rob him, which I absolutely refuse to do. I have told you repeatedly that when it suits my convenience I'll send you a check, and that ultimatum stands. If you came to me and told me, as man to man, that you needed the money for your personal use, it would be different. If you had a sick cow and needed the veterinary, I'd recognize an emergency and try to relieve the financial stringency. But there is no emergency. If I gave you the money you would send it to Jenks & Jankinson, who are strangers to me, and I see no reason why I should cripple my suspenders rustling around trying to raise money for people I wouldn't know if I met them on the street."

"If we could trace this matter up to its source we'd probably find that the banker's wife is at the bottom of it. I read in the paper just the other day that the banker's wife is going to spend a year in Europe with her daughter. The daughter, it seems, has a patent back action larynx, and somebody told her that she has a great future as a singer, so she is going abroad to study music under some old fossil who needs a haircut more than anything else. It costs real money to send two women to Europe, and the banker has been sweating blood ever since the project was broached. So he resorts to desperate measures to raise the price. His bank has been loaning money to Jenks & Jankinson, and he sends them a letter telling them to pay up or take the consequences, and they get rattled and send you an incendiary letter, and you lose your presence of mind and use abusive language to an elderly warrior who saved the country when you were in waddling clothes."

"But the chain of iniquity stops right there. That old warrior, whose blood has stained a dozen hard fought fields, refuses to be a party to such a system of oppression. 'You write to Jenks & Jankinson and tell them that you'll pay when you get good and ready, and maybe they'll get up a little spunk and write a similar letter to the banker, and the banker will tell his wife and daughter that if they want to go to Europe they'll have to swim.'

"I hate to pay my debts for the reason that the money is sure to be misused. I don't like to encourage extravagance, and if I paid your bill at the present time, I'd be encouraging those women to go to Europe and burn up good money that I need myself the worst way. Take my advice, and the next time you dun a customer, don't say anything about Jenks & Jankinson, for nobody cares a whoop whether they need money or not. Say that the doctor has ordered you to buy a bottled cow, so that your family may quit living on condensed milk, and if the customer has any change in his pocket he'll be tempted to let you have it."

"Tell the rest to some lyeum bureau," said the grocer, with a discouraged sigh.

WHOSE WAS IT?

Editor Constitution: On my recent visit to the reunion at Gettysburg I met a Union soldier who has a sword and belt taken from a Confederate officer at the battle of Petersburg.

On the sword are the words, "Presented by the Ladies of Georgia."
This Union soldier desires to return the sword and belt to the rightful owners, and I am writing to make inquiry for information from any one who may recall the presentation of such a sword and belt, and that they send me the name, when and where the same was presented and such facts as they may have or know about the presentation.

You will publish this, I assure you I will appreciate it. Very sincerely,

A. J. WALL.

Coming Back to Comfort.

(From The Philadelphia Ledger.)
Soon the summer days will be turning toward the home. The middle of August marks the flood as well as the beginning of the ebb, and while those who can afford it are tarrying later and later in the country, the vast majority will use their return tickets within the next two weeks. Most of them will be glad.

An Oriental proverb has it that the nightingale was shut up in a golden cage, but still she cried, "My home, my home!" Hundreds of thousands who have been shut up in the more or less golden cages of the summer resorts have often sighed for the expanses of the old house and the monopoly of the bathroom and they will return with a new sense of appreciation that ought to add much to their livableness.

After all, this is the quality that wears—livableness. Most of the unhappiness of the world is caused by the excessive desire to be happy. Most of the mournfulness is the result of joy-seeking. The pendulum swings back in spite of the ebb and flows. The real value of the summer vacation is that it arouses a new enthusiasm for the home. A bit of a room with a bed that feels like a map of the Rocky Mountains is often worth $4 a day as an educational experience.

Does Seem Strange.

(From The Washington Herald.)
Just as the senate gets about ready to agree on a date to vote on the tariff bill the weather turns cool.

Hard Lines in Kansas.

The World's Mysteries

WAS "MONTE CRISTO" BASED ON TRUE STORY?

The great army of readers who have read, and many of them enthusiastically devoured, Dumas' exciting story of "Monte Cristo," have never, until recently, for a moment supposed that it was anything more than a fanciful tale of a man of rare attainments in such work. Most people are aware that there is an island of Monte Cristo, and that it is the favorite retreat of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, but further than the name they had no idea that there was anything but fiction in the story.

But that "Monte Cristo" was merely the brilliant imagination of Dumas is not the truth. The archives of the French embassy in London, of the time of Charles X of France and of George IV of England, contain many proofs to the contrary.

The true story of "Monte Cristo" came about in this way: One evening in a Paris cafe several friends were seated in conversation, when one of them announced that he was going to marry a wealthy girl named Theresa. His name was Picaud. One of his companions, Loupian by name, after Picaud had taken his departure, made a wager with the others that the marriage would not take place upon the day appointed. They asked him how he would prevent it, and he replied: "Oh, by means of some practical joke or other."

He carried out his design by notifying the chief of police of Paris that Picaud was a secret agent of the Chouan conspiracy, and that he was plotting for the overthrow of the empire and for the assassination of Napoleon.

Thereupon the chief of police had Picaud arrested and sent to an island prison in the south of France, where he was incarcerated in a dungeon. He was given no trial, as was not unusual at that time, and he was soon forgotten by the authorities at Paris.

Picaud was a very likable fellow and while in prison made the acquaintance of an Italian priest of great learning and considerable fortune. The priest died in prison, and as Picaud had cared so tenderly for him during his illness, he left him every vestige of his fortune.

After Napoleon was overthrown in 1814 Picaud was set at liberty, and started at once for Milan, where, after some difficulty, he obtained the execution of his friend's will and received possession of his property. The legal records of this part of the story are to be found at Milan. From there he made a tour of the various large cities of Europe and finally reached Paris in 1815.

His first object was to look up his former fiancée, who he found had married Loupian after she had waited two years, unable to account for his disappearance other than that he had forsaken her. From that time forth Picaud set to work, without letting anyone know his identity, first to ruin and then to cause the death of, either by suicide or murder not only of Loupian but the latter's children, the faithless Theresa and the men who had taken part in the wager as well as their families.

Thus began the famous "vendetta" of "Monte Cristo." Not one of the victims dreamed of the fate that was pursuing him, or was able to penetrate the mystery thereof until in the throes of death and unable to reveal the secret.

The revenge of Picaud and Monte Cristo are almost identical in story. Loupian was the last to perish. He was stabbed in the gardens of the Tueries, and by his side was a piece of paper bearing the numerals 1 and 30. The one signified that he was the primary object of the vendetta, and the 30 that he was the thirtieth victim. This took place in 1825.

Picaud made a death-bed confession to his chaplain, and also signed a statement containing his story and had it placed in the hands of the French authorities. He bequeathed his entire fortune to the church and charitable institutions. His confession for the French authorities was communicated through the French embassy in London, and through the Paris foreign office to the prefecture of police in the French capital. These documents are in existence and bear the date July, 1828.

It is not known just how Dumas obtained his knowledge of the story, but that would not be a very difficult matter. His novel of "Monte Cristo" appeared sixteen years later, in 1844, and the two stories are too similar in every respect, to admit of mere coincidence, at least such is the opinion of such writers who have given a careful study to the subject, but Dumas always affirmed that his "Monte Cristo" was merely a fanciful story of a secret vendetta, which he had worked out in his own mind.

BY ALWAYS THINKING.

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

It is said that somebody once asked Newton how he had made his marvelous discoveries in the physical realm, and his reply was: "By Always Thinking about them." Back of all habit is Thought. And, too, Thought may be made anybody's greatest and most useful habit.

By Always Thinking you shut out the useless and purposeless affairs that, blood-sucker-like, seek to take from you without giving anything helpful in return.

By Always Thinking, the unkind and cutting words that so often escape your lips, never are uttered. And By Always Thinking the Kind and Cheerful Thoughts you have already accumulated, grow richer in value while their power for hatching and Happiness goes on and on.

By Always Thinking, the mistake that you make today will not be the mistake you make tomorrow. And By Always Thinking you will most materially reduce the total number of mistakes you make.

By Always Thinking you need have little concern as to your Life Station. Your Progress—no matter where you are—will be steady and permanent. While the satisfaction of efficient service reflected back to you personally, as well as in the face of the whole world, will make you one of the world's real players.

Gigantic Appetites.

(From The Baltimore American.)

In all times, including this finical age of many courses and small portions, the man with a gargantuan appetite never fails to excite wonder and admiration. Gustave Lender, citizen of Brooklyn borough, has become almost as famous as Ty Cobb by simply devouring at one feast a 12-pound turkey, two loaves of bread, seven big Irish potatoes, five green peppers, fourteen slices of tomatoes, all of which was washed down by ten bottles of beer. The story is away of so much food and drink by a single individual at one meal seems almost incredible, but there were 400 spectators who saw him do it. Now he is to be matched against another heroic eater who once got outside a 15-pound bluefish at a single feast.

Intellect, we are told by the scientific sharps, is but a transmuted form of roast poultry, broiled steak, boiled ham, pumpkin pie, stewed prunes and such. What an intellect that man Gustave Lender would put into performance if he could only set the transmutation scheme to work right! But, anyhow, even if he can only transmute his half bushel of provender into brawn, what a perchance of a man he should be! Sometimes the great feeders have been men of remarkable mental powers, but always so. Many of the famous exemplars in literature, the sciences and professions have had feeble digestions and a food-consuming capacity remarkable for the smallness of its gauge. It generally requires much fuel, however, to provide muscle power.

Sic Transit.

(From The Saturday Review.)

Can this be death?
I did not know
That death could be so kind—
I feared immeasurable woe—
A choking—horrid fight for breath—
A rushing of the wind.

But—over there,
What strange clear light
Is breaking through the darkened skies?
Whose hushed prayer
Divides the solemn pauses of the night?
What form is it that flies
And brings to me an unguessed peace—
Undreamed—unknown?
Lips pressed in the racking pain?
With what unutterable gain
Of rest and ease—
I go to face
The hidden grace
Of God—alone.

"It Is, In My Opinion, the End of the World"

A Startling Assertion Made by Professor Challenger in the First Installment of Conan Doyle's Masterpiece, "The Poison Belt," Which Begins in The Sunday Constitution, September 7.

"The end of the world" is a phrase that may mean the toppling of skyscrapers, the impact of planets, the rush of gigantic tidal waves—the final smash and end of this earth of ours or the prosaic passing of a man's life.

But that phrase always strikes a vein that pulsates clear to the innermost being of most men and women: to some it is terror and horror; to others a passing sensation of interest—but it is always interesting.

Hence, when Professor Challenger, in Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's great novel, "The Poison Belt," turned to his companions and said:

"It is, in my opinion, the end of the world," one may imagine the consternation the remark caused, for Professor Challenger has already become famous, and his remarks are to be heeded in fiction that reads like real life.

"The Poison Belt," a story that cost $5,000 in cold, hard cash, begins in The Sunday Constitution, September 7. It will create a sensation when it starts and you are warned to get your order in now, so you will have the first chapters. You will be reading it before the last installment is printed, and you might as well begin at the start.

Self-Evident Fact.

The question has now been raised whether woman originally came before man. No one, however, will deny that that as it may she has been after him ever since.

considered necessary in this country for a first-class, permanent husband. When an imported husband is accompanied by morals, intelligence and ability, he makes as fine a husband as the domestic brand. There should be an import duty of 1,000,000 per cent on all others.

Imported husbands usually come as incumbrances on titles. It is impossible to get a title in this country without a husband attached, which makes it very awkward for those fortunate young ladies who have everything else but a title. If titles without husbands were put on the market in this country they would have an enormous sale and the astute country which went into the business would be sure to take a large slice off of its national debt.

PROBE OF SPEER ORDERED BY HOUSE

After Substance of Charges Was Read Resolution for Inquiry Was Passed Without a Division.

By John Corrigan, Jr.
Washington, August 27.—(Special.)—Judge Emory Speer's life and conduct while on the federal bench is to be investigated by a committee of the house of representatives to determine whether articles of impeachment should be preferred against him.

This was decided today after Representative Henry D. Clayton, of Alabama, had laid before the house a summary of the charges which the department of justice examiner had inquired into. The vote for the resolution of investigation was unanimous. Representative James R. Mann, of Illinois, the republican leader, who had blocked consideration of the resolution on yesterday, offered no further objection today.

Inquiry Begins "After Frost."
The inquiry will not begin until "after frost." Judge Speer is a sufferer from hay fever and is now at Mt. Airy, Ga., seeking relief and expects later to go up into the White mountains of New Hampshire until cooler weather abates his attacks.

An affidavit was presented to the committee signed by Dr. S. H. Rodgers, his physician, stating that Judge Speer's health would be seriously endangered if he were compelled to leave the high altitudes he has sought and go to Washington or Macon to undergo this examination. Upon this statement of the case, the judiciary committee decided to delay the investigation for several weeks.

Use of Drugs Denied.
Dr. Rodgers' affidavit refers to Judge Speer as a temperate man without any addiction to drugs. His physician could disprove this. This was construed as a reply to the charge that Judge Speer had become addicted to the use of cocaine through employing it to relieve hay fever.

The subcommittee of the judiciary committee will visit the southern district of Georgia later on, according to Chairman Clayton, and conduct hearings. Other witnesses will appear before the full committee in Washington.

If the committee's investigation convinces its members that Judge Speer should be removed from office, articles of impeachment will be reported to the house. It is thought the investigation can be concluded before the end of the present session of congress. If the house believes that Judge Speer has been guilty of high crimes and misdemeanors it will pass these impeachment charges. The substance of the charges made against Judge Speer in a report from Attorney General McReynolds.

These charges are that Judge Speer attempted bribery; took money from court funds for private purposes; contrary to the law employed his son-in-law about his court and offices; violated the bankruptcy laws; violated laws relative to the selection of juries; violated supreme court mandates; decided in favor of his son-in-law in matters relating to fees; used court officials as private servants; allowed the dissipation of assets of estates in the custody of the court; established receiverships without notice to owners; refused to allow the disbursement of litigation giving relatives general fees; allowed money to remain without interest in banks in which relatives were interested; unlawfully seized and ordered sold property in litigation, and used drugs.

After the summary of the charges was read, the house adopted the resolution for an investigation without a division.

Diamonds Sent for Inspection

We gladly forward diamond jewelry to anyone furnishing suitable references. Sending for diamonds in this way involves no obligation to buy, and if, for any reason, a purchase is not made, we cheerfully pay express charges both ways. We can afford to do this as a matter of business, because the values offered are such that practically all shipments result in sales. The advantage of being able to calmly inspect diamonds in your own home is obvious and this privilege is at the command of reliable people anywhere.

For references we require a bank or two well-rated merchants. Write for a copy of our illustrated diamond booklet and tell us about what you require. Your inquiry will have our prompt and courteous attention.

CITY SEIZES PROPERTY VALUED AT MILLIONS

Unless Back Taxes and Costs Are Paid Quickly It Will Be Sold.

Approximately $3,500,000 worth of property has been seized by the city and will be sold for taxes unless the owners pay back taxes and costs. Chairman Charles Whiteford Smith, of the tax committee, has instructed City Clerk Walter Taylor to proceed against the property under section 1577 of the city code, which puts the city license inspector in charge of the property to be held by him and disposed of either at sale or in some other manner prescribed by the mayor and council.

Some Property Redeemed.
A portion of the property seized has been redeemed by the owners. Wednesday afternoon the tax committee turned over to Assistant City Attorney Ellis a large batch of quit-claim deeds for cancellation. Since the city served notice on the owners about $10,000 in taxes has been collected.

There still remains unpaid about $30,000 in taxes, costs and interest. The tax committee anticipates about $120,000 in taxes before January. It is expected that the Georgia railroad will pay the city about $50,000, representing the assessment on its property and the Atlanta Joint Terminal. The railroad officials declare that the road will make no further fight against the city, and will pay the money over just as soon as it can settle with the state.

Held Up by State.
Comptroller General Wright is holding the matter of the state's income from the assessment of the railroad property in abeyance, and until he takes some action the money will be held up from the city.

The city is also figuring on increasing the tax returns $25,000 by assessing all railroad tracks within the city limits. In order to reach an accurate conclusion as to the miles of track, including the increase since the last assessment was made, the city will be forced to make a survey of all rights of ways.

Council has voted $500 for making the survey, and a report will be made through the construction department within the next sixty days.

J. W. HUTCHINS DENIES HE ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

That James W. Hutchins, of 236 South McDaniel street, a patent medicine salesman, had no intention of committing suicide on Tuesday night when policemen were called to the place by people who informed them that a man was beating a woman, is the statement made by Hutchins, his wife, A. Jones, Clarence Martin and Officer L. B. Milam.

In regard to his excitement at the time, Hutchins states that he came home and found that a man to whom he had entrusted a large consignment of medicine had not left the money for it with Mrs. Hutchins and that he then ordered his driver to hitch up the horse and declared that he would have his money or one of them would die.

He declares that while his wife and the men were trying to keep him from going in search of the man who had the $500 consignment of medicine that Officers Andrews and Boyce came into the yard and flashed their searchlights on him and covered him with their pistols and he told them to shoot if they wanted to, that he had as soon die then as next day. When Officers Milam and Palmer came up, Hutchins says he explained matters to them and the officers all left. Hutchins says also that his money was brought to him yesterday morning.

GRAND JURY TO HOLD LAST MEETING FRIDAY

The grand jury will meet on Friday, according to present arrangements, and be formally discharged by a judge of the superior court. All three judges are at the present out of town, but Judge George L. Bell is expected to return today and to be held for the discharge of the grand jury.

The jury is the one which met despite Solicitor Hugh Dorsey's opposition and took up the question of indicting Jim Conley, the negro sweeper, and accuser of Leo M. Frank, the factory superintendent, and it is regarded as significant that the name of the negro will not go before them for indictment as an acknowledged accessory after the fact in the murder of little Mary Phagan.

The civil divisions of the superior court have not been in session during the summer term, and at present Judge John T. Pendleton is on a tour of the north and east; Judge W. D. Ellis is visiting in South Carolina, and Judge Bell, who is due to return today, has been in North Carolina.

SAN FRANCISCO CALL TO APPEAR IN EVENING

San Francisco, Cal., August 27.—Announcement was made today that The San Francisco Call, a morning paper, will appear on September 1 as an evening paper. M. H. DeYoung, proprietor of The San Francisco Chronicle, who bought the morning paper plant, has sold the equipment excepting the color presses, to the new owners, who are announced as F. W. Kellogg, publisher and president, representing 80 per cent of the stock of the evening paper.

The new alignment of newspapers leaves San Francisco with two papers in the morning field—The Chronicle and The Examiner—and four in the evening—The Bulletin, The Post, The News and The Newcomer.

FOR THE "TOY LADY" LITTLE ONES MOURN

Washington, August 27.—Hundreds of children with tear-wet eyes today mourned the passing of "Miss Kate, the Toy Lady," whose funeral drew them to St. Mary's church. Miss Kate was the proprietor of a store known as the "Lincoln Toy Shop," because during the civil war "Tad" Lincoln dealt his purchases here, and sometimes accompanied by his father, visited the place to feast his eyes on the treasures it contained. Miss "Kate" France was 63 years old and had "grown up" with the shop.

JIM CONLEY WILL BE INDICTED SOON

Indictment and Sentencing of the Negro Will Be a Mere Formality.

Jim Conley, admitted accessory after the fact in the murder of little Mary Phagan last Memorial day in the National Pencil factory, and accuser of Leo M. Frank, the superintendent, who was convicted Monday, will be brought before the grand jury for indictment as soon as the next grand jury is empaneled next week, according to Solicitor Hugh Dorsey.

The indictment and, in fact, the sentencing of the negro will be a formality that will soon be ended. Before the grand jury will be submitted the customary proofs of the girl's death, the fact that Conley was in the factory that day and also that he signed a statement in which he declared that he had aided in disposing of the body.

Conley may get three years in the penitentiary for his crime. That is the maximum penalty in a case like this, but it is expected that as he turned state's evidence, he will get off lighter.

NO RAIN IS EXPECTED IN ATLANTA TODAY

While the weather men on west keep on forecasting hot weather and the hot weather keeps on arriving, the local forecaster announces that the same mild summer weather, with a maximum temperature of about 85 degrees, is due here today and possibly for some time.

The weather recently has been rather even in temperature and for the past three days the highest point reached by the mercury column has been in the neighborhood of the half-way stop between 80 and 90 degrees.

Local showers or "thunder" showers fell around the state Wednesday, but Atlanta did not get one, although there was a possibility of one chance to come this way. According to the weather man no shower is in prospect for today, at least in Atlanta.

For those who think that 84 degrees was rather warm here, Section Director C. F. von Herrmann has an array of reports from the west which are comforting—to Georgians. In three cities far west of here the mercury climbed to a point where the 100-degree mark lay in a general southerly direction. These cities were Phoenix, Ariz.; Oklahoma City, and Dodge City, Kan.

17 YEARS IN PRISON, BRAM GETS RELEASE

Man Convicted of Triple Murder Wants Job and Chance to Prove Innocence.

After serving seventeen years of a life sentence for a triple murder upon the high seas, of which he declares he is not guilty, Thomas M. C. Bram, one time first mate of the American bark, "Herbert Fuller," was released from the federal prison on Wednesday.

His parole was signed in Washington Monday under the new federal act, to allow for parole of life prisoners after service of fifteen years.

Atlantans Aid Bram.
Many Atlantans were interested in his case, and among whom were George Freeman and Harry Perkerson, of Freeman & Perkerson, clothiers at Five Points, and it was largely through the influence of his friends that his parole was obtained.

Bram's great desire now, he says, is to prove his innocence of the crime of which he was convicted by upright living. He is looking for work. A chance is all he wants, he says. This is the story of the crime and Bram's conviction:

In June 1896, Bram was the first mate of the "Herbert Fuller," bound, with a cargo of lumber, from Boston to the Platte river, in South America.

At midnight on the 13th, while Bram was doing watch on deck, he was informed by Monk, a passenger, that the captain's wife and the first mate were murdered. Bram had Monk put in irons on suspicion. Monk then accused Bram directly of the crime and said that he had seen him commit it. The bark put in at Halifax, Nova Scotia, with the bodies.

Tried and Convicted.
Bram, charged with the murder, was then sent to Boston and tried. He was convicted and sentenced to hang, but upon an appeal was again convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment.

It appears that the only evidence against Bram was Monk's statement. His lawyers remained interested in his case, and have often tried to secure his release. Since that time he had served under the prison walls.

Ex-Consul Caught by Dead.
Richmond, Va., August 27.—Charles M. Caughy, former United States consul to Messina and Milan, Italy, died here today after a protracted illness.

Mr. Caughy was first appointed by President Cleveland. Since that time he had served under succeeding administrations. His connection with the consular service covered a period of twenty-five years.

MUTUAL RELATIONS AND INTERESTS OF THE BELL SYSTEM AND THE PUBLIC

The suit brought by the United States questioning the purchase of certain telephone properties in the north-west, as well as the pending Interstate Commerce Commission telephone investigation, have caused many inquiries. Without taking up anything going to the merits of these proceedings, it has seemed to us proper to state generally what has been our policy and purpose in the conduct of our business.

We have found, or thought that we had, that our interests were best served when the public interests were best served; and we believe that such success as we have had has been because our business has been conducted on these lines.

We believe that our company has an interest as vital as that of the public in the proper administration of the problems of electrical inter-communication. The success and prosperity of our company depend upon a solution of these problems which shall be sound from both the standpoint of the company and the public which it serves.

Following our own best judgment, supplemented by the best obtainable advice, we have endeavored to do what would best serve the public interest; and wherever possible our plans have been disclosed to the public in advance, and what has been done in carrying them out has been along ordinary business lines, with the implied, and generally, with the expressed approval, authorization or consent of the municipal and state authorities directly interested.

Our effort has been not only to obey the law, but to avoid everything which might even have the appearance of an attempt at evasion.

Our business methods and policy, and practically all of the details as to the transaction of our business, are matters of common knowledge and are, and for many years have been, well known to the government. We will willingly furnish the government any additional information which is in our possession or under our control, and will cordially co-operate with it in obtaining such further information as it may require. Every possible assistance will be given by us to the courts in their effort to determine whether our policy is or has been inimical to the public interest. We desire that anything wrong be corrected; we will voluntarily rectify any wrong that may be pointed out to us; and so far as it may be determined that our policy or any act under it is against the public interest, we will promptly conform to such determination.

We believe that if each of our exchanges were made an independent unit and if each connecting line were put under a separate control, the effect upon the telephone service of the country would be a condition so intolerable that the public would refuse to submit to it and would immediately require such physical connection and common control of these various units as would amalgamate them into a single system. Physical connection in the case of telephone or telegraph does not mean transfer of messages from one line to the other. It means such a connection as will permit one person to have the actual possession of the particular line of communication from one end of it to the other and this can only be given efficiently by exchange systems and connecting lines under a common control; and that is what the Bell System is.

In this connection, and for general information, we will restate the policy which controlled the building up of the Bell System, and our belief as to what a telephone system should be, and what are its relations to the public.

We believe in and were the first to advocate state or government control and regulation of public utilities; that of this control or regulation should be by permanent quasi-judicial bodies, acting after thorough investigation and governed by the equities of each case; and that this control or regulation, beyond requiring the greatest efficiency and economy, should not interfere with management or operation. We believe that these bodies, if they are to be permanent, effective and of public benefit, should be thoroughly representative; they should be of such character and should so conduct their investigations and deliberations as to command the respect from both the public and the corporations that both will without question accept their conclusions.

We believe that the public would in this way get all the advantages and avoid all the manifest disadvantages of public ownership.

We believe that centers of business and population exist for the convenience of the public as a whole, and that no such center can prosper without efficient and efficient means of intercourse with other centers and tributary territories; that such means can only be afforded by prosperous utility and service companies and that fair rates are essential to prosperous companies. We do not believe that any public either desires or can obtain, nor can any service or utility furnish, permanent and efficient service at less than cost, including capital charges.

We believe that ultimately the public either directly or indirectly pays the losses involved in the efforts to furnish such service at less than its fair cost, either through the loss of the capital involved, the losses incident to poor service or the necessary increase in charges required to pay for duplication of capital.

We believe that the highest commercial value of the telephone service depends on its completeness on the extent and comprehensiveness of the facilities for intercommunication, not only between individuals but between centers of population; that no isolated section can be considered independently of any other section or of the whole; that rates must be so adjusted as to make it possible to obtain the maximum development by making it possible for every one to be connected who will add to the value of the system, thus giving the greatest value to the greatest number; that the interdependence of the telephone service and the value of complete and universal intercommunication justify and require some services partly at the expense of the whole for the benefit of the whole.

We believe that this highest commercial value can only be attained by one system under one common control and that it cannot be given by independent systems unless they are operated under agreements which result in one common control and one common interest in effect making them a single system.

We believe that rates should be so adjusted as to afford the company sufficient revenue to pay such wages and compensation as to secure the most efficient service; to maintain the very highest and most advanced standards of plant and apparatus, to carry on such scientific and experimental research and inventions as to apparatus and methods as to insure the highest standards, and to carry to reserve and depreciation such amounts as will enable the company at any time to replace old plant and old methods with new plant and new methods as fast as they may be developed and found to be to the advantage of the service.

We believe that in addition, such fair charges should be paid upon the investment in plant as will enable the company at any time to obtain money necessary to provide the plant required to meet the continuing demands of the public; and in order that waste and duplication of effort may be avoided and uniformity of purpose and common control be enforced, that there should be a centralized general administration in close communication with and having general authority over the whole or common to all or matters of general policy.

We believe that any surplus beyond that necessary to equalize dividends on a fair basis should be used by the company for the benefit of the public and should be inalienable for any other purpose, and should be either invested in revenue-earning plant until necessary to substitute plant which may become inadequate or obsolete, or should be used to make the service cheaper to the user.

We believe that under proper governmental control and regulation the profits from promotion or operation allowed to be distributed should not be so large as to warrant or tempt complete duplication of plant and organization, with its duplication of its capital charges and its organization, operating, maintenance and depreciation expenses; and we do not believe that utilities giving at fair rates an efficient and sufficiently comprehensive universal service should be subject to limited competition, not giving such service. Competition which ignores the obligation to furnish a complete and comprehensive service is not competition, is not for the benefit of the public in that it does not reach the whole public interested.

If, therefore, complete duplication, with its dual exchange connection and dual bills for service, is a prerequisite to complete competition, government control and regulation cannot go hand in hand with competition.

We believe that the record of the Bell System will be accepted by the public as fully in accordance with these declarations. Consistent adherence to this policy has given the public of the United States the best, most comprehensive and cheapest telephone service in the world and made the Bell standards the standards of all nations.

To remove any possible excuse for misapprehension on account of the many misleading statements which have been circulated as to the alleged unnecessary and overcapitalization and excessive charges of the Bell System, the following statistics are given. Except where stated, the figures are for the Bell System; that is, the American Telephone and Telegraph, and its Associated Companies.

The entire Bell System on June 30, 1913, had outstanding in the hands of the public obligations (i. e., notes, open accounts, bonds and shares) to the par value of $778,000,000. The book value of the total tangible assets, which is considerably less than their replacement values, amounted to $360,000,000. Many appraisals of property included in these assets have been made, and most of them under the direction of public authorities. In no case has the value as it stands on the books failed to be sustained, and in most cases it has been very largely exceeded.

The total dividends and interest paid during the year 1912 amounted to only 4.1 per cent on the average of its outstanding obligations, and to less than 5 per cent on the average value of its assets.

The actual cash which has been paid into the treasury of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company on account of the capital obligations now outstanding amounts to $22,000,000 more than the par of such outstanding obligations.

The Associated Companies collected from the public and paid back in taxes over $10,000,000 during the year 1912.

The steadily increasing necessities of the public not only for additional but for new telephone service can only be met by new construction, involving capital outlay. To meet these demands during the six and one-half years from 1907 to June 30, 1913, inclusive, the increase in telephone plant was as follows: Toll line wire increased from 1,360,000 miles to 2,242,000 miles; exchange wire increased from 6,000,000 miles to 13,000,000; the number of exchange stations increased from 2,730,000 to 5,200,000; the number of stations of independent companies connected with the Bell System increased from 343,000 to 2,630,000. The number of independent companies connected with the Bell System is about 25,000. The number of employees in the Bell System, including the employees of connected companies, on December 31, 1912, was 141,000.

During this same period the number of shareholders of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, not including either the associated or connected companies, increased from 17,000 to about 34,000. About 47,000 shareholders hold less than 100 shares each; 6,500 shareholders each 100 to 1,000 shares each; 3,451 shareholders hold from 1,000 to 5,000 shares each, while there are only 16 shareholders of 5,000 shares or over in their own right. A majority of the shareholders are women.

Mrs. C. M. Clark and her sister, Mrs. J. M. Spencer, of Camilla, will entertain for a few of their Senoia friends who are now making their home in Atlanta Friday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock at the residence of their father, Colonel John F. Methvin, 283 Euclid avenue, Inman Park.

Mrs. Brine's Luncheon.

Mrs. George W. Brine entertained at a beautiful luncheon yesterday at the Piedmont Driving club in honor of Miss Louise Broyles, who leaves Saturday for New York, where she will be for a week before going to Paris, where she will attend school this winter.

The luncheon table was placed on the porch adjoining the ball room and the centerpiece of the table was a mirror edged with smilax, upon which was a floral boat of pink roses and pink snapdragons. At either end of the table were vases of pink roses. The place cards were decorated with miniature boats and the favors for each guest were tiny trunks filled with bonbons and the guest of honor was given a handsomely bound book in which to keep a record of her travels.

Mrs. Brine wore a gown of white embroidered voile with hat of white lace. Miss Broyles' gown was of white point d'esprit with hat and kid gloves of apple green and her large hat was black.

Mrs. Brine's guests included Mrs. J. D. McCarty, Mrs. Thomas P. Hinman, Mrs. Arnold Broyles, Miss Louise Broyles, Miss Katherine DuBois, Miss Helen McCarty, Miss Margaret McCarty, Miss Mary Burt Lake, Miss Dorothy Arkwright, Miss Virginia Lipscomb, Miss Margaret Northen and Miss Dorothy High.

For Visitors.

Miss Anita Honour entertained at a pretty heart-dice party Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Nell Honour, of Greenville, S. C.; Miss Gresham, of Virginia, and Miss Lillie May Helms, of Griffin.

The house was attractively decorated with pink and white flowers. The prizes were won by Miss Augusta Gordin and Mr. Emil Faust and each honor guest was presented with an appropriate souvenir.

Mrs. Honour and Mrs. J. R. Gresham assisted in entertaining.

Thomas-Wells.

Mrs. Alice Thomas announces the marriage of her daughter, Adeline, to Mr. James Leech Wells, which took place Wednesday afternoon, August 27, at 5 o'clock at home, 91 Peachtree place, Dr. O. E. Brown, of Vandenberg, an uncle of the bride, officiating. On account of a recent bereavement in the groom's family only the members of the family and most intimate friends witnessed the ceremony.

After wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Wells will be at home with the bride's mother until October, when they will go to housekeeping.

For Miss Ryan.

Misses May and Laurent Horine gave a very delightful informal dancing party at their home, "Ormeau court," in compliance to Miss Edythe Ryan, who, with her mother, is spending some time at the Georgian Terrace.

The apartments were decorated with ferns and flowers, and many Japanese lanterns lighted the grounds about the handsome home.

Assisting in entertaining the guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Horine, Mrs. Lee Worsham and Mrs. D. A. Ryan.

Miss Ryan wore a gown of pink crepe de chine, Miss Horine wore pink chiffon over white satin, and Miss Laurent Horine was gowned in white chiffon. There were sixty guests.

For Miss Irwin.

Miss Irma Irwin, of Montgomery, Ala., was the guest of honor at a delightful bridge party given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. William K. Simpson, Garden flowers in profusion decorated the house, and the prizes were a pearl hatpin for top score, and a set of jeweled combs for the guest of honor.

Mrs. Jenkins' guests included Miss Edwina Harper, Miss Isabelle Simpson, Miss Nell Bowers of Nashville, Tenn., Miss Lucile Bean, Miss Theodosia Andrews, Miss Ruth Small of Macon, Miss Lydia Nash, Miss Marion Fielder, Miss Laura Ripley, Miss Ethel Law, Miss Sarah Burr, Miss Julia Hardwick, Mrs. Dan McIntyre, Jr., Mrs. Claude Weiler and Mrs. W. A. McCullough.

LUMBER DEAL CAUSES ARREST OF MITCHELL

"Wallingford" Game Charged to Prisoner by Alleged Victim from Roberta.

An amateur detective from south Georgia, who acclaimed the fact that he was "some bear" when it came to getting evidence, faced a man at police headquarters last night whom he accused of being a "Get-Rich-Quick-Wallingford" on a decidedly modern scale.

Less than an hour later the wife of the alleged Wallingford came to headquarters in defense of her husband and told the south Georgia sleuth he was a sadly mistaken individual and refused to leave the station until her husband insisted that she needed sleep and would catch a bad cold in such dreadful surroundings.

The several incidents comprised an interesting little drama, the first act was laid in Roberta Georgia, when R. L. Mitchell, president of the Mitchell Lumber company of Atlanta, bought a carload of lumber from M. A. Lifsey. Lifsey is the man who trailed the lumber dealer to his "lair" in Atlanta.

Mitchell's office in the Temple Court building, Lifsey declares Mitchell bought lumber and never paid for it, and not only this, but that he had bought several carloads from various other persons and never paid for them. Mitchell was the sheriff of his county with him to prove his allegations and to take Mitchell back to Roberta.

Second act. Detective Bill Harper arrested the alleged Wallingford. The detective and prisoner had barely reached headquarters when Mrs. Mitchell arrived wildly excited and wanting to know what it was all about. Her opinion of the Roberta man was anything but flattering. Attorney William M. Smith, has been engaged as Mitchell's counsel. Unless he procures bond, he will be carried to Roberta this morning, where the third act will be put on.

ASLEEP ON CAR TRACKS WHITAKER IS INJURED

Falling asleep on the private right-of-way of the Georgia Railway and Power company on the East Lake line near Pines street, J. H. Whitaker, an address unknown, was run down by an outboard street car Wednesday night and suffered the loss of his right arm.

The accident occurred about 10:30 o'clock and Mr. Whitaker, who was running the street car, states that Whitaker was lying asleep with his right arm thrown across the track and his feet hanging in a ditch which skirts the rails for some distance. The injured man was rushed to the Atlanta hospital in the Greenberg & Bond ambulance and the hospital authorities stated at an early hour this morning that he would recover.

NEW POST FOR STEWART.

Graduate of Georgia University Made Consul at Milan.

News was received in Atlanta Wednesday of the appointment of N. B. Stewart, a former Georgian, and a graduate of the University of Georgia, to the post of American Consul at Milan, Italy.

Mr. Stewart's first consular appointment was to Castellamare di Stabia, following six years' service in both the army and navy departments. He then went to Cuba and served three years in the engineering department of the city of Havana. In the year 1902 Mr. Stewart was appointed provisional treasurer of the Philippine Islands, going from there to Durban, South Africa, where he served as American consul up to the first of August, when he was promoted to the Milan post.

During his stay in Durban Mr. Stewart formed a large and warm circle of influential friends who regretted very much to see him leave for his new Italian post. A cultured scholar, reader and a linguist, Mr. Stewart has a large number of friends in Georgia who will rejoice to learn of his deserved promotion to the important post of American consul at Milan, Italy.

ECZEMA LOOKED AWFUL ON FACE

Started with Watery Pimples. Itched and Burned Badly. AWFUL Sore. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Boy Now Well.

R. F. D. No. 2, Fredericks Hall, Va.—"My little son was very bad off with the eczema on his face. It started with watery pimples and it itched and burned so badly that he wanted to scratch it all the time and he made an awful sore on his face. I would sit and hold his hands a lot of the time to keep him from scratching it. He didn't sleep any scarcely. The eczema looked awful while on his face. I was afraid he would last for life. He was real cross and fretful."

"I had him treated and he grew worse daily. As soon as I heard of Cuticura Soap and Ointment I sent and got a twenty-five cent cake of Cuticura Soap and a fifty cent box of Cuticura ointment and began using them. I saw a difference in a short time. I only used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment a few weeks before he was a well boy." (Signed) Mrs. Kate B. Pleasants, Dec. 12, 1912.

Although the Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere, the best protection of affections of the skin, scalp, hair and hands, they are also most valuable for everyday use in the toilet, bath and nursery, because they promote and maintain the health of the skin and hair from infancy to age. GLYNN IS RECOGNIZED BY NEW YORK ASSEMBLY

Action Came After Bitter Fight. Vote 48 For Recognition to 29 Against.

Albany, N. Y., August 28.—Lieutenant Governor Martin H. Glynn was formally recognized as acting governor by the assembly early this morning, after a bitter debate. The vote of such recognition stood 48 for, to 29 against.

This recognition came in the form of official acceptance of messages sent by Mr. Glynn as acting governor to the legislature. Messages also were received by the senate, but with the express understanding that objection could be made later to their official caption as though they had not been read.

The senate session was brief and colorless, but the assembly remained in session long after midnight. Its proceedings were characterized by sharp criticism and the bandying of epithets between friends and opponents of Governor Sulzer. Referring to alleged attempts to punish him through the medium of criminal indictments for the part he had taken in the impeachment proceedings, Majority Leader Levy bitterly denounced Glynn's trusted lieutenant, who has been active in this matter. "Let indictments come as they will," added Mr. Levy. "They cannot swerve me from my duty."

GAINESVILLE ACCEPTS CHAPTER'S MONUMENT TO COL. C. C. SANDERS

Gainesville, Ga., August 27.—(Special.)—The memorial monument to Colonel C. C. Sanders, of the Twenty-fourth Georgia volunteers, C. S. A., was unveiled this morning at 10 o'clock. The monument is of pure white marble, the figure being in a sitting posture in Confederate uniform, surmounting a beautiful marble colonnade beneath which stands a drinking fountain. This monument was erected by the C. C. Sanders chapter of the Children of the Confederacy and stands as the first monument ever erected by any chapter of that organization.

This monument is said to be the only memorial of a Confederate soldier erected upon federal soil and stands on the same side of the Gainesville Federal building that the statue of Abraham Lincoln will be erected upon. At the opening of the war Colonel Sanders was a student at the old Georgia Military college. He entered the service of the south and rose to the rank of colonel. He was offered the post of brigadier general, but refused it on the grounds that he had rather be with his old regiment. After the war he settled in Gainesville, Ga., and here made a great business success.

The ceremonies consisted in the Sanders chapter of the Children of the Confederacy marching around the flower-bedecked and veiled monument with a great chain of ivy, which they placed thereon. Miss Kate Dwyer presided over the ceremony in behalf of the children to the family of Colonel Sanders and to the city of Gainesville. At the close of her speech the children pulled the cords and loosed the veil around the statue. Professor A. W. Van Hook, of Shorter college, accepted the monument in behalf of the family in a beautiful eulogy of the life of the dead hero. Dr. P. E. B. Robertson, mayor of Gainesville, accepted the monument in behalf of the city.

EDUCATIONAL EDUCATIONAL

Washington Seminary ITS MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Recognizing music as a valuable element in a liberal education, Washington Seminary, Atlanta, maintains a first class conservatory of music—piano, voice, pipe-organ, violin, theory and harmony.

A full course in music is allowed to count as three units of the sixteen units required for graduation in the literary courses, except in the college preparatory course. Students are thus able to devote ample time to their music, receive credit for it, and not forced to take it simply as an extra.

The music faculty for the coming year includes such well known teachers as:

Miss Marguerite Bartholomew, piano, harmony and musical literature; Mrs. Mary Craft Ward, piano; Miss Eda Bartholomew, piano and pipe-organ; Miss Clementine Macgregor, piano; Miss Pearl Rivers, musical kindergarten; Mrs. L. D. Scott, piano; Miss Mary W. Lovelace, voice; Alexander von Skibinsky, violin.

Tommy Long not only won a ball game for Atlanta yesterday, but he won two of the field events and broke the run-getting record.

WHIFFS

Closing In.

ATLANTA is rapidly closing in on Birmingham in the race for the largest attendance during the season. The attendance during the present home stay has been splendid and the locals are but a few hundred behind the Barons now. A little concerted effort will put Atlanta in the front rank where she belongs.

Where Johnny Was.

JOHNNY DOBBS was missed Saturday at Ponce de Leon when the Billiecrackers and the Crackers played their final game of the season. Johnny, it is learned, was in St. Louis making arrangements to secure some players from the Browns for next season and to grab off a man or two to help out the rest of the pennant race.

Not Worth While.

THE PROPOSED post season series between the Savannah and Atlanta clubs would not be worth while, if anything was to be decided by the series. It might be worth playing, but what can the Crackers gain by beating Savannah? That the locals can't trounce them goes without saying. The Southern league twister has been able to check the heavy artillery of the locals except in one game occasionally. How could a local league twister be expected to? Then, too, the members of both teams are anxious to get to their homes and they might just like a lot of wooden men in the series.

Another Series.

A SERIES is being arranged between the Mobile Gulls and the Houston, Texas, League team. These teams are practically certain of winning the pennant in their respective leagues and the business men of the two cities are subscribing amounts to defray the expenses of the series.

He's Right.

JIM GAFFNEY, owner of the Boston Doves, read the report on President Lynch when he asked him why he did not take a trip around the country to see just how poorly his umpiring was. "I understand that is part of your duties," is the way Gaffney put it. We wish that some Southern league twister would head the same hot shot to Kavanagh. There are some good umpires in the league this season, but they are in the minority by a long jump. The general average is the poorest in the history of the league.

The Chalmers Trophy.

JOE JACKSON, of the Naps, and Gavy Cravath, of the Phillies, are being touted as the probable winners of the Chalmers trophies this fall as the most valuable men to their clubs in the two majors. What about Walter Johnson? Take him away from Washington and that club would be battling St. Louis for the cellar position. Johnson is more valuable to Washington than any other one man is to any other one team in either big league.

Natural Hitter.

DAVE ROBERTSON, the Mobile Gulls' big outfielder, must be a better on other fields than he does at Ponce. On the local field he has looked good all the while, but he has hit at all kinds of bad pitching and with the pop-up result. What it is that causes this slump when he hits Atlanta we do not know, but he doesn't look as good at the plate locally as many players who might mention. Maybe the local field has some kind of a jinx on him. Every time he has been here Dave has swung at bad ball after bad ball, but he has been hitting the same kind of balls over the fence. What's the answer? We pass it up.

Poor Sir Mique.

MIQUE FINN, the genial pilot of the Mobile Gulls, has been having all kinds of hard luck this season. Jacobson was lost for the season, Starr was out for a while, then Robertson and Cavet. But the latest blow is the most cruel of all. News comes from Little Rock that a bulldog got hold of the beautiful pennant that the Gulls expect to fly and tore it to shreds and there is not money enough in the treasury to buy another. Poor Mique.

Season Ends.

THE EMPIRE STATE league closed with the games Wednesday. Thomasville won the second half season. Valdosta took the first half. The two teams will lock horns Friday in the first of a series of seven games to decide the championship. These games are to be played at Valdosta. Jordan, former Crackers manager and captain, is managing Valdosta. J. B. Jensen, brother of the Constitution's sporting editor, is president of the Thomasville club.

Tommy Long Sets Run-Getting Record

Long's Homer Turns the Tide; "Rabbit" Sets a Run Record; Bisland Has a Great Day

By Dick Jensen.

Wednesday, August 27, will go down in the record as "Tommy Long day" at Ponce de Leon park. The fleet little left fielder did so many things good yesterday that we will have to dwell a few minutes on his achievements.

It was his home run in the seventh inning, a mighty smash over Schweitzer's head, with Joe Agler on base, that brought home a 6 to 5 victory for the Crackers over the Turtles. The clout went several feet beyond the end of the bleachers.

He got one other hit during the game and tallied three runs. His first runned the Southern league run-getting record, established by Gus Hill, of Nashville, in 1902. His second run established a new mark, and he gave himself a little margin with his home run smash.

Tommy showed his heels to all contestants in the 100-yard dash, and went around the bases like a streak in the circling the bases event.

Tommy Long's Day.

All in all, it was a great day for the little left fielder, and he deserves every bit of praise that an enthusiastic fan public can give him. We forgot to mention: He also contributed a great catch in the pinch.

Elliot Dent started for the Crackers. His teammates got him a three-run lead, and it was a game as good as won. He had the Turtles eating out of his hand. But at the start of the fifth inning, he became suddenly ill. A catch appeared in his left side and he could not raise his arms above his head to make his delivery.

Joe Conzelmann was put in cold. Joe was wild, a couple of boots and a couple of hits putting the Turtles in the lead with only one inning to go. Long was shot to the rescue, and Slim came through in fine shape. He got better as he went along, and when Tommy poked his home, clinching the battle, he breezed along to the finish.

Another Bisland Day.

Bisland had another one of his great days, and they are getting to be a regular incident of the ball game at Ponce de Leon these days. This fellow is the best shortstop in the league in every department, and in our humble opinion is the best man at the position that has ever been in the league.

Bizzy got four clean drives safely in four trips to the pan. They were hit right over the second sack, where no one could possibly get them. He made several nice plays in the field, handling ten chances cleanly.

The Crackers had three men to throw out at the plate during the game, or the score would not have been as close as it was. The Turtles had one man pegged out.

Dent Leaves Game.

Dent was waiting through the Turtles like taking candy from a baby. He was the first man up in the fifth, singled. Dent had to retire and Conzelmann, who had no time to warm up, was sent in.

He walked Abstein. Shanley shot one through Holland for two cushions. Conzelmann, who had no time to warm up, was sent in.

Love hit to Agler, who threw to the plate. Abstein knocked Dunn over, the ball rolling from Joe's hands and Agler, who kept coming, also scored. Harrell counted on Merritt's single to right. Baerwald hit to short, and Love was snuffed at the plate. Slim Leach pitched at this stage.

The Crackers tied it up in their half. Long hit to Ward, who threw wild to first. Rabbit going to second. Welchone kicked in with a single. Long counted. Smith sacrificed Welchone down. Bisland singled. Welchone was thrown out at the plate. He hurt the calf of his left leg in trying to keep from hurting Catcher Snell, and had to leave the game.

The game was won in the seventh. Agler hit to Shanley. He beat it to first for a hit, and when Shanley threw back to first he went to second. Tommy Long laced one to deep left field for the circuit, putting the game on ice.

The Turtles got one in the eighth. Ward walked. Schweitzer singled to left. Abstein forced Schweitzer at second and Shanley forced Abstein at second. Ward counting.

Rube Kissinger will twirl for the Turtles in the final meeting between the Crackers and the Turtles this season, and if he is feeling all right again, Elliott Dent will take another crack at the men of Bernhard.

Summary—Two-base hits, Long, Shanley, Dunn; three-base hit, Smith; home run, Long; innings pitched, by Dent 4, none out in fifth with 3 hits and no runs; by Conzelmann 1-3 with 2 hits and 4 runs; struck out, by Harrell 3, by Dent 4, by Love 2; bases on balls, off Harrell 1, off Conzelmann 4, off Love 1. Time, 2:00. Umpires, Pfenniger and Stockdale.

Gulls 9, Barons 1.

Birmingham, Ala., August 27.—Mobile hit Hardgrove, pitching for Birmingham, at will this afternoon, and announced the third game of the series. The local twister was opposed by Campbell, who was invincible when he meant runs. Paolet and Schmidt each made a home run. The game was filled with unusual plays which kept the fans guessing.

Chattanooga, Tenn., August 27.—Manning lost control in the ninth to lookouts after Montgomery had apparently won the game 5 to 2. With two outs, a base on balls and two hits filled the bases. Manning forced in two runs after which C. Brown went in and his wild pitch allowed the tying run to score. The game was tied 5 to 5. Johnson and after the tenth umpire Fife called the game on account of darkness.

Manager Dobbs punched the umpire in the first inning in an argument over a decision at third, and was put out of the park.

Nashville, Tenn., August 27.—Nashville batted two New Orleans pitchers for twenty hits, winning the third straight game of the series, 17 to 4. Beck pitched good ball for the locals. Perry led the batters with five hits, making ten consecutive hits for him in two games, probably a record for the Southern league. In the last two games Perry has not only made ten hits, but has driven in six runs, scored five himself and stolen four bases.

Scouts 2, Foxes 1.

Jacksonville, Fla., August 27.—Burmeister, after pitching five innings yesterday, went back into the box for Jacksonville this afternoon, and aided by beautiful fielding, in which he took a large part, defeated the Columbus club by the score of 2 to 1. McCormick, who pitched for the visitors, twirled good ball, but the Jacksonville players managed to bunch the game was a perfect peg from deep center to the plate by Pownall.

Score by innings: JACKSONVILLE, 0 0 0 0 10 0 0 0.0. Summary—Errors, Taylor 1, Adams 1, two-base hit, Taylor, stolen bases, Wares 2, Knapp 2, Sloan; sacrifice hits, Graff, Wares, Gibbons; hits off Manning 8, 5-3 innings, 5 runs; bases on balls, off Somers 1, off Manning 1, 2-3 innings, 2 runs; struck out, by Somers 4, by Manning 2, by C. Babies 1, Gulls 0.

Charleston, S. C., August 27.—Albany and Charleston divided a double-header yesterday, the visitors winning the first game, which was a pitchers' battle, and next to the fastest game played in the Sally, one hour and eight minutes. The second game was a cinch for the locals in the second game, which went seven innings by agreement, the Gulls won, 3 to 1. A one-handed jumping catch by Colby of Kirby's long fly in the first game was the chief feature.

Score by innings: ALBANY, 0 0 0 0 10 0 0 0.0. Summary—Errors, Taylor 1, Adams 1, two-base hit, Taylor, stolen bases, Wares 2, Knapp 2, Sloan; sacrifice hits, Graff, Wares, Gibbons; hits off Manning 8, 5-3 innings, 5 runs; bases on balls, off Somers 1, off Manning 1, 2-3 innings, 2 runs; struck out, by Somers 4, by Manning 2, by C. NATIONAL LEAGUE. Cards 15, Phillies 4.

Philadelphia, August 27.—St. Louis walked away with today's game, 15 to 4. Brennan was driven off the rubber in two innings, during which the visitors piled up 8 runs and ten hits. Inlay lasted three innings, Rixey and Haislip, formerly of the Dallas (Texas) club, finished the game. Philadelphia could not bunch safeties with run-getting effect.

Score by innings: ST. LOUIS, 0 0 0 0 10 0 0 0.0. Reds 5, Giants 1.

New York, August 27.—Cincinnati celebrated its last appearance in New York this season by defeating the champions, 5 to 1. Mordecai Brown, the old Chicago star, held the locals to seven scattered hits. Cincinnati made the same number of hits off Fromme, but made them count. Tinker drove in four of the Cincinnati runs. Greb was put out of the game in the fourth inning for protesting a strike decision.

Score by innings: CINCINNATI, 0 0 0 0 10 0 0 0.0. Cuba 3, Dodgers 0.

Brooklyn, N. Y., August 27.—Jim Vaughn, recently secured by Chicago from Kansas City, pitched shutout ball here today and Chicago won the third straight game from the locals, 3 to 0. Vaughn and Reulbach had a great duel up to the seventh, when Vaughn started a winning rally with a single to left. Vaughn pitched great ball the way.

Score by innings: CHICAGO, 0 0 0 0 10 0 0 0.0. Summary—Errors, Taylor 1, Adams 1, two-base hit, Taylor, stolen bases, Wares 2, Knapp 2, Sloan; sacrifice hits, Graff, Wares, Gibbons; hits off Manning 8, 5-3 innings, 5 runs; bases on balls, off Somers 1, off Manning 1, 2-3 innings, 2 runs; struck out, by Somers 4, by Manning 2, by C. Long, Nixon and Manush Win Field Day Events

The Crackers made a clean sweep of the field day events with the Turtles at Ponce de Leon yesterday afternoon. Tommy Long and Frank Manush winning two events each and Al Nixon one.

Tommy captured the 100-yard dash and circling the bases. Manush won the fungo hitting and the 50-yard sack race and Nixon won the long-distance throwing.

Long won the 100-yard dash from Smith, Nixon, Baerwald and Schweitzer. They finished in that order. Wallop surprised even his fellow players by his burst of speed in this event.

In circling the bases, Tommy did it in 14 seconds flat. But he lost a stride touching second and slowed up at the finish. It's a safe bet that under ideal conditions, Tommy could surpass the world's record of 13 2-3 seconds made by Hans Lobert, of the Phillies. If he had been clocked on here.

Manush won $5 and a pair of shirts given by Parks-Chambers-Hardwick company. Long won a pair of shoes given by Byck Brothers and a hat given by Law Brothers. Nixon won a silk umbrella given by George Muse Clothing company.

Another field day will probably be arranged when the Mobile club plays here.

His home run is a safe bet that it would have shown 13 seconds flat. Manush was first in fungo hitting with Manager Bernhard, of the Memphis club second. There were four other competitors.

Frank entered the sack race at the last moment and walked away with it. Nixon, Love and Welchone fell to the ground. Kissinger and Liebhart were the only others to finish.

In the long distance throwing, Nixon, from deep center field, threw thirty feet beyond the plate. Shanley, Agler, Bernhard and Love were the other contestants.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

All the News of Real Estate and Building.

A meeting of the executive board of the Atlanta real estate board will be held today, noon, in the offices of Chas. P. Glover. At this time plans for the year will be outlined. Mr. Harris G. White, who was elected president a month or so ago, will present many of his views for ratification.

Among many of the questions to come up will be that of listing renting property.

Livingston Listed With Grant.
The three-story Livingston apartments which is being erected at the southwest corner of North avenue and Willow street by James Livingston has been placed with Albert S. Adams of the B. M. Grant Real Estate and Leasing Agency for renting.

This building, when completed, will be one of the most modern in the south. Thirty-two apartments of three and four rooms, with all conveniences, such as vacuum cleaners, mechanical refrigeration, dumb waiters, etc., will be offered to the Atlanta public.

Fall Activity Commencing.
That business during the coming fall will be brisk, is evidenced by the manner in which business is picking up at the present time. In the past few days a large number of warrants, deeds, loan deeds, etc., have gone to record. Likewise there has been much activity in residence property, leases, and general contract work.

Small Loan Deal Given.
The Berry school, of Rome, has taken from John W. Hamer a loan deed for $5,000 on a piece of property on the south side of Auburn avenue, 162 feet west of Piedmont avenue. The paper carried with it a perpetual right to a 6x130 foot alley for light and air purposes.

Half Interest Sold.
General Clifford L. Anderson, has sold to the Atlanta Banking & Savings company an undivided half-interest in the southwest corner of Boulevard and Cottaingham avenue for a consideration not made public. General Anderson bought his half-interest from P. H. Mell for $5 cash and gave a $2,000 note due March 20, 1911, at 8 percent interest.

Infirmity Mortgage Transaction.
A mortgage for $18,000 on the Tabernacle Infirmary and Training school for Nurses, to Sydney B. Erlanger, of New York, has been cancelled, and a mortgage for the same amount given to the Georgia Savings Bank & Trust company. The property is 7x130 feet, on Luckie street, east of Barlow street.

Dakota Farms Auction Today.
The Edwin P. Ansley agency will hold their sale of farms this morning at 10 o'clock at Dakota, Turner county. Sixty choice farms are to be sold at the easy rate of 10 percent cash, and the balance in from one to five years, at a moderate rate of interest. The land in Dakota is especially fertile, and offers an opportunity for wide diversification of crops. Cotton, corn and other staple products thrive exceedingly well there, and it is thought that there will be an unusually large crop present to bid upon in the farms offered.

PROPERTY TRANSFERS.
Warranty Deeds.
$2,000—W. H. Tugwell to P. J. Jackson, lot on the west side of Sunset avenue, 227 feet south of Simpson street, 42x140. August 26.

$240—W. P. Hubbard to E. T. Luckie, 38.100 acre in land lot 60, Seventeenth district, August 21.

$50—Estate of A. P. McCarty (by administrators) to Fanny Harris, lot on the south side of East street, 200 feet south of Stroud avenue, 50x120. August 20.

$1,500—Mrs. Hattie Dobbs to Claude D. Shaw, No. 150 Alexander street, 50x140. August 21.

$2,000—Estate of John C. Lewis to the Georgia Savings Bank & Trust company, lot 156, on the north side of Georgia avenue, 40x101. June 4, 1910.

$1,250—Charles J. Steverland to Dora B. Whitaker, lot on the east side of Chestnut street, 104 feet from Cecile street, 41x105. August 12.

$1,000—W. C. Pease to C. A. Upchurch, lot on the south side of Glenwood avenue, 490 feet west of Conally street, 50x135. August 1913.

$2,000—Mrs. N. C. Clark to F. B. Fisher, lot on the southeast corner of McIntosh street and Jonesboro road, 50x100. August 19.

$12,000—Same to same, lot on the southwest corner of Hubby and Lee streets, 75x365. August 19.

COTTON FUTURES MARKETS.
AND UNSETTLED

Market Closed Firm at Net Gain of 16 to 23 Points. Private Crop Reports Contributed to the Advance.

New York, August 27.—The cotton market was extremely nervous and unsettled today. Trading continued very active, but was hardly as general as earlier in the week and there was evidently heavy realizing on advances. This caused rather sharp reactions, but buying was aggressive in the late trading, with rumors that some of the sold-out longs were replacing their lines, and last prices were firm at a net gain of 16 to 23 points. October contracts sold at 12.20, or into new high ground for the movement, while later deliveries recovered to practically the best level of Tuesday.

The reactionary tendency which developed yesterday afternoon was reflected in today's opening prices at Liverpool, but the market rallied sharply and the start here found a good supply of buying orders around the ring. First prices were 20 points higher on August, and from 4 to 5 points higher on later months. New crop positions selling 4 points above last night's close during the first few minutes.

A private crop report, making the condition 75.5, against 83 last month, contributed to this advance, but offerings soon became very heavy, and the market eased off 10 or 11 points from the best during the morning. Reactionary sentiment was encouraged by rains in the eastern half and a favorable review of crop conditions in Georgia and the Carolinas, but the day's detailed reports showed record-breaking temperatures in the south-west, while a Chicago house issued a condition report of 69.4, and there were rumors that the report of the National Ginners' association would make the condition 69.3. These features were credited with checking the selling movement, to some extent, and the market was very firm late in the day, with active months 18 to 24 points net higher.

Cotton spot quiet; middling uplands, 12.55; do. gulf, 12.80; sales, none.

CORN STARTED WITH STRENGTH

Then Weakened on Account of Selling and Rallied Toward the Close, Closing 1-8 Cent Lower to 3-8 Higher.

Chicago, August 27.—Corn again today was the active feature of speculative interest. It weakened on liberal selling by longs, but in the final part of the session rallied fairly well, on rebuying by traders who considered the market overdone. Final prices were 1/8 cent lower to 3/8 cent higher, with the September option showing the greatest recovery. Wheat closed 1/4 cent lower; oats 1/4 cent off, and provisions unchanged to 1/2 cent. Corn started with a good show of strength on the continuance of hot dry weather southwest. Profit-taking sales followed the upturn, some of the leading longs putting big lines on the market. Prices eased rapidly and it soon became evident that there had been over-selling in the face of naturally bullish crop conditions. A buying rally, in which some of the chief early sellers fared, lifted prices fairly well and the market closed at a net gain. A feature of the day was liquidation of September corn and subsequent buying, that caused it to recover nearly all of the 1/4 cent decline from its high point of the day.

Wheat closed off on practical assurance that the northwest crop is safe and that Canada will soon complete the harvesting of a large yield. Lower cables also depressed the market and another bear factor was the falling of the export business. It was said that the export call was the poorest of the season to date. Liquidating by holders of September was a feature of the market. Steadiness shown by corn helped steady at the close and the market was firm in the final hour. Primary receipts today were 1,400,000, against 1,410,000 bushels a year ago. Seaboard clearances of wheat and flour equaled 1,277,000 bushels.

St. Louis, August 27.—Wheat, almost throughout the day, due to lack of demand. Selling by longs depressed provisions. The demand was slow most of the day.

The concert will begin at 8:30 p. m. and the admission price will be 25 and 10 cents. It is hoped that the audience will be one of the largest of the season.

HARRY THAW WINS IN CANADIAN COURTS

release today. This remedied a strategic blunder made last week by Thaw's attorneys, who apparently did not realize then that in seeking their client's release they were playing into the opposition's hands.

From his cell tonight Thaw issued the following statement:

"May I acknowledge the fair play accorded by everyone since my arrival in Canada and express my gratitude for the sympathy shown by Canadian people in my present struggle to regain liberty and to thank especially all the Canadians that I have come in contact with personally. It is much better than I deserve and entirely at variance with the malice shown in New York."

"It is only fair to make clear that the people of New York are all right; no unfairness can be found in the people of New York. A proof of this was found in the vicious opposition to giving me an honest jury trial shown by the undemocratic attorney-general. He and his pals know that a New York jury would stand for fair play, too."

The Outburst for Thaw.

The unexpected outburst of sympathy in Thaw's behalf—for until today residents of Sherbrooke had appeared apathetic—came when Judge Globensky declined to allow Samuel Jacobs, of Montreal, chief counsel for New York, to submit arguments against the discontinuance of the habeas corpus writ. Jacobs had risen to address the court after Thaw's attorney's had begun their arguments to have the writ abandoned.

At this point J. N. Greenshield, Thaw's leading defender, demanded of Jacobs:

"Whom do you represent—the state of New York?"

His lordship: "Gentlemen, you need not discuss it."

Mr. Jacobs: "Do I understand that your lordship will not hear any arguments on the other side?"

The court: "I will not hear you."

Jacobs: "I ask that it be noted in the record that we have no status in this court."

His lordship: "Make no entry."

Jacobs: "My lord, I want to bring to the court's attention that the man who has made the complaint against him (Thaw) is an interested party, inasmuch as he is liable to damages, and ask that the court be made, my lord, that you refuse to hear any other party. We expect especially to the judgment of the court on this matter."

The court: "Do not make any such entry."

"Give Him Fair Play."

The words came sharply and then from the back of the courtroom came the cry:

"Give him fair play." A woman screamed and the crowd surged forward.

Thaw responded to the demonstration with profound bows but retreated as the throng swept toward him, aside in its rush.

The prisoner sought refuge in the ante-room used by newspaper men and soon afterward was on his way back to jail, again cheered by the crowd outside.

When court reassembled this afternoon and the crowd, doubling that of the morning, arose as the judge took his seat a hush fell over the room. Then the court spoke, first in English, then in French.

"I was shocked this morning," he said, "to be a witness of a most disgraceful scene in this court, one which would give a very poor idea of the dignity with which the sittings of our court are held and which I trust, and hope will be taken as the exception, not the rule. I have long been at the bar and I have been some time on the bench, but I must declare that I have never witnessed such a scene and that if any attempt is made to repeat the conduct of the morning I will have the guilty parties put in jail."

Thaw Recommended to Jail.

In the face of such warning not a sound escaped the crowd when the court sustained Thaw's counsel in their contention that they were within their rights in withdrawing the writ of habeas corpus. The court held in brief that a man may discontinue any proceedings he has undertaken in his own behalf, provided there is no specific law forbidding it.

"I, therefore, grant the application," he concluded, "and order Thaw recommended to jail to be dealt with according to law on the charge that stands against him."

Opinion differed tonight as to whether this meant that Thaw would remain in jail until some high dominion of official interfered, or whether he would demand trial by jury at the king's bench next October.

Mr. Jerome said that in his opinion Thaw ultimately would be sent back to New York, and Franklin Kennedy issued a similar statement.

The immigration authorities said tonight they would keep agents on the scene pending developments. Counsel for Thaw shurged their shoulders and said the next move was up to the state of New York.

Thaw Flushed and Happy.

Thaw, flushed and happy, returned to the hill top jail while the crowds which began cheering at the courthouse steps when he emerged, kept up their plaudits as he passed. A prisoner by his own election, he had staved off the first move to return him to the asylum where for five years he was a prisoner.

Developments in the case tomorrow and next will largely depend on the outcome of the trip of Jerome and Kennedy to Quebec, and on the renewed efforts which it is understood will be made to have the magistrate who committed Thaw, Alexis Dupuis, of Coaticook, quash the commitment. To be ready for emergencies, New York is keeping in touch with sheriffs and deputy sheriffs along the borders of New Hampshire and Vermont. They will be notified by telephone to be prepared to capture Thaw on their side should the deportation machinery here be set in motion.

AT THE THEATERS.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

This week's bill at the Forsyth is just exactly what an audience of local people like, is being evidenced every day by the tremendous attendance that is swarming along to make a record for the theater. Srengill certainly has the people guessing. Just how this man gets the message to his pretty assistant to play some grand opera selection is a wonderful thing, and Srengill does not speak a word. A person simply whispers the name of an opera, and the operator sends the message, any way you care to figure it, to him subject on the stage, who plays the opera and sings it too. The pretty Meredith Sisters are also helping to draw the crowds. The girls are singing eight numbers and making a change in costume for each of the songs.

Moving Pictures.

(At the Grand.)

"The Scarlet Letter," that wonderful novel by the famous Hawthorne, is being shown today only in Kinecolor at the Grand. The picture is in three reels and attracted the largest attendance that has been recorded at the Grand since pictures were introduced, on Wednesday. The management has tried to hold "The Scarlet Letter" longer, but it is demanded elsewhere and will have to go. The feature for Friday and Saturday will be "Other People's Children," a fine comedy in two reels, and an interesting reel of "Beach Scenes Around New York." Kinecolor has come to the Grand to stay. There will be three changes of the program each week, and the finest subjects the company has produced will be exhibited here.

Emma Bunting.

(At the Lyric.)

selling rapidly for the entire week, and there is no doubt that the little actress' many friends will be out in full force to witness these performances, probably the last that she will give in Atlanta for a long time. Miss Bunting has an agreeable role in "The Circus Girl." While Mr. Whitaker, the leading man, is also supplied with a part that suits him admirably.

Jewel Kelly Stock.

(At the Bijou.)

"The Fatal Shadow," this week's offering of the Jewel Kelly company at the Bijou, is scoring a decided hit with patrons of the house. It is certainly a splendid performance, staged in a manner that leaves nothing to be desired. Each act is given a special setting, painted by Rep Logie, one of the best scenic artists in the country. The manner in which each scene is presented shows that no expense will be spared in staging the productions that are put on by the Jewel Kelly company during the season. During the week matinees will be given every afternoon at 2:30 and night performances at 8:30. For next week the sensational melodrama, "The Man from the West" will be put on. Special interest will be shown in this play, as it has never been presented in Atlanta in popular prices.

Building Lots

$200 WILL BUY A GOOD ONE

Building Lots 40x120 feet, in a good section, where improvements are being made every day, for $200, sounds ridiculous—but it isn't.

On Wylie street, between the Georgia Railroad Roundhouse and Moreland avenue, just a few blocks from DeKalb avenue, we have had placed with us a tract of land that has been subdivided into good building lots, ranging in price from $200 to $400 each. When lots can be bought for $200 on the terms that we can give you, there is no excuse in the world for not having a home.

BUSINESS LITERATURE

The time to send out business literature is when business is slow. You don't send for a doctor when your child is in good health. Why should you curtail on your booklet simply because business is quiet? That's when you need to send out a jam-up booklet, and you will find that returns will more than justify the expenditure. Let us work with you in getting up a booklet which will "pull" business for you.

WE KNOW HOW.

LOTS

On Park lane, between Westminster and Maddox Drives, a beautiful lot, 70x305 feet for $3,150. This lot is close to the Piedmont avenue car line, and is well worth the price. Boulevard Terrace, between Boulevard and Randolph streets, a very desirable building lot, 50x150 feet. This street has all city improvements, such as gas, water, sewer and sidewalks. Price, $1,200, on very easy terms.
