A PLEA FOR HONOR!

A PLEA FOR HONOR!

"Not long ago, when England thought her honor menaced, Asquith, the liberal leader, moved the government's ultimatum and Arthur Balfour, leader of the opposition, seconded the motion amidst the cheers of the commons. There was no time nor occasion for difference. This legislature has not been surpassed for independence, courage and ability. . . Will not you, gentlemen, educators and instructors of the people, strong with a power that you alone possess, hold up their hands in bravely and honestly solving, like statesmen, the problems of Georgia?" lems of Georgia?"

That was the keynote of the address of Governor Slaton, last evening, to the Georgia State Press association at LaGrange printed elsewhere in full. It is no wonder that in spontaneous response the men who edit the press of this state gave him such an affirmative ovation as is rare in the his tory of Georgia. Their attitude speaks in thunderous tones of the sentiment of the tory of teorga. Increased as a temperature of the people of this state to the effect that Georgia shall redeem her attitude of dishonor toward the country school teacher and toward our disraceful system of taxation. The governor is absolutely correct. The issues involved in prompt payment of school teachers and in equalization of the tax system transcend partianship or personal considerations. They are questions that affect the whole people and that INVOLVE THE HONOR AND THE RED. UTATION OF THE WHOLE COMMON. WEALTH. Governor Sitton did not mince matters in denouncing the practice of defrauding the country school teachers by withholding their pay for nearly a year: He advanced as a logical solution constitutional amendments ical solution constitutional amendments looking to a temporary additional tax levy of one mill for one year and half a mill for the next year. That is the one effective way of wiping out the arrearage. The exient of exhausting the state's borrowing power would pay only a third of the state's obligation to the teachers and, at that, for only one year. It would be as childish to suffice a clamoring and long overdue creditor with a tender of a third of his debt when one had ample resources to meet the whole amount. And the next year the old situation would be on us again, with the borrowing power probably demanded by

A MURDEROUS QUACK.

A young and prominent Atlantan, a man of splendid promise and of rare value to the community, has just added another victims to the Priedmann cure. Before he took the Friedmann treatment he was at least holding his own, under the methods everywhere practiced by reputable physicians. With that solicitude characteristic of patients and their relatives under these conditions, he eagerly grasped at the promise of cure held out by the German faker. And the faker, knowing the resources of the family, extorted $3.000 as a cash and advance fee. From the day this young man took the treatment his strength steadily declined. There is the evidence of all observers for it.

His death followed by only a few weeks the death of another young Atlantan similarly bled. These are just two cases within our personal knowledge. Others are recorded all over the country. The scandal is the subject for indignant cartoons and editorials in the most prominent publications.

Friedmann has been driven out of New York state. The evidence of many dying patients made it impossible for him to practice there. But the federal government is still in a negative attitude toward his fraud. He can still pursue his farogame with death in the various states. And as long as one state is opened to his

That such things can exist is an inter-national brand upon the United States.

This government stands indicted until it takes full steps to protect its citizens against such merciless charlatanry.

AN EMPIRE UNDER WATER.

AN EMPIRE UNDER WATER.

With the comparatively trivial expenditure of $5.000 (Georgia can begin the reclaimation of an empire of $5.000 square miles area now under water in this state. That is the effect in the last analysis of the bill of Representative Akin. of Ginn. approtropriating $5,000 toward a survey of the awamp lands of the state. The conditional are such that to fail to pass the bill on the grounds of economy would be economic lunacy. From the standpoint of immediate expenditure alone the state is offered a two-forone bargain. If Georgia appropriates $5.000 the federal government will appropriate a similar amount. To this it will add the services of engineers to make the survey. These experts could not be employed for the task at a cost of less than $5.000. So that for every dollar Georgia spends upon a proposition purely for her own benefit, the government spends two.

This vast empire now wholly or partially submerged covers some of the richest farm and in the state. Reclaimed swamp land its notably fertile and productive, bearing the vitalizing accumulations of centuries.

What the survey will do is to blaze the

NO STATE-FORCED RELIGION.

NO STATE-FORCED RELIGION.

The senate committee on education has met anticipation by advancely reporting the bill requiring Bible reading in the public schools. The vole, 8 to 8, indicates a margin sufficiently wide to reflect public sentiment. There is, therefore, and should be, little chance for the measure to become a law.

The hearing before the committee, like the statements published in The Constitution, has been of great aid in clearing the atmosphere. As forecast in the news and editorial columns of The Constitution, representative ministers of trutually every denomination are in strenuous opposition to the bill. And the single fact that denominations are divided within themselves for and against it is merely a prophery of the antiagonisms and unreligious bitterness that would ensure if the bill were enacted and the test put to the whole state.

Well-intentioned, but ill-advised, nothing further should be heard from this measure. The slightest admixture of church and state will weake both. And the judied suggestion of forcing religion on people is even less acceptable. Even our mental attitude should be past the spiritual bitcory and intolerance that ield the fathers to take refuge in this country and to write in our fundamental law aumented of in this country and to write in our funda mental law a guarantee of the individua freedom of conscience.

LET THE RECORDER ALONE!

LET THE RECORDER ALONE!

The most effective barrier between Atlanta on the one side and crime and disorder on the other is the office of city recorder, as administered by Nah R. Broyles.

A weak recorder or a recorder with his powers circumscribed would be a first ald to the thug and the outlaw. Judge Broyles, under present conditions, is not that sort of recorder.

that sort of recorder.

For these and other reasons, The Constitution is in hearty sympathy with Senators Huie, of the thirty-fifth senatorial district, when he firmly oponess legislative sanction of that feature of the house bill which, in amending Atlanta's charter, would substantially lessen the powers of the recorder. It is comes to a choice between the passage of the bill as it stands and preserving the status quo as regards the recorder, then by all means let the whole measure go. The loss would not be an irreparable one, but the typing of Judge Broyles' hands would be the typing of Judge Broyles' hands would be a disaster. About the only element with a disaster. About the only element with anything to gain by abridging his authority is the criminal element, and neither Atlants nor the state need take cognizance of its

We have yet to see an important instance in which Judge Broyles has abused his sub-thority or acted with undue harhess. On the other hand, without his co-operation it would have been impossible to approximate the record regarding vice and crime now held by Atlanta. The state should encourage and not discourage the strong and fearless and the strong and fearless are strong and the strong and t We have yet to see an important instance ondary importance to the desirability of leaving undisturbed the influence the re-corder now exerts for moral progress and law and order in this community. To our certain knowledge no Southern store ever offered Linens of such qualities at these near half and less-than-half prices.

The left sale table and counters are heaped high with values. Though the sale is scheduled for three days—Thursday, Friday and Saturday—it is plain that the bers Bargains will be snapped up Thursday. Selling starts at 8:30 with these unprecedented values.

Atlanta Belles at Mountain Resort Swim, Dance and Flirt

By Louise Dooly

Lake Toxaway, July 22—(Special)—Those who have lived longer than II have declare that life at the summer resort today is about what it was when the people of these parts came to resorts in their private carriages, instead of on the railroad train. There were more duels fought then than now, because dueling was stylish in those days. There were more letters written by young women then than now, because telephones and night letters have rudely pushed out the older and geniter art; but the sceneral spirit of life at the resort is about the same. It is a very same season here at Toxaway, and for the time it would seem that "the world was withdrawn and can only be seen at a great distance through the gateway" leading out from these ruggedly heavild mountains.

Underwear and Child's Dresses

Each To clear away the odds and ends of broken lots of Muslin Underwear, we have put a price on the lot for a Today's Sale, which will insure a great crowd of eager buvers.

The great sales had here for the past six weeks have left us with many hundreds of garments of different sizes, styles and trims, without a complete range of any style. For this reason we have collected them into one grand lot. to be cleared out at one price, as it is now too late to replenish the lines. Added to this, we also carry along with this sale a great clearaway disposal of children's dresses, 2 to 14 years. The values of the undergarments shown range from 89c to $1.50.

The values of the dresses shown range from 90c to $1.50

The whole assortment of both lots will be put on sale at one price, 69c each.

This sale of Today, we think, will be the most attractive yet held, in fact it will prove to be a feast of bargains and of good things for you.

Muslinwear includes Nainsook Combinations Lingerie Cloth Drawers

Child's dresses include Crepe and Nainsook Gowns Percale and Gingham Dresses Dainty Lawn Dresses Solid Chambray Dresses

Many of the children's dresses will be found to be just the thing for the opening of school wear.
