

SAV WOMAN SOUGHT DEATH OF HUSBAND

Relatives of Mrs. Barbara Dodd Tell Why She Cut Them Off and Left Money to Merer.

Declaring that the reason that the late Mrs. Barbara Dodd, a wealthy Atlanta woman who died recently had left her estate to Mercer university and the remainder to charity, was because certain of them had refused her proposition to kill Dr. J. H. Garner, her divorced husband, or maim him, by throwing oil of vitriol in his face, the six relatives who wish to inherit the estate of some $200,000, yesterday filed an appeal to the ruling of the ordinary and obtained the right to carry the case to the superior court.

In a recent hearing, Judge John R. Wilkinson, ordinary of Fulton county, the will of which Charles E. Currier, represented by Attorney C. R. Gores, is the executor, and the relatives now seek to have the higher court reverse his ruling.

Mrs. Dodd was the widow of the late Philip Dodd, a wealthy and respected merchant. He died some eight or nine years ago, and a few years afterward his widow, a woman of over 60 years, married Dr. Garner.

The couple were unhappy, and Dr. Garner soon left for North Dakota. There he filed a petition for separation, in which he alleged that the aged woman had deceived him into believing that her abundance of hair was the real article, and that she had also promised to settle upon him the sum of $100,000 immediately after the ceremony.

Dr. Garner further asserted that he soon discovered that his wife wore false hair and that she had no intention of carrying out the financial settlement. The woman sent an Atlanta attorney in Dakota to answer the divorce label, and filed a cross bill. She succeeded in getting a divorce and had the name she had previously borne restored.

The petitioning relatives assert that this affair so bore upon her that she was overcome by her insane delusion and sought to have certain of them, all Dr. Garner, or at least maim him for life with the burning acid.

Further they claim that when they refused with horror to comply with the insane requests that she became imbecile with the hallucination that they were not of her blood or family, nor related to her, and not entitled to her affection or to be treated by her as kinsmen.

Her Mind Unbalanced. This asserts the amendment was her reason for leaving her fortune to charity and leaving them out with a few paltry dollars, as it is, they claim, sufficient proof to show that at the time of the making of the will the woman's mind was unbalanced and she was not in a condition to dispose of her property.

The relatives who are behind the litigation and who are represented by Attorneys King & Spalding and Underwood & Rosser & Brandon are Mrs. Barbara E. Dibble, Mrs. Fannie T. Aokman and George Oscar G. Malcolm and Henry E. Dibble.

As the will stands at present and as upheld by Judge Wilkinson, the bequest to Mercer will be used to create a memorial to the late Philip Dodd, and other large sums will go to various charities in and around Atlanta. The heirs are left practically nothing, the largest single bequest being a $5,000 gift to one of the brothers, who is blind.

GAVE HIS WIFE DOSE OF IODINE BY MISTAKE

Dublin, Ga., June 18.—(Special).—Mrs. W. B. Smith of this city, is gradually recovering from accidental poisoning caused by taking a dose of iodine, thinking it was capudine. The dose was prepared by her husband, who, not being familiar with the two bottles that were sitting together on a dresser in the room, mistook the hold of the bottle of iodine by mistake.

He measured out a dose of two spoonfuls, and gave it to Mrs. Smith, who swallowed it before she stopped to ask him why it tasted so peculiar. When she did mention it he investigated and found that he had given her iodine instead of capudine. Physicians were immediately summoned and, after considerable hard work, she was pronounced out of danger. She is gradually recovering from the dose, and although her throat was badly burned, will recover in due time.

AWAKENED BY WOMAN, HE SHOOTS HER DEAD

Bowie, La., June 18.—Awakening suddenly from a sound sleep by her entrance into his room, Abraham Blanchard today shot and killed Mrs. W. L. Walters, proprietress of a local hotel, where Blanchard was a guest. Realizing what he had done, he turned the weapon upon himself, inflicting a wound which will probably prove fatal. Finding the room empty, Mrs. Walters went in to leave some linen. Startled and half awake, Blanchard took his revolver from under his pillow and fired a bullet through the woman's body, killing her instantly. Fully aroused by the discharge of the weapon, he attempted to kill himself, after realizing the tragedy he had unintentionally enacted.

HUNTING DOWN A RAT, STOLEN CASH IS FOUND

London, June 18.—An unexpected sequel to the recent burglary in the Berkeley hotel in London is the arrest of the night porter. A man charged with being concerned in stealing from the hotel safe $35,000 and attempting to murder Gowers, the other night porter. Movements of a big rat in the hotel dining room a few nights ago led to James' arrest. Employees of the hotel, in hunting down the rat found its hole under the radiator and through it saw a gleam of gold. The floor was taken up and there was found more than half of the booty. It is charged that James, who was found and gagged near the safe the night of the burglary, acted in conjunction with a continental gang of

BARRETT TO BE NAMED BY PRESIDENT WILSON

Expected That Georgian Will Be Member of New Industrial Commission.

By John Corrigan, Jr. Washington, June 18.—(Special).—It is expected that Charles S. Barrett, president of the Farmers' union, will be nominated by President Wilson as a member of the new industrial commission authorized under a bill passed at the last session of congress. He was selected by President Taft on the list that failed of confirmation.

Senator Bacon strongly urged Mr. Barrett to the president today when the latter visited the capitol to discuss appointments with members of congress. President Wilson discussed the commission with several senators. Of the nine commissioners it is known that Mr. Barrett and Frank F. Welch of Kansas City, Mo., and Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, of New York, will represent the non-partisan side of the commission; Fred R. Delano, of Illinois, and F. Thurston Ballard, of Kentucky, will represent the employers, and John S. Lennon, of Illinois, will represent employees.

The names of the three other commissioners, two of whom are to represent labor, and the third, employees, were not made known. It is expected that all will be sent to the senate Saturday.

The commission is to investigate disputes between labor and capital. On his trip to the capitol today President Wilson did not get away as inconspicuously as on previous occasions.

A large crowd had gathered to hear a band concert on the east front of the capitol, and when the president arrived there were cheers and applause reminiscent of campaign days. The president rode in his automobile and waved his hat to the crowd. As he went through the corridor just in front of the senate chamber members of the upper house caught a glimpse of him. It was the first time the president had visited the capitol when the senate was actually in session.

Later the sergeant-at-arms, scouring corridors for senators to make up a quorum, did not hesitate to enter the president's room where he thought a group of senators had congregated. Senator Bacon, the only one who happened to be there, ended his conference quickly and returned to the senate chamber.

The president had on his list twenty senators, republicans as well as democrats, and saw them all within an hour. He consulted them about appointments of all kinds in their home states. It had been thought that he would take advantage of the opportunity to sound his call on their attitude toward emergency legislation.

"Appointments only," smiled the president as he left the room and chatted a moment with the waiting correspondents. He said he had not talked legislation with the senators.

ORGANS OF PAINTER HELD BY INJUNCTION

At Instance of Insurance Company Judge Restrains Baltimore Chemist.

Baltimore, Md., June 18.—An injunction was issued by Judge Duffy in the circuit court here today restraining Charles Glazer, a Baltimore chemist, from disposing of the internal organs of Edward C. Painter, a wealthy business man, of Jacksonville, Fla. According to a coroner's verdict, Painter was drowned by falling from a ferry boat near Jacksonville last month.

Circumstances surrounding Painter's death induced the Jacksonville coroner to send the dead man's vital organs here for chemical analysis. Glazer and Dr. Standish McCleary made the analysis and submitted reports that no trace of poisoning could be found. Application for the injunction was made by the Farmers' Life and Realty and Guaranty company, of this city, which, in April, issued an accident policy containing a suicide clause in Painter's favor. The applicants say an autopsy was refused, and claim they want an independent examination of the organs. They have been advised that Painter's family has made a demand for the organs.

The complaint alleges that Painter, within three months prior to his death, obtained insurance policies exceeding $1,000,000. It also alleges that the aggregating premiums on the policies issued to Painter exceeded $1,000,000 a year, and that so far as has been ascertained, his income did not exceed $25,000.

PAINTER'S GRAVE GUARDED

Jacksonville, Fla., June 18.—According to information received here today the grave of H. C. Painter, late fertilizer manufacturer, in Evergreen cemetery here, is being guarded day and night by deputy sheriffs to prevent the body being stolen by thieves. This action is declared to have followed information given the Painter family to the effect that six men had come to the city with the intention of tunnelling into the grave and carrying away the body.

Hartsville, S. C., June 18.—Martha May Hanes, the 7-year-old daughter of Rev. and Mrs. C. F. Hanes, and Charles C. Funderburk, the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Funderburk, were bitten this morning by a dog affected with rabies. The girl was very painfully lacerated about the waist line, and the boy was bitten on the neck. Both children were hurried to the Pasteur institute at Columbia

MRS. FORMBY HERE FOR PHAGAN TRIAL

Woman Declares She Will Appear in Court and Will Corroborate Sensational Affidavit to Police.

Mima Formby, the rooming house-keeper of 411 Piedmont avenue, who made the affidavit declaring that Leo Frank had telephoned her on the night of Mary Phagan's murder in an endeavor to rent a room to which he could bring a girl, has returned to Atlanta after a disappearance of several weeks.

To a reporter for The Constitution she stated yesterday afternoon that she intended remaining in the city until time of the Phagan trial and that she would appear before the court and deliver testimony corroborating the sensational affidavit to which she has attached.

Why She Left City. Mrs. Formby's recent disappearance created considerable mystery. The police of several different cities were notified to be on the lookout for her, and while the police and detective bureau of Atlanta, secured the city, widespread efforts were made to locate her by the solicitor general's office.

She declares that she was persuaded by no one to leave town, and that her departure was of her own accord. She had gone away, she said, to avoid notoriety which was incurred by her affidavit, and to remain out of the city until the sensation subsided. She visited Chattanooga, Bristol and Sulphur Springs, Tenn., while on the trip, she said.

Chief Lanford said Wednesday afternoon that he had expected the woman's return and had felt no fears of her absence at time of trial.

Swy's Frank Wanted Room. Mrs. Formby's affidavit was one of the most sensational obtained by the district attorney in the case, the James Conley statement. She swore that on the night of April 26 Leo Frank had telephoned her frequently between the hours of 6:30 and 10 o'clock in an effort to get a room to which he could bring a girl, which he said he had secured. It was a matter of life and death, and that he even threatened her life when she refused to rent him an apartment. He telephoned her six times, she stated, and finally she was rid of him only after she had told him she was leaving her home on an automobile ride.

Mrs. Formby has returned to her home at the Piedmont avenue address. Arrangements for staging the Leo M. Frank trial are being rushed to completion. Owing to the poor ventilation of the courtroom in the Throver building, and the absence of witness rooms, some more desirable place will have to be secured for the trial, it is said.

Judge L. S. Roan, of the superior court, said tonight that he did not know of any other place being provided, but in case that the county commissioners should decide that the present quarters are inadequate, that in all probability some more suitable place would be provided.

Before leaving for New York, Solicitor Dorsey said he had instructed his deputy to discuss with Judge Roan some more suitable place for holding the trial, and it is thought that within the next day or so the county board will be called upon to provide a larger place for the trial.

Twelve books of evidence, of evidence of more than 100 pages each were turned over to the solicitor's office by stenographers, and assistant Solicitor E. A. Stephens stated that the state could go to trial on forty-eight hours' notice.

Books of evidence will be used to bring out the salient points in the evidence of each witness and the solicitor will question the witnesses from these books, it is said, carrying each witness over the same ground when their statements were made.

Solicitor Dorsey will return from New York Saturday, and that the greater number of witnesses will be summoned, and ready for the trial.

DON'T DESTROY HOUSE IN ORDER TO KILL RAT

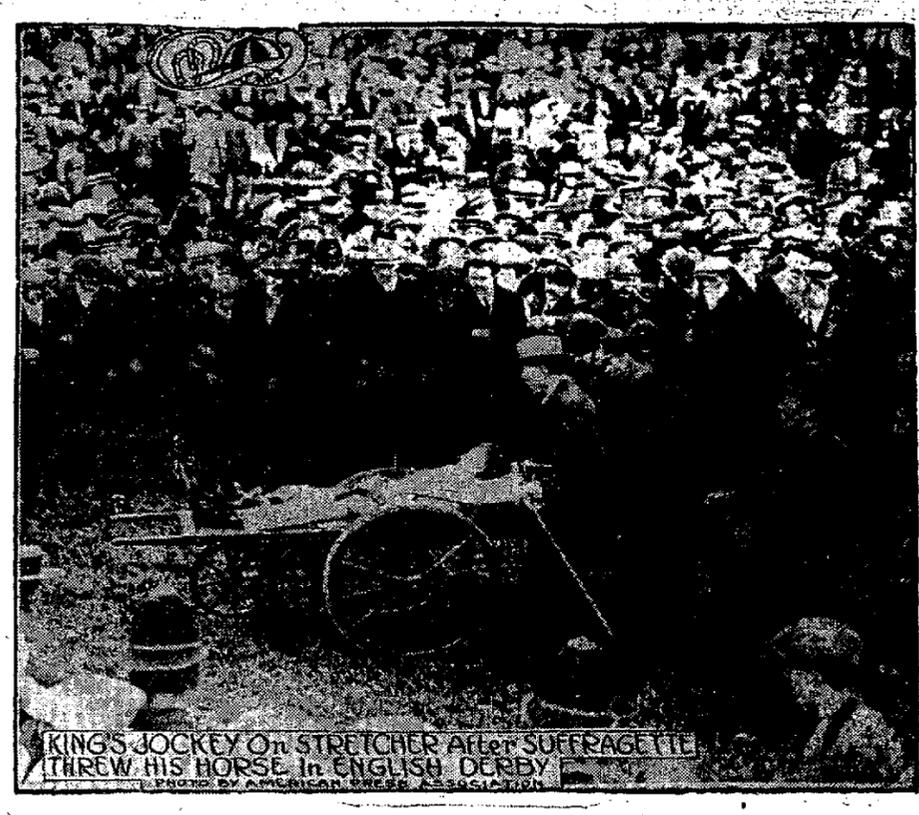

Chief Justice White Urges People Not to Destroy Country's Institutions.

Providence, R. I., June 18.—A plea to the American people to "frown down this attempt which is growing in the land" to attack the principles of the government, was made by Chief Justice Edward Douglas White, of the United States supreme court, in an address today at Brown university, where he was awarded an honorary degree of doctor of laws at the annual commencement exercises.

The chief justice said in part: "The very foundation of our free institutions was the belief, not in the march of triumphant democracy, nor in the march of popular feeling and popular conduct unrestrained, but that men could restrain themselves, that great principles could be written into our national life, which could steer and guide and restrain, and hold us free by the hand, and free from anarchy, full of liberty, with life and property and everything that blesses mankind saved and secured.

"Look around in this great land today. Where is there a country like it? The world has never seen the equal of the men who have given us our endurance if the American people forget the foundation principles of their free institutions because of what they imagine to be an evil here and an evil there and seek to pull down the pillars of the temple in order that they may destroy what they suppose to be a rat within the house.

After the Suffragette Threw King's Horse

KING'S JOCKEY ON STRETCHER AFTER SUFFRAGETTE THREW HIS HORSE IN ENGLISH DERBY

This is the first picture to reach America of the suffragette Derby incident. It shows the king's jockey being carried away from the race course at Epsom Downs, England, where the classic Derby was run. He was badly hurt, but did not die. Miss Emily Wilding Davison, the suffragette who sprang out on the course and threw the king's horse, later died, and her funeral in London attracted wide attention. Her end was the first violent death in connection with the women's war for votes in England.

"JOKER" IS FOUND IN SUGAR SCHEDULE

It Would Have Nullified Free Provision—"Joker" Killed by Amendment—All Schedules Completed.

Washington, June 18.—An eleven-hour discovery that the sugar schedule of the Underwood tariff bill had a "joker" in it which would have operated to make all refined sugar dutiable at 2 cents a pound and nullify the provision for free sugar after three years resulted today in an amendment by majority members of the senate finance committee. Elimination in the Underwood bill of the Dutch standard of color, which has been in tariff bills for many years, it was discovered, made applicable to a refined sugar paragraph from the Payne-Aldrich bill relating to confectionery, which included the following words: "Sugars after being refined, when colored, or in any way adulterated, 2 cents per pound."

Texas Found "Joker." The majority members of the finance committee had their attention called to this matter by Senator Sheppard, of Texas, who was petitioned by the chamber of commerce of Greenville, Texas, to look into the matter, which they believed might defeat the purpose of the administration and majority in congress as to ultimate free sugar. It was suggested that the bill as it stood could be so construed as to apply to all refined sugar, which is colored with ultramarine.

The Dutch standard which was taken out in the house bill stipulated specifically as to the coloring of refined sugar. Members of the finance committee ordered an investigation and President Wilson, when his attention was called to it, agreed that it should be looked into thoroughly.

Late today the majority members of the committee received expert reports that the provision might operate as a joker and they promptly struck out the language as it referred to refined sugars and left it applicable only to confectionery.

Another important amendment to the bill agreed upon by the committee would repeal an act passed in 1890 exempting brands used by manufacturers to fortify grape wines from the general internal revenue tax. This amendment, it is estimated, will increase the government revenue by $7,000,000 a year.

Tariff Caucus Friday. The committee tonight had completed all the schedules and Senator Kern, the majority leader, issued a call for a senatorial democratic caucus next Friday.

The caucus can take up the rates while the committee is completing work on the income tax and administrative features.

One of the important matters settled today was that of countervailing duty should not be put on livestock and meats which are to go on the free list unrestricted. Wheat and flour will go on the free list, but with a countervailing duty.

Rates on leather gloves were increased slightly over the Underwood rates. It also developed that the committee had increased the proposed rates on pig lead and spelter zinc, concerning which some democrats made a fight in the house caucus.

Personal Purchases Abroad. Senator Saulsbury, of Delaware, today introduced an amendment to the bill which would raise the limit on personal purchases to be brought in free by travelers from $100 to $250. The amendment would permit a traveler to bring in articles for personal and household use to a value of $250 and for souvenirs and gifts to the value of $100, provided such articles were not bought on commission

HUSBAND CALLED HER HARD-HEARTED DEVIL, SAYS DIVORCE SUIT

Her husband called her a "hard-hearted devil," she slept on the floor in the hall, rather than remain in the room with such a man, caught a violent case of grip, and now wants a divorce, is the substance of the petition of Mrs. Sara Ray McClendon, an attractive young blond, of 263 North Boulevard, who yesterday began legal action against R. D. McClendon.

The petition goes on to recite that the marriage took place early in 1912, and that during January of this year, shortly after the mid-night visit of the hard floor, she was forced to separate from him. The couple have no children, asserts the suit, which was filed by Attorney Walter McElreath.

No allegations of brutal treatment, from a physical standpoint, are charged, and Mrs. McClendon asserts that her husband never abused or even struck her, and that only occasionally she was profane in her presence. The blow which she could not bear was on the night that her hitherto loving spouse plied the warm blanket that froze the love she had held for him.

L. M. Austin for appointment as superintendent of the railway mail service for the fourth division to succeed George W. Pepper.

Senators Tillman and Smith, of South Carolina, and Bankhead of Alabama, are expected to be in the party. Mr. Austin is an Atlanta man, and is a brother of Colonel James W. Austin, the well known lawyer. He has made a good record in the service and the congressmen from the southern states have learned that his elevation will be gratifying to the railway mail clerks.

ATLANTA GIRLS FAINT AT B. Y. P. U. CONVENTION

Misses Carrie Belle Clark, Carrie Harbison and Cynthia Stewart Overcome.

Macon, Ga., June 18.—(Special).—Three Atlanta girls have fainted during the sessions of the state B. Y. P. U. convention since the opening last night, due to the intense heat in the crowded auditorium of the First Baptist church. They are Misses Carrie Belle Clark, Carrie Harbison and Cynthia Stewart. Today all are reported to be fully recovered.

The convention today elected officers for the ensuing year and heard discussions on various phases of the B. Y. P. U. work. Rev. William Russell Owens, of Atlanta, was re-elected president; J. Mercer Curtis, of Canton, re-elected secretary, and Joseph E. Little, of Atlanta, treasurer. Among the speakers before the convention today were: F. H. SWEARS SHE SWORE GOOD DEAL FOR LADY

Witness Tells of Activities of "Mother" Jones in West Virginia—Operators Angry at Martine.

Charleston, W. Va., June 18.—The senate mine strike investigating committee closed up its work in Charleston for the present, and started tonight for Washington. The committee took under advisement a request made by attorneys for the West Virginia coal operators, that a subcommittee be allowed to return to Charleston at a later time to complete the taking of evidence which the operators desire to submit. The investigation will be resumed in Washington, within the next few weeks, Senator Swanson, chairman of the committee, announced.

Today the operators controlling the mines on Paint Creek and Cabin Creek, where the troubles of the past year have resulted in riot and bloodshed, continued the presentation of their side of the controversy. Witnesses were called who contradicted the contentions of the miners that the presence of the "mine guards" in the district was the cause of the trouble.

Other witnesses, men working in the mines on Paint and Cabin Creek told the committee that wages paid and the conditions of work and life on the creeks were satisfactory.

One witness testifying to the activities of "Mother" Jones in behalf of the strikers, said "she swore a good deal for a lady."

Attitude of Senator Martine. When the committee resumes session in Washington, a controversy will begin over the attitude of Senator Martine, of New Jersey, one of the members of the committee, toward the investigation. The operators' attorneys today asked that as a result of yesterday's near fist fight between Senator Martine and witness Quinn Morton, one of the operators, they be allowed to place in the record newspaper articles, one of them including a written statement by Senator Martine, criticizing the operators.

The request was made to Senators Swanson and Kenyon, but both argued with the operators, and persuaded them to postpone any action in this direction until the committee returned to Washington. A serious controversy over Senator Martine's activities here probably will result.

Several of the employees of the Baldwin-Feltz detective agency who acted as mine guards in the strike district, were called by the operators today. All of them defended the action of the guards asserting that the original trouble started by the miners and that they held their guns only when forced to do so to protect the people under their charge and the companies' property.

Activities of Armed Miners. This afternoon the operators put on witnesses to show the activities of armed miners throughout the strike district and called several witnesses who testified that "Mother" Jones and other labor agitators, at the beginning of the trouble, urged the miners to take the law into their own hands, near the strike zone, to arm themselves and aid the strikers.

F. H. Saddy, superintendent of a union mine at Boomer, in the Kanawha field, said that an Italian killed in one of the first battles on Paint Creek, was employed in his mine. He told of a speech delivered by "Mother" Jones at his mine, in which she said she urged the miners to keep their guns, and to save money to buy more.

James Claggett, a coal inspector at Boomer, said "Mother" Jones' speech was "inflammatory."

"She told the miners," he said, "to hold their guns and if they had no

SUGAR TRAIL LEADS RIGHT UP TO DOORS OF PROMINENT MEN

"Uncle Joe" Cannon, Dr. Wiley and Senators Mentioned in Letters Made Public by Lobby Probers.

Washington, June 18.—The senate lobby investigation reached out into new fields today when the senate, acting on a resolution presented by Senator Norris, ordered the Overman committee to subpoena Judge Robert S. Lovett, chairman of the board of directors of the Union Pacific railroad, to explain a published statement credited to him yesterday in New York that lobbyists had sought to secure employment from the Union Pacific on the ground that they would be able to influence a settlement of the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific case in Washington.

FIXING OF COMMITTEES PART OF LOBBY WORK

Beet Sugar Men Object in Vain to Letters—Judge Lovett Summoned to Tell About Lobbyists Who Have Approached Him.

Earlier in the day the committee made public, over the protests of a lawyer representing Henry T. Oxnard and Truman G. Palmer, a series of letters written by these two beet sugar representatives, showing a long continued effort to influence legislation in Washington; to control congressional committees, and to direct national political affairs in support of the continuance of a protective sugar tariff.

Chairman Overman had not determined tonight when the railroad phase of the investigation would be opened.

A summons was sent today to Charles B. Warren, of Detroit, president of the Michigan Sugar company and one of the men to whom many of the Hawaiian letters produced yesterday were addressed. Mr. Warren was asked to be before the committee tomorrow and it is expected that he will be asked for more details of the beet sugar publicity campaign.

The Oxnard-Palmer letters, produced at the close of the committee's morning session, were the chief feature of an exciting day. They covered a period from 1906, when Philippine free trade came up, through the balance of the Roosevelt administration, the political campaign of 1906 and into the Taft administration.

Most of the Oxnard letters were written in long hand and signed "Henry T. Oxnard." Some of the Palmer letters were typewritten carbon copies, and were identified by Harry A. Austin, clerk in Palmer's office.

Assurances that certain senators would be on the senate Philippine committee; that "no stone was being left unturned to get real protection" and one of the best ways and means committee, and that strong pressure could be, and was being, brought to bear upon members of both houses to accomplish various ends, appeared frequently in the series of letters.

Chairman Overman's first effort to send one of the Oxnard letters when the committee began its session brought a protest from John T. Yerkes, an attorney representing Ox-

In a long executive session the committee decided that the letters bore directly upon the attorney's conduct and Palmer to influence legislation and they were at once made public.

Melville Stone to Appear.

The committee tonight granted the request of Melville E. Stone, of New York general manager of the Associated Press, who asked to be allowed to testify tomorrow regarding claims made in some of the Hamilton letters, produced yesterday, as to the publicity of the best sugar interests hoped to secure through the Associated Press.

The free sugar forces, which fought Oxnard, Palmer, Hamlin and other anti-free sugar men for many years, got their first innings when Lowry York general manager of the Associated Press, who asked to be allowed to testify tomorrow regarding claims made in some of the Hamilton letters, produced yesterday, as to the publicity of the best sugar interests hoped to secure through the Associated Press.

Yerkes was assigned, addressed to Henry T. Oxnard and dated at Chicago in April, 1907. It said in part: "Major Gove is showing anxiety about either buying or starting a paper as well as securing the columns of an influential eastern daily and a large line of patent insides."

"Mr. Cullings is very anxious about the 'T' situation and hopes that there will be some way to make it known that there will be great doubt about his ability to carry such states as California, Idaho, Utah, Colorado and that if we can't head him off we might be able to get a promise relative to the sugar and tobacco industries."

A letter from Oxnard to Palmer August 1, 1907, in part said: "Regarding the vacancies on the Philippine committee, it is true that nothing can be done until next winter but I spoke to Foster and Newlands (I told me he was O. K.) and asked them to apply for the vacancies made by the Tennessee and Idaho senators. They told me they would not there the matter stands. A letter to Oxnard, dated October 1, 1907, and apparently from Palmer, said in part: "I had a very interesting conversation with both Senators Teller and Patterson. Patterson told me that Lodge admitted to him that the Philippines matter was not one of philanthropy and stated to him that we had these islands for the purpose of exploiting them with American capital and that we were going to do it."

"Teller told me that Aldrich told him that he and his crowd would stand by us and try to keep the bill in the committee, but that if it got on to the floor of the senate they would have to stay with their party and vote for the passage of the bill. Gove has talked so much with Teller about committee matters that he finally became willing to go on the Philippine committee and I think that now he is really anxious to go. He will be by all odds the strongest man we can have."

The Palmer letter added "that the Philippine matter" probably would come up soon.

"My idea has always been," it continued, "to do a thing off until financial tariff reduction comes, when we could trade with the other fellows."

A letter from Oxnard to Palmer July 16, 1908, said in part: "I spent a day with Mr. Thomas recently on his yacht and he seems to think we had better stand in with Taft if possible."

He Saw Two Senators.

A letter to Oxnard, dated October 1, 1907, and apparently from Palmer, said in part: "I had a very interesting conversation with both Senators Teller and Patterson. Patterson told me that Lodge admitted to him that the Philippines matter was not one of philanthropy and stated to him that we had these islands for the purpose of exploiting them with American capital and that we were going to do it."

"Teller told me that Aldrich told him that he and his crowd would stand by us and try to keep the bill in the committee, but that if it got on to the floor of the senate they would have to stay with their party and vote for the passage of the bill. Gove has talked so much with Teller about committee matters that he finally became willing to go on the Philippine committee and I think that now he is really anxious to go. He will be by all odds the strongest man we can have."

The Palmer letter added "that the Philippine matter" probably would come up soon.

"My idea has always been," it continued, "to do a thing off until financial tariff reduction comes, when we could trade with the other fellows."

A letter from Oxnard to Palmer July 16, 1908, said in part: "I spent a day with Mr. Thomas recently on his yacht and he seems to think we had better stand in with Taft if possible."

Another letter from Oxnard to Palmer: "I note what you say about Teller. I am glad he is willing to go on the committee, but I see no harm in having Newlands try for it. too. I am contented to him already."

"I wish Gove would not 'butt in' without consulting me. He is too apt to do that. I am going to call him down sharply at the first opportunity. I don't want his management and I won't have it."

"I saw Foster's political manager in Washington yesterday and impressed on him the importance of Foster's getting Carnack's place."

Another letter from Oxnard, dated Chicago, July 29, 1907, was in part as follows: "Major Gove wrote to me some time ago in regard to the formation of the senate Philippine committee in the sixteenth congress and I wrote him that that matter was fixed last winter. Gove writes that Teller will take it himself, rather than to have it in unclean hands. Any friendly democratic seer during the winter will count."

A letter August 27, 1907, from Oxnard to Palmer: "I am of the opinion that you had better look into the matter of a resolution through regarding Cuba, as that might start our enemies going. Of course we want a strong anti-Philippine resolution put through. I read carefully the Beet Gazette. My judgment is that you had better not allow Koderous to get your name too often in print, as some one will begin to comment on it. It seems to me that you can do better work for the cause by being quiet and connected with the paper in any way."

July 18, 1907, Oxnard wrote from New York to Palmer: "I prefer that you leave the Cuban question alone for the present. If we poor fellows will start this raising money and talking back."

"Regarding the trust I would neither attack nor defend them. We can't help it."

Oxnard wrote to Palmer on July 1, 1908: "After going over the situation with our friends here most carefully it was deemed best that I should not put in my appearance at the Denver convention and I feel that it might be better if you also stayed away. It is all right for Morry and Gove to be there. But I feel that our presence would do no good and might do some harm to the cause and our friends at Washington next winter."

Another written from Chicago October 7, 1907, to Oxnard said: "I was with Uncle Joe for four hours and feels that he accomplished something, though he did not feel at liberty to tell me much in detail. From here he went to Cincinnati at Foster's request to meet him. He is leaving no stone unturned in his efforts to get real protectionists put on to the committee on ways and means to fill the five vacancies."

"I am certain that Fordney for one will be appointed, but did not mention any other names. His advice is that we have as many business and manufacturing concerns as possible write to the speaker at Danville. . . . The next two months ought to pile up such a lot of letters to at least make an impression on the speaker. . . ."

"Of course I do not calculate that we will be able to control that committee. The best we can do is to give the best we can in a Philippine tariff reduction bill, but the more strength we show in the house and more strength we develop there the stronger we will, of course, be in the senate."

To Palmer, October 15, 1907, Oxnard wrote from Upperville, Va.: "I had been trying to find out what chances we had on ways and means and am glad to get the information you give on that line. Will bring all pressure I can on Cannon. His political manager, Congressman Littaure, of New York, is a strong personal friend of mine and this summer at Saratoga outlined to me his plan of campaign for Uncle Joe, I shall expect to bring strong pressure through Littaure."

He Saw Two Senators.

A letter to Oxnard, dated October 1, 1907, and apparently from Palmer, said in part: "I had a very interesting conversation with both Senators Teller and Patterson. Patterson told me that Lodge admitted to him that the Philippines matter was not one of philanthropy and stated to him that we had these islands for the purpose of exploiting them with American capital and that we were going to do it."

"Teller told me that Aldrich told him that he and his crowd would stand by us and try to keep the bill in the committee, but that if it got on to the floor of the senate they would have to stay with their party and vote for the passage of the bill. Gove has talked so much with Teller about committee matters that he finally became willing to go on the Philippine committee and I think that now he is really anxious to go. He will be by all odds the strongest man we can have."

The Palmer letter added "that the Philippine matter" probably would come up soon.

"My idea has always been," it continued, "to do a thing off until financial tariff reduction comes, when we could trade with the other fellows."

A letter from Oxnard to Palmer July 16, 1908, said in part: "I spent a day with Mr. Thomas recently on his yacht and he seems to think we had better stand in with Taft if possible."

NURSE CHLOROFORMED AND MONEY IS TAKEN

Miss E. O. Skelton Robbed at Red Cross Sanitarium Wednesday Morning.

Until a late hour last night detectives had not found the person or persons who chloroformed and robbed Miss E. O. Skelton at the Red Cross sanitarium, 83 Cooper street, early Wednesday morning, taking with them $145 in money and a solid gold watch and chain.

According to her own story, Miss Skelton, who is head nurse at the Red Cross sanitarium, retired to her room about 11 o'clock Tuesday night. Shortly after midnight she awakened and, thinking that it was Miss Pauline Boger, one of the nurses, called to her. Instantly some one grappled her neck, preventing screaming, a chloroform rag was pressed upon her face and she knew nothing more until shortly after 6 o'clock Wednesday morning, when Miss Boger entered her room, to awaken her.

The room was in great disorder, dresser drawers were pulled out and the contents strewn over the floor. The $145 in bills and a solid gold watch, given her by her father, Col. T. N. Skelton, of Covington, Ga., were missing.

The silver mesh bag which had contained the bills was left on the dresser, the burglars evidently not knowing its worth.

PICKETT WOULD ROTATE JUDGES

Terrell Representative to Father Bill to Remove Courts From Home Influences.

A bill that will create a furor among the superior court judges of the state, if it meets with favor in the house, is to be introduced at this session of the legislature by Representative D. C. Pickett, of Terrell county.

The measure provides for rotating less than the rotation of judges in the circuits throughout the state so that most of the judges' time will be taken up in trying cases in counties outside of the circuit in which they were elected. Mr. Pickett would have the supreme court, at stated intervals, to make assignments of judges, the judges to hold the regular terms of court in the counties to which they are assigned. Provision is made for the payment by the state of the actual traveling and living expenses of the judges when away from home.

Under Mr. Pickett's bill, if it becomes a law, a judge from Camden county might be called upon to hold term of court in Dade, and vice versa. In this way it is believed that judges will be removed from all political and personal influences that might bias their rulings.

While the measure is expected to meet with strong opposition from the judges themselves, it is said that a large number of practicing lawyers correspond with Mr. Pickett, and the house who are lawyers have signified to him that they will favor the bill, and one will probably ask that his name be put upon it.

The law in New York state provides for a rotation of judges, somewhat similar to the system that Mr. Pickett hopes to have introduced here. One chief difference is, however, that the supreme court judges in New York, corresponding to the circuit judges of the superior court in Georgia, are elected by the people of the entire state, instead of by circuits, and they serve for much longer terms than superior court judges in Georgia.

Wendell Renzow, Parliamentarian, discussing his reasons for introducing the bill, Mr. Pickett said recently: "I know of men on the bench who would make splendid judges if they were taken out of the counties in which they are known. There are lawyers and well equipped in every way to preside over courts and interpret the law, but they cannot free themselves from the political influences to which they are subjected. They owe their elevation to and continuance on the bench.

"It should not be so. Our judges should be removed as far as possible from political influences. No suspicion of partiality should taint the administration of justice. I believe it will be a long step in the right direction when we can have our judges holding courts in all the counties of the state in rotation, and entirely out of the circle of home influences which might color the decisions of even the fairest and most unpartisan judge."

REUBEN ARNOLD MAY AID FRANK'S DEFENSE IN BIG MURDER TRIAL

When questioned last night as to the truth of the rumor that he will be associated with the defense of the state in the trial of the Mary Phagan murder, Reuben A. Arnold, one of Georgia's most prominent attorneys, refused to either affirm or deny the rumor.

"I am not associated with the defense of Mr. Arnold said, "I cannot make any statement at the present time in regard to this matter."

When questioned closely as to whether he would be engaged by the defense later on, Mr. Arnold made the same statement. Luther Z. Rosen, Frank's attorney, would make no statement, one way or the other, as to whether Mr. Arnold would be associated with him.

Over Two Hundred Visitors Attend Convention of Great Council at Columbus.

Columbus, Ga., June 18.—(Special.)—A largely attended and very much enjoyed meeting of the Haymakers tonight closed the first day's session of the thirty-fourth annual session of the Great Council of Georgia, Independent Order of Red Men. The day was filled with doings, some business and a good deal of a social character. The meeting is being well attended, at least two hundred visitors being here the first day and attending the first session. The business session was called to order in the Masonic temple this morning by Great Sachem Sam J. Bell, of Jefferson. Mayor L. H. Chappell, representative to the supreme council of Red Men, extended a very cordial invitation in behalf of the city. His address was followed by one by Hon. E. S. Miller, in behalf of the Red Men of Columbus. The response to these addresses was made by the great orator sagamore of the United States, T. H. Jeffries, of Atlanta. Great Sachem Bell delivered his annual address, included his report for

TWO-PIECE LOUNGE SUITS

Relaxation in dress is one of man's chief summer privileges. He takes his ease in what he pleases, and a handsome silk shirt is far pleasanter than any waistcoat on earth.

So he has put them aside, and revels in the loose, airy swing of the summer lounge suit of crash, of tropical worsted, or of mohair.

To prescribe one of these for your comfort or your health's sake is a reminder that will make you glad.

the year which closes this meeting. The address showed the work of the order to be satisfactory and progressing. The great chief of records, M. J. Daniel, of Griffin, made a very gratifying report especially interesting to Red Men and to Daughters of the Degree of Pocolantia. The report of the great keeper of wampum, George E. Johnson, of Atlanta, shows a balance in hand of more than three thousand dollars. Augusta was selected as the meeting place of the great council next year and the following officers were elected by the ensuing year: Great sachem, C. F. Stroberg, Macon; great senior sagamore, J. R. Miller, Marietta; great orator sagamore, W. C. Hendrix, Atlanta; great prophet, Sam J. Bell, Jefferson; great keeper of records, M. J. Daniel, Griffin; great keeper of wampum, George E. Johnson, Atlanta; great representative to the supreme council, Sam J. Bell, of Jefferson; E. A. Baughan, of Atlanta; L. H. Chappell, of Columbus; C. C. Gillett, of Atlanta, and H. M. Ward, of Savannah. An important feature of the meeting was the adoption of a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee to draft an amendment to the constitution and bylaws so that the Georgia Red Men may dispose of their widows and orphans fund as they see proper and not turn it over for distribution by the national authorities of the order for distribution as before. Early this afternoon the visitors enjoyed a trolley car ride to all points of interest in the city, after which at 4 o'clock there was a boat excursion down the Chattahoochee river.

PAROLES NOT INTENDED FOR MISDEMEANANTS

Attorney General Feider Tells Governor Law Applicable Only to Felony Convicts.

In a written opinion handed to Governor Brown yesterday, Attorney General Thomas S. Feider holds that the parole law of 1908 does not apply to misdemeanor convicts. The statute by express terms applies only to felony convicts, he says. Governor Brown had propounded to the attorney general three questions in regard to the parole law: Whether or under the law misdemeanor convicts might be paroled; second, whether felony convicts, sentenced as for misdemeanors, could be paroled; third, whether a person sentenced to serve terms for two felonies at the same time, the second term to begin at the expiration of the first, could be paroled before the expiration of the first term for which he was sentenced. The first two questions, the attorney general answers in the negative. To the last, he replies that a felony convict may be paroled before the first of two consecutive sentences expire, but at the expiration of his first sentence, he must re-enter the penitentiary to serve his second term. The governor and the prison commission have held along that the parole law did not apply to misdemeanor convicts, but there have been so many applications for paroles from misdemeanants, that the governor thought it best to get an official interpretation of the law on the subject.

A feature of the meeting was an interesting moving picture show after the talk by Rev. Hendrix. Rev. Hendrix talked upon "The Significance of the Wednesday Half Holiday." It is the plan of Rev. Hendrix to make these midweek meetings interesting and recreational in their nature. Some timely topic will be discussed at each meeting.

guns to save their money and buy them. She said that when she was ready for them to use their guns, she would let them know. She said she was going to Charleston to tell the governor that if he did not release the prisoners held at Pratt, at military headquarters, they would tear up the state.

Answering by "Mother" Jones, C. Wood, a negro miner at Boomers, said he heard the same speech and that "Mother" Jones told the men that "if necessary she would take a gun and go with them." "Did she use any profane language?" asked Attorney Knight for the operators.

"She swore a good deal for a lady," replied the miner. Before the committee finally adjourned Senator Kenyon and the attorneys for both sides agreed on a large amount of documentary testimony, transcripts of records, and public files that are to be placed in the record. These included a copy of the letters between Governor Glascock, representatives of the operators and representatives of the miners attending the negotiations which preceded the strike, copies of the agreement on the lands on Point Creek and Cabin Creek, owned by the Pratt Land company, copies of the payrolls of the mines, and data as to the ownership of the coal companies and the capital they represent with the dividends paid and profits made.

MANAGERS AND OWNERS TO MEET HERE IN 1915

After a hot fight on the floor of the Building Managers and Owners' convention in Cincinnati the local Building Managers and Owners, who had organized only a few weeks prior to the convention for the immediate purpose of bringing the convention to Atlanta in 1914, succeeded in landing the convention for 1915.

They just missed bringing it to Atlanta next year by a "gnat's heel," so to speak. As soon as the question of the next meeting place was brought up C. F. Wilkinson, L. S. Gill, W. A. Jones, Jesse Draper and A. V. Cates, representatives of Atlanta, were on the floor. The 1913 convention was lost rather by graceful acknowledgement of first claim than by defeat, for Duluth, the busy little Minnesota burg, had had an eye on the gathering long before the Atlanta men organized. So Atlanta withdrew her invitation in favor of Duluth upon condition that the Building Owners and Managers come to Atlanta the following year. This convention probably represents more capital than any other convention that meets with the exception of the Bankers' association.

BIG MEETING CERTAIN AT TAFT HALL TONIGHT

Much Interest Felt in Atlanta Over Future of Western and Atlantic Railroad.

Possibility that Georgia will have to look forward to her future income from the Western and Atlantic railroad to relieve her financial stringency makes the problem of the road's future one of compelling interest to the entire state, and there is every indication that there will be a large attendance of Atlanta business men at the meeting called by the chamber of commerce at Taft hall tonight at 8 o'clock.

It is not the purpose of this meeting to seek to solve the problem of the future of this big state asset, nor anything like it. It will merely determine whether a state convention of business men would be wise and advisable at this time, for the purpose of considering the future of this property and offering suggestions to the legislature which must act upon it. On the program for brief speeches relative to the state road are Governor Joseph M. Brown, W. A. Wimlish, Homer Alay called by the chamber of commerce, Chairman C. M. Candler, of the state railroad commission. Following the discussion the question as to calling such a convention will be determined. Tax reforms are now being agitated and effort will be made at the coming session of the legislature to adopt some tax reform measure. But in the event this should fail, there is still one asset upon which Georgia can fall back and that is the Western and Atlantic railroad.

WARNER COUNTY MOVE IS STRONGLY OPPOSED

Judge Revell Says Representatives From Counties Involved Are United Against It.

Strong opposition has developed to the creation of Warner county with Manchester as county seat out of territory to be taken from Meriwether, Talbot and Harris counties, according to H. H. Revell, judge of the city court of Greenville, who was in the city yesterday.

Judge Revell said that there was a very strong sentiment against the creation of the new county in all three of the counties to be affected by the project, particularly in Meriwether. So strong was the feeling against it that the representatives from all of the counties concerned—Meriwether, Talbot and Harris—would vote against it when it came up in the house. "We are very much against any division of Meriwether county," said Judge Revell. "Ours is one of the proudest counties in the state, having produced three governors, besides justices of the supreme court and other men prominent in Georgia history. Of course, we claim Governor Simpson as he was born in our county. "I understand that there is an equally strong sentiment against the new county movement in the other counties concerned. The real purpose of the movement is to boost the value of real estate in Manchester. Outside of those financially concerned in it, the proposed county of Warner has little backing." Before he went on the bench, Judge Revell represented his county in the legislature.

Lyle-Harper Wedding Beautiful Social Event

The marriage of Miss Anne Lyle and Mr. Marion Harper was an event of social interest and picturesque in beauty, taking place last night at 8:30, at St. Mark Methodist church. A large congregation of friends witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by Bishop W. A. Candier, assisted by Dr. Hughlett.

Miss Martha Francis was maid of honor, Mr. Claude Doust was best man, and little Misses Margaret Wade and Mary Sue Prim, preceding the bride into the church, scattered rose petals in her path from their Marie Antoinette baskets.

Messrs. Mitchell King, William Schroeder, Henry Kennedy and Julius Leming were the ushers, and Mrs. Chas. E. Dowman, Jr., of Birmingham, a friend of the bride, played the wedding music at the organ.

The background for the bridal group was a luxurious massing of palms, in the midst of which were large white hydrangeas and each side were tall white vases of Easter lilies.

The bride, entering the church with her brother, Mr. E. C. Lyle, was beautiful in her wedding gown of white harmonie satin, and a veil of princess lace draped from a cap of the lace. Her train was of white satin and was draped with princess lace and embroidered in pearls, and the draperies were caught with orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet was of orchids and tall lilies.

The maid of honor wore pink brocade harmonie, trimmed with lace and ribbons, and her flowers were pink roses and valley lilies. The flower girls wore lace dresses with pink sashes. Mrs. E. C. Lyle wore white harmonie and rose-print lace. Mrs. J. R. Lyle, of Macon, wore yellow crepe net and princess lace. Mrs. C. B. Lyle, of Jonesboro, wore white crepe net and pearl embroidery. Mrs. W. J. Nalley, the bride's sister, wore pink harmonie.

A small reception was held at 9 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Lyle, on West Peachtree street, the guests including only the family party and a few close friends.

There the decorations were in pink and white flowers, against a profusion of foliage plants with amalia overhead. Sweet peas and roses filled the reception rooms, with their fragrance and beauty, and sweet peas and feverfew were used with effect in the dining room. A buffet supper was served, and the music of an orchestra was an enjoyable feature.

Presiding at the bunch bowls were Mrs. Julian Paine, Mrs. E. T. Wade, Mrs. R. K. Rambo and Mrs. Geo. Westmoreland.

Mr. and Mrs. Harper left at once for the east to sail this week for a three-months' tour abroad.

Mrs. Harper is a young woman who possesses the force of a distinctive personality, as well as social grace and charm, and she has become delightfully known in the social life during her brief residence in Atlanta. Mr. Harper is prominent in the business and the social world, president of the Marion Harper Cotton Oil company and a popular member of the clubs.

This festival was postponed from May 23 on account of the weather. All tickets sold for that date will be redeemed at this time. Proceeds to go towards the mance fund.

Arguments Are Completed.

Macon, Ga., June 18.—(Special).—The arguments in the injunction suit against the Georgia Life Insurance company, brought by three or four minor stockholders to prevent the company from reducing its capital stock to $300,000 and changing the name to the "Georgia Casualty company," were completed this afternoon. Judge Mathews has taken the matter under advisement. The company is asking $50,000 damages from the petitioning stockholders because of the damage they are alleged to have done to the business of the company.

CANDLER SCORES CARNEGIE'S GIFT

Characterizes Magnate as "Agnostic Steel Monger," Striving to "Denature Vanderbilt Medical School."

Following the offer of Andrew Carnegie to donate $1,000,000 to Vanderbilt university for the establishment of a medical school and the acceptance of this substantial donation by the board of trust, Bishop Candler has issued a statement in which he declares that the board acted with "inconsiderate haste," and characterizes Mr. Carnegie as an "aggressive and agnostic steel monger" who, in making the gift, is not impelled by philanthropic motives, but is "proposing at one blow to destroy the medical school of the Episcopallians and denature the medical school of the Methodists and raise on the ruins of both a Carnegieized establishment in his own image and likeness."

This caustic attack from Bishop Candler is provoked principally by the part of Mr. Carnegie's letter offering the money which reads as follows:

"I do not believe that it is wise for any sect to control educational institutions such as universities, whether the organization be a Methodist conference, or a Presbyterian assembly, or a Catholic order."

"For this reason, therefore, while I am anxious to make this gift, which would be of high value to the whole south, I hesitate to do so until the question of denominational control has been settled by the courts."

"I make the following proposition for your consideration: I will furnish the $200,000 cash now needed for the laboratories, and the remaining $800,000 shall remain in the hands of the Carnegie corporation in New York—interest at 4 per cent to be paid to the university for the use of the medical school until such time as the question of denominational control has been settled by the court, and then determined. Should this proposition be satisfactory to your board of trustees, I understand that the conditions agreed to in your letter of May 1, as to the size and constitution of the governing board of the medical school and the character of the school itself are also conditions of this gift."

"The objection to denominational control of colleges and universities is not the lack of any religious affiliation. It lies in the fact that such control by a single denomination rarely means religious development, but nearly always means that both education and religion are subordinated to the interests of the particular organization which is in control."

In reply to this proposal Bishop Candler says:

Bishop Candler's Answer.
"Now the dullest mind can see that Mr. Carnegie does not propose to give a penny to the Vanderbilt university, but to take something from it, to divide it into two parts, one of its departments, which is worth about $500,000."

"By the same process he may proceed to alienate all the other departments and put them under his little board, and constitute the more of the members of the board of trust did not perceive this patent fact, and protest against the acceptance of his offer. It would be just as appropriate for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals to demand the use of the gate receipts of a bull fight as for this gift to be accepted by a Christian institution."

"It appears also that the Episcopallians see in this affair an effort to destroy the proposed medical department of the University of the South. If they are correct in their opinion, Mr. Carnegie is proposing at one blow to destroy the medical school of the Episcopallians, and raise on the ruins of both a Carnegieized establishment in his own image and likeness."

"I cannot doubt that this impudent proposal of the aggressive and agnostic steel monger will be regarded by all denominations in the country, and incur the emphatic disapproval of all thinking men," says Bishop Candler. "This undignified attempt to disintegrate the University of the South is in keeping with the well fixed purpose of antagonism to church schools which Mr. Carnegie has pursued for a long time."

What Will Bishops Do?
To the question what will the bishops of the Methodist church do in the case of Bishop Candler's proposal, the bishops are common-law visitors to the trustees to a meeting of the visitors at the bishops' room in Nashville, no right to anticipate their decision, no right to have a little doubt about what it will be. The attempt to make it appear by a telegram sent from Nashville that Bishop Hoss only is concerning himself about the matter is as unjust to his colleagues as it is as to him. Bishop Hoss has done his duty, and he has had opportunities beyond most of the other bishops of rendering good service to the church in the case. But the attempt to make it appear that he is standing aloof is utterly without foundation. This effort to isolate Bishop Hoss from his colleagues before the public eye is sinister and unworthy. It lacks even the virtue of Carnegie's candor."

Bishop Hoss Protests.
Nashville, Tenn., June 18.—Bishop E. E. Hoss, who is here for the meeting of the Synod of Bishops of the Southern Methodist church, to take action on the protest of four members of the Vanderbilt university board of trust relative to accepting Andrew Carnegie's gift to the medical department of a million dollars, today issued the following statement: "The four trustees question the board's right to accept the conditions attached; question the fairness of the proposition toward Carnegie, with suit pending contesting the rights of the board of trust and allege that this is, in fact, giving away a department of the university. Bishop Hoss, in a statement, specifies two serious objections:

(1) The university does not get a dollar but gives away its medical department to a new governing board without restrictions.

(2) Mr. Carnegie makes no promise to give the $800,000 as endowment unless the trustees succeed in eliminating the church.

LUNCHEON AT MAJESTIC TO BOOST CORN SHOW

Speakers Declare Increase of Food Production in Georgia Must Be Encouraged.

The urgent necessity of pushing and extending the boys' corn club work as the solution of dangerous economic conditions in Georgia, was discussed at the chamber of commerce luncheon in the Majestic hotel yesterday. Wilmer L. Moore presided, and forty or more leading Atlanta business men were gathered around the table.

It was generally admitted that the boys' corn club movement was the greatest single influence in the right direction, and that the first and most practical way of meeting the situation would be to make the 1913 corn club contests and Georgia corn show the largest ever held. To that end committees will be appointed today, and an active campaign will be carried out to arouse interest and gain support.

Mansu's Record.
Mr. Moore introduced William H. Mansu, of Baltimore, vice president and general manager of the Southern Settlement and Development organization. Mr. Mansu was present as the guest of Robert F. Maddox. He said that the corn clubs were the most effective means within his knowledge for teaching crop diversification, soil development and soil fertility, and declared that Georgia could be made the center of the greatest corn growing belt in America.

"You have introduced here which we, of the northwest, never dreamed of," he declared. He said that instead of importing $170,000,000 worth of food products annually, Georgia ought to make enough for her own consumption and export great quantities, and that without diminishing the cotton crop.

Abused Cotton, Not Used It.
H. G. Hastings was the next speaker. He said that the present economic conditions in Georgia were wrong and dangerous; that it was an established fact that "one-crop" sections could be permanently prosperous. Mr. Hastings was applauded when he stated that 132 out of 147 counties had already been organized for corn club work this year, and that over 10,000 boys were already at work.

J. T. Holloman, president of the Georgia Agricultural Experiment Station, made a thoughtful analysis of present agricultural conditions in Georgia. Among other things, he said Georgia farmers seemed to have lost the knack of raising food products and animals, and this condition was made more serious by the purchase of the thousands for shipment to western ranches where they are fattened for market; this was like taking seed corn from the state.

"What are we going to do about it?" said Walter G. Cooper.

"That question is never asked in vain of men like this. The corn clubs have already proven effective. Last year they taught boys to raise an average of sixty bushels an acre, where their fathers had been raising fifteen bushels in the same land."

Mr. Cooper announced that committees would be appointed at once to arouse an active interest in the 1913 corn show.

ANSLEY PARK ANNEX AUCTION SALE TODAY

Twenty-Five Lots Will Be Disposed Of by Well-Known Agency.

One of the most interesting real estate auction sales that has been scheduled in Atlanta for several years is the sale by the Edwin P. Ansley agency of 25 lots in Ansley Park annex this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Ansley Park adjoins the well known Ansley Park subdivision on the north. For several months Mr. Ansley has had a big gang of workmen under his personal supervision grading the annex and making an up-to-date residence section of it.

The annex is continuation of the old park. Its history will be a repetition of the first. Why not? Built by the same man, on the same lines, in the same direction, for the same class of people.

This is the last word about the annex, for the reputation of the high-class residence section into which Ansley Park has developed is history—and history of which Atlanta is proud.

The lots to be sold this afternoon are only the shaded lots. They will go at 10 per cent cash and the balance in monthly payments of $25.

In the exciting campaign which Edwin Ansley has been conducting to market these lots, his broad-minded and unselfish boasting spirit has been such a feature as to amount to scarcely less than a sensation. Ed Ansley is primarily a booster, and a real estate man for the money that's in it second only.

Fire in Fitzgerald.
Fitzgerald, Ga., June 18.—(Special).—Another of Fitzgerald's landmarks was wiped out by fire early this morning. The building was a large 2-story frame structure built in the colony days by Professor Mackintosh to be used as a business college. It was then rented to families and for some time previous to the fire it has been unoccupied. The present owner, Colonel E. Cutts, held insurance of a thousand dollars on the property.

GUARANTEE TRUST PLAINTIFFS WIN

Judge Pendleton Decides Under Evidence Appointment of Receiver Should Be Ordered by Court.

One of the longest and most spirited legal fights ever conducted in the history of Fulton superior court, the case of Matthew Delaney et al. v. the Guarantee Trust and Banking company, terminated on yesterday in a victory for the plaintiffs, when Judge John T. Pendleton decided that under the evidence in the case the appointment of a receiver should be ordered by the court.

The trial of the case was entered into on May 5, the plaintiffs charging that the defendant company was insolvent, as the result of fraud and mismanagement, and the company contending that it was amply solvent and able to meet all outstanding obligations of every nature.

The petitioning plaintiffs were represented in the litigation by Messrs. Charles T. & L. C. Hopkins, Smith & Hastings, Hughes & Foster, Lamar Hall and Dornay, Brewster, Howell & Heyman, while the defendant company was represented by Rosser & Brandon, Tye, Peoples & Jordan and Napier, Wright & Wood.

The first aggressive step taken by counsel for the plaintiffs, after filing their petition in court, was to serve the defendant with a notice to produce all of its books, records and accounts and to cause the testimony of the president, secretary and chief bookkeeper of the company to be taken under oath before a commissioner at the instance of the plaintiffs, the stenographer's transcript of the testimony, which was produced into court, covering more than six hundred pages of closely typewritten words.

Pending the hearing of the evidence before Judge Pendleton a spirited controversy arose over the figures shown by the books and records of the company and upon the motion of plaintiffs' counsel the court appointed C. J. Metz an auditor to examine the records of the company and report his findings to the court within two weeks.

As the result of the report filed by the auditor plaintiffs' counsel contended that every allegation of their petition had been sustained and that the business of the former Guarantee Redemption company had, at a time that company was insolvent, been sold to the Guarantee Trust and Banking company for a bonus of $350,000, the greater part of which sum was paid to Sam E. Smith and H. S. Miles, president and secretary respectively, of the Guarantee Trust and Banking company.

Local Trust Violated.
Plaintiffs' counsel contended that the local trust imposed in the company by the terms of its contracts and by the provisions of the laws of Georgia had been flagrantly violated by the officers of the company, who had squandered its assets in speculative investments and in loans to the officers, directors, agents and employees of the company and their families, with the result that the company was hopelessly insolvent.

The opening arguments for the plaintiffs were presented by Charles T. Hopkins, and eloquent appeals in behalf of the company were delivered by Luther Rosser, Henry C. Peoples and George M. Napier, the concluding arguments of the petitioning plaintiffs being delivered by Albert Howell, Jr., on the conclusion of whose argument Judge Pendleton delivered his decision, sustaining the contentions of the plaintiffs and ordering the appointment of a receiver.

The decision of Judge Pendleton declared that, under the evidence, the officers of the company had been guilty of violating the trust relations imposed by its contracts and by the laws of Georgia, and that the company was unable to meet the needs of solvency fixed by the statutes of the state and was insolvent.

Counsel for the defendant company gave notice of their intention to appeal from the decision to the supreme court of Georgia, and Judge Pendleton requested counsel to confer and endeavor to agree upon the terms of the restraining order of supersedeas pending the appeal, in the meantime directing the company to make no change in the status of its condition.

Dies of Hydrophobia.
Vaidosta, Ga., June 18.—(Special).—Prompt administration of the Pasteur treatment failed to save the life of Tommyboy Jackson, a young negro, who was bitten by a mad dog in this city four weeks ago. The lad developed hydrophobia three weeks after he was bitten and died in agony yesterday.

The young son of A. Gailivensky, a Jewish merchant, who was bitten at the same time by the dog which attacked the negro, has so far shown no symptoms of hydrophobia, and it is believed that the treatment was successful in his case.

LONG STRIDE TAKEN TOWARD PURER MILK

Atlanta Dairymen's Association Practically Accepts Proposed Rules of Medical Society.

A good, long stride toward purer milk for Atlanta was taken yesterday when the Atlanta Dairymen's association met at the auditorium and practically agreed upon the acceptance of the rules laid down by the milk commission upon the purification of milk placed upon the Atlanta market, or creating a standard of purity for this milk to be known as "certified milk."

The fulfilling of the rules of the milk commission is not to be incumbent upon the dairymen by law, but is to be entered into by them voluntarily in a "contract of honor" with the milk commission, whereby the commission guarantees to place its brand of approval upon the milk of such dairymen as comply with their suggestions.

Sanitary Methods.
The rules submitted by Dr. L. B. Clarke, secretary of the milk commission, Wednesday were suggestions as to sanitary methods of the production and marketing of milk.

Except for the minor detail of two deliveries per day instead of one during the summer months, these rules were met with the approval of the dairymen.

It is conceded by both the milk commission and the dairymen, however, that little progress toward the production of the public health from germs in milk can be made without the cooperation of the public itself. To the encouragement of this end, the dairymen will have cards printed with brief instruction as to the care of milk kept in the homes, and circulated among their customers. Meanwhile, the milk comers will carry on this work by circulars, lectures and newspaper publicity.

Two Bills to Legislature.
Two bills will probably go before the next legislature as a result of Wednesday's dairymen's meeting. One of these will be for the passage of a law legalizing "certified milk." This law does not consider the matter of enforcing the rules laid down by the milk commission, but is designed merely to place the state's official approval upon milk produced and marketed under these rules.

A second measure, which will be brought to the attention of the legislature, through the legislative committee of the dairymen's organization, is a measure looking to the reimbursement of such dairymen as may lose cows by condemnation on the part of the state for tuberculosis.

City Council Enjoined.
Macon, Ga., June 18.—(Special).—Judge Mathews in the superior court today enjoined the city council from interfering with Patrick Cronin in the operation of his near-beer saloon, until a hearing can be held on July 4.

Cronin was convicted in the city court about ten days ago of violating the state prohibition law and council immediately revoked his license. Last night his attorney, John R. Cooper, asked council to rescind action until the court of appeals passed on the case, but council refused and today Mr. Cooper applied for an obtained the injunction. Attorney Cooper is to test the validity of the ordinance which gives council the power to revoke a near-beer dealer's license and there is considerable interest here in the outcome.

ECZEMA BROKE OUT ON FACE AND NECK

In Small Pimples, Much Disfigured in Looks. Hair Fell Out, Itched and Burned Continually. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Tylertown, Miss.—"When our baby was about four months of age she was affected with a breaking out on her face, neck and all around the edge of her hair and also up on the back of her head and around her ears. It first started behind her ears breaking out in small pimples. These would run together making continuous sores, while more pimples would form, nor did the first sores show any sign of healing. She was very much disfigured in looks, and her hair fell out. She itched and cried with this trouble almost all the time. It appeared to itch and burn where the eruption was thickest continually. I was told it was infantile eczema. One day I noticed an advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and wrote for a sample. I began using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment twice daily according to directions and the baby was entirely cured in less time than you would expect."

"When I recovered from typhoid fever my scalp began a dreadful itching and my hair began coming out in big waves. When my hair had more than half come out I thought of Cuticura Soap and commenced to shampoo with that. Now my hair is so thick I can scarcely run a comb through it." (Signed) Mrs. W. J. Costen, May 15, 1912.

Cuticura Soap 25c. and Cuticura Ointment 50c. are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

Big Day Today.

ATLANTA will today be presented with the handsome silver trophy won on the opening game of the season when the local fans paid their way into the park at Ponce de Leon in larger numbers than in any other city in the league. The presentation will be made by Judge William M. Kavanaugh, president of the Southern League, who will make his first visit to Atlanta in some time.

Attendance Mark.

ATLANTA won this trophy under any but bright circumstances, the weather being cold and rain on that date. But it behooves local fans to get out in large numbers to the game today. There is another contest at stake. The Barons are battling for the pennant raising day they showed 3,207 paid admissions. The Crackers must beat this today or Savannah will have a lot of fun at the expense of the Gate City of the south. If you are planning on attending a game in the Birmingham series, make today the day.

Are Slipping.

THE GULLS are showing signs of slipping. Including the doubleheader with the Montgomery Billikins on Tuesday, of the last twelve games played the Gulls have dropped eight of them. At this rate of slipping it will not be long before the Gulls at Atlanta and Montgomery will catch them at the rate these three times are now traveling. At that the Gulls have been lucky that they have been in the lead as long as they have. But they proved on Tuesday that winning streaks are in the main a matter of mind. They believed they could win, they became possessed of this one thought and this confidence brought them out in front in many a hard fought battle.

Another Race.

THE PENNANT race is not all that gives promise of being a hectic scrap to the fans. The race for the batting leadership is being won by Tommy Long setting the pace at the present writing. Dave Robertson as runnerup and Kid Kiberfeld right behind him. Sloan, of Montgomery; Welchance, of Atlanta; Kniseley, of Birmingham; and Charlie, of Atlanta, are all within easy striking distance of the lead. These seven men give promise of fighting it out along these lines all summer.

Are Strengthening.

THE VOLKS and the Lookouts are still strengthening. The former have added a pitcher to their staff, Red Nelson, former of Philly and Chicago, having just been signed. He will probably take the place of the youngster Lys, Chattanooga has just taken on Fitzgerald, a catcher of experience, to assist Gabby Street in his arduous duties.

Good Causes.

PRESS dispatches state that Hughie Jennings has become so worried over the poor showing of the Tigers that he is in a nervous breakdown. The playing of the Tigers has been enough to make any manager worry. But Jennings ought to smile and think of Frank Chance. The peerless leader is the man who should worry.

After Teammate.

DAN MOELLER, the Washington speed merchant is the who who is going to worry Zeb Mehan the most in the race for the stolen base honors in the American league. Moeller's shoulder has mended completely and the speedy outfielder is giving his teammate a close run every day now. The fact that these two are going to be so keen that the team is sure to be benefitted in their race, as both men will take long chances on the sacks. Recklessness on the bases proves successful many a time.

Don't Do It.

CONNIE MACK, the sage of Quaker-town, has slipped a quiet little tip to Brooklyn gambler. Elated over the showing of his team, the Dodger fans are about to buy Jake Daubert an automobile. Connie's tip is to wait until the end of the season. "Too many autos wrecked the Athletics in 1917," is his caustic comment. Connie ought to know.

A Lawyer Now.

COACH CUNNINGHAM, of the University of Georgia, is now a full-fledged lawyer. This former complete adobe football star graduated with a degree of bachelor of laws at the commencement Wednesday, receiving his diploma. He will finish out his course by attendance at the Columbia university summer school.

Off on Jaunt.

IF THE CRACKERS can make a clean sweep of the Birmingham series which begins today, they will be well fortified for their second jaunt around the circuit, which starts with the game Sunday in New Orleans. The locals ought to make a better showing this time for they are imbued with the winning idea and they will be harder to down this trip.

Long Wallops Feature Draw Contest

See-Saw Game Ends in a Tie; Home Runs Feature Contest; Dent Should Have Won

By Dick Jemison. The Albion and Crackers went to the mat for the third time Wednesday afternoon, and the umpires called the end of the ninth inning on account of darkness the count stood three all.

Delayed thirty minutes in starting by the sudden thunderstorm that broke over the city, early innings were out when the ninth session was completed. Had it been clear the team could have continued to play, but in the cloudy, mucky twilight activities were properly suspended when they were.

The teams played alternately good ball and bad ball. Every variety of the great national pastime was crowded into the nine sessions, though on merit alone the Crackers ought to have gone through with the victory.

Ellott Dent twirled for the Crackers, and, though touched up for nine innings, he kept seven of them so widely scattered that no runs resulted and not a Vol reached the keystone. The other two were circuit smashes, one of them the luckiest that has ever been pulled on the local field.

The big fellow was cool throughout the battle, and hurled an article of ball that will win nine games in every ten that he twirls. Schwartz, who was all in the world that brought home a tie game for his club.

Kid Williams, the Vols' sensational southpaw, twirled the brand of ball that has made him so feared for seven innings. For the first time in his career he was unable to get a man to first base. In the fifth he walked two men. And in the sixth he allowed his first hit. In the seventh he was pounded hard, while he was routed in the eighth.

Home Runs Figure. Home runs scored two of the three runs that each side made. The Crackers counted their third on a clear hit on an error.

Door coaching on the third base line in the eighth, coupled with a great throw to the plate by Callahan, made it possible for the Vols to get a man in the ninth. Bailey ought to have been held on third base. Cal was not very deep when he picked up the throw, and he's got one of the best arms in this league.

A peculiar incident was noted during the game. Of the first nine men to face him, six of them went out to the catcher, either on strike-outs or on fouls.

Although the Vols got hits starting the first four innings, they to the advanced base always forced the batter and not a man reached the keystone though five hits were registered.

The Vols' first run was a fluke. In the fifth, Goalby smashed at himself to take the ball on the first bounce. It struck just in front of him, took a wild bound and went fifteen feet over his head for a clean home run.

With Williams going the way he was, the Vols' victory for the Vols, but the Crackers had not been properly sited and the lucky seventh had not arrived.

Smith and Blinnard. With one gone in this session, Wallop Smith poked a long, high line drive to worry Zeb Mehan the most in the race for the stolen base honors in the American league.

Wallop Hits, Then Errors. Wallop Smith cracked one down the first base line that handuffed Bill Williams and Volkel's center fielder and kept up the good work by poling one to center, but Butler was foolishly run on in home and Callahan's five peg got him easily.

The Vols tied it in the ninth. Lindsay got a free hitker and as sacrified down by Goalby. Gibson hit Smith. Wallop made a great pick up, but Lindsay worried him starting towards third and he hurried the play, throwing over Agler's head. Lindsay counted.

The Crackers made a bid in their half. With one gone, Robb battled for Dent and singled to right. Price was put in to run for him and Long singled to left. Welchance forced Long at second, then stole.

With Alpermann up, the Crackers' chances looked fine, but Gibson made a great running catch up against the stand, a foul, falling to the ground hard, but clinging on to the ball.

Play Is Progressing Rapidly in the Georgia State Tennis Championship at Piedmont Driving Club.

After one hour of play the singles and doubles in the Georgia state tennis championships are rapidly nearing the finals, in which practically the same men who have struggled in previous years for the title will meet again.

The rain during the afternoon stopped play for about an hour, but after it was over the courts were in better conditions than before, and the matches were continued.

Series of great surprise of the day was dished out when in the doubles, Grant and Thornton disposed of Orr and Ramspeck in rather easy fashion 6-1, 6-2.

Although Grant and Thornton conceded a slight edge in the match to the local team, an allegation that such an easy time, as only the day before, in a practice match, the score was 4-4 in games when they stopped.

Thornton in Form. Thornton played in old-time form in this match, his volley strokes and cross-court shots being especially effective. Orr also did some pretty work in driving and placing his shots.

In the singles Williams sprang a surprise by forcing Carlton Smith into a duce set before he finally got over him 7-5. The next set proved a trifling affair, Smith defeating his opponent 6-3.

In one of the closest matches of the tournament H. J. Hall defeated A. W. Smith 8-6, 5-4. Hall put up several pretty plays throughout the match, and had his serve working in especially fine shape.

The following are the results of yesterday's play: MEN'S SINGLES. Second Round. A. W. Smith defeated Tom Wilson 6-3, 6-3.

H. J. Hall defeated Sam Williams by default. Third Round. H. J. Hall defeated A. W. Smith 8-6, 6-4.

G. A. Howell defeated Draper 6-3, 6-3. Mansfield defeated Fleet 6-1, 6-3. C. Y. Smith defeated T. M. Williams 7-5, 6-2.

Mansfield and Smith defeated Porter and Matthews 6-3, 8-6. Grant and Thornton defeated Orr and Ramspeck 6-1, 6-2.

W. C. Matthews defeated Nunnally 6-2, 6-4. Martin defeated H. J. Hall by default. Tom Wilson defeated Martin 6-3, 6-3.

Today's matches pulled off in the mixed doubles, but this will be resumed in this afternoon. TODAY'S SCHEDULE. Men's Singles 10 A. M. C. Y. Smith v. Winner G. A. Howell.

R. M. Grant v. Mansfield to complete unfinished match which now stands 1-1 in sets. E. V. Carter, Jr. v. winner, Grant-Mansfield match.

Men's Doubles. A. W. Smith and Draper v. Colquhoun and Clark. Consolation II A. M. A. Clarke v. Sins.

Jennings v. E. R. Black, Jr. J. K. Orr, Jr. v. Colquhoun. Hallman v. Scott.

Play in the men's singles will be continuing throughout the day, and the finals in singles will start at 4 o'clock. The mixed doubles will also start during the afternoon.

Judge Kavanaugh Presents Attendance Trophy Today; Barons Play the Crackers

The Birmingham Barons of Carleton Moleworth will make their second appearance of the season at Ponce de Leon park this afternoon and for the remainder of the week.

There will be some new faces in the line-up this trip. Kniseley, pronounced like it was spelled n-i-c-e-l-y, will be seen in the middle mound place of Dan Senno who vacated there on the last trip.

McDonald, a hard-hitting infielder, is coveting on the hot corner, vice Carroll, the peppery utility man, who is holding down the assistance roles, vice Herndon, the Atlanta boy, released to stay in the Sally league.

The Barons and the Crackers have engaged in eleven games this season, four in Atlanta and seven at Rickwood field. On the local lot, Clinton Frough, the big right-hander, won the only game they played in the Birmingham series. He won one of the two games in Birmingham and Bill Foxen took the other.

Foxen will probably be the pitcher that the Crackers will have to face in the opening battle this afternoon, with Mayer behind the bat.

Paul Musser will, no doubt, be the selection of Manager Smith, with Harry Chapman handling his slants.

These battles, the fans have every reason to look forward to a warm battle. Foxen would rather beat the Crackers than any other team he faces, by reason of the insinuation that he hid down when he was a member of the local team, an allegation that the big southpaw hotly denies.

Today will be "trophy day" at the park. The handsome silver loving cup that the Crackers won by having the largest paid attendance the opening game of the season will be officially turned over to the locals this afternoon.

Kavanaugh Here. Judge William M. Kavanaugh, president of the Southern league, will make the presentation. Manager Billy Smith will receive the trophy on behalf of the local club.

The presentation will be made just before the starting of the game, at the home plate, with the players gathered around the plate. The ceremonies will be simple and short, and the game will proceed immediately thereafter.

The Fifth Regiment band has been engaged by the local club for the day. It will parade the business section of the city just before the game and will furnish music throughout the pastime.

There is a little sidelight in this connection. Atlanta and Birmingham, the two foremost contestants for the opening day trophy, are having another little attendance battle all their own.

The Barons gave the Crackers a game-raising day in Birmingham and 3,207 paid admissions were registered at the turnstiles, when the flag was unfurled to the breeze on the new steel flag pole at Rickwood field.

The Barons are given trophy day because they come from the local fans are going to endeavor to beat their 3,207 figure this afternoon. Despite the apparent ease with which it looks like this mark can be bettered, it behooves local fandom to begin themselves.

Three thousand, two hundred and seven paid admissions is an excellent week-day attendance in the Southern league, and to sit back and believe that they can beat this without a try would be folly on the part of local fandom. It will take some effort. No ordinary week-day crowd can turn the trick.

Go Out Today. If you are planning to see the Barons play the Crackers in one of the games of the present series, choose today to go. You will kill two birds with one stone. You'll probably see the best game of the series, witness a cup presentation and slip another one over on Birmingham.

The probable batting order of the two teams is as follows: Birmingham. . . . . Atlanta. . . . .

Major, 2b. . . . . Long, lf. . . . . Messenger, rf. . . . . Welchance, cf. . . . . McDonald, 3b. . . . . Alpermann, 2b. . . . . Kniseley, cf. . . . . Bailey, rf. . . . . McEhrle, lf. . . . . Several of the Atlanta Players Are Planning to Go to New Orleans Monday. By Hal Reynolds. At the Southern tennis meet, which is to begin play the coming Monday in New Orleans, will be found quite a number of the local cracker who will try to duplicate last year's feat of bringing both the singles and double championships to this city.

Among the players who will try their skill on the New Orleans courts will be found B. M. Grant, Dr. Nat Thornton, Charles A. Sisson, E. S. Mansfield and C. Y. Smith, who will be present to defend the title which he won on the East Lake courts last year.

The Southern meet for the past seven years has been held on the courts of the local Athletic club. It is to be regretted that the club did not capture the event this year, as the coming meet looms up as a much larger one than those which have been staged in former years.

The local team in doubles, composed of Smith and Thornton, which easily won the tourney last year, will not be together in this year's meet. Smith will enter the doubles with Mansfield as his partner.

RECORDS WILL GO SATURDAY NIGHT

Faster Machines Are Imported for Local Meet—Imported Cornered Rivalry Exists. Prince to Nashville.

For the express purpose of putting a kink in "Tex" Richards' string of victories, Morty Graves, the "millionaire kid" of Los Angeles, has a fast motorcycle coming by express from Chicago. He isn't saying much about it, except that he has trailed long enough.

Graves is a man of means, heir to a keg of money. He rides for the delight of the thing. He is the richest man today, who makes it a regular practice of risking his neck on the board tracks.

His machine here has not proved fast. So he has sent for another—an Excelsior. And he it knows that these machines hold most of the world's records, including the mile in 36 seconds, or 100 miles an hour.

The races are to be held Saturday night and not Friday night as announced. W. G. Graves on his Excelsior, Jock McNeill on a Jap and the Indian 23 in good running order again, Richards must look to his laurels Saturday night. When these three meet the record for the local motordrome, which approaches 99 miles an hour, is sure to be bettered.

Jack Prince leaves after the races Saturday night for Nashville to start the creation of a motordrome there. If present plans go through he will have a southern circuit of five cities, with the best riders in the world making the circuit.

COTTON UNSETTLED CLOSED AT DECLINE

Bearish View of Weather Conditions Caused Some Realizing.

New York, June 18.—The cotton market was rather less active today, and appeared to be somewhat unsettled, with prices easing off under realizing or scattered selling, which seemed to come partly from southern sources. The close was steady, but at a net decline of 4 to 14 points.

Offerings were well taken at the decline, owing to continued support from local bulls and covering by old shorts, however, and after a close of Liverpool had shut out arbitrage selling, prices rallied to within a point or two of last night's closing figures.

MINISTERS DEFEND PERSONAL HONESTY

David Lloyd-George and Sir Rufus Isaacs Arraigned in Commons for the Marconi Scandal.

London, June 18.—For the first time in many years British cabinet ministers were compelled today to defend their personal honesty before parliament. The attorney general, Sir Rufus Isaacs, and the chancellor of the exchequer, David Lloyd-George, excused their dealings in American Marconi shares on the floor of the house and the scene in the Marconi affair which their enemies had tampered to magnify into a scandal rivaling the Panama debacle, was tense and dramatic.

The two ministers admitted that they had acted thoughtlessly and mistakenly, although without dishonestly. They regretted their failure to divulge all the facts when they made their denials to the house last October by buying English Marconi shares.

Having finished their defense in reference to the transaction, the two ministers were left to discuss their conduct without the embarrassment of their presence, they walked from the chamber together. A great cheer from their partisans followed them.

Spiked Guns of Opponents.

The resolution introduced by George Cave, unionist, in behalf of the opposition, which brought about the debate, went no further than to express the regret of the house at the transactions of the ministers and the lack of frankness displayed towards the house.

By expressing their regret, thereby agreeing with the resolution, the two ministers avoided the guns of their bitterest opponents, who regarded the case as an opportunity to make political capital.

This comparatively tame ending to the result of a race between the party leaders to protect the good name of the parliament. The liberals were threatening, if attacked unreasonably, to resurrect all the buried shortcomings of the cabinet ministers from the most forgotten graves.

Two more different types than the ministers practically before the bar of the house could not be imagined—Sir Isaacs, with clear, sharply cut, aristocratic features, and the low-toned, earnest voice of the priest; David Lloyd-George, whom aristocrats look upon contemptuously as "the Welsh solicitor" and as always theatrical and emotional.

The attorney general's statement was like that of a judge. He emphasized his desire to take all responsibility for tampering the chancellor, the exchequer and Lord Murray, of Ellbank, into the affair.

Lloyd-George Denounces Journalists.

Chancellor Lloyd-George could not refrain from denouncing the journalists who had spread rumors of corruption and had exploded the deadly afterdamp remains and the noxious fumes are poisoning the blood of the people now engaged in considering the charge.

"I am conscious of having done nothing to bring any stain on the honor of the ministers of the crown. If you will, I acted thoughtlessly, I acted carelessly, I acted mistakenly, but I acted honestly, openly, honestly. That is why I am content to place myself with confidence in the hands not merely of my political friends, but of all the members of this great assembly."

After the two ministers had retired Lord Robert Cecil, who had made the minority report of the investigating committee censuring the ministers, caused a small sensation by replying to Chancellor Lloyd-George's charges. He tried to make the case against the ministers as bad as possible, saying:

"If I wished I could have made a really damning report, I could have said a great many more things, and I am quite ready to tell my member, privately of some things I reflected because I did not consider that the evidence justified me in putting them before the country."

Defied Him to State Them.
Leo Chiozza Money, liberal, shouted: "You ought to state them."
Lord Robert Cecil replied: "I do not think it fair to state in public things which there is not enough evidence to justify."

Stanley Owen Buckmaster, liberal, moved as an amendment that the house should express its repudiation of the false charges.

Labor's Support Is Pledged To Equal Suffrage Movement

Great enthusiasm was shown at the meeting of the Atlanta Equal Suffrage association yesterday afternoon in Carnegie library. Labor leaders, lawyers, ministers and newspaper men pledged support to the Georgia suffragists, and the men outnumbered the women on the speakers' program. Mrs. A. K. Woodall presided.

President Marks, of the Georgia Federation of Labor, pledged the support of that body to the cause of woman suffrage. Inviting the suffragists to attend the labor meetings and present their cause, Louis F. Marquardt, chairman of the organization committee of the Atlanta Federation, delivered a stirring address.

Labor Backs Women's Rights.

"Labor stands behind you women in the fight for equal suffrage. Your organization, as ours, stands for the same kind of measures. Our chief motto is that we have scattered our energies in the past, urging the passage of too many good bills, instead of concentrating on the best ones. Prolonged applause greeted his declaration for a 'real child labor law,' declaring the present one is nowhere near drastic enough for its name, who appreciates the welfare of children. Compulsory education and free school books were also urged by labor representatives, and the employers' liability bill was heartily endorsed.

J. L. Gillett advanced reasons why all men should favor equal suffrage. Mrs. Mary L. McLendon, president of the Georgia division of the National Equal Suffrage association, was a leading figure at the suffrage meeting. Her rising tribute to organized labor met with the warm approval of an appreciative audience. Mrs. McLendon spoke in glowing terms of the attitude of the press towards women's rights and urged resolutions, which were adopted, expressing a special appreciation of the broad stand taken by the Constitution in the creation of a special suffrage department.

AT THE THEATERS.

"The Duke of Durham."

(At the Bijou.)
Large audiences witnessed the three performances of "The Duke of Durham" yesterday at the Duke and the popularity of musical comedy tabloid is assured fact, and as long as the Bijou continues to offer such clever shows at bargain prices there will be no falling off in the splendid clientele of this house.

During the week matinees will be given every afternoon at 3 o'clock and the night performances will begin at 7:30 and 9.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forrest.)
Again on Wednesday night the Forrest was packed, simply because the Keith vaudeville bill at the busy theater this week is one of the most delightful combinations of real variety that has been seen in Atlanta. Bud Fishback's singing, comedy and talk, of course, a feature and there is all kinds of interest in watching just how the famous cartoonist makes the characters that are so well known all over the world. Paulina Welch has scored a real personal hit with a delightful line of songs and a charming personality.

Photo Drama.

(At the Grand.)
History, romance and tragedy are blended into one awe inspiring and thrilling ensemble in George Klein's photo drama reproduction of Henry Sienkiewicz's justly celebrated story, "Quo Vadis," which is being presented at the Grand theater nightly.

This is the most marvelous achievement in photo drama and has created a sensation at the Astor theater in New York city and at Chicago, Philadelphia and Baltimore, where the picture are being presented to enormous crowds at every performance. For scope, magnitude, extravagant splendor and liberality, these pictures have never been equalled and they carry with them an appeal to every community.

representing the city of London, denied that the minority report was biased.

The Right Rev. Hon. H. L. Samuel, postmaster general, whose name was linked with those of the attorney general and the chancellor of the exchequer in the earlier newspaper stories, repeated his denials of any dealings in Marconi shares.

Interest focused in the closing speeches of Premier Ashurst and Sir Edward Grey, secretary for foreign affairs, tomorrow.

COTTON SEED SUPPLY ALLOTTED BY "TRUST"

Guthrie, Okla., June 18.—O. Brown, formerly a bookkeeper in the employ of the W. H. Coyle company, whose president, W. H. Coyle, is on trial here charged with forming a cotton "pool," testified today that it was true that the cotton raising districts of the state of Oklahoma had been divided into territories for the purpose of controlling the cotton seed supply and that a certain tonnage of seed was apportioned to all mills in Tennessee, Arkansas, Missouri and Illinois to keep them out of this territory. This was accomplished, said Brown, through the operations of the "Sons of Plato," as the alleged "trust" at its formation was known, and of the New States Brokerage company. Brown testified that the brokerage company was organized to continue the work of the "Sons."

VICTOR H. OLMSTEAD SUSPENDED BY HOUSTON

Charged Statistics Bureau of Agriculture Department Has Been Badly Conducted.

Washington, June 18.—Victor H. Olmstead, chief of the bureau of statistics of the department of agriculture, was suspended today by Secretary Houston pending an inquiry into charges of lack of discipline and poor administration in the bureau.

It was officially stated that there was no suspicion of leaks in crop reports similar to the famous "cotton leak" a few years ago which resulted in a complete overhauling of the office. Numerous complaints of favoritism, resulting in dissatisfaction, confusion and inability to maintain proper discipline led to the charges, it was said.

The solicitor of the department already has started an investigation and to avoid any suggestion of collusion, Secretary Houston decided it would be better for Mr. Olmstead to be out of the office during the inquiry.

The investigation is likely to result, it was suggested by an official, in the transfer of the entire bureau of statistics to the census bureau.

Some changes already had been made as a result of the complaints which led to today's action, but these, it was said, had only accentuated the general dissatisfaction at the chief's administrative methods.

15,000 MEN TO STRIKE IN THE COAL FIELDS

Another Great Labor Disturbance to Begin in West Virginia.

Charleston, W. Va., June 18.—A general strike of miners in the New River coal field, District No. 28, United Mine Workers of America, will be called next week, according to an announcement tonight of Thomas Haggerty, member of the International Miners' Board. Fifteen thousand men are employed in the New River field.

The decision to call a general strike was reached today at Beckley, W. Va. Mr. Haggerty attended the meeting and returned here tonight.

Whether 15,000 miners will be idle depends, it is said, upon what concessions may be granted by the operators. It is believed that some of the operators within the next few days will grant terms agreeable to their employees. In all such instances, it is intimated, such operators will be protected when the strike comes. The miners, it is said, are restless and on the verge of organizing a walk-out. It is rumored the New River operators are in conference late tonight.

A strike in the New River field is expected to result in a renewal of the strike on Cabin and Paint Creeks, where an attempt was made at meetings of miners to call a strike last Sunday.
