

SWEARS FRANK KNEW GIRL

'Plant' Charged By State Against Newt Lee

ARTIST'S SKETCH OF FRANK AND HIS WIFE IN THE COURTROOM

The prisoner and his wife are the center of all eyes. Mrs. Frank is at her husband's side throughout every session.

They are unmindful of the gaze of the curious, and converse frequently—with satisfaction on the case.

Mrs. Frank at times turns a withering glance toward the prosecutor's table.

BILL HITS BANKS TRYING TO STIR PANIC FEAR

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Senator Lewis introduced a resolution in the Senate to-day authorizing Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo to withdraw Government deposits from all banks which he believes are in a conspiracy to "intimidate Congress and terrorize the citizens of the United States through inciting fear of a panic" and "which have falsely depressed securities of the United States and discredited the bonds of the United States Government."

The Secretary is further authorized to suspend all the privileges enjoyed by said banks and to withdraw their charter.

Senator Stone charged the Republicans with attempting to create a financial panic in the country by pessimistic speeches in the Senate which were circulated throughout the country and had the effect of making people fear that hard times were coming.

Senator Clark, of Wyoming and Kenyon, of Iowa, vigorously denied Stone's charge and said the trouble was due to the effects of President Wilson, Secretary of Commerce Redfield, and Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo to force a new economic policy on the country which the country does not want.

Frank sits calmly with his arms akimbo, seldom changing his position as the hours pass.

John D.'s Son-in-Law Speeds 29 Miles to Office in Flying Boat

CHICAGO, July 30.—Harold F. McCormick, millionaire sportsman and son-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, made a successful flight in his flying boat to-day from his home in Lakecrest to Grant Park.

He followed the shore line of Lake Michigan during the 15-mile journey. Mr. McCormick announced he would fly from his suburban home to his office every morning if the weather permitted. On the trip to-day he was accompanied by Aviator Charles C. Witmer.

Starting at McCormick's private harbor, the machine was driven several hundred feet into the air about 200 yards from the shore. McCormick maintained a speed of about 70 miles an hour, covering the 29 miles to Grant Park in 25 minutes. He made a perfect landing and walked half a block to his office.

Plan to Strip City Council of Powers

JACKSONVILLE, July 30.—A special committee of the Central Civic Committee will meet next Wednesday evening to draw up a new city charter along commission lines.

The law will not permit of abolishment of the City Council, but an effort will be made to strip that body of its powers.

Rescinds $1,000,000 Assessment Income

JACKSONVILLE, July 30.—After raising the valuation of business property in this city $1,000,000 while sitting as an equalization board, the County Commissioners met again this morning and rescinded their action.

The figures given in the Assessors' books were accepted as correct.

DYING GIRL IS FREED BY SLATON

Delicate and frail as a result of an operation for appendicitis and a victim of tuberculosis, Jack Davis, a 20-year-old girl prisoner in the Savannah county jail Wednesday morning received a pardon from Governor John M. Slaton.

The girl was convicted on the charge of vagrancy in Chatham County in May and sentenced to six months in jail upon failure to pay the fine of

PHAGAN CASE RIVALED IN DALLAS

DALLAS, TEXAS, July 30.—After hours of the most thorough investigation the police of Dallas to-day admitted that they were no nearer a solution of the city's worst murder mystery than they were when the body of Florence Brown was found in the office where she was employed.

A pearl button, evidently from a man's shirt, found lying in a pool of blood was the only tangible clue in the possession of the police. Wax impressions of the finger marks in the girl's flesh were taken. The detectives on the case have gone over the scene of the crime a dozen times and have compiled a complete history of the young stenographer's life without result.

Left Her Home in Auto.

Miss Brown left her home at 8 o'clock Monday morning. S. B. Cuthbertson, an employee of the real estate firm employing her, called for her in his automobile. Leaving Miss Brown at the office, Cuthbertson went on to the courthouse, where he spent less than 35 minutes transacting business. When he returned to the office, Miss Brown was not at her desk, but the other employees of the firm had not noticed her absence.

G. W. Swor, manager of the rental department, entered the lavatory and came upon the girl's body lying in a pool of blood. She had been dead only a short time, and there were evidences of a desperate fight waged by the girl against her slayer.

Rings Torn From Fingers.

Blood was on the wall and the girl's throat was cut. Marks on her left arm showed where strong teeth had met in the flesh. Two rings were torn from her fingers. A blood-covered hammer was found. The sharp instrument that cut her throat was not found. The murderer apparently left the office in haste, although he stopped to wash his hands of the girl's blood.

Search began to-day for a woman suspect. The police said the scratches and teeth marks on the girl's arm were not made by a man, but that they were the marks made by a woman fighting.

The last of the 25 white men taken into custody as suspects were released to-day.

A new development disclosed by to-day's investigation related Miss Brown's activity in unearthing crookedness in the management of part of the real estate firm's business during the absence of Miss Brown's uncle, a member of the firm.

Boy in Knee Pants Jailed as Slayer

VALDOSTA, July 30.—Henry Miller, a boy in knee trousers, is to-day in jail here charged with the murder of Walker Smith at Melrose, last night. Miller, it is alleged, stabbed Smith to the heart with a barlow knife, Smith dying in a few minutes.

Miller and Smith were employed at the turpentine distillery of W. M. Miller, brother of the alleged slayer. Smith had charge of the mules and objected to Miller riding one of them. A quarrel followed. The dead man was 23 years old. He left a wife and two children.

16-Year-Old Boy On Trial for Slaying

GAINESVILLE, GA., July 30.—Barlow Cantrell, 16 years old, to-day is being tried for the murder of Arthur Hawkins on May 27. He first decided to plead guilty and said his brother, Jim Cantrell, hired him to kill Hawkins. Jim Cantrell has been found guilty of murder without recommendation.

Mrs. Silva Hawkins, wife of the murdered man, has not yet been tried. Jim Cantrell is likely to be the first white man to be hanged in Hall County.

Judge Roan Denies Attorneys Right To Remove Coats

"If I allow the lawyers to take their coats off during this trial, I am afraid we will never get through," said Judge Roan in refusing to allow the attorneys the privilege he had allowed the newspaper men gathered around the press table. Even some of the spectators in the row of seats outside the railing have shown their disregard of the dignity of the court by removing their coats.

"It is so unnatural for a lawyer to take off his coat while in court that I am afraid they would get too comfortable if I should—so comfortable that this case would be a long time reaching the end. Now, newspaper reporters are so used to slipping out of things that they just naturally slip out of their coats, anyway."

$1,000,000 in Bonds Voted for Roadways

TAMPA, July 30.—By a majority of 2,169 in a total vote of about 3,100, with three small precincts missing, Hillsborough County, of which this city is the county seat, voted yesterday to issue $1,000,000 of bonds for brick roads.

About 60 miles of roads will be built reaching the county line in four directions and along other routes laid out in advance by the County Commissioners. This means a continuous line of brick roads from Tampa to Jacksonville in three years, for several other counties will bond to build roads to connect those of Hillsborough and Duval Counties.

Florida Shippers Get Rate Hearings

JACKSONVILLE, July 30.—Friday afternoon there will be a hearing in this city for the purpose of discussing the raising of water transportation rates on freight between this port and Baltimore. The Merchants and Miners Transportation Company has made application to increase rates.

The Florida Railroad Commission has announced a public hearing on August 6, when "Class P" rates will be discussed with a view to enforcing the ruling of 1905 reducing the present rate 20 per cent in Florida.

Jacksonville to Invite President

JACKSONVILLE, July 30.—A special committee from the Board of Trade of this city left here this afternoon bearing a special invitation to President Wilson to visit this city on his contemplated trip to the Canal Zone.

The same committee will make a fight while in Washington to retain Major John R. Slattery, chief of the United States Engineers in Florida, at this post for at least two years more. An order has been issued to transfer Slattery to Vicksburg on October 15.

Coroner to Probe Initiation Deaths

BIRMINGHAM, July 30.—Coroner Spain to-day summoned a jury to investigate the deaths of two candidates during an initiation in the Loyal Order of Moose last Thursday night. Twenty-five witnesses were summoned to appear to-morrow morning. The investigation is to be thorough.

Storage Reduced On Naval Stores

JACKSONVILLE, July 30.—The National Transportation and Terminal Company has made a reduction on the storage charges of turpentine and rosin because of the present weak condition of the market.

The reduction is 3 cents on rosin and 4 cents on turpentine.

Cudahy Employees To Hold Annual 'Cue

Employees of the Cudahy Packing Company, of this city, will hold their annual barbecue at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening at Grant Park.

It is expected that several hundred persons will attend. J. T. Launius has charge of the arrangements.

BLACK QUILTS STAND WHEN ENTANGLED BY ROSSER'S HAMMERING

Important developments in the trial Wednesday of Leo M. Frank for the murder of Mary Phagan follow:

W. W. Rogers, former county policeman, in whose auto the police went to the factory the morning the body was found, testifies Frank was nervous when taken to the plant and apparently afraid to look at the body.

Miss Grace Hix, factory employee, testifies Frank rarely spoke to the girls in the plant and that the young women combed their hair near the lathe where strands of hair, alleged to be from the head of Mary Phagan, were found.

John Black, detective, testifies that Frank was nervous. His statement that Frank was "nervous, as any other man would be who had been arrested," is stricken out on Dorsey's request. He is questioned by the State in an effort to show Frank engaged counsel before he was arrested. Cross-examined by Rosser, he admits having made a mis-statement and retracts it. He is fiercely grilled by the defense.

Dorsey, in questioning Black, says the State is trying to show that Frank "planted" the bloody shirt found in the yard of Newt Lee's home and changed Lee's time slip. Black admits Rosser has him "confused."

J. N. Gantt testifies Frank knew Mary Phagan, but admits he testified at the inquest he never saw Frank with her.

Solicitor Dorsey came out with the startling announcement Wednesday afternoon that it was the State's contention that the blood-stained shirt found at the house of Newt Lee, negro night watchman at the National Pencil Factory, was a deliberate "plant" to shift suspicion from Leo M. Frank to the negro Lee.

"It is our contention," he shouted, "that the shirt was a 'plant,' and that Herbert Haas, as an attorney for Frank, demanded that Frank's house be searched so as to open up the way for a search of Newt Lee's house."

Gantt Says Frank Knew Girl.

The most sensational statement of J. M. Gantt, discharged employee of the National Pencil Factory, was that Frank, contrary to the factory superintendent's representatives after he was arrested, knew Mary Phagan by sight and by name.

He knew this, he said, because Frank had remarked to him: "You seem to know Mary pretty well, Gantt."

Gantt's other testimony was to the effect that Frank appeared nervous and fearful at 6 o'clock Saturday evening.

Dorsey tried to bring out that Frank had told Black that he thought Newt Lee knew much more about the crime than Lee had told and that the search of Lee's house had followed this remark of Frank's.

Attorneys in Wrangle.

A wrangle between the attorneys occurred over the endeavor of Dorsey to bring this out, and after this was settled Rosser resumed his attack upon Black with such terrific effectiveness that Black, shaken and unnerved, was forced to admit that he was confused, admit that he could not swear to the absolute accuracy of any of them.

"Boots" Rogers had testified that he assisted Frank in removing the tape from the time clock. Black said he could not recollect any one assisting Frank.

"Is your memory so bad that you can't remember what you told Mr. Dorsey only 20 or 30 minutes ago?" Rosser roared a moment later, when Black hesitated to repeat some of his direct testimony.

The attorney alternately bellowed and laughed at the witness. He finally got him to say he would not even swear as to Frank's conversation in regard to the time slips.

Factory Girl on Stand.

Sixteen-year-old Grace Hix, a pretty employee of the National Pencil Factory living at No. 100 McDonough road, who identified the body of Mary Phagan, was called by the State in the trial of Leo M. Frank Wednesday, but proved a much better witness for the defense.

Slight and graceful and attractive, the young factory girl made a decidedly pleasing impression in the half hour she was on the stand. She answered all the questions asked her by Solicitor Dorsey and Attorney Rosser with simple directness and apparent truthfulness. She was the first witness whose testimony was distinctly favorable to the defense.

In response to the questions in the cross-examination conducted by Attorney Rosser, chief of counsel for Frank, she said that she never had known of Frank speaking to any of the girls in the factory except in connection with their work and never had known that he had attempted familiarities of any sort. As far as she knew he had never spoken to Mary Phagan.

Spots Might Have Been Paint.

The red spots discovered by the detectives on the second floor, for all she knew, might have come from the paint room. She said that paint frequently was splattered on the floor when the employees in the paint room were walking to the dressing rooms.

"And do you girls have a place to comb your hair?" inquired Attorney Rosser.

"Yes, we have one, but many of us girls comb our hair right where we happen to be working," she responded naively.

"And are there any of the girls in the factory who have hair the color of Mary Phagan's?" continued the attorney.

"Yes, there's Magnolia Kennedy. Her hair is almost the same color."

Points for Defense.

By the testimony of this one girl Attorney Rosser showed that it was possible that the red spots on the floor in the dressing room and toward the middle of the factory might have been red paint and not blood; that the hair found on the lathing machine might have been that of Magnolia Kennedy, or some other girl, who had been combing her hair there, and, finally, that Frank's deportment among the girls of the factory, so far as she knew, was always exemplary.

The Hix girl was called by Solicitor Dorsey to tell of her identification of the body of Mary Phagan the morning after the murder and to describe some of the physical characteristics of the second floor of the factory.

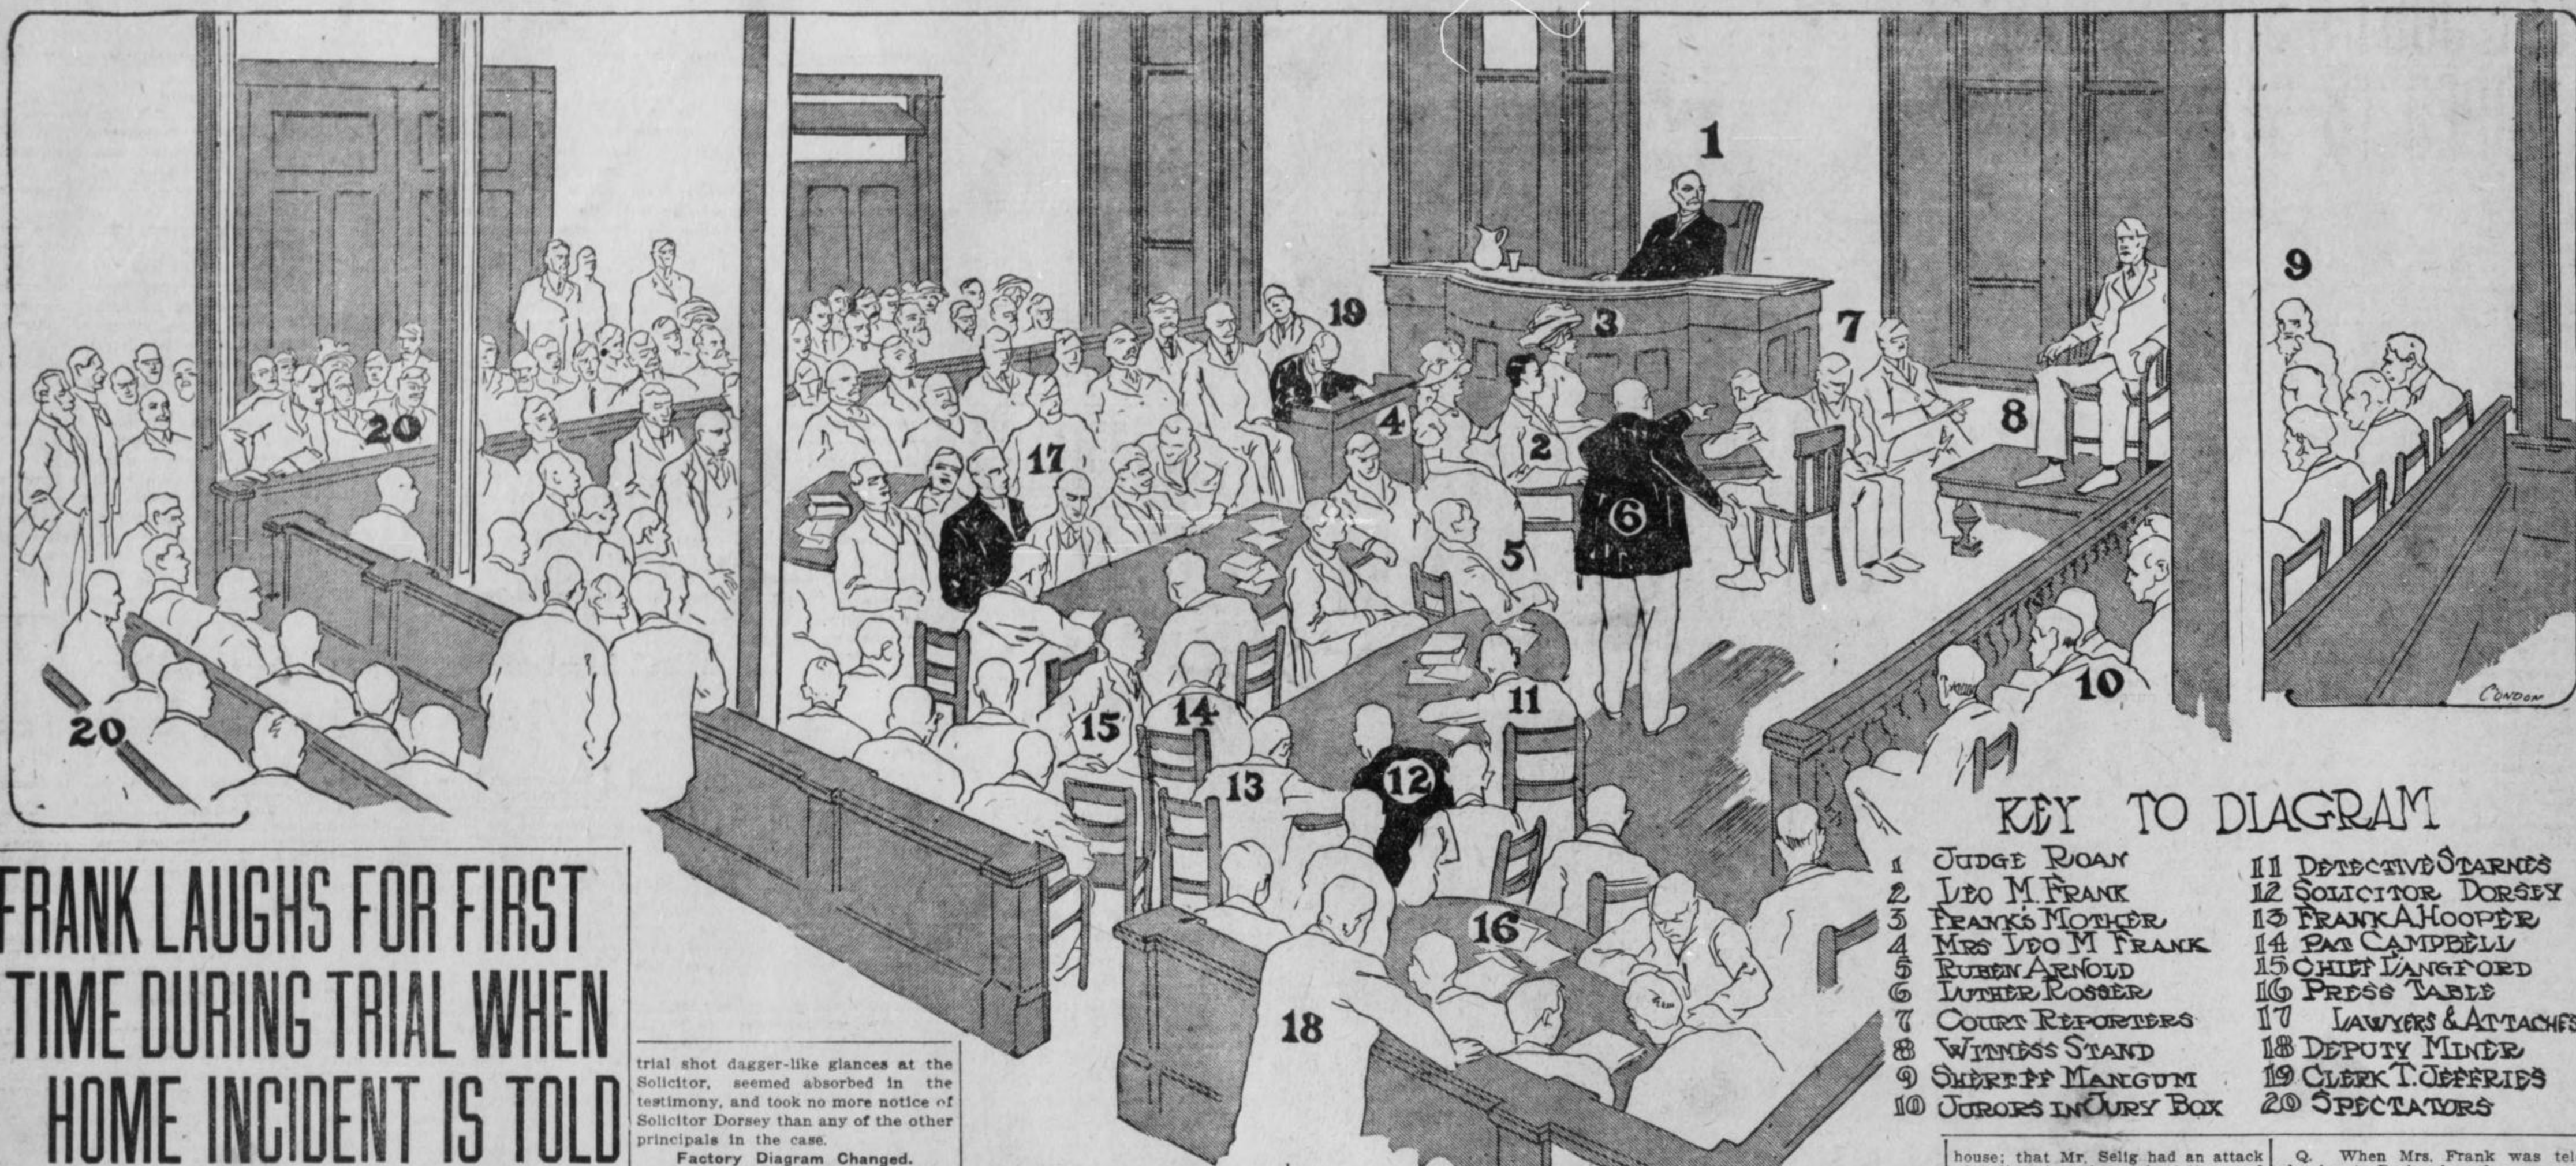

With her testimony he continued laying the foundation for his theory that the attack upon Mary Phagan was made on the second floor of the building and not on the first floor, where Jim Conley was in hiding.

He had her tell of the proximity of the men's and women's dressing rooms on the second floor and how it would have been impossible for a person entering the men's not to have passed within a few feet of that for the women.

Solicitor Dorsey, by his other two witnesses of the forenoon, W. W. ("Boots") Rogers and Detective John Black, sought primarily to place in the hearts of the jurors that Leo Frank attacked and strangled Mary Phagan in the factory April 26, and then, in the revulsion of horror at his deed, was in abject terror of looking upon the face of his victim when he was taken to the morgue for the purpose of identifying her.

DIAGRAM OF COURTROOM WITH FRANK TRIAL IN PROGRESS

FRANK LAUGHS FOR FIRST TIME DURING TRIAL WHEN HOME INCIDENT IS TOLD

Continued From Page 1.

The Solicitor drew from the two men other circumstances of the morning after the crime, which he evidently proposes to interpret as significant of Frank's guilt, but he laid the greatest stress on the visit of Frank at the morgue, where both Rogers and Black testified Frank avoided gazing at the bruised and contorted features of the murdered factory girl.

Says Frank Was Nervous.

Black and Rogers testified that Frank appeared nervous all the morning after they went for him at his home, 68 East Georgia avenue, and took him to the morgue and later to the factory. Rogers was on the stand about two hours and told a seemingly straightforward story. He was not bothered much by the cross-examination of Rosser, but made slight modifications to some of the statements in his direct testimony.

It was evident that Black's testimony was going to precipitate a lively squabble between the attorneys the moment that he went on the stand. Attorney Rosser was on his feet with objections almost every half minute. Either his objection was leveled at the manner of Black's testimony or the character of the Solicitor's questions. Almost invariably he won his point.

Rosser declared that Black was stating his own conclusions in regard to the mental state of Frank instead of merely presenting to the jury its outward manifestations and permitting the jury to judge for itself.

To Spring Surprise in Gantt. Black asserted that Frank was pale and nervous on the morning of April 27; that he talked excitedly and asked questions without waiting for answers, and that his voice was trembling and hoarse, and that he never entered the room where Mary Phagan's body lay at the morgue.

Frank Laughs for First Time. During the testimony of Rogers, Frank laughed heartily for the first time since the trial began—in fact, it was the first display of any emotion that the defendant has made.

Rogers was telling of his visit to the Frank residence at No. 68 East Georgia avenue when the incident occurred which aroused Frank's laughter.

The ex-county officer said that Detective Black had suggested that a drink of whisky would do Frank good. Rogers said that Mrs. Frank had said that her father, Mr. Selig, had suffered an attack of acute indigestion and that there was no whisky left in the house.

"He had an attack of acute indigestion and drank up all the liquor," repeated Attorney Rosser, humorously. "Well, I have those attacks occasionally myself."

Defense Hints Attack Theory. Miss Grace Hicks, of No. 100 McDonough road, followed Rogers on the stand, and Solicitor Dorsey, after having her tell of identifying Mary Phagan the morning after the murder, started at once on a line of questioning that indicated his theory that Black was first attacked in or near the women's toilet on the second floor of the factory.

Attorney Rosser, on cross-examination, brought out that Frank seldom spoke to the girls and that she did not know that he was familiar with them.

The most important points in the testimony of "Boots" Rogers in the re-direct examination were:

That he heard Detective Starnes make no mention of what had happened at the factory when Starnes called Frank Sunday morning.

That Frank, although the interval between calling him and the arrival of Rogers' car at Frank's home was only five or six minutes, was dressed for the street, except for collar, tie, coat and hat.

Says Frank Was Nervous. That Frank's shirt had the appearance of being freshly laundered.

That Frank appeared nervous and asked of Detective John Black if anything had happened at the factory, and if the night watchman had reported anything to the police.

That Frank's words were jumpy; that he continuously was rubbing his hands, and that he moved about nervously.

That the defendant, when he was taken to the undertaker's room, avoided going into the room where the Phagan girl's body lay, and that he never looked into the face of the girl whom the State charges was his victim.

That Frank still was nervous when taken to the factory. That he witnessed Frank take the tape from the time clock and heard him remark that the punches were correct. That he (Rogers), while Frank was in the office after a blank tape, examined the tape taken from the clock and saw that none of the punches had been missed.

Rosser in Dorsey's Way. During the cross-examination of Rogers, Solicitor Dorsey insisted that Attorney Rosser stand between him and the witness. Rosser's huge frame occupied a small space bounded by the witness, the judge, Frank and his wife and mother and the prosecuting attorney. Mr. Arnold was also kept behind Mr. Rosser.

These have been the relative positions during all of the cross-examinations.

When on his feet Mr. Rosser's person dominates the whole courtroom. He was ostentatious in the use of his hands and arms. He wore a thin black coat and gray trousers and a low collar without a necktie.

Tells Dorsey to Get Stick. "I beg your pardon," he said in reply to Solicitor Dorsey's admonition. "Get a stick, Hugh, and keep me punched out of the way."

For a period of several minutes during the cross-examination of Rogers, Frank fixed his eyes on Solicitor Dorsey. They were strange eyes, almost expressionless. Dorsey glanced at him, then turned his gaze to the witness.

trial shot dagger-like glances at the Solicitor, seemed absorbed in the testimony, and took no more notice of Solicitor Dorsey than any of the other principals in the case.

Factory Diagram Changed.

Court opened Wednesday with a discussion of the admissibility of the diagram of the pencil factory drawn by Bert Green, a Georgian staff artist. The key to the diagram and all objectionable wording had been removed.

Attorney Arnold still objected to the lines which he claimed outlined the theory of the prosecution.

"You don't have to label a horse to see it is a horse," he said.

Solicitor Dorsey cited legal authority which he claimed entitled him to present the diagram as evidence.

Attorney Arnold said: "Those dotted lines have nothing to do with the building proper at all. It undertakes to show something that the building itself wouldn't show."

Revised Chart Admitted.

When Solicitor Dorsey started to continue his argument Judge Roan interrupted and said:

"Do you mean for the dotted lines to show the theory of the prosecution?"

"Yes," answered Dorsey.

"But," continued the judge, "it is with the jury as to whether you prove this to be the correct theory or not."

"Yes," said Dorsey.

"On those grounds then I admit it as evidence," said Judge Roan.

W. W. Rogers, the county policeman, who was one of the first to visit the scene of the crime, was the first witness of the day called.

Rogers on the Stand. The jury was brought in after the picture was admitted.

The men filed into their seats, showing for the first time some signs of the long hours of confinement.

"Call W. W. Rogers to the stand," said Solicitor Dorsey, announcing his first witness.

The young man who took the police to the scene of the crime early that Sunday morning was sworn.

Q. Where were you Saturday night, April 26?—A. At the station house.

Q. Where were you at about 3 o'clock Sunday morning?—A. I was still there.

Q. Where did you go from there?—A. I took the police to the pencil factory, where they had been called.

Q. What did you do then?—A. After a negro led us in I went down into the basement with the police and found the body.

Present as Starnes Phoned. Q. Were you present when Detective Starnes called someone over the telephone?—A. Yes.

Q. What time was it?—A. About 5 or 5:30 Sunday morning.

Q. Do you know who he called?—A. No.

Q. What did he say?—A. I don't recall exactly, but in substance he was asking someone to come to the factory. I heard him say, "If you will come I will send an automobile for you." He turned to me and asked me if I would go to Mr. Frank's home and get him. He gave us the address and Detective Black went with me. Detective Black went to the door. I won't be sure whether he knocked or rang the bell. Mrs. Frank answered the door. She had on a heavy blue bathrobe. We asked if Frank was there, and he came through the curtain into the reception hall.

Q. Was he dressed for the street?—A. Yes, with the exception of collar and coat.

Q. Can you tell exactly what he had on?—A. A pair of shoes, blue trousers, white pleated shirt and suspenders.

Neither Answered Frank. Q. What was said?—A. When Frank came in he went directly to Black. He asked him, "Has anything happened at the factory?" Black did not answer him, and, turning to me, he asked the same question. I did not answer.

Q. What else did he say?—A. He asked, "Did the nightwatchman telephone you anything had happened at the factory?"

Q. What else?—A. Black did not answer him then, but told him he had better come to the factory.

Q. What did Starnes say to Frank over the phone besides what you have already told?

"I object," said Attorney Rosser, "on the ground that it is essentially a leading question."

"You will have to put the question differently," said Judge Roan to Mr. Dorsey.

Tells of Phone Talk. Q. Detail, now, what Mr. Starnes said first.—A. Mr. Starnes was talking to someone over the telephone. I won't be sure whether he told him who it was or not. He asked this party he was talking to to come to the factory. He said if he would, he would send an automobile for him. With that he turned to me and asked me to go to Frank's house and get him.

Q. Did you hear anyone else call from the factory?—A. Soon after we reached the pencil factory, about 3:30 o'clock, I was up in the office with Policeman Anderson and Newt Lee. Anderson was trying to get someone over the phone. I don't know who it was.

Q. What else happened at Frank's home?—A. I think he asked his wife for his collar and coat.

Q. Was that all?—A. All I remember.

"Your honor," said Mr. Dorsey, "he has clearly overlooked something. Can I direct his attention to it?"

Frank Recalled a Dream. "How do you know it?" interrupted Rosser.

"I have his testimony before the coroner's jury and I have talked to him," said Dorsey.

"Oh, Lord," growled Rosser as he sat down.

Q. What was said about a dream?—A. Mr. Frank said something about dreaming or hearing the telephone ring during the night.

Q. Was anything said about whisky?—A. Yes; Mr. Frank said he had not had breakfast. He thought he would like to have a cup of coffee. Detective Black said a drink of whisky might do him some good. Mrs. Frank answered that Mrs. Selig had been ill with acute indigestion and had used all of the whisky in the house.

Q. How was Frank's voice that morning?—A. He was nervous.

Q. What about his voice? Was it fine?—A. Yes, it was fine; somewhat like a woman's. He asked questions rather abrupt, right off the reel. His questions were jumpy.

Appeared Very Nervous. Q. What was his appearance when you first saw him?—A. He was rubbing his hands and was extremely nervous.

Q. Was his hair combed or tousled?—A. It was combed.

Q. What was the conversation on the way to the factory?—A. Black or myself—I don't remember which—asked him if he knew a little girl named Mary Phagan. He asked if she worked at the pencil factory and we told him we thought she did. He said he would have to look on his pay roll to see if she did; that he didn't know many of the girls there and that he never went out into the factory among them much. We suggested that we had better go by the undertaker's establishment and let him see the body.

Q. Describe how you found the body?—A. The room was dark. Undertaker Gheseling went back of the body and turned on the light. The head of the dead girl was toward the wall. Gheseling took her face in his hands and turned it toward us. Mr. Frank had been behind me as we entered the room, but when Gheseling turned the girl's face to me I looked around and Frank was going out of the room.

Didn't See Her Face. Q. How long did he have to see the face?—A. He didn't have any time, for when her face was turned to the light he had stepped outside the room.

Q. Did you ask him any questions?—A. Mr. Black asked him if he recognized the body. He said if her name was Mary Phagan he could tell whether she worked at the factory by looking over his pay roll.

Q. What was his attitude at the undertaker's establishment?—A. He still appeared nervous.

Q. How?—A. Well, he stepped lively and moved quickly.

Frank sat passive during these questions, his expression an enigma. His wife and mother on each side of him appeared weary.

Frank Looked at Books. Q. What did Frank do when they got to the factory?—A. Frank went to the office and unlocked the safe. He got a book and ran his hand down a column and said: "Yes, Mary Phagan worked here; if I am not mistaken she was here Saturday and drew her pay." He said it was some time a little after 12 o'clock. He asked us if we didn't find a pay envelope near her body. We told him no.

Q. What was the time exactly, according to Frank?—A. He just said it was something a little after 12.

Q. What was his manner?—A. He was nervous and quick.

Q. What was done about running the elevator?—A. I don't remember exactly who said it, but some one suggested that we see where the girl was murdered. Frank went out to the ditchbox his expression an enigma. He had turned on a few things the machinery began to run.

Tried to Start Elevator. Q. Did anyone ask him about the switch box not being locked?—A. He said the insurance company had him stop locking it, saying it was against the law.

Q. Did Frank run the elevator?—A. He pulled the rope to start it, but it would not move. He called Darley and the elevator was started after some time.

Q. Did anyone comment on the murder?—A. I think Mr. Frank said Darley had worked Newt Lee and that was something a little after 12.

Q. What else happened?—A. Frank said: "We had better call the back door elevator."—A. Frank and Darley went to call the back door.

Q. What did you do then?—A. Frank said, "I guess we had better put in a new tape. Darley." He then took the tape out of the box and remarked, "They are all punched all right."

Q. Where was Newt Lee?—A. Lee was right behind me, handcuffed.

Q. Where was Darley?—A. He was right there.

Q. What happened next?—A. Mr. Frank went to his office brought out a new slip. He took out the old slip and wrote on it April 26, 1913.

Q. What did he do with it?—A. He folded it once and went into his office. Q. Did you see that slip?—A. Yes, I glanced at it. The first punch was 6:01 and the second at 6:32. There did not appear to be any skip in it.

Q. Did you hear Frank say anything about something to eat?—A. Yes, several times he said he wanted to get a cup of coffee.

Attorney Rosser objected. Didn't Notice His Eyes. "Maybe several wanted a drink—I expect they did," he said.

Solicitor Dorsey continued. Q. Did you notice Frank's eyes during the stay in the factory?—A. No.

Q. How long did you and Frank remain in the factory?—A. I should say something more than an hour.

Q. Where did you go?—A. In the automobile with Lee, Darley, Black and Frank the police sat in the car.

Q. Was anybody under arrest?—A. Lee.

Q. Was Frank?—A. I didn't consider him so.

Q. What happened at the station?—A. They took Frank up to Chief Langford's office.

Q. Did you see Frank do any writing?—A. I saw Newt Lee write, but not Frank.

Dorsey again wanted to refresh Rogers' memory about his testimony before the coroner's jury. Rosser again objected. Judge Roan declared the witness could not be led.

Q. Did you see the officers do anything with Frank and Lee at the station?—A. I saw them take Mr. Frank and Lee up the stairs.

Q. Did you see Frank with a pencil?—A. I can't say that I did or did not. I was around there so much and saw so much.

Q. What was Frank's attitude at the station?—A. He appeared nervous, as he had all the morning.

Q. Did you or not have occasion to observe Frank's hand at the police station?—A. No, sir, I did not.

Rosser Takes Witness. Mr. Rosser then took up the cross-examination.

Q. You never saw Frank before that morning?—A. No.

Q. You don't know whether what you considered his nervousness was natural to him or not?—A. No.

Q. How long after you had knocked at Frank's door was it before Frank came?—A. About a minute or two.

Q. You went to the factory with the police?—A. Yes.

Q. You had some trouble in finding whether the child was black or white?—A. Yes.

Q. Didn't someone have to pull down her stocking and look at the feet before they could tell her color?—A. Yes, I believe so.

Tells of Victim's Face. Q. Was there dirt on her face?—A. Yes.

Q. Was there dirt in her mouth?—A. Yes, and some in her eyes.

Q. How long were you at Frank's home?—A. About fifteen minutes.

Q. It took that long for the things you have told us to happen?—A. Yes.

Q. Are you sure of it?—A. Pretty sure.

house; that Mr. Selig had an attack of indigestion the night before and used it all.

Q. When you were at the undertaker's, how did you get to the chapel?—A. We went down a long corridor.

Q. Did you know that Gheseling, standing in front of the corpse, saw Frank looking at it?—A. No.

Q. Then you won't say that Frank didn't see the young girl's face?—A. I do say that it would have been impossible for anyone to see her face when it was turned to the wall, and I can swear that no one but Mr. Gheseling and I went up to the corpse.

Might Have Seen Body. Q. Was there blood on the face at the same time you did?—A. Yes, I suppose so.

Q. Did Frank have any trouble unlocking the safe at the office? Did he work the combination the first time?—A. Yes, without any trouble.

Q. Mr. Frank tried the elevator and couldn't?—A. Yes.

Q. He called Mr. Darley?—A. Yes.

Q. Did it run smoothly when it started?—A. Yes.

Q. Did it stop with a jerk when it reached the bottom?—A. No; it just stopped.

No Stains in Sawdust. Q. Was there blood on the sawdust where you found the body?—A. No; we couldn't find any.

Q. Was there blood anywhere?—A. Yes; some on her undershirt.

Q. Was there blood on her head?—A. Yes, there was some dry blood matted in the hair.

Q. Was there blood running anywhere on the body?—A. I don't remember any.

Q. Who turned her over?—A. Sergeant Dobbs, I believe.

Q. Were you there when they found the shoe?—A. No.

Q. Were the shoe and hat found that morning?—A. They were not before I left to get Grace Hicks to identify the body.

Went to Station With Party. Q. How did it happen that Frank went with you to the police station? Did he volunteer to go?—A. I don't know exactly. He went along with the party without any hesitancy.

The question was interrupted by a whispered conference between Rosser and Arnold; then Rosser continued.

Q. When Mrs. Frank was telephoning to Darley, how far were you from the telephone?—A. About 6 feet.

The re-direct examination was begun by Dorsey:

Q. Could you tell by a glance at the hair whether the girl was white or not?—A. Yes, you couldn't tell by the face, but it was evident it was the hair of a white girl.

Couldn't Have Seen Face. Q. Did you say Frank did or did not see that girl's face in the undertaker's establishment?

"I object," said Rosser. "You can ask only what opportunities he had to see the face," answered Judge Roan.

A. He couldn't see it because her body was not lying so that he could.

Rosser said: "Mr. Rogers, didn't you tell me that you didn't know where Mr. Frank was when you were looking at the girl's face?"—A. Yes; but he couldn't have seen it, unless he was standing near me, and he wasn't standing near me.

Dorsey asked: "Did Frank ever go into the room in which the body was?"—A. To the best of my knowledge he did not. He went in the direction of the toilet, or a room which I took to be a toilet.

Grace Hix on Stand. Rogers was then excused, and Miss Grace Hix went on the stand. She was questioned by Dorsey.

Q. Did you know Mary Phagan?—A. Yes.

At this point members of the jury asked for water and while it was

Continued on Page 4, Column 1.

Do You Know ?

The largest banquet ever given.

See Page 15.

It is one thing to make soda crackers that are occasionally good.

It is quite another thing to make them so that they are always better than all other soda crackers, always of unvarying goodness.

The name "Uneeda"—stamped on every biscuit—means that if a million packages of Uneeda Biscuit were placed before you, you could choose any one of them, confident that every soda cracker in that package would be as good as the best Uneeda Biscuit ever baked. Five cents.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

FACTORY GIRL SAYS FRANK SELDOM SPOKE TO WOMEN WORKERS IN PENCIL PLANT

Continued From Page 2.

being secured for them, Frank leaned over and held a whispered conversation with Rosser.

The question was repeated. A. Mightily near a year. Q. Where did you know her?—A. At the National Pencil Factory. Q. Did you identify her body the morning after the crime?—A. Yes. Knew Her By Hair.

Q. How did you know her?—A. By looking at her. Miss Hicks spoke in a very soft voice. She appeared about 16 years of age. She wore a white dress with light blue ribbons around her neck and elbow sleeves.

Q. How was she when you saw her?—A. She was covered except her head. Q. How did you know her?—A. By her hair. It was so long and pretty. Q. Was she pretty?—A. Yes. Q. Where did you work?—A. In the metal room.

Q. What did you do first when you went to the factory each day?—A. Punched the clock. At Factory Every Day. Q. How often was Mary at the factory?—A. Nearly every day.

Q. Where was Mary's work place?—A. Right next to the dressing room. Q. Did you see where the blood was?—A. Yes.

Q. A person going from the office back to the rear of the second floor would have had to pass the dressing room, the place near where Mary Phagan worked, wouldn't they?—A. Yes.

Q. Did Frank pass there every day?—A. Almost every day. He would come back two or three times a day to see how the work was going on.

Q. When was Mary at the factory last to work?—A. The Monday before April 24.

Saturday Regular Pay Day. Q. Why didn't she work that week?—A. The metal had given out. Q. Where was the metal kept?—A. In a little closet under the stairway.

Q. When was the regular pay day?—A. Saturday at 12. Q. Was anyone paid off Saturday, April 24?—A. Most of them were paid off the Friday night before, as Saturday was a holiday.

Dorsey then had the witness point out the machinery where Mary Phagan worked on the second floor, as shown on the Bert Green diagram. Then Rosser took the witness on cross-examination.

Never Spoke to the Girls. Q. You worked there a year?—A. I worked there five years. Mary worked there a year.

Q. In those five years how many times did you speak to Mr. Frank?—A. Three times.

Q. How many times did you see him speak to Mary Phagan?—A. None.

Q. Did he ever speak to the girls when he came through the metal room?—A. No.

Q. What did he say to you the time he spoke to you?—A. He was passing through the room one day with a visitor. I was leaning my head on my hand. He said: "You can run this machine asleep, can't you?"

Q. The other times he spoke to me on the street. Q. Did he know your name?—A. I don't know; he knew my face.

Combed Hair at Machines. Q. Miss Grace, there was a place up there where you combed your hair, wasn't there?—A. Yes.

Q. Where was it?—A. Sometimes we combed our hair at the machines. Q. What color was Mary Phagan's hair?—A. It was sandy, darker than mine.

Q. How far from the machine where you sat and combed your hair, was the lathe where the strands of hair were found?—A. About 15 feet.

Q. Was there another girl who sat near Mary who had hair like hers?—A. Yes, Magnolia sat on one side of her and I sat on the other. Magnolia's hair was sandy, too.

Q. You went on Friday to get your pay with the other girls, didn't you?—A. Yes, sir.

Frank Not Paying Workers. Q. Who was paying off, Mr. Frank?—A. No, I don't remember who. It wasn't Mr. Frank, though.

Q. Whom did you see there?—A. Magnolia Kennedy and Helen Ferguson. Q. Who were the other girls in your department?—A. None other but Mary.

Q. What did you do in that department?—A. Cut metal tips. Q. What time did they pay off on Friday?—A. About 8 or 7 o'clock, a little later than usual.

Q. Wasn't there placards in the factory stating that Saturday would be a holiday?—A. I didn't see any. I didn't know there was to be a holiday until Mr. Quinn told me.

Solicitor Dorsey then took up the redirect examination. Q. If there had been any cards stating there was to be a holiday you would have seen them, wouldn't you?—A. Yes, I think I would.

Q. When did you know there was to be a holiday?—A. When Mr. Quinn informed me Friday.

Q. Do you still work at the pencil factory?—A. Yes.

Q. How do you know that a man sitting at Frank's desk could not see a person registering?—A. I don't know.

Q. You say there was paint around the machine?—A. There was paint in the polishing room.

Q. How far is it from the end of the dressing room where they say blood was found to the polishing room?—A. Four or five feet.

Q. How far back in the room do they keep the paint?—A. On all the machines.

Saw No Red Paint on Floor. Q. Did you ever see any on Mary's machine?—A. No.

Q. Was the paintroom off and separate?—A. Yes.

Q. Did they keep paint out where Mary's machine and dressing room were?—A. No.

Q. Did you ever see any outside?—A. Sometimes drops on the floor where the women come out to get water.

Q. Was it easy to tell whether it was paint or blood?—A. I never saw any red paint on the floor.

Here Attorney Rosser took up the recross-examination. Q. They did have red paint in there, and they could have dropped it?—A. Yes, sir.

It was hard to tell what color it was, after it hit the floor, wasn't it?—A. The floor was awful dirty.

Detective Black Called. Detective John R. Black followed Miss Hix to the stand. Solicitor Dorsey questioned him.

Q. Where were you working before you went with the police department?—A. Atlanta Brewing and Ice Company.

Q. Who owned the stock of that company?—A. McCandless. Here Attorney Rosser jumped to his feet.

"I object," he exclaimed. "That can have no bearing on this case." "I agree with you," ruled Judge Roan.

Q. When did you first see Newt Lee, the day the crime was reported?—A. About 5 or 5:30 o'clock in the morning.

Tells of Visit to Frank Home. Q. Did anyone call Mr. Frank?—A. Mr. Starnes called Frank and asked him if he would come to the pencil factory.

Q. Was that all?—A. All that I can recall. Q. Describe what happened when you went to Frank's house.—A. I went to the door and rang the bell. Mr. Frank came to the door and asked what we wanted. I told her I was detective from the police station and wanted to see Mr. Frank. Almost at once he stepped from behind some curtains. He asked almost immediately if anything had happened at the factory.

Knew Frank Previously. Q. Did you know Frank before you went to the factory?—A. Yes, I saw him about two years ago and again about eighteen months ago.

Q. Then you knew him?—A. Yes. Q. Did you know him or recognize him, when you saw him that Sunday morning?—A. No.

Q. Was Frank nervous or excited when you saw him two years ago?—A. No.

Here Attorney Rosser objected to the testimony being given along this line. Attorney Arnold also arose to his feet and said:

"No police officer can give an opinion as to how a man looks!" Judge Roan said:

"Now, Mr. Black, state the facts and give your reasons." Says Frank Was Nervous. Q. When you saw Frank the morning of April 27, did he seem nervous?—A. Yes.

Q. Why?—A. Because he had some considerable trouble putting on a collar. It seemed that he couldn't tie his necktie, and he kept asking fast questions. He asked real quick: "Has anything happened at the pencil factory?" And before I could answer, he asked: "Did the night watchman report it?"

Q. Did he express any anxiety to go to the pencil factory?—A. Yes.

Rosser objected with: "That is merely a conclusion, your honor." Frank Without Breakfast. "Let him state exactly what happened, and the jury can draw their conclusions," said Judge Roan.

Q. Did he ask for anything before leaving home?—A. He kept saying he had had no breakfast and would like to get some before he left.

Q. Did he mention anything else about breakfast?—A. Yes, he told Chief Lanford at the factory that he had had no breakfast.

Q. Tell everything he said in the automobile about the murder?—A. I

FRANK TRIAL BATTLE WAGED AROUND PHAGAN DEATH NOTES

He said he would have in hand a copy of the notes but that long tall black negro did buy his slab.

Here is a facsimile of one of the notes found beside the body of Mary Phagan and introduced in the trial of Leo M. Frank. The defense met with little success in its effort to make Newt Lee admit that he had a part in the writing of this note. Sergeant Dobbs, however, testified that when the officers deciphering the note came to the word "night," Lee said: "That means me." "Night watch" has been interpreted to mean "night watchman." The real battle over the notes will come when Jim Conley, who admits writing them, is put on the stand.

asked him if he knew a girl named Mary Phagan, who he had been found dead there. He said no, but he could tell from the records.

Q. What happened at the undertaker's?—A. We went in and the man pulled the cover back. Frank looked at her for a second.

Stepped Behind Curtain. Q. Are you sure he saw her face?—A. No, but I think so.

Q. Where did Rogers go when Gheesling turned the girl's face?—A. I don't know.

Q. Did Frank go?—A. He stepped aside. There was a curtain hanging there and he stepped behind it.

Q. What did Frank do after he stepped behind the curtain?—A. I don't know.

Q. Did he get a better view of the body from there?—A. He didn't get any view at all.

Q. Did Frank ever go into the room where the body was?—A. He passed by it when we first entered the establishment.

Q. With that exception, did he ever go into the room?—A. Not to my knowledge.

Q. How long after he went behind the curtain did you see him?—A. In a few minutes we went out to the automobile.

Q. Was he going toward the body or away from it?—A. Away from it.

Q. State whether or not Frank said anything?—A. Yes.

Not Sure of Girl's Identity. Here Attorney Rosser objected. "Your honor, my friend evidently learned under a pastmaster the art of asking leading questions," said Rosser.

"I want a ruling on this question," returned Dorsey. "It is not leading." Judge Roan overruled the objection.

"Well, your honor sustains me and overrules Mr. Rosser," said Dorsey. "The witness will answer the question."

Q. Frank said he was not sure he could identify her, but thought from her clothes she was the girl he had paid off Saturday. He said he could tell by looking at his pay roll.

At 12:30 o'clock court adjourned until 2 o'clock.

Wife Cheers Frank. For several minutes before Judge Roan called the court to order for the afternoon session Mrs. Frank sat with her arm around her husband's shoulder, laughing and carrying on a happy conversation. Frank was visibly cheered by her.

Detective Black, who was on the stand at the noon adjournment, was recalled to the stand. Solicitor Dorsey delayed the questioning several minutes, waiting for Attorney Arnold to arrive. Then he proceeded.

Q. What examination of the clock did Frank make before he said it was punched correctly?—A. He took out the tape and examined it. He said the punches were right until 2:30.

Q. When did Frank first say the clock was not punched correctly?—A. He told me Tuesday.

Gave Slip to Lanford. Q. Did he have the slip?—A. Yes, he had given it to Chief Lanford Monday.

Q. What did he do with the slip he took out Sunday morning?—A. He took it into his office.

Q. Do you know whether this is the slip he took from the clock?—A. No.

Q. When did you first hear that Frank had said there were three misses?—A. I don't recall.

Q. At that time, who was being held?—A. A Newt Lee.

Q. Frank had not been arrested?—A. No.

Q. What slips did Frank say Newt Lee had made?—A. I think it was from 10 until 11:30—I can't recall exactly.

Q. Was it earlier or later?—A. To the best of my knowledge it was 3 o'clock.

Attorneys Clash Again. Q. How long after he was arrested did he employ counsel?—A. Attorney Arnold here objected.

"This witness does not know who employed counsel or whether they ever employed counsel, and besides he would have been in a mighty bad fix if he hadn't," declared Attorney Arnold. "It is also immaterial and irrelevant. What do you say, Mr. Dorsey?"

Dorsey replied: "I want to show that this man employed counsel before he was arrested or even a suspect, and I want to show it as one of the circumstances that led to this prosecution."

Judge Roan overruled the objection, saying that in his opinion the Solicitor's reason was material.

Q. State when Frank first had counsel?—A. About 8:30 o'clock Monday morning. Mr. Rosser came into police headquarters.

Q. What happened at Frank's house before he went to police headquarters?—A. Mr. Hazlett went to Frank's house and told him we wanted him to go to police station with us to discuss the case. It was about 7:30 o'clock.

Q. What time did you go to the police station?—A. We got to the station some time after 8 o'clock and soon Mr. Rosser and Mr. Herbert Haas came down.

Q. What did Mr. Haas have to say?—A. He wanted officers to go out and search Frank's house.

Q. Had Frank been arrested?—A. No.

Q. What time did this take place?—A. A little after 9 o'clock.

Q. Who did Rosser confer with when he went down at 8:30 o'clock on that Monday?—A. He conferred with Mr. Frank.

Q. Do you know anything about a conference between Newt Lee and Frank Tuesday night?—A. Yes, I suggested to Mr. Frank that he have a talk with me. There were alone in a room about ten minutes.

Q. Did you hear what they said?—A. No.

Q. What did Frank say about the conference?—A. Mr. Frank said Lee stuck to his story that he didn't know anything about the crime.

Frank Seemed to Suspect Gantt. Q. Did he say he suspected Gantt?—A. He said that Lee was the only one there and ought to know something about it.

Q. Did he say he suspected Gantt?—A. He seemed to suspect Gantt. He said he had discharged Gantt and had seen him at the pencil factory about 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Q. Was Gantt arrested?—A. Yes.

Q. Was it after this conversation?—A. No, before.

Q. When did Frank first mention Gantt?—A. Thursday morning.

Q. Was that before Gantt's arrest?—A. Yes.

Q. Were other suspects arrested?—A. A. Jim Conley.

Q. After you and Hazlett arrested Frank did you talk to him?—A. Yes.

Answer is Ruled Out. Q. What was his appearance?—A. He was nervous, just as any man would be who was arrested.

"Your honor," said Dorsey, "I move that that be ruled out as a gratuitous opinion. The jury is just as capable of judging whether he acted as any man would have acted or not."

Attorney Rosser objected. Judge Roan said he would not strike the statement of Dorsey but would rule out the answer.

"I will put the question in a different way," said Dorsey. "I will knock it down and set it up again."

Q. What did Frank do Tuesday to make you think he was nervous?—A. He had a thing to say. He wouldn't answer questions, while before that he appeared affable and in a good humor.

Here Mr. Rosser took up the cross-examination.

Q. You know that when Mr. Frank was at the station house on Monday he would not leave without consent?—A. No, I came down to the station house with Mr. Frank and I had not arrested him.

Q. Didn't you swear he was released when he was allowed to leave the station?—A. Yes, but I retract that.

Q. A word put in just as a joke, just to swell it?—A. Yes.

Black remained silent. Q. Don't you know, Brother Black, that I didn't reach the station house until between 10 and 11 o'clock?—A. No, I think you came there between 8 and 8:30 o'clock.

Q. Didn't you swear that I came there between 8 and 8:30 o'clock?—A. No, I swore that I got there between 8 and 8:30 o'clock and I thought you did.

Q. Don't you remember that I came up and had been introduced to Mr. Frank—that I didn't know him?—A. No, I didn't know that you didn't know him.

Q. Don't you remember that he told me he wanted a statement and I told him to give it without having a conference with him?—A. Yes.

Rosser Exerts Himself. Q. Didn't Chief Lanford order him into his office in the same tone he would talk to a negro?—A. No, I didn't hear Chief Lanford talk in such a way. You wouldn't let him go in without being with him.

Q. Didn't I say I didn't want him to give a statement without a third party being present so that it could not be stated he said something he didn't say?—A. You wanted to be there when he made any statement.

Mr. Rosser was particularly vigorous in his tone of questioning. It was evident he was exerting himself more now than at any time since the trial began.

"We are," he remarked aside, "we'll go back and take up the story." Detective Fails to Remember. Q. You or Lanford, one told me that you didn't want me in there?—A. I don't remember.

Q. I told you that I was going in to hear what he said for fear you would say he said something he didn't say?—A. I don't recall it.

Q. When you released him he was not arrested until 11 o'clock, was he?—A. Yes.

Q. Were you at the coroner's inquest?—A. Yes.

Q. Frank answered all the questions freely?—A. Yes.

Q. You think you had one conversation with Mr. Frank before that Sunday morning?—A. Yes.

Q. Do you recall who was with you?—A. No, I don't.

Q. You can't recall?—A. Yes, it was Bullard, my partner.

Q. How did you refresh your memory?—A. I just remembered who was my partner.

Q. Now, you don't recall really whether you ever had any conversation before with Frank or not, do you?—A. No, not positively.

Q. Do you recall what time you heard Mr. Starnes talked with Mr. Frank?—A. Not exactly, about fifteen minutes to six, I think.

Q. Are you sure it wasn't later?—A. No.

Q. Then, how can you be so positive about other things that morning?—A. I was accurate and yet can't tell about this time?—A. I wasn't paying much attention to time.

Governed by Circumstances. Q. What time did you get to the Selig home?—A. Some where around 6 o'clock.

Q. What time did you arrive at the undertakers?—A. About 6:30.

Q. Why didn't you tell Frank in the house about the murder, instead of the automobile?—A. There were certain circumstances about the murder and the factory that made me act as I did.

Q. You know the importance of putting down what you get in writing?—A. Yes.

Q. Are you sure that Frank didn't put on his collar and tie upstairs?—A. Yes.

Q. You are very sure of it?—A. Yes. Q. If Rogers saw it that way, wouldn't you have seen it the same way?—A. One sees a thing like Rogers sees it.

Wife Brought Neckwear. Q. Why don't you see things like anyone else sees them?—A. I see things like I see them.

Q. Look at that shirt (displaying the bloody shirt) and tell me whether it is bloody on one side or both sides?—A. Both.

Q. Did you have any trouble getting into Newt Lee's house?—A. No.

Q. How many times had you seen Mr. Frank before that Monday?—A. Attorney Rosser objected.

"He asked me of that this morning," Rosser said.

"Let him ask the question," returned Judge Roan.

Q. How many times have you had conversation with Leo Frank?—A. Here Judge Roan interrupted. "All of that has been brought out," he said.

Then Rosser took the witness on recross-examination. Q. Didn't you say time and time again that you couldn't tell whether you went to Lee's house before or after your talk with Frank about those time slips?—A. I can't say.

Q. Then, isn't it true that you don't remember?

Black sought to explain, but Rosser drowned out his voice. "I don't want your explanation, I want your memory," said Rosser.

Black Says He is Confused. Q. Didn't you swear that you didn't remember whether or not you had the conversation with Mr. Frank about the notes on Monday?

Black tried to explain again, but Rosser interrupted him. "Your honor," said Dorsey, jumping to his feet, "let him talk. Mr. Rosser interrupts so that the witness can't talk."

"I don't mean to interfere," said Rosser, and repeated his question. "I don't like to admit that you can't talk," said Black, "but I must say that you have me confused, Mr. Rosser."

"Come down," snapped Rosser. "Wait," Frank called out. "Mr. Black," asked Dorsey, "what day was it that Frank told you he had found a discrepancy in the time slip?—A. I don't know, Mr. Dorsey, whether it was Sunday or Monday, I don't know, but I must say that I am sure it was Monday."

"Come down," said Dorsey. "Come down, come down, come down," Black repeated. Rosser, Mrs. J. W. Coleman, mother of Mary Phagan, was recalled to the stand upon the request of Mr. Rosser. He declared he had one question he wanted to ask her.

Mrs. Coleman was only on the stand for a minute and was asked to describe the meshbag which her daughter had carried.

She identified the handkerchief and parasol found in the basement of the pencil factory as belonging to Mary. She was then excused.

J. M. Gantt followed Mrs. Coleman down, Black," repeated Rosser. Mrs. Coleman was recalled to the stand upon the request of Mr. Rosser. He declared he had one question he wanted to ask her.

Mrs. Coleman was only on the stand for a minute and was asked to describe the meshbag which her daughter had carried.

She identified the handkerchief and parasol found in the basement of the pencil factory as belonging to Mary. She was then excused.

J. M. Gantt followed Mrs. Coleman down, Black," repeated Rosser. Mrs. Coleman was recalled to the stand upon the request of Mr. Rosser. He declared he had one question he wanted to ask her.

Mrs. Coleman was only on the stand for a minute and was asked to describe the meshbag which her daughter had carried.

She identified the handkerchief and parasol found in the basement of the pencil factory as belonging to Mary. She was then excused.

J. M. Gantt followed Mrs. Coleman down, Black," repeated Rosser. Mrs. Coleman was recalled to the stand upon the request of Mr. Rosser. He declared he had one question he wanted to ask her.

Mrs. Coleman was only on the stand for a minute and was asked to describe the meshbag which her daughter had carried.

She identified the handkerchief and parasol found in the basement of the pencil factory as belonging to Mary. She was then excused.

J. M. Gantt followed Mrs. Coleman down, Black," repeated Rosser. Mrs. Coleman was recalled to the stand upon the request of Mr. Rosser. He declared he had one question he wanted to ask her.

Mrs. Coleman was only on the stand for a minute and was asked to describe the meshbag which her daughter had carried.

She identified the handkerchief and parasol found in the basement of the pencil factory as belonging to Mary. She was then excused.

J. M. Gantt followed Mrs. Coleman down, Black," repeated Rosser. Mrs. Coleman was recalled to the stand upon the request of Mr.

GANTT ON STAND SWEARS FRANK KNEW GIRL

Discharged Pencil Factory Employee Says Accused Mentioned Her to Him.

Continued from Page 4.

"You seem to know Mary Phagan pretty well."

Q. Who had you been talking to?—A. Mary Phagan.

Q. What time was this?—A. Some time after Christmas, I don't remember exactly.

Q. What was the relation of your family to the Phagan family?—A. Personal acquaintances.

Q. How many times did you go back to the factory after you were discharged?—A. Twice.

Q. Did you see Frank?—A. Yes, both times.

Q. Did he make any objection to your coming?—A. No.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Q. How about one girl getting the pay of another girl?—A. It could be done with the consent of Frank.

Dream Tango and Horse Trot Make Others Look Slow

NEW YORK, July 30.—Two new dances, the dream tango and the horse trot, soon will make their appearance. Uriel Davis, dancing master to the "four hundred," who arrived from Europe to-day, says the new dances will make the tango, the turkey trot, bunny hug, banana peel glide and the others look like an old straw bonnet.

He is going to teach the summer colony at Newport the new ways to glide. The horse trot, he said, is a modified turkey trot, the dancers flitting over the waxed surface like prancing steeds, instead of wobbling all over the floor.

He declined to tell what his new tango is like.

Y.M.C.A. BUILDING SALE IS CONCLUDED

Deed Conveying Property to Real Estate Firm Signed When Last $65,673.71 Is Paid.

The formal transfer of the Young Men's Christian Association building at the corner of Pryor street and Auburn avenue to the Chamber of Commerce Realty Company took place on Wednesday at 10:30 o'clock, when a deed was signed by Captain J. W. English, chairman, and J. K. Otley, secretary of the board of trustees of the Young Men's Christian Association.

At the same time a transaction was consummated by which a loan of $100,000 was placed upon the property by the New York Life Insurance Company. Of this amount $60,000 was paid to-day and the remainder will be paid by the insurance company when improvements on the building are completed about the middle of December.

The building was purchased from the Young Men's Christian Association more than a year ago by the Chamber of Commerce Realty Company for $160,000 and final payment was made to-day with two checks aggregating $65,673.71, payable to Robert J. Lowry, treasurer of the Young Men's Christian Association, and delivered this morning to Marion Jackson, president.

Those present at the formal transfer were Marion Jackson, president; Captain J. W. English, chairman of the board of trustees; J. K. Otley, secretary of the board of trustees; and J. P. Jackson, general secretary, representing the Y. M. C. A.; W. G. Cooper, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and Shepard Bryan, representing the New York Life Insurance Company.

This brings to consummation the first and most important feature of Wilmer L. Moore's program announced when he began his term as president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

Improvement of the building already has begun and a committee on manufacturers' exhibits is engaged upon a plan to organize an association of manufacturers to place the manufacturers' exhibits in four floors of the building above the second.

CAMP MEETING PLANNED.

ROME.—Plans are just about completed for the annual camp meeting at Morrison's camp grounds. The sessions last for two weeks and during that time the camp grounds resemble a tented city.

ATLANTA'S BROTHER DEAD.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 30.—Eben R. Clark, aged 71, brother of Mrs. Laura Merrill, of Atlanta, is dead at his home here of heart failure. The burial will be Thursday in Albion, N. Y.

PEOPLE who pay RENT for their home are enriching their landlord. People who BUY a home are enriching THEMSELVES—and providing for old age.

On our DIVIDED PAYMENT PLAN you can buy one of our newly-built houses, at CAPITOL VIEW—inside of Atlanta's city limits—only an 18-minute street car ride from the Postoffice. Our terms are only $100 down, and as little as $21 a month. No mortgage to assume!

When one gets along in years to where one's "earning" power ceases, then he reaches the Crossroads of Life. One path leads to a cozy and happy home. Another path leads to misery—often to the Poorhouse!

For your own sake—and for the protection of your family—BUY a home! Let us tell you more about the ADVANTAGES of a pretty home in Atlanta's residential section, known as CAPITOL VIEW! Our DIVIDED PAYMENT PLAN makes it possible for you to OWN a home!

For full information, phone—or call at our office!

W. D. BEATIE, 207 Equitable Bldg.
Bell, Main 3520 Atlanta Phone 3520

TAX EQUALIZERS BOARD CAUSES HOUSE FIGHT

Section of Lipscomb Bill Giving State Power Fought at First Afternoon Session.

For the first time since the present Legislature convened, the House held an afternoon session Wednesday, for the further consideration of the Lipscomb tax reform bill, which creates State and county boards of tax equalizers. The vote on the motion to hold an afternoon session, offered by Hardeman, of Jefferson, was 73 to 55 in favor of it.

The fight over the tax reform bill was more strenuous at to-day's session than at any time since the bill was introduced. While fifteen sections of the bill were adopted Tuesday, the whole of Wednesday morning was taken up with the discussion of section 16. This section is considered one of the most important of the bill, and those who oppose the Lipscomb measure have trained their guns on it.

Section 16 defines the duties of and confers certain powers upon the proposed State board of equalization. It provides that the State board shall have supervision over the county boards, and that it shall be the duty of the State board to compare the tax digests of the various counties to ascertain whether there is a uniform valuation of property. The section gives the board authority to deduct or add to the tax valuations of the property as returned by the county board.

Shepherd, of Sumter, was severely criticised by Smith, of Muscogee, for introducing a substitute to the Lipscomb bill which abolished the State board and left only the county boards.

"It is up to this House," said Mr. Smith, "to determine whether Mr. Shepherd is sincere in offering his substitute, or whether he is offering a sham and a fraud to mislead the members of the House and the people of Georgia. He tries to make people think he is working for tax revision, and he is doing nothing of the kind. He says he is the friend of the farmer, yet he wants to establish county boards with no supervision and saddle the necks of the farmers with the same yoke that increased their burdens twenty years ago."

He admits that the county boards alone, as tried in 1891, were a failure, yet he wants to establish them again. The establishment of a State board will not increase the taxes of the honest man in Georgia one penny, but it will get those who do not make honest returns on their property."

Mr. Shepherd declared that the State board idea is a farce, and said so much power should not be vested in three men.

"The only difference between my bill and the original bill," he said, "is the establishment of the State board."

Several Amendments Offered.

Others who discussed the bill were Fulbright, of Burke; Myrick, of Chatham; McMichael, of Marion; Hagburn, of Fulton; and Wimberly, of Bibb.

Four amendments were offered to the section by Representatives Fulbright, Greene, Moss and Straddle. Representative Straddle, of Elberton, wanted to amend the bill by striking out section 16. Mr. Green, of Houston, wanted to amend the bill by striking out the section and inserting the following:

"The Comptroller General shall have supervision over the county boards, and shall inspect and investigate the tax returns. If he dissents with them he shall send the 'State Property Inspector' into the county to investigate and report to the Comptroller General, who shall change the returns as he sees fit."

Moss, of Cobb, presented an amendment to Fulbright's amendment, which provides that if the county and State boards disagree, the Comptroller General shall determine a fair return on the property.

Bail Allowed Trooper Who Killed Comrade

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., July 30.—At the request of Major Gordon W. Ballin, judge advocate of the Indiana National Guard, Judge Collier to-day fixed the bond of Sergeant Edwin Ball, indicted by a special Grand Jury for first degree murder, at $5,000. The amount probably will be furnished by officers of the National Guard.

Ball fatally shot Guardsman Walter Dowell, of Madison, Ind., when the latter attempted to escape while under military arrest for having a quart bottle of liquor in his possession while en route to the State encampment.

SLATON PARDOONS GIRL NEAR DEATH

Continued From Page 1.

me, however, but being caught in bad company, I am having to suffer the consequences, while the other girls paid their fines and are free to-day.

"I was without friends or money and in bad health, too, so I couldn't pay my fine, but had to come to jail, and being ignorant of the law, I knew not how to prove my innocence and had no money to pay a lawyer to defend me."

"I beg you from the depths of my heart to grant me the release. I am not bad at heart; your honor, and my only desire is to return home to my dear mother, who is an invalid, and be a good girl. God will surely bless you if you will permit me to go. I never get in any trouble any more, for I will go home and be a good girl. I trust and pray that you will grant me the release."

Plea Touches Governor.

Governor Slaton's heart was touched by the appeal. He investigated the case carefully and Wednesday morning wrote out this brief statement, which will carry Jack Davis back to her home and her mother:

"Petitioner has been in jail for two months, during which time she has been subjected to a capital surgical operation. Her offense is not vicious and I approve the application."

The Governor also granted a pardon convict in Brooks County, who is on the verge of death.

Strike Intensified by Delaying Arbitration

CALUMET, MICH., July 30.—Five representatives of the mine operators in the Calumet copper region had not been selected to-day to confer with Governor Ferris and five union delegates at Lansing in an effort to end the strike of 18,000 mines. The operators would not say whether they would join the conference.

The strike situation appeared to be more critical to-day.

ARTILLERY FOR ROME.

ROME.—If plans now on foot succeed a company of field artillery will be formed in Rome. Barry Wright, who has had considerable military experience, is back of the movement. There are now batteries at Atlanta and Savannah.

ROME.—If plans now on foot succeed a company of field artillery will be formed in Rome. Barry Wright, who has had considerable military experience, is back of the movement. There are now batteries at Atlanta and Savannah.

ROME.—If plans now on foot succeed a company of field artillery will be formed in Rome. Barry Wright, who has had considerable military experience, is back of the movement. There are now batteries at Atlanta and Savannah.

ROME.—If plans now on foot succeed a company of field artillery will be formed in Rome. Barry Wright, who has had considerable military experience, is back of the movement. There are now batteries at Atlanta and Savannah.

ROME.—If plans now on foot succeed a company of field artillery will be formed in Rome. Barry Wright, who has had considerable military experience, is back of the movement. There are now batteries at Atlanta and Savannah.

ROME.—If plans now on foot succeed a company of field artillery will be formed in Rome. Barry Wright, who has had considerable military experience, is back of the movement. There are now batteries at Atlanta and Savannah.

ROME.—If plans now on foot succeed a company of field artillery will be formed in Rome. Barry Wright, who has had considerable military experience, is back of the movement. There are now batteries at Atlanta and Savannah.

ROME.—If plans now on foot succeed a company of field artillery will be formed in Rome. Barry Wright, who has had considerable military experience, is back of the movement. There are now batteries at Atlanta and Savannah.

ROME.—If plans now on foot succeed a company of field artillery will be formed in Rome. Barry Wright, who has had considerable military experience, is back of the movement. There are now batteries at Atlanta and Savannah.

ROME.—If plans now on foot succeed a company of field artillery will be formed in Rome. Barry Wright, who has had considerable military experience, is back of the movement. There are now batteries at Atlanta and Savannah.

ROME.—If plans now on foot succeed a company of field artillery will be formed in Rome. Barry Wright, who has had considerable military experience, is back of the movement. There are now batteries at Atlanta and Savannah.

ROME.—If plans now on foot succeed a company of field artillery will be formed in Rome. Barry Wright, who has had considerable military experience, is back of the movement. There are now batteries at Atlanta and Savannah.

ROME.—If plans now on foot succeed a company of field artillery will be formed in Rome. Barry Wright, who has had considerable military experience, is back of the movement. There are now batteries at Atlanta and Savannah.

ROME.—If plans now on foot succeed a company of field artillery will be formed in Rome. Barry Wright, who has had considerable military experience, is back of the movement. There are now batteries at Atlanta and Savannah.

ROME.—If plans now on foot succeed a company of field artillery will be formed in Rome. Barry Wright, who has had considerable military experience, is back of the movement. There are now batteries at Atlanta and Savannah.

ROME.—If plans now on foot succeed a company of field artillery will be formed in Rome. Barry Wright, who has had considerable military experience, is back of the movement. There are now batteries at Atlanta and Savannah.

ROME.—If plans now on foot succeed a company of field artillery will be formed in Rome. Barry Wright, who has had considerable military experience, is back of the movement. There are now batteries at Atlanta and Savannah.

CHARGES MOROS WERE REALLY MASSACRED

Uncensored Report of Tribe's Extermination by U. S. Troops Calls It Slaughter.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—The story of the killing of 2,000 Moros in the Philippine Islands by General Pershing's soldiers was related here to-day by John McLean, a civilian employee of the United States Army, quartermaster's department, who arrived from Manila on the steamer Persia.

He said 198 women and 340 children were killed in one day's fighting.

When the Moros saw the battle was lost to the American troops, they held their women and children in front of them as shields, and the fire from the rifles and machine guns of the troops mowed them down by scores.

"The news of the fighting was strictly censored at Manila," said McLean. "The American and Philippine officers only allowed the most meager reports to leak out of Jolo while the treacherous Moro bandits were being exterminated."

"At the battle of Bagsak the scenes after the fighting were horrible. As the American troops rushed up the side of the mountain to the edge of the crater, the Moros seized women and children, many mere infants, and held them up to smother themselves. Hundreds of them were literally shot to pieces."

"It was believed that every Moro that took part in that battle was killed. By General Pershing's order, all of the bodies were burned."

Chattanooga Widow Rome Banker's Bride

ROME, July 30.—The marriage on July 4 of Mrs. George C. Mahar, a wealthy woman of Chattanooga, to C. L. Payne, assistant cashier of the Exchange National Bank, here, has just been made known.

Payne's wife continued to reside in Chattanooga until this week, when she paid her first visit to the home of her husband. This makes her third matrimonial venture. She was a widow when she married Mahar. He lived with her only a few weeks and she obtained a divorce. She owns considerable property in Chattanooga.

BALTIMORE, MD.

$20.85 Round Trip $20.85 Tickets on sale August 1, 2 and 3. Return limit August 15. Through electric lighted steel sleeping cars. Dining cars on most convenient schedules.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

Charge Purchases for Rest of July Go on August Statement.

M. RICH & BROS. CO.

Last Day for Silks at these Pre-Inventory Prices—
Final Clearance of 85c to $1.50 Silks at

Because we won't invoice broken lines and short lots of silks, we have grouped these rich and fashionable fabrics at 39c. But you must buy them to-morrow! If a single yard remains at the tap of the closing bell, it will be put away or go back to its original price.

The silks are the choice stylish weaves even now selling elsewhere at full price. They are fresh and fashionable. The lengths extend from 5 to 30 yards. Scarcely a piece shorter than a dress length. Included are 85c shower-proof foulards—handsome all silk fabrics; the summer silk par excellence. Staple colorings in neat designs. 39c.

85c chiffon taffetas—a soft, free flowing silk in solid colors and changeables. 27 inches wide. Chiffon taffetas are "good" for fall. Buy now; save over half. 39c.
$1 to $1.50 silks—a glorious miscellany of Jacquard silks, warp prints, flowered taffetas, shantung crepe, novelties. Widths from 24 to 36 inches. 39c.
(Silk Annex—Main Floor)

25c Non-Odor Powder, 16c

"Eversweet," "Spiro" and "Perspiro"—all perspiration destroyers that do away with any odor from summer heat or perspiration.

50c Face Powder

Mme. Isabelle's face powder, soft and pure. Dainty scented; a delightful powder for summer.

5c Soaps, 2c

Standard 5c soap, including tar soap, glycerine and Colgate's hotel soaps.

(Main Floor, Center)

100 Safety Pins

Usually 6c a dozen; here are 8 dozen, 40c worth, for 19c. All nickel plated. Graduated sizes from the very small to the very large.

18 Collar Supporters 10c

Spiral collar supporters, 6 on card, usually 10c a card, 3 cards here to-morrow for only 10c.

(Main Floor, Center)

19c, 25c, 39c & 50c 10c Jewelry to Go at 10c

Odds and ends that we don't care to invoice. But if the one piece you want is here—and it doubtless is—the saving will be worth while. Choose from Bar pins—Sash Pins—Belt Pins—Brooches—Beauty Pins.

Variouly gold and silver plated and set with stones.

69c Lavalliers 39c

Chains of German silver with Sterling or German silver pendants. Some with stone settings.

$1 Opera Chains at 49c

Popular 54-inch opera chains. Some German silver with platinum, gun metal finish; others of real gun metal. Enriched with pearls and stones.

(Main Floor, Center)

98c Petticoats 49c

Made of fine cambric, fit smooth and snug without a wrinkle. Cut in the new narrow styles. Made of fine white cambric, finished at bottom with embroidery scalloping.

(Muslinwear—Second Floor)

August Furniture Sale Starts Friday, August 1st. Save up to Half

Some are the last of broken lines; others are odds and ends; still others that are the ultra-smart styles too distinctive to meet the popular taste. Choice 25c. There are —$1 calfskin belts in solid brown.

—$1 black and white silk-striped elastic belts with pearl buckle.
—50

The Social World

Colonel and Mrs. Robert Lowry entertained at dinner at the Piedmont Club Tuesday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Clark Howell.

Twenty guests were seated under a table magnificent with pink gladioli and roses. In the center was a plateau of pink gladioli and at the four corners of the table were baskets containing pink and white roses, the handles being tied with pink tulle bows, and little butterflies of iridescent shades were placed among the flowers. The cardsticks held crystals, and all the minor details were in the Dresden colors. The favors for the ladies were French fans in the rose and blue shades. Mrs. Lowry was becomingly gowned in shadow lace and chiffon, and the corsage, which was entirely of lace, was adorned with small chiffon roses.

Mrs. Howell wore a dinner gown of white embroidered crepe draped over white satin, with a girle of American Beauty satin. Her leghorn hat was trimmed in plum, the same shade as her sash and girle.

Trammell-Harvey Wedding Postponed
The wedding of Miss Harriet Trammell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Trammell, to Mr. Lester Harvey, which was to have taken place at home in College Park Wednesday evening, is postponed until a later date, on account of the serious illness of the bridegroom.

Lecture at Sacred Heart Church.
The Rev. Father O'Donnell will give a lecture Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Sodality Hall of the Sacred Heart Church. This lecture is free and all the Catholics in the city and their friends are especially invited.

Father O'Donnell is editor of The Ave Marie, which is published in Notre Dame, Ind., and is a writer and poet of note.

Bridge Party for Visitors.
Mr. and Mrs. Victor R. Smith will give an informal bridge party Wednesday evening for the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. E. Allen, Miss Dorothy Robbins of Birmingham, and Miss Margaret Bransford of Nashville. Their guests will include eight friends.

Hunt-Sewell Wedding.
A quiet wedding will take place Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Bessie Lucie Hunt to Mr. Frank Roy Sewell. The wedding will be at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Martha Hunt, and only a few intimate friends will be present.

Evening Bridge Party.
Mrs. Eric Schuessler and Mrs. Frank Schuessler will entertain at bridge Wednesday evening for their guests, Misses Schuessler, of Cincinnati, and for Mrs. C. K. Ayer's guests, Miss Gertrude Jones, of Selma, Ala., and Mrs. Ethel Tye Wright, of McDonough. Twenty-five guests are invited for the informal affair.

Dancing Party.
Mr. and Mrs. George Caldwell Spear will entertain at an informal dancing party Wednesday evening in compliment to their guest, Miss Nancy Reed.

West End Church Affair.
The Ladies Aid Society of the West End Presbyterian Church will give an ice cream festival and lawn party Thursday, July 31, from 5 to 10 o'clock on the church lawn, corner of Gordon and Ashby streets.

For Atlanta Girls.
At her home in Oxford, Ga., Mrs. C. E. Giles gave an Oriental tea Monday afternoon for her guests, Mrs. Ralph Giles of Andover, N. J., and Mrs. W. T. Soratt and Miss Ruth Giles of Atlanta. About 100 guests called during the afternoon.

Mrs. Bradley Entertains.
Mrs. E. L. Bradley entertained at an afternoon party at her home in Decatur recently in honor of Mrs. Oliver of Montgomery, Ala., and Mrs. Johnson of Mobile, Ala., guests of Mrs. R. W. Owen. Among the invited guests were Mrs. Oliver of Montgomery, Mrs. Johnson of Mobile, Mrs. R. W. Owen, Mrs. A. J. Mize, Mrs. E. P. Vary, Mrs. C. W. Cox, Mrs. John Chambers, Mrs. G. G. Davenport, Mrs. St. J. E. Vogt, Mrs. W. R. Mitchell, Mrs. C. L. Webb, Mrs. Grande, Mrs. W. R. Jones, Mrs. Catherine Owen, Miss Lena Bradley, Miss Ida Copeland, Miss Bessie Jones, Miss Dell Bradley, Master J. T. Bradley.

Girls' Club to Meet.
The Girls' Club of Inman Park will hold its regular monthly meeting on Friday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock at the Druid Hills residence of Mrs. S. C. Dobbs.

Miss Lewis to Entertain.
Miss Louise Lewis will give a "42" party Thursday afternoon in honor of her guest, Miss Fay Simmons, of Gainesville, Ga., and Miss Lucy Vail Jones, of Chatsworth, Ga. The guests of Mrs. W. E. Quillian. Those invited are Misses Agnes Long, Maude Couch, Ruth Morris, Gladys McWilliam.

Funeral Designs and Flowers
FOR ALL OCCASIONS.
Atlanta Floral Company.
455 EAST FAIR STREET.

BALTIMORE, MD.
$20.85 Round Trip $20.85
Tickets on sale August 1, 2 and 3. Return limit August 15. Through electric lighted steel sleeping cars. Dining cars on most convenient schedules.
SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

Bernice Schuessler and Mrs. Everett Giffen.
Besides the regular members, Miss Chapman has invited to be her guests Thursday Miss Lebie Ewing, Mrs. Frank Wincoff, Mrs. Bloxham Dell, of Gainesville, Fla., and Mrs. George Rowbotham, of New Orleans.

Gresham-Echols.
Miss Ruth Gresham and Mr. D. L. Echols were married July 27, at the residence of the Rev. Charles Daniel in the presence of a few intimate friends.
Mr. and Mrs. Echols sailed Tuesday evening for Savannah for New York. They will visit Niagara and Atlantic City before returning to Atlanta. They will reside in Moreland avenue.

Ice Cream Festival.
The Junior Missionary Society of Trinity Methodist Church will give an ice cream festival Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the basement of the church. Swings, see-saws, loggins, boards and other amusements are ready for the children.
Home-made cakes will be on sale.

Dinner at the Ansley Hotel.
Mr. and Mrs. Harold Beer entertained at dinner Monday evening at the Hotel Ansley for Mr. and Mrs. Dillon, of Thomasville, Ga. Covers were laid for six.

Miss Dinkins Hostess.
Miss Marie Dinkins entertained at bridge luncheon Wednesday morning for her guests, Miss Dora Candler, of Dallas, Texas; Miss Elizabeth Kimbrough, of Gainesville, Ga., and for Miss Mary Murphy's house guests, Miss Louise Parker, Miss Lyla Swift and Edna Crawford, of Columbus, and Miss India Young, of Quitman.

The house was decorated with yellow and red flowers. The prizes were for top score, a gold friendship circle; for consolation, a French miniature. To the honor guests were presented appropriate souvenirs.
Miss Dinkins received her guests wearing an embroidered marquisette, with a sash and girle of blue satin.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Fleming announce the birth of a son on July 27. Or. Hinton Baker, of Augusta, is spending a few days in Atlanta.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hagan will leave Atlanta next Wednesday for a trip to the Great Lakes and Michigan.

Miss Rosa Belle Chapman has returned from North Georgia, where she was a member of a house party.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hightower, Jr., and children have returned from St. Simons.

Miss Ruth Barry and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Watkins have returned from St. Simons.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Ames will leave Atlanta Saturday for a short stay at Atlantic Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. William Percy are spending ten days at White Sulphur Springs.

Mrs. George McCarty will leave Atlanta Saturday for Skyland, N. C., where she will join Mrs. W. E. Davidson for a stay of several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hagan returned Tuesday evening from the West, where they, with their children, have been on an auto trip.

Mrs. Dorsey E. Moorefield and her sister, Mrs. Sheram, have returned from a fortnight's stay at Wrightsville Beach.

The Rev. and Mrs. A. G. Cooper, of Macon, formerly of Atlanta, announce the birth of a daughter, who will be called Elizabeth. Mrs. Cooper was Miss Levy Robertson.

Miss Corrie Hoyt Brown will leave Atlanta Monday to visit friends in the Sheandoah Valley of Virginia.

Mrs. William Robinson is the guest of Mrs. J. R. Mobley.

Miss Linda Felker, of Monroe, is the guest of Miss Grace Thorn. Later Miss Felker and Miss Thorn will join Miss Felker's father, Mr. Joseph Felker, at Indian Springs for a sojourn of two weeks.

Miss Lily Nunnally has as her guest Miss Marie Marshburn, of LaGrange. Miss Claudia McDonald, of Hawkinsville, will arrive Thursday to visit Miss Marguerite Nunnally. Many informal affairs are being planned for them.

Japs Offer Advice To Chinese Rebels

Special Cable to The Georgian.
PEKIN, July 30.—The Government is taking active measures to suppress the secessionary movement in the southern states. Twenty thousand northern troops were to-day dispatched from Hsu-Chow-Fu for Chin-Kiang, 45 miles northeast of Nankin. The rebels are being reinforced daily, although some of the southern states still remain loyal. It is reported here that Japanese officers are offering military advice to the rebels.

Quarrels With Wife And Is Later Killed

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 30.—K. Sankpeal vice president of a lumber company, quarreled with his wife last night, left the house in anger, and a few hours later an automobile in which he and Miss Martha Hartlebin, of Rochester, were riding, was struck by a train a few miles from the city. Both were killed.

Mrs. Sankpeal was awake awaiting her husband's return when she was notified of his death.

Birmingham Man Is Newest Price 'Heir'

BALTIMORE, MD., July 30.—A real more to-day in the person of F. G. live Price claimant blew into Baltimore, a stock broker from Birmingham, Ala.
According to his statement, the Price heirs are entitled to nearly all of the upper end of the eastern shore, as well as to a large portion of Baltimore city and county.
"I am the owner of the original sheepskin parchment on which these grants of land were made to Andrew and Thomas Price by Lord Baltimore," said Alexander.

6th District Masons In Session at Macon

MACON, July 30.—More than 150 Masons from the Sixth district are in annual meeting in Macon to-day. The sessions are presided over by J. T. Davidson.
This morning addresses were made by A. W. Lane, of Macon; T. J. Brown, Judge R. T. Daniels, of Griffin, and Grand Master Robert L. Colding, of Savannah. The visitors were complimented with a barbecue at noon at the Idle Hour Club. Tonight there will be degree exemplifications in the lodgerooms of Macon lodge.

FACES NEW CHARGES.
SAVANNAH.—Sentenced to a year's imprisonment last October, W. O. Brown, former manager of the seed and fertilizer department of the Southern Cotton Oil Company, has appeared in the Chatham Superior Court to answer additional charges of embezzlement and larceny after trust.

Former Official of Walton County Dead

MONROE, July 30.—Judge T. C. Arnold, former Ordinary and Sheriff of Walton County and Chief of Police of Monroe, is dead. He was 44 years of age. He is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Mattie Galloway. Mr. Arnold had been declining in health for some weeks, but was critically ill but a short time, the immediate cause of his death being congestion of the brain.
The funeral and burial took place this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in this city.

Negress Accused of Plot on Employers

GREENSBORO, July 30.—Lucindy Park, a negress, will be tried at the present term of Greene Superior Court for attempting to poison the family of B. P. Kimbrough, a prominent farmer and dairyman, residing about two miles from Greensboro.
The woman, it is alleged, placed several poisonous drugs in the food prepared for the Kimbrough family, but it was detected before being eaten. It is said she put strychnine in a jar of jelly and the poison turned the color of the jelly, causing a member of the family to suspect something wrong.

Men's Linen Suits STODDARDIZED 50c

The price of STODDARDIZING Men's Woolen Suits is ONE DOLLAR—but we STODDARDIZE Men's Linen or Palm Beach Suits for FIFTY CENTS.

A WAGON FOR A PHONE CALL.
We pay Charges (one way) on Out-of-Town Orders of $2 or more.

Stoddard 126 Peachtree Street Bell Phone, Ivy 43 Atlanta Phone 43 Dixie's Greatest Dry Cleaner and Dyer

Davison-Paxon-Stokes Co.

Rousing News for Thursday About a Little Outgoing of Women's Summer Undermuslins

To women watching out for economies in muslins—this is one of the best opportunities offered this season.

Most of the garments are fresh, new, have just come to supply "last minute needs"—and are such as particularly appeal to the vacation girl.

It is the reckoning up of advantages gained in a special purchase—affording good values at little cost.

The muslins are here for Thursday—the choice is yours—our part is to see that the garments are worthy, that the prices are right.

WHICH WE HAVE DONE.

All goods charged on Thursday will be put on August account, statement rendered September first.

These Pretty Garments---Just Ready for the Vacation Trunk

69c For New $1.25 Combinations

Not just a few odds and ends—but many fresh, new, pretty garments to select from. Corset cover and drawers combined, made of good nainsook and variously trimmed with lace or embroidery, beadings and ribbons.

Cool, Summer Gowns at 50c

Almost every style gown one could wish for, in an inexpensive Summer Gown, is among them; chemise style, short sleeves, also plenty of high neck, long sleeve gowns for those who want them. Garments of very unusual value at this price.

$1.50 Night Gowns at $1.00

Beautifully made and trimmed gowns—just as simple or elaborate as one's taste demands—low neck, chemise style, some in becoming empire fashion; all dainty and delightful, and of unusual value at this price.

$1.00 Lingerie Petticoats of Latest Fashion

For your choosing Thursday—is a table full of beautiful Petticoats—such as are needed now for narrow-skirted summer dresses. They are cut on correct, slim lines, and beautifully trimmed with laces or embroidery—some have wide band of embroidery beading at top of flounce, run with ribbon.

25c for circular Drawers, embroidery trimmed—worth considerably more.

Good Lingerie Petticoats, new, slender lines, priced Thursday at 75c.

25c for new and dainty Corset Covers—lace or embroidery trimmed.

75c for Night Gowns in a half-dozen styles—high or low neck; prettily trimmed in various ways.

Very dainty, lace-trimmed Princess Slips, pink, blue and lavender, to wear under white lingerie dresses; priced at $1.00 each.

Lingerie Petticoats in Extra Sizes

75c Instead of $1.25

Here are Petticoats of special provision for the woman who cannot be fitted in regular sizes—they are generously cut and strongly made of good muslin with lawn flounce; several rows of hemstitched tucks.

New and Dainty Net Skirts are $1.50

These garments are irresistibly pretty; they are to wear under sheer summer frocks—and they look the part. Made of plain net, cut narrow, finished with flat, knife plaited frills, beading above run with wide ribbon—either pink or blue.

Keely Company--2d Floor

THE FINAL SALE IS THE BEST YET

A Timely Sale at 98c Thursday's Special Outgoing of Muslinwear Will Attract Hundreds. Gowns, Princess Slips, Combinations, Petticoats, Kimonos, Silk Vests all in one great sale, priced at one figure:

Ninety-Eight Cents for Choice

Our New York buyers secured for us last week one hundred dozen assorted garments at 40 per cent under value--the entire surplus of an undergarment maker. They are of the "Best Yet" kind--they look it. You can come to the sale confidently expecting the best bargain of the season.

THE SALE WILL INCLUDE:

Silk Mull Gowns

In dotted silk, mulls, lace trimmed, beading and ribbon run; pink, blue and white.

Combinations

Both styles, Drawer and Corset Cover or Skirt and Corset Cover, beautifully trimmed.

Crepe Kimonos

of floral crepes, trimmed with satin bandings; many are of empire effects; all colors.

Sheer Nainsook Gowns

Slip-over styles of Sheerest Nainsook, Val. Cluny and substantial embroidery trimmed.

Princess Slips

of best Lingerie Cloth. Both the corset cover and skirt are beading and ribbon run.

Petticoats

The popular panel front styles; scalloped embroidery as well as other lace and embroidery.

ALL GOODS CHARGED IN THIS SALE GO ON AUGUST BILLS

Do you want a real Silk Vest? In this sale are 50 dozen Chemise styles---flat Venetians, dainty pinks, light blue, white.

Muslinwear Opportunity Sale

Keely's Clearance of Undermuslins

A Sale of Summer Needs at 98c

A Sale of Hot Weather Garments at 98c

ENNIS RESCUES HOUSE LIQUOR MEASURE

Hixon-Searcy Bill Merely Goes Over Until Next Year, Awaiting Decision on U. S. Statute.

That the Hixon-Searcy bill, proposing to extend the Webb bill provisions to Georgia, was not killed outright in the House Temperance Committee, rather than sent over to next session in charge of a subcommittee, is due to the work of Mr. Ennis, of Baldwin.

When the question of this bill's probable unconstitutionality was raised in the committee, it was pointed out that the Webb law is being tested in the United States courts, and that by this time next year it will be ruled upon finally. If the law is upheld, it was contended, Georgia might extend its laws to meet the Federal statute. If ruled unconstitutional, however, Georgia would lose nothing by waiting.

In addition to this, it was shown that to pass the law now simply would shut off approximately $300,000 revenue to accrue within a year, which, with the $750,000 shortage already on hand, would pile up a total deficit to the appalling extent of over $1,000,000.

When these things were made clear to the committee, a disposition was evident upon the part of several members to kill the bill outright, with the idea that it might be reintroduced in the next Legislature, if it then seemed advisable, tax reform having been enacted in the meantime and the present deficit wiped out.

Mr. Ennis, vice chairman of the committee, strenuously objected to the bill's slaughter in the committee, however, and prevailed upon his colleagues to refer the entire matter to a subcommittee for a report next session, rather than let the bill go to its death in this Legislature. The bill was given that direction, and Mr. Ennis was made vice chairman of the committee having the measure in charge.

Turks Defy Powers To Force Them to Give Up Adrianople

Special Cable to The Georgian.

ADRIANOPLE, July 30.—Erver Bey, chief representative of Turkey in the recaptured city of Adrianople, to-day threw down the gauntlet to Europe.

"We will not evacuate the city we have recaptured," he said. "Europe can not drive us out. The powers understand this the better it will be for the peace of Europe."

This was his reply to the contemplated move by the powers to drive the Porte out of Adrianople.

BELGRADE, July 30.—Despite the overtures among the Balkan allies heavy fighting is still going on. A dispatch from Sofia says that the Bulgarians forced the Greeks to retreat from Mehoma and Nevrokop.

Divorce Refused by Greene County Jury

GREENSBORO, July 30.—W. L. Branch, a prominent citizen of Bishop, Oconee County, was refused a divorce in his suit against his wife, Mrs. Ethel Branch, of Woodville, Greene County, by a jury in Greene Superior Court.

Mrs. Branch received a verdict for alimony in Oconee County, and Branch then instituted divorce proceedings in Greene County. Mrs. Branch alleged that her husband treated her cruelly and often drank. Branch alleged that his wife willfully deserted him.

Hooray! Baby to Rule the House

No Longer Do Women Fear
the Greatest of All Human Blessings.

It is a joy and comfort to know that those much-talked-of pains and other distresses that are said to precede child-bearing may easily be avoided. No woman need fear the slightest discomfort if she will fortify herself with the well-known and time-honored remedy, "Mother's Friend."

This is a most grateful, penetrating, external application that at once softens and makes pliant the abdominal muscles and ligaments. They naturally expand without the slightest strain, and thus not only banish all tendency to nervousness, but there is an entire freedom from nausea, discomfort, sleeplessness and dread that so often leaves their impress upon the babe.

The occasion is therefore one of unbounded, joyful anticipation, and the much stress can not be laid upon the remarkable influence which a mother's happy, pre-natal disposition has upon the health and fortune of the generation to come.

Mother's Friend is recommended only for the relief and comfort of expectant mothers, thousands of whom have used and recommend it. You have used and recommend it. Write to-day to the Atlanta Regulator Co., 130 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a most instructive book on this greatest of all subjects—motherhood.

"IT'S A SAD STORY, MATES!"

Copyright, 1913, International News Service.

OFFICER'S SLAYER IN JAIL AT DALTON

DALTON, July 30.—Clem Poole, charged with the murder of Policeman Harry Cook, was brought here from Chattanooga at 4:15 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, a crowd of several hundred people being at the depot awaiting his arrival. Police Chief White, Policeman Duckworth and John P. Elrod had him in custody. The prisoner was in no way molested by the large crowd.

From the train he was taken to the Whitfield County jail and locked up, being immediately in consultation with his attorney, Judge G. G. Glenn. Acting upon his attorney's instructions, he refused to discuss the crime with which he is charged.

Shortly after 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the Grand Jury returned an indictment against Poole. Dan Hatfield, and John and Tom Nicodemus, charged with the murder of Will Parrish, were also indicted. The four prisoners were taken before Judge Fite late Tuesday afternoon and announced they would be ready for trial. To-day Hatfield will be arraigned. Stating that he was unable to employ an attorney, Judge Fite appointed Colonel M. E. Mann to represent him. Colonel Mann has been retained by the Nicodemus brothers and is familiar with the case. The Poole murder trial will, in all probability, be the first major trial taken up when court meets Thursday morning. Judge Glenn states that he was employed only Tuesday and had been busy through the day in preparing a defense, but added that he saw no reason at present why the defendant would not be ready by Thursday. He also added that he didn't fear the verdict.

To-day it was alleged that the trouble which led Policeman Cook to go after Poole grew out of Poole's anger when his wife, converted at a revival in progress in North Dalton, was baptized and admitted into the church Sunday afternoon. It is alleged that his anger caused him to shoot twice at his wife.

Negro Lad Catches Two 9-Foot Sharks

CHARLESTON, July 30.—"I got one!" exclaimed Son Brown, a negro boy fishing for sharks off the Charleston waterfront, and he had a hard time to keep from being dragged into the Cooper River by the fish that his mullet-baited hook had caught. Sixteen men helped him pull the victim in. It was a man-eating shark, 9 feet 4 inches long, weighing 500 pounds.

A half hour later the boy caught another, only two inches shorter. These two sharks are the largest caught here this season.

Gulf Stream Speedy; Seaman Fears Storm

CHARLESTON, July 30.—Sea captains coming into Charleston continue to report an unusual speed for the Gulf Stream, which is raging along, according to more than one mariner, at a rate of two or three knots faster than usual.

Captain Pennington, a well-known coast sailing master, believes that the speed of the Gulf Stream forecasts a big storm, this being his experience in the past when the stream was unruly.

NEW BANK CASHIER.

JACKSON.—W. H. Wilson, City Tax Collector, has succeeded J. P. Ball as assistant cashier of the First Farmers' Bank, of this city, the latter having accepted a position as cashier of the Farmers' Bank of Brownwood.

Albany Wins First New Cotton Bale

SAVANNAH, July 30.—In a race to market in Savannah the first bale of upland cotton for the season, Albany won by a narrow margin over McRae. Both bales were ginned yesterday afternoon. The bale capturing the prize was grown by Frank Thomas, a negro. It was consigned to Hunter & Co. It graded good middling, weighed 410 pounds and was bought by the Brown-Cramer Cotton Company, of Albany, at 17 cents. It was sold at auction in front of the cotton exchange this morning. The new bale this year arrived two days ahead of the first bale last year.

Postmaster Baker Offers Resignation

SAVANNAH, July 30.—Marcus S. Baker, Jr., postmaster at Savannah, has returned from Washington, where he went last week to confer with First Assistant Postmaster General Roper about the recent investigation of the Savannah postoffice by Inspector Frank Frayer.

Baker offered while in Washington to resign in case the report is adverse to him, and he has been given assurances that he will be allowed this privilege.

Whitfield Tax Increase. DALTON.—Whitfield County tax values increased $25,962 during the past year, according to the report of Tax Receiver Broadrick, just forwarded to the Comptroller General, the total valuation being returned at $4,687,070.

CHANGE URGED IN INSURANCE LAWS

The general insurance law of Georgia will be amended in at least one particular if legislation now proposed in that body is placed on the statute books. It is intended to change certain features which discriminate against and work to the detriment of Georgia home companies in the matter of making investments.

Two similar measures, House Bill No. 280, introduced by Representative Meador of Oconee, and Senate Bill No. 99, by Senator McNeill of Macon, are before the Assembly committees. These measures change the law so as to allow home companies to make investments, under statutory right, in stocks and other stable securities. At present, while foreign companies are, of course, free to do this, Georgia companies are restricted. Georgia's life and fire companies are all interested in the proposed reform. These companies have done a great deal to create a market for bank stocks in Georgia.

Both of the bills are modeled after the New York law, which is conceded to be the best in the Union. The present Georgia law allows home companies to make investments only at the discretion of the Insurance Commissioner. Georgia companies, it is declared, write 10 per cent of the premiums written in this State, while in other States home companies, not hampered by this investment law, write 65 per cent.

LEARNS TO WRITE IN PRISON, AGE 53

BAXLEY, July 30.—It was not until after he had been given a life sentence in the State penitentiary that William H. Chancy, a white man, 53 years of age, learned to write his name. Chancy is now confined in the Appling County jail, pending an appeal to the State Supreme Court. He was convicted in Jeff Davis County for killing a man named Carter last February. As Jeff Davis has no jail, he was brought here for confinement until his appeal is disposed of.

Chancy was reared in the country, without the advantages of schools, and never learned to write. In order to pass the weary hours in jail, he asked his attorney, W. W. Bennett, to set him copies on an old-fashioned copybook. From these copies he has learned to write a legible hand. He wrote his wife his first love letter by his own hand a few days ago. As Mr. Bennett was formerly a school teacher—one of the pioneer masters of the little log schoolhouses in the pine forests of Appling—he has taken a keen interest in teaching his client-pupil.

Chancy confidently believes that he will ultimately be acquitted. He says that he did not receive a fair trial and that the killing was in self-defense. He says he was put upon trial thirteen days after the killing, while the public mind was in a high state of prejudice. He has been an exemplary prisoner in every way. Some days ago, when another prisoner escaped, he was the first to give the alarm to the officers.

Winged Fire Wagons Forecast in Salem

SALEM, MASS., July 30.—A flying machine fire department for Salem was predicted by J. F. Hurley, Mayor of this city.

Fire engines, hook and ladders, hose wagons and aerial water towers of the future will go through the air on the wings of aeroplanes, according to Hurley's ideas.

Knife Makes Little Town Appendixless

MOUNT PLEASANT, N. H., July 30.—Colebrook, near here, has gained the name of the "appendixless town." More than 200 of the 2,000 inhabitants have undergone operations for appendicitis.

Conference Thursday On Macon Depot Issue

MACON, July 30.—A delegation from Macon will confer with the Georgia Railroad Commission and officials of the Central of Georgia Railroad in Atlanta Thursday in regard to the proposition that the claims for damages arising from the closing of Cherry street, where the new passenger depot will be built, shall be settled by arbitration. All but one of the property owners have agreed to arbitration and the proposition is now up to the Central of Georgia and the Railroad Commission.

SPARKS STORE ROBBED. TIFTON.—Studdill's general merchandise store at Sparks was entered by burglars and eight watches, a suit of clothing and a lot of underwear stolen.

Wife-Slayer Escapes, Then Returns to Jail

CHATTANOOGA, July 30.—After felling his jailer with his bare fists, Charles Goodlake, charged with the murder of his wife, escaped from the county jail at Decatur, Tenn., late last night only to return to his cell after an hour of freedom. Another prisoner who escaped with him has not been located.

Goodlake is prominently connected here. He killed his wife at their summer home at Decatur while in a drunken frenzy.

COLUMBUS VETERAN DEAD. COLUMBUS.—John H. Farr, a Confederate veteran, died at his home here yesterday. His funeral took place this afternoon.

CHAMBERLIN-JOHNSON-DuBOSE CO. ATLANTA NEW YORK PARIS

Prices Are Greatly Changed For To-morrow On Girls' and Misses' Dresses

Junior Department, Third Floor

Dainty lingerie dresses, sturdy linen dresses and gingham and percale dresses that will wash beautifully—all have their prices changed in substantial fashion for to-morrow.

It is a Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. clearaway—a righting of stocks and so a time of savings for mothers, of savings so big that none but the most extravagant can afford to miss the opportunity.

At $4.95

Girls' $7.50 and $8.50 Lingerie
Dresses

Sizes six to fourteen years. They are white and dainty and charming, made so by the use of hand embroidery, Valenciennes and Cluny laces, some even have Irish crochet laces in yokes and sleeves—long waisted with plaited skirts. With these are a scattering few of white linen dresses.

At $1.59

Girls' $2.25 and $2.50 Wash
Dresses

Sizes six to fourteen years. Neatly figured and flowered lawns, gingham in plaids and stripes and percales in stripes, dots and figures—such a variety as you would like to choose from at regular prices. Buy for now, buy for the soon to come school days—long-waisted effects.

At $3.98

$6.50 Junior Dresses

$6.50 junior dresses and suits of linen in white and blue. Not many of these, so time your visit to early in the morning. The dresses are trimmed in contrasting shades, the little suits are piped, the blue with white, the white with blue.

At $1.98

$5.00 and $6.00 Junior Dresses

The clearance of the better grades of Junior wash dresses. The materials are fine gingham and percales, usually the imported kinds, of choicest patterns. Then they are so prettily trimmed—with braids, pipings and buttons—all one-piece dresses.

A Sale of Women's Gowns

The savings warrant an early morning trip to town for these. Here are the reductions:

$1.25 and $1.50 Gowns are 95c 95c and $1.19 75c

Priced so merely because they are an odd surplus. They were splendid, unusual values at regular prices.

Among those now 95c are nainsook and cotton crepe gowns, Empire and kimono styles, made pretty with laces and sheer embroideries.

Among those now 75c are nainsook and crepe gowns. The nainsook is exceptionally sheer and soft. The crepe is in colors, slip-over style, touched with laces and embroideries.

New Models of Warner Corsets

Just in the house are several models of Warner corsets that women will want for these hot days. Perhaps the lightest and most comfortable corsets that women could find at these prices. They are of ventilated batiste with low and medium-low bust, four and six hose supporters.

Priced at $1.00 and $1.50

Agents for Butterick Patterns and Publications

Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co.

No More Headaches

Coffee drinking induces headache, indigestion, nervousness, heart trouble, and many other ills. This because coffee contains the poisonous drug, caffeine.

A prominent business man of Memphis, Tenn., writes under date of April 21, 1913, of his experience in quitting coffee. He says: "For a number of years I had been a great sufferer from headaches and indigestion. About January first of this year I left off coffee and began the use of Instant Postum. Since getting from under the influence of coffee, headaches have ceased. I can eat anything I want to, and have no indigestion. In addition to this I have gained in weight."

"I attribute it all to the stopping of coffee and the use of Postum. I write this letter simply to add my testimony to the many you already have, and to induce some fellow sufferer to get relief by quitting coffee and turning to Instant Postum as a morning beverage." (Name given on request.)

INSTANT POSTUM

is a pure food-drink, made only of clean, roasted whole wheat and a small quantity of molasses. It contains no drug whatever, but does contain the vital phosphates of the grain which are essential for the upbuilding of brain and nerve and muscle tissue.

If something interferes with your comfort, suppose you try leaving off coffee and use Instant Postum.

Postum comes in two forms.

Regular Postum (must be boiled.)

Instant Postum doesn't require boiling, but is prepared instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful in an ordinary cup of hot water and adding cream and sugar to taste.

A level teaspoonful makes it right for most people. Some use a heaping teaspoonful and temper it with plenty of cream, and it has a delightfully snappy flavor that is wonderfully pleasing. Find out how you like it and always have it served that way.

"There's a Reason" for POSTUM

BUY SECURITIES NOW, IS ADVICE BY FORBES

Expert Recommends Convertible Bonds—His Prediction of Improvement Realized.

By B. C. FORBES.

Financially, we are emerging from the thickets that have seriously retarded prosperity. Every day brings us nearer clear fields and bright skies.

"Do you recommend the purchase of securities?" I am asked.

Yes, many excellent bonds are today bargains, notably the convertible issues of sound railroad and conspicuously strong industrial companies. Among the attractive investments that rush to mind are the convertibles of Baltimore and Ohio, St. Paul, Atchafalaya, Norfolk and Western, and American Telephone. They are safe, they yield a fairly generous income, and the convertible privilege gives them an added speculative value not to be ignored.

What about stocks?

Well, a month ago, after having urged caution for a year, I ventured the opinion that the turning in the long lane was near and that discriminating outright purchases could be made with every probability—certainty, almost—of generous profits in addition to the high dividend returns. Nothing has occurred to change that view, except that prices have already enjoyed so substantial an advance that I believe a temporary reaction is in order. Then the best stocks will again be very attractive.

I have enjoyed confidential chats with certain of our most powerful financiers, and their views are exactly in accord with what has just been written.

Bonds, however, are favored. Investors who like a speculative string to their purchases are recommended to buy trustworthy convertible bonds in preference to stocks.

The strongest banking interests are opposed to speculative activity in stocks at present. "There should not be, and very probably will not be, much speculation in stocks for two or three months," remarked a financier whose judgment is second to none and whose position is one of great eminence in American and international finance. "Margin trading is not to be encouraged. Nobody should buy stocks just now unless prepared to hold them, no matter if a setback be suffered. Of course, 50-point margins are all right. I am speaking only of narrow margins. Small investors who can pay in full and who buy on reasonable terms are pretty sure to come out well."

Plungers are not to be encouraged until the money necessary to market the crops has been supplied.

I hear that cotton growers will be at the earliest moment and that grain growers will also be urged to market part of their product without delay. The double desire is to have debts liquidated at home and credits built up abroad.

Our financial prospects are better than our business conditions, although these are not wholly bad, by any means.

Financial stringency, once gravely threatened, now promises to be averted. Inflation has been curtailed throughout the country and the deluge of new security issues has been stopped. Abroad also, the banking situation has been strengthened at every important center. If need arise, the United States ought to obtain assistance from London without protest, for the Bank of England's reserve is phenomenally high and the leading Continental banks are also unusually well fortified with bullion.

Escaped Life-Term Convict Recaptured

COLUMBUS, July 30.—Detective Ben Moore has turned from Birmingham with Will Truett, a negro, who escaped from the penitentiary six years ago while serving a life sentence for killing Price Thomas, another negro.

Truett was sentenced to hang, but Governor Hicks commuted the sentence to life imprisonment. He served one year when he escaped.

Women Voters Buy Auto Fire Equipment

CHAMPAIGN, ILL., July 30.—The purchase of two automobile fire trucks and other modern fire-fighting appliances by the city of Champaign was possible to-day because the women at yesterday's election voted unanimously for the issuance of bonds for the purchases.

Without the ballots of the women, it was estimated, the proposition would have failed.

Aid Goes to Burning Coastwise Steamer

NORFOLK, VA., July 30.—The Merchants and Miners' steamer Howard is at sea with a fire in her forward hold, according to a wireless message received here to-day.

The Old Dominion steamer Monroe has gone to her assistance.

DELUGE OF FREE VOTES CLOSES LAST BONUS

Pony Contest Manager Repeats Warning That No Contestant Is Safe—Shetlands Parade.

"Red Letter Ballots" came in an avalanche Tuesday afternoon and evening, burying the clerks in the contest manager's office.

This was the last bonus offer, the last bit of help for the boys and girls who are striving for The Georgian and American ponies. Wednesday, Thursday—Thursday midnight, and the race is over.

Edward DeLoach, 97 S. Gordon.

Admiring crowds in the business district of Atlanta stood along the sidewalks Wednesday morning to see the 32 ponies which will go to the two winners in each of eleven districts. Though unused to city sights, the ponies behaved very well, and certainly made a splendid showing.

District Races Close.

There is just one thing for the boys and girls to remember—it all will be over Thursday at midnight. There are close races in almost every district. The boy or girl who is nosed out of first place by a very few votes will regret for years that he did not see just a few more people the last day; that he did not try for at least one more subscription than the number he thought enough.

Some of the most confident—the bragging sort—are in most danger of losing. This is the "tip" from the contest manager.

No one is safe. And Thursday is at hand.

Followed Advice.

Hardly one of the contestants overlooked his opportunity, offered by the "Red Letter Ballots," to get 2,000 votes for $2. Some of the boys and girls brought in dozens of these "Red Letter Ballots."

They followed the advice of the contest manager and concentrated all their efforts on subscriptions to The Sunday American up until Tuesday night.

That offer now is history. A brief, sharp sprint, with no favors asked or given, and the pony contest will end in a blaze of glory.

Mystery in Slaying Of Man in East Rome

Rome, July 30.—Mysteriously killed last Saturday night, the death of Floyd Frisco has just become known. Coroner Miller learned to-day that Frisco had been done to death on White Row in East Rome, and so far he has been unable to unravel the mystery.

Frisco was at the home of Will Watley, but Watley, who was also shot in the arm, can not or will not divulge the name of the assailant, except that his name is Fred. Watley is being held until "Fred" can be found.

Women After Police Jobs Work 'Pulls'

CHICAGO, July 30.—For the ten jobs as policemen in Chicago Mayor Harrison to-day had 60 applications.

Most of the applications were induced by politicians who are reported to have a "pull" at the City Hall. One woman asked that her claim upon an appointment be considered because her father had kept faith with the Democratic party since the war.

LIGHTNING WRECKS BARN. TIFTON.—The barn of E. O. Hood, in the northern part of Tift County, was struck by lightning and totally destroyed. A mule and a horse were burned.

Two Hustlers in The Pony Contest

Fain S. Webb, Piedmont, Ala.

SHAKE-UP LIKELY IN SOUTHERN RY.

President Finley Slated to Head Harriman Lines, Necessitating Changes in High Offices.

A general shake-up in the management of the Southern Railway and its allied lines, including the Alabama Great Southern, New Orleans and North Eastern and the Vicksburg, Shreveport and Pacific, will take place about September 1, according to an authoritative rumor emanating in Macon.

W. W. Finley, president of the Southern, it is said, is slated for the presidency of the Harriman system or the Southern or Union Pacific, while E. H. Coapman, vice president and general manager of the Georgia Southern and Florida Railway and receiver for the Macon and Birmingham Railway, who will become vice president and general manager of the Mobile and Ohio.

This line is considered one of the best properties of the Southern Railway. Mr. Munson will be succeeded by W. F. Kaderly, general superintendent of the G. S. and F. According to further information, which is not so authentic, R. V. Taylor, vice president and general manager of the Mobile and Ohio, will assume a similar position with the Queen and Crescent Route, with headquarters in Cincinnati.

If the current report is true there will be a general shifting of all vice presidents of all the allied lines of Southern Railway. The changes, it is said, were scheduled to take effect July 1, but were postponed.

Woman's Life Saved By Birmingham Man

SAVANNAH, July 30.—Summer residents at Tybee tell a thrilling story of a daring rescue when Mrs. Pearl Golden, of Savannah, was carried out by a strong undertow. She would have drowned had it not been for the bravery of Sam Seigel, of Birmingham, who went to her assistance.

Seigel reached the point where the woman was struggling in the water just a moment before she collapsed, completely exhausted. He caught Mrs. Golden under his left arm and swam with her to shore.

Arrested on Charge Of Deserting Wife

ROME, July 30.—Shortly after he had registered at a local hotel H. A. Smith, of Durham, N. C., was arrested by police officers on charges preferred in the North Carolina town. One charge is wife desertion.

Smith was arrested on the receipt of a telephone message sent from Atlanta by his wife, who declared that she was preparing to desert her. Later on the Chief of Police here received a long-distance message from Durham asking that Smith be held until officers could arrive.

CALL A CARPENTER! PHILIPSTOWN, N. Y., July 30.—The wooden leg of Jeremiah Connolly was run over and broken when he tried to board a moving freight train here.

SEASHORE EXCURSION AUGUST 7.

Jacksonville, Brunswick, St. Simon, Cumberland, Atlantic Beach, $6.00—Limited 6 days. Tampa, Fla., $8—Limited 8 days.

TWO SPECIAL TRAINS. 10 p. m. solid Pullman train. 10:15 p. m. Coach train. Make Reservations Now. SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

WANT AD WAY IS QUICKEST, BEST AND SUREST

Business Man's Lost Keys Prove It—Contestants Find It Easy to Secure Want Ads.

When you lose something, do you bid it good-bye and say nothing? That's bad business. Why not find it?

An Atlanta business man lost his office keys a few days ago. He telephoned The Georgian's Want Ad Man and had three lines published in the "want" pages, asking that the keys be returned to his office, where a reward would be paid.

Next morning he was offered just fourteen bunches of keys. One bunch was his own.

The thirteen other bunches may not have their keys yet, unless they advertised for them. The finders had no clue to the ownership.

A Georgian want ad will get most anything you want, from a housewife to a twelve-room house. That's the reason you see so many business houses using them.

Atlanta folk know their value, too, and that's the reason The Georgian's Want Ad Contest is proving so successful. It's easy to get want ads. Contestants need only make a suggestion or two and an unfilled want is remembered, the advertisement dictated, the want fulfilled.

The contest is still open and new contestants have a fine opportunity to enter and win a prize—an automobile, a piano, a trip to California, a motorcycle or any one of the dozens of trophies offered. There isn't any guesswork to rack your brains over, no disappointments. Energy will bring results and the prizes will go to the best hustlers. The Want Ad Man will tell you all about how to enter, how to work, how to win.

Weston on Last Leg Of Minneapolis Hike

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., July 30.—Edward Payson Weston, the 75-year-old pedestrian, was on the last leg of his hike from New York to Minneapolis to-day.

He was officially welcomed yesterday as he crossed the State line at Hudson, Wis., and into Minnesota by Governor Eberhart and members of his executive staff.

EX-JUDGE DEFENDS NEGRO.

GREENSBORO.—Judge Henry Gray Lewis, who retired from the bench two years ago, was appointed to defend Bob Jones, a negro, charged with assault with intent to murder, when he announced that he had no counsel and was not able to hire an attorney.

PRISON BOARD IN FAVOR OF OPEN SENTENCES

Senate Committee Decides to Recommend Bill—Commission Head Praises It.

Chairman R. E. Davison, of the State Prison Commission, appeared before the Senate Penitentiary Committee Wednesday and announced that the board is in favor of the indeterminate sentence bill.

After hearing from Mr. Davison the committee voted unanimously to report the measure favorably to the Senate. It has been reported favorably in the House. It is expected to receive no opposition.

The bill provides that instead of sentencing a prisoner for a fixed term of years, the judge shall sentence him, for burglary say, for not less than ten years and not more than twenty years; or for not less than five and not more than ten, as the case might be. It is then up to the convict's own behavior as to whether he gets out under the minimum sentence or has to serve the full term.

Chairman Davison said:

"The Prison Commission is heartily in favor of the indeterminate sentence. We have had practical experience of the operation of such a law in the Boys' Reformatory, and it has worked well. We have found that it makes better boys. It gives them the incentive to work for their release, and yet we are enabled to keep an eye on them and keep them under our supervision after they have been paroled. They know that their only chance to get out before serving their full term is to make good in deportment.

"If the convicts are given indeterminate sentences I believe the same condition will prevail. Instead of increasing their evil tendencies and making them as sneaking and idle as they dare to be they will have an incentive to behave themselves and do good, steady work. They will be given the power to redeem themselves. We have discussed the measure thoroughly, and we are satisfied that with safeguards thrown around it as they are, it is a good and practical one."

The measure is framed to exclude from the indeterminate sentence persons who have been convicted of two former offenses, also persons sentenced to life imprisonment, or persons sentenced for treason, arson, criminal assault or attempted criminal assault.

We Have Reduced Everything 20% From the Regular Price

Do not let the opportunity to get that which is so genuinely good at such rarely low prices pass without taking advantage of it.

We move to our new store some time in August, and until that time practically all of our present stock is going at this reduction. Only a small quantity of Silver, Hamilton and Howard Watches and Waterman Fountain Pens are reserved.

Eugene W. Haynes & Co.
JEWELERS - 37 WHITEHALL ST.

FRANK H. REYNOLDS & CO.

SURETY BONDS, FIRE, CASUALTY AND BURGLARY

INSURANCE

Automobile, Accident and Health Insurance. Plate Glass.

914-34 Candler Building. Phone Ivy 5277.

SEMI-ANNUAL STATEMENT

For the six months ending June 30, 1913, of the condition of the

EQUITABLE FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

OF CHARLESTON.

Organized under the laws of the State of South Carolina, made to the Governor of State of Georgia, in pursuance of the laws of said State. Principal office, Equitable Building, Broad and Church streets.

I. CAPITAL STOCK.

Whole amount of capital stock . . . . . $200,000.00

II. ASSETS.

Total assets of the company, actual cash market value . . . . . $385,940.12

III. LIABILITIES.

Total liabilities . . . . . $385,940.12

IV. INCOME DURING THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF THE YEAR 1913.

Total income actually received during the first six months in cash . . . . . $8,261.60

V. EXPENDITURES DURING THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF THE YEAR 1913.

Total expenditures during the first six months of the year in cash . . . . . $7,932.16

Greatest amount insured in any one risk . . . . . $5,000.00

Total amount of insurance outstanding . . . . . $1,742,337.72

A copy of the act of incorporation, duly certified, is of file in the office of the Insurance Commissioner.

STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA—County of Charleston.

Personally appeared before me the undersigned Wm. G. Mazyck, who, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is the secretary and treasurer of the Equitable Fire Insurance Company, and that the foregoing statement is correct and true.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, this 15th day of July, 1913.

W. G. MAZYCK, Sec. and Treas.
Clerk of Court, Charleston County, S. C.

Name of State Agent—F. H. REYNOLDS.
Name of Agents at Atlanta—F. H. REYNOLDS & CO.

MEN AND RELIGION BULLETIN No. 67

OUR WAYWARD GIRL

"The child is not dead, but sleepeth."

---Mark 5:39

A man came crying:

"My little daughter is at the point of death;

"I pray thee that thou come and lay thy hands on her that she may be made whole and live."

With him went Jesus.

On the way a woman touched Him.

She was healed.

But others came saying to Jairus:

"Thy daughter is dead: why troublest thou the Master any further?"

Jesus said:

"Fear not, only believe."

And in the house He asked:

"Why make you a tumult and weep? The child is not dead, but sleepeth."

"And they laughed Him to scorn."

But when He touched the girl and spoke, she rose and walked.

"She was twelve years old."

Worse than death may come to the daughters of men—even to yours and ours.

And some men and women would laugh in derision at the suggestion of their cure.

But not so with Christ, our Lord.

And, thank God, the centuries of His love have made the majority of mankind pitiful to the fallen: they no longer scorn and stone, if they only know.

Think of this!

Seventy-five girls—not hardened women of the street—but girls under sixteen, are in charge of one Georgia Court. Many more—some even younger—are in the State.

"They are morally dead," say some.

Not so, we answer in Christ's name.

They only sleep.

You could wake the conscience of each one of them—

You could save them, and with them many others from worse than death, had Georgia a reformatory for girls like other States.

They are being lost for the want of this.

Do not pass them by.

TO SAVE ONE MAN'S DAUGHTER FROM RUIN AND SHAME IS WORTH MORE THAN TO SAVE ALL OF OUR HOGS AND COWS FROM CHOLERA AND THE TICK.

And yet, Tuesday again the Appropriations Committee of the House recommended the appropriation of thousands of dollars for this and that,

WHILE CHAIRMAN CRAWFORD WHEATLEY, of Sumter, moved that the Jones and Mills bill, establishing a reformatory for girls, be laid on the table until next year.

This would mean the destruction of many a girl—their loss for the want of a place in our State to handle delinquent girls; these can not be put in the chaingang or with the women of the prison farm.

John Y. Smith, of Fulton, with C. F. Hollberg, of Coweta, saved the measure by suggesting that it lay over until this coming Thursday.

Chairman Wheatley agreed to this.

It was done.

The Penitentiary Committee has recommended that this bill do pass. The Prison Commission has said that Georgia to-day can not take care of her wayward and delinquent girls.

Confidently, we believe that the Committee on Appropriations will recommend the passage of the bill carrying the appropriation of $30,000 ($45,000 less than was asked for) to build the reformatory for girls.

The need is urgent—far more so than the sickness of our hogs.

You can and will find a way to provide for these girls even as you did for our beasts that are sick.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE MEN AND RELIGION FORWARD MOVEMENT

PRISONERS DENY 'PEEPING TOM' ACCUSATION

Pair Caught on Roof of Church Assert They Were Looking for Hammer.

W. E. Nace, 32 McDaniel street, and R. R. Greenlee, 400 Spring street, arrested Tuesday night on complaint of a young woman living at 49 Washington street, who told the police Nace and Greenlee were peeping into her room from the roof of the Central Presbyterian Church, emphatically denied Wednesday morning that they are "peeping Toms." Nace is employed by the W. R. Jones Slate Roof Company, and Greenlee is a stenographer for the Orr Stationery Company. They will be tried in Police Court Wednesday afternoon.

"Neither Greenlee nor myself was looking into any woman's room," declared Nace Wednesday morning. "We were up on the roof looking for a hammer that I had left there. I had been doing some work on the roof of the Central Presbyterian Church, and had left my tools and working clothes there."

Took Part in Exercises.
"Last night my employer told me to get my tools and go to Fairburn, Ga., this morning. I went up to the church early in the evening and found that an athletic exhibition was being given by Captain W. C. Massey's Sunday school class, of which Greenlee is a member. I am interested in athletics, and I watched the exhibition for a while. Then they invited me to take part in it, which I did for an hour or two."

"About 9 o'clock I began to gather up my clothes and tools and missed one of my hammers. I remembered I had left it on the roof of the church, and asked Greenlee to go up with me to get it. It was very dark up there, and we were searching all over the roof when the officers arrested us. If there were any women in the apartment houses we didn't see them."

Backs Up Friend's Story.
Greenlee corroborated Nace's story in every detail. He says he is a member of the Central Presbyterian church.

According to the story told the police by the young woman who had the men arrested, she was lying on the bed in her room in Apartment 3. She happened to look out of her window, and saw Nace and Greenlee looking into her room. She slipped out of the room, she says, and telephoned to the police. Call Officers Shumate and Cochrane answered the call.

New Salad Makes a Hit in Washington

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Mrs. George R. Smith, wife of a new Representative from Minneapolis, has invented a dish called the "Congressional salad," which has grown in vogue among hostesses here.

Mrs. Smith has been besieged for the recipe. Here it is:

One grape fruit, one orange, one pineapple or two apples, nuts according to taste and a pinch of salt. To this chopped up fruit, she adds cream, double whipped. When connected, the salad is served on squares of buttered toast or browned crackers.

Master Organists Will Compete Here

Many of the master organists of America will come to Atlanta to "try out" for the position of city organist made vacant by the resignation of Dr. Percy J. Starnes. At a meeting of the Atlanta Music Festival Association Tuesday afternoon a list of the most prominent was selected and a call sent to each of them.

Recitals at the Auditorium during the next two Sundays will be given by Professor Charles Sheldon, of Atlanta, who has assisted the association greatly. He organized the chorus and helped out on many other details.

The association decided that in future nothing will be allowed to interfere with the concerts and that conventions and exhibits will have to meet elsewhere on Sundays.

THE PLAY THIS WEEK

Grand Films Interest.
Lovers of nature study and animals are having an inning at the Grand, matinee and night daily this week, in the illustrated report of the Carnegie Museum Alaska-Siberia expedition, given by means of the motion pictures taken by Captain Kleinschmidt throughout the cruise. Arctic monsters of land and sea, mighty glaciers moving majestically down the mountain sides, icebergs in formation and adrift, and the wild life of the frigid North are shown in all phases.

Forsyth Bill Pleasing.
There is a splendid bill of comedy at the Forsyth Theater this week. There is a tremendous advance sale for all performances. Among the headlines, Bob Dalley in a sketch called "Our Bob," is a scream. Joe Welch is again registering the big hit that he made last season by his droll manner of telling stories and his rendition of a quaint song.

Toe Dancer a Hit.
There is a little toe dancer this week with "The Girl from Dublin" at the Bijou who is making one of the big hits of the show. Such vivacity and energy has seldom been displayed by a dancer on a local stage. Her work is decidedly pleasing. A female quartet is also one of the pleasing features of the performance.

JUST LIKE A WOMAN

CITY SEIZES LAND FOR UNPAID TAXES

Properties Valued at $3,500,000
Redeemable by the Payment of $50,000 and Costs.

Approximately $3,500,000 worth of property will be taken over by the city of Atlanta unless the owners pay back taxes and costs.

Sledge Collier, tax investigator, is preparing the list, which will be completed in a few days, and as soon thereafter as possible the City Marshal will turn over this property. Where the property is improved the city will collect the rents, and where it is unimproved the city will take proper care.

This property has been sold for back taxes and as there were no bids it was taken over by the city. This property may be redeemed by the owners by paying all taxes and charges. Some of it has been sold for taxes as far back as 1885, but a majority for taxes for 1910, 1911 and 1912.

The amount due the city on this property is about $50,000. In case the owners do not pay this indebtedness the property will revert to the city and will be used for any purpose designated by the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, with the approval of the General Council.

Spine Is Dislocated By Mother's Slaps

WINCHESTER, KY., July 30.—Sorrow has come deeply into the life of Mrs. Shirley Pace, of the Muddy Creek pike, who unintentionally may be the cause of the death of her child, Leon Allen, aged 3.

Because of some act of disobedience the mother, catching the child by the arm, administered several sharp slaps on his back just below the shoulder blade.

The punishment dislocated three of the spinal vertebrae.

Masons to Confer Degrees at Conyers

The Masons in the Fifth Congressional District are preparing to hold their annual convention in Conyers, Ga., on August 14.

The grand master, Robert L. Colden, of Savannah, is expected. The various Masonic degrees will be exemplified by special degree teams from the Atlanta lodges.

A special train is being arranged for to carry the Masons from Atlanta and the nearby towns.

Watchcase Company A Trust, Is Charge

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Declaring the Keystone Watchcase Company and allied concerns of Philadelphia form a combination in restraint of trade, Assistant Attorney General Chantland, of the Department of Justice, in a brief to be filed in Philadelphia in October, asks that the combination be dissolved.

SEASHORE EXCURSION AUGUST 7.

Jacksonville, Brunswick, St. Simon, Cumberland, Atlantic Beach, $6.00—Limited 6 days. Tampa, Fla., $8—Limited 8 days.

TWO SPECIAL TRAINS.
10 p. m. solid Pullman train.
10:15 p. m. Coach train.
Make Reservations Now.
SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

Infant Paralysis a Disease of Fowls

ST. LOUIS, July 30.—A demonstration of his theory infantile paralysis was originally a disease of fowls and transmitted to children by the larvae of the fly, was presented to the St. Louis Medical Society by Dr. E. W. Saunders, an authority on children's diseases.

A monkey, a Plymouth Rock chicken, several guinea pigs and three rabbits were used to demonstrate the deadly effects of the larvae.

The monkey, which expired while Dr. Saunders was lecturing, exhibited all the symptoms of the disease.

Electric Light Men Of South to Convene

MACON, July 30.—The southeastern section of the National Electric Light Association meets in Macon at the Hotel Dempsey August 14-16. Among the dozen papers to be discussed will be one by John S. Bleckner, general manager of the Columbus Railroad Company. President P. S. Arkwright, of the Georgia Railway and Power Company, will make the report of the public policy committee.

Georgia, Alabama, Florida, North Carolina and South Carolina are embraced in the southeastern section, having about 150 central stations, with a membership of 300.

Baby Brought to Life By Use of Pulmotor

HARRISBURG, PA., July 30.—Forty-four minutes after an eleven-pound baby was born to-day to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Weaver, of this city, without any heart action and no signs of breathing, life was put into it by means of a pulmotor.

It required seven minutes to rush the machine across the city, and after thirty-seven minutes of work the infant began to breathe and cry.

Profits of Farmers Average $640 a Year

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Farming is not the most profitable business in the world, according to a bulletin of the Department of Agriculture.

For the first time in the history of farming in the United States, the department has managed to get accurate data on the subject.

It reports that the average income of the American farmer is $640.40 per year.

Intense Heat Again Cooks Middle West

CHICAGO, July 30.—Intense heat made Chicago suffer to-day, caused nearly a score of prostrations and drove thousands to beaches. Two deaths were recorded from yesterday's sudden change from cool temperature to a record for the season, when the mercury touched 99.

The country surrounding Chicago was visited by the unexpected hot wave. In Burlington, Iowa, the official temperature was 110.

MASONIC SERVICE FOR STEINHEIMER

Rabbi David Marx Preaches Funeral Sermon for the Pioneer Merchant.

The funeral of Isaac Steinheimer, one of Atlanta's pioneer citizens, who died at his home, No. 779 West Peachtree street, early Monday night, was held from the residence Wednesday morning, Rabbi David Marx officiating. The funeral was under the auspices of Atlanta Lodge No. 59, F. & A. M., of which order Mr. Steinheimer was a devoted and enthusiastic member. He was the oldest Mason in Atlanta in point of years of membership, and a past grand master of the lodge. Interment was at Westview Cemetery.

Surviving Mr. Steinheimer are his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Monroe Mayer, of Columbia, S. C.; Miss Clara May Steinheimer; four sons, Ed E. A. I. and A. G. Steinheimer, all of Atlanta, and four brothers, Jacob, David, Alexander and Emanuel Steinheimer, also of this city.

Mr. Steinheimer was born in Germany, but came to America early in life. For a while he lived in Macon, but came to Atlanta in 1860, and entered into business on Whitehall street with his brothers. In 1876 the partnership was dissolved, and he continued in business alone until his retirement twelve years ago.

'Salome' Prescribed As Flesh Reducer

PITTSBURG, PA., July 30.—Dr. Otto Zeh, of this city, has a class of business men doing Salome dancing every morning to reduce fat and build up unused muscles. His star pupil is Franz W. Schuster, a wholesale grocer, who weighs between 350 and 400 pounds, according to how regularly he does his wriggling.

Schuster could take off from 5 to 10 pounds at a single dance.

Dr. Zeh, observing the success of the experiment, advised others to take it up, with the result that he soon had a class of enthusiasts.

Protect Yourself.

Get the Original and Genuine

HORLICK'S MALTED MILK

The Food-drink for All Ages.

For Infants, Invalids and Growing Children. Pure Nutrition, upbuilding the whole body. Invigorates the nursing mother and the aged. Rich milk, malted grain, in powder form.

A quick lunch prepared in a minute. Take no substitutes. Ask for HORLICK'S

Not in Any Milk Trust

PAY ME FOR CURES ONLY

If you have been taking treatment for weeks and months and say you are not getting any better, then you are entitled to a refund. If it is high time to accept DR. HUGHES' GRAND OFFER!

You will certainly not be out any more money if not cured. Our attention and examination are free for the first thirty days. If I decide that your condition will not yield readily to my treatment, I will be honest with you and tell you so, and not accept your money under a promise of a cure.

My treatment will positively cure or I will make you so cheap for the following diseases:

KIDNEY, BLADDER AND URINARY TROUBLE, STRICTURE, VARICOCELE, HYDROCELE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, RUPTURE, ULCERS AND SKIN DISEASES, CONTAGIOUS BLOOD POISON

and all other diseases of the Urinary and Blood Systems. Newly contracted and chronic cases of Rheumatism, Gout, and all other diseases of the Blood. My fees are reasonable and no more than you are willing to pay for a cure. All medicines, the purest and best of drugs, are supplied from my own private laboratory. OUT-OF-TOWN CALLS OR WRITING THE CITY, consult me at once upon arrival, and maybe you can be cured before returning home. Many cases can be cured in one or two visits.

DR. J. D. HUGHES, 10 1-2 North Broad Street, Atlanta, Ga.

Slain by Bolt, Falls Into An Open Grave

PHILADELPHIA, July 30.—While he was digging a grave in Holy Cross Cemetery here, Patrick Toney, 50, was struck by lightning and killed. He fell into the open grave.

Indian Declares He Is In His 151st Year

TULSA, OKLA., July 30.—John Black, a half-breed Indian residing near here, declares he was born 151 years ago in an Indian camp on the plains of Tennessee. He possesses all of his faculties.

Peace Near in Mine War; Unions Victors

CHARLESTON, W. VA., July 30. Before to-night peace terms will be signed by the miners and operators of Cabin Creek, where a state of civil war has existed for more than a year.

where many have been killed and where martial law has twice been declared. More than 10,000 miners will return to work.

The operators will not recognize the United Mine Workers, but they will give recognition to the local unions, a nine-hour day, a net ton, semi-monthly pay, the right to employ checkweighmen, an increase of one cent on each ton of coal and arbitration of labor disputes.

EISEMAN BROS., Inc.

The Famous MANHATTANS!

At CUT Prices!

SALE OPENS TO-MORROW MORNING!

MANHATTAN SHIRT SUPREMACY needs no exploitation. You will be chiefly interested in KNOWING—that this invitation to our Midsummer MANHATTAN bargain-fest carries the assurance of the largest stocks and greatest variety to select from, displayed by any other concern in the South.

The lines include the season's smartest productions in French MADRAS—PERCALES—PURE SILK—AND—SILK AND LINEN GARMENTS.

The Sale includes White, Plaited and Negligee Manhattans. Full range of sizes in stupendous variety.

PRICES!

Manhattan Shirts---	$1.50 Values---	Now .....	$1.15
Manhattan Shirts---	$2.00 Values---	Now .....	$1.38
Manhattan Shirts---	$2.50 and $3.00 Values---	Now .....	$1.88
Manhattan Shirts---	$3.50 and $4.00 Values---	Now .....	$2.65
Manhattan Shirts---	$5.00 Values---	Now .....	$3.55

Brilliant values in high-class shirts other than Manhattans. The "E B" Special and other sterling makes of garments!

Fancy Madras---Percales---Silk---Silk and Linen

$1.00 values, now .....	$ .75	$3.00 values, now .....	$2.15
1.50 values, now .....	1.05	3.50 values, now .....	2.50
2.00 values, now .....	1.25	4.00 values, now .....	2.95
2.50 values, now .....	1.75	5.00 values, now .....	3.65

Sweet, Crisp, Cool Underwear

From the World's Best Mills---American Hosiery---Otis---Roxford---B V D---Gotham---"E B" Specials

Two-Piece Garments

50c per garment values, now .....	$ .35
75c per garment values, now .....	.59
$1.00 per garment values, now .....	.75
1.50 per garment values, now .....	1.13
2.00 per garment values, now .....	1.50

Union Suits

$1.00 garments, now .....	$ .75
1.50 garments, now .....	1.13
2.00 garments, now .....	1.50
2.50 garments, now .....	1.85
3.00 garments, now .....	2.25

Pajamas and Night Shirts

Extensive variety of high class, finely finished, correctly fashioned Pajamas and Night Shirts of Silk, Silk trimmed Pongee and Soisette, also fancy silk trimmed—also popular solid colors—Pink, Lavender, Tan, Blue, etc.

Pajamas!

$1.00 garments, now .....	$ .75
1.50 garments, now .....	1.13
2.00 garments, now .....	1.50
2.50 garments, now .....	1.85
3.00 garments, now .....	2.25
3.50 garments, now .....	2.63
5.00 garments, now .....	3.75
8.50 garments, now .....	5.00

Night Shirts!

$ .50 garments, now .....	$ .38
.75 garments, now .....	.57
1.00 garments, now .....	.75
1.50 garments, now .....	1.10
2.00 (fancy trimmed) garments, now .....	1.40
5.00 (silk) garments, now .....	3.00

Now is the time to buy Neckwear and Hosiery. The greatest collection in Atlanta, by far, is here!

Fancy Silk, Silk Knitted and Wash Neckwear

All the varieties of Four-in-Hands, also the Bat Wings. A regular rainbow of variety—sumptuous stocks.

50c Ties	now 35c	WASH TIES!	now 35c	SILK HOSE!	now 35c
3 for $1.00		3 for $1.00		Imported and Domestic. Best makes.
$1.00 Ties .....	now .65	$1.00 Ties .....	now 65c	All shades. All sizes.
1.50 Ties .....	now .95	500 dozen to select from, including		$1.00 values .....	now $ .65
2.00 Ties .....	now 1.15	all the novelties.		1.50 values .....	now .90
2.50 Ties .....	now 1.45			2.00 values .....	now 1.23
3.00 Ties .....	now 1.85			2.50 values .....	now 1.69

BELTS—25c Per Cent Discount

Brilliant Values and Clearance Prices in all other Departments

Eiseman Bros., Inc.

Store Closes at One o'Clock on Wednesdays Till Sept. 1st

11-13-15-17 Whitehall St.

... Their Married Life ...

By MABEL HERBERT URNER.

"BUT if your appointment isn't until two—we'll be back before then," pleaded Helen. "You know I wouldn't go alone! Dear, do come!"

"Not on your life! I can see all I want of Paris without sitting humped up on one of those 'rubber-neck wagons'."

"Oh, I know you can—and you know Paris so well already. But I've never been here before, and I'd get so much from this trip."

"Yes, and be belovèd at by that guy with the horn!"

"No—no, we'd sit way back on the last seat and you could tell me about the places. I'm sure you know as much as any of these guides."

To this artful flattery of his knowledge of Paris Warren was not impervious. Helen saw her advantage and pressed it.

"Look, dear, look at all the places they go to, turning over the pink leaflet which gave a long list of the 'points of interest' listed. And it's so hot this morning—we wouldn't walk around much anyway."

They were now at the American Express Company, where Warren had stopped to cash some checks and get his mail. While he was at the cashier's Helen had picked up one of the "Touring Paris" leaflets and found that a car left from there at 10:30, returning about one.

But it took all of Helen's powers of persuasion before Warren at length grudgingly bought the tickets. Eight francs each. "Including All Expenses, Admission Fees, etc.," according to the pink leaflet, in which the advantages of the trip were glowingly set forth.

As it was now twenty minutes after ten, they had but a few moments to wait. When they went out to take the car they found only two others in the party. Instead of the big "rubber-neck wagon" a regular touring-car was to be used, and the guide took his seat by the chauffeur without the offensive "horn."

"You see it isn't at all like a sight-seeing car," exclaimed Helen joyfully, settling herself in the back seat which they had alone.

"Umph, this isn't so bad," admitted Warren reluctantly. "If that fellow don't talk us to death."

But the guide sensed that his regular memorized harangue would not be appreciated by this small party, so his comments were only occasional and brief.

Another Couple.

The other couple were English, evidently on their wedding trip, for the young woman's light gray gown, hat, gloves and parasol were all new and most bride-like. Her husband, whom Helen thought most inquisitive of her small blond mustache, was more intent on shielding her from the sun with the new gray silk parasol than on seeing Paris.

As this was Tour No. 1—of the "Paris Side," they were soon whirled down past the Louvre, across the Seine to the Latin quarter.

The Boulevard Montparnasse, of which Helen had so often read, was most disappointing. It was wide, modern and prosperous looking—very unlike the shabby artist section she had pictured.

But a little later they turned into a section that was as yet "unimproved," with quaint, narrow streets and curious old shops.

"The Rue de la Harpe," exclaimed Helen, reading the name on a lamp post. "Oh, isn't this the street Balzac and Zola wrote so much about? Dear, don't you remember the dens of the underworld they pictured here?"

The rambling cobblestone street, not unlike an illustration from a Balzac novel, was in some places so narrow that the car had to be pushed to push their carts up on the sidewalk to let them pass.

"Just below here on the left," the guide pointed down the street, "you will see a butcher shop with a gilded horse's head. At that shop they sell only horse meat. By the law they must have that red awning and the horse's head over the door. There're many shops of this kind in the poorer sections of Paris."

"Oh, how awful," murmured Helen, who had heard that the poor of Paris ate horse meat, but had never thought it true.

Warren Complains.

The chauffeur slowed up as they passed the dingy little shop with its gilded horse's head glittering in the sun. But inside it was so dark that Helen caught only a glimpse of the sawdust floor and a carcass hanging by the door.

Was it some old cab horse whose driver had beaten and starved it past usefulness and then had been killed, and now its poor old body hung up there to be sold by the pound?

Helen had a sudden feeling of revulsion and hatred for all things French. From her first day in Paris her heart had ached for the wretched-looking, overworked cab horses, and was this the fate still in store for them?

"Now, for heaven's sake, don't start harping on that!" growled Warren at Helen's fierce denunciation. "If they eat horse meat over here—they eat it, that's all. What good will your tearing the air do?"

They passed many points of interest, which Helen looked at unseeing before she could wrest her mind from the picture of the dingy shop with its strange awning and gilded horse's head.

At the Palace de Justice they all left the car and the guide took them through the Conciergerie, the famous prison of the French Revolution.

"Nice, cheerful place," commented Warren when they entered the dungeons of Marie Antoinette, a dark, damp cell without light or air.

Equally black and ghoulish were the cells in which Robespierre and Madame de Barry had been imprisoned before their execution. Outside in the courtyard was the site of the guillotine. Helen paused to read a small tablet which marked the place.

Through this court passed all the victims of the Reign of Terror. Every day were lined up the carts which brought the condemned to the scaffold. No spot was so grimly witnessed such terrible tragedies.

Helen glanced around the now peaceful sun-lit courtyard with its fountain, moss-grown fountain. It was hard to picture this as the scene of such frightful carnage.

They crossed the courtyard and found the car waiting at the outer entrance. From there it was only a short ride to Notre Dame, where they spent half an hour wandering through vaulted aisles, impressive with their wonderful stained-glass windows and carved images.

In the sacristy they were shown some ancient relics, the Crown of Thorns, a nail from the Cross, the blood-stained robe of Thomas a Becket, and the crucifix clasped by Louis XVI as he was guillotined.

Worse and Worse.

"A cheerful itinerary they've laid out for us," grumbled Warren as they again climbed into the car. "So far we've seen only horrors. But I guess that's what the rubber-necks want."

The car next drew up before the impressive gates of the Pere-Lachaise Cemetery—the most famous in Paris. "For the love of Mike! If they're not going to take us through a graveyard, I'm not going."

But inside as they strolled through the graveled drives, even Warren was impressed with the beauty of the place. The great arches of willows, the gleaming white monuments, the banks of flowers—and the atmosphere of peace and quiet about it all.

But the matter of fact "commercialized" information of the guide grated here more than anywhere else.

"Oh, come, let's break away from this fellow and roam around by ourselves. The guide is a bore."

Turning to the guide, "How long do you spend here?"

"About twenty minutes, sir."

"All right, now you at the gate in twenty minutes."

They started down a winding gravel path, pausing every now and then to read the lines on some conspicuous monument. It was strangely interesting to come across such names as Chopin, Rossini, Daudet, Molière, Fontaine, Balzac and Rose Bonheur. But to Helen even more interesting than the names was the strange character of the monuments themselves. Many were built in the form of vaults with grating iron doors through which could be seen the objects within.

There was usually a little altar, or perhaps only a stone shelf, on which was a crucifix, candles, artificial flowers, wreaths and images. Sometimes a piece of yellowed, mildewed lace covered the altar, and there was often a stone bench on which to kneel. In a few vaults there were fresh flowers, showing almost daily violets, but in many the dust and cobwebs showed they had not been entered for years.

When they finally got back to the gate the others were waiting in the car. This was their last stop, and they were now whirled back to the American Express Company.

"Now, wasn't it worth while coming?" asked Helen, eagerly. "Think of all the things we saw—that we've probably not had seen any other way."

"Yes, we saw enough horrors to last for some time," grunted Warren. "This whole route was mapped out to satisfy the tourist's morbid curiosity. Nine people out of ten would rather see the blood-stained robe of some poor devil than view a masterpiece of art."

"But dear, some of it was very interesting," protested Helen.

"Interesting? Well, if you're interested in ghoulish relics, all right. But when I take a morning off for a outing—let me choose something a little more enlightening than dungeons and graveyards."

"Now, wasn't it worth while coming?" asked Helen, eagerly. "Think of all the things we saw—that we've probably not had seen any other way."

"Yes, we saw enough horrors to last for some time," grunted Warren. "This whole route was mapped out to satisfy the tourist's morbid curiosity. Nine people out of ten would rather see the blood-stained robe of some poor devil than view a masterpiece of art."

"But dear, some of it was very interesting," protested Helen.

"Interesting? Well, if you're interested in ghoulish relics, all right. But when I take a morning off for a outing—let me choose something a little more enlightening than dungeons and graveyards."

"Now, wasn't it worth while coming?" asked Helen, eagerly. "Think of all the things we saw—that we've probably not had seen any other way."

"Yes, we saw enough horrors to last for some time," grunted Warren. "This whole route was mapped out to satisfy the tourist's morbid curiosity. Nine people out of ten would rather see the blood-stained robe of some poor devil than view a masterpiece of art."

"But dear, some of it was very interesting," protested Helen.

"Interesting? Well, if you're interested in ghoulish relics, all right. But when I take a morning off for a outing—let me choose something a little more enlightening than dungeons and graveyards."

"Now, wasn't it worth while coming?" asked Helen, eagerly. "Think of all the things we saw—that we've probably not had seen any other way."

"Yes, we saw enough horrors to last for some time," grunted Warren. "This whole route was mapped out to satisfy the tourist's morbid curiosity. Nine people out of ten would rather see the blood-stained robe of some poor devil than view a masterpiece of art."

BEHIND CLOSED

(Copyright, 1913, by Anna Katharine Green.)

What Has Gone Before.

It is the wedding day of Dr. Walter Cameron. He is to be married at 8 o'clock that evening to Genevieve Gretorex, a beautiful society girl. At 4 o'clock Dr. Cameron is called upon in his office by Ebenezer Gryce, a member of the Scotland Yard detective force. He announced Dr. Cameron by telling him that Miss Gretorex has been missing for several days. Gryce said that the girl's mother requested his services in the hunt for her daughter, and showed him a note in which Miss Gretorex declared she would be back in time for the ceremony. Gryce accompanied Dr. Cameron by declaring he tracked Miss Gretorex to an obscure London hotel, where he found her registered under the name of Mildred Farley. They drove to the hotel and peer through curtains into Room No. 15, where they see Miss Gretorex kneeling before a fire weeping and burning up some letters. They go downstairs greatly mystified. Gryce makes some inquiries and learns that three hours before the girl was visited by a man, who, while he left the hotel, notified the management that he would return at 8 o'clock with a clergyman who was going to marry them. Dr. Cameron excitedly demands that Gryce tell him the name of this man. The detective hands him a card inscribed with this name—"Dr. Julius Moleworth."

Now go on with the story.

TO-DAY'S INSTALLMENT.

Mrs. Gretorex.

THEY were in the street. Dr. Cameron, whom this last blow had seemingly dazed, stood on the hotel steps looking in a vague way about him, like one made suddenly homeless; while the detective with his hand on his arm endeavored to make him understand the necessity of haste.

"Haste? Why should I hasten?" asked he, at last struck by the word. "I have no engagements. They will scarcely miss the bridegroom if the bride was absent."

"Possibly not. But that absence must be accounted for. That is my duty perhaps, but you have one, too, I think, sir."

"Here. Possibly."

"No, I don't think you can do anything here. But you might try. The lady is alone, and—"

"I can not," interrupted the other, with a look of irrepressible repugnance. "Neither my love nor my complaisance is sufficient for such humiliation."

He Did Not Reply.

And he started away toward the carriage.

Mr. Gryce followed him, saw him enter, and stepped into the vehicle himself.

"To the nearest elevated station," he shouted to the driver. "And quick! We have lost ten minutes by this unexpected discovery," he explained, in apologetic tones, to the doctor, "and must make them up at our own inconvenience."

The doctor did not reply; apathy had succeeded disgust.

Mr. Gryce went on talking.

"I am in no position to suggest your duty to you, sir, but I will just say before you one or two conclusions that have come to me in the last five minutes. Will you listen?"

"I have nothing else to do," dryly remarked the physician.

"Very well, then. Some time ago Miss Gretorex engaged herself to you. She seemed happy; then some trouble came into her life, we do not know what, but we can safely connect it with this Moleworth, and she wished to break her engagement. But her mother, to whom she mentioned her desire, thought it too late for her to do so; and driven by some unknown necessity of the situation, she quitted home three days before her contemplated marriage, leaving behind her, you must remember, a distinct promise to return in time to fulfill her part in the contract."

They were usually a little altar, or perhaps only a stone shelf, on which was a crucifix, candles, artificial flowers, wreaths and images. Sometimes a piece of yellowed, mildewed lace covered the altar, and there was often a stone bench on which to kneel. In a few vaults there were fresh flowers, showing almost daily violets, but in many the dust and cobwebs showed they had not been entered for years.

When they finally got back to the gate the others were waiting in the car. This was their last stop, and they were now whirled back to the American Express Company.

"Now, wasn't it worth while coming?" asked Helen, eagerly. "Think of all the things we saw—that we've probably not had seen any other way."

"Yes, we saw enough horrors to last for some time," grunted Warren. "This whole route was mapped out to satisfy the tourist's morbid curiosity. Nine people out of ten would rather see the blood-stained robe of some poor devil than view a masterpiece of art."

"But dear, some of it was very interesting," protested Helen.

"Interesting? Well, if you're interested in ghoulish relics, all right. But when I take a morning off for a outing—let me choose something a little more enlightening than dungeons and graveyards."

"Now, wasn't it worth while coming?" asked Helen, eagerly. "Think of all the things we saw—that we've probably not had seen any other way."

"Yes, we saw enough horrors to last for some time," grunted Warren. "This whole route was mapped out to satisfy the tourist's morbid curiosity. Nine people out of ten would rather see the blood-stained robe of some poor devil than view a masterpiece of art."

"But dear, some of it was very interesting," protested Helen.

"Interesting? Well, if you're interested in ghoulish relics, all right. But when I take a morning off for a outing—let me choose something a little more enlightening than dungeons and graveyards."

"Now, wasn't it worth while coming?" asked Helen, eagerly. "Think of all the things we saw—that we've probably not had seen any other way."

"Yes, we saw enough horrors to last for some time," grunted Warren. "This whole route was mapped out to satisfy the tourist's morbid curiosity. Nine people out of ten would rather see the blood-stained robe of some poor devil than view a masterpiece of art."

"Yes, we saw enough horrors to last for some time," grunted Warren. "This whole route was mapped out to satisfy the tourist's morbid curiosity. Nine people out of ten would rather see the blood-stained robe of some poor devil than view a masterpiece of art."

THE DETECTIVE HEARS OF THE STRANGE VISITOR

"He was a peculiar looking person," answered the clerk.

too ill to marry your society will confine itself to commiserating your disappointment. But if you are not there—then up at our own inconvenience."

The doctor did not reply; apathy had succeeded disgust.

Mr. Gryce went on talking.

"I am in no position to suggest your duty to you, sir, but I will just say before you one or two conclusions that have come to me in the last five minutes. Will you listen?"

"I have nothing else to do," dryly remarked the physician.

"Very well, then. Some time ago Miss Gretorex engaged herself to you. She seemed happy; then some trouble came into her life, we do not know what, but we can safely connect it with this Moleworth, and she wished to break her engagement. But her mother, to whom she mentioned her desire, thought it too late for her to do so; and driven by some unknown necessity of the situation, she quitted home three days before her contemplated marriage, leaving behind her, you must remember, a distinct promise to return in time to fulfill her part in the contract."

They were usually a little altar, or perhaps only a stone shelf, on which was a crucifix, candles, artificial flowers, wreaths and images. Sometimes a piece of yellowed, mildewed lace covered the altar, and there was often a stone bench on which to kneel. In a few vaults there were fresh flowers, showing almost daily violets, but in many the dust and cobwebs showed they had not been entered for years.

When they finally got back to the gate the others were waiting in the car. This was their last stop, and they were now whirled back to the American Express Company.

"Now, wasn't it worth while coming?" asked Helen, eagerly. "Think of all the things we saw—that we've probably not had seen any other way."

"Yes, we saw enough horrors to last for some time," grunted Warren. "This whole route was mapped out to satisfy the tourist's morbid curiosity. Nine people out of ten would rather see the blood-stained robe of some poor devil than view a masterpiece of art."

"But dear, some of it was very interesting," protested Helen.

"Interesting? Well, if you're interested in ghoulish relics, all right. But when I take a morning off for a outing—let me choose something a little more enlightening than dungeons and graveyards."

"Now, wasn't it worth while coming?" asked Helen, eagerly. "Think of all the things we saw—that we've probably not had seen any other way."

"Yes, we saw enough horrors to last for some time," grunted Warren. "This whole route was mapped out to satisfy the tourist's morbid curiosity. Nine people out of ten would rather see the blood-stained robe of some poor devil than view a masterpiece of art."

"But dear, some of it was very interesting," protested Helen.

"Interesting? Well, if you're interested in ghoulish relics, all right. But when I take a morning off for a outing—let me choose something a little more enlightening than dungeons and graveyards."

"Now, wasn't it worth while coming?" asked Helen, eagerly. "Think of all the things we saw—that we've probably not had seen any other way."

"Yes, we saw enough horrors to last for some time," grunted Warren. "This whole route was mapped out to satisfy the tourist's morbid curiosity. Nine people out of ten would rather see the blood-stained robe of some poor devil than view a masterpiece of art."

"Yes, we saw enough horrors to last for some time," grunted Warren. "This whole route was mapped out to satisfy the tourist's morbid curiosity. Nine people out of ten would rather see the blood-stained robe of some poor devil than view a masterpiece of art."

is akin to love, for love he could not have now or ever again for this woman. The shock she had given his pride had killed its very germs in his heart. Even if he could bring himself to believe in the detective's plausible explanation of her conduct and find in her very inconsistencies the evidence of a hidden and baffled affection for himself, his feeling must still remain one of pity alone.

"Certainly, certainly," came from the doctor in ringing tones strangely in contrast to his late apathetic ones; "anybody who loves me as I love her, and who has my honor may at least be 'saved'."

And the voice which gave the orders to the coachman now was his, and it was his foot that first touched the pavement and his form that led the way up the stairs to the elevated road.

They were fortunate in catching a train immediately, and once upon it, both breathed easier. Twenty-five minutes certainly would suffice to carry them to One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, fifteen minutes more take them across town, and fifteen minutes additional see them at the house. Fifty-five minutes and they had an hour and forty minutes. That is, an hour and forty minutes before 8 o'clock. But Mrs. Gretorex had to be informed of her daughter's critical position and got down to the hotel by 8. Could it be done? The calm face of the detective asserted his confidence that it could.

But there are accidents that upset all our calculations. Just as they were consulting themselves upon the good time they were making, the cars gave a sudden jerk and came to a standstill. Instantly all the ladies in the car rose, and next moment the gentlemen, for they had just left a station and were yet some distance from another.

"A breakdown!" exclaimed the doctor.

"In the middle of the block!" added his companion.

Very Impressive.

Yet they did not believe their own words, and it was some minutes before they fully realized that the engine had really given out, and that they were virtually prisoners, and liable to stay where they were for half an hour at least. When they did, and had calculated the possibilities of escape and found none, for like all such accidents it had taken place in the highest portion of the road, they turned from each other with an irrepressible expression of dismay. For even if they succeeded in reaching the house by 8 o'clock, the half-hour now being lost made the expectation of getting Mrs. Gretorex down to the hotel in time to stay her daughter's marriage no longer within the possibilities. Her fate was then decided, and by a power higher than their own. The thought affected the doctor deeply, for he knew, or thought he knew, enough of Dr. Moleworth, to foresee anything but happiness for her in an alliance with him. Even if he were a man of her world, which he was not, he had characteristics of disposition that would try the meekest woman; and she was a decidedly haughty one, with memories behind her that would make a life of constant concession intolerable.

In the blank of the dull window out of which he looked he perceived her image, tied with all her accomplishments and lady-like proclivities, to this brusque, stern, self-contained man, whose ambition was as hard as his poverty and whose will was allied to something narrow and constrained, rather than to what was broad and helpful. The result was pity. Not the pity that

Mr. Gryce—when, in the wisdom of his old age, never chafed at what was unavoidable—had nothing to say during this time of inaction. Possibly he had taken the opportunity to study up some other case, possibly he thought silence more discreet than speech; at all events, he made no effort to break it, and the minutes went by, and the seemingly interminable half-hour came to an end without a word having been uttered between them. But with the first onward movement of the car both roused and Mr. Gryce spoke.

"Thirty-five minutes lost! That's bad! But if the fates are propitious we may succeed in our intentions yet. Come to the door and don't stop for any courtesies. Seconds are of importance now."

And seconds were made use of. Old as Mr. Gryce was, he showed that when hurry was demanded not even his proverbial rheumatism stood in the way. As soon as the cars stopped at One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street they were out of them, and, sighting a car approaching them on the cable road, ran, caught it and were on their way across town before some of their fellow passengers had reached the bottom of the elevated stairs.

There was no delay this time. St. Nicholas avenue was reached at a quarter to 8, and as they had but a few minutes' walk before them, they stepped out with a decision that was almost hopeful. Suddenly a carriage rolled by them.

"Good God!" exclaimed Dr. Cameron, "a guest going to the wedding!"

Another carriage and another; the street seemed alive with them.

"Why didn't I think of this?" muttered the doctor, feeling the cold sweat breaking out over him.

"Did you expect anything else?" asked the detective. "The parents, hoping for her return up to the last, naturally could take no measures to warn their guests. You will even see an awning up, you may be sure."

"'Tis horrible!" came from his companion, with bitter emphasis; and at the corner of St. Nicholas place he almost stopped as if he felt himself unable to proceed. But the detective's firm figure passing hurriedly on, he recovered from his momentary weakness and followed him.

"Hark!" He cried.

Meanwhile the stream of carriages kept up, and presently they could hear the clanging of doors as their occupants alighted. Something in the sound, in the general aspect of things, seemed to move the doctor strangely.

"Hark!" cried he, clutching at the detective's arm to stop him. "There is no confusion, no delay; the guests go on and are received. And look! Lights—lights from basement to garret! What does it mean? Do those wretched parents still hope that she will come?"

For answer, Mr. Gryce drew him hurriedly on.

"Don't stop for anything," he cried. "Forget your wrongs, your fears, your hopes even. Be a machine; we have work to do." Then with a sudden change of tone, "You must not be seen by these people, and you must see the hostess, and immediately. How are we going to do it? Is there a basement door?"

"Yes, but the side door is better. If we are met it will cause less remark. I am expected at the side door."

To Be Continued To-morrow.

By ANNA KATHARINE GREEN

One of the Greatest Mystery Stories Ever Written

The Manicure Lady

By WILLIAM F. KIRK.

"THERE was a Gypsy poet up to our house last night," said the Manicure Lady. "Brother Wilfred dug him up at one of them little camps the Gypsies have. He heard this young poet singing some lines that he had wrote himself, and when he asked the rest of the Gypsies who wrote the lines, they told him the kid wrote them himself. So Wilfred, who is the original fall guy, brought him up to the house last night and treated him as if he was the prince of the world. The old gent liked him about as much as he likes soft stuff to drink, and told Ma out in the kitchen that he was getting too old to listen to foreign poetry. I wrote down some of the lines. I couldn't make no sense out of them, but maybe you can. This is one of the songs the boy says he wrote:

"I am of Romany.
Of Romany am I.
I flutter through this gray world
Like a butterfly.
The clouds that form
Before the storm
Are finer fled than I.
For I am a gypsy boy,
And the globe is my gypsy toy."

"Was he drinking anything?" asked the Head Barber.

"No, he was just as nice and sober as he could be," said the Manicure Lady. "The only drinking that was done was by the old gent, who went out and sat convenient to the side-board after he had heard that one poem. Wilfred said that the poetry was divine, and he ought to know more about it than you and me, but maybe it's because I don't understand them Gypsies. They are queer people, ain't they, George?"

"They certainly are queer people," agreed the Head Barber. "I went to one of their camps once to have my fortune told, and a right handsome young Gypsy girl told me that I was destined to be a great man. If she meant in size she wasn't far off, but that's the only kind of greatness that ever came to me. She also told me that when I grew up I was going to be handsome, but that didn't strike me so queer, as all the folks at home said I was a handsome boy and would be a handsome man. Nothing she told me has come true. I didn't win greatness, and one look at my map would prove to anybody that she was a bum prophet about looks."

"You ain't so awful homely," said the Manicure Lady. "If your eyes was a little bigger and your ears was smaller, you would compare kind of favorable with most of the young men that comes in here and has their nails knock twice at our door."

She—I sent a quarter to a young woman for a recipe to make me look young."

He—What did you get?

She—A card saying, "Always associate with women twenty years older than yourself."

Gentleman—What do you mean by putting your hand in my pocket?

Light-Fingered Bill—Excuse me, sir; I'm so absent-minded. I used to have a pair of trousers exactly like yours.

Officer—I was struck very much by your ignorance in drill this afternoon. Why, confound you, you don't even know where your front is!

Recruit—Yes, I do, sir. It's gone to the wash with my shirt.

She—I sent a quarter to a young woman for a recipe to make me look young."

He—What did you get?

She—A card saying, "Always associate with women twenty years older than yourself."

Gentleman—What do you mean by putting your hand in my pocket?

Light-Fingered Bill—Excuse me, sir; I'm so absent-minded. I used to have a pair of trousers exactly like yours.

Officer—I was struck very much by your ignorance in drill this afternoon. Why, confound you, you don't even know where your front is!

Recruit—Yes, I do, sir. It's gone to the wash with my shirt.

She—I sent a quarter to a young woman for a recipe to make me look young."

He—What did you get?

She—A card saying, "Always associate with women twenty years older than yourself."

The Manicure Lady

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

"I GUESS it's all up with Wilfred," said the Manicure Lady somberly. "Ever since he gave up everything else for poetry I have felt the day would come when we would see him being dragged away between two keepers to be put in some nice, quiet place, where everybody thinks he is Julius Caesar or Wellington. It ain't quite come to that yet, George, but it is coming, I guess. Dear brother won't be with our happy household much longer."

"What makes you think he is going crazy?" asked the Head Barber. "Maybe it's just the hot weather."

"No, it ain't the hot weather," argued the Manicure Lady. "The poem he wrote the other day and tried to read to us was wrote on the cold, wet day we have had this summer. He has been reading a lot about the mysteries of India, and all them old mystics that believe in a lot of junk about having two bodies, one here and one goodness knows where. Yogis, he calls them, or Bogis, or something like that. Wilfred says they set in front of their huts for years, sometimes never going away and always thinking, thinking. I guess it wouldn't do my brother any harm if he could find a nice hut and set in front of it long enough to do a little thinking. Anyhow, get this poem:

"My soul is now in India, beside The soul of some grand Hindu long since dead. My soul holds converse with the soul of him And his soul smiles at mine as might a peer. Smile at a toddling child. The Hindu's soul Knows more and senses more than ten such souls As my poor soul which dares to speak to his."

"That does sound kind of nutty," admitted the Head Barber. "I can't make any sense out of it, anyway. Of course, that ain't no sign your brother is losing his mind, because there is a lot of poetry that was wrote by sane men and is beyond me just the same."

"This ain't no real poem, this is loony stuff," insisted the Manicure Lady. "Kindly listen some more, George:

"Yet I am living, as my soul well deems, And thus my soul is not within a ghost. But in my living body. Is the soul Of one long dead as good a soul As one like mine while I am still alive? The Hindu's soul stands baffled and aghast At this grim question, and it swallows hard. If any soul can swallow. But it answers not."

"Lay off on that!" exclaimed the Head Barber. "I don't ask you to stop gabbing very often, kiddo; but you have went too far to-day. The next time you start reciting poetry to me I am going to walk right away from this head chair and get a job in some other shop. I suppose there will be a manicure girl there without no more sense than you; but maybe she won't have a nut brother who thinks he can write. Now, stop, and remember what I say goes!"

"Gee, I hope you do go!" snapped the Manicure Lady. "I like to see new faces once in a while, and I think that new barber which has went out to lunch would fit in fine in your place. I think he is a interesting talker, too. He talks so soulful and has such fine teeth. There is lots of worse pests in the world than me, George, and maybe after you have went you will often think of me with unavailing sighs."

A Matter of Doubt.

Two Irishmen, both members of the building fraternity, were busily engaged recently in affixing shingles to the roof of a newly erected house, when suddenly a horrid mishap occurred.

Murphy slipped. In vain he sought for something at which to clutch in order to save himself from falling. His hands grasped nothing but empty air, and by their frantic exertions caused Murphy completely to lose his foothold.

So Murphy fell. Mike saw him fall, and presently, after what seemed to him hours of hideous suspense, heard his friend's body strike the ground with a dull thud.

Fearfully Mike leaned over the edge of the roof.

"Are yez dead, Murphy?" he called in apprehensive tones.

"Oh, O'm alive all right!" gasped Murphy feebly.

Mike gazed at the prostrate body wonderingly.

"Sure, I don't know whether to believe you or not," he remarked. "You always was a liar!"

Painfully Murphy raised himself on one elbow.

"Then O'm dead!" he wailed. "You'd never dare call me a liar were I alive!"

See Your Skin Grow Lighter Daily

DO you want a fairer complexion? If you have a very dark, sallow, coarse skin and you want to make it soft and fair, use Palmer's Skin Whitener and watch the result. It is marvelous and it works quickly. You cannot realize what it will do until you use it.

Postpaid 25c Anywhere All Jacobs' Stores

And Druggists Generally.

How to Care for Babies During the Hot Weather, Told in Pictures

SHOULD HAVE PLENTY OF WATER TO DRINK.

KEEP OFF FLIES WITH A SCREEN.

PLAYING WITH NO CLOTHES ON.

The Judge

KHIRODA, at the far end of her youth, woke up one morning to find that her lover had departed in the night, leaving her destitute. She found that, in all the 38 years of her life, she had not even made one person her own, nor earned the right to the corner of a home in which to live and die. She realized that life had no pity upon her and would relax none of its claims which must be attended to down to the smallest detail, and she railed on the floor, beating its hardness with her forehead in an agony of despair.

Evening came and it grew dark. Khiroda had not the heart to tidy the room, nor to light the lamp. Her hungry child cried till it could cry no longer, and fell asleep. A knock came to the door and a male voice called out, "Khira, Khira." Khiroda flung open the door and rushed out at him who stood there with her broom put up, the youth to precipitate flight. Then, convulsively clutching the child to her bosom, she went out of the house and jumped into the well.

The splash brought the neighbors hurrying to the spot and the bodies were fished out. The mother was unconscious, but the child was dead. Khiroda was brought round in the hospital and was committed to the sessions by the magistrates.

Mohit Datta was the Sessions Judge. He sentenced Khiroda to death. Her advocates tried their utmost to get some mitigation of the sentence, but without success.

There was some reason for this severity of his attitude toward feminine frailty, as a glimpse into his earlier history will disclose.

Mohit in his undergraduate days lived near the house of an elderly couple with a young widowed daughter, Sasi. What little of the world Sasi used to see from behind the barrier of her lonely widowhood seemed to her like some golden land of mystery, where happiness stalked abroad. Unmistakenly longed for the beatings of her heart.

In the intervals of her domestic duties Sasi sat at the window watching the crowd on the public road. She thought to herself how happy were the passersby, how free the tramps, what gay characters were the hawkers in the comedy of life, and how, in the evening she saw the well-groomed Mohit strutting past in the fullness of his self-conceit. To her he was a demi-god, far above the mortal she saw around her.

The heaven within her reach. It is needless to relate at length when Mohit's covetous glance first fell upon Sasi, how he began to write to her under the false name of Binode, when the first trembling, ill-spelt reply reached him; how, at last, the whole of the poor little widow's world was turned topsy-turvy in the whirlwind of ecstatic surrender.

Late one night Sasi left her father and mother and got into a carriage brought by Mohit, alias Binode. When her demi-god, with all his tinsel showing, got inside and sat close beside her, a sudden inrush of remorse bowed her to the dust. And when the carriage actually began to move she fell at his feet, crying, "For pity's sake, let me go back home." But the carriage rapidly drove away.

To narrate all the episodes of Mohit's early career would grow monotonous. This will serve as a sample.

Reformed. To-day there was no one to remember the escapades of young "Binode." Mohit Datta was quite a reformed character. His reading of the sacred books was incessant; he even practiced austerities.

A few days after passing sentence on Khiroda, Mohit happened to be in the prison garden, with a view to securing some nice, fresh vegetables for his own table. He heard from inside the jail the sound of high words, and entering, found Khiroda in the midst of a vigorous bickering with the warder. Mohit smiled a superior smile. This is what woman is! Death at her door, and yet she must quarrel. She would dispute, thought he, amused at his conceit, even with the doorkeepers of Hades!

As he drew nearer, Khiroda, with clasped hands, addressed him, saying: "Mr. Judge, for mercy's sake, tell him to give me back my ring!"

On inquiry, he found that a ring had been hidden in the loops of Khiroda's hair, which the warder discovered, had appropriated. Mohit was again amused. This desire for a bauble on the steps of the gallows! Oh, woman, woman!

"Let me see the ring," said he to the warder, who handed it over to him. Mohit started as if it had been a piece of live coal. In the ring was set a miniature portrait on ivory of gold rim was engraved the name of a young beardless youth. In its gold rim was engraved the name of Binode, and his eyes from the ring, and for the first time looked Khiroda keenly in the face. He seemed to see there the fresh, fond, too-bedewed countenance of twenty-four years ago. But, ah! and what a difference.

"I don't know whether to accept this testimonial or not," mused the hair restorer man. "What's the matter with it?" demanded the advertising manager. "Well," explained the boss, "the man writes, I used to have three bald spots on the top of my head, but since using one bottle of your hair restorer I have only one."

"What do we want with gold and precious stones?" said the proud young mother, gazing fondly upon the baby. "This is fortune enough for us."

"Huh!" grunted the father, who had been walking the floor nearly all night. "I'm glad Fortune didn't GIVE BABY A PAN OF WATER TO PLAY WITH—CAN'T GET COLD.

BE A WOMAN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

THE boy, a big, husky youth of 18, had complained incessantly of his troubles all day. "Oh," I said at last, in some impatience, "why can't you be a little braver? For pity's sake, try to be a man!"

The words had no sooner left my lips than I fell to wondering. I had urged him to be a man! If I could take him by the arm and lead him to some man who would be to him a shining example, where would I find him?

Where could I find a man who would bare his back to the rod and make no complaint? Was there a man who could teach him patience, gentleness, forbearance, charity, tenderness?

There was a man whom he could emulate, day after day, and increase his strength in so doing? I cast my eyes around all the men I knew in search of one who on all occasions knew how to be a man.

One was quick of temper, irritable, rash, headlong, and though withal a good man, the boy would find no instructions there in the lesson of patience everyone must learn.

Another blustered about his bravery and fooled all but those who knew that when there was a mysterious noise at his house in the night, his wife had to investigate.

Another had a reputation widespread for philanthropy, and only the close-observing saw that his family lacked the necessities of life in order that he might enjoy seeing his name on the billboards with an imposing row of figures after it.

All cared more for their own creature comforts than for the well-being of the wife who supplied them. All complained loudly of a little pain, and there was not a man among them who did not say often to his wife, "Look, what a burden our marriage has put on my shoulders!" taking no note of the greater burden bending her back.

All were selfish, thinking only of the gratification of their own desires and showing a regard for others only in the degree to which they supplied them.

There were few who had both physical and moral courage, and almost none as good in their thoughts as they loved, cheerful and smiling when they loved, cheerful and smiling when they loved, cheerful and smiling when they loved.

Then there passed before my eyes a procession of women, patient under long suffering, brave when everyone around them faltered, denying themselves that they might give to those they loved, cheerful and smiling when they loved, cheerful and smiling when they loved, cheerful and smiling when they loved.

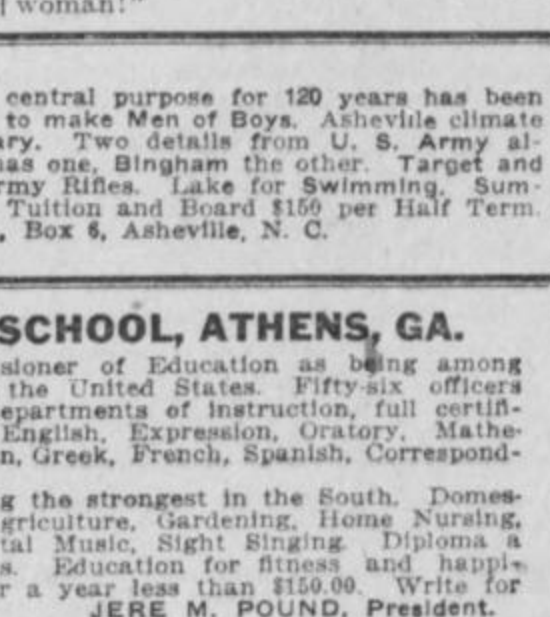

"I will take it back," I said to the young man. "Don't be a man! Be a woman!"

BINGHAM SCHOOL'S central purpose for 120 years has been to make Men of Boys. Asheville climate world renowned. Organization Military. Two details from U. S. Army allowed to N. C. The A. & M. College has one, Bingham the other. Target and Gallery practice, with latest U. S. Army Rifles. Lake for Swimming. Summer Camp during July and August. Tuition and Board $150 per Half Term. $300 a year. Address Col. R. Bingham, Box 4, Asheville, N. C.

THE STATE NORMAL SCHOOL, ATHENS, GA. Named by a United States Commissioner of Education as being among the best fitted State Normal Schools in the United States. Fifty-six officers and teachers, ten buildings, eighteen departments of instruction, full certificate courses in Psychology, Pedagogy, English, Expression, Oratory, Mathematics, Science, History, Latin, German, Greek, French, Spanish, Correspondence.

The Home-Life courses are among the strongest in the South. Domestic Arts and Sciences, Manual Arts, Agriculture, Gardening, Home Nursing, Physical Culture, Vocal and Instrumental Music, Sight Singing, Diploma license to teach. Two Practice Schools. Education for fitness and happiness in the home. Total expenses for a year less than $150.00. Write for Catalogue. JERE M. POUND, President.

WASHINGTON SEMINARY 1274 PEACHTREE ROAD ATLANTA THE SOUTH'S MOST BEAUTIFUL SCHOOL DISTINGUISHED FACILITIES. 1. Boarding Department limited. $100,000.00 in Grounds and Buildings. 2. New School Building, modern in equipment, with provision for open-air class rooms. 3. Courses in Domestic Science and Physical Training a part of regular curriculum. 4. Departments: Kindergarten, Primary, Academic, College Preparatory, Music, Art, Expression. Thirty-sixth Session begins SEPTEMBER 11th, 1918. Write for illustrated catalogue—B. L. D. and EMMA B. SCOTT, Principals.

INDIGESTION? Stop it quickly! Have your grocer send you one doz. bottles of SHIVAR GINGER ALE Drink with meals and if not promptly relieved, get your money back at our expense. Wholesome, delicious, refreshing. Prepared with the celebrated Shivar Mineral Water and the purest favoring materials. SHIVAR SPRING, Manufacturers SHELTON, S. C. E. L. ADAMS CO., Distributors, Atlanta.

Up-to-the-Minute Jokes They were talking about that terrible cry, "Man overboard!" "Only those who have been roused from midnight slumber on board ship can comprehend its meaning," said the traveler. "The sudden alarm, the fear and horror—" "Oh, yes, they can!" replied a very little shoemaker, who had no reputation as a traveler. "I heard it once when I wasn't on a ship, and I realized the horror of it more than anyone else." "You couldn't," said the great traveler scornfully. And the assembled company sided with him to a man. "But I could," persisted the cobbler. "You see, I was the man who fell overboard!"

One Woman's Story

By VIRGINIA TERHUNE VAN DE WATER

CHAPTER X.

TO young people the commonplace drudgery of the workaday world is accomplished swiftly and pleasantly if they have some happiness in anticipation as a sort of objective point toward which they are progressing. Mary Danforth did not appreciate that, from the time she received and accepted Craig's invitation, each task completed and each hour passed were to her inner consciousness but steps nearer to Wednesday night when she would again be with the man who had begun to mean much to her.

She did not see the Texan in the four days which intervened between the receipt of his note and the night on which "Aida" was to be sung. On Monday evening her father again mentioned casually that Craig had once more left his office. "He dropped in this morning," he remarked, "and I asked him up to dinner to-night, but he said he was going over to Philadelphia for a day or two, so he could not accept. He sent his kindest regards to you, my dear"—turning to his wife—"and wished also to be remembered to Mary." As he spoke he bestowed upon his daughter another of the searching looks with which he regarded her frequently of late, but she made no comment. She was at a loss for something to say, and, under the circumstances, sought safety in silence.

On Wednesday afternoon, returning from school earlier than usual, she found that her mother had gone out, but that, before leaving, she had laid on her daughter's desk a penciled memorandum. It ran: "Mr. Craig telephoned this morning just after you had left the house. He wished to remind you that he is to call for you at a quarter before eight."

The girl's heart beat faster as she read the few words. He must care a great deal, she thought, to go to the trouble of emphasizing by a telephone message an arrangement already made by letter. As if she could forget! She smiled happily and hummed gayly to herself as she went about her various tasks. Yet it was characteristic of her that later, when her parents spoke of Craig and her plans for the evening, her demeanor was cool and almost indifferent. At dinner she was quiet and demure, although the glow of excitement burned on her cheeks, and she lingered after she had finished her dessert, chatting with her father and mother while they drank their coffee, always keeping the conversation upon commonplace matters.

"You have never looked prettier than you do this evening, sweetheart," her father declared as she rose to go to her room to don her wraps. "Upon my word, mother," he continued, appealing to his wife, "does it seem possible that this is our little girl all grown up into a beautiful lady so soon?"

The girl turned impulsively and threw her arms about the speaker's neck. "The beautiful lady, as you call her, is never going to grow up so far as you are concerned, daddy dear," she whispered, clinging to him. "I always want to be just your little girl."

He kissed her fondly. "Run along and get ready, dearie," he said huskily. "I hear the Texan hero's ring at the door now." He laughed teasingly, but there was a note of sadness in his voice, and he looked wistfully after the slight figure as the girl hurried away.

Craig, handsome and distinguished in bearing in his correct evening dress, rose to greet Mary as she entered the drawing room, cloakroom, with a filmy scarf thrown over her hair. "Behold a wonder among women!" he exclaimed smiling. "You are on time to the minute."

Mary's greeting was cordial, but untroubled by any inward perturbation. "My father is to be thanked for the punctual habits of his daughter," she said after salutations had been exchanged. "It is he who has made me a bit more careful in that matter than girls usually are."

"I have already learned," the man answered gravely, "that you are different from all other girls in many ways. If your father is responsible for this fact, society in general, and I in particular, owe him a debt of thanks."

The entrance of Mr. and Mrs. Danforth caused a diversion that Mary found welcome, and soon she and her escort had the elderly pair good night and took the elevator down to the street door. Here a taxicab stood, its engine throbbing with a clam disregard to the cents and dollars that were being marked off on the dial at the chauffeur's side. Craig assisted the girl into a semi-darkness of the limousine, gave an order to the driver, then followed her, sinking into the seat by her with a sigh of content.

"Who knows but the world may end to-night?" he quoted laughingly. "In a taxicab that sounds more like a grisly prophecy than a delicate compliment," retorted Mary. "Are you fond of Browning?"

"If the note of surprise in your voice implies that you did not know that Texans were capable of enjoying him," he responded, "I shall be forced to say 'Yes' to your question. Otherwise, I will confess that I like only parts of him. Yet I can appreciate the truly beautiful just as well as a New Yorker can—even if I am theoretically wild and woolly." He gazed admiringly at her flushed face. She spoke, and his voice held a significance that Mary recognized. But she pretended not to notice it.

"Tell me about the wreck," she commanded hastily. "It was hell," he said simply. "And I am too dead the seventh heaven just now to want to think of it." "Who taught you to say such pretty things?" asked the girl, laughing to hide her embarrassment. "Nobody taught me," the man answered calmly. "If I say them at present, it is the result of the rest of my great happiness as being with you again."

And, as once before this evening, the girl found refuge in silence.

Yellowstone National Park

typifies the Great West as it was years ago. It is the one region where man has not distorted the natural beauty for commercial gain. See the wonders of the West as nature made them. They are all to be found in the Park.

Low Round Trip Fares

in effect now and excellent daily train service from Omaha, Kansas City, St. Louis or Chicago. Visit Denver and Salt Lake City enroute.

Let us help you to plan your trip. Write for booklets giving complete information about the Park and the best way to see it.

Union Pacific

Standard Road of the West The direct route of heavy double tracks, well ballasted roadbed and Automatic Electric Block Safety Signals.

A. J. DUTCHER, G. A. C. M. ROLLINGS, T. P. A. 908 Olive Street, 621 Woodward Bldg. St. Louis, Mo. Birmingham, Ala.

WEATHERMAN INTERCEDES FOR CRACKERS

By O. B. Keeler.

FOLLOWING is an entirely exhaustive summing up of the baseball situation at Mobile yesterday, where the Crackers apparently were doomed to encounter the Gulls in the third game of the series.

This is the complete idea: "Oh Rain, where is thy sting?" If you want to add anything more, go ahead.

NATURALLY, Birmingham won again. It rained there, too, but held off until the Barons had sneaked over the winning tally in the fifth, the game being just as shy as the rules will stand for and the record books publish.

But it counts exactly as much in the percentage column as if it had traveled twenty-three innings. EVERY now and then somebody comes to bat with a scream of rage and tries to hit the "commercialism of baseball" out of the lot. Yesterday every club president in the Southern League agreed to permit the Atlanta club to suspend Whitey Alperman the rest of the season, with full pay. And the Atlanta club is doing that very thing.

And now Whitey, with a wife and three little Alperman dependent on his pay envelope, can take his own time and get well comfortably from the appendicitis operation. We prefer to think that's an example of the true spirit of baseball. Commercialism should be made of sterner stuff—and is.

LOSE one Cracker, gain another. Wallop Smith, Jr., arrived at the home of his parents in St. Louis yesterday afternoon and is stopping with his mother. He weighed in at 9 pounds, 3 ounces, and is reported to be in grand condition. Bill Smith is preparing a contract for Wallop Junior. He will be used as jinx buster.

WALLOP JUNIOR. Hello, little Wally—By Golly, We're glad to meet you And greet you. In this bum old Vale of Years And tears, We need something to cheer us And steer us—You see, it isn't all Baseball. Still, if you would please us ginks—Bust that jinx!

MURPHY DEFEATS GALLANT IN TWELVE-ROUND BOUT. BOSTON, July 30.—Eddie Murphy, of South Boston, using a straight left almost exclusively, defeated Gilbert Gallant, of Chelsea, in twelve rounds at the Atlas A. A. here last night. An effort will be made to match Murphy and Baldwin for the next show here.

BROWN GOING TO AUSTRALIA. MILWAUKEE, July 30.—Pal Brown, of Hibbing, Minn., and his trainer, Jack Dougherty, of Milwaukee, left here to-day for San Francisco, from where they will sail for Australia on August 29. Brown has a contract for six matches in Australia, one of which will be with Hugh McKeegan, champion lightweight of Australia.

WALTER THORNTON IN CELL. TACOMA, WASH., July 30.—Walter M. Thornton, a few years ago a twirler for the Chicago National League club, last night was placed in the padded cell of the county jail at Everett, to be held for examination by the County Sanitary Board. While pitching for Chicago he was struck on the head by a batted ball. He has never been quite sane since.

3 FIGHTS "STAMPEDE WEEK." WINNIPEG, MAN., July 30.—During the celebration of "stamped week" here in August a number of boxing bouts will be held. Among those scheduled are: George Ashe, New York, vs. Jack Dillon, Indianapolis, August 8, fifteen rounds. Steve Ketchel vs. Sammy Trot, August 11, twelve rounds. Carl Morris vs. Fred McLachlan, August 18, fifteen rounds.

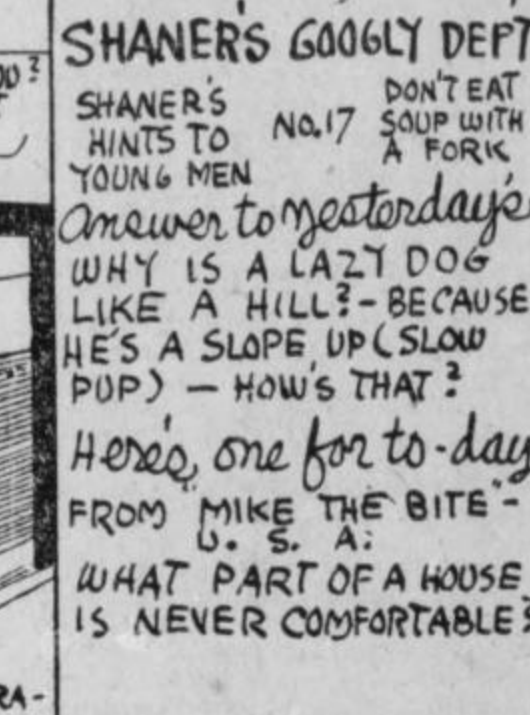

OTHER RESULTS. American Association. Raleigh 4, Asheville 0. St. Paul 5, Milwaukee 0. Minneapolis 7, Kansas City 2. Columbus 7, Toledo 3. Louisville 4, Indianapolis 2. International League. Baltimore 5, Rochester 0. Montgomery 4, Newark 3. Buffalo 7, Jersey City 2. Toronto 5, Providence 4. Federal League. St. Louis 5, Cleveland 4. Indianapolis 2, Kansas City 0. Chicago 5, Pittsburgh 2. Appalachian League. Knoxville 4, Morristown 3. Bristol 3, Middleboro 1. Johnson City 6, Rome 5. Texas League. Houston 4, Waco 2. Beaumont 4, Fort Worth 3. Galveston 5-12, Dallas 0-3. Austin 4, San Antonio 3.

FORSYTH TWICE TO-DAY. 2:30 AND 8:30. JOE WELCH. Robt. L. Dailey & Co. Dolan-Lenhar Co. Elsa Ward Cunningham & Marion Luffel Trio—Karl Cress. NEXT WEEK. Everest's Monkey Hippodrome.

TO-DAY GRAND. 2:30 AND 8:30. CARNegie MUSEUM. ALASKA-SIBERIA PICTURES. And High-Class First Run Movies. Mat. 10c; Night 10c, 15c & 25c.

GEORGIAN SPORTS COVERED BY EXPERTS.

Us Boys

Polly and Her Pals

Graves-McNeil Team Confident Hold Postponed Races To-night

IF Jack Prince wants to square himself with the motorcycle fans, he had better leave the city for the next twelve hours. The "Rainmaker" is in awfully Dutch with the saucer bugs who had been expecting to see some thrillers out at the Motordrome last night, but who were robbed by J. Pluv.

J. Pluv's wet assortment caused a postponement from last night until to-night. The same card scheduled last evening will be run this evening—that is, if J. Prince will kindly be away from the village.

J. Pluv and J. Prince are bitter enemies, and the former J. holds several decisions over the latter J.

While the showers last evening dampened a heap of enthusiasm for a while, it failed to dampen any spirit among the riders. They are more anxious than ever to prove that in a thirty-minute grind that they are "there."

"McNeil and I were only forced to wait twenty-four hours longer to prove that our team is the fastest," said Marty Graves this morning. The other riders laughed when Marty said this, and every one of them tried to get him to bet a few extra cigars on the outcome.

"Tex Richards and yours truly will be home in front; and don't forget that," said Billy Shields, who is teamed with the speed demon from the Lone Star State.

The revised and complete program for to-night follows:

First Event—First heat Motordrome Sweepstakes. (One mile to qualify and two-mile final.) Starters—Graves, Shields, Richards, Renel, Lewis.

Second Race—First heat of a match race between Glenn and Luther. (Race to be two beats in three.) Distance, 2 miles.

Third Event—Second heat of Motordrome Sweepstakes. Starters—Graves, Shields, Richards, Renel, Lewis.

Fourth Event—Second heat of match race between Glenn and Luther.

Fifth Event—Final heat of Motordrome Sweepstakes. (First and second man in each heat and third man in fastest heat to start.)

Sixth Event—Third heat of match race between Glenn and Luther, if necessary.

Seventh Event—Half-hour team race. Teams—Graves and McNeil, Schwartz and Lockner, Shields and Richards, Luther and Lewis, Renel and Glenn. (No rider can remain on track over twenty consecutive minutes.)

"McNeil and I were only forced to wait twenty-four hours longer to prove that our team is the fastest," said Marty Graves this morning. The other riders laughed when Marty said this, and every one of them tried to get him to bet a few extra cigars on the outcome.

"Tex Richards and yours truly will be home in front; and don't forget that," said Billy Shields, who is teamed with the speed demon from the Lone Star State.

FODDER FOR FANS

The downtrodden Yanks went down to defeat twice before the Cleveland sluggers. Chance used two pitchers in each contest but the runners up in the American League took kindly to their offerings.

Andrew Jelsma, 17-year-old pitcher, is claiming a new record for pitched balls during a contest. The youthful twirler claims he delivered 64 balls during a recent game between the Elks team of the Guthrie City League team and the Santa Fe nine. Christy Mathewson of the Giants has a record of 67 balls for a game.

The Cincinnati Reds jumped out of the cellar position when they again snatched a victory from the Dodgers while the Giants were trimming the Cardinals twice.

Artist Demaree won the first game for his team-mates, when his sacrifice fly enabled McGraw to score the only run of the game. The young twirler on McGraw's staff switched from right to left after two strikes had been called on Ibanez and proved a lucky switch. In the second contest Promme had the St. Louis batters guessing.

Engel pitched the Senators to their third victory over the Browns when he held St. Louis down to three hits yesterday.

Long Bob Ewing, for several years a star pitcher on the Cincinnati Reds, is through with baseball. He started to pitch on 4 June at Lima, but snapped

SPORTS AND SUCH

BY RIGHT CROSS. "I WANT to join the Giants," said the athlete. "On the square."

There is a team that wants me—I can get more money there," The Magnates glared upon him, And answered stern and grave: "You signed an honest contract—Now go back and behave."

An in-curve on the beeper Put his hitting on the blink; His thrifty owner speedily Gave him the rinky-dink. Again he sought the Magnates: "This contract—how about?" "Ha, ha!" they said, "Bring in some wine, And chuck this rummy out!"

FOLLOWERS OF THE BOX-fight will be interested to know that Kid Williams has disqualified Champion Johnny Coulon because of illness, and has assumed the bantamweight title.

WHEN OUR GALLANT ARMY officers escape from the polo tournament they will turn with relief to a little campaign in Mexico.

"THERE IS ONLY ONE TEAM in baseball to-day—the Athletics," reports Manager Chance. But the P. L. is hardly an unbiased judge. In the light of his record he has to boost them.

KID WILLIAMS AND TOM McCarrey evidently figure that in dealing with Coulon the double cross is more effective than the right cross.

H. WAGNER. How doth the German ath-lete Improve that Pittsburgh gang, And run the fielders off their feet With husky sweat and bang?

See how he waves his ether fan Like some steam shovel's jaws; He welcomes every wallow in Those oil-slicking paces!

MAGNATE'S NATIONAL HYMN. Let us then be up and doing Everybody that we can, Always trailing and pursuing What is called the Iron Man.

Not that we are a calamity howler, But some day Horace Fogel will lose control of his emergency brake and tick himself to death.

Umpire McNulty deposes that on the features, "breaking the melon-process bone on the right side of the face, inflicting such injuries as to render mastication of his food extremely painful, and causing paralysis of the nerves of three teeth be, sides injuring his nose and right eye."

But he does not state whether Mr. O'Connor used his fist or a baseball bat.

The fact that Mr. McNulty is suing Mr. O'Connor for $35,000 is a surprise to the average fan, who had an impression that every American citizen had an inalienable right to clobber an umpire.

BOXING

News of the Ring Game. Big Jess Willard, the Texas cowboy, is still making strenuous efforts to obtain recognition in California. At present he is trying to inveigle Arthur Pelly, the Chicago heavyweight, into a match.

Within a few weeks the Kenosha, Wis., promoters will inaugurate a revival of the sport. Boxing in that State now is legal, and the boxing fraternity anticipates a busy fall and winter season. Legalized bouts will do a lot to help the sport in the Middle West.

Jack "Twin" Sullivan, of Boston, has been matched to box Soldier Kearns, the Brooklyn heavyweight, in a ten-round bout to go at the Queensberry A. C. Philadelphia, on the night of August 2.

Ad Wolgast declares that he has broken with Manager Tom Jones for good, and that he will be his own matchmaker in the future. When he wins back the championship, he says, he is going to get a new manager.

New York fight fans expect to see fireworks aplenty on August 8, for that is the date on which Gunboat Smith and Jim Flynn have agreed to mingle for ten rounds. Both these scrappers are already on the battleground training for the fray.

Mike Saul and Eddie Hanlon are practically matched to meet in the semi-windup to the next boxing show to be staged here. The little bantamweight wishes to announce that he is after a bout with either Kid Duke or Kid Brooks.

Abe Attel denies the reports circulated in the East that he was bested by Willie Beecher. The ex-champion featherweight says he was at least entitled to a draw.

Bat Nelson may enter the ring again. Promoters in Saratoga, N. Y., are after the "Durable Dane" to meet Jimmy O'Haban there some time next month.

August 12 is the date set for the Jack White-Dundee scrap at Los Angeles. The heavy featherweights are scheduled to go twenty rounds to a decision.

NAPS PURCHASE SMITH. DULUTH, MINN., July 30.—Elmer Smith, Duluth right fighter, will report to the Cleveland American League Club after August 24. The purchase price was not announced. Smith is carrying the Northern League record for home runs.

RITCHIE LIKELY TO SIGN TO-DAY WITH WOLGAST

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29.—If Willie Ritchie and Ad Wolgast are as serious about re-matching and betting $25,000 on the outcome as their words indicate, the match should be closed before the shades of night fall over Los Angeles. Ad and Tom Jones arrived in Los Angeles to-day. They left here for the purpose of meeting Ritchie and closing for a second match.

Incidentally Ad's recent talk that he is now his own manager goes to the four winds. Jones accompanied Ad as manager and will do most of the negotiating to-day. If the champion and ex-champion come together again it will be in a twenty-round battle some time in September.

Just before taking the train for Los Angeles Wolgast said: "Yes, I will bet $25,000 that I can beat Willie Ritchie, and I am willing to let the bet go as I originally stated it. I will bet $12,500 that I can stop Ritchie inside of twenty rounds, and I will bet the other $12,500 that I beat him. I am not bluffing when I say I will make him waver. The one fear that I have is that Ritchie will not accept. As soon as I get in Los Angeles I'll hunt up Ritchie and see if he will take me on."

CUBAN IS WINNER OF CHESS MASTER'S TOURNEY

NEW YORK, July 30.—Winning his thirteenth game, Jose R. Capablanca, of Havana, yesterday became the victor in the chess masters' tournament through which he played without a defeat, duplicating the record of Lasker in a similar tournament played in this city in 1921. Capablanca's triumph was from A. Kupchik, the metropolitan master, after five moves in a game adjourned from Thursday. Kupchik holds second place and Black is third in the standing to date.

PIRATES BUY INFIELDER. FULTON, MO., July 30.—Douglas Baird, member of the Westminster College "Blue Jays" of this city, who won the college championship of Missouri in 1912, after one of the most successful seasons ever experienced by a college nine, is slated to become a member of the Pittsburgh National League team next season. Baird is an infelder.

COBB RELEASED, NOT TY. LINCOLN, NEBR., July 30.—President Jones, of the Lincoln club of the Western League, this morning announced the unconditional release of Paul Cobb, outfielder, and Tom Tucky, pitcher. Cobb is a brother of Ty Cobb.

Leach Cross Defeats Baldwin Twenty-Round Bout a Fizzle

By H. M. Walker. VERNON ARENA, LOS ANGELES, July 30.—Leach Cross and Matty Baldwin stood in the center of the ring at the finish of twenty rounds of mild milling and embraced like brothers. Truth to tell, they performed like kinsmen throughout the evening. Cross was given the decision. He outpointed Baldwin in at least 18 out of 20 rounds. The big fault to be found with Leach's work was that he did not try at any time to bring the battle to a finish.

So unsatisfactory was his work in this respect that at the end of the fifteenth round Referee Eytton stepped to Cross' corner with a warning: "You are not trying," said the official. "Every time you get your man going you stall and allow him to strengthen up. You'll have to do better."

This warning had little effect upon the New Yorker. He had Baldwin on the run in the last few rounds, but was content to box in such cautious fashion that the ring-siders were all barking their disapproval. The one charitable way to view Cross' work was that Leach knew of Baldwin's ability to travel twenty rounds, but was not sure of his own stamina.

On his showing last night Cross can make no immediate claim for recognition at the hands of Ritchie, Wolgast or any of the other top-notchers. Indeed he may consider himself a lucky

TOBACCO HABIT

You can conquer it. Restore your health, prolong your life. No more stomach trouble, no foul breath, no heart weakness, brain mainly clear, calm nerves, clear eyes and superior mental strength. Whether you smoke pipe, cigarette, cigar, or 20 interesting tobacco. Book worth its weight in gold. Mailed free. E. J. WOODS, 314 Sixth Ave., 7th fl., New York, N. Y.

Big Reduction IN Dental Work

GOOD WORK means more practice and lower prices. We have reduced our prices on all Dental work, but the quality of our work remains the same.

Gold Crowns $3.00. Bridge Work $3.00. Set of Teeth $5.00. Best That Money Can Buy.

We Use the Best Methods of Painless Dentistry. Atlanta Dental Parlors. Cor. Peachtree & Decatur Sts. Entrance 19-12 Peachtree St.

MORPHINE. Optum, Whiskey and Drug Habits treated at Home or at Sanatorium. Book on subject free. DR. J. M. WOOLLEY, 34-26, Wm. Stearns, Atlanta, Georgia.

MONEY. LOANED TO SALARIED MEN AT LAWFUL RATES ON PROMISSORY NOTES. Without Endorsement. Without Collateral Security. Without Real Estate Security. NATIONAL DISCOUNT CO. 1211-12 Fourth National Bank Bldg.

FREE*FREE*FREE*FREE*FREE*FREE*FREE*FREE

GET IN AND WIN AN AUTO

The Georgian's Want Ad Contest gives Young Atlantans a Big Opportunity to convert their time and energy to good account. A few hours a day among your friends may bring you a prize you long for but cannot afford to buy. Turn your acquaintance, your brain, your energy, into capital. You can do it.

Enter Now and Get a Fair Start

Everybody has an unfilled want which a Georgian Want Ad will supply. Learn their wants, get the ads, and Ten Contest Votes will be given you for every cent secured for Want Ads. The Coupon on this page will start you with 1,000 votes. See the Want Ad Man or the District Manager at the headquarters nearest your home.

Nomination Coupon

HEARST'S SUNDAY AMERICAN
and ATLANTA GEORGIAN

I Nominate ..... (Name)
..... (Address)
as contestant in your Want Ad Contest.

..... (Address)
..... (Name)
This coupon properly filled out will count for 1,000 Votes for Contestant named. Only one coupon will be counted for each Contestant.

1,000
VOTES

District Headquarters

DISTRICT NO. 1—North of Marietta and west of Peachtree, Taylor Bros. Drug Store, No. 191 West Peachtree street.

DISTRICT NO. 2—North of Decatur street and east of Peachtree, including Kirkwood, Decatur and Eastern Suburbs; Ponce DeLeon Pharmacy, corner Ponce DeLeon avenue and North Boulevard.

DISTRICT NO. 3—South of Decatur street and east of Whitehall; Paragon Pharmacy, Capitol avenue and Georgia avenue.

DISTRICT NO. 4—South of Marietta street and west of Whitehall, including West End, College Park, East Point and Battle Hill; Medlock's Pharmacy, Gordon and Lee streets.

SOME OF THE PRIZES

Five-Passenger Automobile, Handsome Piano,
Trip to California,
One-Cylinder Motorcycles,
Twin-Cylinder Motorcycle,
Bicycles, Watches,
Diamond, Jewelry

HEARST'S SUNDAY AMERICAN
and ATLANTA GEORGIAN
BUSINESS OFFICE, 7 EDGEWOOD AVENUE

POULTRY

Pet and Live Stock

BANTAMS

Bantams—Game bantams, Sebrights, Buff Cochins, Carle's, etc., 4-26-30

EGGS

Eggs—All varieties, 10-day, every egg guaranteed. We have limited number each day at 25c per dozen, but you have to be quick. Call 1505. Price, 1505. Price, 1505.

INCUBATORS

FOR SALE—Seventy-five Cyprian incubators, in good condition; price for quick sale, $1. Address Box 25, care American, giving phone number 1505.

LEGHORN

FINE S. C. White Leghorn pullets and cockerels, Belmont strain, five pullets and cockerels, $5. Miss Nannie Pettit, Ellijay, Ga.

LEGHORN

1500 Grand White Leghorns, breeders, of our celebrated "Model" strain, in perfect health, pure white, and heavy layers, must have room at sacrifice price, $1 each. Order to day. Model Poultry Farm, "The Farm of Quality," Box 6, Colbert, Ga.

ORPINGTONS

WHITE ORPINGTONS for sale, four hens, one cockerel, $15; six hens, one cockerel, $10. Address Box 25, care American, giving phone number 1505.

PLYMOUTH ROCKS

PARTIAL ROCKS—The South's leading winning strain. Can give quality and blood lines unequalled by any other strain. My birds are winners at the Southern International, Madison, Ky., and at the National, Louisville, Ky. Address Box 25, care American, giving phone number 1505.

POULTRY—All Varieties

FOR SALE—White Orpington chickens. Will sell cheap for cash. Phone 1505. New frame size. Address Box 25, care American, giving phone number 1505.

CHICKENS

CHICKENS—New yard-raised fowls; hens for sale cheap. 35 Perry Street. 45-26-7

POULTRY—Disinfectants

AGASCO-SPRAY

WILL KILL your premises of mites, lice, fleas and ants. It is ready for immediate use with brush or spray pump. When applied to poles and nests it eradicates lice and mites so effectively that fowls do not have to be carried through the process of dipping. Manufactured by Atlanta Gas Light Company, Atlanta, Ga.

POULTRY Remedies

ARE your hens paying their board? If not, Southern Poultry Remedy is the best thing to give them. It is wanted. Price 25c and 50c at all seed stores and dealers.

Wyandottes

ONE pen 8 hens and cock for $10; one pen 8 hens and cock for $15; one pen 8 hens and cock for $20; 200 young golden faced Wyandottes for sale. 7-27-19

COWS

THREE COWS for sale. A. W. Helms, Brown Mill Road, 5857-P Atlanta phone.

Dogs

COLLIE DOG, five months old, good, great stock, 600. Bottenberg, 7-3-24

Horses, Mules, Vehicles, Etc.

SEVERAL mules, all varieties, etc., for sale cheap. Call 1505. Address Box 25, care American, giving phone number 1505.

ONE SOUND mule, one horse, two wagons, complete with harness, etc., for sale. 1505. Address Box 25, care American, giving phone number 1505.

FOR SALE—Exceptionally fine young 1,200-pound stock, harness, etc., for sale. 1505. Address Box 25, care American, giving phone number 1505.

NEW KARWIS special-built platform wagon with slat sides. See Mr. Jordan, at Morrow's Stable, 132 Elliott Street. 7-26-10

FOR SALE—A sound mare; will work anywhere, also a sound, old, old mule, a bargain. Call 1505. Address Box 25, care American, giving phone number 1505.

Poultry, Plants and Seeds

NOTES—The wonderful Fourteen-Ten and all other turnip seeds, mustard, kale, carrot, radish, lettuce, etc., for sale. Call 1505. Address Box 25, care American, giving phone number 1505.

H. G. HASTINGS &amp; CO.

SEEDS AND POULTRY SUPPLIES. BOTH PHONES 2168

OUR NORTH SIDE STORE AT 1505 E. PULASKI STREET. WE HAVE THE LARGEST STOCK OF SEEDS AND POULTRY SUPPLIES. WE DELIVER TO ANY PART OF THE CITY. WE HAVE THE LARGEST STOCK OF SEEDS AND POULTRY SUPPLIES. WE DELIVER TO ANY PART OF THE CITY.

IT'S TIME to feed Pratt's Poultry Regulator. It hastens laying maturity, increases output and complete moult. Means fall and winter eggs which bring the big prices. Your money back if it fails—25c, 50c and $1 package.

12 CENTS PER HEN per year is all it costs to keep Pratt's Poultry Regulator in condition on Pratt's Poultry Regulator. Worth trying, don't you think?

WON'T HURT HENS or chicks or even tame quail in nests, but it does get the lice that eat money back. Guarantees on every package of Conkey's Lice Powder, 25c, 50c and $1.00 boxes.

THERE'S PROFIT in poultry, when you keep them free from lice and disease. Conkey's Lice Powder is an all-around, quick disinfectant, spray and lice liquid; easy to use and costs less than 10c per 100 parts of water. 35c per 600 parts, 90c half-gallon, $1.50 gallon.

BORDEAUX is about the worst disease that Southern chickens suffer from, and it is just about time for it to appear. Get a box of Conkey's or Pratt's Bordeaux Remedy. It is guaranteed to cure this dreaded disease.

ROOMS AND BOARD WANTED

FURNISHED room and board to young man in private family. 363 West Peachtree. Phone 1505.

ROOM, breakfast if desired, to a business man. Call 1505. Address Box 25, care American, giving phone number 1505.

BEAUTIFUL furnished front room on North Side. Furnace heat, electric lights, convenient to good boarding house. 449-L. Phone 1505.

TWO rooms furnished for light housekeeping, private family. Main 1692-J. Phone 1505.

LARGE room, front corner, steam heated room, adjoining bath, with three windows open on large porch; beautifully furnished, delightful cool and pleasant. Call Atlanta phone 3484.

LARGE, cool, nicely furnished room, next to bath, in private home, for one or two gentlemen. Apply 79-A W. Harris. 7-27-19

THREE rooms, furnished complete for light housekeeping; electric lights, hot and cold water, gas and sink. Every modern convenience. Ideal neighborhood. North Side. Phone 1505.

FOR RENT—To gentlemen only, nicely furnished, cool front room; steam heated apartment. Private home. Phone 1505. 184 Ivy Street, Apartment 5.

ROOM, breakfast if desired, to a business man. Call 1505. Address Box 25, care American, giving phone number 1505.

BEAUTIFUL furnished front room on North Side. Furnace heat, electric lights, convenient to good boarding house. 449-L. Phone 1505.

TWO rooms furnished for light housekeeping, private family. Main 1692-J. Phone 1505.

LARGE room, front corner, steam heated room, adjoining bath, with three windows open on large porch; beautifully furnished, delightful cool and pleasant. Call Atlanta phone 3484.

LARGE, cool, nicely furnished room, next to bath, in private home, for one or two gentlemen. Apply 79-A W. Harris. 7-27-19

THREE rooms, furnished complete for light housekeeping; electric lights, hot and cold water, gas and sink. Every modern convenience. Ideal neighborhood. North Side. Phone 1505.

FOR RENT—To gentlemen only, nicely furnished, cool front room; steam heated apartment. Private home. Phone 1505. 184 Ivy Street, Apartment 5.

ROOM, breakfast if desired, to a business man. Call 1505. Address Box 25, care American, giving phone number 1505.

BEAUTIFUL furnished front room on North Side. Furnace heat, electric lights, convenient to good boarding house. 449-L. Phone 1505.

TWO rooms furnished for light housekeeping, private family. Main 1692-J. Phone 1505.

LARGE room, front corner, steam heated room, adjoining bath, with three windows open on large porch; beautifully furnished, delightful cool and pleasant. Call Atlanta phone 3484.

LARGE, cool, nicely furnished room, next to bath, in private home, for one or two gentlemen. Apply 79-A W. Harris. 7-27-19

THREE rooms, furnished complete for light housekeeping; electric lights, hot and cold water, gas and sink. Every modern convenience. Ideal neighborhood. North Side. Phone 1505.

FOR RENT—To gentlemen only, nicely furnished, cool front room; steam heated apartment. Private home. Phone 1505. 184 Ivy Street, Apartment 5.

ROOM, breakfast if desired, to a business man. Call 1505. Address Box 25, care American, giving phone number 1505.

BEAUTIFUL furnished front room on North Side. Furnace heat, electric lights, convenient to good boarding house. 449-L. Phone 1505.

TWO rooms furnished for light housekeeping, private family. Main 1692-J. Phone 1505.

LARGE room, front corner, steam heated room, adjoining bath, with three windows open on large porch; beautifully furnished, delightful cool and pleasant. Call Atlanta phone 3484.

LARGE, cool, nicely furnished room, next to bath, in private home, for one or two gentlemen. Apply 79-A W. Harris. 7-27-19

THREE rooms, furnished complete for light housekeeping; electric lights, hot and cold water, gas and sink. Every modern convenience. Ideal neighborhood. North Side. Phone 1505.

FOR RENT—To gentlemen only, nicely furnished, cool front room; steam heated apartment. Private home. Phone 1505. 184 Ivy Street, Apartment 5.

ROOM, breakfast if desired, to a business man. Call 1505. Address Box 25, care American, giving phone number 1505.

BEAUTIFUL furnished front room on North Side. Furnace heat, electric lights, convenient to good boarding house. 449-L. Phone 1505.

TWO rooms furnished for light housekeeping, private family. Main 1692-J. Phone 1505.

LARGE room, front corner, steam heated room, adjoining bath, with three windows open on large porch; beautifully furnished, delightful cool and pleasant. Call Atlanta phone 3484.

LARGE, cool, nicely furnished room, next to bath, in private home, for one or two gentlemen. Apply 79-A W. Harris. 7-27-19

THREE rooms, furnished complete for light housekeeping; electric lights, hot and cold water, gas and sink. Every modern convenience. Ideal neighborhood. North Side. Phone 1505.

FOR RENT—To gentlemen only, nicely furnished, cool front room; steam heated apartment. Private home. Phone 1505. 184 Ivy Street, Apartment 5.

ROOM, breakfast if desired, to a business man. Call 1505. Address Box 25, care American, giving phone number 1505.

BEAUTIFUL furnished front room on North Side. Furnace heat, electric lights, convenient to good boarding house. 449-L. Phone 1505.

TWO rooms furnished for light housekeeping, private family. Main 1692-J. Phone 1505.

LARGE room, front corner, steam heated room, adjoining bath, with three windows open on large porch; beautifully furnished, delightful cool and pleasant. Call Atlanta phone 3484.

LARGE, cool, nicely furnished room, next to bath, in private home, for one or two gentlemen. Apply 79-A W. Harris. 7-27-19

THREE rooms, furnished complete for light housekeeping; electric lights, hot and cold water, gas and sink. Every modern convenience. Ideal neighborhood. North Side. Phone 1505.

FOR RENT—To gentlemen only, nicely furnished, cool front room; steam heated apartment. Private home. Phone 1505. 184 Ivy Street, Apartment 5.

ROOM, breakfast if desired, to a business man. Call 1505. Address Box 25, care American, giving phone number 1505.

BEAUTIFUL furnished front room on North Side. Furnace heat, electric lights, convenient to good boarding house. 449-L. Phone 1505.

TWO rooms furnished for light housekeeping, private family. Main 1692-J. Phone 1505.

LARGE room, front corner, steam heated room, adjoining bath, with three windows open on large porch; beautifully furnished, delightful cool and pleasant. Call Atlanta phone 3484.

LARGE, cool, nicely furnished room, next to bath, in private home, for one or two gentlemen. Apply 79-A W. Harris. 7-27-19

THREE rooms, furnished complete for light housekeeping; electric lights, hot and cold water, gas and sink. Every modern convenience. Ideal neighborhood. North Side. Phone 1505.

FOR RENT—To gentlemen only, nicely furnished, cool front room; steam heated apartment. Private home. Phone 1505. 184 Ivy Street, Apartment 5.

ROOM, breakfast if desired, to a business man. Call 1505. Address Box 25, care American, giving phone number 1505.

BEAUTIFUL furnished front room on North Side. Furnace heat, electric lights, convenient to good boarding house. 449-L. Phone 1505.

TWO rooms furnished for light housekeeping, private family. Main 1692-J. Phone 1505.

LARGE room, front corner, steam heated room, adjoining bath, with three windows open on large porch; beautifully furnished, delightful cool and pleasant. Call Atlanta phone 3484.

LARGE, cool, nicely furnished room, next to bath, in private home, for one or two gentlemen. Apply 79-A W. Harris. 7-27-19

THREE rooms, furnished complete for light housekeeping; electric lights, hot and cold water, gas and sink. Every modern convenience. Ideal neighborhood. North Side. Phone 1505.

FOR RENT—To gentlemen only, nicely furnished, cool front room; steam heated apartment. Private home. Phone 1505. 184 Ivy Street, Apartment 5.

ROOM, breakfast if desired, to a business man. Call 1505. Address Box 25, care American, giving phone number 1505.

BEAUTIFUL furnished front room on North Side. Furnace heat, electric lights, convenient to good boarding house. 449-L. Phone 1505.

TWO rooms furnished for light housekeeping, private family. Main 1692-J. Phone 1505.

LARGE room, front corner, steam heated room, adjoining bath, with three windows open on large porch; beautifully furnished, delightful cool and pleasant. Call Atlanta phone 3484.

LARGE, cool, nicely furnished room, next to bath, in private home, for one or two gentlemen. Apply 79-A W. Harris. 7-27-19

THREE rooms, furnished complete for light housekeeping; electric lights, hot and cold water, gas and sink. Every modern convenience. Ideal neighborhood. North Side. Phone 1505.

FOR RENT—To gentlemen only, nicely furnished, cool front room; steam heated apartment. Private home. Phone 1505. 184 Ivy Street, Apartment 5.

ROOM, breakfast if desired, to a business man. Call 1505. Address Box 25, care American, giving phone number 1505.

BEAUTIFUL furnished front room on North Side. Furnace heat, electric lights, convenient to good boarding house. 449-L. Phone 1505.

TWO rooms furnished for light housekeeping, private family. Main 1692-J. Phone 1505.

ROOMS AND BOARD

370 PIEDMONT AVE., two front and one side room; breakfast and evening dinner. Modern. Easy walking distance. Phone 1505.

NICE rooms and good board at reasonable rates, close in. Apply 180 Ivy Street.

CAN ACCOMMODATE couple business ladies or gentlemen with room and board in private West End home. All conveniences. Reasonable. West 135th Street. 449-L. Phone 1505.

ROOMMATE for young man; nice room. Table best. 62 West Baker. Ivy 5074.

ROOM with connecting bath with board. Also single room. Ideal location. 443 Peachtree. Ivy 4562.

FIRST CLASS table, board with or without room. 35 West Harris at Ivy 7199-J.

TWO nice gentlemen can secure room and board in private family. All conveniences. Main 848-J.

THE MOST delightfully furnished room in Atlanta, with all conveniences, bath, dining room, service excellent; one block of Candler building. Ask Georgian for particulars. Reasonable. Apply 110 Ivy Street.

TWO boys can have cool room and board. Phone 1505.

LARGE, cool, nicely furnished front room with dressing room, near bath. 314 Peachtree. Ivy 4384-J.

BOARD and room in private family; close in North Side, references exchanged. Ivy 6594.

362 PEACHTREE, fine location, suite of rooms suitable for three. 7-27-122

NOTICE: If you wish to find the best Southern young man in the city of Atlanta, with board and among the best people, try 477 Peachtree St. Ask the Georgian for particulars. 7-27-122

DELIGHTFULLY furnished cool rooms for nice young men only, with board. 181 Ivy St. 7-27-6

THREE furnished rooms, close in, low and reasonable rates, with or without meals, for men only. Phone Ivy 3589.

DESIRABLE rooms with board, 75 West Peachtree. Ideal location; reasonable. Ivy 1449-J. 7-24-25

16 EAST BAKER ST.

GOOD board, pleasant rooms, desirable sleeping porch. Ivy 5469-L. 7-27-3

NICE furnished rooms, with or without board. 659 E. Alabama street. Atlanta phone 2514. 7-20-24

68 WALTON ST.

BLOCK of postoffice, under new management, large cool rooms, newly furnished, painted and papered. Meals a specialty at reasonable prices. 7-21-16

NICE furnished rooms, with or without board. $4 to $6 week. 123 Capitol Avenue. 6-28-36

22 E. GAIN, nicely furnished rooms and board. 7-15-27

BEST MEALS IN TOWN, 13 WEEK ROOM. 222 E. Baker. 7-15-27

PRYOR, CALL, MAIN 5048. 7-8-42

IVY HOTEL, 18 IVY ST.

AMERICAN PLAN, $1.25 up. Weekly Rates. 7-8-4

36 EAST NORTH AVE.

BETWEEN the Peachtree; nicely furnished, board and excellent bath. 7-3-12

358 PEACHTREE.

NICELY furnished front room for two, electric lights, hot water, separate bath. Ivy 1295.

TWO furnished rooms for light housekeeping, with porch; all conveniences. Ivy 5860-J.

TWO furnished rooms; light housekeeping, modern bath; in, also two bed rooms. 81 Brotherton.

THREE connecting upstairs rooms; two light housekeeping, dining room, also furnished rooms. 301 South Forsyth. 7-27-19

ONE nicely furnished room, with hot and cold water. Apply 140-C Luckie street.

FOUR rooms for light housekeeping; all conveniences; no children. Apply 191 Luckie street.

THREE nicely furnished rooms; all conveniences; hot and cold water; bath. Scott Apts., 14-A West Baker. Ivy 5039.

ONE nicely furnished room; all conveniences; hot and cold water; bath. Phone Main 3218-J.

COOL, furnished front room; home conveniences; private family. 55 West Harris. Ivy 1324.

COMFORTABLE rooms with good table board; close in; conveniences. 33 Cone street.

LARGE beautifully furnished room, connecting bath, close in. 104 Williams street. Ivy 4409-L.

ROOMMATE for young man; nice room; table best. 62 West Baker. Ivy 5074.

FURNISHED rooms, all conveniences. Call Atlanta phone 3484.

LARGE, cool, nicely furnished room, next to bath, in private home, for one or two gentlemen. Apply 79-A W. Harris. 7-27-19

THREE rooms, furnished complete for light housekeeping; electric lights, hot and cold water, gas and sink. Every modern convenience. Ideal neighborhood. North Side. Phone 1505.

FOR RENT—To gentlemen only, nicely furnished, cool front room; steam heated apartment. Private home. Phone 1505. 184 Ivy Street, Apartment 5.

ROOM, breakfast if desired, to a business man. Call 1505. Address Box 25, care American, giving phone number 1505.

BEAUTIFUL furnished front room on North Side. Furnace heat, electric lights, convenient to good boarding house. 449-L. Phone 1505.

TWO rooms furnished for light housekeeping, private family. Main 1692-J. Phone 1505.

LARGE room, front corner, steam heated room, adjoining bath, with three windows open on large porch; beautifully furnished, delightful cool and pleasant. Call Atlanta phone 3484.

LARGE, cool, nicely furnished room, next to bath, in private home, for one or two gentlemen. Apply 79-A W. Harris. 7-27-19

THREE rooms, furnished complete for light housekeeping; electric lights, hot and cold water, gas and sink. Every modern convenience. Ideal neighborhood. North Side. Phone 1505.

FOR RENT—To gentlemen only, nicely furnished, cool front room; steam heated apartment. Private home. Phone 1505. 184 Ivy Street, Apartment 5.

ROOM, breakfast if desired, to a business man. Call 1505. Address Box 25, care American, giving phone number 1505.

BEAUTIFUL furnished front room on North Side. Furnace heat, electric lights, convenient to good boarding house. 449-L. Phone 1505.

TWO rooms furnished for light housekeeping, private family. Main 1692-J. Phone 1505.

LARGE room, front corner, steam heated room, adjoining bath, with three windows open on large porch; beautifully furnished, delightful cool and pleasant. Call Atlanta phone 3484.

LARGE, cool, nicely furnished room, next to bath, in private home, for one or two gentlemen. Apply 79-A W. Harris. 7-27-19

THREE rooms, furnished complete for light housekeeping; electric lights, hot and cold water, gas and sink. Every modern convenience. Ideal neighborhood. North Side. Phone 1505.

FOR RENT—To gentlemen only, nicely furnished, cool front room; steam heated apartment. Private home. Phone 1505. 184 Ivy Street, Apartment 5.

ROOM, breakfast if desired, to a business man. Call 1505. Address Box 25, care American, giving phone number 1505.

BEAUTIFUL furnished front room on North Side. Furnace heat, electric lights, convenient to good boarding house. 449-L. Phone 1505.

TWO rooms furnished for light housekeeping, private family. Main 1692-J. Phone 1505.

LARGE room, front corner, steam heated room, adjoining bath, with three windows open on large porch; beautifully furnished, delightful cool and pleasant. Call Atlanta phone 3484.

LARGE, cool, nicely furnished room, next to bath, in private home, for one or two gentlemen. Apply 79-A W. Harris. 7-27-19

THREE rooms, furnished complete for light housekeeping; electric lights, hot and cold water, gas and sink. Every modern convenience. Ideal neighborhood. North Side. Phone 1505.

FOR RENT—To gentlemen only, nicely furnished, cool front room; steam heated apartment. Private home. Phone 1505. 184 Ivy Street, Apartment 5.

ROOM, breakfast if desired, to a business man. Call 1505. Address Box 25, care American,

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

1

THE ATLANTA GEORGIAN

Published Every Afternoon Except Sunday
By THE GEORGIAN COMPANY
At 20 East Alabama St., Atlanta, Ga.
Entered as second-class matter at postoffice at Atlanta, under act of March 3, 1879
Subscription Price—Delivered by carrier, 10 cents a week. By mail, $5.00 a year.
Payable in Advance

The Demon of Ambition Is the Champion Driver of All the World

Lucky You, If He Is YOUR Driver, for He Will Give You No Peace, No Rest, No Chance To Be Lazy.

At the top of this page is a picture of the world's greatest driver.

Lucky the man whom he harnesses and drives through life. This wonderful little coachman, the Demon of Ambition, is the champion driver of all the world and of all history.

Lucky you, if he is YOUR driver.

He will give you no peace, no rest, no chance to be lazy.

He will keep you going until you do something worth while—working, running and moving ahead—until the last day.

AND THAT IS HOW A REAL MAN OUGHT TO BE DRIVEN.

This little driver is the Demon that drove Columbus across the ocean, that drove Napoleon over the Alps, that drove the Wright brothers up into the air, that kept Washington fighting when his soldiers ran away and every battle ended in defeat.

This is the Demon that works in our brains, that makes the blood tingle at the thought of achievement and that makes the face flush and grow white at the thought of failure.

Every one of us has this Demon for a driver, in YOUTH AT LEAST.

Unfortunately the majority of us he gives up as very poor, worthless things, not worth driving, by the time we reach twenty-five or thirty.

How many men look back to their teens when they were harnessed to the wagon of life with Ambition for a driver? When they could not wait for the years to pass and for opportunity to come?

How many remember the whip that Ambition laid on their backs?

And how many unfortunately remember the gradual death of the driver and the cessation of effort?

It is the duty of Ambition to drive, and it is your duty TO KEEP AMBITION ALIVE AND DRIVING.

Now in the summer weather especially you can test yourself and learn what you are apt to be in future.

If you are doing nothing, if there is no driving, no hurrying, no working, YOU MAY COUNT UPON IT THAT THERE WILL BE NO RESULTS, NOTHING MUCH WORTH WHILE IN THE YEARS TO COME.

Those that are destined to be the big men twenty years from now, when the majority of us will be nobodies, ARE THOSE WHOM THIS DEMON IS DRIVING RELENTLESSLY, REMORSELESSLY, THROUGH THE HOT WEATHER AND THE COLD WEATHER, THROUGH EARLY HOURS AND LATE HOURS.

Lucky YOU, if you are in harness and driven as the man is driven in this picture.

And UNHAPPY you, if you sit at your ease with nothing to drive you, with self-complacency and empty excuses as your companions in idleness.

Still No Help for Our Merchant Marine

There are to-day only five American ships regularly in the trans-Pacific trade. They have to meet competition from The Canadian-Pacific Steamship Company; subsidy, $218,000 a year.

The Nippon Yusen Kaisha; subsidy, $238,000 a year.

The Osaka Shosen Kaisha; subsidy, $605,000 a year.

The Toyo Tisen Kaisha; subsidy, $1,340,000 a year.

So that there is little chance of building up a merchant marine in the great Pacific so long as Congress continues to neglect these interests; and there is every chance of losing the little we have left.

Our merchant marine is thus vanishing, first, because it costs more to build a ship in America than in Japan or Great Britain or Germany, that extra cost being nearly all the extra cost of labor under the American standards of living. Second, it costs more to operate an American ship for precisely the same reason.

American industries on land are protected by tariffs. Why not those on the sea? It is conceded that absolute free trade would be ruinous to our industries on land. IT HAS RUINED OUR INDUSTRIES ON THE SEA.

To protect our industries on the sea a 5 per cent discrimination in the tariff in favor of imports brought in American ships was put into the Underwood Tariff bill. This clause should be put back into the bill, passed, and put into rigid operation; and wherever there are treaties blocking its operation, those treaties should be terminated as soon as possible.

The cash cost of neglect is A MILLION DOLLARS A DAY paid to foreign shipowners for carrying American commerce, or just about ENOUGH IN ONE YEAR TO PAY THE ENTIRE COST OF THE PANAMA CANAL!

Does This Little Devil Drive You?

Lucky You, if the Demon of Ambition Is Your Driver. He Will Make You Trot Fast, AND GET SOME WHERE.

July Evening

Growing Old and Out of Fashion .. Selected by EDWIN MARKHAM

DR. WOODS HUTCHINSON, in his book, "Common Diseases," published by Houghton Mifflin and Company, entertainingly discusses old-age conditions that will come to each of us if we live long enough.

"If we are going to do anything to cure the disease of old age, we must begin before birth. Indeed, as Oliver Wendell Holmes wittily remarked on the prevention of disease, 'we must begin with the grand-parents.' The so-called senile changes are changes which have been going on ever since we began our individual existence.

"The time when we begin to feel old, the particular period at which we begin to 'show our age,' is merely that period at which these internal changes have reached and shown themselves upon the surface; in which, so to speak, these microscopic alterations have finally become visible to the naked eye.

"It is nothing short of absurd to say that a man becomes old, or senile, or incapable of further development or incapable of the conception of new ideas at, or after, any special or particular age. There is no one period of life in which we grow, and another in which we decline. Both processes are going on side by side in every part of our body from the day we are born. Just as the life of the body means the death of certain of its cells, so the growth of every power and faculty means the sacrifice and the decay of others. Every primitive cell of the embryo lays down part of its life to become a muscle-cell, a neuron, a blood-corpuscle or a bone cell.

"The process has no limit, any more than it has beginnings. Life is just that, one-third dying that two-thirds may live, whether it be the single cell or the hugest and most elaborate body. While in such gross matters as more avoirdupois and stature, and the actual horsepower of our muscles, we reach a limit, a period of what we are pleased to call maturity, at a comparatively early age; yet in other and more important respects we continue to grow and develop steadily, to a very much later period—fifty-five, sixty, and even seventy years. New and valuable achievements, masterpieces in every realm of human activity and interest, have been produced hundreds of times in every decade, up to and including the ninth.

"It is obvious then that there is no hard and fast 'dead line' which can possibly be drawn, beyond which no further growth, or fresh creative effort, or new enterprise, or improvement is possible. In fact, by living a healthful, active, happy life, and keeping up all our interests, we can grow and develop and adjust ourselves, and feel that we are growing until we are one day suddenly dead without ever realizing in any distressing or painful way that we are growing old at all."

How to Measure Motions of the Stars

By EDGAR LUCIEN LARKIN.

"SEEING that you answer scientific question in The Georgian, I take the liberty to ask you the following question: How do astronomers assign proper motions to the stars?"

A.—By long and accurate trigonometrical measures of distances of a suspected star from a number of adjacent stars. When we attach a micrometer—small measure—to a telescope and look in, we see a system of crossed, fixed and movable spider threads. In some micrometers the lines are all movable. One is turned until it is in the celestial equator and the other in the celestial meridian. Then, at intervals the distance of the star east of the meridian or right ascension is measured with great accuracy and recorded; likewise its distance north or south of the equator declination is measured with extreme care and recorded.

Detecting Changes.

If the places are different, the star has moved—perhaps. But the motion may be that of both base lines, meridian and equator. They both slide around the entire celestial vault from east to west in a mighty period of 25,878 years. This mysterious motion must be computed, and added to, or subtracted from, the measured motion of the star under examination. Aberration of light is another harassing correction. Refraction of light in our atmosphere must be measured and allowed for also. The retrogradation of the equator and meridian affects all stars alike; then, to detect absolute motion of any one star, keep measuring distances from it to others adjacent.

Suppose that five sets of triangles were made from our suspected star to five others, and many sets from these five to each other to-day. Then, in a year or two, let the triangulations all be made again. If the angles from star to star show no change, they are known to be at such stupendous distances that their real motions are insensible. But if all the five angles leading to the wandering star have changed, the amount of change can be measured; but in angle only. The displacement in miles cannot be told until the star's distance from the earth is first found.

It took 120 years of hard study to find the distance of the nearest star, 25 trillion miles. Since the invention of the micrometer proper motions have been detected in all directions in the celestial vault. These are mostly very small in angle, but very great in miles. The most rapid motion of any star known for a long time was that of the star numbered 1830 in Astronomer Groombridge's catalogue, given in 1830 and 8 seconds of arc annually. But Astronomer Kapteyn discovered on a photograph of the stars a small one having the most rapid proper motion known, 9 second of arc per year. There are 1,296,000 seconds in a circle, which would make the time required for one circuit of the sidereal universe 144,000 years.

Our Sun's Neighbor.

The nearest neighbor our sun has, the sun Alpha Centauri, moves 3.7 seconds per year, while the gigantic sun Arcturus traverses 4.3 seconds. The angular diameter of the moon is 1,920 seconds, so the time for Arcturus to move over a sky space equal to the angular diameter of our moon is 450 years. The majority of stars having proper motions move with rates of from 10 to 12 seconds per century. These rates require hundreds of thousands of years to change the configuration of the constellations of the stellar structure.

These movements were all detected and measured by means of the micrometer. But suppose a star to be coming on a straight line toward the earth, or going away on a straight line. The micrometer is useless in these cases. But one of the most wonderful achievements of human hands and mind was the discovery that a high-power spectroscopic could solve this apparently insoluble problem—the measurement in miles per second of approach or recession in the line of sight. Any center emitting light sends out waves of light-energy. In white light there are an almost infinite number of shades or tints, merging together. A prism separates into seven well-defined groups; the shortest waves are violet in color and range 63,000 in one inch, while dull red waves are 33,000 to the inch. But the fact was discovered that if the light is approaching the waves are compressed, and the band of colors shifts sidewise toward the violet; and if receding, the waves are lengthened and the band shifts toward the red.

Speeds of the Stars.

Years of arduous research has revealed that the stars nearly all move with specific speeds of from 10 to 30 miles per second; our star, the sun, moving about 13 miles per second. But the rapid stars, those having large proper motions, say of 8 or 9 seconds of arc per year, are flying at such terrific velocities that they form a class by themselves. Their speeds are between 100 and 500 miles per second, the latter being that of the huge sun Arcturus. The attraction of the quantity of miles in all stars, that is, bodies that are visible to the eye, or to photographic plates, is totally unable to cause these immense velocities. This shows that the quantity of invisible matter is far greater than in the 100,000,000 visible bodies. The quantity of matter able to impart a speed of 100 or 500 miles per second is far beyond all imagination.