NEW LEE ON STAND AT INQUEST TELLS HIS SIDE OF PHAGAN CASE

Describes Finding of Body of Slain Girl and Events at Pencil Factory Before and at Time of Discovery of Crime.

New Lee, watchman at the National Pencil Company's factory, who notified the police of the discovery of Mary Phagan's body, told his complete story on the stand at the coroner's inquest to-day.

Lee was on the stand for more than an hour and was pried with questions intended to throw light on the tragedy. He replied to questions in a straightforward way, and in detail his story is substantially the same as he has made to the reporters ever since his arrest.

The most significant answers concerned his employer, Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the factory. Lee said that when he reported a girl's body for work, Frank told him to go home until 6 o'clock.

He declared that Frank seemed excited, but added that he attributed that excitement to the fact that Frank had just discharged John Gantt, and might have feared trouble. He said he reported back for work at 6 o'clock and that a few hours later Frank called him up by phone from his home to ask him if things were all right.

The chief said he could not force him to testify as he was in the nature of a defendant, but Attorney Rosser said there would be no objection.

E. L. Scuttell, on the stand this afternoon, reiterated that he had seen Mary Phagan with Arthur Mullinax at midnight Saturday night. His testimony and that of other witnesses is printed on page 2.

New Lee's Testimony as He Gave It at the Inquest

New Lee, the negro night watchman, was questioned as follows: Q. What is your name? A. New Lee.

Q. Where do you live? A. I live at 117 1/2 North Alabama Street in front and over to near Decatur Street and Central Avenue and looked at a medicine show a fat man was sitting on a stool.

Q. What time did you go back? A. Just a few minutes before 6. Q. What time did you go to work? A. Just at 6. Mr. Frank came on and put cards in the clock. He then went back in the office and I went downstairs.

Q. What else do you do? A. I go around to see the upstairs doors. If I have time I go in the basement, but if not, I go in the basement after work. It takes me 25 minutes to make my rounds upstairs when I hurry. I punch every half hour.

Q. Frank sent him away? A. Yes, Frank sent him away to the building? A. I had but one key which unlocks the building.

Q. What time did you get to the building Saturday? A. Four o'clock. Q. Why did you get there at that time? A. Friday was pay day, and Mr. Frank told me to come at 4 o'clock Saturday as it was Memorial Day. When I came in he sent me away again.

Q. What was the first floor? A. Just below the clock. Q. What time did you see Gantt at 4 o'clock? A. No. Q. When Mr. Frank came and met Gantt, did you go right upstairs? A. No.

Q. Where was you when Mr. Frank and Mr. Frank came out? A. I don't know. Q. Did you see the door to the office? A. Yes, there's one that I unlocked the door and let Gantt out.

Q. Where were you when Mr. Frank and Mr. Frank came out? A. I don't know. Q. Did you go to the toilet and menshery room at 4 o'clock? A. No.

Q. Is there a carpet on a rug on the floor in Mr. Frank's office? A. No. Q. Was Mr. Frank's hands? A. When you were in the office, I don't know. Q. Did you see Mr. Frank's hands? A. Yes, I saw him when he was in the office.

Q. Was that unusual? A. Yes, it was unusual. Q. Did you see Mr. Frank's hands? A. No, I didn't see his hands. Q. When did Mr. Frank go to the office? A. I don't know.

MARY PHAGAN AND HER AUNT IN VARIOUS POSES

WATCHMAN NEWT LEE ON STAND TELLS HIS OWN STORY OF THE PHAGAN MYSTERY

Q. How long have you worked in the pencil factory? A. Three days.

Q. How often do you see Mr. Phagan? A. Every Saturday.

Q. Have you told everything that was said by you and Mr. Frank before he left the factory? A. Yes, sir, only I offered him some jamnuts and he wouldn't take them.

Q. Saw Frank Leave Also.

Q. How long did it take Mr. Phagan to find his shoes? A. Very little time. He found his shoes and went out of the building after he had talked over the telephone.

Q. Do you know whether Mr. Frank left the building during that time? A. He went outside. I don't know whether he came back in or not.

Q. Did you see Mr. Frank walk away from the building? A. Yes.

Q. Where did he go? A. He went up Forsyth Street toward Alabama.

Q. How long have you worked for Mr. Frank? A. Just three days.

Q. How long have you known him? A. Just since I have been there.

Q. When did you see that all of the windows of the plant were down? A. When I made the rounds just before making my 7 o'clock punch.

Q. Gas Light Changed.

Q. What did you do then? A. I went into the basement a few minutes after 7 o'clock.

Q. What is on the top floor? A. A whole world of machinery.

Q. Where were Phagan's shoes? A. In the sleeping quarters, near the front.

Q. How do you get to the basement? A. Through a scuttle hole.

Q. What part of the basement did you go to? A. To a light near the ladder only a few feet from the ladder.

Q. Did you light the gas in the basement? A. No, sir, it was lighted, but I wasn't like I left it a burning. It was turned down like a "fingling" bug.

Q. What time Saturday night did you get a telephone call? A. I don't remember the exact time.

Q. Who called? A. Frank.

Q. Was that the only call? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Frank telephoned him.

Q. What did you do when the phone rang? A. I look down the receiver and said, "Hello." He said, "Hello, is this you, Mr. Frank?" Then he said, "How is everything, Newt?" I told him everything was all right and he hung up.

Q. Did Frank ever called you before over the phone? A. No, sir, he never had.

Q. Did he say where he was? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you punch your clock every half-hour Saturday night? A. Yes, sir, every half-hour from 8 o'clock until I found the body.

Q. What did Mr. Frank say to you Sunday morning? A. He said the clock had been punched all right.

Q. Did he say the clock had been punched regularly? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You say you pushed the clock every half-hour. Did you go to the toilet that night? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did you go? A. Up stairs.

Q. Where did you go to the toilet?

Q. And Mr. Frank and Mr. Darby? A. I don't know who else.

Q. Did you ever let anyone in after 7 o'clock? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you lock the door at 7 o'clock? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When do the fireman and the doctor men leave? A. I don't know, they're all gone when I get there.

Q. Who stays in the plant from half past 7 to 8 o'clock when you're not there? A. Mr. Frank and the bookkeeper, and sometimes the lady who stays in the office.

Q. Was anyone working there after 8 o'clock Saturday night? A. Not that I know of. There were no lights and all the windows were like I left them.

Q. Did you see blood in the machinery room on Saturday night? A. No, sir. I had to go through the room where they say the lady was killed, but I never saw any blood.

Q. Where are the dressing rooms? A. Why, there's dressing rooms all over the building, boss.

Q. Did Mr. Frank say the clock was punched all right? A. Yes, sir, he said Monday morning he said I had never lost a punch.

Q. When did you first tell any one that Frank went away from the factory Saturday afternoon? A. I don't know when I told it, boss.

Q. Went to Basement Every Hour.

Q. How often did you go to the basement Saturday night? A. Every hour, but only a few feet from the ladder.

Q. How was the girl lying when you found her? A. On her back. Officers had testified that they found her on her face.

Q. How did you happen to see her? A. I saw her when I walked out to look for a fire.

Q. Didn't See Whole Body.

Q. How did you see that part in the basement? A. No, sir, I just saw parts of her. I saw her legs.

Q. Did you put your hands on her? A. No, sir.

Q. What kind of an examination of the body did you make? A. None. I just looked and saw that it was a dead body.

Q. Was her head toward you? A. No, sir, I couldn't see her head until I just walked around.

Q. Did you see any bruises on her? A. No, sir, I just blood and lots of dirt.

Q. How did you find her? A. On the flat of her back.

Q. Walked to the Police.

Q. How was the head? A. On one side.

Q. You didn't touch her or make any examination? A. No, sir, I didn't touch her.

Q. After you called the police, did you go down into the basement before they came? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How did you come to turn her over? A. I didn't turn her over.

Q. How did you know she was dead? A. I knew she was dead because she was there. There ain't no white woman a-going to be there if she ain't dead. She was all dirt and bloody. I knew she was dead, boss.

Q. Was Mr. Frank at the plant Sunday morning in the police took you back there? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't Come in at Ones.

Q. Did he come after you got there? A. Yes, sir, they sent an automobile for him.

Q. Was he excited when he came in? A. He didn't come in right away.

Q. Who gave keys to the plant?

Went Down Scuttle Hole On Ladder to Reach Body

Previous to Watchman Newt Lee's testimony, three police officers, who were called to the pencil factory when Mary Phagan's body was found, testified. Their testimony, with the exception of such parts as were unfit to print, follows:

W. T. Anderson, police call officer on duty Sunday morning, was first witness.

Q. We went over in an automobile to the pencil factory and the negro took us into the cellar where the body was found," he said.

Anderson told of the location of the scuttle hole, from which a ladder led to the basement, and the location of the body.

Q. At the foot of the ladder I did not find anything," he went on. "On the left of the basement is a partition part of the way, forming a room. The body was at the lower end of the partition, a few inches from the partition and about six feet from the outside wall of the building. Her head was toward the front of the building. She was lying on her face. The color was very dark.

"I did not see the body until I felt the wall. There is a hole in the opposite side of the basement, on the left side next to the boiler. There was rubbish in the hole and the light did not see any white trash lying about."

CONFIRMS LEE'S STORY OF SHIRT

Negro Woman Says Man Accused of Phagan Crime Was Not Home Saturday Night

If Newt Lee, the watchman, went home on Saturday night and discarded a bloody, stained shirt, Lorenna Taylor, the negro woman with whom he boarded, knows it. Lorenna says Lee was not home on Saturday night. Detectives found the blood-stained shirt in an old barrel in Lee's room and around this point has been built the theory that after committing the crime the man went home, changed his shirt, returned to the factory and then telephoned the police, supporting this belief are the alleged omission in Lee's time clock check during the night.

Lee lived in a little back room at 44 Henry Street, Lorenna Taylor sleeps in the front room, opening on the porch. There is no hallway. There is a side door to Lee's room, but it is always locked from the inside, according to Corinne Holey, who lives in the other half of the house.

The door to Lee's room opens into his children yard, the gate of which is always locked at night and the key kept in the house. Lee does not carry a key.

His only access at night to his own room is through the room of the woman who says she left the house-keeper. She says she thinks she would have heard Lee if he had gone through her room Saturday night.

Corinne Holey declared to-day she says Lee is about midway Saturday, he has been away from her room and that he wore a brown flannel shirt, which she would have heard any unusual noise in the night.

Barrell Contains Rape.

In Lee's room is an old barrel filled with rags and coats of clothing. The Toronto woman says she has never examined the contents of the barrel and supposed that Lee's wife left it there.

Lee's wife ran away from him a few months ago and has not been heard from lately.

Corinne Holey declared to-day she says Lee is about midway Saturday, he has been away from her room and that he wore a brown flannel shirt, which she would have heard any unusual noise in the night.

GIRL ART MODEL DRUGGED, STOLEN

Brother Says Rich Italian's Daughter Was Kidnaped by Their Father's Secretary.

PHILADELPHIA, April 28.—Leon Bussey, the 16-year-old daughter of Boston's wealthiest Italian importer, who has been famous in art circles as a model, and who disappeared from her home a week ago, is held in brackets to this city by her brother and detectives, who say she is being traced to hand abductors.

The girl's father, who is known as Mayoz of Boston's Italian quarter, received many threatening letters which set forth that his daughter would be kidnaped.

Frank Bussey, who is directing the search for his sister, says the kidnaping was carefully planned under the leadership of his father's former private secretary, for whom the police are searching. The detective says that this man, Luigi Oliverio, disappeared at the same time the girl was last night.

It was also discovered that $274, a personal fund which he had charge of, was missing from his desk at the business place of business. It is said that two men compelled the girl to accompany them from the city by the free toll section of the Panama Canal, but to take and which kept her in a semi-comatose condition.

CLOCK 'MISSES' ADD MYSTERY TO PHAGAN CASE

Records Purport to Show Watchman Failed to Register Three Times Saturday Night.

What does the National Pencil Factory time clock show? It was the duty of Newt Lee, the negro night watchman, to punch it every half-hour. Records brought to the police station purport to show that Lee three times failed to punch the clock.

But Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the factory, told a Georgian reporter Sunday afternoon that Lee had punched the clock regularly and that the clock record was all right.

Accepting the evidence of the records at the police station, the case is more beleaguered by their introduction than it was before. Although they appear to show that Lee failed three times to punch the clock, these misses were not consecutive and the intervals between punches never were more than one hour.

The records show that the first alleged "miss" was not until after 9:32 Saturday night.

Where, then, was Mary Phagan from the time she drew her pay at 6:00—when Lee was not in the factory—until 9:32 Saturday night?

Makes Mystery Still Deeper. And if Frank's first statement was not a mistake and Lee did not miss these three punches, how would Lee have had time to go to his home at 49 Henry Street, change a blouse and return to the factory within a half-hour?

The introduction of the time clock records has served only to wrap the crime in deeper mystery and to add to the unimpaired copine pieces of evidence.

LEO FRANK'S FRIENDS DENOUNCE DETENTION

Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the National Pencil Company and one of the central figures in the sensational murder mystery surrounding the death of little Mary Phagan, is well regarded by a host of friends in Atlanta, who fear that the idea that he can in any way be implicated in the horrible tragedy.

His friends are all loud in their denunciation of the efforts that are apparently being made to drag his name into the affair as a participant.

Mr. Frank is a mechanical engineer and a graduate of Cornell University and prior to his coming to Atlanta held a responsible position with the B. F. Sturdevant Co. of Boston, Mass.

MOTHER PRAYS THAT SON MAY BE RELEASED

Gantt's Mother, for Whom Mary Phagan Was Named, Weeps for Son.

In an easy chair in front of an open fireplace in a little Cobb County farm house, sat an aged mother, with lines of suffering marking her face and her white head bowed in sorrow, praying that her son may be released from the clutches of the law for which he is held by the Atlanta police.

The mother is Mrs. Mary Lou Gantt. Her son is James Milton Gantt, the young bookkeeper who is held by the police as a suspect in the terrible murder of little Mary Phagan. Mrs. Gantt was prostrated when the news of her son's arrest was brought to her Monday morning.

At the sound of every footstep and every time the door opened, she crunched upon the hard ground, the mother hastened to the door. But the hours passed and he failed to come.

Mr. Frank is held in high regard by the officers of the company and is admitted and respected by those working under him and the better of the factory in that he will be able to establish his absolute innocence of any connection with the crime.

ordinary manner, the globe of which was suspended. It did not give much light.

"It was about 10:30 or 11:00 when I went to the body which was lying. I could not see the body from there with the lantern, could not see over or 12 feet with it.

"She had on a white undershirt. Her head was in line with the corner of the partition. A flashlight would have shown the body. It struck me that she would have been torn back behind the partition for the lantern light to show her.

"What Negro 'Thought at First'?

"The negro watchman told me when he saw the body at first he thought some one had placed something there to scare him. He said he did not go down there very much, going down that time to the toilet.

"I questioned the negro at length. He said the toilet in basement at night was for negroes.

"After questioning the negro, I called Frank at his residence, but could not get him. I then called Mr. Haas, of the National Penitentiary. One of the women members of the family talked to me. Sergeant Brown instructed me to call

Sergeant Brown Tells His Story of Finding of Body

Sergeant R. J. Brown, the second witness at the inquest, continued Anderson's story of the finding of the body. Brown, who was in charge of the morning watch, was one of the four men who answered the call of the negro night watchman, Newt Lee.

Brown was interrogated as follows:

"How did you get to the factory?"

"Call Officer Anderson answered the phone call, and Anderson, Sergeant Dobbs, myself and a man named Rogers—we call him 'Slim'—went to Mr. Rogers' car to the factory."

"Who did you see at the factory?"

"We got to the building and shook the door and a negro came and let us in. We asked where the body was and the negro said, 'Come this way.' We went to an opening in the floor near the elevator and we went down the ladder into the basement. Sergeant Dobbs and I were in front with the negro, striking matches and looking around."

Negro Carried Lantern.

"The negro was with us, carrying a dim lantern. We found the body lying face downward, the arms folded underneath. I looked at the body and said, 'For Heaven's sake, it is a child.' I turned the body over and it was cold and stiff. I couldn't tell whether it was white or colored. I rubbed the dirt and trash and children from her face with a piece of paper and others said she was colored. It was not determined until Call Officer Anderson pulled her clothing down and looked at her leg. 'Then we saw that she was white.'"

"Did you see any indications of the body having been dragged?"

"There was an impression on the pathway over which we had come as though something had been dragged along there, but the light was very dim and it was hard to tell."

"Did you find any marks?"

"A couple of notes were picked up. I think one was found by Sergeant Dobbs and one was found by me."

"Was the inside of the girl's mouth clean?"

"It was covered with dirt."

"Was her mouth open?"

"Her mouth was open and the you went up to the telephone?"

"No, I didn't have a chance to go up there. We had to go down."

"How far did the girl's torso protrude from the door?"

"This far." "The witness measured about 18 inches and a half on his fingers."

"Was the body cold?"

"Yes, as a body which was coming from her mother. Blood was running from her ears and her mouth."

"Did you see any marks on the floor?"

"No, I didn't see any marks on the floor. I performed the autopsy on the end girl, asked the witness several questions relating to the condition of the body before the shoulders."

He asked:

"When the doctor was pulled down, did you see any strappings to do so?"

"No, the supporter from the court was loose."

"Was the catch on the support loose, or only unfastened?"

"I don't think it was broken."

Tells of Watchman Lee 'Explaining' the Notes

Sergeant J. B. Dobbs was the third witness at the inquest, and he called to the pencil company plant Sunday morning.

"Did you find an umbrella? A—No, Laastler did."

"Q—How did you find the notes there?"

"He then identified the two notes."

"Q—Were you at the plant when Laastler called the umbrella?"

"No, he found them about 7 o'clock."

"Q—Where did you find the body?"

"A—About 150 feet from the elevator shaft."

"Q—Did you examine the body?"

"Yes. When I turned the body over I found the face full of dirt, and could not tell if it was a white girl or negro. We examined the legs and found it was a white woman."

"I became suspicious of the negro and questioned him. He said, 'You have something about the negro that becomes very much excited. We read the notes, and without any marks coming from the negro did the word 'night' meant the night watchman.'"

Body Had Been Dragged.

"The witness said he went down stairs and he said to use the toilet. I asked why he didn't use the toilet on the second floor and he said white folks didn't like for negroes to use their toilet."

"Q—Did you see the body on the ground. Unless one looked directly at the body it could not have been seen from the top of the stairs?"

"I got back to the scene after daybreak, we discovered traces show-

Witness Saw Slain Girl And Man at Factory Door

J. O. Baker followed Newt Lee on the stand. He lives at Carterville, Ga.

"Were you about the National Penitentiary plant? A—Yes, sir; we walked over to the Terminal station from the Kinship Hotel Terminal station at 10 minutes of 4, then walked back there, going back Paraph Street to the penitentiary factory about 10 minutes after 4 o'clock. I noticed a young girl and a young man, a few feet apart, talking."

"Q—Were they excited? A—My impression was that they were. They were excited and the man was nervous."

"Q—Was his face flushed? A—He had the appearance of having had a drink of wine or something."

"Q—Did you come back by there later?"

"A—Yes, I came back to the Western Union to see a friend. The same couple I saw there."

"Q—Are you sure they were the same couple?"

"Q—Were they in the same position?"

"A—The girl had moved to the outer edge of the sidewalk."

"Q—Did you see the girl again?"

"A—Yes, the next morning I saw her in the Bloomfield undertaking place. It was the dead girl."

"Q—Have you seen the man since?"

Tells Jury He Saw Girl and Mullinax Together

Edward L. Stettin, the man who identified Mullinax as being the man he saw with Mary Phagan Saturday night, was the first witness to take the stand when the coroner's jury convened at 2:30 o'clock.

"The witness said he was working at the corner of the sidewalk Mullinax was on the other side of the sidewalk."

"Q—Could you remember the man, but you remember the girl?"

"A—Yes."

"Q—Do you know whether she was bareheaded?"

"A—I can't say."

WILSON DROPS ALIEN BILL AS CLOSED ISSUE

President Not to Bother Further With Question Unless Japan Objects Strenuously.

SACRAMENTO, April 30.—That Secretary of State Bryan might return to Washington without returning to Sacramento was admitted by his secretary here today. Bryan is said to have been called to President Wilson by his secretary in Sacramento when it is said here he has generally reported that the anti-alien bill will go through.

President Wilson to-day said he will take no further action with regard to the alien bill in California unless Japan brings great pressure to bear on Washington.

"I am sure the bill which will pass the California Legislature tomorrow, is reported by Secretary Bryan to be in accord with all existing treaties with China, and that he has how the Tokio government can object consistently to the enactment of the bill."

Should there be any such protest, however, this Government will refer the matter to the State Department, and if damages are awarded by a court of claims will pay them, it did in the case of the Italian murders in New Orleans in the early nineties.

Bill to Pass Despite President's Protest

SACRAMENTO, April 30.—So far as the result of last night's conference between William J. Bryan and the California legislators are concerned, they have not advanced the cause of the President and his Secretary of State an inch.

When the conference was over there was a general knowledge that the anti-alien bill prepared by Attorney General Webb, under the eye of the President, with the approval of the Governor's confidential friends, will be passed by the Legislature and promptly signed by Governor Johnson.

The Governor to-day dictated a statement to the effect that the conference with Secretary Bryan was not and that the time for passing the bill has come.

PAST FIFTY? YOU NEED 'CASCARETS'

What glasses are to weak eyes—'Cascares' are to weak bowels.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they drift off from contentment. It is just as natural as the use of a cane to people to walk slowly. For signs of bowels so inactive, the muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are inactive.

So all old people need 'Cascares.' One might as well refuse to use weak eyes with glasses as to neglect weak bowels with 'Cascares.' The bowels must be kept active, else it is impossible to live well. Never so much as at 50.

Age is no time for bad habits. You'll live considerably better the bowels into activity. But a bad habit is hard to break. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle, but reliable, medicine that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is 'Cascares' and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

ANTI-JAP BILL TO PASS IN SPITE OF WILSON'S 'DON'T'

California's Governor, in Statement, Says Bryan's Protest Will Go Unheeded.

SACRAMENTO, April 30.—As for the results of last night's conference between William J. Bryan and the California legislators are concerned, they have not advanced the cause of the President and his Secretary of State in any way.

When the conference was over there was a general knowledge that the anti-alien bill prepared by Attorney General Webb, under the eye of the Governor, and with the advice of that Governor's confidential friends, will be passed by the Legislature, and promptly signed by Governor Johnson.

The Governor today dictated a statement to the effect that conference with Secretary Bryan are over and that the time for passing the law has come, he said.

The conference between the Secretary of State and Legislature were concluded last night. We were delighted by Mr. Bryan and all that he said was given the most attentive and respectful consideration. Every opportunity was accorded him, and the conference closed only when he stated he had nothing further to say.

No Deaf to Embarrass U. S.

The members of the Government of California, with unanimity expressed themselves as desiring to aid the national Government and in no way to embarrass it. The spirit pervading the meeting was one of friendly co-operation and full of patriotic purpose.

I think the majority of the legislators felt, and I certainly do myself, that no sufficient reason has thus far been presented to cause California to halt in any contemplated legislation. If any law be enacted, it may be safely regarded as treaty obligations will be scrupulously observed.

Japanese Not Singled Out.

The Japanese will not be singled out by any act. The classification made by the naturalization laws of the nation, established by the Constitution of California, and sanctioned by the laws of other States, will probably be followed.

This, of course, is our legal and moral right to do, and such enactment by California can not justly and honestly be either offensive or discriminatory.

Significance was seen today in the action of the State Senate in adopting as a substitute for the pending bill the one prepared by Attorney General Webb. The bill was adopted after Secretary Bryan had informed the legislators that the bill was not satisfactory to President Wilson.

"It is my duty to state that I did not see any one who was carrying a package of any kind on the night of Saturday night. NEW ARRESTS LIKELY; LEO FRANK STILL HELD; CASE AGAINST NEGRO

Inquest Into Slaying of Factory Girl Begins, and Flood of New Light Is Expected To Be Thrown on the Tragedy—Lee Maintains His Story.

The Phagan inquest began today at police headquarters. It seemed likely when this edition of The Georgian went to press that a flood of light would be thrown on the murder mystery here before the day was over.

Notwithstanding what the police said yesterday—that the mystery had been solved—it does not appear at this time as though it had been solved at all. Various statements have been made by the police officials, that so far have not been borne out by actual facts.

Chief of Detectives Lanford seems to think that there is more evidence against the night watchman, Lee, than any other person, although new mystery is added to this phase of the case with the announcement that other arrests would be made today.

Frank is still held by the police.

Every effort to break Lee down and make him confess has failed so far.

Handwriting experts declare that Lee is the author of the mysterious letters that were found.

The bloody stained shirt that belonged to Lee is one of the most important pieces of evidence yet discovered. There has been some doubt expressed as to whether this garment really belonged to Lee.

The inquest at 9 o'clock at the police station. The witness and jurors were summoned to meet there instead of at Bloomfield's undertaking establishment at the request of Chief of Detectives Lanford.

Many persons, thinking that the original plan would be carried out, congregated in excited and curious groups outside the Bloomfield building. When the news was spread that a change had been made there was a rush for the police station.

Coroner Donohoe had on hand practically every witness who is known to have any knowledge of Mary Phagan, of the persons on whom suspicion has been cast or of the circumstances which might have been connected with her presence in the National Penitentiary and her foul murder.

L. J. Dewberry, of 302 Cooper Street, came to the inquest with the marks of an exciting experience in a fire early this morning upon him.

Dewberry was at the home of his brother-in-law, F. J. Goll, last night. Early this morning the building took fire and Dewberry escaped by the narrowest of margins. He was able to save his clothes and watch, but left his wallet in the flames. The remainder of the occupants did not save their clothes.

Excitement was high when the taking of testimony, but there were no signs of disorder nor of a demonstration against any of the prisoners.

Light will be thrown on the reason for the detention of Leo Frank in the police station all of yesterday afternoon and last night with the detectives insisting that he was not indeed actual arrest.

The detectives have been reluctant to say anything of the results of the severe grillings they have given both Lee and Frank. They will tell of these today when the Coroner's jury sits and decides who shall be held for an investigation by the Grand Jury.

The detectives are not satisfied with the centering of the damaging evidence on Lee. They are working this morning on new clues which may connect others with the crime.

It is almost certain that two of the prisoners who have been held in custody since the round-up of suspects began will be released today, as it is that the negro Lee will be held.

The men who are practically assured of their freedom are Arthur Mullins, former conductor, and J. M. Gantt, employed at the National Penitentiary until three weeks ago.

The detectives have been able to fix no strong evidence upon them. So weak was the case against them that they were entirely ignored by the detectives yesterday. They were not "awarded." They were not even questioned. They simply were left in their cells to themselves, visitors being denied them for the most part. Late in the afternoon Gantt was delivered over into the charge of the Sheriff.

Practically every witness who has been able to throw any light on Atlanta's gripping crime mystery has been summoned to appear before the jury to-day. A few will be only briefly questioned, but others whose knowledge of some of the phases of the mystery is believed to be important will be subjected to a more searching examination.

Net Closing About Lee, Says Lanford

Chief of Detectives Lanford was confident this morning that he and his department had completed a strong case to present to the Grand Jury for indictment. He said that the evidence against the negro night watchman at the National Pencil Factory had grown stronger since yesterday.

He declared, however, that there still appeared the strongest indications that another person, in all probability a white man, was involved in some manner in the crime.

Many puzzling questions have arisen since the closing of the net around Lee began.

The detectives have been utterly unable to trace the girl from the factory after she arrived there Saturday noon to obtain her pay from Leo Frank, the superintendent. They have interviewed every friend and every acquaintance of the girl. None of them saw her at any time Saturday afternoon.

If she was kept in the factory from Saturday noon, it was not Lee who kept her in the building or induced her to stay, for he was not in the building at noon.

Superintendent Frank made this statement to the police himself. He said that the negro came to the factory Saturday afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock. Frank said that he told the watchman that he should not stay about the building during the afternoon, but that he should return about 6 o'clock.

Lee went and returned at the time set by his employer. This appears to be undisputed.

With this much granted, these questions are being asked: Who was the person, if any, who kept Mary Phagan in the factory, if she was kept there, from the time that she arrived to get her money at noon until the negro watchman arrived at 6 o'clock in the evening?

Startling and Vital Questions. "If Mary was not kept in the building by some one during the evening, by whom was she induced to enter the building later in the day or at night—surely not, by any stretch of the imagination, by the negro?"

"Is it reasonable to believe that the negro could have forced her into the building after darkness had fallen, or, in fact, that she would have been alone about the building alone at this time? What could have brought her here?"

"If the negro is guilty of the crime, is it not almost certain that some other person, probably a white man, was responsible for her presence in the building, either a man who kept her there when she came for her pay or one who lured her there after Frank had gone to his home?"

"Where was Mary Phagan between 12 o'clock and 6 o'clock if the crime was committed after all the white men had left the building?"

"It also is regarded by many as strange that the negro, as un-intelligent as he may be, did not burn or otherwise destroy the blood-stained shirt which he is said to have worn the night of the crime. Instead, the detectives say that he threw it in a barrel where it was found as soon as they made a trip out there. In spite of the declaration that there is evidence enough on hand to convict and hang the negro, the feeling persists that there are many things to clear up, if they have not already been cleared, by the detectives.

If the crime was committed between noon and shortly after 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the only persons in the building were Arthur White, Harry Denham and Leo Frank, according to the evidence.

Hours Still Unaccounted For. If the crime was committed shortly after 3 o'clock and 6 o'clock at night, Frank was the only man in the building, known to the public, since the evidence so far produced. Is there another man to be found?

If the crime was committed at some time after 6 o'clock, where was Mary Phagan all this time between noon and 6 o'clock in the evening? That question must be answered if the mystery is to be cleared up.

The public says the case is not concluded. They have not been given enough evidence of such a convincing nature as to bring them to the belief that the negro is solely responsible for the brutal strangling of the Phagan girl.

It is admitted that some of the circumstances are damning. The old shirt found in a barrel in the negro's home makes the case look very black for him. The notes seem to absolutely prove that he had a part in the tragedy—but convicting New Lee is far from clearing up the mystery, as the evidence stands to-day.

SPECTACULAR RAID CITY DEATH RATE ON SUFFRAGETTES SHOWS DECREASE

Bobbies' Ransack London Headquarters Before Crowd—Arrest Five Militants.

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. LONDON, April 29.—(Revised) A spectacular raid on the headquarters of the Women's Social and Political Union in Kings Way was raided. The raid was a spectacular one, taking place at noon, when the streets were crowded and allowed none to enter while the police searched the organizations' files and desks.

Members of the union, the Misses Carl Lewis, Barrett and Lane and Mrs. Standish, were arrested on a charge of malicious destruction of property and taken to the police station.

The police captured evidence said to include the names of militant suffragettes. Mrs. Standish and Mrs. Barrett were returned to jail.

CLOCK 'MISSES' ADD MYSTERY TO PHAGAN CASE

Records Purport to Show Watchman Failed to Register Three Times Saturday Night.

What Does the National Pencil Factory Time Clock Show? It was the duty of New Lee, the negro night watchman, to punch a clock every half hour. Records brought to the police station purport to show that Lee three times failed to punch the clock.

But Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the factory, told a Georgian reporter that the clock regularly and that Lee punched the clock regularly and that the clock record was all right.

Accepting the evidence of the records at the police station, the case is not concluded. They have not been given enough evidence of such a convincing nature as to bring them to the belief that the negro is solely responsible for the brutal strangling of the Phagan girl.

J. C. La France and Wife, of Marshfield, Ore., Charged With Substituting Body.

MARSHFIELD, ORE., April 30.—J. C. La France and wife are under arrest at Couville, charged with insurance fraud.

La France is alleged to have insured his life for $16,500 with the Pacific Life Company, of New York, and $4,500 in other companies, and to have gone on a fishing trip with the Clackamas River. A few months later a decomposed body was identified as that of La France.

After the insurance had been paid to the wife it was discovered it was not the body of La France, but that of a man named J. K. West, of Kansas City, Mo., a contractor's engineer. J. K. West, of Kansas City, Mo., a contractor's engineer in private practice, president of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and now in charge of the engineering work of the Marquette and Lake Erie Railroad.

PHILADELPHIA, April 30.—In the documents of the Philadelphia Press house, has been discovered probably one of the latest newspapers in existence.

The addition to twenty-four pages of 160 sheets that measure 10 by 16 inches and there are different columns of news, each fully eight inches long.

This gigantic paper that could only be read by spreading it out on a billiard table in the Quadrangle Club station, and was used fifty-four times by George G. Heister, of 112 Spruce Street, New York, and ran into an edition of 2,000 copies. It sold for fifty cents a copy.

HYOMEI RELIEVES IN FIVE MINUTES

Help Comes Quickly When Hyomei is Used for Coughs.

Quick relief comes from the Hyomei treatment for coughs and all troubles of the breathing organs, such as stopped-up throat, sniffles or morning choking. Put a few drops of Hyomei in the pocket handkerchief that comes with every cough, and before you have the treatment five minutes you will notice relief from your cough troubles.

It gives a tonic heating effect to the air you breathe, kills the bacteria, relieves the irritation, soothes the inflamed mucous membrane and makes a marked improvement in the general health.

Hyomei is not a cure-all; it banishes and alleviates the relief of coughs and all troubles of the breathing organs. Where there is no cough, the general health is improved, for then nature has a chance to build up the entire system.

MOTHER PRAYS THAT SON MAY BE RELEASED

Gantt's Mother, for Whom Mary Phagan Was Named, Weeps for Son.

In an open hall in front of an... Gantt's mother, Mrs. Mary Lou Gantt, the son of James Alford Gantt, the young bookkeeper who is held by the police as a suspect in the terrible murder of little Mary Phagan, Mrs. Gantt was prostrated when the news of her son's arrest was brought to her Monday morning.

For two days she sat in the same chair, staring constantly with dry eyes into the embers of the dying fire, seeing in the clouds of smoke as they swirl upward like the wings, shadows of her son, caged in a felon's cell, her mind filled with terrible pictures of her boy strangled with the horrors of the "third degree."

The mother is Mrs. Mary Lou Gantt. Her son is James Alford Gantt, the young bookkeeper who is held by the police as a suspect in the terrible murder of little Mary Phagan. Mrs. Gantt was prostrated when the news of her son's arrest was brought to her Monday morning.

Late Saturday evening she received a letter from her son, saying that he was coming home Monday. The letter was filled with messages of love that only a mother can appreciate, and the heart of Mrs. Gantt was broken with an unutterable agony she awaited the dawning of Monday morning, counting the hours which must elapse before she could see her son in her arms.

At the sound of every footstep and every time the wheels of a wagon rumbled on the street outside, she and her mother-in-law, who had been in the house for some time, would start up and look out the door, but the hours passed and he failed to come.

LEO M. FRANK, Superintendent of the National Pencil Company's factory still held by yoke parties, not only in the factory, but outside of it, to account for his time on Saturday and Sunday.

LEO FRANK'S FRIENDS DENOUNCE DETENTION

Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the National Pencil Company and one of the central figures in the sensational teacher-murder mystery surrounding the death of little Mary Phagan, is well regarded by a host of friends in Atlanta, who scoff at the idea that he is guilty of the crime.

His friends are all bent in their denunciation of the efforts that have apparently been made to drag his name into the affair as a principal.

Mr. Frank, 25 years of age, is a native of Brooklyn, N. Y., came to Atlanta about five years ago to take charge of the plant of the National Pencil Company. Three years later he married Miss Lucile Selig, daughter of Mrs. E. Selig, of 68 East Georgia Avenue, and has since made his home with Mrs. Selig.

Mr. Frank is a mechanical engineer and a graduate of Carnegie University, and prior to his coming to Atlanta held a responsible position with the D. B. Hyndman Co., of Boston, Mass.

Shortly after he came to Atlanta Mr. Frank was sent to Europe to study the art of pencil manufacture and is considered an expert in this line.

Mr. Frank is popular in Jewish social circles and an interested worker in general Jewish charitable organizations. Being president of the local chapter of the B'nai B'rith.

Several of his most intimate friends on this morning, among them being Arthur Haas, of the firm of Haas & McHenry; Isaac Haas, president of the Southern Spring Bed Co.; and Arthur Heyman, of the firm of Heyman, Brewer, Howell & Heyman, were highly incensed at the police actions. They were unanimous in their characterization of him as a clean-cut, steady man, with a real good name for others.

The very idea that he could in any way be implicated in the horrible affair is simply preposterous, several of them said.

COOK APPEALS AGAINST GRANT FRAUDS

Secretary of State Urges Press to Block Constantly Recurring Attempts at Swindling.

By JAMES B. NEVIN: Secretary of State Elihu Root has appealed to the press, not only of Georgia, but of the entire nation, to help him stop the frauds which are constantly recurring attempts at swindling without this State with respect to old fraudulent land grants in the State.

Within the last few weeks the Secretary of State's office has been receiving a steady stream of letters from abroad from victims of these schemes, and as many of them are from the far Northwest, he has concluded that somebody in that vicinity once more is undertaking to work this old swindle to a finish.

The Secretary believes Georgia officials in a way for the continued activity of this "fake" scheme, and suggests to the incoming Legislature that some child laws touching the matter be enacted.

Discussing the question today, Secretary Root said: "One reason why it is so hard to stop this swindle is because there has been no legislation in this State since it came into effect in 1877, and in 1900, so that the acts of that year are now over 30 years old. The acts of that year are now over 30 years old. The acts of that year are now over 30 years old.

These old laws, fraudulent and time and again repealed by the Legislature, were recorded, verified and the books under the Montgomery, Louisiana and other counties, and the Secretary thinks simply a matter of time before they will be made up and forwarded. It is not a pleasant discovery that these records are not worth a penny, were they worth anything at all.

He thinks it is wrong and should be prohibited by legislation for officials to make these records, and he is pleading that they are not good. More than one correspondent has complained to him that he has received a letter from the State, through even county officials, that they have misled him in such a matter, and that it put the State in a pretty bad position with him financially. It does not put the State in a pretty bad position with him financially. It does not put the State in a pretty bad position with him financially.

As a part of the work of the Secretary, he is making a list of all the records that are in the State, and he is making a list of all the records that are in the State, and he is making a list of all the records that are in the State.

One month, the West purchased a number of shares of the National Pencil Company, and he is making a list of all the records that are in the State, and he is making a list of all the records that are in the State, and he is making a list of all the records that are in the State.

CLOCK 'MISSES' ADD MYSTERY TO PHAGAN CASE

Records Purport to Show Watchman Failed to Register Three Times Saturday Night.

What does the National Penitentiary time clock show?

It was the duty of New Lee, the negro night watchman, to punch it every half-hour. Records brought to the police station purport to show that Lee three times failed to punch the clock.

But Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the factory, told a Georgian reporter Sunday afternoon that Lee had punched the clock regularly and that the clock record was all correct.

Misuse Was Not Considered.

Accepting the evidence of the records at the police station, the case is now, he believed by their introduction

LEO M. FRANK, Superintendent of the National Penitentiary Company's factory, still held by the police. Frank's lawyer says he has given to the police every detail of his whereabouts to account for his time on Saturday and Sunday.

LEO FRANK'S FRIENDS DENOUNCE DETENTION

Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the National Penitentiary Company and one of the central figures in the sensational murder mystery surrounding the death of little Mary Phagan, is well regarded by a host of friends in Atlanta, who scoff at the idea that he can be held in a jail cell.

His friends are all loud in their denunciation of the efforts that have apparently been made to drag his name into the affair as a criminal.

Mr. Frank, 28 years of age, a native of Mississippi, is thought to be Atlanta about five years ago to take charge of the plant of the National Penitentiary Company. Three years later he married Miss Lucile Belle, daughter of Mrs. E. Belle, of 68 East Georgia Avenue, and has since made his home with Mrs. Belle.

Mr. Frank is a mechanical engineer and a graduate of Cornell University and prior to his coming to Atlanta held a responsible position with the B. F. Sturdevant Co., of Boston, Mass. Shortly after his coming to Atlanta Mr. Frank was sent to Europe to study the art of pencil manufacturing and is considered an expert in his line.

Mr. Frank is popular in Jewish circles and an interested worker in several Jewish charitable organizations, being president of the local organization of the B. F. Sturdevant Co.

Several of his most intimate friends are well known in the community. Among these are: Arthur H. L. of the firm of Haskins & Haskins; Louis H. Haskins, president of the Southern Spring Tool Co.; and Arthur Heyman, of the firm of Dorsey, Dwyer, Howell & Dorsey, very highly respected in the police ranks. They were unanimous in their characterization of him as a clean-cut, worthy man, with a real right to do for others.

The very idea that he could in any way be implicated in this horrible affair is simply preposterous, say several of his friends.

Among his employers at the pencil factory Mr. Frank was unusually popular and yesterday when he was taken to headquarters for further questioning by the detectives, several of his friends and women went bitterly and protested loudly their belief in his absolute innocence of any connection in the matter whatever.

Mr. Frank is held in high regard by the officers of the company and is admired and respected by those working under him and the belief of those at the factory is that he will be able to establish his absolute innocence of any connection with the crime.

Holland Celebrates Princess' Birthday
Orange Bud, Beloved Savior of Little Kingdom From Germany, Four Years Old.

THE PRINCESS, April 30.—All Holland is celebrating today the fourth birthday of Princess Juliana, the Orange Bud, whose birth was regarded as the saving of the Dutch from the German war eagle. Prayers were being offered in all churches and various festivities are being held in scores of towns.

For each year of the Queen's reign, the Netherlands was granted a holiday which was observed as a national day and which they thought of what might happen if the Queen should die and leave her throne vacant as a claimant of the throne.

Finally, the prayers of the Queen and the prayers of the Queen's court, who now crown and sheath this holiday with the hope of her health and peace, were observed in all parts of the Kingdom. Now she is in her 30th year, and has been married for 12 years.

MOTHER PRAYS THAT SON MAY BE RELEASED

Gant's Mother, for Whom Mary Phagan Was Named, Weeps for Son.

In an easy chair in front of an open fireplace in a little Cobb County farm house, sat an aged mother, with lines of suffering marking her face and her white head bowed in sorrow, praying that her son may be innocent of the terrible crime for which he is held by the Atlanta police.

Two days ago she sat in the same chair, staring constantly with dry eyes into the embers of the dying fire, waiting for a knock on the door as they swirl upward into the chimney, visions of her son caged in a felon's cell—her mind filled with terrible pictures of her boy struggling with the horrors of the "third degree."

The mother is Mrs. James Milton Gant. Her son is James Milton Gant, the young bookkeeper, who is held by the police in connection with the terrible murder of little Mary Phagan. Mrs. Gant was prostrated when the news of her son's arrest was brought to her Monday morning. Her boy had been away from home for three long weeks, and during that time had narrowly escaped death in an accident at Copper Hill, Tenn., where he had been working.

Last Saturday evening she received a letter from her son, saying that he was coming home Monday. The letter was filled with messages of love that only a mother can appreciate and the heart of Mrs. Gant was filled with an unutterable joy.

Eagerly she awaited the dawning of Monday morning, counting the hours and minutes that elapsed as she could plan the day she was up and preparing food that he had always liked. She baked a cake with which she had the appetite of the boy, and she donned the soft silk dress that he loved to see "mother's" wear.

At the sound of every footstep, and every time the wheels of a wagon rolled over the hard country road, the mother hastened to the door, but the hours passed and he failed to come. The warm food she had prepared grew cold, and the cake, as only a mother can make them, stood uncut upon the table.

At last the door opened and announced a bulky came down the road. A man alighted and hurried into the house, and Mrs. Gant knew her son was under arrest, charged with the most terrible crime of the little Mary Phagan.

The mother, stilled to the heart by the message, swooned in the arms of her daughter, Mrs. George Blackwell, and was carried into the house. For hours she lay on her bed, moaning and sobbing with the pain that she had for her son.

Her name for Gant's Mother. The grief of the mother that her son should be held in prison for such a monstrous crime is all the more bitter because she has been the loving friend of the father. The family she was present when little Mary Phagan was born, and she was the first to see the little girl when she was in honor of her mother's birthday.

When a Georgian reporter called on the mother yesterday, she wept and looked the dead child to sleep, sobbing and crying and weeping with her in her lighter moments. She was heartbroken and she believed in the innocence of her child, and the arrival of her son had increased her grief to a height which she could not describe.

MAYOR BARES SPRITING PAST IN GRAFT PROBE

Winn Says He Kept Solon Off Police Committee For His Near-Bear Activities.

DADY MAKES ACCUSATION

McClelland Holds Stand For Hours at Opening of City Hall Investigation.

Former Mayor Courtland Winn appeared before the Councilmanic graft probe late this afternoon and substantiated the charges brought against Alderman M. J. Sprattling by Attorney John McClelland. Mayor Winn said that he had expected fully to make Sprattling chairman of the Police Committee of Council two years ago, but had never told Sprattling so. When he learned that Sprattling, on the strength of being chairman of the committee, had borrowed money from near-beer dealers, he called him in and informed him that he could not give him the appointment.

Charles A. Dady said he had written a contract with Maddox for the grading work on the Peachtree and Entrenchment Creek disposal plant jobs, and Mayor Winn also substantiated this. The charges against Maddox were not probed at length. Admitting that he had gotten the information from which he lodged graft charges against Alderman Sprattling from Sprattling himself in the course of a confidential conversation, Alderman McClelland told the investigators that he made public the information because Alderman Maddox had fallen completely under the influence of Councilman Aldine Chambers.

When asked by Luther Rosser, attorney for Sprattling, what caused his falling against Chambers, McClelland declared that he believed that Chambers was attorney for the Destructor Crematory Company.

Under cross-examination, McClelland said that Maddox had fought continually during his term in Council to get streets closed so that he could get grading contracts.

He amplified his charges against Rosser, asserting that a greater part of the live stock bought by the city recently was purchased from certain companies which Rosser was interested. He mentioned a series of warrants for sums aggregating $10,000 given to the Lavender Company, which he maintained was dominated by Rosser.

Wedding Held Up 2 Hours By Jinx

Augustine Go to Justice When Only Minister Available Refuses to Officiate Divorce.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Campbell today are speeding West on a marriage tour which began last night after hours of delay, because every Atlanta minister was attending the Sociological Congress.

From 5 until 6:30 o'clock their search was thorough and diligent—from one church and parsonage to another, while a crowd of friends followed. Finally, Rev. C. T. A. Pile was located at his home, 1175 Third Place. "Now," laughed Miss Hixley, the bride, "we'll soon be happily married."

"No such luck," said the jinx, who had been in the wedding party for more than an hour.

Officials of County Schools Open Meet

The annual convention of the county school officials opened in the Hall of the Auditorium-Armory today. Governor-elect John M. Slaton, J. Q. Woodward, Mayor, and Superintendent E. C. Merry, of the Fulton County schools, made the welcome address.

The meeting will conclude Thursday and be followed by the convention of the Georgia Educational Association. The first session will be held Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, and the last Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

'VICE SQUAD' FOR SUFFRAGE PARADE

Startling Plan is Proposed by Daughter-in-Law of President Tyler.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., April 29. Rumors of a plot to organize a band of vice squad to parade in the course of a confidential conversation, Alderman McClelland told the investigators that he made public the information because Alderman Maddox had fallen completely under the influence of Councilman Aldine Chambers.

When asked by Luther Rosser, attorney for Sprattling, what caused his falling against Chambers, McClelland declared that he believed that Chambers was attorney for the Destructor Crematory Company.

DETAILS OF BIG PONY CONTEST ANNOUNCED

There is Every Reason for Starting Now if You Wish to Be One of the Winners.

Details of the contests for the Sheldahl and Sunday American are to be announced today. Many nominations preceded the announcement of details. Since publication of the details in The Georgian Monday there has been a veritable flood of entries.

What wonder? The contest entails the most pleasant kind of work and the prizes are an incentive to any boy or girl.

Anyone seeking subscriptions for The Georgian and Sunday American will be received kindly in any Georgia home, and any contestant may be proud of the prizes and cards which are on the way here to be distributed as prizes.

The contestants already in the field of course, have an advantage. There is every reason for starting now. Ask your friends to save for your candidate the coupons from The Georgian and Sunday American. They will do it gladly.

Your Friends Will Help. Ask your friends who do not subscribe for The Georgian and American to subscribe. You will be asking them to do a favor to themselves, for they will get at no advance over the regular price—the best newspaper in the South besides holding your subscription to The Georgian and American as a no doubt most of them do.

Not Limited in Territory. The districts are not limited against each other. Contests are on an absolutely equal footing. All you have to do to win is to get more votes than any other contestant in your own neighborhood. You are not limited to your own neighborhood in taking subscriptions or obtaining vote coupons, but can have votes credited to you for coupons or subscriptions received from your friends regardless of where they live.

Meanwhile, do not overlook your opportunity to enjoy a play at the Atlanta Theater free of cost.

Miss Betty Long is playing there now. "The Butterfly on the Wheel" and "The Girl in the Street" are the attractions which made a profound sensation in New York.

The Georgian and American have no seats for this week's performance, but our readers who have watched the production carefully in order to be able to tell our readers what they may expect from the company.

We are glad to announce that the stock company headed by Miss Long is a splendid organization of the most "wing play" attractions of the season.

Without restriction, we can promise our readers the opportunity of seeing a good theatrical attraction as it never has been the good fortune of Atlanta to enjoy.

There is no contest for theater seats. Simply fill the coupon and send it to the Atlanta Theater, 1175 Third Place, Atlanta, Ga., and get a reserved seat, the best part of the house.

AUSTRIA WILL MOVE ALONE ON MONTE NEGRO

Official Announcement of Decision to Force Evacuation of Scutari is Made.

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. VIENNA, April 29.—Announcement was made at the Foreign Office today that Austria had decided finally to act independently in the expulsion of the Montenegrins from Scutari.

The statement said: "An Arbia finding that the Ambassador's conference in London has produced no results; this government has decided to take matters into its own hands and carry out the powers' decision regarding the evacuation of Scutari."

Italy is protesting against Austria's action.

Peace Ambassadors Started. LONDON, April 29.—After having adjourned until May 1, the Ambassadors' conference unexpectedly resumed its sessions in the Foreign Office this afternoon.

This procedure was brought about by Austria's announced determination to act independently in driving the Montenegrins out of Scutari.

Montenegro Starts To Fortify Scutari.

PARIS, April 29.—Montenegro are determined to hold Scutari against any action that Europe may take. Work of fortifying the city has started. Guns, ammunition and provisions are being taken into the city. This information was received here today in a Scutari dispatch.

Although the bulk of the Montenegrin army has been withdrawn from Scutari, King Nicholas' military operations are veiled in mystery.

The diplomatic representative here of Montenegro declares that, if the powers force Montenegro to give up Scutari, King Nicholas will abdicate. The envoy denies Nicholas bargained with Eased Pasha for the surrender of Scutari.

A Cattaro telegram said that it was reported there that a hostile demonstration had been made in Cattaro against the Austrian Minister to Montenegro.

Porte Lends Support to Albanian Independence.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 29.—The Porte is today sending instructions to all the Turkish ambassadors and ministers abroad to support Eased Pasha's proclamation of the independence of Albania by himself as King.

According to the belief here, Eased Pasha might be able to re-establish the suzerainty of Turkey over Albania by setting himself up as monarch. Turkey also is taking hope from rumors of dissension among the allies.

Hulgerian troops are said to have been repulsed in several sanguinary engagements with Servians near Monastir and with Greeks near Salonika. Turkey has protested to the powers against the aid given the Balkan States by Russia.

Montenegro to Abandon Scutari, Says Diplomat.

VIENNA, April 29.—According to secret information to Austria, it was learned from a diplomatic source today, Montenegro will eventually evacuate Scutari, after having made a further offer of defiance to Europe.

A Cattaro dispatch declares Crown Prince Danilo yesterday presented the keys of Scutari to King Nicholas as a token of friendly demonstration.

SUSPICION LIFTS FROM FRANK; MAY BE FREED; GANTT GRANTED WRIT

"We Have Sufficient Evidence Now to Convict Negro Nightwatchman of Killing Mary Phagan," Asserts Pinkerton Detective on Case.

"We now have enough evidence to convict Newt Lee," was the statement to-night of detectives working on the Mary Phagan strangling mystery.

The statement came at the end of a second long conference between John Black, city detective; Harry Scott, Pinkerton detective, and Leo Frank, superintendent of the National Pencil Company factory.

Additional clues furnished by the head of the pencil factory were responsible for the closing net around the negro watchman.

With the solution of the mystery at hand came the further information that what suspicion had rested on Frank was being rapidly swept away by the damaging evidence against the black man. It was announced that he probably would be liberated to-night or in the morning.

"It looks a great deal better for Frank, who has been detained only for his own protection and to furnish further information to the department," said the detectives.

Two more arrests are likely in connection with the case. The detectives say that they have clues which make them certain that these two persons were connected in some manner in the crime or have knowledge of the details.

Gantt Gets Habeas Corpus Writ

J. M. Gantt, one of the five men held in connection with the strangling, was turned over to the sheriff's office this afternoon by the City authorities on a writ of habeas corpus granted in the court of Judge Bell.

The warrant charging murder still holds, but the effect of the habeas corpus will be to enable Gantt to make bond.

Chief of Detectives Lanford in replying to the action for a writ declared that it had not been his intention to hold Gantt an unnecessarily long time. He was kept in custody, he said, pending a preliminary hearing Wednesday afternoon in the court of Justice of the Peace Powers and the sitting of the coroner's jury Wednesday morning.

Judge George F. Goler, a relative of Gantt, applied for the writ, and E. A. Stephens, assistant Solicitor-General, defended the course of the Chief of Detectives.

"We have eliminated Mullinax, Gantt and Bailey from suspicion," said a detective.

The detectives are practically certain that Mary Phagan never left the pencil factory after she got her pay envelope from Frank Saturday noon.

With hours of ceaseless investigation and inquiry they have been utterly unable to trace her away from the factory after she entered there Saturday noon.

Every known acquaintance that she had has been interviewed. None of them saw her on the street Saturday night, although she said she was going to see the Memorial Day parade.

Bloody Shirt in Negro's Home

A blood-stained shirt, which the detectives say they found at the home of Lee, was shown to the negro this afternoon in an effort to break him down.

The negro admitted the shirt was his, but declared that he had not seen it before for two years.

Lee was under a grueling fire of questions all day. Shortly before Superintendent Frank was brought to the station Detective Black came from the home of Lee. He carried a package under his arm. He would not divulge its contents, but very soon after it was obtained Frank was under arrest and Lee was confronted with the garment.

There was an unconfirmed rumor that Lee had broken down and given most important information to the police.

Detective Black and Harry Scott, of the Pinkerton men; left police headquarters at 2:30 for West End to arrest a negro woman friend of the black prisoner. The net was evidently being tightened about Newt Lee, the night watchman.

Superintendent Leo M. Frank, head officer of the National Pencil Company, was taken from the factory shortly before noon by Detective Black and Harry Scott, of the Pinkerton men. The police say that Frank is not under arrest, that he was put under police guard for his own personal safety, and that there are no charges against him.

Why, then, did the police act? There must be some reason other than the man's personal good. Try it.

FACTORY HEAD TAKEN INTO CUSTODY; LAWYER, BARRED, LATER ADMITTED TO CLIENT

Continued From Page One. safety, under supervision. Frank has not yet figured as of importance in the case. Luther Z. Rosser, attorney for Frank, endeavored to see his client. The police refused to let him do so.

Frank To Be Kept Under Guard

It was learned late this afternoon that Frank will be held on the technical charge of "suspicion." He will not be placed in a cell, but he will be under guard. An extra policeman will be employed to keep watch over the factory superintendent in the police station and Frank will pay for the services of this man.

At the factory of the pencil company reporters were suddenly excluded. "We've been harassed enough by the reporters of the newspapers," was the explanation volunteered by Ed Montag, in charge. "This plant has had all the notoriety it wants."

Frank Last in Building

Frank, to a Georgian reporter, just before his arrest, said: "No one is more anxious to learn of the whereabouts of Mary Phagan Saturday afternoon and night than I am. The company is exerting every effort to get information and has employed a Pinkerton detective to work on the case."

White's statement follows: "Denham went to the factory to work on Saturday, although it was a holiday. We left shortly after 3 o'clock in the afternoon."

Saw Gantt in Pool Room

"Denham and I stayed together most of the afternoon, and in the evening we went to the Globe pool rooms on Broad Street, near Marietta. We had been in there a little while when I saw John Gantt come in. He did not play, but sat down and watched the game."

YOUTH HELD IN PHAGAN CASE

John M. Gantt, held in connection with the investigation of the strangling of little Mary Phagan in the National Pencil Factory charge of murder. He stoutly denies any connection with the crime. An alibi story, told by his sister, may clear him of suspicion.

Denham's statement is substantially the same. He said that he saw no one else in the factory aside from his fellow workman, White, and Superintendent Frank. Mrs. Leo Frank, wife of the superintendent of the pencil factory, declared today before the arrest that her husband was anxious to do everything in his power to clear up the Mary Phagan mystery and regarded the feeling against him as totally unwarranted.

"I do not care to go into any of the details of the crime," said Mrs. Frank. "My husband is at the office and is perfectly competent to give out all information. Any knowledge I have of the affair I got from him."

They were not given admittance at once, as Frank was undergoing an examination in the office of the detectives. They were taken to the office of Inspector O'Connell, where they waited for a while. Restraining her tears with difficulty, Mrs. Frank declared her belief in the entire innocence of her husband. She preferred not to talk at length of the case and said that it had not been discussed in their home.

Frank's Rise in Company Rapid

Frank is 27 years old and has been married three years. His wife was Miss Lucile Selig. Frank and his wife live with her father at 68 East Georgia Avenue. Frank was induced by come to Atlanta about five years ago by his uncle, E. M. Frank, of this city. He formerly lived in New York, and was in the employ of the Sturdevant Pen Company. He is an expert mechanic and his rise has been rapid with the National Pencil Company. Coming here he was promoted with the company, and was in the employ of the Sturdevant Pen Company. PASTOR PRAYS FOR JUSTICE AT GIRL'S FUNERAL

Mother and Aunt of Mary Phagan Swoon at Burial in Marietta This Morning.

A thousand persons saw a minister of God raise his hands to heaven to pray and heard his call for divine justice. Before his closed eyes was a little casket, its pure whiteness hid by the banks and banks of beautiful flowers.

"Within the casket lay the bruised and mutilated body of Mary Phagan, the innocent young victim of one of Atlanta's blackest and most brutal crimes. The adult of the terrible tragedy fled the air. An aunt of the strangled girl suddenly screamed, fell over in her seat and was carried from the church in a swoon from which she did not fully recover for hours."

Just as Mrs. W. J. Coleman, mother of Mary, was being helped into a cab, the pure white coffin was lifted from the car. Mrs. Coleman saw it and the single glance was sufficient to awake her the torrent of fearful memories.

STEPFATHER OF DEAD GIRL OUTSPOKEN AGAINST LEE

That Mary Phagan never left the factory after she entered it at 12:15 o'clock Saturday, the day of her murder, and that she was killed and her body dragged into the basement by the negro night watchman, New Lee, now in jail, is the firm belief of the child's stepfather, W. J. Coleman, and other members of her family.

Another bit of evidence it was said, that went to show added suspicion on the black was a box of the child's blue ribbon and a handkerchief found close near the body, where he capably stayed.

"The negro evidently kept the child in the factory day," Mr. Coleman said, "and was afraid to attack her until midnight for fear she would reveal some of her secrets, that may or may not have knocked her senseless from the first, or in any case had her. I do not know, but when Gantt entered the shop it is more than likely that he knew nothing of the girl's presence there and simply went up and got the shoe, as he said, and went out again."

Mr. Coleman said he had at first given credence to a report that Mary had come home at 8 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and that Mullinax, meeting her as she got out of the car, had taken her back to town with him. "The report," Mr. Coleman said, "turned out to be untrue. The conductor had made a mistake, and the girl Mullinax also remained all day in the building. After the negro did the work, he was afraid to leave or not to notify the police, and his own appearance worse for him. Therefore he called the officers."

TRAGIC FACE OF STRANGLED MARY PHAGAN--NEW PICTURE STUDIES

A photographic study of the victim in the strangling mystery showing the sad expression in her eyes.

Another picture of the Phagan girl in a studios pose. The child was strikingly pretty and the pictures here shown are from photographs prized by grief-stricken relatives in Marietta.

Mary Phagan and her young aunt, Mattie Phagan, who was one of the girl's best friends and is heart-broken over the tragedy.

CHARGE IS BASEST OF LIES, DECLARES GANTT, ACCUSED

John Milton Gantt, the accusation of a terrible crime hanging over him, from his cell at police headquarters, has made to-day a complete denial of any connection with the Mary Phagan murder in the first formal statement to the public since his arrest in Marietta yesterday afternoon.

The statement, which was given to a Georgian reporter, was said by Chief Beavers to be substantially the same as that taken by the police department at a newspaper last night for the use of the city detectives.

"I did not kill the girl," said Gantt, who is now in the cell at police headquarters, "and I was not there at 11 o'clock and I went directly to bed. I slept all night until Sunday morning."

"I didn't hear of the murder until Sunday night when I went to call on a young woman who whom I have been going to see at Miss Ann's Chambers, of 18 Warren Place. I was there about a o'clock Sunday evening."

"Her brother Phil," who works at the National Pencil Company's plant, rushed into the room and said that a girl had been murdered in the basement of the factory. He did not know who it was. That was the very first I heard of the crime."

"I did not learn the horrible details of the murder until I read them in the papers Monday morning. I was not trying to escape when I went to Marietta Monday morning. I had bought a crop near Marietta and was going up there to farm. I had made arrangements some time ago with my mother to see her Monday and my trip there was simply to fill that engagement."

"Basest Sort of a Lie." "I would not harm any girl, least of all the daughter of Mrs. Coleman. Ten years ago I knew Mrs. Coleman when she was Mrs. Phagan and lived near Marietta in Cobb County. Mary was just a little girl then about four years old. From the time I knew her she was little more than a toddling child until I went to work in the pencil factory last June I never saw her."

"I never went out with Mary after I started work in the factory. I never walked home with her. I never saw any more to her than I was to the 115 other girls at the factory. I spoke to her as I might to any of the others, but that was all."

"The charge that I had any part in her destruction is the basest sort of a lie and an injustice." "Talk of Habeas Corpus." "It is determined to institute to gain the immediate freedom of Gantt was another of the new features of the sensational Phagan case. It was held in years. Backed by relatives of influence and a family of good repute, Gantt was no more to his cell at police headquarters than an effort to obtain his liberty was started. "The girl's father, an immediate preliminary hearing to Chief of Detectives Landry by Judge George E. Ober, member of the law firm of Ober & Jackson, and a relative of the accused man."

"He is an innocent man. He is as guiltless as the babe in arms. He is entitled to an immediate hearing on this terrible accusation that has been made against him. Either this must be granted or I will take a course to obtain his liberty." "As Chief of Detectives Landry refused the immediate hearing, the authorities awaited in expectancy to observe the success Judge Ober would

IS THE GUILTY MAN AMONG THOSE HELD?

Is the murderer of Mary Phagan among the four men who are being held at police headquarters, or is he still at large, either among those still unsuspected or among those who have been severely quizzed by the officers? The men still in custody are:

- 1—Newt Lee, negro night watchman, who is thought to know much more about the crime than he has told, but who has not been regarded as the perpetrator;
- 2—Arthur Mullinax, former street car conductor, for whom a strong alibi has been established; and from whom suspicion is shifting;
- 3—Geron Bailey, negro elevator boy, who has been held as a material witness, but against whom no evidence has been obtained;
- 4—J. M. Gantt, former employee of the National Pencil Company, located at the plant on Saturday, and identified as the "man with a little girl on Saturday night." In neither Mullinax's nor Gantt's case do the police place much dependence on the so-called identifications.

SISTER'S NEW STORY LIKELY TO CLEAR GANTT AS SUSPECT

F. C. Terrell, 284 East Linden Avenue, told a Georgian reporter today that his wife had declared to him that she did not kill the girl, but that she did not tell the truth to the detectives and Georgian reporters to whom she had said she did not know where J. M. Gantt, accused of the murder of pretty Mary Phagan, was on Saturday night.

"When seen soon after the discovery of the girl, Mrs. Terrell stated that Gantt, who is her half brother, had left her home where he had been for the past seven years, three weeks ago, presumably to go to California and that she had not seen him since."

"Most certainly he was in his New York here Saturday night," declared Mrs. Terrell in a Georgian reporter. "He came in at 11 o'clock."

"Slept With Me." "I ate breakfast with Mr. Gantt Sunday morning," said a young woman, an inmate of the Terrell home. "I saw him at 11 o'clock Saturday night. Mr. Gantt slept with me Saturday night. And I had to wake up at 4 o'clock to get my little brother up to carry my papers and Mr. Gantt was still in bed."

"I had not seen Gantt for three weeks," declared F. C. Terrell, brother-in-law of the accused. "A month later, Mrs. Terrell said that Gantt had been back in town for four or five days and that he was extremely ill and had been very nervous."

"I heard my wife get up and let him in at 11 o'clock," declared Terrell. "I ate breakfast with Mr. Gantt Sunday morning. I was awake at that time. And I saw him Sunday morning. Mrs. Terrell declared that he had just left the police station where he had been and talked with Gantt."

"He was just as cool as a cucumber," said Mrs. Terrell, "and he laughed at the idea of his being accused of the murder. He is just as confident of being cleared as if it was already decided."

Bartender Confirms Gantt's Statement

Charles W. McDee, of Colonial Hills, a bartender in the saloon of J. P. Hunter at 38 South Forsyth Street, announced directly across from the National Pencil Company plant, corroborated to-day the story told by J. M. Gantt about leaving a pair of shoes in the saloon from Saturday night until Monday morning.

"The man I judge to be Gantt from the description came into the saloon, but stayed only a short time," said McDee. "I noticed nothing suspicious about Gantt or the man who was with him."

CINCINNATI, April 29.—A "remnant" sale of tickets is announced by a leading downtown theater. Hereafter all seats unsold at 11:00 o'clock on matinee days and 7:00 o'clock at night will be sold at 50 cents. The first of the sales will be to-morrow night.

Keoper of Rooming House Enters Case

J. W. Phillips, Thinker Couple Who Asked for Room May Have Been Gantt and Girl. "The young woman who, in company with a young man, applied to Mrs. W. Phillips, keeper of a rooming house at Forsyth and Hunter Streets, at about 11 o'clock Saturday night for a room, Mary Phagan, the little girl who was found murdered Sunday night, was the woman who was with the man who was with her."

SLAIN AS HE FORCES ATTENTIONS ON GIRL

CHICAGO, April 29.—While attempting to force his attentions on a girl, Antonio Monaco was slain today with an axe. More than a score of persons witnessed the killing. Pasquale Forte, the girl's brother, is being sought as the slayer.

SLAYER'S HAND PRINT LEFT ON ARM OF GIRL

Hope for apprehension of the slayer of Mary Phagan has come to the police with the discovery of distinct finger prints stamped in blood on the sleeve of the dead girl's jacket. The discovery was made by a Georgian reporter in the course of a minute inspection of the girl's clothes yesterday evening.

The finger prints are on the right arm of the light silk dress. The imprints of two fingers are just below the shoulder, staining purple the lavender of the child's dress and penetrating to the arm, as if they were established at the pressure of powerful fingers grasping her arm.

A third print is that of a thumb, blurred somewhat as with a great pressure, but offering possibilities of analysis. With the discovery of the finger prints, detectives employed in the case have to-day a tangible clue. The Berillon system of detection will be brought into play, and suspects will be placed through its unflinching criticism.

The search for other finger prints will be made zealously. Detectives of the Pinkerton agency, several of whom are on the case, are known to affect largely this mode of detection, on the theory that every man has his distinctive finger prints, and that the impressions of the fingers of no two individuals are identical in modern courts. On this fact, the police of Atlanta to-day are hoping more firmly than ever that they will be successful in their trail of the man who killed little Mary Phagan.

Dr. J. W. Hurt, County Physician, conducted last night a close examination of Mary Phagan's body, in the effort to determine the nature of the injuries inflicted by her brutal slayer. He entered alone the chamber in which the dead girl lay, and at the conclusion of his inspection refused to make a report of what he had found out.

SEEK CLEW IN QUEER WORDS IN ODD NOTES

Who Would Be the Most Interested in Saying That the Night Watchman Did Not Do It?

While the tendency of the police straight through has seemed to be to doubt that Mary Phagan, the murdered girl, really wrote the small notes found beside her body, according to give a clew to her murderer, the girl's stepfather, W. J. Coleman, thinks it possible that she may have written one of the scraps.

That one is the note written on the little yellow factory slip—a factory factory it is almost impossible to read it. It is the one that says:

"I'ma that negro hited down here did this I went to get water and he pushed me down the hole a long tall negro black that has it woke long less tall negro I write white play with me."

"Bomhow, it looks like her handwriting to me," said Mr. Coleman. "But, of course I can not be sure. Now, about the other note I am doubtful. It seems to be written to wait for the child to have done it."

The almost impossible condition she must have been in at the time whether she wrote either of the notes of her own accord, though, or whether she was forced to do it by her murderer to turn suspicion from himself, of course is mere speculation. Only time can tell, if anything.

Double Other Note's Authorship. The other note whose authorship Mr. Coleman doubts is the one scratched on a notepad. It reads as it was at first translated:

He said he would love me laid down like the night watch did it but that long tall negro did it by his self.

This note, however, brings up an argument advanced by several people who have studied it carefully. They have found that in some way one word, "nigh," was omitted in the first translation, and they think that instead of "night watch" the words were intended to mean "right watch," which is relative to the subject. With these changes the note would read:

"He said he would love me laid down like the right watch did it, but that long tall negro did it by his self."

They ask: If the murderer told the child he was going to "play like the night watch did it," and then the child goes on to explain that it wasn't the night watchman at all that did it, but another negro, wouldn't that appear that the child was endeavoring to shield the night watchman?

Argue Against Watchman. They also ask: Would a child in the predicament Mary Phagan was supposed to be in, innocent and her mind wandering, be thinking of trying to shield a night watchman in her note, even before she described the man who had treated her so cruelly?

Again they ask: Who would be the most interested person in the world in saying the life of the night watchman?

Did the child write the notes herself, was she forced to write them, or did somebody else write them? The notes are written to throw suspicion on the night watchman.

WILSON DROPS ALIEN BILLS AS CLOSED ISSUE

President Not to Bother Further With Question Unless Japan Objects Strenuously.

MEASURE WILL BE PASSED California's Governor, in Statement, Says Bryan's Protest Will Go Unheeded.

WASHINGTON, April 29—So far as the White House is concerned the Japan-California question is closed and Mr. Bryan will be recalled in a few days.

President Wilson to-day said he will take no further action with regard to the alien bill law in California, but Japan brings great pressure to bear on Washington.

Inasmuch as the bill which will pass the California Legislature tomorrow is reported by Secretary Bryan to be in accord with all existing treaties with Japan it is not seen how the Federal government can object consistently to the enactment of this measure.

Should there be any such protest, however, the Government will refer it to the regular channels of the State Department, and if damages awarded by a court of claims will pay them as it did in the case of the Italian murders in New Orleans in the early nineties.

Bill to Pass Despite President's Protest

SACRAMENTO, April 30—So far as the results of last night's conference between William F. Bryan and the California legislators are concerned, they have not advanced the cause of the President and his Secretary of State an inch.

When the conference was over there was a general knowledge that the bill would be passed by the Legislature and promptly signed by Governor Johnson.

The governor to-day dictated a statement to the effect that conference with Secretary Bryan and all that goes with it is not to be considered a precedent. He said:

Wilson Completes Plan for Currency Reform

WASHINGTON, April 30—President Wilson's currency reform bill will make its appearance in concrete form in the near future. It will represent the views of the President on what is needed to place the monetary system of the United States on a more substantial basis.

It is confidently predicted that the bill will not carry any provision pledging the United States to a guaranty of bank deposits.

WATCHMAN LEE, ON STAND, TELLS FIRST COMPLETE STORY OF THE PHAGAN CASE

A new photograph of Mary Phagan.

Witness Tells Events of Day at Pencil Plant

Newt Lee, watchman at the National Pencil Company's factory, who notified the police of the discovery of Mary Phagan's body, told his complete story on the stand at the coroner's inquest to-day.

Lee was on the stand for more than an hour and was plied with questions intended to throw light on the tragedy. He replied to questions in a straightforward way, and in detail his story is substantially the same as he has made to the reporters ever since his arrest.

His most significant answers concerned his employer, Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the factory. Lee said that when he reported at 4 o'clock for work, Frank told him to go home until 6. He declared that Frank seemed excited, but added that he attributed that excitement to the fact that Frank had just discharged John Gantt, and might have feared trouble. He said he reported back for work at 6 o'clock and that a few hours later Frank called him up by phone from his home to ask him if things were all right. The witness testified that his employer had never done this before.

Newt Lee's Testimony as He Gave It at the Inquest

Newt Lee, the negro night watchman, was questioned as follows: Q. What is your name? A. Newt Lee. Q. Where do you live? A. 408 of Decatur street. Q. What do you do? A. Night watchman at the National Pencil Company. Q. What kind of work do you do? A. Watch and sweep up the first floor. Q. What time do you go to work? A. At 10 o'clock. A six o'clock. It is not quite 6 o'clock I go around and see if the windows are down. If it is 1 o'clock the clock and then go around.

Q. What else do you do? A. I go around all over the factory doors. If I have time I go in the basement, but if not I go in the basement afterward. I take me 25 minutes to make my rounds upstairs when I hurry. I punch every half hour. Q. Where did you get your hat? A. I bought it in Atlanta. Q. How many boys have you in the building? A. I had but one key which unlocks the building. Q. What time did you get to the building Saturday? A. Four o'clock. Q. Why did you get there at that time? A. Friday was payday, and Mr. Frank told me to come at 4 o'clock Saturday as it was Memorial Day. When I came in he sent me away again. When I went he came out of the office, rubbing his hands, and told me he was sorry he had brought me away so early as I could have been sleeping. He told me to go back out in town and not to get back later than the usual time of 6 o'clock. Q. Did you see the first door? A. Just boxes, they don't use it. Q. Do you use the elevator? A. No, sir. Q. Where Mr. Frank came and met Gantt, did you go right upstairs? A. Yes, sir. Q. Where was Mr. Frank? A. I don't know. Q. Did you look the door? A. I unlocked the door and let Gantt out. Q. Where were you when Mr. Frank came? A. We were all on the outside when Mr. Frank gave Gantt permission and I went in with Mr. Gantt. Q. Did you go to the toilet and wash your face? A. No, sir. Q. Is there a carpet on the floor in the room Mr. Frank's office? A. No, sir. Q. Frank was Robbing Mr. Frank's office? A. All right. Mr. Frank had a safe in the office. Q. Was that safe? A. Yes, sir. Q. Was that safe? A. Yes, sir. Q. Was that safe? A. Yes, sir. Q. Was that safe? A. Yes, sir.

watch Mr. Gantt? A. When they turned him out.

Q. Did you know why Gantt was discharged? A. No, sir.

Q. How long have you worked in the pencil factory? A. Three pay days. Q. How often do they pay you? A. Every Saturday.

Q. Have you told everything that was said by you and Mr. Frank before he left the factory? A. Yes, sir; only I offered him some ketchup and he wouldn't take them.

Saw Frank Leave Alone.

Q. How long did it take Mr. Gantt to find his shoes? A. Very little time. He found his shoes and went out of the building after he had talked over the telephone.

Q. Do you know whether Mr. Frank left the building during that time? A. Yes, sir; he came back in a moment, whether he came back in or not.

Q. Did you see Mr. Frank walk away? A. Yes.

Q. Where did he go? A. He went up Forsyth Street toward Alabama.

Q. How long have you worked for Mr. Frank? A. Just three paydays.

Q. How long have you known him? A. Just since I have been there.

Q. When did you see that all of the windows of the plant were down? A. When I made the ketchup just before making my 7 o'clock punch.

Gas Light Chanced.

Q. What did you do when? A. Went into the basement a few minutes after 7 o'clock.

Q. What was on the top floor? A. A hole world of machinery.

Q. Where were Gantt's shoes? A. In the shipping department, near the front.

Q. How do you get to the basement? A. Through a scuttle hole.

Q. What part of the basement did you go to? A. To a light near the ladder only a few feet from the ladder.

Q. Did you light the gas in the basement? A. No, sir; it was lighted, but it wasn't like I left it that morning. It was turned down like a lighting bulb.

Q. What time Saturday night did you get a telephone call? A. I don't remember the exact time, there.

Q. Who called? A. Frank.

Q. Was that the only call? A. Yes, sir.

Frank Telephoned Him.

Q. What did you do when the phone rang? A. I looked down the receiver and said, "Hello." He said, "Hello, and said it was Mr. Frank." I said, "Is this you, Mr. Frank?" Then he said, "How is everything, Newt?" I told him everything all right and he hung up.

Q. Did Frank ever call you before over the phone? A. No, sir, he never had.

Q. Did you say where he was? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you punch your clock every half-hour Saturday night? A. Yes, sir; every half-hour from 6 o'clock until I found the body.

Q. What did Mr. Frank say to you Sunday morning? A. He said the clock had been punched all right.

Q. Did he say the clock had been punched regularly? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You say you pushed the clock every half-hour? Did you go to the toilet that night? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did you go? A. To the toilet.

Q. How long have you worked in the pencil factory? A. Three pay days. Q. How often do they pay you? A. Every Saturday.

Q. Have you told everything that was said by you and Mr. Frank before he left the factory? A. Yes, sir; only I offered him some ketchup and he wouldn't take them.

Q. Where did you go? A. To the toilet.

A. Me and Mr. Frank and Mr. Darley. I don't know who else.

Q. Did you ever let anyone in after 6 o'clock? A. No, sir.

Q. How was the body lying when you went back with the officers? A. Like I found it.

Q. On the face or on its back? A. The same way, boss.

Q. When did you turn out the gas? A. I didn't turn it out.

Q. Was it burning when the officers came? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What kind of a lantern did you have? A. Just an ordinary lantern, boss.

Q. Was the lantern dirty? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Could you tell by the light of the lantern whether the woman was white or black? A. Yes, sir; I could tell by the skin and by the hair.

Q. Was the head the only skin of the girl you saw? You didn't see her legs or her body? A. No, sir.

Q. Do you know any of the operators? A. No, sir; they're always gone when I get there.

Q. What is the back door for—the one in the basement? A. I don't know.

Q. Did you ever see it open? A. Yes, sir; just Friday morning.

Had No Back Door Key.

Q. Did you have a key to the back door? A. No, sir; the woman had one.

Q. Was the French supposed to be there at night? A. No, he leaves when he gets there.

Q. What's his name? A. Knox.

Q. Is he a negro? A. No, sir.

Lee was excused and J. M. Gantt, who was in the factory Saturday afternoon, to get a pair of shoes he had left there, was called to be questioned by Coroner Donohoe and others.

Went Down Scuttle Hole On Ladder to Reach Body

Previous to Watchman Newt Lee's testimony, three police officers, who were called to the pencil factory when Mary Phagan's body was found, testified. Their testimony, with the exception of such parts as were unfit for print, follows:

W. T. Anderson, police call officer on duty Sunday morning, said that he saw her get over in an automobile to the pencil factory and the negro took her into the cellar where the body was found," he said.

Anderson told of the location of the scuttle hole from which a ladder led to the basement, and of the location of the body.

"At the foot of the ladder I did not find anything," he went on, "on the left of the basement is a partition part of the way, forming a room. The body was at the lower end of the partition, a few inches from the partition and about six feet from the outside wall of the building. Her head was toward the front of the building. She was lying on her face. The color was very dark."

"I did not see the body until I reached it. There is a hole in the opposite side of the basement, on the right side next to the boiler. There was a very dark shadow in it. I did not see any white trash lying about."

CONFIRMS LEE'S STORY OF SHIRT Negro Woman Says Man Accused of Phagan Crime Was Not Home Saturday Night.

If New Lee, the watchman, would have on Saturday night and would have a bloody, stained shirt, Lorenza Owens, the negro woman with whom he boarded, Knox II, Lorenza says Lee was not home on Saturday night. Detectives found the blood-stained shirt in an old barrel in Lee's room, and around this point has been built the theory that after committing the crime the man went home, changed his shirt, returned to the factory and then telephoned the police. Supporting this belief are the alleged circumstances in Lee's time clock during the night.

Lee lived in a little back room at 46 Henry Street, Little Rock, Ark. He had a rooming place on the porch. There is no hallway. "There is a side door to Lee's room, but it is always locked from the inside, according to Corinne Holsey, who lives in the other half of the house."

The door to Lee's room opens into his chicken yard, the gate of which is always locked at night and the key held in the house. Lee does not carry a gate key.

The only access at night to his own room is through the room of the woman who says she is his housekeeper. She says she thinks she would have heard Lee if he had gone through her room Saturday night. Corinne Holsey, in an adjoining room, separated by only a thin partition, thinks she could have heard any unusual noise.

Barrel Contains Rags.

Lee's room is an old building filled with rags and cast-off clothing. The "Torus" woman says she never examined the contents of the barrel and supposed that Lee's wife left it there.

Lee's wife ran away from him a few months ago and has not been heard from since.

Corinne Holsey declared today she saw Lee at about midnight Saturday in the back yard cutting wood and that he wore a brown flannel shirt. When Lee was called he wore a heavy shirt answering that description.

Girl Parts Battling Newsies; Both Hurt Saves Lads, Armed With Club and Stone, From Serious Injury In Street Fight.

Only the interference of a young woman who had the courage to take a hand in the melee saved Arthur Wilson and Johnnie VonLehman, 13-year-old newsboys, from seriously injuring each other in Peachtree Street. Young VonLehman attacked the Wilson lad with a heavy club, and the latter retaliated by banging a stone on VonLehman's head.

Both were injured enough to cause their removal to the Grady Hospital for patching before being turned over to the probation officers.

Mrs. Dodd's Funeral Set for To-morrow

Well-Known Atlanta Woman Died Last Night at Arago Hotel From Apoplexy.

The funeral of Mrs. Barbara C. Dodd, prominent Atlanta woman, who died in her apartment in the Arago Hotel last night as a result of a stroke of apoplexy Monday, will be held from Patterson's Chapel to-morrow morning at 10:30 o'clock. The burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Mrs. Dodd was reputed to have inherited an estate worth half a million at the death of her husband, Philip Dodd.

The deceased is survived by one sister, Mrs. Emma Sternman, of New York, and one brother, O. C. Dibble of Atlanta.

N. C. ROADS ASK AID OF COMMERCE COMMISSION

RALEIGH, N. C., April 30.—Railroad officials this afternoon finally declined to accept the State's proposal for a settlement of the North Carolina freight rate controversy, and urged that the whole matter be referred to the Interstate Commerce Commission. The conference now in progress here will be fruitless.

The State claims rates from Virginia cities are inequitable. There was talk today of Governor Craig calling a special session of the Legislature to consider this matter.

GIRL ART MODEL DRUGGED, STOLEN Brother Says Rich Italian's Daughter Was Kidnaped by Their Father's Secretary.

PHILADELPHIA, April 30.—Leon Bussey, the 18-year-old daughter of Boston's wealthiest Italian importer who has been famous in art circles as a model, and who disappeared from her home a week ago, has been traced to this city by her brother and detectives, who say she is held by blackmail abductors.

The girl's father, who is known as Mayor of Boston's Italian quarter, received many threatening letters which set forth that his daughter would be kidnapped.

Frank Bussey, who is directing the search for his sister, says the kidnaping was carefully planned under the leadership of his father's former private secretary, for whom the police are searching. The detectives say that this man, Luigi Olivero, disappeared at the same time the girl was last night.

It was also discovered that $75,000 personal fund which he had charged to the Bussey piece of business, if it is paid, will enable the girl to accompany them from the city by the use of drugs, which they forced her to take and which kept her in a semi-comatose condition.

ordinary lantern, the photo of which was shown to the jury.

"It was about 25 or 30 feet from the negro's toilet to where the body was lying. I could not see the body from where my lantern, which was not over 10 or 12 feet from it, was held on a white umbrella.

Her head was in line with the corner of the partition. A flashlight would have shown the body. It struck me that she would have been too far behind the partition for the lantern light to show her face.

What Negro Thought at First?

The negro watchman told me how he saw the body at first he thought some one had placed something there to scare him.

Q—How long did you think the girl had been dead? A—I don't know much about that, but she was not much light.

Q—Were there any signs of a struggle? A—Behind where she was lying there were evidences of a struggle. We found a bloody handkerchief, several feet from the body.

Sergeant Brown Tells His Story of Finding of Body

Sergeant H. J. Brown, the second witness at the inquest, corroborated Anderson's story of the finding of the body. Brown, who was in charge of the morning watch, was one of the four men who answered the call of the night watchman, Newt Lee.

Brown was interrogated as follows:

Q—How did you get to the factory? A—Call officer Anderson answered the phone call, and Anderson, Sergeant Dobbs, myself and a man named Rogers—we call him "Toots"—went in Mr. Rogers' car to the factory.

Q—What did you find? A—I saw that the staple and lock on the door had been unlocked. "No, it was unlocked, though, and the staple was pulled." "Could the staple have been pulled from the outside?" "No, sir." "Could the hand of lantern did the negro have?" "An ordinary lantern with a dirty globe."

Q—How Negro Found Body. "What did Lee say to you?" "He said he knew nothing of the girl's death. He said he raved went into the basement and that on this occasion he went to the toilet. He said he had heard the toilet he saw the girl's body lying there."

Q—Did you find any papers? A—"A couple of notes were picked up. I think one was found by Sergeant Dobbs and one was found by me." "Was the inside of the girl's mouth open?" "It was covered with dirt." "Was her mouth open?" "Her mouth was open and the light was on the floor."

you went up to telephone." "No, we did not look around there much. We had no light." "How far did the girl's tongue protrude from her mouth?" "The girl's tongue protruded about an inch and a half on the floor." "Was the body cold?" "Yes, and a highly atrial was coming from her nostrils. Blood was coming from her ears, and her mouth was open." "Did the girl's mouth open?" "Yes, it was open." "Was the girl's mouth open?" "Yes, it was open." "Was the girl's mouth open?" "Yes, it was open."

Tells of Watchman Lee 'Explaining' the Notes

Sergeant L. B. Dobbs was the third witness. He said he answered the call to the pencil company plant Sunday morning.

Q—Did you find the notes there? A—Yes, I did.

Q—Where did you find the notes? A—In the room where the girl was found.

Q—What kind of notes were they? A—They were notes that were found in the room where the girl was found.

Witness Saw Slain Girl And Man at Factory Door

J. G. Siler followed Newt Lee on the stand. He lives at Cherokee.

Q—What did you see? A—I saw a man and a woman at the factory door.

Q—What time was it? A—It was about 10 o'clock.

Q—What did the man look like? A—He was a white man, about 30 years old.
