

WHO ARE THE BRIBERS AND GRAFTERS? FELDER MUST PROVE CHARGES

The charges of bribery and graft made by Thomas B. Felder are so important they can not be ignored. Statements by Chief Beavers and Chief of Detectives Lanford make it clear that some persons of influence are trying to use their "pull" to bring about a condition of affairs in the city that the majority of people are opposed to.

Investigation quick and relentless must be begun at once! The Grand Jury is now in session, and the investigation should be started at once.

The public is entitled to know all the facts, know the names of those giving or receiving bribes, and if Felder has seen a "graft list," as he says he has, he should be made to tell about it.

The public is not willing to believe anything against Beavers. He is regarded as honest and efficient. Felder must be made to prove his charges!

WOODWARD IN DICTOGRAPH NET

Mayor's Conversation With Colyar Is Reported in Detail

NEGRO SWEEPER OWNS WRITING MACHINES BY DEAD GIRL'S BODY

It has been announced that Leo M. Frank has been indicted by the Grand Jury for the murder of Mary Phagan.

The authorities are of the opinion that they have a very strong case against Frank and Lee, and sufficient evidence to convict Frank of the murder.

Rumors about the Grand Jury were definite to the effect that evidence produced against Frank convinced the entire jury that the case against Frank was very strong.

Of course the proceedings of the Grand Jury are secret save no member of the Grand Jury nor any member of Solicitor Doree's staff would give the reporters information as to what had taken place in the Grand Jury room, or what evidence had been disclosed against Frank or Lee.

That the authorities have very important evidence that has not yet been disclosed to the public is certain. The Georgian has maintained this from the beginning of the investigation.

The jury adjourned until Friday without indicting Lee.

Several most peculiar features mark the affidavit of James Connally and Solicitor Doree in their accepting his supposed admissions without a thorough investigation.

The fact that the negro sweeper places the date as the Friday before the murder that Frank asked him for approval of his handwriting forms the first mystifying phase of the confession.

No theory that has placed the responsibility of the crime upon Frank has held that he planned it deliberately a day before it was committed.

The unanimous theory of those who have believed Frank guilty is that he did it on the necessity of the moment to prevent the girl revealing the attack which he supposed to have preceded the killing.

The belief that the killing was planned as far ahead as Friday has entered no one's mind in respect to the circumstances of the mystery.

The negro also says in his affidavit that Frank intimated: "Who should I hang?" a very significant question if it could be considered as likely to be made by a guilty person, but a question which appears entirely outside the realm of probabilities in view of the careful watch Frank has kept on his tongue ever since the city was shocked by the news of the murder the morning of April 27.

The entire affidavit is exceedingly peculiar.

A. S. COLYAR, who figures in the dictograph sensation. Records show he has been confined in two insane asylums and numerous prisons. His operations are alleged to extend from New York to Mexico. He is a member of a prominent Tennessee family.

His exploits with the dictograph have created a big sensation in the Phagan case.

Jacob Schiff Sees Prosperity Ahead

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian.—LONDON, May 25.—Jacob Schiff predicts that Americans can look forward to a good future, after Congress has disposed of the tariff bill. He said: "I have made a very careful study of European money, and I think money is on a more solid basis than ever." With this statement of Schiff's ability, I find markets everywhere are very active.

SENSATIONAL EFFORT TO OBTAIN REAL INSIDE GRAFT EVIDENCE

Sensational dictograph conversations, in which Mayor James G. Woodward, Charles C. Jones, former Tenderloin proprietor and present owner of the Rex saloon; E. O. Miles, a private detective; A. S. Colyar, accused of Colonel T. B. Felder, and Chief Lanford's clerk, February, all figure, are made public by The Atlanta Georgian today.

The conversations, all reported by a dictograph installed in the Williams House, in the same room and by the same man who figured in the "trapping" of Felder, tend to throw new and startling light on the alleged plot to get Chief of Police James L. Beavers, who wiped out the Tenderloin, and Chief of Detectives Lanford.

As reported by George M. Gentry, who took down the conversation as it trickled over the thin spun wires through the door between Colyar's room, No. 31, and room No. 32, it is apparently made clear that the Mayor was not only after evidence of graft in the police department, but more directly after evidence on which Chief Beavers could be impeached and discharged. The Mayor has never hesitated to make plain that he was not in sympathy with the chief's attitude.

The conversation in which the Mayor figured seems to show that he promised protection to the man who would get the evidence if he should get in trouble doing it, and that he gave assurances the work would be well paid for.

The Mayor was present at the conference with February, Colyar and Miles. The entire dictograph conversation in which he figured is given elsewhere.

Far more sensational is the conversation in which Jones, Miles and Colyar took part. Jones viciously attacked the police department, charging graft and crookedness; accused Marion Jackson, Men and Religion Forward Movement leader, of being the beneficiary of vice, and said he had been double-crossed in the wiping out of the Tenderloin.

Colonel Felder's name is mentioned there and again in the conversation of the three, and more than one reference is made to the alleged offer of $1,000 for evidence.

Jones Attacks Beavers and Charges Police Crookedness

The following conversation occurred in room No. 31, at Williams House No. 2, 24-26 N. Forsyth Street, Atlanta, Ga., Wednesday evening between 8 and 9 o'clock, between C. C. Jones, E. O. Miles and A. S. Colyar: Colyar—It has been very warm today, hasn't it?

Miles—Yes, it has. I asked Mr. Felder if you mentioned Mr. Jones' name to him and he said no.

Colyar—He told me Monday night that Mr. Jones was a friend of his and he thought it an outrage the way they had done him.

Miles—You know I asked you this afternoon why you wanted to see Mr. Jones.

Colyar—If you don't want to talk, that's all right.

Miles—In what way?

Colyar—Tom told me they did you pretty dirty down here at the station house.

Miles—Yes. They closed up the houses I had. I had a lot of property.

Colyar—He told me they framed up on you.

Miles—There is no doubt but what it was a frame-up.

Colyar—Tom told me he would like to see the gang out of business.

Miles—The record now is twice very indignant just then. They never grafted me. Wouldn't be any use for me to give them any money.

Colyar—You told me you wanted to see Jones. It is not a question of lack of confidence, as what I told you was true as far as I know, but if he knows anything at all about it, I don't know just what it is.

Dictograph Conversations in Which Mayor Took Part

Here is the entire dictograph conversation in which Mayor James G. Woodward took part as it was reported to the police. A copy is in the police files today.

A. S. Colyar, the man who engineered the entire sensation, of course takes a leading part. The conversation is first principally between him and Chief Lanford's clerk, February and E. O. Miles, a private investigator, and a friend of Charles C. Jones, who comes later into the conversation.

Jones owned a number of houses in the restricted district closed up by Chief Beavers, which were conservatively estimated to have given him an income of $40,000 a year. He is the owner of the Rex saloon, and is by no means poverty stricken, despite the huge debt Chief Beavers' reform made in his roll.

Mayor James G. Woodward, who has never hesitated to let it be known that he was not in sympathy with the Chief's vice crusade, comes into the conversation later and is reported in full.

The conversation took place on Wednesday afternoon in Colyar's room—the same room where Felder was trapped, and was taken down by George M. Gentry, a nephew of the president of the Southern Bell Telephone Company. Here is a copy of the record:

The following statements were overheard by me, by using a dictograph located in room 32 of the Williams House No. 2, 24-26 North Forsyth Street, Atlanta, Ga.; said dictograph being connected with room No. 31 of the said hotel, and I am Mr. E. O. Miles, whom I am personally acquainted with; Mr. G. C. February, whom I have known for several years, and Mr. A. S. Colyar, with whom I have only been acquainted for a short time, enter room No. 31 of said hotel at about 4 o'clock on the afternoon of May 21, 1913.

On account of Mr. February having locked the door to room No. 31, I was delayed in getting in, after having witnessed the "three parties above mentioned enter room No. 31 of said hotel. In the emergency, I used the key to my front door, which, with a little difficulty, opened the door. After closing the door and going to the instrument, I was unable to hear what was being said very distinctly on account of the windows of the said room being open. This necessitated another delay to clear them, and after returning to my instrument I was able to hear the following. Several dashes indicate that the voice just at that point became indistinct.

Colyar—Can tell me some things. I am executive secretary (noise made sound indistinct).

Miles—Now, just wait a minute. I know (here noise made hearing indistinct). I know (here noise made hearing indistinct).

Colyar—(Question incoherent).

Miles—Am I called you ought, but you know when they go into it they are going to get it all out.

Colyar—(Conversation to low to catch).

Miles—The Mayor will give us absolute assurance that he will protect us.

Hunt for Stolen Girl Leads to Gypsy Band

CLEVELAND, May 25.—Mercer County, Pa., officials today began a search which they hoped would result in the recovery of a young girl, who disappeared from Newmarket, Ind., early in March. A band of Gypsies with whom she was last seen, about a week ago, were reported to have been seen in Mercer County. Rewards aggregating $1,000 are offered for the return of the child.

DICTOGRAPH TALKS IN WHICH MAYOR FIGURED

may be busy. I will bring him in if he possibly get here.
Miles—He was up to the City Hall. He will be over in a few minutes, he said.
Colyar—Where is your residence, Mr. Miles?
Miles—In Decatur. I used to live in Smyrna.

MAYOR JAMES G. WOODWARD, of Atlanta, who has been trapped by the dictograph in his hunt for police graft evidence. His conversation with others was taken in A. S. Colyar's room at the Williams House on the afternoon of May 21.

Miles—Well, I had a great deal of trouble with you for coming in. Jones—I will try and get these between 10 and 11. Will that suit you?
Miles—He will go.
Colyar—Have you seen Felter since you saw me?
Miles—Yes.
Colyar—What did he say about going out of town?
Miles—He will go.
Colyar—Well, we will get the papers.
Miles—I told him that was reasonable.
Colyar—Then I will get the papers at 2:30 to-morrow. What time will you get in in the morning?
Miles—I will get in at 8:20 to-morrow, and I have an appointment.
Colyar—I think it is best to postpone this.
Miles—I have no doubt. It isn't possible using our side.
Colyar—Call me up at 2401, Atlanta place, at the hotel at 1 o'clock. I want to have anything to do with the transfer of them in Fulton County. As long as he is.
Miles—Yes, it makes a great deal more. He can call — a Morse.
Colyar—What is your name?
Miles—I think he was him most of it.
Colyar—Was he like that?
Miles—A hundred thousand dollars.
Colyar—How much did he get?
Miles—Not a thing.
Colyar—How long have you known Felter?
Miles—I have known him 25 years, personally.
Colyar—(Questioning incoherently.)
Miles—Did you ever hear him commit himself?
Colyar—Answer incoherently. Now listen here, this box breeds problems. Will you give me all your papers to take with you? Will you give me to use it anyway as to jeopardize his position in any way?
Miles—And I believe he would, because I have seen him tried. I have been tried, all committed, and I have never known him to go back on his word. I can't conceive my mind that the young man won't talk. He is liable to lose his nerve. He seems nervous and afraid.
Colyar—No, he won't talk; he is just timid.
Miles—In dealing with a rattlehead I never think about dictograph and clear.
Colyar—No.
Miles—I presume every man has his own code of honor, and mine is not. If it fits in the wrong that the right needn't hurt you. I don't care for a rattlehead, as I don't know anything against him. But that's just in mind the general corruption in that department down here.
Colyar—He goes down there and gets the papers and brings them out there and get the papers that you and Felter want and they would know that nobody could get them but you and him and Langford would know that didn't get them and they would know they got them and would fire him right away. Now, here is the Mayor going to put his back.
Miles—If they are the documents of the nature he understands that there is still another chief in his office. They would put him back for the very reason it would insure a strict administration of the next chief.
Miles—Will you call me in the morning at 10 o'clock?
Miles—I will call you at 10 o'clock.
Colyar—Will you make Tom spend his money now.
Miles—Yes. You don't want to give the Mayor any list of these things.
Colyar—I thought you wanted the papers.
Miles—I don't want them.
Colyar—Tom does. He can't let you get the papers whether they are yours or not.
Miles—We agree with the Mayor that we get this list.
Colyar—Tom said that the papers—
Miles—If he has anything to say he has nothing to do with it. If you are going to tell them to him we will drop out of it. You say you will see the Mayor.
Miles—You will see him to-morrow.
Miles—Good-night.
Colyar—Good-night.
Miles—The money to be turned over. Now this list you speak of. If February don't want it to go out in his own handwriting, I will take it and copy it in my own handwriting. And if he gets into trouble we will protect him. Still, to a thing like this it isn't doing getting in trouble for the right. If he gets in jail it will promise that he will get out.
Miles—Woodward—Let me get away here that will get you out pretty quick. And I have the pardon power still.
Miles—And when they see you have got them they are going to be might and get out before you get there. Now suppose we arrange for another meeting. You set the hour and I will meet you at any time and place.
February—Well, I would better call you up.
Miles—I am so busy that I can't let it in my office very much, and you may not catch me.
Colyar—Can you meet me at 8 o'clock to-night, here?
Miles—Yes, I can meet you here.
(At this juncture, someone knocked on the door and told Mr. Colyar that he was wanted at the telephone. Mr. Colyar replied by saying he could come as soon as he was home.)
February—Well, we will call you up.
Colyar—He is coming here at 8 o'clock to-night. * * * My number up here is 2401, Atlanta place.
Miles—Yes, I will call for you. Now that is to-night?
Colyar—Yes.
Miles—I think he is here at 8 o'clock. That is all right?
Woodward—I am satisfied that if we can establish * * * Do you understand this much, that we have got something (voice too low and indistinct to hear)?
Miles—Yes, it has got to be positive.
Colyar—What a match?
Miles—I got one. Well, good luck.
Woodward—(Voice too low to hear).
Colyar—They will frame up on anybody that you report.
Colyar—What protection have we established?
Woodward—Well, I don't think there will be any trouble at all. * * * We could get together and establish * * * There is something wrong. It is simply a * * * Now, Mr. February, you get a list of the papers you can furnish me against the men and give them to me or Miles, and then we will know how to take with you. At it, we don't know whether you can get anything or not.
Colyar—What do you think of the Phagan case?
Woodward—Phagan case? I think it has been mightily messed up. The only thing I know on that subject is what I see in the papers, and they have very little in connection with it. (Balance indistinct.)
Colyar—Tom Felter talks too much.
Woodward—I think so, too. I don't know what he said on the outside, but he talked some of me, not a great deal; I didn't see him five times.
Woodward—Only had a very few words. * * * Well, I will see you again.
Colyar and February—Well, good-bye, Mayor.
State of Georgia—County of Fulton.
Personally appeared before me, the undersigned notary public for the State and county aforesaid, George M. Gentry, a notary, who makes oath and says that the foregoing conversation between A. S. Colyar, James G. Woodward, Mayor of the city of Atlanta, E. O. Miles and G. C. February took place in room No. 41 of Williams House No. 2, at 24 and 26 North Forsyth Street, Atlanta, Georgia, and that same took place at a true and correct transcript taken down in room No. 22 of Williams House and that the same is a true and correct transcript as dictated by said conversation in room No. 22 of said building.
GEO. M. GENTRY, Notary Public.

Miles—We agree with the Mayor that we get this list.
Colyar—Tom said that the papers—
Miles—If he has anything to say he has nothing to do with it. If you are going to tell them to him we will drop out of it. You say you will see the Mayor.
Miles—You will see him to-morrow.
Miles—Good-night.
Colyar—Good-night.
Miles—The money to be turned over. Now this list you speak of. If February don't want it to go out in his own handwriting, I will take it and copy it in my own handwriting. And if he gets into trouble we will protect him. Still, to a thing like this it isn't doing getting in trouble for the right. If he gets in jail it will promise that he will get out.
Miles—Woodward—Let me get away here that will get you out pretty quick. And I have the pardon power still.
Miles—And when they see you have got them they are going to be might and get out before you get there. Now suppose we arrange for another meeting. You set the hour and I will meet you at any time and place.
February—Well, I would better call you up.
Miles—I am so busy that I can't let it in my office very much, and you may not catch me.
Colyar—Can you meet me at 8 o'clock to-night, here?
Miles—Yes, I can meet you here.
(At this juncture, someone knocked on the door and told Mr. Colyar that he was wanted at the telephone. Mr. Colyar replied by saying he could come as soon as he was home.)
February—Well, we will call you up.
Colyar—He is coming here at 8 o'clock to-night. * * * My number up here is 2401, Atlanta place.
Miles—Yes, I will call for you. Now that is to-night?
Colyar—Yes.
Miles—I think he is here at 8 o'clock. That is all right?
Woodward—I am satisfied that if we can establish * * * Do you understand this much, that we have got something (voice too low and indistinct to hear)?
Miles—Yes, it has got to be positive.
Colyar—What a match?
Miles—I got one. Well, good luck.
Woodward—(Voice too low to hear).
Colyar—They will frame up on anybody that you report.
Colyar—What protection have we established?
Woodward—Well, I don't think there will be any trouble at all. * * * We could get together and establish * * * There is something wrong. It is simply a * * * Now, Mr. February, you get a list of the papers you can furnish me against the men and give them to me or Miles, and then we will know how to take with you. At it, we don't know whether you can get anything or not.
Colyar—What do you think of the Phagan case?
Woodward—Phagan case? I think it has been mightily messed up. The only thing I know on that subject is what I see in the papers, and they have very little in connection with it. (Balance indistinct.)
Colyar—Tom Felter talks too much.
Woodward—I think so, too. I don't know what he said on the outside, but he talked some of me, not a great deal; I didn't see him five times.
Woodward—Only had a very few words. * * * Well, I will see you again.
Colyar and February—Well, good-bye, Mayor.
State of Georgia—County of Fulton.
Personally appeared before me, the undersigned notary public for the State and county aforesaid, George M. Gentry, a notary, who makes oath and says that the foregoing conversation between A. S. Colyar, James G. Woodward, Mayor of the city of Atlanta, E. O. Miles and G. C. February took place in room No. 41 of Williams House No. 2, at 24 and 26 North Forsyth Street, Atlanta, Georgia, and that same took place at a true and correct transcript taken down in room No. 22 of Williams House and that the same is a true and correct transcript as dictated by said conversation in room No. 22 of said building.
GEO. M. GENTRY, Notary Public.
Witness my hand and subscribed before me this 23d day of May, 1913.

FRAME-UP ALLEGED BLEASE IRONIC ON AT BURNS' MEN, SAYS TOBE, FELDER TRAP.

Denouncing A. S. Colyar as a "rattlehead crook," W. C. Burns, the Burns detective who is here making an investigation of the Phagan case, declared today that the charges of bribery and double dealing brought against Felter were a frame-up concocted by the Phagan Police Agency and the Atlanta Police Department, with these ends in view.
To discredit Colonel Felter, Burns charges also that Colyar was used as the main trap for the frame-up. He declares that Colyar tried to induce Felter to attend the conference at the Williams House No. 2 between Colonel Felter, G. C. February and Colyar. He declares that Colyar told him he was willing to give him a bribe of $25,000 to get away with the Phagan Police Agency and the Atlanta Police Department, with these ends in view.

Huerta Threatens to Assume Dictatorship

MEXICO CITY, May 25.—President Huerta has threatened to assume dictatorship over the legislative branch of the government unless the Senate approved the $100,000,000 foreign loan case filibustering against it.
This clash between the executive and legislative branch of the government has been expected for some time.
If the proposition is successful and the loan is not secured, a crisis will follow.

Daniels 'Afraid' to Umpire Ball Game

WASHINGTON, May 25.—As soon as Joseph Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, announced that he was going to umpire a ball game on May 31, he was invited to be one of the umpires.
"Thank you, it's a bit too risky," declared Mr. Daniels. "I've come up in airplanes and down to the bottom of the sea in a submarine, but I am not a ball umpire. I am an arbitrator in a college baseball game. The job is too hard and too dangerous."

What Is in a Name? Gets Boy $2,000,000

SEATTLE, May 25.—Through the action of the Superior Court here, Henry W. Shoemaker, aged five, regained his name and his father, Henry W. Shoemaker, aged 57, lost his $2,000,000. The boy's mother, formerly Mrs. Shoemaker's wife, gave the name of Perry. Mr. Shoemaker wanted him to have the name given him before he and his wife were divorced.

Cemetery Sexton Dies Amid Tombs

COLUMBUS, Ga., May 25.—T. D. Bartlett, sexton of Riverside Cemetery, Columbus, was found dead in the cemetery last night. A coroner's jury rendered a verdict that death was due to natural causes.
Bartlett was 57 years of age and was well known as a letter man.

ATTEMPT TO BRIBE WITNESSES LAID TO FRIENDS OF FRANK

Colyar Gives Detective Chief Alleged Copies of Affidavits in Which He Says Two Persons Swear That False Testimony Was Sought by Defense

Chief of Detectives Lanford was given two papers Monday accusing friends of Leo M. Frank of attempting to bribe a man and a woman to swear that they saw Mary Phagan at 10:30 Saturday night, April 26, at a soda fountain at Mericots and Forsyth Street.

These papers were given Lanford by A. S. Colyar, whose entrance into the Phagan case has been marked by one sensation after another. Colyar told Lanford that the papers were copies of sworn affidavits and that he had the originals which he would produce at the proper time. Colyar emphatically denied that he had in any manner resorted to bribery in behalf of Frank to make by Herbert Haas, well-known Atlanta attorney and friend of the general factory superintendent.

Mr. Haas further declared that any intimation that he had sought to bribe anyone was absolutely false. Colyar said that the affidavits were signed by the woman it was sought to bribe and the other by the man, a traveling salesman. The hundred dollar fee is said by the present copies of the affidavits to have been offered to the man and the woman for their testimony.

Another report of attempted bribery was submitted to Chief Lanford by Will Hennessy, of 11 Leonard Street. Hennessy told Lanford that he had been informed by Mrs. Edmondson, member of the Little Mother's Society, of 111 South Forsyth Street, that a man had come to her house and asked her to make the affidavit. Hennessy said he had been kept out of the case until after the trial had concluded.

Score Frank Not in Office. Hennessy stated in the report which is reported to have gone to the factory at 11:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon and to have been made to Ed Frank in his office, although he swore he was there all the time from the moment that Mary Phagan left his office until her body was found.

Mr. Frank's name was mentioned in the report, but he was not in his office at the time. The report was made to Chief Lanford, but an offer had been made to her to keep her daughter, Maudie, in the Phagan case. Mrs. Edmondson stated in the report that she had been kept out of the case until after the trial had concluded.

Denies She Bought Police Protection. Mrs. Edmondson denied that she had bought police protection for her daughter. She stated that she had been offered the opportunity to do so, but she had refused.

THE WEATHER. Forecast for Atlanta and Georgia--Fair Monday and Tuesday.
