

MAY ALLOW ARMS TO GO TO MEXICO FROM THE STATES

President Wilson and Members of Congress Are Considering This as Next Step in Handling the Situation

LOOKS LIKE A MOVE IN FAVOR OF REBELS

They Have Repeatedly Claimed Arms Are All They Need to End Warfare by Winning Quick Victory

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Repeal of the neutrality proclamation prohibiting the exportation of arms to Mexico is being considered by the administration as the next step in the Mexican situation. Conferences between President Wilson and congressional leaders were planned today for a discussion of the proposal, to which many leaders have given their approval.

While official statements were lacking today as to what support President Wilson had given to the project, a partial canvass of the house and senate foreign affairs committees led those interested in the move to believe that the prohibition against the shipment of arms could be repealed with little delay.

"LET 'EM FIGHT IT OUT."

It is understood to be the belief of administration officials that should free exportation of arms be permitted to all factions in Mexico, the present situation might adjust itself. The constitutionalist army repeatedly has claimed that lack of arms is their only bar to quick victory.

The repeal is proposed on the ground that there is no recognized government in Mexico and that when the prohibition was enacted a regularly constituted government was not officially by the United States, was in existence.

Mexicans Hold American

For Ransom, Says Report

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, July 23.—Acting Secretary Roosevelt of the navy today advised Rear Admiral Cowles at Guaymas to investigate the report that Thomas Hild, assistant general superintendent of the Southern Pacific railroad in Mexico, is held for ransom by Mexican federalists. The state department was without information on the matter.

The supply ship Buffalo, which sailed from Guaymas to Topolampam, has been reported to have been captured by federalists. The ship was bound for Vera Cruz. This latter movement leads navy department officials to conclude that a measure of order has been restored at Topolampam. The ship was captured by federalists when it was in the Gulf of Mexico. The ship was captured by federalists when it was in the Gulf of Mexico.

State department reports today stated that while the activities of American consuls at Matamoros and Tuxtepec are reported to be taking an interest in the safety of Americans at Matamoros, the federalists having no force in the vicinity.

Suspension of communication between Matamoros and Tuxtepec was reported from Saltillo, with no communication over the National railway to the south.

American's Bible Pages

Used to Make Cigarettes

(By Associated Press.)
DALLAS, Tex., July 23.—How some of his Mexican captors used his Bible for cigarette papers was told by L. L. Davis, of Dallas, who reached home last night after being a prisoner of constitutionalists in Mexico from May 12 until July 19. Davis said there were only a few chapters left in the book when he was released. He said his captors at times had little to eat. They lived, but always shared equally with him. He was held for ransom, but was released without paying a cent. He was released without paying a cent. He was released without paying a cent.

Admiral Beatty Ordered

NEWPORT, R. I., July 23.—Rear Admiral Frank E. Beatty, commander of the Fourth division of the Atlantic fleet, today received orders to report to Washington.

Discussion of Mexico

Not Resumed in Senate

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, July 23.—Discussion of Mexican affairs was not continued in the senate today. Senator Phillips' resolution for protection of Americans in the southern republic had been referred to the calendar, and Fall did not attempt to renew his request for action on it.

No British Battleship

Requested in Mexico

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, July 23.—The foreign office has heard of a British consul in Mexico requesting the service of a battleship, according to Francis Dyke, under secretary of foreign affairs, in reply to a question in the house of commons today. He said the foreign office could not inquire about the rumor.

DALTON, Ga., July 23.—Bob Constable sustained a fracture of the arm when caught in a belt at the Duane street laundry yesterday.

FIRE'S DEATH LIST CONTINUES TO GROW AS RUINS ARE RAKED

Six of Those Who Perished at Binghamton Identified, but Many Bodies Charred Beyond Recognition

EXACT NUMBER OF DEAD MAY NEVER BE KNOWN

Girls Thought Alarm Meant Only "Play" Fire, and Many Slowly Walked to Their Death

(By Associated Press.)
BINGHAMTON, N. Y., July 23.—The exact number of persons who perished in the fire in the Binghamton Clothing company's overall factory yesterday may never be known. The list of employees is in the ruins. Only a half dozen of the bodies recovered have been identified. A careful estimate today places the number of those in the building at the time the fire started at 111. Of these only fifty-three are known to have been saved. Six dead have been identified.

Fifteen bodies, charred beyond recognition, are at the morgue; seven injured are in the hospitals; forty-six, several slightly injured, are safe at their homes. Eleven have been reported by relatives as missing, and twenty-six others are unaccounted for. Mrs. Ida Prentiss, who suffered terrible burns about the head, died today, and Mrs. Mary Benny, another of the injured, is not expected to recover.

City physicians estimated the death toll at fifty, but admit it may reach sixty. Bodies of several girls lost in the center of the building may never be found.

Crowds gathered about the scene of the disaster today and silently watched the men at work in the debris. Charred bits of human flesh were picked up here and there. At noon a body was recovered, burned beyond recognition. District Attorney Meager announced that a thorough investigation would be made to ascertain the cause of the accident.

ONE FUNERAL FOR UNIDENTIFIED

As many of the bodies are unrecognizable, a public funeral will be conducted by the city, and the unknown dead will be buried in a plot upon which a shaft will be erected.

Frank S. Ash, of Binghamton, an inspector for the state labor department, said today the fire escapes on the building were of a type approved by the state engineers.

DEAD AND MISSING

A revised list of the dead and missing reported up to noon was as follows:

- MARY PRIOR, Wilkesbarre, Pa.
- JOHN E. SCHOMAKER, Philadelphia.
- MARGUERITA DIAMOND.
- MRS. THOMAS DORAN.
- IDA GOLDEN.

FINANCIAL LOSS $200,000

The loss by fire and water to the buildings and stock of five concerns is estimated at more than $200,000, largely covered by insurance.

The postoffice, built about twenty years ago, was badly damaged, but the mails were saved. A temporary office has been established in a nearby garage.

The loss of the Binghamton Clothing company was estimated at about $100,000, all covered by insurance. This does not include the building, which was rented.

The heavy loss of life is believed to have been largely due to the fact that the employees believing that the alarm was intended for a fire drill, were slow in leaving the building.

Even when it became known that the building was on fire many returned to the second and third floors. A moment later the fourth floor. A moment later the fourth floor. A moment later the fourth floor.

SENATE PASSES BILL APPLYING WEBB LAW TO GEORGIA

Measure Was Adopted by Vote of 36 to 3 After Two Hours of Heated Debate Wednesday Morning

ROADS RESPONSIBLE FOR PACKAGES OVER 3 GALLONS

If the Shipments Are Less Than Three Gallons, the Burden of Proving Them Illegal Rests on State

The Georgia state senate Wednesday morning passed the Hixon-Searcy bill applying the provisions of the Webb act against the importation of spirituous liquors to Georgia.

The passage of the bill came only after two hours of bitter argument and only after four amendments to the measure had been voted down. Yet the final vote was 36 to 3 in favor of the bill, as reported by the temperance committee with one amendment, the committee's own.

The bill has but two important sections. The first, which prohibits the importation of spirituous liquors into the state for illegal use, was favored almost unanimously by the senators. This measure will not apply to near-beer, to locker clubs lawfully conducted, nor to persons ordering liquor for private use.

The second section was the bone of contention. It fixes the burden of proof in case the legality of a shipment is questioned. The committee's amendment which was adopted says that when the questioned shipment is in excess of three gallons (one case), the burden shall be upon the carrier, or express company, to show that it was ordered for legal purposes. When less than three gallons it shall be up to the state to show that the shipment was for illegal purposes.

DEBATE GROWS LIVELY

The prohibitionists, led by Senators Hixon and Searcy, wished to strike out the three-gallon clause entirely, leaving it to the carrier in every case to prove the legality of the shipment. They began their fight by offering an amendment to this effect.

Senator McNeil, in a fiery speech opposed striking the amendment. He began as every senator who took the floor began by saying that personally he was a prohibitionist. According to Senator McNeil, he was a prohibitionist in a restricted sense.

His speech was a vigorous arraignment of the present prohibition law. That it allowed blind tigers to operate and was thus the cause of murders, burglaries and felonies which he said had increased 66 2-3 per cent since the law was passed. Senator McNeil defied the prohibitionists to deny.

He characterized the first section as a good law. The second, he claimed, worked an illegal hardship on the carrier unless carrying the three-gallon clause. Without this clause, he said, any sheriff or deputy could indict any shipper who might order one pint a month.

He continued to hit the prohibition law.

"Every one knows," he cried, "that every bottle of beer sold in Georgia is alcoholic as well as intoxicating. You start with near-beer and get 'nicker' and 'nicker' and 'nicker.' If the prohibitionists had their way, they would close up the state of Georgia tighter than the tightest clam on the Atlantic coast. That's the very reason I don't favor absolute prohibition, because if we had it, our very good friends, the anti-liquorists, would make an exodus one month."

The senator's point occasioned much laughter.

President Anderson began to call on the speakers by alternating from side to side.

HE OPPOSED CLAUSE

Senator Searcy spoke against the three-gallon clause, declaring that he "had never touched a drop of liquor or bought a drop of liquor in his life." One who supported his view was Senator McGregor, who made a ringing speech.

Senator Sweat, Senator Smith and Senator Harrell all were in favor of striking out the burden of proof on the state and not the carrier.

Senator Dickey proposed to amend the three-gallon clause by changing it to one-gallon, but was voted down by the yeas and nays.

Senator Hixon's amendment striking out this clause entirely was voted down, as were two amendments by Senator Harrell, which provided for seizure of liquor in the hands of the carrier.

THOMPSON AND DAVIS CONFIRMED BY SENATE

Howard Thompson, of Gainesville, Becomes N. Ga. Marshal-Davis for S. Ga.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
WASHINGTON, July 23.—Howard Thompson, of Gainesville, and Joseph S. Davis, of Albany, were confirmed yesterday afternoon by the senate to be United States marshals for the northern and southern districts of Georgia respectively.

Both Mr. Thompson and Mr. Davis will be required to execute bonds to the government and will then be commissioned. They will probably not take office for a week or ten days.

No action has yet been taken by the treasury department on the nomination of David C. Barrow to be collector of the port of Savannah.

Postmasters appointed today are: Canoochee, Emanuel county, D. M. Clark, new office; Milledgeville, Johnson county, J. W. Thompson, vice M. T. Riner, resigned.

Carriers: Tifton, Route 2, R. C. Dell, vice B. H. Horn; West Point, route 2, L. L. Blanton, vice H. Smith.

Three Georgia postoffice nominations were sent to the senate today by the president as follows: Cedartown, Mrs. Annie K. Bunn; Rockmart, George Dancy; Canton, Joseph M. McAfee.

Mrs. Bunn, who is the widow of the late W. C. Bunn, and Dancy were recommended to the department by Representative Gordon Lee, of the Seventh district. Captain McAfee, at Canton, was recommended by Congressman Thomas M. Bell, of the Ninth district.

Mrs. Bunn and Dancy were accepted by Senator Hoke Smith, but such was not the case at the Canton office, where Senator Smith had recommended the nomination of Judge W. J. Webb, ordinary of Cherokee county, who is the son-in-law of the man nominated.

OLD CROP COTTON TAKES BIG FALL WEDNESDAY

(By Associated Press.)
NEW ORLEANS, July 23.—The price of old crop cotton suffered another severe break today as the result of selling out of holders of long contracts. In the trading before noon July dropped 30 points and August dropped 25. This made the break in July about 75 points, or nearly $4 a bale.

The market opened steady with no signs of weakness, but soon after the call both July and August were sold heavily and prices fell off under the pressure. At the lowest of the morning July stood at 11 7/8 and August at 11 5/8, thus fulfilling a bearish prediction that August would sell under July. New crops were comparatively steady, a net loss of 10 points being the lowest.

BRYAN IS RETURNING TO NATIONAL CAPITAL

(By Associated Press.)
ADEL, Iowa, July 23.—William J. Bryan, secretary of state, will start on his journey to Washington tonight. He expects to reach the capital Friday morning. He arrived here shortly before noon and delivered a lecture. This afternoon he went to Panama, where he will make his farthest west lecture on his present trip.

HOKE SMITH URGES HIS BILL BEFORE COMMITTEE

Georgia Senator Before House Body for Vocational Education Measure

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 23.—Senator Hoke Smith appeared today before the education committee of the house in support of his resolution providing for the creation of a commission to study vocational education.

Senator Page, of Vermont, joined the Georgian in urging a favorable report on the resolution, which has already passed the senate.

Congressman Hughes, of Georgia, is chairman of the education committee, and is himself in favor of the measure.

His committee will report favorably the resolution provided the house caucus will agree to its consideration at the special session of congress.

NASH RETAINS PLACE AS ADJUTANT UNDER SLATON

Governor's Order Issued on July First But Not Entered at That Time

An executive order issued on July 1 by Governor Slaton, but which has not yet been entered upon the minutes of the executive offices, announces the reappointment of General J. Van Holt Nash, of Atlanta, to be adjutant general of the Georgia national guard.

This order provides that by the virtue of his office General Nash shall be chief of all staff corps and departments, and shall exercise a general supervision and control over them, in addition to his other duties.

No public announcement of General Nash's reappointment has yet been made, and the existence of the governor's order was learned by accident.

General Nash was appointed adjutant general last January by Governor Brown. He succeeded General W. G. O'Neal, who was made quartermaster general.

As yet Governor Slaton has not reappointed General O'Neal, but he will probably do so within the next few days. He is familiarizing himself with the orders of the war department regarding the organization of the militia, and he states that it is his intention to keep the military department of the state just as it now is unless he is compelled to make a change.

PRIZE FIGHT STAGED RIGHT AT FIVE POINTS

With hundreds of people in sight and a thick crowd around them, not thirty yards from a traffic policeman on fixed post, two young men of foreign countenance staged a prize fight with gloves in Five Points Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

When the policeman spied the crowd and pushed his way through it, he found nothing at its core. So he said, at least, a few minutes later. The young men, whoever they were, had disappeared. He had no record of the matter, no names, no particulars. The tide of traffic at Five Points had closed over them as completely as the ocean hides two grains of sand. Not even the newsies knew who the fighters were or why they fought.

GEORGIA CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ORGANIZED

C. J. Haden Named Permanent Chairman, Eugene Adams Secretary

With gratifying unanimity, fifty or more representative citizens of the state Wednesday morning decided to establish the Georgia chamber of commerce for the advancement of all interests of the state. Plans for permanent organization will be drafted by C. J. Haden, who was elected permanent chairman, and an executive committee, which will be selected later.

The organization, whose sole business will be to advertise Georgia to the world and help the farmers of the state to a better understanding of their lands and modern farming methods, will meet from time to time in the various cities of the state and, through suborganizations, will take up the more localized interests of the various counties.

Mr. Haden stressed the point that while Atlanta has led in the movement it is one of state wide interest, one in which self interest must be lost in the general good; in which all sections merge their differences for the common good.

Mr. Haden stated that twenty-five or thirty million dollars will be saved to the state if the state chamber of commerce does its work properly. It will advertise Georgia's resources in sections where they are little known and used, bring new blood in settlers from the east and west, and improve agricultural resources and the wealth of the state according through such interests.

C. G. Bradley, of Morgan county, spoke next, and after him, Dan G. Hughes, of Twiggs county; Phil G. Campbell, of Athens, the originator of the Boys' Corn club; Robert F. Maddox, of Atlanta; Eugene Adams, of Albany; H. G. Hastings, of Atlanta; R. H. Shaw, of the Southern railroad, and J. A. Pride, of the Seaboard.

Every man stressed the necessity of unity in action; and every man prophesied great results as the outcome of such a movement.

A committee of three, composed of C. D. McKinney, of Deatur; C. G. Bradley, of Madison, and Eugene Adams, of Albany, was appointed to suggest a tentative form of organization for the body, which is to have a president, vice presidents from every county in the state which enters into the movement, a permanent secretary, and a treasurer.

Albany offered to head the subscription list for funds with as much as any town of its own or twice its own size shall give, and others indicated their willingness to give their financial aid to the project.

Another meeting will be held in a short while in Macon; and in the meantime a more detailed plan will be worked out. Those present Wednesday morning were:

Wilmer L. Moore, Atlanta; C. J. Haden, Atlanta; Eugene Adams, Albany; James G. Woodward, Atlanta; W. G. Cooper, Atlanta; E. H. Shaw, Atlanta.

FIGHT EXPECTED OVER EFFORT TO DEFER FRANK CASE

No Witnesses for Defense Have Been Called for Monday, and Indications Are They Will Not Be

CRAWFORD CASE CHECKED TO DATE OF FRANK TRIAL

Attorney R. R. Arnold May Go to Covington to Request Judge L. S. Roan to Postpone Case

While the position of the defense of Leo M. Frank has not been announced, Attorney Luther Z. Rowser and Reuben R. Arnold have indicated clearly that they desire to postpone the trial of case from next Monday, when it is set. Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey, on the other hand, has announced the state's position. He will fight any and every move to postpone the case.

The solicitor general objected, when the case was postponed from June 30, the date he first fixed, and fought to have a date earlier than July 28 when he then saw that postponement was inevitable. Now he is again preparing to fight against further delay.

Deputy Sheriff Plennie Minor was instructed by Judge L. S. Roan, to bring the jury box to Judge John T. Pendleton with the request that he draw the venire for the trial on Thursday morning, before the trial judge left to hold court this week in Covington.

Attorneys for the state and for the defense will then be present, and it is possible that a definite understanding may be reached. The venire will consist of about 150 men, and if it can be definitely known Thursday that the trial will not come up, the venire will not be served by the court attach.

MAY CALL ON JUDGE ROAN.
It is said that Attorney Arnold, for the defense, is considering going to Washington Wednesday night to confer with Judge Roan over the advisability of holding such a tedious trial, and one which thousands will try to hear, during the present hot weather. It is argued that the trial at this season will prove dangerous to the health of those forced to participate.

An indication that the defense does not expect the trial to actually commence Monday is that it has not yet been called. Although subpoenas have been served already on practically every one of the state's many witnesses. While it is true that it will be some days after the trial opens before witnesses for the defense come up, the contention is that the natural supposition is that the defense would have at least placed the witnesses who live some distance from Atlanta under subpoena if it expected the trial to commence Monday.

CRAWFORD CASE CHECKED.
When the hearing before Auditor James N. Anderson, of the Crawford will case, was called Wednesday morning it was postponed at the instance of Attorney Arnold, who declared that practically all of his time was occupied in the preparation of the Frank case. He asked that the case be checked until Monday, and it will be again checked if the Frank trial is postponed.

Attorneys not connected with the case are freely predicting that the state will win the first clash of attorneys if the defense asks that the venire for the trial be drawn from the grand jury box. While no law against it has been advanced there is no precedent at least in this county for such procedure, and it is said that the Frank venire, like all others, will be drawn from the petit jury box.

It was learned Wednesday that there is no probability of Judge Roan continuing or postponing the trial of his own volition, as was done on the date first set. Judge Roan is expected to return to Atlanta Wednesday morning.

VISIT NEXT LEE.
Solicitor Dorsey, Attorney Hooper, his special assistant in the Frank case, and Detectives Starnes and Campbell, called at the jail Wednesday morning and talked for a while with New Lee, the negro night watchman, who is held there as a witness. Remembering that Newt had complained recently that July was

A Boy's Wit.

"Say, Papa," said J. D. the other day, "now you can get me that bicycle I have been begging you for. I have found out a dandy way to do it. Tom tells me his papa got him one for almost nothing by answering a Journal Want Ad, put in the paper by a boy who had been given a new bicycle and wanted to sell his old one. So I've watched The Journal Want Columns every day now for three days, and here is a Want Ad just like the one Tom told me about. Won't you go and see the man that put this Ad in, or write him to come and see you?"

Papa did as J. D. asked and found out that his young son was right, and, as a result, J. D. has a bicycle this summer, and his father has learned that The Journal Wants are not only very useful, but a saving investment.

ADJUTANT OVERSTEPPED BOUNDS, SAYS BLEASE

Head of Militia Commanded to Issue No More Orders Before Submitting Them to Gov.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
COLUMBIA, S. C., July 23.—A severe rebuke was given Adjutant General Moore today by Governor Blease for his action in ordering three of the companies of the Third regiment now encamped at Aiken, home because they did not have the required number of men, the governor saying that the adjutant general had assumed to himself authority which he did not have and which is lodged solely in the governor as commander-in-chief. The governor promises to make an investigation into the whole matter and says that things must be in more pleasant conditions or he will call off the encampments at Anderson and Camp Willie Jones, the First regiment being under orders to encamp at Anderson this week and the Second at Camp Willie Jones, near Columbia, in August.

Captain J. H. Claffy, commander of the Orangeburg company, one of the three sent home because it did not have the required quota of men, reported the matter to Governor Blease this morning, saying Adjutant General Moore had told him his company could not even draw rations and transportation. In a telegram to Colonel Julius E. Cogswell, commander of the Third regiment, Governor Blease says the adjutant general is under authority to issue any orders except as a representative of the commander-in-chief, and he hasn't given him any such authority. The governor said he understood that companies falling below the quota were entitled to transportation and subsistence while in camp, and that had the matter been reported to him the whole thing could have been avoided and the companies remained in camp.

In a letter to Captain Claffy the governor assures him his company is excused from field duty this year and need fear no harm. Referring to the adjutant general he says:

"I dislike to think that the man is drunk on power, or that he has lost his head on account of his promotion, but there is something peculiarly strange about his conduct."

The governor orders the adjutant general to issue no more orders, no matter he winsignificant, "by order of the commander-in-chief," unless the same is personally presented to him.

MEXICANS MAKE BLOODY THREAT TO AMERICANS

EL PASO, Tex., July 23.—Threats to kill all the Americans in the Madera settlement, burn the big Madera lumber mill which supply the El Paso Milling company with lumber and raze every American house in the camp, were made last week to the El Paso division of the Mexican Northwestern railroad, W. J. Farragut, of Alabama, a nephew of Admiral Farragut, manager of the commissary department at Madera.

Telegraph wires are down and the officials of the Madera settlement and friends of the Americans in Madera are afraid the bandits have already carried out their threats.

The brigands are preventing any one from leaving the camp.

Among the Americans who are in Madera are:

H. C. Herr, of Newark, Ohio, manager of the Madera mills; F. J. Clark, of El Paso, superintendent of the El Paso division of the Mexican Northwestern railroad; W. J. Farragut, of Alabama, a nephew of Admiral Farragut, manager of the commissary department at Madera.

Heat in Washington Drives Ambassadors To Summer Resorts

WASHINGTON, July 23.—In spite of the imminence of the passage of a new tariff law and the existence of grave foreign questions it developed today that of the forty nations represented here only one ambassador and eight ministers have remained in the capital. The others have surrendered to the Washington heat and have slipped away by ones and twos to the mountains and the seashore. The situation is considered out of the ordinary, for congress is in session and the president of the United States remains actively at work at the White House.

Of the ambassadors the only one remaining in Washington is Viscount Chinda, whose presence here is necessitated by reason of the California all-land law controversy. The eight ministers who are sticking to their posts are representatives, with the exception of the Cuban minister, of Central and South American countries. They are accustomed to tropical weather in their own countries, however, and are not suffering. The others have fled before the torridity.

NEGRO BURGLAR GETS 21 YEARS AT ROME, GA.

He Is Believed to Have Committed Several Burglaries in Atlanta

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
ROME, Ga., July 23.—Arthur Young, colored, alias John Reed, was sentenced yesterday to twenty-one years for burglarizing the home of W. H. Coker recently. The negro is believed to have committed several burglaries in Georgia and one in Austell. He admitted that he had been a professional gambler, saying that he would work as a machinist a while and spend the rest of his time gambling. He has been a trouble-some prisoner, and broke jail once since his incarceration several weeks ago.

George Barnes, another negro, pleaded guilty to the burglary of Hill & Owens' store here, and was sentenced to serve two years.

Numerous other small cases are being tried this week at Floyd superior court, which is in the midst of a big criminal docket.

CORONER EXONERATES ENGINEER AND ROAD

Says Deaths of June 12 on New Haven Line Were Accidental

(By Associated Press.)
BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 23.—Neither Engineer Dougherty, nor the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad was guilty of criminal negligence in connection with the wreck at Stamford, on June 12, according to the finding of Coroner Phelan of this city today.

The finding is based on the death of Ada Pearl Kelley, of Chicago, one of the six passengers killed in the Pullman car, "Skylark," which was telescoped. Her death is classified as "accidental."

Booklovers' Bulletin

We know our big family of Booklovers are anxious, and want news of the campaign.

Since the middle of last week the Campaign Editor and his force have been busy receiving, stamping and stacking away answers. As the last of the answers were in by 10 a. m. Tuesday, a meeting of the Judges was called and Hon. M. L. Brittain, Major R. J. Guinn and Howard S. Cole responded and organized by electing Hon. M. L. Brittain chairman. After explaining to them the system of special stamping each set of answers as they were received, and examining those so stamped, it was decided to add one more safeguard to the sets, and it was ordered that all sets be listed and renumbered, and The Journal's private seal stamped over the number. Then the original stamp with which all the sets were stamped was destroyed in the presence of the Judges. The listing and renumbering of the sets will take several days, and then the Judges will have another meeting, examine the work, and the Chairman will receive a duplicate list of all contestants' names and addresses, with their numbers. This will be a guarantee to the contestants that no set of answers can be slipped in or counted in any way after the checking of answers has begun. As soon as this work is completed and the checking is started, we will publish two pictures a day with the correct titles. Watch The Journal for particulars, as we will keep you posted right along.

GEORGIA WEEKLY EDITORS IN SESSION AT LAGRANGE

On Friday They Will Be Entertained by Brunswick Board of Trade

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
LAGRANGE, Ga., July 23.—In the convention hall of the Troup county court house the delegates and visitors to the Weekly Press association met yesterday in their twenty-seventh annual conference. General topics of interest to members of the association were discussed.

John J. Shannon, of the Commerce (Ga.) News, in his subject, "Do We Need a Pure Advertiser Law in Georgia?" was well received, and portrayed the necessity of advertising especially among the weekly newspapers. At 11:30 p. m. the meeting adjourned.

Thursday morning the delegates will leave for Brunswick, Ga., stopping at Fitzgerald for a half hour as guests of the city. On Friday they will be the guests of the Brunswick board of trade, indulging in boat rides, fish fries and bathing. Saturday the delegates will leave for Fernandina, Fla., returning in the evening of that day.

MR. WILSON'S CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS ELECTED

Archibold C. Hart Carries
Sixth New Jersey District
Over S. Woods McClave

(By Associated Press.)
SUSSEX, N. J., July 23.—Archibold C. Hart, Democrat, was elected to the house from the Sixth congressional district of New Jersey today to succeed the late James Martin. Hart had the support of President Wilson.

The Republican candidate, S. Woods McClave, who was mentioned in the Mulhall testimony before the senate lobby investigators, ran second, and Herbert M. Bailey, Progressive, third. The returns were incomplete tonight, but indications were that Hart ran ahead of McClave by more than 5,000. Progressives of New Jersey will have a complete ticket in the field at the coming state election.

FINANCIER ANTHONY BRADY DIES SUDDENLY IN LONDON

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, July 23.—The death of Anthony H. Brady, which is reported to have occurred suddenly in London last evening from an attack of acute indigestion, was a shock to the financier's friends here, for Mr. Brady had sailed from New York only a week ago apparently in good health. He was broken in spirit, however, having grieved for several months over the loss of a daughter and three other relatives who were killed in the wreck on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad at Westport, Conn., October, 1912.

Alex Fullerton Dead

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, July 23.—The death of Alexander Fullerton, a noted student of theosophy at a sanitarium on Long Island, on Monday night became known today. For many years he was the American secretary of the Theosophical Society, of which Mrs. Annie Besant was president. He was a man of independent means and devoted his whole fortune, as well as his life to the study and dissemination of the principles of theosophy. Fullerton travelled widely.

Sleepless Husband Asks Court to Give Him His Freedom

That his wife would sleep all day long in order that she could lie awake at night and worry him when he came home tired from work and in need of sleep, is one of the unique allegations in the suit of E. R. Sweat for divorce from Mrs. Blanche Sweat, filed in the superior court Wednesday by Attorney S. A. Boorstein.

Sweat, who lives at 23 Gresham street, charges that soon after their marriage in February, of this year, his wife began a series of persecutions, which culminated July 15, when he charges that she tried to poison him by placing pulverized glass in his coffee cup. The coffee tasted peculiarly, he says, and he stirred it and got some grounds in his spoon. Then he discovered the glass, he says.

He charged his wife with attempting to poison him, he alleges, and says that by way of reply she hurled the sugar bowl at him, and then snatching the coffee cup from his hands destroyed it.

His wife slapped him in the face in the presence of strangers and otherwise abused him, he alleges.

MR. DANIELS' ADDRESS AT SEATTLE GETS O. K.

Chamber of Commerce, Arctic and Rainier Clubs Deny Secretary Incited Riots

(By Associated Press.)
SEATTLE, Wash., July 23.—A joint telegram absolving Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels from any responsibility for the street riots here Friday night, when a mob of civilians, led by sailors from the Pacific reserve fleet, sacked the headquarters of the Socialists and Industrial Workers of the World, was sent to President Wilson last night by the president of the Seattle chamber of commerce, the Arctic club and the Rainier club.

The telegram is in the form of a resolution adopted by the three clubs and refers to the allegation made in the Socialist memorial that Secretary Daniels' Rainier club speech Thursday night was responsible for the riots.

Falls 110 Feet, Then Walks to His Home

(By Associated Press.)
ST. LOUIS, July 23.—After falling 110 feet from the top of a smokestack to a steel roof, and after stopping with his head a bucket of tar which followed him in the plunge, Edward Horner, a steelworker at the Granite City, Ill., steel works, today waved aside hospital attendants, then walked half a mile to his home.

There a physician said that, although Horner's head and shoulders were badly bruised, and that he probably was internally injured, he might recover. Horner had been hoisted to the top of the stack preparatory to painting it when the rope broke.

MR. ORVILLE M. TIFT IS DEAD AT TIFTON

Funeral Held Wednesday Afternoon—Was One of South
Georgia's Leading Men

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
TIFTON, Ga., July 23.—Mr. Orville M. Tift died Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the home of his mother, Mrs. Eliza C. Tift, postmaster at Tifton.

Mr. Tift was a son of the late W. O. Tift of Tifton, who for a number of years was one of the leading merchants of the city. He was about forty years of age and was married in 1904 to Miss Eva Sheppard, who, with four children, Mary, Evelyn, Orville, Jr., and Frederic, with his mother and sister, Mrs. Katherine Jones of Pittsburg, survive him.

His sister, Mrs. Jones, was in Europe at the time his condition became serious, but sailed for home when she received the news of his critical condition. She is now at sea and will be unable to reach here in time for the funeral.

The funeral was held in Tifton this afternoon.

Girl Bride Shoots Husband to Prevent Desertion. She Says

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
GAINESVILLE, Ga., July 23.—Physicians today entertain hope for the recovery of Tom Wood, a baseball player, who was shot Sunday night by his nineteen-year-old girl bride, who is held under the charge of assault with intent to murder.

The young woman declares that she shot Wood because she feared he would desert her.

GERMANS SARCASTIC, BUT SATISFIED WITH WILSON

(By Associated Press.)
BERLIN, July 23.—The proposed treaty between the United States and Nicaragua evokes a few sarcastic comments in the German press on President Wilson's return to the system of "dollar diplomacy."

Government circles, however, express themselves as perfectly satisfied that the proposed protectorate over Nicaragua will diminish the chances of international disturbances and in this way the business conditions and the financial stability of that country.

Watch Your Baby These Summer Days

Little Stomachs Get Out of Order Easily in Hot Weather

During the hot months mothers should look very carefully to the condition of the bowels of babies and young children, and, for that matter, it is very important in the lives of people at all ages. Care should be taken that the water is pure, the milk wholesome and the fruit ripe (though not over-ripe), and that not too much of anything is eaten.

When trouble results it is usually in the form of constipation or of diarrhoea. If the child loses appetite, is fretful or languid, and complains of headache, you may look for constipation. Give it a small dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at night on retiring, and by morning this pleasant laxative will have acted and the child will be its normal self again.

At the first sign of a summer cold give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as the cleaning out of the bowels will usually be sufficient to break the cold. Summer diarrhoea can be stopped in the same way by ridding the bowels of the poison and germs that cause the trouble. This opinion of the value of Syrup Pepsin is shared by thousands of people like Mrs. Ella Denzel, 124 Nichols Ave., Stratford, Conn., who uses it successfully herself and gives it to her two little boys; and Mrs. C. C. Allen, of New Monterey, Cal., who finds it in every particular just what she and her family need.

Avoid giving children cathartics, purgatives, pills or powders, as they are too harsh. Confine yourself to a gentle laxative- tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You can obtain it of any druggist at fifty cents and by ridding the bowels of the poison and germs that cause the trouble. This opinion of the value of Syrup Pepsin is shared by thousands of people like Mrs. Ella Denzel, 124 Nichols Ave., Stratford, Conn., who

AUSTELL THORNTON DIES IN ASHEVILLE, N. C.

Well-Known and Popular Atlanta Resident Passed Away Early Wednesday

The many friends of Austell Thornton, of Atlanta, will be deeply grieved by the news of his death in Asheville, N. C., Tuesday morning. He passed away at 2 o'clock at his summer home there, after an extended illness.

Mr. Thornton was one of the most highly regarded young men of Atlanta, being prominent socially and in business. He was a member of the leading social clubs, and among other interests was a director of the Atlanta National bank.

His widow, who was Miss Bob Venables, survives him, with two little children. He is survived also by his mother, Mrs. Lela A. Thornton; his brother, Albert Thornton; and his sister, Miss Jane Thornton. The members of the immediate family were with him when he passed away. Other relatives in Atlanta and Georgia also are left to mourn him.

Mr. Thornton, thirty-one years old, was reared in Atlanta and attended the public schools of the city. He was an alumnus of the University of Georgia.

The body will arrive in Atlanta early Thursday morning, and the funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the home of the deceased, 411 Peachtree street. The services will be conducted by Rev. Dunbar H. Ogden, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church. Interment will be private in Oakland cemetery.

BIBLE READING BILL VOTED DOWN, 8 TO 5

Following Hearing With Ministers Tuesday, Committee Blocks Measure

The Searcy-Bush bill which provides for the reading of the Bible in the public schools of the state was reported to the senate Wednesday morning with the recommendation that it do not pass, following a four-hour hearing of Atlanta ministers before the committee on education Tuesday afternoon.

The bill was reported favorably to the senate about a week ago, was re-committed, and held until the local ministers could be given a chance to argue for and against it. The committee convened at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and was in session until nearly 7 o'clock, when the bill was voted down, 8 to 5.

Among those who spoke against the bill were Dr. John E. White, Dr. David Marx, Father G. S. Rapier and Dr. L. E. Barton. Supporting the measure were Dr. W. Daniel, Dr. W. P. Lovejoy, Dr. C. O. Jones and others.

FIRE IN RESTAURANT AT BREAKFAST HOUR

"They should worry," said the dozen or more breakfasters at Durand's restaurant when a few flames licked the ceiling of the room they were in. The fire occurred about 7:30 Wednesday morning and was probably caused by a defective wire near the flue of the warming retainer. It was of no consequence and no damage was done.

The call was a central one and all the fire companies rushed to the scene and began working in upon the breakfasters who paid no attention to them whatever, but went on sipping their coffee and eating their rolls. A large crowd of early workers were gathered on the streets to watch the fire.

Great July Pre-Inventory Sales at

M. RICH & BROS. CO.

A Lavish Distribution of Fine Linens

Most Extraordinary Clearaway That We've Ever Attempted

Prices Drop to Half & Less For a Stirring 3-Days' Sale

"Clean Stocks" is our slogan—our rigid Pre-Inventory Policy is not to carry over any soiled merchandise nor odds and ends.

That's the reason for the finest linens in the South being offered at a fraction of their value.

To our certain knowledge no Southern store ever offered linens of such qualities at these near half and less-than-half prices.

The left aisle table and counters are heaped high with values. Though the sale is scheduled for three days—Thursday, Friday and Saturday—it is plain that the best Bargains will be snapped up Thursday. Selling starts at 8:30 with these unprecedented values.

Half-Price Sale of Fancy Linens

Practically the entire stock included at these shattered prices—real Cluny laces, Florentine lace, Bayeux lace, real Madeira embroideries and many other handsome pieces of real hand needlework.

Cluny Lace Lunch Cloths

Bewitching patterns in 54, 72 and 90-inch sizes. Splendid assortments. Were $15.00, $25.00, $35.00 to $100. Now $7.50, $12.50, $17.50 to $50.

$1.48 for $2.50 to $3.50 drawn-work scarfs and squares. 30 and 36-inch squares. 18x45 and 18x54-inch scarfs.

49c for 75c to $1 fancy linens—Odds and ends of fancy linens to close. Including centerpieces trimmed with lace. 24-inch and 27-inch. Also a lot of 36-inch Damask Squares.

69c for $1.25 to $1.50 fancy linens—scarfs, centers and squares in various sizes.

98c for $1.50 to $2.25 linens—Lace trimmed scarfs, size 18x50 inches. Pretty drawn-work pieces, 24-inch squares. Real hand-embroidered centers. Values $1.50 to $2.25 each.

$5 German Damask Lunch Sets Only $1.98

All linen damask lunch sets in various colored designs. The cloths are 63x63 inches, neatly hemstitched. Half dozen 14-inch napkins complete the set.

Finest Table Linens at Exactly Half Price

French table linens—acknowledged the finest in the world. Odds—only one pattern of a kind. Two or more patterns, however, at the same price: $20 cloth, 2x2 1-2 yards at $10.00. $25 cloth, 2 1-2x2 1-2 yards at $12.50. $30 cloth, 2 1-2x3 yards at $15.00. $25 dozen napkins, 27 in. size, $12.50.

Fine Lunch Sets

Beautiful qualities of high grade linens. Cloths are hemstitched or scalloped. Dozen napkins to complete each set. Just about a dozen sets in all. Quickly to clear them we make these pre-inventory prices: $12.50 Linen sets, $6.90. $15.00 Linen sets, $8.50.

Napkins in the Sale

$2.98 22 1/2 inch size, values $4 and $4.50 a dozen.
$3.98 24 and 26 inch size, values $5 to $6.50.
$5.98 27 inch size, values $7.50 to $9 a dozen.
$7.98 27 inch size, values $10 to $15 a dozen.

PLEASE NOTE—Since these low prices are made purposely to avoid invoicing these goods, none will be sent C. O. D. or on approval, nor will any be accepted for credit or exchange. (Linens, Main Floor, Left Aisle.)

The Pre-Inventory Pencil Pushes Down Prices on Rich's Staple Black Silks

Standard $1 & $1.25 Black Silks at 59c

Rich's black silks in a sale. And at an average half price. It is almost as if a grocer sold sugar at half. For Rich's black silks are as staple and as standard.

You can choose from a soft lustrous black LOUISINE; the fashionable black FAILE FRANCAIS; the gracious ever-wearing GROSGRAIN; a magnificent MOURNING SILK; the beautiful satin BENGALINE. Widths range from 20 to 27 inches. Regularly $1.00 and $1.25 a yard; tomorrow at 59c.

Prices on $1.00 to $2.00 Silks Slashed to 49c

State's Lawyers to Appeal
the Case

The state's suit in the matter of rates against the Western and Atlantic railroad lessees will be carried to the supreme court of the United States on federal constitutional grounds. Governor John M. Slaton on Wednesday sent to Attorney General T. S. Felder and Judge J. K. Hines, special attorney of the Georgia railroad commission, his written approval of their request for permission to appeal the case to the highest court in the land.

A similar request made by these officials to Governor Brown several months ago was denied by him. His position was that the decision of the state supreme court was sufficient, even though the point of the decision was a section of the federal constitution.

The state's case against the W. & A. lessees has been turned down by the superior court of Fulton county, and the decision of that court has been upheld against the state by the Georgia supreme court.

In his letter to Mr. Felder and Judge Hines, the governor stipulates that the appeal will bring no extra compensation to either official. They had not asked for that.

WHAT SUIT INVOLVES.
The suit involves the right of the state to control freight rates on the Western and Atlantic under the following clause in the lease contract by the legislature of 1889:

"But the said leasing company shall be subject to, and required to observe and obey, all just and reasonable rules, orders, schedules of freight and passenger tariffs, as may be prescribed by the laws of this state and the railroad commission of this state; and said leasing company shall charge no greater rate per ton per mile on through freight on said railroad than the legal rate allowed and fixed on the same freight by the railroad commission for said railroad."

The state alleged that the railroad, which enters Tennessee for a few miles, was charging a higher rate on through freight than on local Georgia freight, and that therefore the lease contract had been violated.

On November 11, 1911, the state filed a petition for injunction against the lessees, to restrain them from charging higher rates on through freight than those fixed by the Georgia standard tariff and classification. The state also asked for a mandatory injunction to compel the lessees to comply with the lease contract as it was construed by the state. The petitions were denied by the superior court, and the supreme court affirmed the decision.

The request of Mr. Felder and Judge Hines for authority to go to the highest court in the country was filed with Governor Slaton on July 17.

RECEIVER ASKED FOR COTTON PRODUCTS CO.
George C. Speir Says He Can't Get Along With A. A. Smith

George C. Speir has petitioned the superior court to appoint a receiver to liquidate the partnership known as the A. A. Smith Cotton Products company.

Although the company is clearing about $20,000 per year, according to Mr. Speir, he asks that the concern be put in the hands of a receiver and liquidated because he cannot get along with his partner, A. A. Smith.

Mr. Speir says the partnership was formed about eleven years ago, and that he has always been the practical man of the firm. Through his efforts, he says, the business, which deals in cotton products, has grown until its net yearly income is $20,000.

However, he says that recently employees of Mr. Smith, who has an office for the conduct of another business in the same building, have been interfering in the management of the cotton products company. Mr. Speir says he thought the trouble was settled a year ago by a written agreement that George Speir, an employee of Mr. Smith, was not to interfere in the company's management.

Now, however, he says he is convinced that he can never agree with his partner and asks that the concern be liquidated.

JACK WILSON TO WALK TO BARTERSVILLE, OKLA.

If you see a fiery, sunburned young man, thin and rather tall wearing a broad brim hat that's Jack Wilson. He will leave "five points" Thursday morning at 9:30. Jack is out to "beat on" to Bartersville, Okla., a mere matter of about 860 miles. He has just finished a walk from Jacksonville, Fla., to Atlanta, coming along the National Highway.

Jack walks for the love of it, he says. He likes to see the dusty country stretching out before him. He likes to forage for his food and sleep out in the open. He averages 25 miles a day, he says.

His route is from here to Montgomery then to New Orleans from there to Galveston and then on to Oklahoma. Wilson has a brother, L. C. Wilson, in Atlanta.

Fourteen Miners Killed
(By Associated Press.)
GEILENKIRCHEN, Germany, July 23.—Fourteen coal miners were found dead this morning in a pit, where they were entombed by a fall of coal. A large area above the mine had caved in as a result of a recent cloudburst.

Relief for Burning Feet

Does walking burn your feet and make them ache with jumping, shooting pains? The feet are perspiring, pores clogged with poisonous excretions. Jacobs' Foot Relief Tablets dissolved in a warm foot bath draws out this poisonous matter, cleanses pores and prevents abnormal sweating. Instantly it soothes the feet and stops the aching and burning sensations, and when used a few nights your foot troubles are ended. A scientific preparation from our own laboratory and the most wonderful ever made for the feet. If one must walk much in the warm weather, Jacobs' Foot Relief is a blessing. Indeed, it is by mail 25c. Jacob's Foot Comfort, powder form to be sprinkled in shoes and stockings, to prevent excessive perspiration and burning sensations. 15c, by mail 17c. (Adv.)

THEATRES

(Criticism of initial performances at the local theatres are written by members of the Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater managers.)

FORSYTH—Vaudeville.
GRAND—Motion Pictures.
BIJOU—Tabloid Musical Comedy.
The standing room only sign has been doing duty at the Forsyth at every performance this week—and there is the heaviest advance sale that has ever been recorded in the busy theatre.

John F. Conroy the famous life saver, assisted by two charming diving models present a wonderful stage picture and a magnificent diving act.

There has never been a more elaborate stage mounting used here nor has there been a better diving act.

Hits are being recorded by Deiro, the accordionist, Lester the ventriloquist and Smith and Cook the eccentric comedians assisted by dancing Marie Brandon.

One of the features next week will be Joe Welsh, the famous character comedian whose hebrew stories have always been so pleasing.

"Les Miserables" is a wonderful photo-play; it is one of the most interesting that has ever scored at the Grand.

There are daily matinees at 2:30 and the night performance at 8:30. Reserved seats are sold for all performances, 25 cents at matinee and 25 and 50 cents at night.

A splendid entertainment at bargain prices is to be seen this week at the Bijou, where the latest musical comedy tabloid, "Good Morning Judge," is being offered and drawing the biggest crowds of the season. It is safe to say that no attraction in the tabloid series has given such general satisfaction as one that is scoring such a hit this week and unless all signs fail the house records will be broken before the end of the engagement Saturday night.

The principals are all good, the chorus is well drilled and delightfully costumed and every musical number presented is new and of the popular brand that demands a whistling when one leaves the theatre.

Matinees are given daily at 3 o'clock, and night shows at 7:30 and 9.

JUDGE ELLIS WILL AID CHIEF'S VICE CRUSADE

Announces He Will Grant No More Restraining Orders Without Hearing Police

The aid of the superior court in his vice crusade was virtually promised Chief of Police James L. Beavers by Judge W. D. Ellis in a statement from the bench Wednesday, when the injunction of Julia Bell, restraining the police from raiding her house, was withdrawn by her attorney.

Since the crusade was inaugurated some months ago, many temporary orders restraining the police from raiding certain houses or forcing their occupants to move have been granted by the superior court.

As a result the hands of the police have been tied by the temporary orders while waiting for the court in the injunction, which have often times been delayed for several weeks.

Lula Bell, a woman of 164 1-2 Peters street, who operates a boarding house there, was recently in the limelight because of a sensational story told by a girl inmate. She was ordered to move by Chief Beavers and through Attorney Carl N. Guess went to the court and asked a temporary order.

The hearing of the case was set for Wednesday and when all parties appeared in the court Attorney Guess asked that the injunction be withdrawn and announced that the woman had agreed to move by August 1.

It was then that Judge Ellis told the chief of police from the bench that in the future he did not expect to grant any temporary restraining orders in boarding house cases until the police had a chance to be heard.

Temporary orders are generally

Asks Legislature To Pay Teachers Rather Than Selves

A resolution directing the state treasurer to pay nothing to the legislators of 1914 and to divert the money which would be paid them to the long unpaid teachers of the state, was introduced in the house of representatives Wednesday morning by Representative McMichael, of Marlboro county.

The resolution was referred to the committee on education for report later.

Under the resolution the treasurer would issue to each member of the general assembly of 1914 a certificate of indebtedness, payable six months after date without interest, for the full amount of the per diem due him by the state.

WOUND IN ROOF OF MOUTH BRINGS DEATH

(By Associated Press.)
NEWARK, N. J., July 23.—An autopsy today disclosed the wound that caused the death of Mrs. Emma Corduan, found dead last night under the bed in her home. The coroner's physician said that a sharp round instrument had been driven through the roof of the woman's mouth into her brain. The police thought the wound could have been inflicted with a rat-tail file, and are hunting for William McCorduan, the woman's husband, who is a file-maker.

granted on ex parte petitions in which anything can be alleged, and often times when the case is heard no effort is made to prove many of the allegations made in the petitions.

The judge's announcement that he is going to give Chief Beavers a chance to state his side of the matter before an order restraining him from raiding a house is issued, is expected by the chief to aid materially in his vice crusade.

"AWAY ABOVE EVERYTHING"

Champion Pitchers
BOSTON not only won the 1912 championship in the American League largely through the great pitching of "Smoky" Joe Wood, but also the World's Series games. This 23 year old Missouri boy equalled Walter Johnson's 1912 record of 16 straight victories and ended the season with a pitching average of .827.

Failing dismally immediately after his acquisition from Indianapolis and hailed as a "$11,000 lemon," Marquard, of the Giants established the season's record of 19 straight victories in 1912, ending the season with a pitching average of .703. In the World's Series contests, Marquard took both his games from the Boston Red Sox.

Minority Report Filed To Bible Reading Bill
Other than passing the Hixon-Searcy bill Wednesday morning the senate session had a session devoid of much legislation.

Several minority reports were filed with reports of committees. Among these was a minority report on the bill requiring the Bible to be read in the public schools, reported unfavorably Wednesday morning. The minority report was signed by Senators Bush, McGregor, Richardson and Searcy.

The bill reported unfavorably on making a husband and wife competent but not compellable to testify against each other in the courts was accompanied by a minority report signed by Senators Sweat, Elkins and Spinks.

The rotation of judges bill, also reported unfavorably Wednesday morning, had a minority report signed by Senators Tarver, Burtz, Kea, Irwin and Turner.

Senate Bills

The following bills were introduced Mr. DuBose, of Shiloh, to amend section 895 of code, so that children living under certain circumstances may be given over to the care of some one other than their parents.

GEORGIA AND HER POLITICS

Senator Bacon Unable to Accept Invitation of General Assembly.
A special dispatch to The Journal from its Washington correspondent says that Senator A. O. Bacon will not be able to accept the invitation of the general assembly to address that body. The senator has written President Anderson, of the senate, and Speaker Burwell, of the house, that he appreciates the invitation, but that it is impossible for him to leave Washington at this time.

Senator Bacon is chairman of the foreign relations committee of the senate, which is just now engaged with a number of treaties with foreign governments.

Senator G. M. Hule Wants Change Made in Atlanta Charter Bill.
Unless Atlanta's city council notifies him that it approves that section of the charter revision bill which reduces the power of the city recorder and limits the amount of a fine to be imposed by him to $200, instead of $500, at present, Senator G. M. Hule, of the Thirtieth district, which embraces Fulton county, will doubtless oppose the bill or at least that section of it, in the senate.

This bill passed the house last week and is now before the senate. Commenting upon it, Senator Hule said:

"Of course, my position in the matter is not a personal one, although I do not think the recorder's powers should be reduced, but is in the interest of my constituents in Atlanta. The three representatives from Fulton represent the county, and I feel that I have the right to present the status of affairs to the city council and await their action on the matter. Until I hear officially from the council my position will be hostile to the section reducing the recorder's power."

Senator DuBose Congratulated by Friends of Agricultural College.
Friends of the State College of Agriculture, at Athens, are congratulating Senator R. T. DuBose, of the Thirtieth district, for the good work he did in persuading the house appropriations committee to restore the college appropriation of $15,000 which the committee had decided to take away.

Senator DuBose, assisted by other friends of the college, so impressed the members of the committee with the good work being done by that institution that the $15,000 was restored without protest. It will be used by the college in advancing the corn club work in Georgia.

Representative Adams of Hall Discusses Tax Reform Bills.
In the opinion of Representative J. O. Adams, of Hall county, a complete revision of Georgia's tax system is necessary. He thinks that if the Lipscomb bill, providing for state and county boards of tax equalizers is passed a constant dispute will result between the various counties as to the result of actions by the state board.

Discussing the subject Representative Adams says:

"It seems to me that the present plan of putting everything on the ad valorem basis and levying a uniform tax on Joe Hill Hall may enter Macon's majority race."

News from Macon is to the effect that Joe Hill Hall, for many years a commanding figure in the Georgia legislature, has turned his attention to municipal politics and is considering seriously making the race for mayor of that city.

Mr. Hall is known throughout the state for his aggressiveness. He is a picturesque personality, with many little eccentricities, but withal he is a man of ability and courage. He was never defeated when he offered for the legislature, and while a member of that body he was referred to as "The Lion of Bibb."

Discussing his possible candidacy, Mr. Hall said: "I did not know that the matter had become public property, but it is a fact that a number of my friends have suggested that I run for mayor. At first I did not consider the idea at all, but I have agreed to give the proposition definite consideration. Further than this there is nothing I care to say at this time."

Minnesota Wins to Georgia For Remedy for Chigres Bites.
The health hints given out by the state board of health have attracted attention throughout the country and as a result the members of the board are considered to be authorities on every kind of subject.

This fact is evidenced by a telegram received a day or two since by Dr. S. C. Benedict, of Athens, president of the board, from a man residing in a camping station in northern Minnesota. This telegram read:

"Please wire me collect your remedy for chigres bites."

It was signed by an unknown to the Athens physician. Dr. Benedict, although a prominent physician and surgeon, has never made a special study of "chigres" and their habits.

Realizing that the little insects must be a real serious problem in Minnesota and that his inquiry was in dead earnest when he asked for a remedy Dr. Benedict wired him the following prescription, omitting to use the usual high-flown Latin words common to prescriptions:

"Get a ten per cent solution of calomel with a little aristol. Apply with a camel's hair brush which should be kept in ether. If more than 1,000 bites use more calomel solution."

It is to be hoped that there is an apothecary's shop somewhere in the vicinity of that Minnesota camping station, otherwise the aforementioned "Anxious Inquirer" may not be able to profit by the prescription.

MELVIN NESBITT.
Melvin, the fifteen-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Nesbitt, died at the residence at Capitol View Tuesday. The funeral was conducted at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning and the interment was at West View.

MR. J. S. BOARDFIELD.
Mr. J. S. Boardfield, aged sixty-eight years, died at the family residence, 127 Griffin street, Tuesday evening. The funeral will be held at the residence Friday night, and the body will be sent Saturday morning to Calf Station for interment. Mr. Boardfield is survived by his wife and seven children.

"VAL DONA" TEETHING LOTION
When the baby's first teeth are about to pierce the gums, you can do no greater service to the child than to relieve the pain and intense discomfort by applying the splendidly soothing "VAL DONA" BABY TEETHING LOTION.

"VAL DONA" TEETHING LOTION
You probably have had swollen, painful gums yourself, and know what it is. Give baby the soothing comfort this lotion will afford. It means less restlessness at night, less crying, more refreshing sleep and less worry and wakefulness for you.

When the teeth are about to appear the baby puts its fingers in its mouth. It "drools," the gum grows broader and swells at the top. Nature must take its course, but you can make the teething period a joy for baby and you, instead of a dread.

"VAL DONA" BABY TEETHING LOTION is sold only at all "VAL DONA" Drug Stores, at only 25 cents a bottle—a world of relief for a few cents. Satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded. There's a "VAL DONA" article for anything you need—all guaranteed.

that basis, while apparently just and fair is not adapted to present conditions and our whole method of taxation should be readjusted by a constitutional amendment.

"All private property should be relieved entirely from state taxation. The several counties should raise their revenues from this species of property, each county being dependent for its revenue upon this kind of property would be interested in seeing that the property was properly returned and the taxes paid. If a particular county was satisfied with low returns no other county would be concerned."

"The state revenue, in addition to the various licenses and occupation taxes, should be derived from the taxes on public utility corporations, such as are under the control of the railroad commission, and the taxes on these or on property devoted to use in business of this kind should be estimated according to the gross returns, and the amount of tax would then be arrived at, automatically, according to their reports to the railroad commission, and would not depend upon any personal assessment of the value of the properties, or upon the uncertain results of the present arbitration methods."

Appropriations Committee Wants $20,000 for Fight on Boll Weevil.
Aside from the items included in the general appropriations bill that came up for passage in the house Wednesday morning, the appropriations committee has recommended in a separate measure that $20,000 be given the state department of entomology, to be used in the fight to keep the boll weevil from Georgia and stamp out the scourge of black root.

State Entomologist E. Lee Worsham appeared before the committee in an appeal for help and exhibited scores of the pests. The weevil, he declared, was due to reach some of the south Georgia counties in August.

Another disappointment to the Wilson enemies.
His candidate won in New Jersey.

There seem to be two classes of powers, one composed of the Balkans and the other of the rest of Europe.

Portia's Simple Rights.

With a show of good sense and fair play which, it is to be hoped, the Legislature as a whole will emulate, the General Judiciary committee of the House has voted nine to three in favor of a bill permitting women to practice law in Georgia.

This measure, introduced by Mr. Cooper of Ware, is so obviously proper that it should bestir no opposition in any body of men who are blest with a spark of humor. If by chance the bill should not become a law, it will not be because the gentlemen of our Legislature are marble-hearted or impervious to appeals of justice but it will be simply because they are not canny enough to save themselves from a ridiculous blunder; and their majority, we feel sure, are not that deficient in mother wit.

Women are now freely admitted to all vocations in Georgia except the practice of law. They teach school, they keep books, they manage stores and own stores, they practice medicine, they farm and sell real estate, they prove their ability as architects, as chemists, as court clerks and, indeed, in practically every other calling. And yet, they are actually forbidden by statute to enter the solitary profession of the law! Verily, it passeth understanding how any one can defend so absurd a proposition and at the same time keep a serious face.

Unless the State insists upon a right to be egregiously pigheaded, it cannot deny women the right to practice law, when they are competent to do so.

Even ballot stuffing would be mild by the side of some things in Mexico.

Old Bill Bryan is another man who is disappointing his enemies these days.

Poor Roads and Rotten Potatoes.

The blighting effect of poorly built or poorly kept highways on agricultural profits is described in a particularly striking manner in a recent statement from the Federal office of public roads. Where bad roads prevail, we are told, the farmer must move his crops, not when prices are favorable and the demand for his products is ripe, but when weather conditions will permit; and in many localities of this kind he finds it impossible to move them at all.
As a result vast quantities of food or industrial supplies are either sacrificed at ridiculously low prices or remain on the farm unused.

"Excessive fluctuations in market prices are seldom due to overproduction," the statement asserts. "They frequently take place in regions where the local production does not equal the consumption. There are counties rich in agricultural possibilities, burdened with bad roads, where the annual incoming shipments of food exceed the outgoing shipments in the ratio of four to one. Many such counties, with improved roads, not only become self-supporting, but would ship products to other markets."

The fact is many counties that are now importers could be made exporters by means of well-constructed and well-maintained system of roads. It is related that a farmer in Sullivan county, Tenn., a few miles from Bristol had a hundred bushels of Irish potatoes which he wished to market during the winter months. But because of bad roads he was unable to haul the potatoes to town and, so, they rotted in his cellar. Yet, at that very time potatoes were selling in Bristol for a dollar and forty cents a bushel; and a Bristol merchant is quoted as saying that in the course of the winter "as many as ten carloads of farm produce, including wheat, potatoes and other supplies, were shipped in daily to feed not Bristol but the adjacent territory."

What is more costly than poor roads? What is more profitable than good roads?

The dog days will be with us always. Neither probe nor legislation can extinguish them.

The real leisure is staying in Atlanta on your vacation and realizing how everybody else works.

The G. O. P. has had to yield so many things it even may be forced to see the federal pension list pruned.

Reductions in Parcel Post Rates.

The public at large and merchants especially will welcome the announcement that there is to be an appreciable reduction, effective August the fifteenth, in parcel post rates. The present scale of charges within so-called "local" zones is five cents for the first pound and one cent for each additional pound; and the maximum weight allowed is eleven pounds.
The new rate for "local" zones will be five cents for the first pound and one cent for each additional two pounds; at the same time the maximum weight will be increased to twenty pounds. For the second zone, which comprises territory within a hundred-and-fifty mile radius, the present charges are six cents for the first pound and four cents for every additional pound.

This rate will be lowered under the new order to five cents for the first pound and one cent for each additional pound; and in this zone also a maximum weight of twenty pounds to the parcel will be accepted.

These reductions in charges and increases in allowable weight will greatly extend the usefulness of the parcel post service. Though limited, for the present, to the first two zones, it is believed that eventually they will be applied to the country as a whole and will also be followed by other concessions and advantages. The present postal administration is working earnestly and effectively to make the parcel post continually cheaper and more available for the people's daily needs. The recent addition of the cash-on-delivery system and the order permitting the use of ordinary instead of special stamps on parcels for mail are distinct conveniences that will at once benefit the public and upbuild the patronage of the parcel post.

The growth of the new service has been more rapid and extensive than its heartiest advocates could have hoped for. The volume and variety of parcels have steadily increased from month to month, thereby adding considerably to the postoffice revenue. Mercantile houses have been enabled to cover a wider field of business; trade has been quickened and broadened, to the benefit of the customer as well as the dealer. Rural districts are awakening to the rich opportunity afforded them by the parcel post.
Farmers and truck growers are establishing direct and economical connections with city patrons, a circumstance which in time will inevitably reduce the cost of living. Such improvements as the Postmaster General and his assistants have already made and purpose to effect in the immediate future will render the service still more popular and beneficial.

Short Shrift for Council's Charter.

Senator Hule, of the thirty-fifth senatorial district, which includes Fulton county, is well warranted in his opposition to the proposed new charter for Atlanta on the ground that it would unwisely curtail the powers of the City Recorder. It is owing very largely to the wholesome firmness and efficiency of its Recorder's court that Atlanta is known far and wide as a community where the law is unusually well enforced. The Recorder has earned the public's confidence through years of duty faithfully and discreetly performed. He has used his authority in behalf of good government and the common interests.
Senator Hule truly interprets the prevailing sentiment of the great majority of Atlantians when he objects to a charter that would diminish the usefulness of our Recorder's court.

The fact is the charter now before the Legislature had little to commend it in its original form; and since it has been garbled of the few, scattered virtues it did possess, it is not worth the consideration of a body of men who are pressed for time in meeting the State's vital needs. The original charter, as prepared by the City Council, did not propose to reduce the powers of the Recorder; that seems to have been the peculiar personal idea of one of the Fulton county Representatives. The original charter provided for the initiative, referendum and recall.
These features also have been cut away by the same Representative over the protest of Council members.
The result is that now the document has not even an excuse for existence. It will probably be defeated in the Legislature; if not there, then certainly by the voters of Atlanta.

And thus will end another lesson in the utter folly of attempting to get anything like an efficient plan of government for this city except by breaking squarely away from the old sources and forces of inefficiency.

It is an easy death this charter will die and one that will bring few tears, we suspect, to those who begat it.

THE NEW RURAL SCHOOL

II.—HOW IT WAS BEGUN.
BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

The experimental rural school at Rock Hill was planned not only to discover a method of curing the ills of the ordinary rural school, but also to find a method that would be within the reach of any country school district. Therefore, much thought was given to its equipment, as being the necessary first step that, once taken, might perhaps determine the whole future of the school. To get as far away as possible from the traditional school room idea it was determined to have no desks; to have three rooms, each to be used for a different purpose; and to make the physical surroundings of the children as home-like as might be—banishing every suggestion of the jail-like school house with its rows of desks and its prison discipline. As the intention was for this school to multiply in the country districts, a farm house was desired for the first home of the new school. One was found, as mentioned in yesterday's article, on the edge of the campus of Winthrop college at Rock Hill, S. C. It was a typical Carolina farm dwelling with a large veranda, clustered over with vines and roses. Flowers grew in profusion all about it, there were plenty of trees for shade and a few for fruit. With a little work the house was given an attractive homelike appearance, both inside and out. There was a well for a water supply, and ground enough for the necessary garden.

Three rooms were fitted up. The first and largest one was furnished with a long table covered with burlap and was christened "Teacher's Room." Curtains of scrim softened the lines of the windows without cutting off the light, potted plants were placed before the windows, and the room given a cheerful air. Broad shelves were built for writing and drawing materials, scissors, modelling clay, and sewing implements. A few chairs were grouped about the big table. Only the blackboard gave a hint that this was a school room.

On the table were displayed the books, the school books, such dull and dreary enemies of childhood as Mother Goose, Pinocchio, Robinson Crusoe, Lang's Fairy Tales and the like.

The next room was turned into a carpenter's shop.
There were two benches, very simply made, and such ordinary carpenter's tools as saws, hammers, chisels, a square, a brace-and-bit—nothing not easily to be had in any farming community. Care was exercised not to furnish too many things, or tools that would be unavailable to the children at home. A blackboard again was the only typical school room device.

The third room was dedicated to cookery. There was a big coal range, two kitchen tables, the cooking utensils and dishes. Again care was taken not to have things that were not a part of the most ordinary kitchen equipment—special devices of the domestic science schools being barred in favor of the ordinary implements of the common farm kitchen. And here also the inevitable blackboard. Seats were placed on the veranda, and here, near the pump, were hung the drinking cups, one for each pupil, on numbe- pegs.

Such was the house. The garden and the playground were there, and with the exception of a tool house in the garden for the wheel-hoes, rakes, hand hoes and trowels, they were much as nature furnished them.

On March 21, 1911, at 9 o'clock in the morning, the Rock Hill school ceased to be a project and became a fact. The experiment was launched. Mrs. Browne found eight children, two boys and six girls, ranging from six to nine years old, for her first human material. The first thing she did was to show them through the house and exhibit the wonders and resources of its three rooms. Then everybody went to the garden.

There the children were delighted to find that each of them was to have a garden for his very own, and they wanted to begin work instantly. A three-foot walk had been laid off down the middle of the garden.
By measuring, the children helping, it was found to be forty feet on either side from this walk to the fence. So each garden was to be forty feet long, and now it must be decided how wide each was to be. Each child wished for a very large garden, but the teacher limited their zeal to a width of seven feet so as to leave room for new pupils.

Walks were laid out, one foot wide, separating the children's gardens. Difficulty was found in getting the sides straight and one of the boys suggested the use of a garden line. A piece of twine was found and the children, after much measuring, finally laid off their own gardens and began to dig with pride of ownership. That was the first day at school and not a child would go home when school was out!

But some of the children had forgotten what gardens were their own, so they insisted that the gardens be marked. But how? Each child was asked to go to the blackboard and draw a plan of a marker.
They all agreed on a stake with a cross-piece that should bear the name of the owner. After much discussion, each child giving his defense of his own plan, it was decided that the upright pieces should be eighteen inches long by two inches wide, and that the cross-piece should be three inches wide and twelve inches long. So the whole school went to the carpenter shop, demolished an old dry goods box for lumber and went to work measuring and sawing and nailing.
Not one of them so much as suspected that he had had a lesson in drawing, a lesson in arithmetic and a lesson in manual training. Of course, they talked all the time, to each other and to the teacher, but the talk was all of what they were doing. One boy perhaps vaguely feeling the influence of past generations of school children, asked if he might whistle as he worked at the carpenter's bench. "Certainly," said the teacher. And no one thought it at all surprising that Melver should whistle in school!

Each part of the work of making the stakes was assigned to a particular child. The assignments were written on the blackboard by the teacher. No word was spoken. The older children read their own orders, or whatever they may be called, and read the others to the younger children. Ambition to be able to read their own orders made it necessary for the tiny tads to learn to read. They simply couldn't get along without it. So a little sentence appeared on the blackboard: "I have a garden." And it was read aloud, and then everybody made the word "seed" with the cut out letters on the table. But there was no class in reading and no recitation in arithmetic, or no semblance of the conventional school. (It may be mentioned here that this first session of the school was begun and held before the publication in America of the first exposition of the work of Mme. Montessori).

On the third day it was too wet to garden, so grains of corn were put in wet blotting paper to germinate and some beans that were put in damp earth on the first day are examined. They have sprouted!
The teacher speaks of the baby bean, the seed coat, the two leaves, the stem and root, and she writes the word "seed" on the blackboard. Then "see the potato," and then they model a potato in clay, and they draw pictures of the bean on paper and color them—a very fine game.

At 10:30 the teacher announces recess, for even this teacher was not able entirely to rid herself of the conventional ideas of the old school. But before the fifteen minutes was up the children had slipped back to their work. It wasn't long until the "recess" had to be abandoned because the children said they couldn't afford to take the time from what they were doing.

"More poets yet." Comes "George's Poems," by Austin George, of Rock Island, Ill. Opening poem, intituled "My Poems":

My poems are read in many a state,
They are read by men both early and late,
The girl is reading them down by the gate,
My poems have a catch.

The boy stops to read while returning from his plow,
And the old woman reads while the calf milks the cow,
And the old man will read, but hasn't time now,
My poems have a catch.

I sell my book at early dawn,
I sell my book at day's decline,
I sell my book in my mid-night dreams,
They say my book is fine.

lanta to New York on his release from the penitentiary, which is to come late this month. He says he is in good condition to make the trip. Mr. Charles W.
Morse, when he was released, was too ill to walk all that distance.

REMBRANDT

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.
(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

A curious light is thrown upon the money value of human genius or labor by the recent sale of Rembrandt's "Bathsheba" for $200,000 or thereabouts.

We speak of what a man's work is worth, say that So-and-so is not getting as much money as he ought, and wonder whether any man can really earn a million dollars.

The fact is that money is, ordinarily, and in the general run of affairs, an accepted standard of values. But it is neither accientific, just nor perfect. Often it is legally paid over for nothing at all, as when one dies and leaves a shiftless son a fortune; and often work of the very highest value is to the world as paid for by no money or a ridiculous pittance.

How fantastic is the money standard, for instance, in the case of Rembrandt Harmenszoon van Rijn, the world-master in the use of light and shadow in painting!

His greatest work is supposed to be the picture called "The Night Watch," which all visitors to the Rijks Museum at Amsterdam can never forget, as the white hand of the central figure seems to reach out from the canvas to greet the beholder.

The "Night Watch" is priceless. Enough money probably could not be got together to purchase it.
What it is "worth" may be conjectured by the mathematically inclined from the price of the "Bathsheba," which is $5 by 7 1/2 centimetres. "The Night Watch" is 3.59 by 4.35 metres. Figure it out yourself and let us know how much per thumbnail square Rembrandt is worth.

The two paintings are of about the same period, 1642-1643.

It would look as if a man who could produce stuff as valuable as this must have lived in imperial splendor and have had goldfish for breakfast. There was no leveling democracy those days, but all the glory of noble-born magnificent ones.

The facts are that thirteen years after painting these two masterpieces his goods were sold at auction by the law because he could not pay his debts. He died poor, because he could no more find any one to sit for a portrait.

The "connoisseurs" of that time thought his work too sombre. The people with money in their jeans dropped him, as he was no longer the fad.

"Rembrandt," says Emile Michel, "belongs to the breed of artists which can have no posterity. His place is with the Michelangelos, the Shakespeares, the Beethovens."

Yet, after that auction, writes Walter Armstrong, he was "stripped of all the property he had accumulated in the historic house in the Breestraat, and for the rest of his life was a sort of nomad, shifting his lodgings with uncomfortable frequency, carrying with him nothing but the materials of art."

All that men could say of him when he died is found in the register of the Werter-Kerk of Amsterdam: "Tuesday, Oct. 8, 1669; Rembrandt van Rijn, painter, on the Rozezgraff opposite the Doordhof, Leaves two children."

An Interesting Suggestion On the Western and Atlantic Road

Editor The Journal:

Suppose the state of Georgia leases or sells a part of her railway terminal lands at Chattanooga to a company that will pay 4 per cent on a five million dollar investment, the state taking fifty-year bonds. Then, make the same trade for the Atlanta terminals. These companies would build up and improve the properties.
Take this ten million dollars of bonds and either build a road to the sea with them or buy the A. B. & A. road which might be bought for fifteen million dollars, including its coal or iron properties. This road would give Georgia connection at Birmingham, Ala., with all the western roads, would give her connection at Chattanooga with all the northwestern roads, Atlanta with the eastern roads and Brunswick with the sea.

Suppose we lease both of these roads to the L. & N.
for twenty-five years at one hundred and fifty thousand dollars per month, which would be cheap. In the twenty-five years such a lease would bring to the state forty-five million dollars rent. Use fifty thousand dollars per month for schools and the other one hundred thousand dollars per month to buy up or retire the bonds. In less than twenty-five years the state would own both roads and would owe nothing on them. Furthermore, they would have redeemed and paid for the ten million dollars of bonds that were on the terminal property. While this terminal property brings in nothing now by this plan it would net the state annually four hundred thousand dollars on the ten million dollars of bonds.

U. S. INCREASES FUND FOR THE GEORGIA CORN CLUB

State Must Show Sufficient Interest in Project, However

The United States Department of Agriculture has agreed to increase its appropriations for farm demonstration work and the corn club work in Georgia to approximately $50,000, if the state itself shows sufficient interest in the project.

Phil G. Campbell, of Athens, originator of the Corn Club movement, is in the city today, trying to secure the passage by the house of an appropriation of $15,000 for agricultural experimental and demonstration work and if this appropriation is granted, the state will benefit by the enlarged appropriation from the government.

The appropriations committee has recommended the granting of the amount named.

Mr. Campbell spoke before the delegates to the Georgia Chamber of Commerce meeting Wednesday morning, and at that time read a letter from United States Commissioner Knapp, promising the increased appropriation.

Commissioner Knapp expressed much interest in the Georgia work and was particularly solicitous about the boll weevil question.

HOUSE TAKES COGNIZANCE OF ATTACK ON DR. SOULE

Blackburn's Article in Fancier-Farmer Brings Resolution From Connor

Cognizance of a recent attack upon Dr. A. M. Soule as president of the Georgia Agricultural college at Athens by the Southern Fancier-Farmer, an agricultural publication edited by Benjamin M. Blackburn, of Atlanta, was taken by a resolution introduced in the house of representatives Wednesday morning by Representative Connor of Spalding county. The resolution refers to the charges generally, and would require Dr. Soule and Mr. Blackburn to appear before the appropriations committee of the house for a thorough investigation. It would hold up the appropriations to the state agricultural college until the matter has been settled.

This resolution will lay upon the table for a day and be called before the house for vote on Thursday.

The matter in the Fancier-Farmer to which the resolution refers appeared in the July issue of that publication. Dr. Soule has been at the head of the state agricultural college since its renaissance several years ago, and has been credited by his numerous admirers in all parts of Georgia with the greatest proportion of the credit for what the college has done under his administration. His friends contend that he has labored honestly and efficiently to win the confidence of the farming population of Georgia, in the advanced farming method which the college advocates and teaches. They declare that no man can do a big and constructive work without laying himself open to attacks from critics of various degrees. Dr. Soule has been criticized before, they assert, and they believe that he will be upheld again by the people who have been upheld repeatedly in the past.

CREATION OF TATE COUNTY IS FAVORED BY COMMITTEE

Only Three Other New County Bills Remain to Be Disposed Of

Tate county, with Fairmont as its county seat, was recommended by the committee on the committee on constitutional amendments. The Warner county proposition was killed at the same hearing Tuesday afternoon, and so reported to the senate on reconvenement.

The counties from which Tate is to be made, should the committee's report be sustained, are Gilmer, Pickens, Cherokee, Hartwood and Gordon.

When the new county hearings were called Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock there were fully 400 people on the floor and in the galleries. Scores sat in the windows, while still more stood in the doorways, around the walls, in the aisles and crowded ten deep around the speaker's stand until the capacity of the big chamber was taxed to its utmost, and Chairman Shelby Myrick, of Chatham, experienced more difficulty than usual in keeping order.

BIG WARNER DELEGATION.

When the Warner county hearing, the first to be taken up, was concluded, it developed that a vast majority of those present were there either for or against this proposed amendment that fared so badly at the hands of the committee. The vote was unanimous against it. Scarcely a hundred people were present during the Tate arguments, and Tate, though with seemingly less interest manifested in its cause, won out.

But three more new county propositions remain to be heard, and these will be disposed of at one time on Thursday afternoon. They are for the creation of the counties of Lamar, Hance and Norwood.

THREE APPOINTMENTS SENT TO THE SENATE

Owing to Liquor Shipment Bill They Were Postponed Until Friday

Three appointments—two to city court judgeships and one for solicitor of a city court—were sent to the senate Wednesday by Governor Slater. Owing to the fact that the senate was engaged with the consideration of the Hixon-Searcy anti-liquor shipment bill up to the hour of adjournment the governor's nominations were not reached Wednesday. They will be taken up in executive session Thursday and confirmed.

Following are the appointments:

Thomas Eason, to be judge of the city court of McRae for a term of four years from August 3, 1913.

D. R. Pearce, to be judge of the city court of Pulaski county for a term of four years from March 1, 1914.

W. S. Mann, to be solicitor of the city court of McRae for the unexpired term from January 1, 1914, to November 1, 1914, vice Hamilton Burch, Jr., resigned.

Judges Eason and Pearce succeed themselves.

MORE RAIN THURSDAY. IS OFFICIAL FORECAST

Although it was still pleasantly cool Wednesday, the mercury has begun to climb again. It was 80 degrees about 1 o'clock by the weather man's thermometer, and will be about the same Thursday.

The rains have made the last day or two cooler than is ordinary for this time of the year. There have been showers all over the state, and the forecast for Atlanta is for more rain tonight or Thursday.

Telephone Girls Give Alarm And Applaud While Officers Battle With Negro Burglars

Young Women at Atlanta Exchange Have Exciting Time When Negroes Break in Soda Water Stand After Chocolate Drops

"Hello! Hello! Is that police headquarters? This is Central at the Atlanta telephone exchange on Edgewood avenue. Say, some burglars have just broken into this Greek soda water stand here on the other corner, and if you hurry you can catch them."

This call reached the police at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Two minutes later Assistant Chief Jett, Captain Mayo, Call Officers Adams and Watson, and Plain Clothes Officer Gresham were racing in an automobile to the corner of Edgewood avenue and Ivy street.

One negro, standing outside the soda drink place as a lookout, gave the alarm and escaped when he saw the police coming. Two other negroes rushed out just as the police jumped from their car. Both were chased, the telephone girls looking on from their upstairs window across the street. One negro was shot in the leg and so was captured. The other got away for a time, but was cornered in a basement on Houston street. When the police returned with their prisoners, the telephone girls applauded enthusiastically. It was a real thriller.

The soda water stand is conducted under the name of Mitchell Kolis. So far as the police could ascertain, nothing but chocolate candy, salted peanuts and cigars were gathered by the burglars. These were strewn along the line of flight taken by one of the negroes toward Houston street. Some chocolates were found beside him in the basement, say the police. He showed fight at first, when Officer Gresham discovered him, but became submissive when Captain Mayo appeared on the scene. He denied any connection with the burglary. His name is Dave Smith.

Will Walker, the other negro who was caught, was chased around the building by Captain Mayo, who lost him in the darkness just as Officer Watson saw him coming through the gloom.

Watson called on him to halt, but the negro continued to advance, says the officer, whereupon the latter shot him, the wound being a slight one. The negro was taken to Grady hospital for the rest of the night, and was delivered to the police Wednesday morning.

Some of the telephone central girls were resting, off duty, when they were aroused by the sound of breaking glass across the street. They notified headquarters immediately.

The Inman Park pharmacy at 589 Edgewood avenue, was burglarized earlier in the night, and the burglary was reported at 12:30 o'clock. At 1:30 o'clock came the report that John S. Sawyer's grocery store, 444 Edgewood avenue, had been entered and robbed. The police charge these other robberies against the negroes whom they caught. The losses from the pharmacy and grocery were not stated.

BATTLED COP TO STOP ARREST OF HIS SON

Because he fought a policeman who was about to arrest his son, Jackson I. Terry, a night watchman, was arrested Wednesday. Terry is sixty-five years old and lives at 294 Whitehall street.

Philip Maier complained to the police that young Terry had stolen a $20 bill from his (Maier's) room. Maier was moving from the neighborhood to another address, he said, and ran across some old books, which he told young Terry and a boy companion they could have. Instead of taking the books, he charged, the boys took the $20 bill.

Call Officer Gorman went to the scene of the disturbance and was about to arrest young Terry, when the lad's father interfered.

LEGISLATURE MAY LET MILITIA POLICE RACE

Chatham Delegation Asks Troops to Protect Crowds at Auto Races

A resolution designed to authorize the Savannah troops of the national guard of Georgia to aid in protecting the public and preserving order during the grand prize and Vanderbilt cup automobile races to be held in Savannah on November 24 and 27, will be introduced in the house Thursday by the members of the Chatham county delegation.

The military law, as passed last year, does not permit the governor to order out troops except in cases of an insurrection, and even in instances of that kind he must declare martial law in the community affected before he can order out the soldiers.

It has been found both desirable and necessary to have the soldiers guard the Savannah race course during the big automobile races, and the proposed resolution gives permission to the troops to again perform this service, but voluntarily.

So Representative McCarthy, of Chatham, Tells His Home Folks

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
SAVANNAH, Ga., July 23.—Representative Joseph McCarthy, of Chatham county, who is at home for a few days, says the thing that has impressed him most at this session of the legislature is the failure of the session so far to develop a real leader. He says the house is wasting a lot of time because of this.

Mr. McCarthy is serving his fourth term in the house and is in a position to compare the work of this session with others. He will return to Atlanta tonight.

Why Endure Sore Feet Here is Positive Easy Cure

The following is said to be the surest and quickest cure known to science for all foot ailments: "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of warm water. Soak the feet in this for fully fifteen minutes, gently rubbing the sore parts." The effect is really wonderful. All soreness goes instantly; the feet feel delightful. Corns and calluses can be peeled right off. It gives immediate relief for sore bunions, sweaty smelly and aching feet. A twenty-five cent box of Calocide is said to be sufficient to cure the worst feet. It works through the pores and removes the cause of the trouble. Don't waste time on uncertain remedies. Any druggist has Calocide compound in stock or he can get it in a few hours from his wholesale house.—(Adv.)

Lupus Worst Form of Skin Diseases

Here is a Home Treatment that Overcomes even Worst Cases.

Lupus or any other Skin Disease will go Skulking Away if you use S. S. S.

A tiny pimple spreads to the side of the face and often covers the cheeks and bridge of the nose. It is very destructive to the tissues of the skin. No external treatments will overcome it, as the cause of lupus is from impurities in the blood supply. The only known method of cure is to get the blood supply under the control of S. S. S., the famous blood specific. Its action is quite remarkable and has direct influence upon the network of small blood vessels and glands in the skin.

Not one drop of minerals or drugs is used in its preparation. Ask for S. S. S. and insist upon having it. For illustrated book on skin diseases write The Swift Specific Co., 183 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga. RENEWED BEAR PRESSURE
CAUSED BREAK IN COTTON Market in New York Closed 9 to 12 Points Down From Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, July 23.—The cotton market was a shade better than yesterday morning. The local cotton market had a steady opening with prices 1 to 2 points lower than yesterday. Weather news was still a feature but showed little change from yesterday when Texas and Oklahoma were dry and eastern belt had good showers. A private prediction from New Orleans to the effect that Oklahoma and north Texas would be dry today, however, led to widespread selling of new crop months under which they became quite weak, working off 6 to 8 points under yesterday's close.

Further liberal selling toward middle of the morning for unsettled weather and showers in Texas and Oklahoma weakened. New crops 6 to 9 points under yesterday's close. Local bear pressure was more active than it has been in some time past and demand was light and chiefly from shorts.

Estimated receipts at all the ports today 5,000 bales against 2,168 last week and 1,300 last year.

The improvement in the early afternoon on reports of high temperatures in Texas was followed by a decline in prices as it was learned that figures under selling influenced by rumors of a bearish private southern condition figure and local predictions of cooler weather in Texas.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
(By Associated Press.)
NEW ORLEANS, La., July 23.—Cotton futures opened steady, unchanged to 1 point up, compared with the close of yesterday. Cables were about as expected, but the near market showed weakness after the first call was over. Selling was about evenly divided between July and August, and appeared to come chiefly from liquidation. The weather map noted considerable rain in the belt and the forecast was unsettled and showers in the afternoon.

Toward the middle of the morning the market showed a decided weakness. July showing for the day of 20 points and August a loss of 25 points. Liquidation of long cotton was held to be almost entirely the cause of the decline, which for two days, trading in July amounted to nearly 75 points, or three-quarters of a cent a point. The new crop was steady, but the old and their lowest were only 10 points down. Shorts took profits on the decline and their purchase finally checked it from the bottom, which, however, did not hold any too well. As noon the market was quiet and steady at a net decline of 6 to 8 points.

COTTON GOSSIP
Times-Democrat says: July gradations stirred the lethargic New Orleans talent out of a half-sleep. The market was a shade better than yesterday morning. The local cotton market had a steady opening with prices 1 to 2 points lower than yesterday. Weather news was still a feature but showed little change from yesterday when Texas and Oklahoma were dry and eastern belt had good showers. A private prediction from New Orleans to the effect that Oklahoma and north Texas would be dry today, however, led to widespread selling of new crop months under which they became quite weak, working off 6 to 8 points under yesterday's close.

Further liberal selling toward middle of the morning for unsettled weather and showers in Texas and Oklahoma weakened. New crops 6 to 9 points under yesterday's close. Local bear pressure was more active than it has been in some time past and demand was light and chiefly from shorts.

Estimated receipts at all the ports today 5,000 bales against 2,168 last week and 1,300 last year.

The improvement in the early afternoon on reports of high temperatures in Texas was followed by a decline in prices as it was learned that figures under selling influenced by rumors of a bearish private southern condition figure and local predictions of cooler weather in Texas.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
(By Associated Press.)
NEW ORLEANS, La., July 23.—Cotton futures opened steady, unchanged to 1 point up, compared with the close of yesterday. Cables were about as expected, but the near market showed weakness after the first call was over. Selling was about evenly divided between July and August, and appeared to come chiefly from liquidation. The weather map noted considerable rain in the belt and the forecast was unsettled and showers in the afternoon.

Toward the middle of the morning the market showed a decided weakness. July showing for the day of 20 points and August a loss of 25 points. Liquidation of long cotton was held to be almost entirely the cause of the decline, which for two days, trading in July amounted to nearly 75 points, or three-quarters of a cent a point. The new crop was steady, but the old and their lowest were only 10 points down. Shorts took profits on the decline and their purchase finally checked it from the bottom, which, however, did not hold any too well. As noon the market was quiet and steady at a net decline of 6 to 8 points.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET WAS IRREGULAR AT CLOSE
Canadian Pacific, Petroleum
Stocks and Union Pacific
Off-Copper Firm

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, July 23.—The stock market at today's opening was irregular. Copper stocks, Northern Pacific and the Atchafalaya made gains, while the more important issues, such as Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Reading and Steel, were down from fractions to a full point. In the metal group American Tobacco declined 4 1/2 points.

Initial hesitancy was off when professional dealers put out the word that Union Pacific, Can. Chesapeake and Ohio and Smelting were to be sold. Sentiment was unfavorable to some extent for government issues, and a drop of 1/4 in New Haven 6s. California Petroleum slumped 2 1/2 to 16 1/4, a new low.

More steadiness characterized early afternoon dealings despite further weakness in Canadian issues. The stock market flattened out today, a depressing factor being a further weakness in government issues. The market was a shade better than yesterday morning. The local cotton market had a steady opening with prices 1 to 2 points lower than yesterday. Weather news was still a feature but showed little change from yesterday when Texas and Oklahoma were dry and eastern belt had good showers. Wives Who Heard Love

"Women and Other Enigmas," published by Richard G. Badger, is a book of well-known impossibilities—said by the author to be a spiritual quality which grows through exercise, and not a material possession. It seems rather to regard it as a piece of personal property—something indeed, like pie, which only remains perfect and complete so long as the keeper it in her pantry out of sight of the hungry eyes that it might tempt, and even if it can give her nothing but the misery of a conviction of a conviction of a conviction. It cannot rid herself of the fear that if a single fragment be given away she will have lost something and that if she should share it, it would all be eaten up, with no crumbs left for herself.

Too often, indeed, this morbid distrust seems to make her fear to indulge herself in any act of her husband's affections and thus follows the natural result of their dimention, thus an unused function speedily atrophies and a caged hawk has little desire to sing.

OUT OF TOWN VISITOR

MISS EVA STEPHENS, OF DUBLIN
Who is being pleasantly entertained as the guest of Miss Lillian Daley.

WOMAN'S INTEREST IN KINDERGARTEN BILL

The kindergarten bill will come before the educational committee of the house Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The session will be held in the room just opposite Superintendent M. L. Brittain's office at the capitol, and all the women who are interested in the matter are urged to lend their influence to securing a favorable report.

The kindergarten bill has been fostered by the Free Kindergarten association and by the Mothers' congress, whose members have worked unceasingly in behalf of the bill.

Mrs. James R. Little, president of the Georgia Congress of Mothers, writes the following: "The kindergarten bill introduced in the senate last week was referred to the committee on education and passed favorably by that committee on Thursday of last week. Monday of this week the bill was introduced in the house and will be heard before its educational committee Thursday of this week at 2:30 p. m. Mr. George Baldwin, of Savannah, and Miss Oppenheim, of Savannah, were the out-of-town speakers for the bill and will return for Thursday's hearing."

Every woman interested in this bill, whether a part of an organization or just an individual interested in the welfare of the child, is urged to meet with this committee tomorrow to show that the interest is a general one to make kindergarten work a part of the educational system, because we recognize the value of expert training in the development of child life.

"It is hoped that officers and members of Parent-Teachers' associations will feel the importance and necessity of their presence at this meeting. The speakers will be Mr. George Baldwin, Miss Oppenheim, Mrs. Smith, Dr. Rabbi Marx, Mrs. W. S. Kriegshaber, Miss Allen and others."

Children's Party

An interesting event of the afternoon to a number of the very young set was the party at which little Miss Rosalie Gundy was hostess at the home of her grandfather, Mr. Clark Howell, Sr.

Twenty-four guests were invited to the party which celebrated her fourth anniversary.

On the arrival of the guests they were presented pink tissue paper sunbonnets and aprons, which they donned becoming a charming part of an affair in which all the details were in keeping with the little pink sunbonnet maids.

The prettily appointed table from which the sweets were served had tiny place cards hand-painted with sunbonnet girls and in the center a great platoon of pink sweet peas were the appropriate flowers. Lemonade was served under a little arbor screened with pink roses, and the big Jack Horner pie was made of pink tissue paper.

There were novel souvenirs and other amusing features making the happy afternoon.

NORTH GEORGIA VIEWS AS SEEN BY ATLANTA ARTISTS

The "Painters from White Path," is the title won by the group of young women who spent two weeks in the mountains of north Georgia capturing sunshine and blue hills, purple shadows and green trees on canvases which are being exhibited this week at the Cole Book company.

The young women worked under the direction of Miss Virginia Wooley, spending the days in the out of doors, setting up when the mists still shrouded the mountain tops and working when the late afternoon was putting even more vivid colors on the landscape.

A number of the sketches show delightful views of Ellijay, the county seat and the nearest town to White Path where the painters were treated with the never-failing courtesy, the north Georgian shows the visitor.

With the mountains as a background, the little village with its red roofs and white houses and broad fields narrowing to tree bordered roadways, unrivaled a charming subject for the brushes of the artists, particularly interesting studies being made by Mrs. Lee

Worsham and Miss Louise Mellichamp. The canvases are handled broadly with a feeling for light and shadow which makes them as interesting from an artistic standpoint as from a personal one. The collection will be at the Cole Book company throughout the week, a cordial invitation being extended those interested to call and see the pictures.

Mrs. Adair's

Spend-the-Day Party

Mrs. Forrest Adair, Jr., was hostess at a spend-the-day party Wednesday at her home on Juniper street.

Garden flowers in artistic arrangement formed the centerpiece of the beautifully appointed luncheon table, and were used in profusion about the pretty rooms.

Mrs. Adair's guests included Miss Helen Hobbs, Miss Kathryn Gordon, Miss Gertrude Johnston, of Charleston; Miss Margaret Haverty, Miss Laura Cowles, Miss Marie Pappenheimer and Mrs. Gerald Smith, of Baltimore.

Bathroom Accessories and Summer Comfort

There is no time in the year when the bathroom is as much in use as in midsummer. During the hot days the shower bath and the cold tub are in constant demand.

Have you arranged your bathroom so that you and your family can have the benefit of modern convenience?

Have you an adequate shower bath? Have you soap, sponge, toothbrush and drinking glass holders? Have you glass shelves, toilet preparations and a medicine cabinet? Have you bath mats and a good supply of rough towels?—and so on, ad lib?

There are many bathroom accessories on the market planned for convenience and sanitation. The list is far too long to enumerate here, but, if you are not already entirely familiar with what is to be had in this line, turn to the advertising columns of THE JOURNAL and learn something on the subject. You will be astonished to find how much real comfort you can procure for yourself and your family at very moderate cost.

Again Motor Riders Will Attempt to Stage Big Marathon Race

RUN MARATHON TONIGHT IF RAIN DON'T BUTT IN

Racers Are Primed for Big Event at Motordrome—Race 105 Times Around the Quarter-Mile Saucer

The long expected Marathon race will receive another trial tonight if the dark clouds which are now looming up do not carry into effect their threat and again dampen the enthusiasm of the racers and promoters.

The same schedule which was arranged for last evening will be pulled at the motordrome, including the Marathon race of 105 laps around the track.

This Marathon is too big to be run but once a year, and it is probably well that it has suffered one postponement in order to allow the fans to realize just what is going to be pulled. There will be ten riders to circle the saucer at one time, all riding for the five hundred dollar prize which is held out to the winner.

Besides the Marathon there is a good program on which runs as follows:

THE PROGRAM.

The following is the complete program:

Tex Richards against time. One mile. Present record held by Eddie Hasha and Morty Graves. Time, 33 4-5.

One mile to qualify for 2-mile final. Two to qualify in each heat and three in fastest heat.

First Heat—No. 1, Morty Graves; No. 2, Harry Schwartz; No. 3, Billy Shields; No. 4, George Lockner; No. 5, Tex Richards.

Second Heat—No. 6, Freddie Luther; No. 7, George Renel; No. 8, Jack McNeil; No. 9, Henry Lewis; No. 10, Harry Glenn.

Harry Glenn vs. Harry Schwartz. (Special match race.) Two miles, best two out of three heats.

Final Heat of Motordrome Sweepstakes—Two miles.

Second Heat of Special Match Race—Glenn vs. Schwartz.

Third heat of special match race, if necessary.

Big Marathon Race—(25 miles 385 yards), ten riders to compete. Each rider will have to ride 105 times around the track. Winner to receive cash prize of $500.

Contestants—No. 1, Morty Graves; No. 2, Harry Schwartz; No. 3, Billy Shields; No. 4, George Lockner; No. 5, Tex Richards; No. 6, Freddie Luther; No. 7, George Renel; No. 8, Jack McNeil; No. 9, Henry Lewis; No. 10, Harry Glenn.

COBB VS. JACKSON

Funny thing how history repeats itself. The amateur fighter goes into the ring with his hair parted and a nice flowered bathrobe on. When he turns professional and wins a few good fights he appears with his hair in his nostrils and wearing a pair of pants and a sweater over his trunks. When he becomes a champion back he goes to the parted hair and a bathrobe. What's the answer?

PICKS BEST BALL CLUB.

Wherever there is baseball you will find the bugs picking out the various players in the several positions. And everybody from youngster to the old fan has his pick to make and you can just bet they stand by them to the end.

Right now it is Earl D. Adams, a kidlet of Fitzgerald, Ga., who probably does not see many Southern league games each season, who is picking the "best nine." This youngster writes a most interesting letter to the sporting department in which he tells of his preferences for the different selections he makes. He always gives a good reason why one star is picked over another and really his club looks mighty good.

It is evident that young Adams is a baseball bug for fair. Though seeing only a few professional games each season he gets up the news papers and in this way gets next to the ability of the several players. He studies box scores, reports of games and every other little incident which would tend to give him a keener insight into the game. After studying out the game young Adams has selected the following club as the best that can be picked from the Southern league:

Agler, 1b. Smith 3b. Long lf. Covelleskie, p.
Perry, 2b. Street, c. Welch, cf. Price, p.
Stock, ss. Gribbens, c. Robertson, rf. E. Brown, p.
Messenger, utl. Elberfeld, utl. Conzelman, p. Prough, p.

Judging from the frequency with which amateur ball clubs get their pictures taken it is, indeed, a wonder that they have any time left in which to play ball.

ELBERFELD'S LOSS HURT

It was the sudden and unexpected loss of Manager Kid Elberfeld which first put the Chattanooga club on the blink and started it on the downward march. Kid was hit in the head by a pitched ball tossed by Pitcher Breckenridge, of Nashville. Right now some of the Lookouts are beginning to accuse the Vol finger of purposely hitting Elberfeld and of which is a bit little, uncalculated and undoubtedly untrue.

Just because a pennant contending team meets with such a setback there is no need in laying the blame on some other outfit. Naturally all teams would like to win games, but none will stoop low enough to disable a fellow player. From all reports Breckenridge is a gentleman and above any such charge.

MEMPHIS GOING GREAT.

It would pay Manager Billy Smith to get a dose of the pepper recently injected into the Memphis squad by Bill Bernhard. The past ten days the Turtles have been going in championship form and unless stopped the old race is going to get even hotter than it has been for weeks past. Before the present spurt the Turtle clan looked like a bunch of dubs. But not now.

DENT HURLS GRAND GAME

Only Three Hits Made Off Cracker Star—One Turtle to Second Bag

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 23.—Dent turned the tables on Bill Bernhard's crew on Tuesday afternoon by administering the kalsomine dip in mathematics the same dose as that given the Crackers on the day before.

The Crackers found out "what was doing" with the old Iron Man's delivery right away quick. In the first inning Agler walked from force of habit. Bisland sacrificed and Welchone singled, also from force of habit. After Alperman flied out, Smith singled, scoring Welchone. Long scored on Seabough's error of the throw in.

In the third the Crackers got busy again. With one out, Welchone tripled and strolled in on Long's lift to Schweitzer. After this there was practically nothing doing in the run or the hit line.

Dent had the Memphis team at his mercy, allowing only three scratch hits, and these in different stages of the game, one of which might be termed a single to the pitcher's shins; another, which came in the same inning, was a bad bounce, which went over Bisland's head. The third hit came in the ninth and was also of the infield variety, a roller which barely evaded Bisland.

In fact, Dent pulled more stunts than keeping the hits down. He allowed only thirty men to face him during the game, and he retired the side in one inning on three pitched balls.

Agler, Welchone and Bisland were also much in evidence defensively, while Smith and Welchone both bopped out two hits. Welchone's hits both figured in the scoring.

Larned and Wright Prove "Come Backs"

BOSTON, July 23.—William A. Larned and Beals C. Wright, both former national singles champions and partners of high standing a decade ago in tennis, went into combination again today and vanquished R. D. Little and T. R. Fell, of New York, in the best match of the second round of the annual tournament for the eastern doubles championship at Longwood Cricket club.

The surprise match of the day was that in which Gustav F. Touchard and William N. Washburn eliminated the former Princeton team of G. M. Church and Dean Mathey at 9-7, 6-3, 2-6, 10-8.

Attempts were screaming line drives, the shaggers delirious, but Bender fans the best of them. And the crafty Indian wanted to "get" this fancy-priced recruit.

In the field Chappelle took one fly and made a peach of a throw into the infield for an assist.

Thompson Will Work in Last

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 23.—Today's game with the Turtles which will close the series, will be contested between Harrell, of Memphis, and Thompson, of Atlanta. Small and Dunn will probably be behind the pan.

Thompson has an unblemished record with the Crackers and he will do his best to keep up his string of victories, making it five in row.

Clear and warm weather prevails.

COBB VS. JACKSON

Detroit's hard-hitting outfielder passed Joe Jackson in Tuesday's contest as we believe he would have done long ago had he been able to stay in the game and play ball every day.

For the time that he has been in the game, Cobb has for the last three weeks been pretty well holding his own, while Jackson has been steadily slumping.

Boston Rebuilding

BOSTON, July 23.—The work of strengthening the Boston Americans for the pennant race of 1914 has begun. Two young pitchers have been bought within a few days. Pitcher Radloff, a left-hander, whose purchase from the Manistee club of the Michigan State League, was announced here today. He will report at the close of the Michigan league season.

Thomas Is Loser

BOSTON, Mass., July 23.—Marcel Thomas, welterweight champion of France, was declared defeated by Mike Glover, of South Boston, in the fourth round of a bout here last night. Thomas had the better of the first two rounds, but Glover became aggressive in the third. In the fourth Thomas dropped third. In the fourth Thomas dropped third. In the fourth Thomas dropped third.

HIGHEST PRICED MINOR LEAGUE STAR PLAYED HIS FIRST MAJOR GAME

Larry Chappelle, of the Milwaukee club, brightest star in the American association, has gone to Comiskey's White Sox.

Chappelle cost the Sox $15,000, the biggest price ever paid for a fielder. Leaving the A. A. with a batting percentage of about .356, Chappelle went into his first major league game under conditions that might shake the nerve of any youngster.

The Sox were playing the Athletics. Chief Bender was pitching.

The camera brigade photographed the boy's every move.

It was lady's day.

He was made lead-off man, because of his hitting and sprinting ability.

Chappelle didn't get a hit in his first big league game, but he proved every inch a ball player.

The first time up he picked one of Bender's fast balls driving it to Rube Oldring in left. Then he caught a sharp curve and sent it to deep center, where Walsh grabbed it after a run. Both

HANK TRIES OUT HIS NEW DIVING SUIT

--BY FARREN

THE SPORTLIGHT BY GRANTLAND RICE

YES, INDEED; QUITE SO. They whisper no great deeds are left— That stalwart epochs now are past, Or that the realm is now bereft Of thrilling turns in valor cast; No John L. now is left to fight, With mighty Jeff a vanished myth— How dare such treason come to light Where Flynn is matched with Gunboat Smith?

They weep for Alexander's stuff— They mourn for Caesar's vanished kick; Where in the mediaeval fluff Young Charlemagne came through to stick; They say that fighting days are dead, That Fitz and Corbett types are in— How dare such bigotry be spread Where Gunboat Smith is matched with Flynn?

"Let us forget," wrote Mr. Kipling. Remembering at the same time on the threshold of the Davis cup final that we thought it was Mr. McLaughlin who was to win in straight sets, not Mr. Wilding.

Remembering, also, that two years ago we thought it was to be Messrs. Larned and McLaughlin who were to win with subtle dispatch, not Messrs. Brookes and Heath.

America, of course, should win, and win easily; but in this sure thing dope it is often just as well to be set against the recoil in case the term of an alibi be concealed somewhere in the general layout. It was usually certain in the advance betting that the English polo four were to mop up with the American entry. But the box scores upset the dope as they have before and will again.

ELASTIC ISN'T HALF OF IT. To show how elastic the granddaddy is, the Giant-Pirate series is branded with the "crucial" trademark at a moment when there is a gap of only 150 points or more between the two clubs. It is so crucial that the Pirates by winning four straight might slip within eight games of the leaders, or as close as Cleveland is to Philadelphia in the American.

On the other hand, a Piratical failure at the Polo grounds will about close out the N. L. campaign until the eight clubs start south again next spring. The rest of it will be a romp for the exercise involved, important in that it keeps both players and noncombatants "out in the open air."

ANOTHER ELEGY. Full many a star of purest ray serene The unknown bush leagues hold upon the job; Full many a scout is right there on the scene Ready to wire he's found "another Cobb."

The Athletics so far have scored 440 or 460 something runs. We forget the exact figures, but in any event it was enough.

Mack's team has averaged more runs to its hits than any other club in either league, showing that in addition to knowing how to hit it knows how to use the hits that arrive. It is something more than a club of sluggers. For the answer after all isn't in baselines but in the number of runs such baselines get you. Back in 1906 we saw the Cleveland club with eight .300 hitters lose to the White Sox with a team batting average of .221.

Larry Chapelle has a great chance if he doesn't get to believing that he must furnish $18,000 worth of stuff each time he comes to bat. Rube Marquard and Marty O'Toole could furnish him some valuable information on this point if Larry will kindly cable them for the remaining details.

Walter Johnson announces that he will work every other day if the Senators are in the race by September 1. This will only act as a further incentive for American league batsmen to keep the Senators out of the race by September 1. Facing Johnson every fourth is bad enough without doubling the dose.

EMPIRE LEAGUE NOW SURE TO WIND UP THE SEASON

WAYCROSS, Ga., July 23.—There is no longer the slightest doubt of the Empire State league, composed of Waycross, Valdosta, Thomasville, Brunswick, Cordele and Americus, lasting through another and perhaps as many succeeding years as the baseball fans of the cities named want baseball. This season, the first most of the cities have weathered for a number of years, will end to an end the latter part of August with a neat record.

While it is not expected that any city league is going to show a fat treasury when the last game is played, the game in the Empire has been cared for better than the most optimistic fan hoped. And this in spite of the almost general disregard of the league limit by several teams of the league.

The experienced gained this year will result in some radical changes before the league opens for business in 1914. The changes will be a slightly increased salary limit, with an iron-clad agreement to observe the limit. The season of the Empire are today supposed to run on $1,000 a month. Just how much this limit is exceeded is impossible to state, but more speculation has been observed the rule consistent from start to finish this year. Another change that is apt to be made is the class C player limit. Under this new rule only three men who have never been experienced in a Class C league can be carried by one team. It was thought that at least four men would be carried. An increase of at least one in the player limit will also be urged.

Twelve players are possible as long as none of them are sick or hurt. But with injuries and sickness no team is able to get along with twelve men. Recent experience has demonstrated this fact beyond any doubt, and it is doubtful if there is a single vote against raising the player limit.

EMPIRE WRANGLE. The directors also hope to make some better arrangement about umpires. Wrangling about umpires this season has marred many pretty games. Player-umpires have been used almost as often in some cities as league umpires, to the disgust of fans and teams alike. In arranging the schedule no such scheme as was adopted this year will be permitted. Some teams have played as many as nine games together before another team was played, and hardly any teams play less than six games together, three at one city and three at another.

When the league was organized at Waycross it was known that the first season would be the hardest and that in future the league could exist under more favorable circumstances. As the first season is rapidly drawing to a close, and fans in all cities appear anxious for a continuation of organized baseball, it is safe to predict a long life for the Empire. Already the "baby" league of organized baseball has pulled off some stunts not equalled in bigger leagues and games have been played that would have done credit to much faster company. Attendance in all cities has been fine and fans have been loyal even in the face of repeated defeats.

Cupid Wins Pat McDonald, Olympic Champion Shot Thrower

Pat McDonald, the champion sixteen-pound shot thrower, one of the biggest of athletes—for he weighs 329 pounds—has been won by Cupid. He is to be married, "soon," he says, but no more information will be given. When McDonald, who is a traffic policeman of the New York police force, stationed at Forty-second street and Broadway, in the heart of the Tenderloin, stepped out to throw the shot at the Olympic games last year, the Swedes were startled at his bulk. He threw the shot a few inches further than Ralph Rose, of California, another big man, and became the champion.

There have been rumors that the bride was an actress who had been guided through the rapid and congested traffic at Forty-second street, every night by the big policeman, for he helps scores of them over Broadway every evening. But Pat will say nothing about that.

REAL CHAMPIONS SCARCE; RITCHIE WILLING TO BOX

NEW YORK, July 23.—That Willie Ritchie has shown himself to be a champion worthy of the name will be a good thing for boxing in general. Of late, in some quarters, it has been thought the proper thing to sneer at all present day glove wielders.

The paragraphs, who, in their efforts to show their wit are careless of exact facts, have been neglecting no opportunity to hold them up to ridicule. Even those who try to be fair and just have been forced to admit that the supply of real champions is limited. All this adverse comment has hurt boxing. If Ritchie proves to be as willing as he is capable, he can do much to refute the sceptics and revive interest in the game.

There was much doubt before the Ritchie-Rivers bout as to the fitness of the champion for the position he holds. At that he figured to beat the Mexican, who had often shown himself to lack the determination and courage necessary in a high-class ring man.

Rivers ran true to form. In many respects his work was a duplicate of that in his last bout with Leach Cross in this city. In that affair Rivers began well. He tore in with straight lefts that seldom missed. He took a big lead, and it looked a certainty that he would win. But Cross, who had been trying in vain to land his noted right, suddenly changed his tactics. He began to lead with his left. The blows were very hard, but at once there was a change in the Mexican's work. He still dived in without cessation, but with this notable difference: it was merely for the purpose of obtaining the protection of the ensuing clinch. His nerve had gone. To protect himself was his main thought. Although he was winning so easily during the first half of the bout, he was outgamed in the second.

FIGHT LEFT RIVERS. Pretty much the same thing happened in California. Rivers did well as long as he was in front, but the moment he was stung all the fight left him. But for this falling there might still be hope for him, but the probability are he will never be so prominent again.

With Rivers out of the way, Leach Cross is now the foremost contender, according to Los Angeles fans, who thought decidedly otherwise before the New Yorker met Anderson. Cross always did have many followers in the second.

AGGRESSIVE MANAGERS LEAD IN FIGHT FOR THE PENNANT

The fighting in the pennant race is having a large inning this year. And the fighting manager is the propelling force. There was a time, not so very long ago either, when a majority of fans were inclined to regard the cool, sedate, so-called brainy manager as the best bet in baseball circles. But that sort of a leader isn't in style much this season.

The four hundred are wearing fighting togs just now and you don't have to go to the big leagues to get proof of it, either.

Of course there are exceptions but all rules have them or else they are not rules. But there are no exceptions in the Southern at present. Look at the standing and you will observe that Mobile, Montgomery, Atlanta and Chattanooga are teams in the first division and you'd have to go a long way to find four scrappier guys than Mike Finn, Johnny Dobbs, Billy Smith and Kid Elberfeld, who are the respective leaders of these first divisions.

All but one of these pilots in the select set just now anyway, are playing aggressive managers; that is, they wear uniforms and get out on the coach lines and are in the thickest of the fray all the time and fight for every inch of ground, so to speak. They keep after the opposing side like a pack of wolves keep after a Siberian gentleman out sleigh riding across the steppes, and they look after their players closer than a ward heeler looks after his henchmen.

They are on the job about 24 hours of the day and are not once managers, but guardians, counsellors and general all around bosses for their men. They rule with an iron hand and their word is law. When there is any bawling to be done they do it and they instill in their players that good old fighting spirit, that never give up idea and they have taught them to refuse to confess by word or action the superiority of any other team.

Mike Finn isn't appearing in uniform these days, but the fact that he wears store clothes hasn't in the least interfered any with his power of speech. He's the ruling and guiding spirit of the Mobile bunch, and up until the time Charles Starr was taken ill, he had a most able lieutenant on the field. But Finn was boss on the bench, an absolute monarch almost, and his word has always been and still is the last murmur.

Taking up the other end of the Southern league standing one finds at least one rather aggressive pilot in the person of Carlton Molesworth, who pilots the Birmingham crew. Moles is a spirited party, all right, and doesn't hesitate about showing himself in the field in his natty but tight fitting uniform whenever there is anything doing of a special nature but as a fighting manager, compared to Dobbs, Elberfeld, Smith or Finn, he is not there.

Following Nashville in the standing is Memphis. Bernhard is of the sedate set. One might allude to him as being dignified. The times he has appeared on the field to argue for his side this year could be counted on the fingers of one hand. Bernhard, so it is understood, goes on the supposition that his men know the game and know how to play it. He does all his bossing from the bench and he never quits following the game to get out on the coaching lines to encourage or direct them.

There is no gainsaying that Bill knows the game. You could hunt through several leagues and you couldn't find a manager more popular with his men. He's there with the encouragement and the advice and he believes that as a rule he can accomplish more with kind words than he can with a constant "bawling out" system.

His plan may be all to the merry and that the Turtles are down in the rut may be due entirely to the fact that he hasn't been able to snag the right kind of men to make the team a contender. But nevertheless Finn, Dobbs, Smith and Elberfeld are in the first division. On can't figure Charles Frank in this list, for Frank is believed to be going under wraps this year so far as his managerial ability is concerned. As a rule, Frank gets the very best possible out of his men. He's as friendly and as sociable with his players as a bear with a sore foot and he'd rather pan a player for a bad play than eat. This year, though, he's quite tame and docile. He can't get the men he wants and he gives the impression of a fighter who is merely hanging onto the ropes waiting for the gong—Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

The Price of Thoroughbred Poultry

THE time may come when things will change, but it is doubtful. However, big changes have been made in many sections of the world and in localities where people know the value of a good bird it is no trouble to get it from $3 up for a good thoroughbred breeding bird, but in this section it is quite different. However, if people who buy thoroughbred chickens now, especially through correspondence, should not wish or expect a $10 to $25 bird for $1.50 to $3, as a great many of them do, and would have you believe when they write you for prices on your best stock. If you only desire birds for home use and good ordinary breeders they can be had in lots of ten or more usually at $2 to $5 each, but when you are paying this price you should not expect birds in the pink of condition as it is impossible to get such at this price. In writing breeders for prices on stock be plain with them and tell them something about what kind of birds you wish, what they are wanted for and about the amount of money you have to invest in them, and 90 per cent of the breeders can then write and fully describe in an intelligent way just such birds as will conform to the amount of money that you wish to invest, and in nine cases out of ten the average breeder, especially one who has a reputation to sustain, will always give you full value received for any price you entrust to him. Of course inexperienced breeders who have no reputation at stake and are not posted do not know about these matters and with this class of breeders it is little different. But, the average established breeder will give you full value received and treat you right if you will be plain and tell him just what is wanted in the first beginning, and it will save considerable correspondence and often secure for you birds that would probably be sold before an answer and reply could be had.

There is yet a lot to be learned about the poultry and live stock business in many of these details, and all the information that can possibly be had is helping to educate and enlighten the southern farmer on these subjects. The poultry industry is a by-product of the average farm and is receiving more attention now than ever, and with the continued good work that has been done for the past few years through the papers and the press generally the poultry industry alongside of other varied industries of the south are the things that are helping our section of the country come into its own, but the buyers and sellers will yet have a lot to learn and must get closer together on many of these subjects. In your correspondence, and especially in placing orders, always put yourself in the position of the other fellow and by doing unto others as you would like to be treated yourself you will usually get value received and get the worth of your money. I find that during my many years of business in this poultry work I have a large number of customers who have been buying from me for many years, and as a rule most of these customers every year simply send me a certain amount of money and ask me to send them the best I can for this amount, either in fowls or eggs as the case may be, and usually this is the best way for a buyer to get his start. The seller as a rule usually takes an interest in his customers and will try to select something not only well worth the money, but the thing that will be best suited, especially to the new beginner's wants, and in this way a lot of unnecessary correspondence can be saved and you usually get by far nearer the worth of your money and get something that will start you right by placing this confidence in the breeder that you are dealing with. This same thing applies to seed especially, and this is one thing the farmers are paying more attention to nowadays. They are fast learning that it pays to buy the very best quality of seed from reliable dealers and not consider the price at all as it is a secondary consideration when it comes to the final yield at the end of the year. Good seed, good poultry and good live stock are things that our country must have to show us the per cent of profit that we are entitled to.

Yours very truly,

San Francisco, Cal., June 28th, 1913.

MR. J. P. GENTRY, Care of Aunt Patsy Poultry Feed Co., Memphis, Tenn.
Dear Sir:—If the freight from Memphis to San Francisco is not more than $1 per cwt., please ship me 50 bags of Aunt Patsy Poultry Feed, the Egg Producer.
I came to California last fall, from Tennessee. When I got here the property on which I located had on it quite a number of hens and a few turkeys. Among the turkeys were some young ones, just hatched. The hens were not laying at all, but with the aid of Aunt Patsy, which I brought with me, I soon had them going nicely. I raised the young turkeys together on Aunt Patsy, and was surprised to find them laying when only six months old, so you may know that I am pleased with Aunt Patsy's Poultry Feed, and would like for you to get my order out as soon as possible.
My neighbors are all surprised at the great yield of eggs from my hens, and if you could get the right freight rate I have no doubt but that a great deal of your feed could be sold in this state, as the poultry interest here is large, and the people disgusted with the poor feed on the market.
Very truly,
G. W. FRANCIS.

Ask Your Dealer for Aunt Patsy Poultry Feed, the Egg Producer.

HOW TO SECURE EGGS

IF YOU want eggs in the latter part of the summer and the early fall, you must feed your hens on a thoroughly balanced ration, in the shape of a dry mash. We claim Aunt Patsy's Poultry Feed to be the best dry mash on the market, from the fact that it is composed of the highest grade of raw material that can be secured. There is no filler or adulterated cheap stuff used in it at all, but it contains every ingredient of which the egg itself is composed. Hence, if you will think a moment, you will agree with me that if you put into the hen's craw the ingredients of which the egg is made, you will have a right to expect her digestive organs to convert these ingredients into the egg and to obtain from your hens a greater yield of eggs than if fed otherwise.

Ask any successful poultryman what he thinks of Aunt Patsy, and give us a trial order.
