NEW GRAND JURY URGED TO PROMPT INVESTIGATION

Thousand Violations of Law Against Vice Do Not Equal Crime of Mary Phagan's Murder, Says Judge Ellis

The jury empannelled a week ago by Coroner Paul Donehoo resumed its probe into the mystery of the murder of little Mary Phaagn on Monday afternoon shortly after 2:30 o'clock.

The delay in resuming the inquest vas due to the fact that Coroner Donchoo did not get back from Marietta until 2:30 o'clock. Although police headquarters was tory, where Mary Phagan met her death. it was said at the opening of the session that only a few witnesses would be called upon to testify. The coroner, the chief of detectives and the solici,or general held a short conference just before the inquest was

It is said to be the desire of Solicitor Dorsey that the inquest may proceed without disclosing any more of the "state's hand" than is absolutely

L M. Frank, superintendent of the factory, who is held in connection with the case, was expected to be among the first witnesses examined by the coroner's jury. It was also considered probable that Newt Lee, the negro watchman, who is also under arrest in the case, would be recalled to the stand in order that the jury might ask him addition questions. There was a possibility, however, of Mr. Frank being the only witness, Luther Z. Rosser, attorney for Mr Frank, said he would make no objection to Mr. Frank appearing before the coroner's jury and answering any questions that the jurors might wish to ask. Should the inquest be concluded Mon-

The Booklovers' Campaign at Haynes Jewelry Store

CUT ALONG THIS LINE.

"Will you please let me see that watch?" said a lady in Eugene V. Haynes' jewelry store the other day, as she pointed to the watch that The Journal has on exhibition as one of their Booklovers' prizes. "I don't know just what I am going to win, but I am visiting the different stores and looking over the prizes. They are certainly the best that money could buy, and every prize winner will get something worth while. I did not win anything last year, but it was because I held down too low on the number of answers I turned in. No such foolishness this time, because I will take the full ten on every picture that I think it necessary. There are some of those published that I feel safe on with one or two answers, but there are others I will surely take the full ten answers allowed by the rules. Using the old catalogue? Well, I guess I am not. I thought the Campaign Editor had made it plain enough to every one that using last year's catalogue would mean turning in a lot of answers that are not in this year's catalogue, and therefore cannot be correct. Of course I enjoy the plan, and hope to win a prize, and believe I will this time, as I surely will not make any of the mistakes that I did last year.

"Thank you, Mr. Haynes. If you see, my name in the winning list for this watch, and it happens to be Sunday when that list is published, I know you will run down here and get the watch out for me."

This report is likewise unsatisfactory to Mayor Woodward and he will doubt which is another of thos 'moral obligations' bequeatehd to him by the Winn administration. ## $20,000 DAMAGE IS DONE BY ARAGON HOTEL FIRE

All Guests Got Out Without Hurt Sunday After-

Fire in the Aragon hotel early Sunday afternoon spread through the fifth and sixth floors. All the guests escaped without injury, although there were some close escapes. The damage will amount to $15,000 or $20,000.

Henry Reese, a negro porter, discovered the fire in the rear roof at 2:34 o'clock. Before the engines arrived the fourth and fifth floors were filled with flame and smoke.

H. A. Tisdell, the clerk on duty, tried to get the guests out without panic, but in a few moments the corridors were crowded with people trying to get out.

Miss Katherine Wright, the telephone operator, showed her heroism by staying on duty until all the guests had been notified of the fire, and H. A. Tisdell, the clerk, had almost to carry two women, Mrs. Agnes Turner and Mrs. Ladd, from the fifth floor to the lobby. Mrs. J. W. Baker became hysterical and would have jumped had not a fireman stopped her in time. H. A. Longshore and Chess Haile, two resident guests, used fire extinguish-

The Cost of Smoke.

Chicago moves steadily forward in its anti-smoke campaign. Recently published reports estimate that the city's annual loss from excessive smoke is more than eighteen million dollars and that of this sum the railroads are responsible for some eight millions. Impressive as these figures are, they are not to be considered as discouraging; for, the Chicago movement against soot and cinders has produced appreciable results and, what is perhaps most important of all, it has awakened public energy in plans for relief.

The individual citizen has come to recognize that his business, his health and his other vital interests are suffering from unrestricted smoke. It is reckoned that a yearly expense of fifteen dollars is entailed on every chicago family as a result of locomotive smoke alone; and this monetary loss is insignificant when compared with the discomforts and the perils to health that accompany it. The fact now being stressed in Chicago is that the evils of excessive smoke are visited not only upon the city as a whole, but also upon each citizen and each family. The loss is specific, not merely general.

This is equally true of Atlanta where the antismoke campaign which was nominally begun several seasons ago, is just now getting well under way. Every Atlantian has vital cause to be interested in this movement. His business and his health are directly injured by the clouds of smoke that are believed forth in the city's center from locomotives and from defective or clumsily fired furnaces. The smoke inspector merits the public's earnest support and co-operation in the efforts he is making to remedy these ills. The important fact to remember is that such work must be continued steadily month after month and year after year, if we are to get due results.

"Montenegro bows to will of powers." Oh, you courageous powers!

The Free Organ Concerts.

Auditorium is a ma'ter of keen delight to musicleving Atlantians and a fresh reminder of this community's continual debt to the Music Festival Association. The recital yesterday afternoon was one of the most distinctive and enjoyable Dr. Starnes has ever given, its particularly notable features being the intermezzo from Pucinni's "Manon Lescaut," which was heard during grand opera week, and the overture from "Die Meistersinger." The audience attested both by its size and responsiveness the public's appreciation of the Sunday afternoon concerts.

In such opportunities as these, Atlanta is singularly fortunate. It should be remembered that they are made possible through the Music Festival Association, which not only gives the city a glorious week of opera each year, but also sustains and feeds the taste for good music the twelvemonth through. Dr. Starnes, one of the most gifted organists and interpreters of music in the nation or in the world, is retained by the Association at its own expense. The programs which he renders from Sunday to Sunday are within themselves an education, if regularly and sympathetically attended; and often, they are enriched with youal selections from singers of rare attainment.

These concerts, as has often been stated, are entirely free to the public. But it should be remembered that voluntary contributions to defray their actual cost are accepted; and it will be well for audiences to bear this fact in mind. A nominal contribution from every one who hears the Sunday afternoon concerts would suffice to pay the expenses involved and would assure their permanency.

Where the public receives so much and so generously, it should be easer to give a small measure of financial support in return.

"Local Color" in School Work.

At the recent meeting of the Georgia Educational Association, Chancellor David C. Barrow made a most timely and stimulating talk on the importance of putting local color into school work. It is well enough, he said, to teach children the story of distant lands and of ancient heroes, but is even more essential to quicken their sympathies and enlighten their minds to the things that lie about them in their daily life.

If it be true that we need a knowledge of the past fully to understand the present and that in order to interpret our own age we must know something of the centuries from which it has evolved, it is none the less true we must know the present in order to appreciate the past. If education is to be vital, it must begin with what is vital and intimate; and a child will best find his way into the wisdom of books along the paths of his own human experience.

Yet, it happens not infrequently that a pupil knows, or seems to know, more of classic Hellas than of modern Georgia and, while able to discourse fluently enough on the statesmen of the age of Pericles, is remarkably ignorant of the public leaders in his own nation or commonwealth. He may be familiar with the fauna and flora of faraway lands and yet have no discernment of the resources or of the natural beauty and wonder of his home county.

Chancellor Barrow wisely insists that the school room take a richer account of local interests, that children be taught to recognize the value and to seek the meaning of the things in which they live and move each day. It is thus that the pupil will be inspired to a quest of all truth and will come to interpret all knowledge in terms of real life; it is thus that he will be vitally educated.

Balkan Jealousies.

One of the remarkable aspects of the Balkan war is the steadfastness with which the Allies have maintained a solid front against Turkey. With rare skill and self-restraint, they have put aside their internal differences, forgotten their old enmities, ignored the rivalries which the future is certain to provoke and have struck one united blow after another for a common cause.

Particularly manifest has this policy been in their the peace conference held some months ago in London, the Turkish envoys made divers cunning efforts, to turn the members of the Balkan alliance one against the other. They appealed to the special interest of Bulgaria, of Greece and of Servia, hoping that by an offer of advantageous tterms to one of these States they could break the compact agreement. But the Allies stuck to their united demands with the result that both Turkey and the Powers have finally had to accept these terms.

That has been the course thus far, but now there are rumors that the Allies are on the verge of a break among themselves. Having fought and planned together for the conquest of the Turk, they may now fall out over the prize they nave so bravely and hardly won. They have been held together by the pressure of common interests and a common foe; that removed, they are in danger of a split through individual jealousies and ambitions.

The Bulgarians and the Greeks have and old feud which centers in the domination of the Greek church. Bulgaria and Servia were at war less than thirty years ago. Each of the three is now stirred with new ambitions; each will watch the other more or less suspiciously; and to complicate matters, there are the claims of little Montenegro and the question of boundaries for future Albania.

It has frequently been suggested that the Balkan States will form a federation so that the political status of each of them may be more strongly maintained. Such a plan would undoubtedly aid in preserving the alliance which has proved so valuable throughout the war.

Montenegro's Second Thought

If it be true, as dispatches indicate, that King Nicholas and a council of his generals have decided to evacuate Scutari, the sharp issue between Montenegro and the Powers is approaching a peaceful settlement. It was rumored several days ago that Montenegro would consent to give up its Albanian prize, temporarily at least, if it were assured of compensation and it was understood that substantial pensation, and it was understood that substantial and the principal Balkan States are doubtless willing to do all they can to hasten the plans for harmony. There comes other stories, however, to the effect that the Montenegrin ministry has resigned as protest against the suggested evacuation of Scutari and that Austria and Italy are preparing for a joint investment of Albania. Such a movement would be decidedly distasteful to Russia. "It is realized," says a statement from St. Petersburg, "that the fate of Albania involves a deeper concern than Scutari and it is declared that in the interest of European peace and the welfare of the Balkan States, Russia will do everything possible to prevent the occupation of Albania. If she is not successful in this, Russia will insist that all the great Powers participate." It is evident that the problem raised by Montenegro is far-reaching and that the most painstaking diplomacy is necessary to avert widespread trouble for Europe.

The Presbyterian church has made greater progress in America than in any other part of the world chiefly no doubt because of the fact that it has encountered no violent opposition. Nearly 2,000,000 communicants were recorded to the various Presbyterian bodies by the last census and the value of the church property owned in this country by the Presbyterian organizations approximates $200,000,000 an equivalent of $100 investment in church property for each in dividual member. In addition to this several millions of dollars worth of property is controlled by the Presbyterian missionary organizations of this country.

While the first Presbyterian church in America is credited to New England, the greatest development of the denomina tion in its early history was through the Scotch-Irish colonists who settled in Delaware, New Jersey and Maryland. Rev. Francis Makemie was sent from an Irish presbytery to this country in 1683, and he traveled as far south as Georgia, and as far north as New York, and preached Presbyterianism in many places in a manner not widely different from the itinerant Methodist preachers who followed later. Makemie settled at Rehobeth, Md., and established churches at both Rehobeth and Snow Hill He suffered arrest and imprisonment for preaching without a license in New York during the time when Governor Corbury was endeavoring to establish the supremacy of the Church of England. The Presbyterian preacher was a man of many parts, however, and his vigorous defense of himself and the light he threw upon mafters connected with Governor Corbury's administration is said to have been responsible for the latter's recall to England.

The first presbytery of this country was organized in 1705 in Philadelphia with Makemie as its first moderator. Seven ministers were included in the first membership, and all but one of these was from the old world. The native American was Jediah Andrews, a graduate of Harvard and the pastor of the first Presbyterian church of Philadelphia. At that time Philadelphia was the most northern point represented, and the other Presbyterian church organizations in America were small and weak. During the ten years following the Philadelphia presbytery increased to sixteen ministers, most of whom came over from England, Scotland or Ireland. Despite the fact that the colonists were poor and struggling and that the supply of clergymen fell so far below the need, the Philadelphia assembly, or synod, as it was afterwards called, exacted adequate credentials and assurances of orthodoxy and ood character from all who attempted to preach. In 1710 a young Welshman undertook to preach to the people of the Welsh tract without a license, but he was promptly rebuked and required to go under competent direction that he might be educated for the sacred office. He was not or dained until 1715. . . .

The first Scotch-Irish Presbyterians settled in Maryland and adjoining states, but as the persecution they received at home from the re-established Church of England drove increasing nur; bers to America they began from 1713 on to settle in the New England states where they were not cordially welcomed at first. It was not until 1730 that they attempted to build themselves a church at Worcester, Mass., and then "the people gathered by night and hewed down and demolished the structure," the historian adding that even "persons of consideration and respectability aided in the riotous work." In New Hampshire they met with less opposition and their first presbytery constituted in 1729 was called by them the presbytery of Londorderry, and by their neighbors "the Irish presbytery."

The first institution devoted to teaching the Presbyterian doctrine was "The Log College," opened at Neshaminy river, just north of Philadelphia, by William Tennent in 1726. William Tennent had been in Episcopal orders, but he had married the daughter of an eminent Presbyterian minister. Chiefly through her influence he was induced to renounce the prelatic form of church government and was admitted for reordination in the synod. His son, Gilbert, was his first disciple in the Presbyterian ministry, but a number of others went forth from Nashaminy academy as the Log college became known in its later history, among them Samuel Blair and John Rowland.

The coming of George Whitefield to the United States upon his evangelical tour brought about a division in the Presbyterian church in 1741. The two factions in this division became known as the Old ide and the New Side. The Old Side remained the Philadelphia presbytery, while the New York presbytery was formed to represent the New Side. The Old Side and the New Side. The Old Side remained the that only ministers who had been educated in the old country ought to be accepted; while the New Side, with the Tennents is leaders, insisted upon the right of the presbytery to license the graduates of such institutions ar Neshaminy academy, in view of the great need of preachers. There were some differences regarding doctrines also, partially due to the gre "awakening" of religious conviction brought about by Whitefield and other evangelical preachers of the pe-. . .

The division between the Old and New sides at this time had a potent influence upon the educational interest of the Presbyterian church. While William and Gilbert Tennent insisted that the presbytery should lay less stress upon college training and more upon the evidence that the candidate be a regenerate man, they were men of too high mental attainments themselves to advocate an illiterate clergy. Consequently the New York presbytery made early application for a charter for a college which was opened in Elizabethtown, N. J., in 1745, under the direction of Jonathan Dickinson, one of the best scholars in the church. At his death Aaron Burr was chosen to succeed him, and in 1755 the college was transferred to Princeton, Upon the death of Burr, Jonathan Edwards was chosen president, but this distinguished divine also died before his c nnection had any important bearing upon the college, so the credit of organizing Princeton college, which has had so great an influence upon Presbyterianism, must be given to Dr. Samuel Davies. . . .

Princet n stands a monument to the New Side, but it must not be inferred that the Old Side or the presbytery of Philadelphia made no effort to provide educational facilities for training young ministers in America. Immediately after the division, this presbytery took up the Academy of New London, taught by Francis Allison, known at that time as the "best Latiuscholar in America," and make arrangements with Yale college for the further training of its graduates. This arrangement did not amount to much, however, and in 1749 Allison went to Philadelphia to accept a position in the academy opened in that city by Benjamin Franklin.

Throughout the whole period of separation efforts had been made for a reunion, and this was the more easily brought about as, notwithstanding its attitude for certain evangelical tenets, the New York presbytery gave constant evidence of sobriety and orthodoxy. In 1758 a plan of union was adopted in which the Old, or Philadelphia, presbytery practically carried its point, questions growing out of the "awakening" being compromised. It was provided that candidates for the ministry should be examined as to their "experimental acquaintance with religion" no less than as to their learning and orthodoxy. In 1788, after the Revolutionary war, a general assembly was formed which included most of the Presbyterian bodies in America. This assembly represented 419 congregations and 288 ministers.

THE GHOST SHIP

BY DR. FRANK CRANE

At the foot of Seventy-ninth street in New York City, in the still waters of the Hudson, lies the oldest ship in the world, the convict ship Success.

It is a phost. It comes upon the imagination as the toothless, clawless spectre of the past, that grim mother whose progeny still paralyzes the Present and clogs the Future.

In this ship England once sent her criminals to the Australian penal colonies. It is all sweet and clean now; mothers lead their children to peer into its cells occupied by wax figures. An enterprising manager has fitted it up as an exhibition, has shown it in England and now brings it to America.

It is a ghost, the ghost of an idea that, although dead and damned, still infests men's minds, the idea that punishment abates crime.

Here you see punishment raised to its highest power. The record of the cruelties here practiced by the English people is so frightful that no one can be blamed for not believing it; the truth is more incredible than the wildest fiction. It is impossible to believe the story, yet it is perfectly authentic.

In cells about five by six feet square, without light and with little air, four or five hunman beings were chained, their filth cleaned out but twice a week, their bodies racked by the tossing of the vessel. They were flogged upon the least occasion, their raw wounds were washed with salt sea water. Every devilish ingenuity was employed to make their existence a hell.

It is not a hundred years ago that over 145 offenses

It is not a hundred years ago that over 145 offenses in England were punishable by death. The hangmen were kept so busy that convict ships were invented as being more terrible than death. Women and children were sentenced to transportation for stealing a fourcent pie or a square of bleached linen. The world, ostensibly worshipping Christ in majestic cathedrals, in practice outlid the devil in hideous inhumanity.

Perhaps the most appealing thing to be seen in this ghost ship the cells and waxen presentment of "The Six Men of Dorset."

Born in 1804, George Lovelace became a farm laborer. He got $1.75 a week. Anxious to better the condition of himself and his fellows, he organized a "Laborers' society" to secure 25 cents increase. There were six members of this pioneer trades union, the were six members of this pioneer trades union, the famous "Six Men of Dorset," whose names should be dear to e ery workingman today struggling for his rights; they were George and James Lovelace, James Hammett. Thomas Stanfield, James, Brine and one named Clark.

When they presented humbly their requests the landowners and farmers made reply that from $1.75 their wages would be henceforth reduced to $1.50 to landowners and farmers made reply that from $1.75 their wages would be henceforth reduced to $1.50 to teach them a lesson; and, furthermore, if they complained again they would be arrested for conspiracy. A proclamation was issued threatening "to punish any man with seven years' transportation who joined a trade society." The "six men" were duly sentenced to seven years' transportation in Diemens Land. They served three years in the hell ship Success and in the chain gangs of Australia before the British conscience awoke, and, after great popular uprisings, they were pardoned.

Out of the past this ghost ship sails to us. Its solid oak we can touch. Its rusty iron manacles are all too tangible. Its hideous cells our feet may explore. Its appalling record books and documents we can see with our own eyes. Yet it is not true. It cannot be true. It is more monstrous than fiction.

God! to think that people of English blood could ever have held theories of life and of society in which such things were possible! And to think that even today there are those who still cry "Punish! punish!" while over all the great Christ repeats his two thousand year old message, "Heal! Help! Cure!"

Now dull utility has given way

To smiling pulchritude in man's attire,

And strolling down the street he looks like a

House afire!

From nifty hat with bow set in the back,

To shoes of tan and gayly spangled sock,
He is as gorgeous as a circus hack,

Or peacock.

A joy forever he, well clothed, well kept,
And save that he's devoid of charm and grace,
Has too much hands and feet—he's fine! except
His face.

Undoubtedly, however, he has class— That's proved by humankind's much rairer half, Who nudge each other when they see him pass, And laugh.

"The Mosque of Italy"

Hamlin Gariand, essayist, novelist and lecturer, in a recent address to the Hamilton club, said:
"Venice is the world's Coney Island. It is a show place supported by visiting suckers, and the show is so old and moth-eaten that it is a wonder any American falls for it. There is some beauty of architecture, but the city has a petrified system to fleece all visitors.

"Venice is a roor, old, slimy piece of scenery. All the so-called canals outside the grand canal are sewers. It is the home of mosquitoes and the field of malaria. Every inhabitant is a grafter, especially the hotel owners and gondoliers.

"The Doge's palace is mediaeval bunk and the Bridge of Sighs Byronic bunk. The air is bad, and most of the money handed tourists is counterfeit. The gondolier is a brigand, and his merry song usually precedes a robbery of his passengers. The waiters are thieves, who take your good Italian money and hand you counterfeit in change."—New York World.

"The Americans," writes Filson Young in the "Saturday Review." "have a polite habit, on being presented to a new acquaintance, of uttering the words, 'Pleased to meet you'; although upon what the pleasure can rest, or how they know that it is a pleasure or why an ordinary incident which is not the fulfillment of any anticipation, and which may turn out to be very disagreeable, should be pronounced at sight to be pleasant, I have never been able to understand."

The British, one might say—were one writing on space, in the manner of the writers for the London weeklies—have a curious habit, on being presented to a new acquaintance, of uttering the words "How do you do, Mr. Emdash?"; although the question seldom is answered and the querist's interest is merely perfunctory. Besides, "do" is a transitive verb and it sounds as though the sentence were unfinished. How do you do what?

WALTER F. GRACE. The Blind Musician-An Expert Piano

One of the most familiar figures on Atlanta's streets is Walter F. Grace, the well-known piano tuner.

Mr. Grace has for quite a long term of years been following his profession in this city and has done skilled work in this line for many of our best citizens, who recommend him most highly. If your piano needs tuning you cannot do better than to call in this gifted blind musician, who, by some strange providence, seems to possess remarkaole ability in this line rarely shown by even those who have not been deprived of their eyesight.

The "Decatur Section"

Some of the Recent Developments in This Growing Section of DeKalb County

The Mayor and Council of Decatur have let constructs for PAVING parts of COLLEGE AVENUE, CANDLER STREET, M'DONOUGH STREET, JEFFERSON PLACE and PONCE DE LEON AVENUE in DECATUR. Part of this work is now under way. The GOOD ROADS COMMITTEE of the Decatur Board of

Trade has let a contract for macadamizing CANDLER STREET from the corporate limits of DECATUR to Morgan street, and the work is now being done. MORGAN STREET in EAST LAKE is now being laid with macadam and tarred binding, to meet Candler street. PONCE DE LEON AVENUE is now passable for vehicles from the GEORGIAN TERRACE to the beautiful Court House Square at Decatur, and this beautiful Avenue will soon be an exact counterpart of EAST LAKE DRIVE. When all this work is completed

The NEW FUBLIC SCHOOL BUILDING, the second in three years, is now being constructed in DECATUR.

Many NEW homes are being erected at East Lake, Oakhurst, Kirkwood, and in other parts of the "DECATUR SECTION" as well as in DECATUR, itself.

The people of KIRKWOOD, one of the most attractive parts of the "DECATUR SECTION," are TURNING THINGS UPSIDE DOWN, grading and macadamizing street, laying concrete curbs and walks, and building new homes in every part of the town. The STONE MOUNTAIN ELECTRIC LINE extending from

Decatur through INGLESIDE, SCOTTDALE, and CLARKSTON, to STONE MOUNTAIN is opening up a beautiful NEW country, a most important addition to the "DECATUR SECTION."

DEKALB AVENUE from Mayson's Crossing to Kirkwood, is now being laid with vitrified brick, making another MODERN driveway through KIRKWOOD and OAKHURST to DECATUR.

City of Atlanta is the Latest Enterprise to Give Central Station Electric Current Complete Approval by Buying It for the New 10,000,000 Gallon Pump

THE RIVER PUMPING STATION

This plant is the home of the new 10,000,000-gallon capacity water pump for which the City of Atlanta has contracted with the Georgia Railway and Power Company to supply it with electric power, after carefully considering all other methods.

If any further proof were needed to demonstrate the economy and reliability of CEN-TRAL STATION ELECTRIC CURRENT, after the owners and managers of half a dozen of Atlanta's big new enterprises had contracted for it upon careful investigation of ALL methods of supplying power, then that proof is clearly furnished in the action of the CITY OF ATLANTA last week in rejecting ALL OTHER POWER PROPOSITIONS and accepting CENTRAL STATION ELECTRIC CURRENT of this company for the city's new 10,000,000-gallon capacity water pump at the River Pumping Station.

Every possible effort was made by representatives of other power methods to induce the city to accept their propositions, including that of the Municipal Ownership advocates who wanted the city to buy machinery and make its own electricity. Along with these proposals this company submitted its STANDARD RATES AND ITS REPUTATION FOR RELI-ABLE SERVICE.

First, the Water Board, composed of practical business men whose sole purpose is to secure the best service at the lowest cost for the city, considered all propositions and AC-CEPTED THIS COMPANY'S.

Then the CITY COUNCIL, also composed of business men actuated by the single motive of buying the best service at the lowest rates, rejected all other proposals and AC-CEPTED THIS COMPANY'S.

Then the ALDERMANIC BOARD AND THE MAYOR, all looking solely for the city's best interests, followed the action of the water board and council, rejected all other methods for supplying power for the city's new pump and ACCEPTED THIS COMPANY'S.

It was literally the acid test of the economy and reliability of the Central Station service furnished by the Georgia Railway and Power Company, and the service and rates stood the test.

The most efficient, the most reliable, the most economical method of obtaining power and light for factory or building is to contract with this Company for such service.

Ask for estimates.

Centrifugal Pattern Is Bought for $7,000, as Against $60,-000 for Old Type

Mayor Woodward's signing of the contract with the Georgia Railway and Power Company for electric current to operate a new 10,000,000-gallon capacity water pump at the river station probably marks a new epoch in the history, of Atlanta's waterworks department, according to W. Z. Smith, general mantricity, provides for an expenditure of The objection of officials of the water department heretofore to electrically driven centrifugal pumps has been the pumps are cheaper and convenient to house and maintain, but until the bid of the electric company, based on the new water power rates, was submitted. the officials did not believe the new plan would be economic. The rate is 5 1-2 mills per kilowatt hour.

Work on the new pump will be rushed, General Manager Smith said the crippled condition of two of the numps at the river station demanded that the new one be established as quickly as posaible.-From The Atlanta Georgian, April 2 cups flour; 4 teaspoons Baking Powder; 2 tablespoons Swift's Silver-Leaf Lard; 2 cups milk; 1 teaspoon salt. Mix dry ingredients and sift. Work in lard, add milk gradually. If too stiff add a little more milk or water. Roll out on floured board to inch thick. Cut and place in greased pan. Bake in hot oven. They are delicious.

Swift's Silver-Leaf Lard

is the very best shortening for Baking Powder Biscuits, because it has just the right consistency and richness to make them perfectly light and flaky and you can't taste the lard in them. Swift's Silver-Leaf Lard is put up in tight covered, new tin pails under the close supervision of Government inspectors.

It is as clean and pure as lard can be and it makes such tasty pastry. Order a small pail to try it.

A Small Leak Will Sink a Great Ship

You may spend as you go, paying no attention to the opportunities to save which are advertised by progressive merchants, but you will find sooner or later that little expenses count up to large

A loose, here-and-there buyer can quickly squander all her money by forgetting the value of the little purchases.

Care in expending the small amounts will quickly repay the economical housewife.

Every night in its advertising columns THE JOURNAL points the way to many opportunities for stopping the small leaks. Special sales are advertised by the merchants. In small things, such as soaps, ribbons and notions, there may be just one penny off the regular price. But when you add them all together you will find that the pennies number a dollar or two.

Read all the advertisements in THE JOURNAL closely and constantly every night for opportunity to save not only pennies but dollars.

ARA had to ply her brush swiftly, for she had promised Mrs. Haight to have the picture next day, and there was still much to be done.

(Copyright, 1913, by W. Werner.)

Never had times been so hard as they were now with Cara. Her husband was in ill health and his practice fell off persistently. Every one was running to the new doctor now. As for her own poor little business of needle and brush work, there was small demand for it in a town where quantity counted above any amount of quality.

At forty Cara Ash was still beautiful. She had grown stout and brilliantly colored in her maturtly, and though she had had cares and sorrows beyond those of most women there were no lines in

The postman's whistle made her glance up. A moment later the door between the doctor's office and her own sitting room opened and her husband entered. He was a large man with an unhealthy pallor and a genial brightness of smile that was little less than inspiring.

"Too dark for you to work now, dear," ne announced, cheerily. "Here's a let ter for you." He dropped the letter into her lap, and

Nemo Hygienic Corset Specialties

Approved by the Nemo Hygienic-Fashion Institute, N. Y.

Practically every important store in the United States, in Canada, and in other countries, joins this year in the celebration of Nemo Week.

This annual fashion event brings together all the Nemo inventions and improvements of the past year. It emphasizes more clearly than ever the important fact that—

Nemo Corsets are in a Class Alone, and Must be Considered Separately and Apart from All Other Makes Millions of women now refuse to wear any corset but the Nemo. Millions more will do so when they learn that all Nemo Corsets have-Exclusive Style and Health

Features of Inestimable Value to Every Woman, Which Cannot be Obtained in Any Other Corsets, at Any Price, nor Under Any Other Trademark, in Any Store in the World

These are some of the Nemo inventions that have made "Nemo" a household word in every country where corsets are worn:

1. The ingenious Nemo construction that "bridges the diaphragm," gives plenty of breathing space and freedom from constriction over the stomach section, no matter how tightly the corset may be laced. No woman wearing a Nemo ever feels that crushing, smothering pain that makes her rush home to get her corset off.

2. Gores and bands of semi-elastic Nemo Lastikops Webbing and Lastikops Cloth, that shape the corset closely to your form, and give you, with perfect comfort, the slender-hip effect of the so-called "corsetless figure."

3. The new Nemo "Lasticurve-Back," which makes even the longest corset comfortable in any position, produces fashionable slender lines, prevents that ugly "corset-line," and holds the corset down where it belongs.

4. The famous "Lastikops Bandlet," made of Lastikops Webbing, which insures perfect and comfortable hygienic abdominal support. and has done more than medicine to preserve and restore the health of millions of women. 5. The Nemo Auto-Massage device and the Nemo "Limshaping Extensions," which permanently reduce the surplus flesh of abdomen and upper limbs. Every Woman Can Enjoy Upto-Date Style, Improve Her Figure and Guard Her Health Through These Patented Nemo Inventions and Special Features -Used Only in Nemo Corsets

Paul Musser No Puzzle for the Gull Batsmen-Whitey Alperman Again Proved a Star With the Slap-Stick

MOBILE, Ala., May 5.-When Paul Musser and Buck Weaver were hit bit timely and also accorded rather bad support, the Mobile club lengthened its lead for first place over the Atlanta club. The final score was 9 to 4, with Mussee being charged with the loss. On hand at the game were 7,312 paid admissions and the way they rooted for the home bunch was an inspiring sight, Tommy Long and Joe Dunn, both er. Gulls, were given a big ovation by their many friends in Mobile, both these players being well known locally. After Buck Weaver succeeded Musser in the opening round he hurled a good article of ball, the rather bad support counting for many of the runs. There were no errors made, but errors in judgment hurt just as much.

The Gulls started out to win the game in the very first round by sending home four tallies. Four hits, two for extra Musser in the first inning before Manager Smith could yank him and send in Weaver, who allowed the fourth tally of the round. Four more were added by the Guils in the fifth, three of which were gifts, two double steals on which the fielding was had and a wild pitch being the main causes.

Atlanta put over the first run of the game in the first inning. With two gone. Alperman singled and went to second on an error, from where he scored on hit by Welchonce. After that there was never any doubt as to which club

Whitey Alperman and Robertson starred with the willow with three hits each. Next in line was Jacobson and then Bisland and O'Dell. The game was decidedly slow and was featured by many stolen bars, Dunn did not seem able to hold the runners to the paths, though in most instances he was handicapped by men being on both third and first when the steal was started. Each team made one

The second game of the series will be staged Monday and another good crowd is expected, this series having much bearing on the final result.

SO WHAT'S THE USE. "Believe me, kid"-has drawn its final breath; "You said it, Bo"-yes, that has skidded, too-

But while I cheer the death of each refrain. Scarce has the cheering perished in my throat. Before, O worse than anything yet framed, There's always something new to grab my goat.

Nor was I one to weep much at its death.

As for example now, in daily talk Above me hovers ever that dark park-And when somebody springs it then I know

The "I-should-worry" gag smells worse than all.

THE SHUT-OUT EPIDEMIC. Where last season the pitching flurry pointed toward record runs-in which Marquard, Johnson and Wood shattered existing marks for the modern game—the flurry now prevalent seems to point towards shut-out records. Johnson, for one example, has now traveled 35 rounds without permitting a tally. Grover Alexander has worked in 22 innings to date without yielding a run. Young Mr. Seaton of the Phillies spun off two shutouts before it was even slightly dented.

THE WESTERN INVASION.

Western clubs facing an eastern invasion next week are likely to run foul of much better pitching than they have encountered within their own section. The Cubs, as an instance, have been pounding rival pitchers to a dark purple pulp ever since the curtain rose. But while Evers has plenty of batting power on board, it isn't overly probable that his musketry will pull off any incessant firing against such people as Mathewson, Tesreau, Rucker, Alexander, Seaton and several others in the list. The Cubs on this trip will require better pitching than they have drawn. The ability of Larry Cheney alone will never carry through the eastern group. They have at least three tough ball clubs to meet on this tour, which is about two more than they have were forced to meet out west. With the Reds in rout and Pittsburg shy the genius of Wagner.

ABOUT WAGNER.

Wagner, as they say, may be about through. We begin to count blokes like Wagner and Lajoie out when the tombstone has been erected and the last clod piled on.

One of the main pastimes of the Prophet's league for the last four or five seasons has been predicting that Lajoie has played his final game. And after all this-after several seasons of trouble where his legs had eaved in-here is the big Frenchman back in top form-looking better than for five years and batting only about .350.

Wagner may be through, but we doubt it. A good rest-a flare of warm sun and the Dutchman is liable to be in there any week with the same old stuff. Tris isn't saying that Honus will return with any improved fixtures. But he can still skid quite a way back and pike on among those Here's to him for an early return. And we don't care how many clubs his batting beats after he once gets back.

They say Al Bridwell was a dead fish also. In behalf of which Al fits in where J. Tinker left off as if nothing had happened. And fulfilling Tinker's gap is no job for a dead fish-or one paddling with a wounded fin.

When a ball club is forced to depend upon one or two men for success it isn't a ball club to be listed as an advance pennant winner. It was on this account that we ranked the Giants above the Pirates where the genial consessus of outside opinion seemed to be that the Pirates would win by ten

POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

The Value of Public Exibitions.

FOR one can see what a change has been brought about in eight or ten years and the publie spirit of the people of Atlanta and the ones who have large investments and are financially interested in the future prosperity of our country should not allow this state of affairs to exist, but should take up this work and get it started again and keep it up the same as is done in nearly every city the size of Atlanta. The state fair held at Dallas, Tex., Shreveport, La., Columbia, S. C., Nashville, Tenn., Richmond, Va., Louisville, Ky., and many other eastern and western cities show that these exhibitions can be and are successfully and profitably conducted, and there is no reason why they should not be annually conducted in Atlanta.

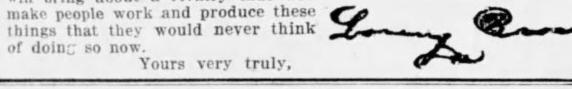

Aside from the financial welfare it is to the country it makes people work and keeps money in circulation that no other means will be the cause of this work being done. It is something the country needs and should be looked after as much so as most any other public interest that the country should take an interest in

The state fair conducted at Macon during the past few years has brought about a big change in this city. Macon is growing by leaps and bounds. Hotel facilities have been much improved. Hundreds of other improvements have been noticeable. Many people have been attracted there by her annual fairs. It is a wise thing for Macon and a profitable investment that the people in this section saw when they landed the state fair in their community, and unless one had particularly noticed the direct benefits it has brought to this town they would little dream of what had been accomplished and had really been brought out by the annual fairs as conducted at Macon.

This state is large enough and a good annual exhibition should not only be conducted at Macon, but Atlanta and Savannah every year. They should be made permanent, and the state could not do a better work or appropriate any money that would be of more lasting benefit to the country than to adopt similar legislations to what Alabama has and have a certain amount of money set aside from each section as Alabama has to help conduct these public enterprises. Montgomery, Birmingham, Mobile, as well as every county in the state of Alabama has a stipulated state appropriation set aside from a small per cent of the tax income to be spent or used in conducting these public exhibitions. It has worked wonders in Alabama and today Alabama is becoming undoubtedly one of the livest and most prosperous agricultural states in the entire south. If it has been a good thing for Alabama and is encouraging the agricultural interests of her state, there is no reason why it should not be for Georgia. If some live legislator would look into how this legislation has been brought shout in Alabama and apply the same laws in Georgia the agricultural interests as well as many other lines of industry would certainly be helped in this state.

We all know that our future prosperity in every line depends altogether on the progress and success of our farming operations, and anything that can be done to encourage or help the agricultural interest of any state it is sure to help every little town as well as the big cities to prosper. Georgia's opportunities and advantages are not utilized as they should be from an agricultural and live : tock standpoint, and there is much room for improvement. We should not boast of and feel that our country is what it should be until we can stop some of the millions of dollars that are brought into our state by cotton from getting away from us for food products. If we did not have the natural advantages to produce these and it could not be done it would be a different proposition, but just so long as we spend more money for food products than our staple crop brings into this state; just so long as this is continued we cannot ever hope to prosper as we should, and nothing will bring about the encouragement of diversified crops and the production of more food products, live stock and poultry than the annual exhibitions in the country which will bring about a rivalry that will

The easy Resinol way to stop skin troubles

The soothing, healing medication in Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap penetrates the tiny pores of the skin, clears them of impurities, and stops itching instantly. Resinol heals eczema, rashes, ringworm, and other eruptions, and removes disfiguring pimples and blackheads quickly and easily, when other treatments prove worse than useless.

Resinol is not an experiment. It is a doctor's prescription which proved so uniformly successful for skin troubles that it has been used by other doctors all over the country for eighteen years. No other treatment for the skin now before the public can show such a record of professional approval.

Practically every druggist, large or small, sells Resinol Ointment (50c and $1) and Remnol Soap (25c), but you can test them at our expense if you prefer. Send to Dept. 17-S. Resinol, Baltimore, Md., for liberal samples and the two new Resinol booklets.

Relieved eczema instantly

Philadelphia, Pa., March 28, 1913: " Resinol has surely been a friend in need to me. I had eczema on my face. It was in the form of a rash. I used many treatments, without any results. I tried Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment and it gave me instant relief, and very thankful I was, for my whole head felt like it was afire. told the doctor about Resinol and he highly recommended it and told me to continue its use. I am now completely cured of that dreadful disease after using only about four jars of Resinol Ointment and washing with Resinol Soap." (Signed) Miss Carolene B. Laughlin, 174
