Country Homes

Your ideal country home, the farm you have long de-sired, the little house with the wide veranda, the gar-den, the bordered wall—all these things that you have planned, await you.

Possibly you have the money saved to purchase such a place, or you are prepared to make an initial payment and pay the balance a little each year?

Then comes the question of how to find the most desirable place. Others have been in the same predicament, have faced a similar problem, and moreover, they have solved it speedily and satisfactorily.

Ask almost anyone who has bought a country home or cottage, what to do, and the will say to you, "Use The Journal Wants."
