NEGRO FOUND IN HOUSE IS WOUNDED BY POLICE

William Ballard Menaces Officers With Razor and Is Shot in Abdomen

At a moment when he thought the house was unoccupied, William Ballard, a negro, entered 43 Virginia avenue, beyond Highland park, Friday afternoon, and proceeded to ransack the place for valuables. Mrs. W. H. Wright was enroute her afternoon nap when she was awakened to the realization that there was an intruder in the house. She departed quietly, and from the home of a neighbor telephoned to Mr. Wright at the office of the Jacob Deld Police company. He in turn telephoned the police. Then police and husband started on a race to the residence.

Meanwhile the negro continued at his work. Arriving first, the police surrounded the place and began searching it. Officer McWilliams and Malcoms searching the second floor while officers Haskett and Harfield stood guard. Found residence when they sought to open the door of the bathroom. They lunged in, found the negro menacing them with a razor, and shot him. The bullet entered the negro's abdomen. Grady hospital doctors say his wound is serious.

Monday We Shall Record a New and Great Economy Event

A March Sale of Muslin Underwear

Coming on the Very Threshold of Spring, Its Fine Savings Could Not be More Timely

It is axiomatic or bromidic---as you please---to say that values are relative. We know no other way of picturing for you the possibilities of this March Sale than by weighing its values against those of the Great White Sale of January.

Judging from the height the sales reached then we have every reason to believe that that was the most value-ful White Sale Atlanta has known.

We inaugurate this March Sale Monday on the proposition that the values are finer than those you took so well to then. Nor do we hesitate to make the comparison between the two sales. The one of January stands firmly on its merits, the best until now. We have outstripped it partly through good fortune, partly through what we are pleased to call shrewd merchandising.

A new maker was anxious to get more of our business, perhaps he made us concessions he would not have made under ordinary circumstances. We were not slow in appreciating the opportunity at hand.

So we shall show you Monday finer nainsooks, cambrics and muslins; daintier laces and embroideries and ribbons; neater stitching and workmanship; more charming; more womanly and daintier and NEW styles at either the same price or a lower price than heretofore.

In several instances we have had to lower prices on garments on hand in order to meet our own competition! It is particularly fortunate that we can offer such an opportunity at this moment when "spring clothes" is the very air that most women are breathing.

Now it is yours to profit! The covers will be lifted at 8:30 Monday.

P. S.--As we append the details below, we realize that they do not create the images that they should (we have seen the garments.) It must revert to that faith you have come to put in Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co.'s printed word.

We have made some strong statements above.

Corset Covers

At 25c Of nainsook; the seams are felled; fly fronts; choose from trimmings of embroidery, of Torchon laces---both finished with wash ribbons.

At 39c Twelve styles at this one price! The nainsook and the laces and embroideries are all daintier than we have ever offered at this price---surprising values; deep trimmings of lace and embroidery combined; simple convent scallops.

At 49c The nainsook is sheer and soft. Corset covers made with the new pique, trimmed with rows of Valenciennes and linen laces, embroidery medallions and lace points. We warrant those who had planned to pay more will be more than contented with these.

Drawers

At 25c Of sturdy muslin, splendid quality; flat leg; embroidery flounce; hemstitched tucks, or cluster tucks with hemstitched hems.

At 49c Of nainsook; flat leg and circular; trimmed with Swiss embroidery in openwork patterns, with lace and embroidery insertions and edges combined, clusters of hemstitched tucks. With these are crepe knickerbockers and bloomers with elastic bands in waist and legs.

Gowns

At 50c Of muslin; high and V-necks; yokes of bands of embroidery and tucks; round necks; short sleeves, finished with linen laces, with embroideries and laces combined. Note that these gowns are full large and long.

At 69c Nainsooks, daintily trimmed with linen laces and embroidery medallions; high, V and round necks; crepes in pink, light blue and white.

At 75c Gowns showing yokes of all-over laces, or of daintily patterned embroideries, edged with laces, ribbon-run. High neck, long sleeves, V-necks, round necks.

At 89c Charming variety, nainsooks and muslins, and plain crepes and Dresden crepes; about any style one might want, and it will be trimmed most effectively with dainty and fine laces or embroideries.

At 98c Note at once the soft, even quality of the nainsook. Some twenty-five styles at this price. The embroideries are of Swiss origin, and laces are dainty and fine. You will buy by the threes and fours!

At $1.25 Of nainsook, trimmed with open patterned Swiss embroideries, shadow laces, French and German Valenciennes laces and linen laces. Particularly pretty Empire styles, finished with ribbons and bows.

At $1.50 to $5.00---with particular stress on those to $3.50! Gowns that show new uses of laces and embroidery---the daintiest baby patterns of Swiss---combined with aéro cloth in yokes. "Sweet," you will say.

Petticoats

At 75c Plain crepe, soft and crinkly, fitted, hemstitched and hem; an unusual value.

At 95c Of muslin, with double panel down front; scalloped edge; fitted and draw-string style.

At $1.25 Of nainsook, trimmed with fine embroideries; double panel; fitted or drawstring style.

Combinations

At 79c Reduced from $1.25 and $1.50; semi-fitted and princess styles; knickerbockers and flat legs; linen, Valenciennes laces, embroidery trimmings, ribbon run belts in some.

At 98c $1.25 and $1.98 are dainty envelope chemise Teddy bears of exceptional value. Some six styles at 98c; in nainsook and crepe. You will be delighted with these.

Princess Slips

At 98c Reduced from $1.50, $1.98 and $2.25 because some of them are a bit mussed. Armholes, yokes and skirts trimmed with laces---Valenciennes and linen laces and embroideries.

Brazil has one of those hard nuts to crack.
England probably admits by now that Uncle Sam isn't hogish.

All congressmen are coming to the aid of the president on the tolls question.
The income tax has already realized $100,000,000 for Uncle Sam, and we ourselves hardly missed the money.

That Regional Bank.

As the time draws near when announcement by the organization committee may be expected, Atlanta's interest grows in the matter of the regional bank for which the city is one of numerous strong competitors.

Various reports have come out of Washington, from news sources, which lead encouragement to Atlanta's hopes in this regard. No one can do more than surmise the foundation existing for these reports, and surmise is excusable solely because they seem to agree on the outcome so far as Atlanta is concerned. Doubtless other cities have received similar encouragement. Atlanta cannot afford yet to take it for granted that fortune has decided in her favor. Indeed, there have been emphatic statements issued by the organization committee that none of these reports can be accepted, inasmuch as the committee itself has not formulated its opinion even tentatively.

Nevertheless, it is pleasant to read repeatedly that Atlanta is to be among the chosen. Soon we should know the decision. Our arguments are in; our facts are filed; we have made our fight. It is to be hoped sincerely that success will be ours.

That earthquake shock was probably the result of March coming in like a lion.

President Wilson continues to offer an example of brevity to editorial writers and such.

Troubles in Brazil will not seriously affect commerce in the United States, according to reliable sources just received.

The Washington correspondents show a commendable willingness to aid the committee in the selection of reserve bank centers.

A prominent Canadian says that Canada would now favorably consider reciprocity, the change of feeling probably arising from the fact that Champ Clark has had no more to say about annexation.

A Contagious Hospital.

The Rotary Club of Atlanta has done a real service to the community in starting a movement for a contagious disease hospital.

The only trouble with Grady hospital is that it is not large enough. There ought to be a special department for contagious diseases, which cannot be admitted to the regular hospital.

The Rotary Club, which takes an active interest in municipal affairs, at a meeting Thursday night offered to provide the necessary furniture for a temporary contagious disease hospital if the city would provide the building and the hospital staff.

With commendable promptness, Mayor Woodward and the city health department joined with the Rotary Club, and in twenty-four hours a building near Grady hospital was ready for business and took in ten patients Friday afternoon.

It is unnecessary to call the attention of the Mayor and General Council to the need for a permanent contagious disease hospital and the need for increasing the facilities of Grady hospital generally, for they appreciate these needs already.
The only reason they haven't been provided is that the city hasn't had the money.

Inasmuch as 90 per cent of the population of Fulton county lives inside the corporate limits of Atlanta, and inasmuch as the bulk of Fulton county's tax money comes from property in the city limits, it would not be amiss for the county to help the city drag along this life.

The county paid half the cost of building the Battie Hill tuberculosis sanitarium, and now helps the city maintain it.

Why should not the county make an appropriation to enlarge Grady hospital, and help carry the burden of operating cost?

A friend may be a chap who hopes that he can use you before you can use him.

With the vote, women might make their rule of men something more than merely informal.

A bore is a man who, when he has an hour to spare, goes and spends it with some one who hasn't.

President Wilson and his administration are as hard at work on March 6, 1914 as they were on March 6, 1913, getting ready for another year of achievement.

It is to be hoped that the government railroad in Alabama will refrain from interfering with any plan that those people may originate.

The Power of Logic.

It is a source of unending amazement to the citizens at large that President Wilson can sway congress so powerfully. Manifestations of the strength of his leadership have been several during the twelvemonth he has been in office. The latest, his conversion of the lawmakers on the canal toll question, is perhaps the most striking, for on that matter congress had committed itself already to free tolls for American ships passing through the canal. Saturday's news is that before the president's verbal message is forty-eight hours old, the leaders in both houses of congress are preparing to repeal the exemption those houses decreed some months ago.
However wonderful it may seem that a single man, even though he be the chosen leader of the nation's affairs, can sway in these free-thinking times the opinions of a majority in the highest legislature of the land, it is not inexplicable. The true agency is logic—honest, dispassionate, dynamic logic.
Mr. Wilson merely possesses an unusual capacity for winning that logic and presenting it to others.
The plan of the situation, stripped of bombast, pomp, and patriotism, pointed to real practical issues in the matter of canal tolls. Congress promises that repeat within a few hours.

Even a man's enemies are anxious to sympathize with his widow.

Many a man who gets his back up is glad to back down later.

Love is blind—especially if the girl has more dollars than sense.

Food Is Cheaper.

News dispatches bring information that the high cost of living is on the decline; that food prices in the United States reached their highest level in twenty-four years on the fifteenth of last November.

This is comforting to the housewives who have been faced each month by supply bills larger than those of the month before. It offers reasonable hope that in the course of time the influence now at work in our nation will have resulted in a return to normal prices and to a normal scale of living. People whose high prices have compelled to curtail expenses have been restless under the continuing upward trend. Yet there have been others whom it affected more seriously, whose expenses already were at the minimum—that is to say, at a point below which they could not contain existence. Life must have food, and warmth, and shelter. These fundamental necessities have increased steadily in cost during the last several years. The influence behind this has not been conspicuous.

Whatever may have been responsible for the condition, relief now seems in sight. If the tariff caused it, that trouble has been remedied. If high finance caused it, that, too, has been corrected. Whatever it may have been, all authorities converge in the belief that a betterment has been effected. Logic traces this improvement to governmental activity. That, in turn, has been inspired by the citizens at large, and has been directed by the cool, clear mentality of our president.
It may be that before Mr. Wilson has been four years in office, instead of just one as at present, we shall see greater changes in conditions under which we live.

Certain it is that these changes are encouraged in every regard by the president himself. He stands for sanity in government, sanity in business, and sanity in individual affairs. He is one leader upon whom this country may place reliance in a degree that would have seemed absurd during the administration of many of his predecessors.

About the surest way for a man to gain a woman's respect is not to merit it.

Any man who boasts of his charitable acts is entitled to a tin horn.

Men want but little here below; but women are always looking for basement bargains.

Editorials in Brief

Honest differences of opinion are to be respected, but things have reached a pretty pass when a Senator of the United States has the cool audacity to intimate, as Mr. Brewster of Kansas has intimated, that the President of the United States is advocating equal canal tolls for all shipping, foreign and domestic, because of the power held over him by the British government and the transatlantic railway.
This is a gross insult to the Chief Magistrate of the country, and we hope that the great State of Kansas will remember it.

Seminally the duty of replying to this heinous accusation has been left to two Senators. Each has approached the question from vital yet different points of view, one from the vantage grounds of international honesty, the other from the level horizons of business sense. "I am satisfied," declares Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, "that the President is entirely guided by what he thinks is due the honor and credit of the United States in our relations with foreign nations. . . . I think," he continues, "that he feels that the position we hold not so many years ago among nations has been discredited and that the time has come to retrace some of the steps taken subsequent to March, 1899." Brave and honest words, for though we can afford to lose money in material gains our honor among the fraternity of nations must be unsullied.

Nor is Senator Owen, of Oklahoma, less sound in his assertion that the plank in the Baltimore platform relating to the immunity of coastwise shipping from tolls not only misrepresents the proper judgment of democrats but violates that principle of a great body of party supporters, that the President of the United States is not to be a tax collector. Moreover, such a policy is unjust to the taxpayers of the country, and, as he believes, not our dollar disguised by the discrimination will, despite the resultant loss of a government revenue, ever find its way to the ultimate consumer.

The Journal's Letter Box

Editor The Journal:
With all the respect to your correspondent who gave you the article which appeared in The Journal on the 18th inst., reporting the killing of an undefined young man by Mr. Andrew Duffie, of this place, I feel like an unintentional injustice has been done Mr. Duffie in the article and he feels it very keenly.

The article referred to would make it appear that the man had merely committed a "harmless" from the house by taking a jar of preserves which he was eating leisurely on the back porch of the house, and that while in such act Mr. Duffie shot and killed him.
The facts in the case are so plain as to indicate a crime of a great deal more serious nature, for the man had burglarized the residence of Mr. Duffie by entering the kitchen through a rear window which he broke open. After he had entered the house he moving around in the kitchen weeks ago. Mr. Duffie's son, sleeping in a back room and he went into his father's room and aroused him and reported that somebody was in the house. By the time Mr. Duffie could locate the burglar he had opened the door from the kitchen to the dining room and passed into that room where he was heard to strike several matches.

Mr. Duffie feared to go in on him in the dining room, and went to the back door. In a few moments the man came out on Mr. Duffie on the back porch, by opening the kitchen door opening out on the back porch. Mr. Duffie was standing in the door of the back room, and when the man came out, and seeing that he had something in his hand which he thought in all probability was a gun, he fired at him. The bullet hit the man in the chest and he fell. He did not know what the man had in his hands or how many men there were. Besides, it was at the dead hour of 2:30 in the night and he made no move whatever until the police arrived, when it was found that the man was dead.

Being suddenly aroused at that hour of the night and hearing a burglar in the house and in a few moments being actually confronted by the man advancing towards him on the back porch, he states that he knew nothing else to do but to defend his home but he did not know what the man had in his hands or how many men there were. Besides, it was at the dead hour of 2:30 in the night and he made no move
whatever until the police arrived, when it was found that the man was dead.

The man who was charged with the crime of the murder of a woman in the city of New York, and who was actually confronted by the man advancing towards him on the back porch, he states that he knew nothing else to do but to defend his home but he did not know what the man had in his hands or how many men there were. Besides, it was at the dead hour of 2:30 in the night and he made no move
whatever until the police arrived, when it was found

A New Profit Sharing Plan.

A plan to share profits with the employees which has been announced by the F. A. Atwood company, of Holyoke, Mass. As the investor of capital is paid earnings in proportion to the money which he puts to work, this company has decided to pay annual earnings to their workers upon the amount of their yearly salaries, or the capital of labor which the workman man has brought to the venture. In other words the man who has invested $500 in cash only draws half the dividend of the company who has invested labor to the amount of $1000 in salary.

Most profit-sharing schemes have been based apparently upon no tangible grounds, other than an arbitrarily determined proportion to which the worker should benefit beyond his regular wage. This has caused largely of paternalism. By regarding the work done by the employee in the light of an investment, however, the matter of his share in profits becomes clearly intelligible.

According to this plan, the workman shares in the profits at the same fixed proportion in which the capitalist shares. Upon a per cent basis, the holder of $500 worth of stock would receive a dividend of $5.00. The plan seems to be that the employee who works for $10.00 a week would receive a dividend of $1.00. At the same time freeing him of an onerous feeling of indebtedness.

The Captains of American Surgery.

A graduate school of surgery unequalled, or at least unequalled in the world, is being organized at the Royal College of Surgeons of Great Britain.
It is planned by the recently formed American College of Surgeons, which 1,100 surgeons from all parts of the United States have joined. The college will will elect its graduate school is still a matter for conjecture. Washington, N. Y., Cleveland, Boston, St. Louis, Philadelphia and Minneapolis are candidates for the site. The college will have a faculty of some 200 men, and will have a city selected and the plan is to be completed by the end of the year.

Being suddenly aroused at that hour of the night
and hearing a burglar in the house and in a few moments being actually confronted by the man advancing towards him on the back porch, he states that he knew nothing else to do but to defend his home but he did not know what the man had in his hands or how many men there were. Besides, it was at the dead hour of 2:30 in the night and he made no move
whatever until the police arrived, when it was found that the man was dead.

Women of today are bringing hand weaving as an "accomplishment" into fashion, no doubt to preserve the technique by which they once clothed all the nations of man. Fabricated by hand, the shawls, scarves, hosiery, ribbons and the like, are being produced in the power-driven machines, hand weaving seemed declined to become one of the lost arts. Here and there, in out-of-the-way places where civilization only preserves occasionally in the way of curious relics, adventurers and traders who understand entering into the market for the novel hand weaving machine, decreasing prices. Even to these places some producers of the power loom, demonstrating that the commercial value of finger technique is fast fading to an end. Amongst handweavers, Persian rugs, certain brocades and cashmere shawls, and the like, are market with favors of the power loom. There is a sentiment in their favor, which the textile world, the needle and frame of steel cannot impart.

Hand weaving, however, is now being revived. Once a vocation, it has become an accomplishment.
It is being taught in girls' seminaries, in the public schools, in normal schools and in schools of handicrafts. Its commercial value is confined to patterns of highly intricate design. For all other purposes the power loom is still the only one. It is now being tended from four to twenty-four looms, each weaving from 200 to 400 threads a minute, has won an indisputable victory.

In the public schools and kindergartens the children are taught to weave, paper dolls, paper houses, carpets and, finally, cloth and rugs. This work develops their taste. The children are taught to weave the same patterns as the adults, and the result is a growth of patience, industry, perseverance, economy in the use of material, and a sense of the value of the work. It is a community feeling and a wholesome appreciation of labor, and supplies a mechanical basis for the study of art.

At the Macmillan Institute, Rochester, N. Y., the highest type of creative, artistic work is taught.

Tris Speaker Will Receive Record Salary

Red Sox Outfield Star Listens to Federal Offer and Then Signs With Boston for a Consideration of $18,000 a Year—Gets Bonus for Signing

NEW YORK, March 7.—The banquet tonight at which the Chicago White Sox and the New York Giants will be the guests of honor will close the work of baseball frenzy that has reigned in New York.

Manager McGraw plans to leave with his tourist players tomorrow or Monday for Martin, Texas, and owner Charles F. Ginter and the White Sox will stay for the night to join other members of the team already in training. Federal league officials will be in the city to meet the players in the morning and when they arrive in the city will be met by a high water mark for athletes who will leave town.

The salary Tris Speaker is to receive from the Boston American league club was today the subject of much speculation. It is understood that Speaker's contract calls for an annual salary of $18,000 or $19,000 and in addition to this he got a $1,000 bonus for signing. Before signing a Boston contract Speaker listened to the Federal offer and demanded a five-year contract instead of three years. He also demanded the elimination of the clause in the contract which gives a club the privilege of dropping a player at ten days' notice.

This record price tops all salaries ever paid in the history of the national game. Joe Tinker has a contract with the Federal league which calls for $17,500 in a three-year contract. Speaker will get a big salary from the same league and Charles F. Ginter will receive almost as much with the Baltimore club.

Every salary with the Boston National league is $18,000 a year, and it is stated that Matthews' new contract with the Giants provides for a salary of at least $18,000 a year. It is also stated that Matthews will be paid $1,000 a year.

Other players who have signed with the Federal league are Sam Crawford, pitcher, and Hal Chase, pitcher, of the Chicago Cubs; Les McGee and Steve Keane and "Pittie" Doolan.

The National league meeting resulted in no decision with regard to the Chicago-Boston club deal for the signing of Johnny Evers, former Chicago manager, and Hal Chase, pitcher, of the Chicago club. After two sessions the board of directors announced that final settlement of the Evers-Chase deal was left to President Tinker. As the situation stands now, Evers and Chase will be paid as much as the other players of the club.

Charles P. Tatt, who owns a majority of the stock of the New York Giants club, will remain in control until one of several offers is made to him. His interest is arranged. This announcement was made yesterday by President Tatt, who has let it be known that he favors Chicago people as owners of the club.

Mr. Tatt has set a price on his stock and President Tinker said that the figure is large and carries with it the implication that the minority stockholders will have the option of disposing of their holdings at the same figure per share at the time the majority stock is sold.

Nat'l. Commish Cuts Pfy Off

CINCINNATI, Ohio, March 7.—The national baseball commission today denied the request of Player M. C. Pfl that he be declared a free agent and ruled that the New York National league club is entitled to his services for the coming season.

Pfl applied and was restored to eligibility as a member of the New York National league club on October 2, 1912. He was released last December to the Chattanooga club.

Both the New York and Chattanooga clubs then made repeated efforts to get in touch with the player, but were unable to do so, and Chattanooga returned him to New York.

Pfl's contention was that he was not considered a contract up to February 2, and on that account requested the commission to determine if he was a free agent.

Dan Murphy Has Not Signed With Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Conn., March 7.—Dan Murphy, outfielder of the Philadelphia long line team who yesterday denied that he had been signed to play with Baltimore of the International league, today said he was mystified by the statement of Manager Dunn of the latter team to the effect that the change had been made.

THE SPARKLIGHT BY GRANTLAND RICE

This is a yarn about Four Pitchers. It is neither a sermon nor yet a lecture upon morality. It is mainly a statement of unbiased fact, unadorned and to the point.

These Four Pitchers—two right-handers and two left-handers—started from about the same point—that is with about the same natural ability. But they picked out different highways. Christy Mathewson and Eddie Plank decided to stick to the straight and narrow. They settled down to business from the start—made it a point to keep in condition and to pass up the outside fluff which leads to a big league evening but a bush league dawn in the morning after.

These two are now the veterans of the National and American leagues, starting their fourteenth big league season as high priced men. One of them, Mathewson, in his fourteenth start is still able to name the biggest salary paid to any slabanian in the game.

BUGS AND THE RUBIE. Waddell and Raymond carried as much combined ability as Mathewson and Plank. Neither was as sure in the dome but they probably had even greater physical strength. But they picked the other road in driving, penniless, dependent upon the charity of an old employer.

If they had followed the same low path selected by Matty and Plank, Waddell today would be at the end of a remarkable career worth over $100,000, and Raymond would be one of the great pitchers of the game with six or seven years' head.

Judging from this there isn't much argument left as to the way that pays.

THE MIRACLE MAN. Matty, the Miracle Man, has added another spring of olive to his already famed collection of the same. A fact that he has managed to stick under the big tent for thirteen seasons is something. Of the 150 slabanians now in the two major circuits only one other has carried as far.

This is Eddie Plank of the Macklin baseball, or words to about that effect.

But in these thirteen years Mathewson has been something more than one of the great pitchers. He has been the mainstay in the box from the year he started through his last campaign. He has combined the qualities of a Colt and a truck horse. He has been a genius and a drudge. In addition to all his work under fire for a long time he has spent a big part of his career warming up in center field as the main warming crew—which happens to be the hardest work in the game.

Through a long run of campaigns he was called upon to take the place of the main warming crew in the box when the main warming crew was away on a long tour of duty.

Frenchmen Are Beginning To Like Baseball

Recent Visit of Giants and White Sox to Paris Has Renewed Interest in Our National Game—Lack of Playing Grounds a Handicap

PARIS, March 7.—There are many indications that baseball will gain a real foothold in France this year. The visit of the New York and Chicago teams, which are concluding their tour of the world, will be followed by organized effort on the part of many of the French owners of the American game to popularize it here.

One of the handicaps to the growth of baseball in France, and which has been the generation of national resources, is the lack of playing grounds in the country.
