Hoke Smith Still Busy ON RESERVE BANK FIGHT

Rumors That Matter Has Been Settled Are Without Foundation

—BY RALPH SMITH.

Washington, March 7.—That Senator Hoke Smith does not accept as correct the prophesy that Atlanta has won the fight for a regional bank was demonstrated today when he disregarded the advice of his physician and braved inclement weather to appear before members of the organization committee with additional data supporting Atlanta's case.

The senator will not be lulled into a sense of false security by the publication of untimely stories about the location of regional banks that are as displeasing to the organization committee as they are misleading to persons who read them. Atlanta may or may not lead a regional bank, but her case will not be helped by the circulation of rumors as facts in the face of emphatic assertions from the organization committee that nothing has been decided.

Senator Smith is not relying upon publicity to win the fight for the southern states at Atlanta. He is depending upon the force of facts and argument clearly and frankly presented to the members of the committee. He spent two hours at the treasury department today, strengthening Atlanta's case. When he returned to his home he had no prediction to make and probably next week he will see the members of the committee again.

The regional bank and the arrival of the only matters that took the senator from his home during the week just ended. Twice he was called to the capital on business connected with the war.

His colleagues and twelfth he visited the treasury department on the regional bank matter.

When Senator West's credentials reached Washington, Mr. Smith was in bed. He disregarded a snowstorm to attend a session of the senate and present the credentials in order that his colleagues as the legality of his colleagues' appointment might be raised. Then when Senator West came yesterday to take the oath of office, Mr. Smith was on hand. When Senator Smith was at home, he was conducting an aggressive campaign for the regional bank. He dictated letters to his stenographers and his had other clerks busy compiling statistical data, all of which found their way to the organization committee.

Brilliant Opera Season Is Ahead; Season Ticket Sale Opens Tomorrow

Caruso and Farrar to Appear Together for the First Time. Several New Operas to Be Given This Year

—BY DUBREY CLARK.

By 9 o'clock tomorrow morning a flood of checks and currency will begin to pass over the counters of the managers of Phillips & Crew and the C. L. P. company in exchange for yellow sheets of pasteboard. It will be the opening day of the season seat sale for Atlanta's sixth season of Metropolitan grand opera, and it promises to be heavier than any opening day since opera and Atlanta made friends.

There are always individuals and parties who have favorite seats in the great auditorium, and these must appear early lest someone forestall them. There are dozens of folks who have occupied the same seats through the five weeks of opera in the past and who would not feel at home elsewhere. The sale will continue through March practically the same this year as they were last. Season seats for the seven performances in the first twenty-four rows of the arena are $2. Season seats in the arena from row 25 to 4 inclusive, are $1.50. Season seats in the first three rows of the dress circle are $1. The next three rows in the dress circle are $1.50, and behind that in the dress circle some of the season seats are $1.50. Season seats in the balcony range in price from $1 to $7.

Seats for single performances range from $5 to $1. A six-seated box for the season costs $15, and for single performance costs $5. A four-seated box for the season costs $12, and for single performance costs $4. Orders by mail will receive attention in the order they arrive. All mail orders must be accompanied by check, draft or money order, and with self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. All checks should be made payable to the Atlanta Music Company, and all mail orders and communications should be addressed to R. Blawie, treasurer, 2007 Third National bank building.

"Madeline" will give us Mme. Alda, Leonora Spencer, Paul Althouse, a young tenor who will have his Atlanta opportunity, and De Segura.

"The Masked Ball" will appear Caruso; either Amato or Gilly; Ramo; Destini or Gaski, and several lesser lights.

"Trovatore" a matinee performance, will be sung again this year by Gaski or Destini, Mme. Oboe in the spy role, Martin as Manrico and either Gilly or Amato as the Count. The only Puccini opera on the bill this season is "Madame Butterfly," the appealing story of Japan in which the organization is so superb in the baritone role of Sharpless.

ONE WAGNER WORK.

"Lohengrin," the three opera evening here by the Metropolitan, will be repeated this year, with Destini or Gaski as Elsa; the new German tenor, Berger, as Lohengrin; Mme. Oboe the Ortrud; and Herbert Witherston in the great bass part.

In "Die Walkure" we shall, of course, hear Caruso with the Solo Song, Amato or Gaski as Wotan, and the Ortrud with the soprano Prologue, while Hilda Allen or Rita Formis will sing Njord.

Toscanini, the greatest Italian conductor in the world, will direct the orchestra at several performances, with Alfred Hertz as the German works and Hageman the lighter opera.

The prices both for season seats and for seats for single performances are practically the same this year as they were last. Season seats for the seven performances in the first twenty-four rows of the arena are $2. A TREAT IF CONSTIPATED, BILIOUS, SICK, USE GENTLE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS"

Delicious "fruit laxative" cleanses stomach, liver and bowels

A harmless cure for sick headache, biliousness, sour stomach, constipation, indigestion, coated tongue, sluggishness, etc.

For the cause of all such misery comes from a torpid liver and sluggish bowels. A tablespoonful tonight means all constipation, biliousness, sour stomach, flatulence, food and sour bile gently moved out of your system by morning.

Without cringing. Please don't think of "California Syrup of Figs" as a physic. Don't think you are drugging yourself or your children, because this delicious fruit laxative cannot cause injury. Even the most delicate child can take it as safely as a robust man. It is the most harmless, effective stomach, liver and bowel cleanser, regulator and tonic ever devised.

For every difficulty may be in getting the genuine, so ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company," and that it contains the name of the company on the wrapper.

This city has many counterfeit "fig syrups," so watch out.—(Adv.)

HOW MANUFACTURING HAS MADE RAILROAD FRONTAGE A MOST DESIRABLE ASSET OF ATLANTA REAL ESTATE

Nearly 150 Freight Trains Enter and Leave Atlanta Daily, and Local Manufacturers Supply Markets as Far off as the Pacific Coast-- How the Demand for Railroad Sites Ranges From the Expensive Locations on Main Thoroughfares to the Cheaper Sites

UNKNOWN to the average Atlantian are manufacturing concerns here which send their salesmen to the Pacific coast, where retailers and jobbers use their output. There are manufacturers in Atlanta who supply articles to the big department stores in New York and Chicago. The fact that 140 freight trains go in and out of Atlanta every day is an indication of the position this city occupies as a manufacturing center.

The accompanying illustrations give an idea of the railroad sections of the city, and the diagram, taken from the latest issue of the Atlanta Commercial and Industrial Bulletin, which is issued by the Industrial and Statistical bureau of the chamber of commerce, of which W. H. Leahy is the head, shows the position of Atlanta are in Atlanta and Fulton county 600 manufacturing concerns, with a capital of $5,000,000 and a value of manufactured products of $50,000,000.

The government census of 1910 gave Atlanta and Fulton county 648 enterprises, with a capital of $44,000,000, and a value of products of over $42,000,000, so the increase in these items are 52 plants, nearly $11,000,000 in capital, and over $6,000,000 increase of the value of the manufactured products.

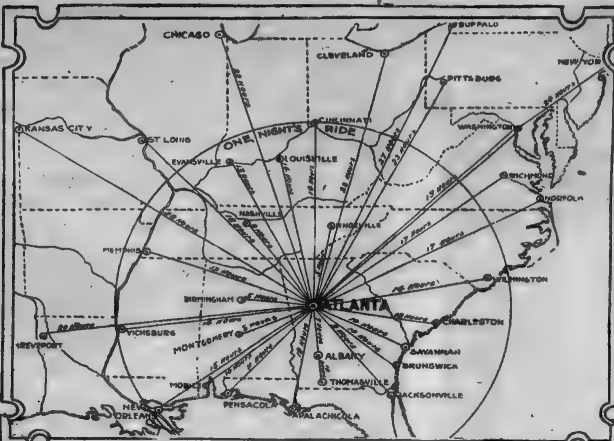

INDUSTRIAL TOURS.
A recent industrial tour of Atlanta, inaugurated by the chamber of commerce, opened the eyes of Atlantians to the number of manufacturing plants located on the railroads in and near the city, and the success of that tour has resulted in the determination to they do seek an inexpensive location where their carload shipments can be unloaded or stored.

A conspicuous example of a concern which bought a high-priced location is the automobile company which will erect its great assembly plant on Ponce de Leon avenue and the Southern railway belt line.

The other example is of a concern which bought a cheap lot on the A. B. and A. railroad on the west side, where it has erected oil tank to receive shipments of gasoline.

There are cases of manufacturing concerns which buy small acreage tracts on the railroads some distance out, so as to be prepared when their

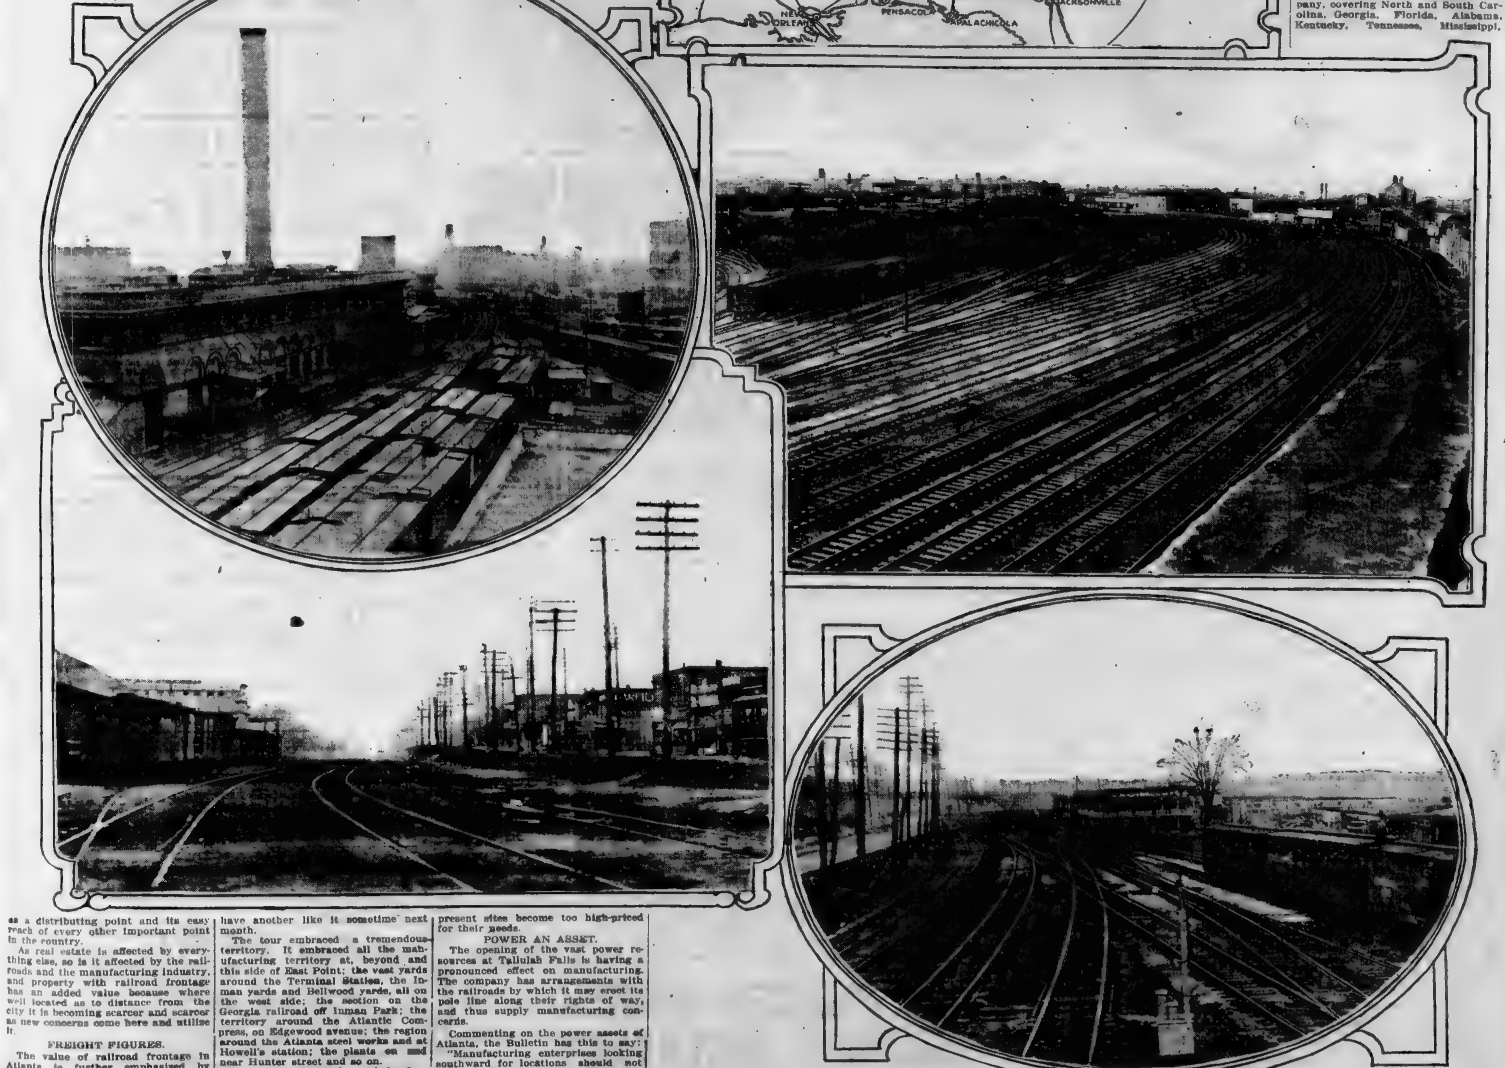

Startling Figures on Manufacturing and How the Railroads Handle the Output. Value of Property at and on the Railroads seventeen miles, and one to Stone Mountain, Ga., a distance of seventeen miles, one of the south's greatest curiosities being the largest mountain of stone in the world.

Atlanta is the headquarters of the most stupendous development of hydro-electric power in operation in the south, with a lower rate on power and light than any of the larger cities in the south.

Atlanta covers thirty square miles of territory and there is an abundance of available properties, both in and outside of the city, in tracts of any size desired, located on railroad frontage or otherwise for manufacturing purposes.

Atlanta is traffic headquarters for Southeastern railroads, the offices of the Southeastern Freight and Passenger associations being located here, for the telephone companies, being headquarters for the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company, covering North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, as a distributing point and its easy reach of every other important point in the country.

As real estate is affected by everything else, so is it affected by the railroads and the manufacturing industry, and property with railroad frontage has an added value because where well located as to distance from the city it is becoming scarcer and scarcer as new concerns come here and utilize it.

FREIGHT FIGURES.
The value of railroad frontage in Atlanta is further emphasized by freight statistics compiled by Mr. Leahy's bureau. As previously stated, 140 freight trains a day enter and leave Atlanta. Each of the Atlanta lines operates what is called the pack car service, affording local shippers what the carriers term express service at freight rates.

The cars are loaded for certain stations exclusively where the volume of business is sufficient, otherwise they are loaded for a group of stations located within a short distance of each other.

The cars in all cases are handled on fast trains. The A. B. and A. railroad handles 27 such cars; the Atlanta Joint Terminals, 87 cars; the Central of Georgia, 52; the Seaboard Air Line, 27; the Southern railway 191, and the W. and A. N. C. and St. L. 52, making a total of 465.

"In view of the above facts," says the Bulletin, "it is only natural that Atlanta should be and is traffic headquarters for the southeastern freight and passenger associations being located here."

have another like it sometime next month.

The tour embraced a tremendous territory. It embraced all the manufacturing territory at, beyond and this side of East Point; the vast yards around the Terminal Station, the Inman yards and Bellwood yards, all on the west side; the section on the Georgia railroad off human Park; the territory around the Atlantic Commerce, on Edgewood avenue; the region around the Atlanta steel works and at Howell's station; the plants on and near Hunter street and so on.

The tour consumed a whole day, and was an education along the line of Atlanta's industrial development.

CONCERNS LOCATING HERE.
The statistical bureau of the chamber of commerce is in constant communication with concerns seeking locations here, and hardly a day passes but that they receive an inquiry of this kind.

The main thing, of course, is the selection of a site. This site must have railroad frontage, and some concerns are content with being near the railroads. In any event, the railroad is a necessary adjunct.

Railroad frontage not too far from the center, on a main thoroughfare and with good car service, so that the convenience of employees can be served, is scarce and high priced, and the problem is to find the proper location at the proper price.

Consequently railroad frontage has become an established and desirable commodity of real estate, and will be more and more so as the city grows and its industrial enterprises multiply.

There is a demand for all kinds of frontage. Some concerns do not require the high priced location, but present sites become too high-priced for their needs.

POWER AN ASSET.
The opening of the vast power resources at Tallulah Falls is having a pronounced effect on manufacturing.

The company has arrangements with the railroads by which it may erect its pole line along their rights of way, and thus supply manufacturing concerns.

Commenting on the power assets of Atlanta, the Bulletin has this to say: "Manufacturing enterprises looking southward for locations should not overlook the advantages Atlanta has to offer in motive power. It can be asserted without fear of successful contradiction that nowhere south of the Ohio river and east of the Mississippi can legitimate power rates for manufacturing be secured lower than those prevailing in Atlanta."

"This fact, which is of course of vital importance to every manufacturer or industrial enterprise using power, is due primarily to the abundance of hydro-electric current generated in this territory and the natural advantages under which the electric plants are operated. One hydro-electric development alone, within 100 miles of Atlanta, sends 30,000 horse-power into this vicinity, and because the peculiar formation of the river bed in which it is located affords the ideal water power facilities, the cost of manufacturing the current is small enough to permit the operating company to furnish it to consumers at rates rarely obtainable. It is very probable that lower permanent rates than those prevailing in Atlanta be secured for factories."

"With this condition existing, and it can unquestionably be demonstrated to anyone interested in this subject, it behooves the individual or firm seeking location in the southern territory to carefully investigate the subject of motive power rates before a final selection of site is made."

The Industrial and Statistical Bureau of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce will gladly put anyone interested in this matter into communication with the proper authorities for furnishing all the necessary information concerning the rates obtainable here and elsewhere."

ATLANTA FACTS TERSKELY TOLD.
BY W. H. LEAHY.
W. H. Leahy, formerly a railroad man, and now head of the statistical bureau of the chamber of commerce, has condensed for The Journal some interesting facts about Atlanta as a manufacturing city.

Mr. Leahy is in constant receipt of letters from concerns all over the country which are seeking locations here, and he meets a great many people who come to the city looking over the situation.

The appointment of Mr. Leahy to this position shows what an important feature of the city's industrial life manufacturing has come to be.

Mr. Leahy's figures are as follows: Atlanta is a city of 216,000 population.

Atlanta is the manufacturing and distributing center of the Southeast. Atlanta is within a night's ride of cities on the border of what is known as the Southeastern territory, considering such as bounded on the north by the Ohio and Potomac and on the west by the Mississippi river, the principal cities on the border being Cincinnati, Louisville, Evansville, St. Louis, Memphis, Vicksburg, New Orleans, Mobile, Pensacola, Jacksonville, Brunswick, Savannah, Charleston, Wilmington and Norfolk.

Atlanta has 600 manufacturing plants with a capitalization of $55,000,000 and value of manufactured products of $50,000,000.

Atlanta's manufacturing plants produce a more varied line of products than any city in the South.

Atlanta's railroads radiate to every point of the compass, affording unparalleled transportation facilities.

Atlanta enjoys, in addition to the steam railroads, thirty-four miles of interurban railways, one line operating to Marietta, a distance of Louisiana and the southern parts of Indiana and Illinois.

Atlanta was the great strategic point in the closing campaign of the Civil war, the city being the key, so to speak, to the southeastern situation and after the famous Battle of Atlanta, one of the most noted conflicts of the Civil war, General Sherman, without further opposition, proceeded on his famous march to the sea.

Atlanta is the fourth insurance center of the United States.

Atlanta is the second mule market in the world.

Atlanta is the only city between Baltimore and New Orleans which actually sells foreign exchange. Atlanta enjoys the trade of $3,000 merchants and in 1913 a general commercial business of $246,000,000.

Mrs. Davenport Opens the Salons of Dressmaking

MRS. DAVENPORT has been in New York attending the Annual Spring Display of foreign fashions and models for dressmakers, where Poiret, Bremet, Bernard, Callot, Cheruit and other leading Paris designers exhibit their many clever creations.

From a careful study of these creations Mrs. Davenport has gleaned many ideas which she will use to advantage in her Spring designing.

Mrs. Davenport also selected exclusive models and such materials and trappings as are approved by Paris. She is ready to book orders from these fabrics for individual suits, gowns, dancing frocks, Spring wraps and costumes.

Photographs of authentic fashions, received daily from Paris, embrace suits, gowns, blouses and wraps. Any of these garments will be reproduced in detail or adapted to suit the tastes of the individual.

Scores of New Spring Suits

We're as Proud of this Captivating Display
As You Will Be Pleased to Choose From It

One finds it a pleasure to choose from such an assemblage of fine suits. There are more suits, more models at each price, newer and more distinguished designs, smarter and snappier styles than women would expect to find, even in April.

The smart, new short coats, with postillion basques, with draped belts, or with tassels; the tunic skirts, in a half score of styles; the new sleeves, the belted cuffs, the double collars, the fine gabardines, the men's wear, serges, the exquisite failles, the new poplin crepes and the waffle crepes; and the new color tones; all have their showings.

Silks Play a Prominent Part in Suit Styles

There are all-silk suits of moires, taffetas, crepes, failles and novettes. Chiffon taffetas combine with suits in wondrous ways. A wool suit has coat with taffeta sleeves and tunic. Other wool suits have ruffles of taffeta on coats or skirts. The entire showing is for you to see and to enjoy. If you wish a suit for your very own, you will find the prices very moderate.

Wool suits $16.75 to $115. Silk suits $29.50 to $157.50.

Chiffon Taffeta Dresses at $29.50

We're specializing on silk dresses at $29.50, hence an unrivaled showing in plains, changeables and flowered patterns. Among the latter we show some exceptionally clever Pussy Willow taffeta dresses. Sizes and styles to please all. Choice $29.50.

Embroidered Robes in Wondrous Array

A Galaxy of Fashionable Fabrics Exquisitely
Embroidered Awaits Milady's Choosing

DESIGNERS dreamed visions of loveliness; fairy fingers crystallized them into dreams of beauty--the result is before you. Fascinating! Wait until you see the embroideries. Spring Cottons Have Blossomed

Novelty Dress Fabrics Have Unfolded
In an Enchanting Garden of Beauty

MANY of the beautiful fabrics, which left Europe later than the others, have fluttered into the garden of Wash Cottons like apple-blossom petals. They make still more bewitching a gathering that has already attracted the attention of Atlanta women--generally by its rich variety, and by daring originality and exclusiveness of the designs it includes. Fabrics can be classified in four groups:

The Charming Crepes

Make a brave show. 40-inch white crepes at $1 are embroidered in colors; solid colors have raised plaids or stripes; others have plaids or stripes of variegated colors. At $1.50 to $3 are flower designs of bewitching delicacy, exquisite embroidered effects and exclusive Paris patterns. All the other end at 25c up are solid color crepes, flared and striped patterns.

Ratines Run the Gamut

Of plain colors with nubs and stripes; black and white checks and stripes; rich Scotch plaids and all sorts of novelty weaves 25c to $2.50.

Linens Are Favored

for suits and dresses. All weights and textures--plain, ruffled and crepe. France, Ireland and Germany contribute their best. 25c to $2.50; the latter for a linen ratine.

Silk & Cotton Fabrics

are entrancing. There are solid colors in crepe de chine at $1.50; sponges at $1; flared crepes at $1. A self striped crepe is delightful for draperies; an embroidered crepe is stunning for exclusive gowns. Brocaded designs in solid colors are fetching, novel effects from Switzerland fairly captivate. It's showing that is good to see.

March Oriental Rug Sale

Save a Fifth to a Third

THE "Dark Ages" are just disappearing from the commercial world. Selling Oriental Rugs without sham, evasion or quibbling is the work of the modern store. There is no difficulty in determining the market value of an Oriental Rug--the customs authorities have very clear standards of value-gauging, and the ad valorem duty is based on this knowledge. To be sure a sentimental value attaches to rare specimens--but these must be rare from the museum standpoint, rather than from a commercial standpoint, to make the value unobtainable.

Though savings range from a fifth to a third; some rugs show larger savings, such as a $25 Kazak at $15 / $150 Kurdistan at $75 $80 Iran at $35 / $200 Camel's-hair $100 $85 Iran at $35 / $350 Kirmanshah $225

25c to $1.25 a doz. buttons on cards at 10c a card

To set the button stock in shipshape for spring, we've brought forth all the odd buttons in fancy styles. These buttons vary in size and shape from a pea to a half dollar. All good styles; they simply happen to be in stock. Find them on cards--a fourth dozen, a half dozen, a dozen to card. The higher priced they are, the fewer to the card. Values 25c, 50c, 75c, $1 and $1.25 a dozen; choose the card size.

Black and White Jewelry 50c

The most fashionable novelty today. A brooch, pin or Sterling silver is surrounded with black enamel, outlined by one row of brilliant. 5-inch black hat pins set with brilliant and pearls. Two on card 50c. Imported black and white hat pins, each 50c. Black jet earrings, set with white brilliant 50c.

THE WEEK IN RETROSPECT

A SERIES of informal parties have broken the Lenten quietude, of the past week. While there is no formal entertaining to be seen at the time and informal gatherings following the Lenten season have been pleasant social events. Tuesday afternoon a large number of interested women gathered at the home of Mrs. J. H. Little, of Chicago, to give a scholarly presentation of the life and character of Mark Twain before the dramatic club.

Mr. Jones followed the life of the dramatist from his early school days, traced the influence exerted by rugged surroundings upon the formation of his character, and gave wonderful details of the splendid scenery of his river land, the love of which was incorporated into the very essence of his work.

The grandeur of the mountain scenery of the magnificence of the waterfalls, the Jones seemed to think is found again in the stern, rugged and uncompromising dramatic which has been the lot of them to his century.

MRS. FREDERICK S. LITTLE, of New York, the guest of Mrs. Edward H. Inman, has been entertained in a delightfully informal way during the past week. Monday Mr. and Mrs. John D. Little gave a small bridge-dinner for the early part of the week with Mr. and Mrs. Inman. The party was given at the home of Mrs. Little, who spent the early part of the week with Mr. and Mrs. Inman. Crackers Look Good on Form Shown to Date

New Talent Lined Up by Manager Smith Creates Favorable Impression—McConnell, Schwind, Lynch, Munch and Kircher Look Good—No Line on Hurlers Yet

By Innis Brown

They all look good far away," remarks the Honorable Ruben Goldberger, who might leave you to infer that few of them will bear close inspection, in a light to exact favorable comment. In making this casual observation, Goldberger draws no lines of limitation, and you can apply it equally to prima donnas or Peaches, to automobiles or fancy valets. Also you can apply it to ball players.

Now if Herr Goldberger had made a general reference to the aggregation of first-class players who are at present appearing under the standard of Billy Smith, commander in chief of Crackers, he might have made the same observation that some hold up under the acid test of the milt-to-milt examination. Yes, sir, this bunch of baseball artists who have just congregated in our midst, fall far short of shining up to insignificance, when looked with the naked eye, from near at hand.

At odd intervals for the past three or four days, the boys have been dropping in camp. Some had only short stints to make, others came from afar, and a part of them found pretty tough landing in getting here, owing to the recent storms that all wrecked and scattered the railroad cars from near at hand.

Scribes Booted This One, Says Grantland Rice

Famous Sport Writer Tells How Charlie Murphy Told of Firing Evers and Hiring
Hank O'Day but Baseball
Scribes Took It as a Joke

NEW YORK, March 7.—We have with us today, though a trifle belated, a

Depicting the enormous amount of bone or ivory arranged in the home of thought of the earnest athlete has long been one of the favorite pastimes of the game's historians. There have also been a number of pressing rumors to the effect that bone was not totally absent in the attics of some of our most eminent magnates.

The facts in the case are about this: Early in the afternoon of the day before the Evers story broke at N. headquarters, a number of intent and hustling scribes were on the job at the Waldorf.

About 2:30 p. m. along comes Charles Murphy and bumps into scribe No. 1. "Any news?" queries the scribe. "Sure," remarks Murphy: "Here's a good one for you. I've just fired Evers."

The scribe grinned, walked away and forgot about it.

A few steps farther on Murphy bumped into a nest of historians. "Any news, Charley?" asked two or three together.

"News—I should say so," countered Murphy. "I've just fired Evers as manager and appointed Hank O'Day in his place."

"Oh, very well," replied the Cub manager, "if you guys don't want a good story what are you around for?"

All this developed at 2:26 with over two hours still left to make a big afternoon deal. But no one took the stuff seriously. Four hours later, when all final editions were closed, Jim Gaffney rushes down with the startling announcement:

"Say, Murphy has canned Evans and appointed Hank O'Day. The story just broke in the meeting and there's a lot to pay."

The pained, anguished look upon the number of highly intelligent faces will not be forgotten soon, and the language which followed, while expressive and descriptive, with a touch of consideration for the man's personal and family merit, will never get into print.

Manager Del Howard, of the San Francisco team, who tried to reform Spencer, has now signed Benny Henderson and is quite sure that Benny will keep a promise made to stay on the water wagon.

Famous Driver and Designer of Motor Cars Expects That Speed Records Will Be Broken at Big Memorial Day Race on Indianapolis Speedway

That American makers have awakened to the fact that European buyers regard speed prowess as indicating the value of a car is also true. Only a few American manufacturers have taken the matter as seriously as European manufacturers, however, and consequently the representation will be small and the preparations less carefully made. For example, most American makers will not enter the market whereas the European never stakes his chances on less than a team of three.

That being the case, the smallest company will meet the Europeans on their own ground—or rather in their own way. Three racing cars designed by Ray Harroun are now almost ready for the test under which the designer has guaranteed they will make a lap (3 1-2 miles) on the Indianapolis speedway in less than 1:27—a second faster than any car has ever negotiated a lap on that track.

Tech High Boys Are Lining Up For Baseball

Fifty-Eight Candidates Respond to First Call for Diamond Material to Represent the Junior Smithies—Several Members of Last Year's Team on Hand

Now that basketball for the 1914 season has ended, and spring is on the way, the local press are rapidly forming their baseball teams for the coming season. At Tech High school practice has been going on for over three weeks, and a good line can be secured upon the various players that are trying for berths on the Tech High team.

When candidates were first called, fifty-eight men turned out for the team and from that bunch Tech High had its first difficulty in getting a line team.

Of the fifty-eight men that answered the call for baseball, thirty-five were tried for the team. This department last year was one of Tech High's weakest points, and it worried them considerably that this year with such a large amount of material as they have out, they should have had difficulty in getting a line team.

At every position there is at least two men trying out for the job. Tech High according to the advance data, the team will have a good organization.

PHILIP CATCHERS
At the position of catcher, three men are trying out and all three of them are good performers. Hooper, Harland and Edmonson are the three that have turned out for the position.

All of these, while not being new to Tech High, are new men to the team of this year having played in the local league before. Hooper, Harland and Edmonson, who are all about five feet tall, and weighing in the neighborhood of one hundred and fifty pounds.

Edmonson is a tall, well built man, and he has a good deal of promise of being a good receiver. Harland is a good receiver, Harland ordinarily would make any good team a good one. Hooper is a good receiver, and he has a good deal of promise of being a good receiver.

MOHREN TO PLAY FIRST.
The first base problem will not cause Tech High school any considerable worry this year. Mohren, who is a senior, is a good player, and he is at present trying for the position. He is a good player, and he is at present trying for the position.

Jack Wells Says "Inside Ball" is Largely Back

Former Big League Catcher Says Stories of Intricately Concealed Plays on the Diamond Are Mostly Imagination—Secret of Success Quick Thinking

Bu Inns Brown
Former big league ball player, subsequently manager, later president of the Virginia league, and present owner of a string of theaters, has just left Atlanta after a visit of several days. In spite of the fact that he gives up most of his time at present to his theatrical interests, Jack is still a regular fan, and nothing gives him more pleasure than a real fanning bee about ball players, and their activities. We struck him at night since, and the discussion was turned to "inside baseball," that is, "inside ball."

"I'm going to tell you just what I mean," he said. "I just plain tell you, I'm going to tell you just what I mean. I'm going to tell you just what I mean. I'm going to tell you just what I mean."

BASEBALL IN 1914

What's It Going to Be Like?

Hugh Fullerton, the Most National Expert on the Great Game, Is Going to Find Out!

Fullerton, who is regularly engaged as a special writer for "The Atlanta Journal" sports department, has started on a tour of the training camps. He's going to look them over carefully and find out just how seriously the new Federal league has hit them.

And, of course, he'll give the new Federal league the once or twice over and tell you what he thinks about the clubs of the new organization!

His first article from the training camps is printed herewith. Look out for Fullerton's daily article in "The Atlanta Journal" on the great state of baseball and the prospects of 1914 baseball.

Noted Expert Thinks Birmingham's Crew Looks Better Than It Has in Years, in Spite of Federal League Raids—Unfavorable Weather Halts Practice

By Hugh S. Fullerton

ATHENS, Ga., March 7.—Cleveland's team, which is already shooing by Federal League, and just rallying from the shock, has another serious setback in the misadventure of training plans for the first week. Just how much the week of rain and snow, followed by the coldest weather of the year in Georgia, has damaged the "Haw" pennant chances is hard to calculate.

They are waiting for the peach to blossom before they will know whether that crop was hurt, and in the meantime it is the same way.

TWO GOOD GOVERNMENT LEAGUES MAY COMBINE

Peoples' Administration and Citizens' Organization Consider Joining Forces

An amalgamation of the Peoples' Administration League, organized several months ago with the Citizens' League, formed last week has been proposed and the first named organization has appointed a special committee to confer with the representatives of the Citizens' League, receive such suggestions as they may make and report to the Peoples' Administration League at a meeting to be held at the Anselmy hotel Tuesday evening.

The members of the Peoples' Administration League conference committee are Alexander W. Stephens, chairman; John C. McCalland, Dan Walgren, John Webb and Benjamin M. Blackburn. The meeting of the proposed amalgamation of the two leagues was held at the Peoples' Administration League headquarters, where the members of the Peoples' Administration League have already secured a large membership of enthusiastic workers, who are determined to organize on lines where the people will rule in a sane liberal way, and if this be the purpose of the Citizens' League, as appears on the surface, there should be nothing in the way of a great re-organization.

The Peoples' Administration League has adopted a constitution and by-laws, the salient feature of which is the selection of all officers and the election of its membership and the ratification of the constitution. It stands for what the name implies—the rule of the people.

Both the Peoples' Administration League and the Citizens' League were born of the agitation against the Men and Religion Forward Bulletin, which many prominent leaders in the Peoples' Administration League have represented the city of Atlanta.

The constitution of the Peoples' Administration League follows:

This organization shall be named Peoples' Administration League. Its object shall be to secure the widest possible participation of the people in the government of the city of Atlanta and Fulton county, Ga.

Old People Need A Bowel Stimulant

The Ideal One is a Mild Laxative-Tonic that Will Keep the Bowels Gently Active

Healthy old age is so absolutely dependent upon the condition of the bowels that great care should be taken to see that they act regularly. The fact is that as age advances the stomach muscles become weak and inactive and the liver does not store up the juices as necessary to prompt digestion. Some help can be obtained by eating easily digested foods and by plenty of exercise, but this latter is unknown to most elderly people. One thing is certain, that a state of constipation should always be avoided, as it is dangerous to life and health. The best plan is to take a mild laxative as often as is deemed necessary. But with equal certainty it is suggested that cathartics, purgatives, stimulants, salts and pills be avoided, as they do but temporary good and are so harsh as to be a shock to a delicate system.

A much better plan and one that thousands of elderly people are following, is to take a gentle laxative-tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a healthy laxative as is possible, in that it tends to strengthen the stomach and bowel muscles and so train them to act naturally again. When medicines of all kinds are usually dispensed with. This is the opinion of many people. Among them Mrs. Mary A. P. Davidson, of University Heights, San Francisco, Cal. She is 78 and because of her sedentary habits had continual bowel trouble. From the day she began taking Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin she has had no further inconvenience and naturally she is glad to say kind things of this remedy.

A bottle can be bought of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar. People usually buy the fifty cent size first, and then, having convinced themselves of its merit, they buy the dollar size, which is more economical. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded. Elderly persons of both sexes can follow these suggestions with every assurance of good results.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. A. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

It digests your meals when your stomach can't. It leaves nothing to ferment, sour and upset the stomach. It keeps the digestive tract of unaided action, removes poisonous matter and stimulates the system. GEORGIA MINISTER FINDS TRUE DELIVERANCE FROM BODY ILLS

Rev. J. Powell Tells How He Found New Strength to Give to His Labs

Rev. J. Powell, of Statesboro, Ga., suffered from stomach troubles so seriously that they affected his work. He struggled under the handicap to best he could—hardly realizing, perhaps, just how much sickness was hurting him.

One day he learned of Mr. W. W. Stephens' wonderful stomach remedy. He took the first dose—then decided to take the full treatment. He wrote:

"Since using the six bottles of your wonderful stomach remedy I feel like another man. It has been quite a wonder to me to know how one could have a stomach disease like mine and live and do the work I did. I just escaped by operating table."

Weak Women!

Some women are weak because of ill health that is common in Girlhood—Womanhood and Motherhood

The prescription which Dr. R. V. Pierce uses most successfully—in diseases of women—which has stood the test of nearly half a century—is

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Take this in liquid or tablet form as a tonic and regulator!

Mrs. Kate D. Richardson, of Boston, Essex Co., Va., says: "I mention it because I testify to the wonderful curative qualities of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I was years ago a sufferer from weakness, owing to my sex. I was treated by several physicians, but without success. I then tried Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I went to the drug store and got a bottle. I took it as directed, and in a few days I felt better. I continued to take it, and in a few weeks I was well. I am now a healthy woman, and I can testify to the power of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I have never known what happiness was, for I was always sick and complaining, and made others as well as myself unhappy. So you see, it is a great tonic and regulator."

The grocer has the chinaware on exhibition and the purchaser who ever of china is handed over at once on presentation of the coupon.

LIFE ON THE ROAD

Catalog Question
Seen Differently
At Richards' Now

An interesting sidelight on the effect of cataloging on the salesman's work is to be found in the experience of the S. P. Richards company. Seven months ago the company issued a complete catalog to the trade. The move was not received with much enthusiasm by the sales force, because of their belief that any business catalog might bring the house would result in that much less business for them.

Now, after a thorough trial, every salesman with the company is in entire sympathy with the catalog idea. Their total volume of sales has increased. They are finding that the merchants learn of many articles that before they did not know the company carried articles not carried in the samples and too numerous for the salesman to enumerate. They find that the merchants will run through the illustrated catalog with them when they would not go over a list of items, this resulting in many sales that otherwise would not be secured.

BIG FERTILIZER SALES
FORECASTS BIG CROPS
Dealer Tells of Corn Clubs and the Scientific Use of Fertilizers

W. E. McCalla, the fertilizer and chemicals man, whose office is 415 Atlanta National bank building, reports that he is selling large quantities of his goods in Georgia and Carolina, and that more farmers are paying cash than he ever knew before. He makes a specialty of nitrate soda, which is imported direct from Chile for his sale, and potash from Germany; also a large tonnage of bulk acid phosphate made from Tennessee and Florida deposits. Mr. McCalla says he visited many farms the past year where corn clubs were making contests, and noticed the most successful crops were made by broadcast and drill applications of Chilean nitrate of soda applied at second and third ploughings. He sells in corn clubs only; but if customers want mixed crops of bagged goods he can arrange to supply the trade. He has had over twenty years' experience in guano business and is considered good authority on such things. Mr. McCalla is president of the Bank of Decatur, one of the most successful state banks in Georgia, and also a director in the Fulton National bank of Atlanta. He predicts that more fertilizers will be sold this year than ever before, and as a result the largest crops of corn and cotton in the south.

Carpenter, national director of New Orleans. Messrs. Salisbury and Meek were on an official visit to the local organization. The visitors arrived in Atlanta Saturday morning and were met by E. J. Adams, president, H. T. Moore, secretary, and other officials of the Atlanta Credit Men's association, were taken for an automobile ride about the city. Furniture Stores
Abandon Premiums,
Says Wholesaler

That the day of premium giving in the south among furniture stores—at least the giving of more or less expensive rugs, vases, etc., as was formerly a fairly common custom—is a new thing of the past is an interesting statement made by W. A. Rosenfeld, of the Rosenfeld company.

"Five years ago we did a good business," said he, "in vases, chinaware and rugs that were used by the retail dealers as premiums. Now there is practically no demand for these things for this purpose. The premium giving idea with the furniture stores has gone the way of the trading stamp."

"I am glad to see the custom disappearing. It brought us some business, but it was not a good thing for the retailer. When one of them in a town started it, the others had to follow, with the result that no one was the gainer, just as usually occurs where the trading stamp idea gets started. Its general effect on the retailers was not good."

Here's the Story of
The Cat That Adopted
A Big Wholesale Firm

Two Guardians of the House of Silvery—Colonel Ernest Abernethy and "Tom."

Tom White Silvery Strayed Into the Firm's Store. Several Years Ago, Hired Himself and Has Proved So Valuable as Rat Destroyer, Assistant Watchman, Chief Greeter and General Mascot That He Has Received Frequent Raises of Salary

Here is the story of the cat that adopted a wholesale house. The cat attached himself to the firm and the firm became attached to the cat. The cat adopted the firm, and then the firm adopted the cat, put him on the payroll, from time to time increased his salary, and he now occupies a most important position with the house, not only official rat destroyer, but also an assistant night watchman, assistant machinist, chief greeter and general mascot.

His full name is "Tom White Silvery," though in every day usage this is shortened merely to "Tom." It was some eight or nine years ago that Tom wandered into the store of the John Silvery & Co., dry goods wholesalers, then located on Edgewood avenue near Five Points. Tom was thin and gaunt, but in a short time he became a plump, well-fed animal. He made a preliminary investigation and decided at once that he was to be doing much damage to the firm's reserve stock.

Ernest Abernethy, the house machinist, first noticed Tom's arrival, and seems that he had started out to be such a willing worker, encouraged him with a good square meal of fresh calf liver. The first real feed of Tom had since for weeks, and calf liver has been one of his favorite articles of diet ever since. Tom has another sworn friend and companion in Judge S. B. Blauk, Jr., night watchman. At night the sale of the house of Silvery is entrusted in their care and never have reported a mouse in the store since.

Tom follows the judge on his rounds from floor to floor and when the round is completed he contentedly settled himself down for a short nap with the air of "All's well till the next round." Judge Blauk, who is a Confederate veteran, received his title of "Judge" from being a justice of the peace in Cleveland county. The enemies to the property of John Silvery and company stand about as much show between the hours of 4 p. m. and 6 a. m. when Judge and Tom are on guard as the Yankees did before the judge's market in the early sixties.

That was a nifty mail order received last week by Jones Brothers & Co. It was for a carload of products from "Frige, Dobbs & Co., of Chattanooga, one of the wholesale grocery firms in that part of the country.

Donald McKee, of M. L. Singer & Co., reports a big coffee month for his firm for February. Mr. McKee says that February is always a "hot" coffee month, said Mr. McKee. "I cannot exactly know the reason for this, unless it is that February is usually a rainy season, and many people like to be fortified against the weather several times a day with a cup of coffee. It was our Harrington Hall brand that sold so well."

L. C. Miller, of Jones Brothers & Co., has left the Atlanta office for the bachelors and become a benedict. He was married last week in Louisville, Ky. He writes his firm that he will be back at work next week at Jellico, Tenn.

J. C. Meade, of the company of Wirsberg and Werner B. Byrd, returned from Homosassa, Fla., where he had been on one of his regular selling trips. Mr. Meade declares the fishing was better than ever. He found it before a good many years.

A hundred and fifty pounds by the two of them was the day's catch several times on this trip, according to Mr. Meade.

E. Burnett, of Montgomery, Ala., and R. E. Sloan, Jr., of Monticello, Fla., are due at the M. C. Kiser company tomorrow for their regular call of the season visit to get their new fall fashions. Both have had a good business during the season ending.

All of the travelers of the M. C. Kiser company have been busy during the last several days with their regular proposition. They will be on the road with the new line next week.

Claude A. Smith and Chris Ivey are the only firing line of the A. M. Robinson company in for the week end.

Percy Harris, the Carolina salesman for the A. M. Robinson company, who turned up a lot of big business on return to them some months ago, is continuing to get a good amount of business during the season ending.

I was on a trip in middle Georgia this week and the farmers in the country I traveled through have certainly made fine progress to date in preparing the ground."

Georgia College Girls As Shakespearean Actors

ATLANTA students of Brenau college, at Gainesville, Ga., are leaders among Shakespearean actors who gave "Love's Labor Lost" at the school last week. In the accompanying photographs, several of the players are from Atlanta.

No. 1 is Miss Annie Smith, in Montez costume; 2, Miss Mary Anderson, in the costume of a Courtier; 3, Miss Kate Cone, as the King's Soldier; 4, Miss Ruby McLaughlin, as a Present Maid; 5, Miss Virginia Vail, Cheviott, as the King's Soldier; 6, Miss Ella Brawley; 7, Miss Kate Cone; 8, Miss Octavia Hunter. All these students are Atlanta girls, except Miss Hunter, whose home is Shreveport, La., and Miss Cheviott, of Montgomery.

Several Atlanta girls at Brenau have attracted attention by their excellent acting, not only in the Shakespearean plays, but in other productions. One of those whose dramatic work has won high praise is Miss Ruby McLaughlin, whose picture occupies the central circle. Another Atlanta girl who is successful in the college plays is Miss Kate Cone, whose ability is supplemented by an excellent stage appearance.

The Shakespearean plays are difficult. But they offer roles for a larger number of students; they give opportunity for picturesque costuming, and the final successful result is a greater indication of talent than the successful production of less serious plays.

CONCERNING HEALTH AND BEAUTY

By MRS. HENRY SYMES

will have that grouchy feeling so many of us have on first arising, but this will wear away your blood better to circulate freely and you take in deep breaths of the fresh air coming from the open window set far away. Only ten minutes earlier do you rise in the morning, but think of how those ten minutes will begin the day aright for you, how your exhilarating little exercise will send you to the breakfast table with a smiling face. Perhaps the other faces about the table will not be so smiling, but your brightness at least will help to dispel the gloom. Have you not noticed how the mood of the morning hour is almost invariably set by the mother of the household? If you are a less important member of the family than the mother of it you will at least set a cheerful example that will gradually influence the family. Was it not "Elizabeth in Her German Garden" who said that the members of a family should not see each other until lunch time at least? And I think Elizabeth went on to give for a reason, that every woman's soul was done up in curl papers until that time. But the broomhandle will use the twists out, I assure you. And now let's take it from behind the door.

Position is the first thing to be considered about the ventilation of the room has been attended to. Stand with heels together and toes at an angle of forty-five degrees. The chest should be well thrown out, so that the upper part of the body rests upon the hips. Rest with the weight of the entire body on the balls of the feet, not on the heels. Have I told you not to wear corsets and while protecting yourself against draughts, which may come from the additional ventilation, to wear your garments very loose? Wear heel-less slippers, or exercise in your stocking feet. High heels stretch the spinal column out of plumb and are not to be considered when exercising. Now grasp the broomhandle firmly, but not strenuously, in both hands, a comfortable distance apart. Then, leaning back, drop before you, drop them to the knees, still keeping both hands upon the stick. Repeat this five times. Deep full breaths should be taken between these exercises.

Now raise the stick above the head. This is figure two of the exercise. While the stick is raised over the head, be careful to still keep the body balanced upon the balls of the feet. Bring the stick down to the knees and repeat the exercise five times. Rest a moment, taking a long, deep breath, and bend the body over without bending the knees. Then, keeping the feet together so that the stick almost, if not quite, touches the floor. Repeat this three times. Then, standing on the right, hold the stick in a vertical position. Bend the body over to the right, and then the left. The vertical position should be held on a line with one's nose, so give comfort. The toe nail should be out in a concave form, the outer angle extending beyond the toe. If there is a tendency for the flesh to grow over the nail it should be gently pushed back and held in place with a strip of plaster until the nail grows. If you cannot do this, get a reliable chiropodist to do it for you. To remove the corn use the mixture for which the recipe is here given. Rub the corn over the mixture three or four times a day. The best thing to do for a gutter is to go to a reliable physician and have him give it proper treatment.

ATLANTA NEGLECTS THE SICK

No Provision Is Made at Grady Hospital for Treating Infectious Diseases. "Tasks of Nurses Are Greater Than Those of Convicts, and the Outdoor Clinic Facilities Are Disgraceful," Says Superintendent.

WHILE Atlanta strained and almost tore its clothes three years ago in voting a bond issue of one-half of a million dollars for its municipal hospital, Chicago thinks nothing of putting more than $500,000 into her hospitals; Cincinnati, $3,000,000; Louisville, $1,000,000; and even Augusta, Ga., $250,000.

The private enterprises of the city of Atlanta is like a high-powered six-cylinder machine.

The municipal enterprise is like a one-horse shay.

Superintendent V. B. Summerrall, of Grady hospital, in discussing the city's neglect of its sick, closes his comment with these sharp paragraphs: He points out, first, that no provision is made at Grady hospital for contagious and infectious diseases; secondly, that the Grady is a 200-bed hospital with a nursing force of a 75-bed hospital.

In discussing the first instance of the city's neglect he tells of two sick people who were driven here and there in ambulances about the city streets, with every door shut to them because one had diphtheria and the other was thought to have erysipelas.

One finally was given a cot in a basement and a hotel was induced to furnish the other shelter.

Nurses Work Like Convicts.

Atlanta, he says, makes no provision for treating measles, either among negroes or white people.

The kitchen quarters of the Grady hospital have not changed in 25 years. The out-door clinic facilities are disgraceful.

Nurses are unprovided for, overworked, their tasks being greater than those ever imposed on convicts. And, yet, he continues, "Atlanta has a reserve of $6,000,000 lying idle. A bond issue for the imperative needs of Grady hospital would place a part of that reserve where it properly belongs."

That's the matter with Grady hospital," begins Dr. Summerrall.

"The above was the two-column neighbors had children; the patient must be moved. The patient could be moved. The patient could be moved.

"Grady hospital was called. We have no provision for taking care of diphtheria."

"The health department was called. Nothing doing. The city of Atlanta has no provision for taking care of diphtheria among colored people."

"A negro man was called, given a ten-dollar bill and told to find a place to which the patient could be moved. After a while he returned with the information that a colored woman had consented to take the patient in her home. The health department, upon being informed of the arrangement, consented to the removal of the patient, and sent its ambulance to make the transfer. Upon arrival of the patient at the house of refuge the ambulance found the house locked and deserted by its occupants, who left word to the neighbor next door to tell the ambulance man when he came, that she had decided not to take the patient into her house and that she would not return home for a week."

"The ambulance then wanted to take the patient back to her employer's home, but was prevented from doing so by fear of artillery being brought into play."

"The ambulance of the city's health department was taken to the highway, with a patient inside, and no place to carry said patient. Finally about midnight, the colored patient was landed in the basement of the hospital for diphtheria for whites, from which she was re-entrusted next day by the Grady hospital after it had been determined that she did not have diphtheria."

No Place for Measles.

"Two days ago, in the forenoon, the Grady hospital was called by a physician who stated that he had just seen a colored boy who had measles, complicated with pneumonia, who was required to take him in. Declined on account of the measles. Neither the Grady hospital nor the city of Atlanta has any provision for taking care of measles among either white or black."

"On the afternoon of this same day, only two days ago, the Grady hospital was called by one of the most prominent physicians of the city, who stated his case as follows:

"A guest in one of the leading hotels was sick. A room had been engaged at one of the private hospitals. The patient was transferred to the hospital in a private ambulance. Upon arrival at the hospital, it was seen that the case was erysipelas. The private hospital refused to admit him."

"The Grady hospital was asked to admit him. We declined, and suggested that he be carried back to his room in the hotel."

"An hour later the ambulance owner called the Grady hospital, stating that he still had the patient in the ambulance outside the main entrance, and that the hotel had declined to let him return there. The ambulance owner was requested to make any other effort to induce the hotel management to allow the patient to remain there, as erysipelas was not a menace to well people, but that in a hospital where every ward had surgical cases (as is the condition at Grady), it would be like a firebrand in a powder factory."

"The superintendent of the Grady, realizing the ugly situation, should the hotel still refuse to readmit its former guest, determined that the best course would be to take the patient and put him in one of the old colored wards where we have had and now have colored patients with cerebro-spinal meningitis, and we now find the hospital with approximately 200 patients, and the demand for admission daily increasing, yet with a nursing force that would be adequate for not exceeding 75 patients, and no room to accommodate more nurses."

"If it any wonder there are complaints for lack of attention? We expect them."

"A negro man was called, given a ten-dollar bill and told to find a place to which the patient could be moved. After a while he returned with the information that a colored woman had consented to take the patient in her home. The health department, upon being informed of the arrangement, consented to the removal of the patient, and sent its ambulance to make the transfer. Upon arrival of the patient at the house of refuge the ambulance found the house locked and deserted by its occupants, who left word to the neighbor next door to tell the ambulance man when he came, that she had decided not to take the patient into her house and that she would not return home for a week."

"The ambulance then wanted to take the patient back to her employer's home, but was prevented from doing so by fear of artillery being brought into play."

"The ambulance of the city's health department was taken to the highway, with a patient inside, and no place to carry said patient. Finally about midnight, the colored patient was landed in the basement of the hospital for diphtheria for whites, from which she was re-entrusted next day by the Grady hospital after it had been determined that she did not have diphtheria."

Negroes Waiting for Treatment at Grady Hospital. Superintendent Summerrall Describes the Crowded Conditions as Disgraceful been established to take care of the large and ever-increasing number of sick and suffering people in our city who have not the means to provide for themselves under such conditions. There are now being cared for in that institution an average of 190 patients per day. The demand upon the hospital at this time, if they could be accommodated, is an average of 250 patients per day. To treat these 190 patients per day, there are now only 74 available trained nurses to do this vast work.

"There is connected with the hospital one of the best and most up-to-date training schools in the United States. Its graduates rank with the highest grade and are sought after for their excellence and skill throughout the country. But the conditions are such that the young women who aspire to become nurses cannot stand them. The place provided for their living quarters, which is the only place possible under the crowded conditions of the hospital, is not a fit place for their domicile."

"The hospital is supplied with its nurses through pupils in the training school, who, by reason of obtaining their training serve the hospital at a nominal sum per month. This arrangement is a benefit both to the city and the nurses."

"Owing to the outrageous conditions existing in the hospital for nurses, it is impossible to secure pupils for the training school, and thereby the hospital is being supplied very seriously. The applicants who would like to become pupils in the training school refuse to do so because there is no decent place for them to live."

"The board of trustees has constantly brought to the attention of the city the necessity for a home for the nurses in the hospital, which, of course, includes the pupils in the training school, who serve the hospital under the superintendent of nurses and head nurses."

"Those who are not familiar with the situation have no conception of the enormous crowds pressing upon the hospital for relief. Unless there is a change and a nurse home provided, the efficiency of the hospital will be greatly lessened."

"The Grady hospital is served by the best medical skill in our city. The city has spent much money on the equipment and the building of the hospital; the training school is one of the best in the country."

"By failing to provide such a home, we fail to care properly for the sick and suffering of our city who have nowhere else to look for treatment."

"WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH THE CITY OF ATLANTA?"

"While Atlanta strained and almost tore its clothes three years ago in voting a bond issue of one-half of a million dollars for its municipal hospital, Chicago thinks nothing of putting more than six million dollars into her hospitals; Cincinnati, three millions; Louisville, one million; and even Augusta, Ga., a quarter of a million."

"The private enterprise of the city of Atlanta is like a high-powered six-cylinder machine. The municipal enterprise is like a one-horse shay."

E. W. Martin, one of the trustees of the hospital, now commenced last week on the needs of the Grady hospital, which, he says, make a condition that cries out for remedy.

Man Who Has Forgotten Himself

MAHA, Neb.—Frank L. Finch is a man without a yesterday.

He is forty-five years old in fact, and only two weeks old in memory. Last October he walked out of his office in Littleton, Colo., last week he stepped up to a policeman in Omaha for his name and asked him what his (Finch's) name was and where he was going.

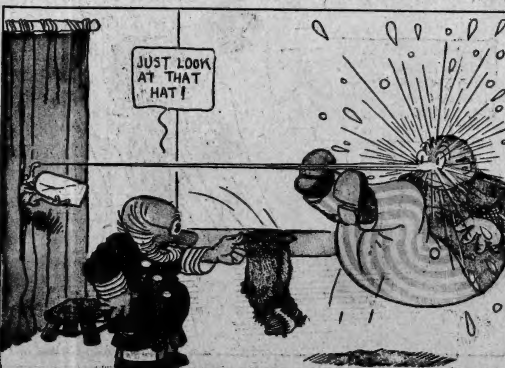

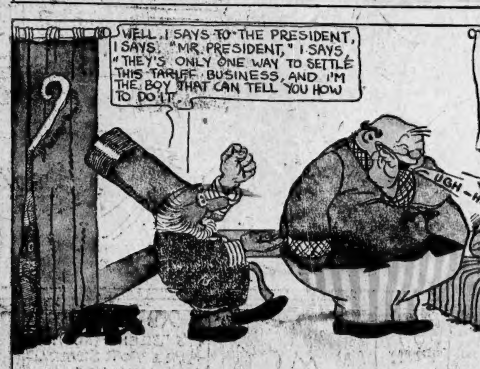

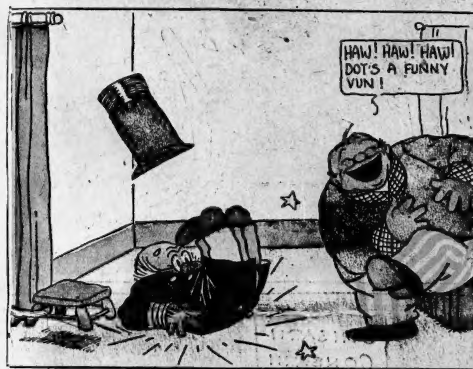

The policeman took him to the city jail and a search was instituted with the object of helping the man to locate himself.
