VOL. XXXII. NO. 40. ATLANTA, GA., SATURDAY EVENING, APRIL 4, 1914. PRICE 2 CENTS IN THE CITY 3 CENTS ON TRAINS

BANKERS AWAITING FORMAL NOTICE OF RESERVE DISTRICTS

Resolution to Be Adopted by Bank Directors Applying for Stock Will Be Sent Out at Once by Comptroller

$4,000,000 IS MINIMUM THAT MUST BE SUBSCRIBED

Chamber of Commerce Directors Adopt Resolutions Thanking All Who Helped Atlanta Win Institution

Atlanta's bankers and the others of Atlanta reserve district No. 6 are awaiting the next step prescribed by the currency law in the organization of the new federal bank in this city.

That step will be formal notification by the comptroller of the currency, John Skelton Williams, to every bank in the district which has indicated its intent to join the new system or which is eligible to join it, that the district has been defined within certain limits, within the newspapers have published already, with its reserve bank located in Atlanta.

Until that step is taken—and it will be taken immediately, all assume—the entire matter of the new bank remains in statu quo.

With the notification from the comptroller will come to each bank in the district a formal resolution for adoption by the bank directors applying for stock in the reserve bank. Practically all notified the Washington authorities weeks ago of their intent to subscribe. This will be their formal subscription for stock.

When the minimum amount, $4,000,000, of stock in the reserve bank has been subscribed the organization committee will designate five banks in the district to sign the certificates of organization or application for the federal charter.

BANKS AS STOCKHOLDERS.

Thereafter the organization of the bank will proceed just as that of any national bank doing business with the public would proceed, save that in this instance the banks, and not the public, appear as stockholders.

There will be nine directors of the Atlanta bank. Six of these will be elected by the stockholders. Three of the six may be bankers. Three shall be engaged in agriculture, commerce, or other industrial pursuits. The remaining three of the nine will be named by the federal reserve board among men not connected with any bank.

Until it is succeeded by the reserve board, the organization committee will assume discharging its function of organizing the banks.

The reserve board, controlling all the banks, will consist of seven members. One will be W. G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, ex-officio. Another will be John Skelton Williams, comptroller of the currency. The five others will be named by President Wilson.

That, in a nutshell, is what lies ahead of the Atlanta bank until it reaches the point where it will enter on its active operations.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

At a meeting of the directors of the chamber of commerce Friday afternoon the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, the national organization committee has awarded the city of Atlanta one of the twelve regional reserve banks, provided for by the currency law, thus giving formal recognition of the national government to Atlanta as the financial and commercial center of the southeastern states, and,

Whereas, this is the result of the joint efforts of the Atlanta chamber of commerce and the Atlanta Clearing House association, with the powerful aid of Hon. Hoke Smith, our representative in the United States senate, who in the first instance amended the bill so as to provide a place in the system for a southeastern district and afterward followed this up by the presentation of Atlanta's case to members of the national reserve committee on several occasions, concluding with a powerful argument demonstrating the necessity for a southeastern district with Atlanta as the center, therefore, be it

Resolved by the directors of the Atlanta chamber of commerce, That we extend to Senator Hoke Smith our thanks and congratulations for this distinguished service to our city, state and section.

Resolved further, That we extend to the joint committee of this chamber and the Atlanta clearing house association, composed of J. K. Orr, chairman; Robert F. Maddox, John K. Ottley, Joseph A. McCord, W. J. Hulsey and John W. Grant, our sincere thanks for their arduous work in the consummation for Atlanta, and our congratulations upon the success of their efforts.

Resolved further, That we extend our cordial thanks to ex-President Wilmer L. Moore, who early in August, 1913, took the initiative in organizing this campaign for Atlanta, by bringing the matter to the attention of the Atlanta Clearing House association, with the result that a joint committee was organized to take charge of the work, and who further gave personal attention to the collection of statistics and forwarding them to Senator Smith for use in advance of the organization of the joint committee.

Resolved further, That we extend the thanks of this chamber for the generous assistance of our sister cities of this and other states, which have so cordially supported Atlanta's claims, and express to them the deep appreciation of our entire city for their timely aid.

Resolved further, That we extend to the press of Atlanta, the Constitution, The Journal and the Georgian, as well as to other papers, the sincere thanks of this body for their cordial support in

Burning Dead in Shot-Torn Torreon; Wounded in Terror

One Heroic Nurse Found in Charge of 200 Sufferers in Hospital

TORREON, Mexico, April 4.—This city, from which General Refugio Velasco and most of the uninjured of his command fled yesterday, was occupied by the rebels in force today and the work of burning the bodies of the dead, clearing away the wreckage of shell-shattered adobe walls, street barricades and barbed wire entanglements, was begun.

While Villa took a large number of prisoners Velasco escaped with a considerable portion of his force. He was pursued last night by General Hernandez, who today reported that he had fought a small rear guard engagement with the retreating force.

When Velasco fled he left behind in the military hospital 200 wounded. When the rebels entered the place they found only one nurse, Dorothea de La Cruz, in attendance. The patients were in a high state of anxiety, for they had been told that Villa took no prisoners. They were reassured by H. S. Cunard-Cummins, the British vice consul at Gomez Palacio, who entered the hospital first, climbing over bodies of the wounded who had died there. The air was foul with the odor of dried blood. The British official announced that Villa had assured him none of the wounded would be harmed. Those who had the strength raised themselves on their elbows from pallets on the floor and from their cots and cried a feeble "viva Villa." The nurse was soothing a dying patient who with his last breath joined the cheering and then sank back dead.

MISSION TEACHER FREED OF CHARGE OF MURDER

Four Others to Be Tried in Connection With Death of Missionary

(By Associated Press.)

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 4.—Nishan Avedisbian, an Armenian teacher at the American mission at Sivas, Asiatic Turkey, who had been arrested in connection with the murder of the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Holbrook, of Lynn, Mass., a missionary at Soudsbein, on August 15 last, was released today. Four other persons arrested on suspicion will be tried on April 15.

The official version of the crime showed that Dr. Holbrook had been killed while sleeping in the garden surrounding the house of an Armenian who had aroused the hatred of the Turks. Two Turks shot the missionary, believing him to be the owner of the house.

JURY DISAGREES IN TRIAL FOR MURDER OF SHERIFF

Thomas Davidson to Have Another Hearing by New Jury in June

(By Associated Press.)

WINCHESTER, Ky., April 4.—After an all night session the jury in the case of Thomas Davidson, charged with complicity in the murder of Edward Callahan, former sheriff of Breathitt county, returned to Judge Benton today that it could not agree and was discharged. Judge Benton immediately set the case for trial again in June.

Davidson is the only one of four men already tried for complicity in the murder of Callahan who has not been convicted. Fourteen others charged with the same offense will also be tried at the summer term of court.

SURVIVORS AND DEAD OF SEALING SHIP NEAR PORT

Thirty Rescued Sailors, With Bodies of Comrades, on Way to St. Johns

(By Associated Press.)

ST. JOHNS, N. F., April 4.—The steamer Bellaventura, bringing thirty survivors and most of the bodies of the seventy-seven members of the crew of the sealing steamer New Foundland who lost their lives in Tuesday's storm, was thirty miles south of this port at daylight today. Heavy ice so impeding her progress, it was thought probable she would not come into the harbor until late in the day.

The steamer Kyle, fitted out by the government, sailed early today in search for the missing sealer Southern Cross which, with 173 men on board, was sighted Tuesday morning off the southern coast just to the westward of Cape Race. The Kyle is equipped with wireless apparatus.

$1,000,000 ESTATE TO BE GIVEN TO CHARITY

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 4.—The distribution of $1,000,000 to worthy charities is the work assigned to George Ramsey and William McMichael, who named as executors of her estate by Mrs. Amelia Gertrude Cutter, who died yesterday. No particular charity is mentioned in the will, details of which were made public today, the distribution of the funds being left to the discretion of the executors.

Mrs. Cutter was the wife of Henry T. Cutter, who died January 21 leaving an estate of $1,500,000 at the disposal of his widow.

Mr. Cutter made a fortune in the drug business.

BURNS EXPECTED TO REPORT ON FRANK'S CASE HERE TONIGHT

Famous Detective, on Way to Atlanta, Denies He Has Given Any Intimation of Who Is Guilty

HAS ONLY SAID THAT HE KNOWS THE MURDERER

Sleuth Reiterates in Telegram to Journal That Evidence He Has Found Will Prove Who Slew Mary Phagan

BURNS SENDS JOURNAL MESSAGE DENYING RUMOR.

Chicago, Ill., April 3, 1914.
The Atlanta Journal,
Atlanta, Ga.

Have persistently refused to anticipate the result of my report except as to the statement that Frank was not a pervert and that my report when submitted would point out the real murderer beyond question. Also that there has been no mystery in this case. Am leaving tonight for Atlanta. Will see you on arrival.

WILLIAM J. BURNS.

William J. Burns, the famous detective, is expected to arrive in Atlanta early Saturday night, and his report on the Mary Phagan murder case will probably be made public in a few hours after his arrival.

By long distance telephone and by telegraph Burns has kept in touch with every move of his two agents here, Dan S. Lehon, of New Orleans, and Guy W. Biddinger, of New York, and on his arrival here, except for a consultation about several minor points, he will be ready to make his report.

The report from Chicago that he has already made a report to the attorneys for the defense of Leo M. Frank, who has been condemned for the murder, is denied by Attorneys Reuben R. Arnold and Herbert J. Haas.

Mr. Lehon also treats the report lightly, saying he considers it extremely improbable that his chief has made a report on the case to any one.

PROBE PROGRESSED RAPIDLY.

The probe by the Burns agents has progressed so rapidly that Mr. Lehon, although refusing to say that it is fully completed, remarked Saturday morning that he would not be surprised if Burns made public his findings in the case on his arrival here.

The telegram from Burns to The Journal was received in reply to a wire asking if the report that he had declared Frank innocent were correct.

Despite its repeated publication, Burns flatly denies that he made the statement attributed to him that the murderer of Mary Phagan is not Leo Frank.

Mr. Lehon Saturday had little to say except a reiteration of the statement that the probe has progressed satisfactorily and that he is more confident than ever that when the final report of his chief is made public the doubt about the identity of Mary Phagan's slayer will be dispelled.

BANK CLEARINGS STILL ARE LEAPING AHEAD

Big Gains for Day and Week Over Same Periods Last Year

Atlanta bank clearings continue their startling increase. The totals reported both for today and for the week as compared with the corresponding periods last year.

The gain for today is something over $500,000, and for the week it is a little over $2,000,000.

The comparison follows in detail:

SEARCH OF FIRE RUINS REVEALS HUMAN SKELETON

(By Associated Press.)

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., April 4.—The finding yesterday of a charred human skeleton in the ruins of the Florida house today led to apprehension that other persons had perished in the disastrous fire which on Tuesday laid the waterfront here. Thursday. The registers of the Florida, Clairmont, Munson, Atlantic and Central hotels were lost when they were destroyed, making impossible an accurate accounting of inmates. Hotel authorities, however, previously had declared that no lives were lost in the fire.

Additional men were put to work today searching the ruins of the five hotels burned, while authorities renewed their efforts to learn whether any persons were missing.

FAITHFUL BELIEVE SHE CAN CURE ALL ILLS

MRS. M. B. WOODWORTH-ETTER.

Mrs. Etter, at Old Tabernacle, Treats Her Hearers by "Laying On of Hands"—They Believe in Her

Saturday at the old Baptist Tabernacle. On chairs, benches and floor, all over the dim-lit room people are praying, praying noisily and with tears, shouting and gabbling to the Lord. Most of them are women, many old, many young, a few gray-haired men, rough fellows in working clothes.

Up and down the rostrum strides a little woman all in white, white hair, white dress, a white knit shawl over her shoulders!

"Praise the Lord, sisters!" she shouts. "Believe in Him and be healed!" She is Mrs. M. B. Worthington-Etter, "divine healer."

From the kneeling people all round come shouts and amens. But most of them remain in a low swelling sound like some Arabian desert song that rises and falls and swells again.

A woman kneeling in the center of the rostrum begins to sway back and forth with her body, to wail into a frenzy of prayer, her body rocking to and fro to the accompaniment of the hysterical wail. Then her hands raised to heaven, her face streaked with tears.

She breaks off with a loud sob and there is momentary quiet. Mrs. Etter walks to the front and tells all who are in need to come forward.

WAITING FOR THE "HEALER."

The men and women crowd around the platform and kneel. A window is raised on a back room. Here a wan-faced woman lies listless in bed. The sash, the half the blind, struggle toward the platform. The healing is about to begin.

On one side of the paltform a number of converts gather around a piano and begin to sing. On the other a mother advances leading a little girl by the hand. The girl is totally blind. She sits down in a chair. Below the rostrum a woman holds a baby in her arms. The child is nude, covered with sores, a deaf mute, a crippled boy on crutches crowd together around the woman in white.

While the singing increased in fervor on one side, Mrs. Etter motioned to the first subject. She was an old lady, deaf for thirty-six years. She sat down in a chair.

Mrs. Etter placed her hands on her face and rubbed them back and forth. Then she placed her mouth close to the old lady's ear and shouted. One could hardly hear what she said for the storm of singing, the clapping of hands, the stamping of feet on the rostrum, the moans and prayers.

The old lady said both drums had been destroyed. "Praise the Lord!" yelled Mrs. Etter in one ear. "Praise Him!" she yelled in the other, rubbing fiercely with her hands.

The hands and the old lady's face was very wistful and she looked up with a pitiful light in her brown eyes. Mrs. Etter and her man assistant worked like Trojans, shouting and rubbing with their hands.

The old lady clapped her hands after while and rose, a puzzled expression on her face. She could hear, she told Mrs. Etter, but couldn't distinguish the sounds. But she could hear the shouts and the music.

The next subject gave his name as Charlie Bowie, of Anderson, S. C. He was a young man, clad in a blue suit and gray shirt. He had had consumption for years.

The singing grew louder as the young man seated himself in the chair. "Where

FAILS TO DIE BY GAS, DESPONDENT BARBER ENDS LIFE WITH GUN

Nathaniel Pruitt Shoots Self in Head While Woman Writes Note to His Employer Asking to Help Him

Having failed in an attempt at suicide Friday because of the quick examination of a quarter's supply of gas, Nathaniel Pruitt, aged thirty-three years, a barber, went to a room in his boarding house on Fair street, Saturday morning just after he had eaten a hearty breakfast, and blew out his brains.

According to Mrs. J. H. Purcell, proprietor of the boarding house, Pruitt went to his room about 11 o'clock Friday morning and turned on the gas. After closing windows, doors and transoms. A quarter had been dropped in the gas slot meter several days before and most of the gas had been used. There was just enough left to put the would-be suicide to sleep, and not enough to kill him. So he awoke, according to Mrs. Purcell, about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when most of the gas had escaped from the cracks in the door and told of his attempt to end his life.

After eating his breakfast Saturday morning he remarked to Mrs. Purcell, she says, that he couldn't stand life any longer.

Mrs. Purcell did not believe that he would again try suicide, but wishing to help him she went to her desk and commenced a note to George C. Edmonson, Pruitt's employer, asking him to come over and cheer up the despondent man. While she was writing the note, she heard a shot, and rushing upstairs found Pruitt lying dead on the floor of one of the rooms. He had used a double-barreled Derringer belonging to an absent boarder.

Pruitt came to Atlanta from Buford, Ga., and for the past three years he had been boarding at the present home. A few days ago he told other boarders there that three years ago his wife divorced him and recently she married again. He had never mentioned the fact that he had been married until then, although he lived with his wife six years.

According to Mrs. Purcell, Pruitt had been drinking heavily for two weeks, and the brooding over his matrimonial failure, coupled with weakness from drink, is given as the cause of his suicide.

A coroner's inquest will be held during the day Saturday.

Lawmakers Content; Free Baths Are Still In Vogue at Capitol

House Votes Retain Item for This Expense in Appropriation Bill

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Members of the house continued today to enjoy free baths at the capitol without any fear, if they ever had any, that this privilege would be cut off. Any doubt that may have existed regarding the matter was removed by the action of the house yesterday in voting to retain the item in the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, providing for baths and bathing attendants for senators and representatives.

During the debate on the question the house was aroused to laughter by Representative Bryan, of Washington, who demanded to know why it was that the house appropriated $2,200 for washing 433 representatives and $4,000 for bathing 96 senators. Chairman Johnson, in charge of the bill, quick to see the facetiousness of the remark, had no response to the question. For years there has been some opposition to the free bath privileges on the ground of economy.

STATE COMMITTEE TO MEET IN MACON; PRIMARY AUGUST 19

Former Governor Brown Asks Committee to Adopt Majority Rule in Primary—Convention September 1

COUNTY UNIT PLAN IS ADOPTED BY COMMITTEE

West Expected to State Tonight He Will Not Run; Slaton Most Likely Will Enter Race for the Senate

By resolution of the state Democratic executive committee, in session in Atlanta Saturday, a rule was adopted fixing the state-wide primary this fall for selection of Democratic candidates for governor, United States senator, and other offices, to be held on August 19.

The committee likewise ordered that the state convention be held in Macon on September 1 in the city auditorium. The county unit plan was adopted. This plan will apply to every office to be filled by state-wide vote. The committee further ruled that in case of a tie in the convention, to be held in Macon September 1, the candidate who received the greater popular vote in the primary shall be declared the nominee.

In the election for congress the executive committee in each congressional district shall decide whether the county unit plan or popular vote shall prevail. For judicial and solicitors the plurality rule shall apply.

After the adjournment of the meeting of the state Democratic executive committee, Hon. Rufus Hutchens mounted a chair and smilingly said: "Now that the committee has met and adjourned I wish to say something that it would not have been proper for me to have said to the committee, and I address you as individuals."

By this time about half of the committee had passed out of the hall. But to the remainder Mr. Hutchens nominated Judge Longley for chairman of his called meeting, and Mr. Griffiths as secretary.

After making the nominations, which were not seconded, he said:

"I desire to nominate Hon. Joseph M. Brown, of the county of Cobb, for the long term for the United States senate."

There was applause, and then those who had remained for Mr. Hutchens' called meeting adjourned to have their pictures taken on the capitol steps.

When the democratic executive committee met Saturday at 11 o'clock in the state capitol, Chairman W. J. Harris had in his possession a letter from J. R. Smith quoting former Governor Joseph M. Brown as opposed to the adoption of the plurality rule for the primaries this fall and in favor of a majority rule—which would mean a second primary in case no candidate in a race received a majority of all votes cast.

Mr. Smith's letter explained that the former governor had requested him by long distance telephone to communicate this view to the committee.

In that letter Mr. Smith quoted the former governor as follows: "I am opposed to any departure from the county unit plan."

MR. SMITH'S LETTER.

Following is a copy of the letter from J. R. Smith to Chairman Harris:

"Hon. William J. Harris, Chairman State Democratic Executive Committee, Atlanta, Ga.:

"My Dear Mr. Harris—I am in receipt of the following communication over the telephone from Governor Joseph M. Brown, of Marietta, Ga., who requested me to communicate the same to you and, through you, to the state committee, as it will be impossible for me to come to you by letter before the committee meets today:

"Noting the discussion in the press of the rules to be adopted governing the Democratic primary, permit me to say: A plurality is not a majority, and the fixed policy of the Democratic party in Georgia has immemorially been that the majority shall rule. I do not see how we can justify an innovation which authrizes a mere plurality, which is

Over the persistent opposition of G. Rufus Hutchens, of Rome, and by a vote of 24 to 7, the state Democratic executive committee Saturday adopted a resolution congratulating President Woodrow Wilson on the success of his program for repeal of the free tolls measure.

By unanimous vote the committee adopted another resolution congratulating the president on the enactment of the new tariff and currency laws.

Immediately after the committee met a rules committee of fifteen, Albert Howell, Jr., chairman, retired to consider final matters.

Then, in the main committee, Clark Howell, editor of the Atlanta Constitution and national Democratic committeeman for Georgia, introduced the resolution commending the currency and tariff measures, which anticipated their unanimous adoption, he said.

J. H. Hall, of Macon, offered an amendment, including the free tolls repeal in the message of congratulation.

HUTCHENS OBJECTS.

G. Rufus Hutchens, of Rome, objected. That matter was out of place in the state committee, said he. It was a national economics issue on which the Democrats of the nation are divided, said he. To include that with Mr. Howell's resolution, said he, would be to get a divided vote from the committee and make it appear that the currency and tariff measures were affected by the division. He insisted that at least a separate vote should be taken.

Mr. Howell answered that while he would not object to a separate vote on the Hall amendment, he favored it even more strongly than he did his own resolution as he regarded the canal tolls question one of the biggest the administration had to settle.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED.

Mr. Hall then introduced the canal tolls congratulation as a separate resolution. It was adopted by 31 to 7. Chairman Harris voted affirmatively and making the ayes 24.

Mr. Hutchens thereupon objected. The matter had been put to a vote without allowing him opportunity he said. He would submit a substitute, already with his objections about two-thirds of the time used by the committee," said Chairman Harris. "The chairman is trying to expedite the business of the committee in order that members who wish to do so may catch trains for home this afternoon and evening."

A motion to reconsider, offered by Mr. Hutchens, was defeated.

The resolutions by the committee were telegraphed a short while later to President Wilson.

FEARING OUTBREAK, HUERTA WITHHOLDS NEWS OF TORREON

Military Men Regard Federals' Retreat From Torreon Dangerous—Rebels Prepare for Attack on Monterey and Saltillo

(By Associated Press.)

MEXICO CITY, April 4.—The federal government today still obstinately denied the capture of Torreon by the rebels. It was assumed in many quarters, however, that General Huerta and his ministers were not in ignorance of the fate of that city.

It was suggested that the withholding of the news from the public was based on psycological rather than on military grounds. It was pointed out by serious-minded people here that the temperament of the Mexican populace was such that news of a disaster like the fall of Torreon might give rise to an avalanche of public opinion against the administration which might find itself thoroughly embarrassed at the most critical moment of its career.

The taking of Torreon gives the constitutionalists control of practically half the republic with the exception of the cities of Saltillo and Monterey, the capitals of the states of Cahuila and Neuvo Leon respectively.

DANGEROUS MOVE.

Military men regard the retreat of General Velasco from Torreon as a most dangerous undertaking and they consider the positions of General Javier de Moure and General Joaquin Maas at San Pedro are precarious.

So far as known here the federal troops still have possession of the railroad between Torreon and Saltillo. At the latter place connections can be made with the south.

The rebels, however, infest the region along this main line south of Saltillo. One body under General Gutierrez has its headquarters at Concepticn del Oro, the terminus of a branch line from Saltillo, and within striking distance of the main line. The presence of this body and that of other rebel forces in the same vicinity renders impossible an unopposed retreat of the federals toward the south.

FEDERALS UP AGAINST IT.

Northward from Saltillo toward Monterey little difficulty might be encountered by the federal troops and it is not improbable that the fugitives from Torreon will make an attempt to join the federal garrison at Monterey.

The escape of General Velasco and his men from the rebels, however, does not appear to be a simple task. Their retreat southwest toward Durango or to the north or east is said by military men to be impossible until they cut their way through rebel territory.

The railroad which connects Torreon and Zacatecas to the south long has been out of commission and now serves only to mark the trail over which General Velasco and his troope will have to march. Before reaching Zacatecas it is thought certain that General Velasco will encounter the rebel forces under General Pancho Villa and will probably suffer from flanking attacks by rebel troops from Durango.

ON TO MONTEREY.

Military men not intimately connected with the federal administration express the opinion today that General Velasco's retreat will provide itself into an effort of each officer for himself. They say that the next move of the rebels will be to begin campaigns against Saltillo and Monterey and possibly a subsidiary expedition against Batecas, south of Torreon.

At the same time the rebel task of attacking Tampico on the east coast continues under the direction of General Pablo Gonzalez from his headquarters in th eeity of Victoria.

Another large quantity of small arms and machine guns—although it is not to be compared with the amount captured at Torreon—was added to the rebel supply this week when a federal force under Colonel Enriquez Peret was cut to pieces, northwest of San Luis Potosi.

The federal Generals Moure and Hidalgo are said to have twenty or thirty field funds and a large supply of ammunition.

General Hidalgo is believed to be at Saltillo but hopes to join General Moure east of Torreon.

If the rebel troops capture all the guns which were in possession of General Velasco, military men declare that they now have a majority of the field pieces in the republic. Should the equipment of Generals Moure and Hidalgo be added to theirs, their position would be superior.

1,200 Rebels Killed Or Wounded at Torreon

WASHINGTON, April 4.—An official message today from Consular Agent Carothers at Torreon, reported the rebel loss in killed and wounded in the battle at Torreon was 1,200. No estimate was made of federal losses. The message, it was said at the state department, was the only official word received from Torreon since Carothers yesterday confirmed the capture of the city by Villa.

Rear Admiral Fletcher reported there were no developments at Tampico.

The Mexican embassy was without news from Mexico City.

Villa Leaves Torreon To Chase Fleeing Federals

JUAREZ, Mexico, April 4.—The opinion that General Villa intends to take every advantage of the defeat of the federals at Torreon was expressed here today. It was based on the intelligence officially announced last night that Villa had left suddenly for San Pedro to take personal charge of rebel forces reported to have participated in an encounter with the fleeing federals.

The departure of Villa from Torreon prevented the promised telegraphic conference with General Carranza.

U. S. Consul Works to Free Imprisoned American

DOUGLAS, Ariz., April 4.—Frederick Simpich, United States consul, arrived here last night from his headquarters at Nogales in connection with the investigation of James Byington, an American mining man now in jail at Cumpas. Byington is admitted by Sonora officials to have been in jail five months without trial on a charge of fraudulent exploitation of a mine. Simpich probably will go to Cumpas, although he has taken the case up with General Carranza, head of the constitutionalists.

GREENSBORO PLEASED WITH TRAIN SCHEDULES

To Be Given Quicker Mail Service and Be in Closer Touch With Atlanta

(Secial Dispatch to The Journal.)

GREENSBORO, Ga., April 4.—Greensboro is enthusiastic over the prospects in the changes of passenger train schedules on the Georgia railroad, more especially in view of the fact that every one of the trains are scheduled for the regular stops at Greensboro.

The general reason given for the favorable attitude towards the changes is that Greensboro will be given better and quicker mail service, and she will be in closer touch with Atlanta for western and northern points, and Augusta for eastern points.

Greensboro is midway between Augusta and Atlanta and at present, the schedules on the Georgia railroad which include numbers of stops, give slow service to the two terminals of the railroad.

BOY BURGLAR SENTENCED TO COUNTY REFORMATORY

Youth Who Was Wounded While Entering Store Sent Away Until He Is 21

Harry Underwood, the seventeen-year-old burglar, was sentenced to the Fulton county industrial farm Saturday morning by Judge Hill, of the criminal division of the superior court.

On the night of January 30 Underwood with Frank Holmes, aged 19 years, broke into the store of Waggoner & Waldrop, in East Atlanta. The two proprietors received the boy burglars with shotguns, and Holmes was killed and Underwood wounded.

Because of his youth and physical condition the boy, after entering a plea of guilty to the burglary charge, was sentenced to the reformatory to serve until he is twenty-one years of age, unless paroled for good behavior in the mealtime.

ELECTION CAMPAIGN OF SUFFRAGISTS ENDS

Expect to Have Majority of 258,000 Women Voters at Polls in Chicago

(By Associate Press.)

CHICAGO, April 4.—The campaign inaugurated by women suffragists who will vote for the first time in a Chicago municipal election on April 7 when 35 aldermen are to be elected, practically closed today. There are 258,000 women registered and it is estimated that 90 per cent of them will cast their ballot. Eight women are candidates for aldermen and each made a vigorous campaign.

Interest, however, centered in the fight made by Miss Marion Drake, a court stenographer who is running for alderman on the Progressive ticket in the First ward against John J. (Bathhouse) Coughlin, Democratic boss, who with his colleague, Michael ("Hinky Dink") Kenna, ruled the politics of theater, hotel and downtown shopping quarter for twenty years.

Miss Drake is supported by Jane Addams and all the prominent leaders of the woman's movement, the Municipal Voters' league and other reform organizations.

COAL COMPANY REFUSES DEMAND OF 800 MINERS

(By Associated Press.)

CANNONSBURG, Pa., April 4.—Representatives of the Pittsburg-Buffalo Coal company today flatly told its 800 miners who yesterday demanded to be paid on a run-of-mine basis that the company would not inaugurate the new system. There has been no disorder.

It was said today that 20,000 miners in Washington county have refused to obey the officers of their union and return to work pending the signing of the scale.

Tango Skirts and Low Neck Waists Rapped by Women as Suggestive

(By Associated Press.)

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 4.—"Tango skirts" and "extreme low neck waists" were condemned as "unbecoming and suggestive" in resolutions adopted last night by the Baptist Women's Missionary union for the state of Arkansas, in session here. The resolution pledged members of the union to use their influence to have women discontinue wearing such apparel.

WOMAN CREATES SCENE AT CLERGYMAN'S TRIAL

Demands Admission to Hearing of Pastor Accused of Kissing Member of Church

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 4.—Jane Est. hertofore identified with movements of the Industrial Workers of the World created consternation at the Metropolitan temple today by trying to force her way into the trial of Dr. Jacob E. Price, pastor of the Washington Heights Methodist Episcopal church, who is charged with misconduct by nine women members of his congregation.

At the door she was confronted by Dr. Frank J. Belcher, pastor of the Five Points mission, acting as attorney for the defendant.

"Let me in," she shouted in tones which immediately drew a large crowd. "This is not a private trial. Ecclesiasticism itself is on trial. Ecclesiasticism has always whitewashed the church whenever charges are made against a pastor. These trials ought to be held out in the open where people can hear them. There is a great deal of talk about shielding the pastor."

"I want to see Dr. Price," she continued. "I'd like to see him try to kiss me."

It has been charged that Dr. Price, among other things, tried to kiss a woman member of his congregation.

Followed by the crowd the woman succeeded in pushing her way into the temple, but could get no farther than the witness room. Here she described herself as a "church cleaner."

TO OPEN NEW DISTRICTS TO LUMBER INDUSTRIES

Quebec Government to Make Change of Long-Standing Rule

(By Associated Press.)

QUEBEC, April 4.—Departing from the rule which it has observed for eight years, the Quebec government has decided to open new districts to the lumber and pulp industries and will auction off timber in the Abitibi and Lake St. John districts during August and October, it was announced last night.

In the Lake St. John region, territory to be opened is north of the lake and in the basin of the Mistassini and Rat rivers. In the Abitibi it is situated close to the transcontinental line, but on the north slope in the basin which empties into James bay. This tract is traversed by the Poisson Blanc, Harricana and Bells rivers.

The concessions will call for the development of the water powers in the district and will carry the obligation to construct pulp mills of a specified capacity within three years.

The delay between now and August is to allow opportunity for exploration and permit of advertising the proposed auction, not only in Canada, but also in the United States, Great Britain and France, as the government wishes to attract the attention of foreigners to the great natural resources of the province.

The government has appointed five official guides to further the interests of colonization in the Abitibi districts, advising intending settlers what the district has to offer.

ESCAPED PRISONER IS FOUND CALMLY SLEEPING

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

DALTON, Ga., April 4.—While Charley Parks was sleeping in his bed at home resting up preparatory to leaving for parts unknown officers this morning pounced upon him and took him back to the county jail from which he escaped last night. Parks, with Starling Holder, Ed Sullivan and John Bowman, broke cell lock and tunnelled through a wall to freedom; other three have not been recaptured.

MAY NOT ASK STATE TO PRINT OWN TEXT BOOKS

Committee From School Book Commission Appears Not to Favor It

The state school book committee, which met Friday to hear reports and witnesses on the question of securing cheaper text books for Georgia, appointed a subcommittee at the close of the day's session to draft a report which will be presented to the entire school book commission April 28. The committee consists of M. L. Brittain, C. R. McCrory and H. C. Shuptrine.

Aside from a lengthy and sometimes sharp discussion nothing developed at the afternoon session of the committee, but when adjournment time came the impression was that the committee would present no report recommending that the state print its own text books.

Because no appropriation was made for publishing the report of the school book committee, M. L. Brittain, state superintendent of schools, stated he would be glad to include the report in his own provided he received the copy by May 1.

AGENCY HEAD PRAISES REGIONAL BANK VICTORY

Says Institution Will Be Valuable Advertising Asset to Atlanta

St. Elmo Massengale, president of the Massengale Advertising agency and the Massengale Bulletin system, speaks as follows about the regional bank victory:

"I consider the establishment of the regional bank in Atlanta the greatest advertisement Atlanta has ever gotten and fully believe it worth as a continuous advertising investment a half million dollars (and that's conservative) to Atlanta. Think that over carefully.

"I have been in the advertising business here twenty years and watched with pride our city grow every year. I travel almost constantly and advertise for municipalities and communities as well as firms all over the south.

"Do you know the committee did not mention it, but Atlanta is the most important advertising center in the entire south and one of the leaders in the United States.

"The Atlanta committee and Senator Hoke Smith are to be heartily thanked and we ought to publicly thank them, too, for this great continuous advertising value and other values of this great bank to Atlanta."

JAMAICA SNAKE TAKES LONG TRIP TO WAYCROSS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

WAYCROSS, Ga., April 4.—Cutting bananas for a news butch today, John Simmons, a negro employed by the Union News company, sliced off a piece of a Jamaica snake coiled in a bunch of the fruit. The snake resented the intrusion and tried to bite the negro, who jumped over a roller-top desk and a large counter in getting out of the office.

The snake was later captured and is exciting much interest here. Manager E. F. Herring had cut most all the bananas from the bunch in which the snake was found.

VETERAN ACTRESS DIES OF APPENDICITIS IN N. Y.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 4.—Mrs. Ruth Adelaide Cherie Greenfield, one of the "old school" actresses, died in a hospital here yesterday of appendicitis. As an actress Mrs. Greenfield made her debut in this city in 1876 as Camille in the production of that name. During her career she supported many noted actors of the "old school" and at one time made a tour of the United States in "Only a Farmer's Daughter."

For the last few days Mrs. Greenfield had been active in the work of the Professional Women's league.

This Boy Is So Mean Reformatory Officials Seek Pardon for Him

(By Associated Press.)

INDIANAPOLIS, April 4.—William Taylor, a youth serving a twelve-year sentence in the state reformatory at Jeffersonville for highway robbery is so unruly that officials have asked that he be pardoned so they can be rid of him. The state board of pardons in its report to Governor Ralston yesterday, recommended Taylor be given his freedom.

Taylor has broken so many rules of the reformatory and his unruliness has had such bad effect on the other prisoners that the officials refused to consider parole on the ground that he would be returned to the institution in a few months. It is said by the prison officials that Taylor is mentally undeveloped and he cannot be reformed. Governor Ralston has taken no action on the board's report.

NO NECESSITY TO BE MISERABLE

Says One Woman Who Knows, Good Advice on How to Regain Health and Strength

Newtonia, Mo.—In advices from this town, Mrs. Susie Williams has the following to say for publication: "Ladies, there is absolutely no necessity to be so miserable from suffering, as so many women are, when Cardui, the woman's tonic, will help you so much. I wouldn't think of being without Cardui in my home.

When I was married, I suffered great pains every month. My husband got me a bottle of Cardui, and it helped me so, I kept on taking it. In a short time I was well and strong.

Before I began taking Cardui, my weight was only 98 pounds, and in less than a year I weighed 150.

I think Cardui is the best medicine in the world for women, and I hope all suffering ladies will take my advice and try Cardui."

If you are sick and miserable, and suffering from any of the pains due to womanly trouble, take Cardui. It has been found to relieve pain and distress, caused by womanly troubles, and is an excellent remedy to have on hand at all times, in case of need, for all women's ailments and weaknesses.

Cardui is composed of ingredients which act on the womanly constitution, and build up health and strength in a natural manner.

Cardui will help you to get well.

TRAIN "HOLDUP" STORY A FAKE, SAYS MESSENGER

Admits He Shot Self and Circulated Bandit Story, to Appear as Hero

A written statement from R. C. Fletcher admitting that the "holdup" of the train of the Southern Express company on the Seaboard Air Line, near Comer, Ga., Thursday morning, was a fake planned by the boy himself, is in the hands of express company officials here, according to W. T. Elder, the local agent.

In this statement, says Mr. Elder, Fletcher admits that he shot himself through the arm and made up the bandit story in order to appear a hero in the columns of the press. Mr. Elder says that Fletcher was at once discharged from the service of the company Friday afternoon and was given a ticket home, where he can make a new start.

"We were suspicious as soon as we heard of it," Mr. Elder told a reporter for The Journal Saturday morning. "On the face of it the story was impossible. The side door of the express car through which Fletcher said the bandit plunged his arm would not permit a man to stand outside while the train was speeding through the country at twenty miles an hour. The powder burns on Fletcher's sleeve showed that the shot was fired at mighty close range and the position of the bullet hole itself proved to our minds that the shot couldn't have been fired by an assailant.

"As soon as we heard Fletcher's story came in Thursday morning, I myself went down to Comer. With a dozen bloodhounds, automobiles and 100 men we scoured the country roundabout, but could find no trace of a bandit.

"When I came back yesterday we held a conference with Fletcher and he broke down and confessed that the story was all a fake. He said he thought he would appear a hero, a valiant defender of the company's honor and would make a future for himself."

BIG LAND SUIT DECIDED IN FAVOR OF PLAINTIFFS

Robert L. Rogers and Others Lose to Mrs. L. F. Bellengrath and Others

With a verdict for the plaintiffs, the million dollar land suit which has consumed nine days in Judge Ellis' branch of superior court ended late Friday afternoon.

The suit, between Mrs. L. F. Bellengrath and fifteen other plaintiffs, and Robert L. Rodgers and sixteen other defendants, involved the title to 100 acres of land near Ponce de Leon park.

The plaintiffs asked that the defendants be enjoined from entering upon the land. The plaintiffs are in possession and the defendants were seeking to oust them. The jury found that the injunction should issue, and found against the defendants in every particular.

The plaintiffs claimed their title through William Blackman, to whom they state the land was conveyed in 1842 from William Armistead. The defendants heirs of Armistead, claimed that this conveyance to Blackman was never made, and that the land came directly in title from Armistead.

The land in question is the north half of land lot 18. It is bounded on the north by North avenue, on the west by Randolph street, on the east by Barnett street, on the south by a diagonal line drawn northeast from Randolph street to the east line of Barnett street.

The plaintiffs were represented by Luther Z. Rosser, A. A. & T. L. Meyer, J. F. Golightly, E. M. & G. F. Mitchell.

The defendants were represented by Judge Robert L. Rodgers, one of the defendants, and W. T. Buchanan.

ACCIDENT PROVES FATAL TO MR. THOMAS MOORE

Pioneer Citizen Succumbs to Injuries Sustained in Runaway Last Thursday

Following a runaway in which he was thrown violently from his buggy, Thomas Moore, one of Atlanta's pioneer citizens, died Friday night at 7 o'clock at Wesley Memorial hospital. The accident occurred Thursday afternoon when Mr. Moore was returning to his home near Bolton. The horse became frightened at a Marietta street car and ran away, hurling Mr. Moore to the pavement. His wife, who was with him, was uninjured except for a few bruises.

He was 86 years old and for sixty years and more he had been a resident of Atlanta. He operated a mill on Peachtree creek until about ten years ago. During the war it was burned by Union soldiers, but was rebuilt soon thereafter. He owned a great deal of land and was a man of wealth.

He was prominent in religious activities, being a member of Mount Vernon church, and was one of the organizers of the World's International Sunday school conventions. He went to Ferry Salem when he was a 15 years old to attend one of these conventions.

He was born in Asheville, N. C., but his parents were from Ireland, where they belonged to the Dunseath family, one of the nobility. He is survived by his wife and three grandsons, Virlyn Moore, Thomas W. Moore and James M. Moore.

The body is at Barclay & Brandon's chapel and the funeral arrangements will be completed later.

Many Beautiful Dances Will Form Magnificent Pantomime on April 18

The trees and the flowers and the breezes, Columbine and Pierrot, icy winter, budding spring, Spanish dancers, gray ghosts and sunbeams—all will flit forth on the night of April 18 as a part of the magnificent spectacle to be staged in Atlanta under the auspices of the Young Women's Christian association.

The spectacle is called "The Pageant of Spring" and is divided into several parts that tell in beautiful pantomime from the story of spring from its awakening from winter's shroud to its merging into the flare of summer.

Miss Era Betzner, physical instructress of the local Y. W. C. A., and herself a pupil of noted New York dancers, is the author of the pageant and is personally overseeing its daily rehearsals now going on.

Over 150 persons will take part, from little girl flowers who look like miniature sunbeams to older dancers who have studied their art and are well versed in its most intricate steps. One of the local teachers will be engaged for the presentation of the spectacle.

WOMAN WAS MURDERED AND BURNED, POLICE THINK

Chinese Boy Held After Finding of Ashes of Human Bones in Furnace

(By Associated Press.)

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 4.—That Mrs. Charles J. Millard was murdered and her body burned in the furnace of her home, is the belief of the police inquiring into the circumstances of her disappearance on Wednesday last. Jack Kong, a Chinese boy seventeen years old, is being detained as a result of the evidence which the police have obtained. What has the appearance of human bones and rings was found charred in the furnace ashes by detectives when they made an examination last night.

Bloodhounds took up the scent from traces of a stain which had been found on the dining room floor, following it to the cellar and pointing to an axe. Later they led the detectives to the attic where the woman's clothes had been found earlier in the day.

BAD OPERATION AVOIDED

By Timely Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Sowers' Own Statement.

Hodgdon, Maine.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Maine.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

EGGERS IS NOT BLAMED FOR DEATH OF GRANT

Fighter Cheered When Recorder Broyles Announces No Case Against Him

Johnny Eggers, the New York fighter, was freed of all charges connecting him with the death of Jimmy Grant when he was arraigned in recorder's court Friday afternoon.

Following testimony of various physicians that Grant's death Friday morning was caused by pneumonia brought on by his fight with Eggers Tuesday night, Recorder Broyles announced that he would not hold Eggers for the state courts.

"Fighting ten rounds for points with gloves is legal under the state and city laws," said the recorder. "I do not see how Eggers is to blame in this case."

When the recorder announced his decision, the court room, packed with members of the local sporting fraternity and many personal friends of Grant and Eggers, rang with cheers that were quelled with difficulty.

Eggers' friends crowded 'round him with handshakes and congratulations. As the little fighter left the court room, tears were in his eyes and he repeated over and over to himself: "I will never fight again."

Grant's body, which was removed to H. M. Patterson's undertaking parlors, was taken to Chicago Saturday morning. Grant's real name was Victor Barnett. He came of a Russian family and has a widowed mother and a sister living in Chicago.

MANY TRUE BILLS ARE FOUND BY GRAND JURY

Three Negroes Indicted on Charges of Murder—Others Are Minor Cases

Fifteen true bills, including three for murder, were returned by the Fulton county grand jury, of which A. L. Waldo is foreman, late Friday afternoon.

Gertie Parks, a colored man, was indicted for the murder of Horace Reid, colored, on Christmas day, 1913. Parks is charged with shooting Reid after a dispute over 25 cents at the corner of Mangum and Magnolia streets. Parks then escaped to Savannah, where he was arrested three weeks ago and brought back. It is said he turned himself over to Chief M. L. Meldrim, of the Savannah police, because his conscience hurt him about the killing of Reid.

Richard Fletcher, colored, was indicted for the murder of Joe Edwards, colored, in front of a restaurant on Decatur street on the night of Saturday, March 7. Fletcher is charged by eyewitnesses with stabbing Edwards in the heart while the latter was talking to a woman. Jealousy is assigned as the cause.

Another negro, Arthur Robinson, alias "Sox," was indicted for the murder of Robert Trimble, colored. Trimble's body was found on the Campbellton road, near East Point, on November 30. The head was cut open and the man's brains had come out. Wheel tracks showed in the road, turning where the body was found, and it is charged that Robinson killed Trimble on Peters street, taking the body out in a hack and leaving it on the road.

The other twelve indictments were for minor offenses.

SOCIETY TO ENTERTAIN QUEEN OF BULGARIA

Receptions Will Be Given for Royal Visitor on Large and Regal Scale

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 4.—Although no definite plans have been announced for the social entertainment of the Queen of Bulgaria, who is expected here the latter part of May, it is understood society will open its doors to the royal visitor and entertain for her on a large and regal scale.

The queen's personal representative, who will arrive here next week, has already stated that the queen hopes to be treated here in the same way as any private visitor. The addresses she plans to give are all to be delivered before specially invited audiences and will be in the nature of semi-public receptions. She will probably speak in Carnegie Hall before an invited audience.

It was said today by a prominent member of society that the society women who will give entertainments for the queen while she is in this city will be those who are allied with the great charitable and philanthropic enterprises at home and in the Orient.

THEATERS

(Criticisms of initial performances of the local theaters are written by members of The Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater management.)

This afternoon a matinee will be given at the Atlanta with "Adele" as the bill. This is the most delightful and worth while musical play of the season and the critics and public have united in praising its music, its story and its company. The play is pronounced a real treat and those who miss it will be missing something which will be regretted for a long while. The final performance will be given tonight.

The Forsyth's big entertainment has been attracting capacity audiences at each performance this week, and today bids fair to eclipse all records of the theater, every floor, even to the gallery being sold out, and very inch of standing room will surely be taken up. The bill is headlined by "The System," presented by Taylor Granville, Laura Pierpont and a capable company. There are six other attractive features, all going to make up a cracking good offering.

Next week will see Ray Cox in headline position, while Arthur Deagon will share topline honors. Cora Youngblood Corson's "Girls of the Golden West," a bevy of pretty and attractive girls, will make up the musical part of the program, while in Alexander Kids will entertain with juvenile numbers. A big feature is George Roland and company in "Fixing the Furnace," and something new and novel in the picture line will be the "The Vergraph," which no one can afford to miss. Other big and attractive features will complete the bill.

Lucille LaVerne and her company of fifteen college-bred handsome men and beautiful women, arrived in this city yesterday afternoon, to immediately commence rehearsals for their stock engagement at the Lyric theater for the spring and summer months. "The Lilly," David Belasco's big success, will be the initial offering of the company, commencing with Easter week, April 13.

The box office opens Monday morning, April 6, when seats can be secured and permanent reservations made for the season. Prices will be 75c and 50c for the orchestra seats, 50c, 35c and 25c for the balcony seats, gallery 15c and 10c, while the lower boxes are $1 and upper boxes and loges 50c. Any seat in the house can be secured for 25c at the matinees.

FULTON CRIMINAL COURT ADJOURNS UNTIL MAY 11

The Fulton criminal court, presided over by Judge Hill was adjourned on Friday until May 11, the calendar business of the court having been entirely finished.

Of course should anything particular arise during the interim, Judge Hill will attend to it; but the regular sessions of the court will not be held again until the second week in May.

The city criminal court, which has been in recess, will reconvene Monday on the fourth floor of the Thrower building, and Judge Andrew Calhoun will take up a heavy docket.

CHANDLER, SOUTHERN'S SOUTH AMERICAN AGENT

Fairfax Harrison, president of the Southern railroad, has appointed Charles Lyon Chandler South American agent with headquarters at Chattanooga, Tenn., to take care of southern merchants in their trade below the isthmus when the Panama canal is opened.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

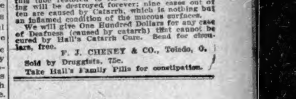

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Peachtree Heights Park
Its Location

YOU know, of course, where Peachtree Heights Park is, but there are some points about its location we would like to have you think about carefully.

There is no more important element of value in your home than the location of it. Well placed, it is not only a joy while you live in it, but it is a quickly salable commodity, at market price, when occasion comes for you to dispose of it.

The location of Peachtree Heights Park is just such as will give permanent and ever increasing value to the home built there, as well as pleasure to the occupant.

It is on Peachtree Road in the very heart and center of Atlanta's newest and most popular residence development and just 24 minutes trolley ride from Five Points. Peachtree is rapidly building in homes three miles and more beyond, while Pace's Ferry, two miles further out, is the center of one of Atlanta's famous home colonies.

Some of Atlanta's prettiest homes have already been built in Peachtree Heights Park. Others are soon to be built. It is where Atlanta home-builders are going.

For your home the location of Peachtree Heights Park cannot be beat.

Let us show it to you, or consult your own agent.

SPECIAL TO WOMEN

The most economical, cleansing and germicidal of all antiseptics is

Paxtine

A soluble Antiseptic Powder to be dissolved in water as needed.

As a medicinal antiseptic for douches in treating catarrh, inflammation or ulceration of nose, throat, and that caused by feminine ills it has no equal. For ten years the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. has recommended Paxtine in their private correspondence with women, which proves its superiority. Women who have been cured say it is "worth its weight in gold." A Federal System for Great Britain.

Extraordinary interest has been aroused by Sir Edward Grey's suggestion, recently offered in the House of Commons, that Great Britain adopt a federal system of government, whereby the local affairs of England, Wales, Scotland and Ireland could be directed through independent legislatures, each unit, of course, remaining subject to the Imperial Parliament in matters of national concern. Under existing conditions, the foreign secretary declared, "the country is in peril of going under through the sheer inability of Parliament to transact its business."

The British Parliament, as one observer remarks, now essays to do for all Great Britain what the national Congress and forty-six legislatures do for the United States. "Her colonies have learned the value of federation. The Dominion of Canada, formed in 1867, has ten self-governing provinces; the Commonwealth of Australia, formed in 1901, has six self-governing States, besides Territories; and the Union of South Africa, formed in 1909, has four provinces." The Legislative and administrative affairs of England alone are enormous and, if given due attention, would consume the energy of a parliament; but they are now lumped with those of Wales, Scotland and Ireland and with the responsibilities of the empire as a whole. The burden is too great for one government to carry, the mass of detail too heavy and complex for one ministry to bear.

Should Sir Edward's suggestion meet with favor —and there are indications that the leaders of all parties are disposed to consider it—the plan of Home Rule now proposed for Ireland might be extended to the remainder of the Kingdom. "The scheme is novel to this extent," comments the Philadelphia Public-Ledger, "that all the great federations in the world's history have grown by the union of previously separated States, whereas this plan involves the division into self-governing units of a country long under central executive and legislative authority."

Let the weather man keep this up, and there will be few knocks.

The fire was not so diverting, however, that St. Augustine forgot to vote "wet."

"Fight is planned by cities failing to land bank." You can't blame them for being in a fighting humor.

On Raising Potatoes.

The national Department of Agriculture points out the important fact that while Germany has eight million acres in potatoes, the United States has only three and a half million, and that while the average potato yield in Germany is two hundred and two and a half bushels to the acre it is only ninety-six and two-tenths in the United States.

These figures indicate the urgent need of increasing the country's food production. The Louisville Courier-Journal well says, in commenting on the department's report, that in the vegetable line, the potato is the staff of life, "and is almost as indispensable in the average family as bread, butter or bacon." The size and quality of the potato crop bear directly on the cost of living. A shortage in the home production of this staple article of food adds appreciably to the expense of every household.

The United States is not now producing enough potatoes to supply the needs of its own people. Instead of this, it should be, and by proper methods it could be, exporting potatoes to many other parts of the world. The Department of Agriculture estimates that if five States alone—Maine, New York, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota—"were to plant twelve and five-tenths per cent of their arable land in potatoes, as Germany does, and secure an equivalent yield, the production would amount to one billion, five hundred and fifty-eight million, three hundred and forty-four thousand bushels—more than four times the present production of the entire country."

It is gratifying to note that Georgia's potato crop is steadily increasing in volume and value. In 1912 the Irish potatoes raised in this State were valued at eight hundred and fourteen thousand dollars; last year they amounted to considerably more than a million dollars.

Having landed everything in sight, the city of Atlanta will now proceed to hunt new material to land.

The latest daring train robbery happens to be merely the result of reading dime novels, which shows what a great age for fiction we live in.

We have reached the stage of greatness where we shall not crow over Birmingham, New Orleans and the other southern towns that can't keep up with us.

The Pith of the Mexican Problem.

"If peace could once more be established in Mexico," says the Literary Digest, "it would seem that the long-needed measures of land reform might follow; for, nearly every leader or party professes a belief in its necessity and a willingness to bring it about." Huerta has promised to distribute some ten million acres of government land among the people; that, however, is of little importance, since all omens indicate that he will soon pass from the stage. Villa has declared that "every man in the republic who wishes it shall be given a little piece of land for his own;" and, what is more to the point, Villa has actually carried his policy into effect in certain districts that have fallen under his sway. His chief, and the prime leader of the constitutionalist cause, General Carranza, is likewise pledged to land reforms and, there is reason to believe, is entirely sincere in his purpose. Zapata, a revolutionist captain in southern Mexico, is said to have parceled into small farms for the people much of the territory he controls. It is evident, then, that all factions in the Mexican turmoil recognize the supreme importance of the land question.

Other factors, to be sure, have entered largely into the country's long series of revolutions—the personal ambition of adventurers, the schemes of financial interests and the lack of self-control and foresight among the illiterate masses. Yet, beneath all these uprisings, beneath the long decades of strife and petty war, the land problem has lain fundamental. Emeterio de la Garza, formerly a member of the Mexican congress, who is now in the United States declares: "We must solve the agrarian problem, alloting lands to the Indians, whose sole ambition and supreme happiness in life are to reach the state of small landowners, unable as they are to succeed in any other field. To be a small landowner is, in their belief, to attain the greatest well-being." A recent writer on Mexican conditions says, in the same connection:

> "The underlying trouble is the abject dependence and poverty to which the vast majority are reduced by the concentration of land ownership in a few vast estates, imperfectly cultivated for the enrichment of the owners and the impoverishment of the workers. The acquisition of the great haciendas and their division and distribution into small lodgings, without absolute confiscation, is a difficult problem for a country in the condition of Mexico; but there are considerable government lands with which a beginning could be made, with a view to extending transfers of possession through official action."

Regarded in the light of such testimony, the revolutions that have torn Mexico, and particularly the one now in progress, appear to be more than idle strife between political factions; they are at bottom the struggle of a people for economic as well as human rights. Other elements, to be sure, are present, elements of brutal hate, of personal envies and barbaric passions, so that it is often impossible to distinguish between picaroon and hero. But in time to come, the student of these conditions will doubtless be able to trace some tangled thread of purpose running through the years of tumult and blood.

Certain it is that any American government which is to endure must take large account of the land problem, must see to it that the cry of the millions for an opportunity to earn their daily bread in freedom is answered. Whether such a government is to be established any time soon is a matter of surmise. Yet, there is reason to hope that if the Constitutionalists escape the pitfall of dissension among themselves, they will stand a fair chance of meeting the country's needs and restoring order.

It may be that Villa and Carranza will fall apart, and start anew the wearisome, costly game of war. But it is possible that their better judgment will prevail and that they will stand together for the country's pacification. In that event, much good may be expected from them.

Editorials in Brief

Senator La Follette, whose lightest thoughts always appear in the form of laws and whose conclusions invariably read like the Revised Statutes, has a bill making it a penal offense to attempt to influence the interstate commerce commission, "except in accordance with its rules."

As the interstate commerce commission is a quasi-judicial body, a law of this kind might easily become a terror to litigants. It would be like providing a penalty for a defendant in a criminal court who sought irregularly, perhaps, but honestly to have his case heard on its merits.

If the interstate commerce commission is not able to enforce its rules and to protect its own dignity, does the senator from Wisconsin, who was supposed to have been put to sleep two years ago by Mr. Roosevelt, imagine that one of his justly celebrated cure-all laws will help it much?—New York World.

THESE KINGS AND QUEENS JUST FOLKS

BY HERBERT CORBY.

For just a little while it seemed to Colvin B. Brown, of San Francisco, that he had made what is known in Paducah, Ky., as a fox pass when he talked with the Queen of Rumania. Every now and then Carmen Sylva had called:

"Ma'le."

Whereupon a perfectly beautiful woman would come sweeping into the queen's personal reception chamber through the portieres which separated the room from the remainder of the royal suite. The queen had not introduced her to the American gentleman. Mr. Brown had no idea whatever as to her status. He merely knew that she was extraordinarily easy to look at. By and by the queen again called:

"Ma'le."

And Marie did not respond. So that Carmen Sylva asked Mr. Brown, who happened to be sitting next to the portieres, to part them, that Marie might hear her more easily. Whereupon Mr. Brown parted the portieres and called:

"Ma'le."

And the grand duchess of something came sweeping out, looking more impossibly beautiful than ever, and asked if her majesty had called. Whereupon her majesty laughed—and laughed—and laughed again. And the Grand Duchess of Something and Mr. Brown collaborated in one of the most excellent blushes ever seen in Rumania. The grand duchess didn't know what the joke was. Mr. Brown feared he knew who the joke was on.

"But you did exactly right," Mr. Brown was assured later by an official of the Rumanian court. "The queen had expressed a wish for something. You served her in the only way in your power."

The incident serves to correct a prevalent impression about kings and queens. They are not at all upstage. They do not go about wearing gold crowns, size six and a quarter, and prodding prime ministers with long scepters. They act just like regular folks.

"The sovereigns we met seemed very democratic," said Mr. Brown. "There was a touch of reserve, perhaps, but they were delightfully courteous. They were more than that. They were cordial."

Mr. Brown is one of the three commissioners from the United States to the Mediterranean and Balkan countries, on behalf of the Panama-Pacific exposition. They have just returned from touring Europe for four months. They were presented to King Alfonso of Spain, the King and Queen of Rumania, the presidents of France and Portugal, the grand vizier and Sultan of Turkey, and Czar Ferdinand of Bulgaria and his queen. Perhaps King Alfonso made the greatest impression.

"His looks and acts and talks more like a successful young Wall street banker than any other type I am acquainted with," said Mr. Brown. "He is courteous, but he is also very businesslike. Our audience with him was a comparatively brief one. But he knew just what he wanted to know.

"'Tell me this,' he would ask, crisply, 'What about that?'

"And when we had answered he would nod his head gravely. 'That is sufficient,' he would say. 'I understand thoroughly.'

Spain has accepted America's invitation to exhibit at the exposition. But it is obviously Mr. Brown's conviction that the acceptance depended upon King Alfonso's decision. That young ruler's businesslike manner confirmed the opinion. The commissioners had previously formed of him through talks with Spaniards and foreigners resident in Spain.

"He is more than liked by his people," said Mr. Brown. "He is respected. He told us during our audience that he had been playing that day with the English polo team, which is preparing in Spain for its attack upon our Meadow Brook four this summer.

"'I hope that some day we will have an international polo series,' said Alfonso. 'Our Spaniards ride well, and enjoy sport of this sort. How about a world match—perhaps with the United States, Spain, England and Germany as participants?'"

As they were leaving one of the English polo players in question, named Beresford, came that universal shibboleth: "How about a little high-ball, what?" Naturally enough, they began talking about King Alfonso. The English player was enthusiastic.

"He's perfectly corking," said he warmly. "He takes his knocks. No man who tried to favor him in the game could play with him for a second."

But it was Czar Ferdinand of Bulgaria who took all the tucks out of the American idea of the manner in which a king should be treated. Mr. Brown had been introduced and involuntarily—forgetting that he was in the presence of one the Lord has temporarily anointed—sat down. Then he got right up.

"I forgot," said he, frankly. "I believe one should not sit in the presence of the king." Ferdinand laughed.

"Nonsense," said he. "Keep your seat."

The Queen of Bulgaria was one of the luncheon party, with the heir apparent and his younger brother. It was a most informal affair, and after lunch the queen lighted a cigarette. Then she lighted one for the nearest commissioner.

"I hope," said she, "that you have been about Europe long enough to become accustomed to women smoking? I understand they do not smoke in the United States?"

Mr. Brown does not report his reply fully. But he sought to make it entirely plain that he was fully cigarette broken.

"Nevertheless," said the queen, "when I come to America I do not think I shall smoke."

The commissioners had engaged space upon the Oriental express, which runs between Paris and Constantinople. Their berths had been set down to the train. Almost at the last moment a royal invitation —for which read "command"—was received, bidding them to luncheon at 11 o'clock at the czar's suburban palace.

"We were in a pickle," said Brown. "We could not afford to disregard the invitation. Neither could we miss that train. But we decided to accept. The train left at 2 o'clock."

They were taken to the sun palace in the environs of Sofia in the king's own automobile. It was a ride of ten miles. The commissioners suffered during the luncheon, thinking of that ten-mile ride back, and that Oriental express. No one ever tampers with the Oriental's time card. It is sacred. By and by the czar arose.

"Come," said he. "I will take you to your train."

Two o'clock had passed and gone. But, seated by the czar's side in the czar's automobile, they were driven to the czar's private railroad station on his private estate. The station was something on the order of a Greek temple. The automobile rolled in through folding doors—upon a green velvet carpet—and they walked through the station and out upon the platform. It was also carpeted with green silk. A jingling major dome raised his hand, and the Oriental express rolled up. It had been held seventy minutes for the Americans. That had never been done before.

Quips and Quiddities

When Uncle Rod, the old colored man who worked about the place, came out Monday Mrs. Stone said: "Well, Uncle Rod, I hear you have another pair of twins at your house."

"Yass, missus," responded the man, "we has. Brass dey little hearts!"

"Have you named them yet?" asked the woman.

"Yas'm," said Rod. "Done named 'em aftah two ob de fust presidents wife ob dis country."

"Indeed!" said Mrs. Stone, "which two?"

"Ole Christofo C'lumbus and Juleyous Caesar," said the man. "We'se gwet on namin' de chillus fo' de presidents 't our house."—National Monthly.

"Oh, Will," she said, moving a trifle closer to him, "I am so glad you are not rich! They say that some of those millionaires receive threatening letters saying that something dreadful will happen to them if they don't pay the writers sums of money."

"Oh, is that all?" replied Will. "Why, I get plenty of such letters."

La Ligue des Deux Plats

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

(Copyright, 1914, by Frank Crane.)

It is about time. And here it is. If you wait long enough good sense will triumph.

And think of the years we have groaned under the iron-clad tyrant known as the table d'hote; of the innumerable banquets where we have labored through hors d'oeuvres varies to came diabolique, tasting little dabs of half-cold hot meats and half-warm cold relishes, endeavoring to disguise our ennui by five kinds of dissatisfaction; of the hotels, restaurants, and dining cars where gentlemen who are allowed an expense account have pushed on to the sheer edge of apoplexy trying to eat a whole dollar's worth, and of the vast-ringed crimes against the human stomach caused by trying to devour four or five distinct and complete meals at once by calling them courses!

Think! And then let us give a cheer for M. Joseph Galtier, of Paris, who has founded, and who in the Temps of that city explicates and recommends, the league of two dishes.

"La Ligue des Deux Plats." It sounds so chic in French. That was all that was needed. We knew it was hygienic, sane, and intelligent, but who wants to be those in the hour conviviality?

Hear, therefore, all ye restaurateurs, chefs, dinner committee and housewives, THE STYLE is to be two dishes.

I doubt if any living organism ever lusted for a table d'hote dinner. When you are hungry you want one thing; and you want it good and plenty of it. You don't want to nibble at thirteen things.

Variety you want of meals, not in meals. Mutton today, chicken tomorrow, and beef the day after, but not all three at every sitting.

Here is the simple program of the new league: Two dishes only at the repast where one invites one's friends, two other dishes only each day prepared with that care to succeed, with that patience, which one still finds in our provinces," to quote literally.

And the "big dinners," with their long and sumptuous procession of viands! They will doubtless continue. The higher you get in society the colder the shoulder turned toward poor old common sense.

Mr. Galtier resigns himself to them as to an unavoidable evil. "Verse disposal, manifestations officielles"—festivals of pomp, official displays.

But the real gustatory artists, those who approach the act of feeding with refinement of taste and as superior connoisseurs, will be counted from now on, if the brilliant plan of M. Galtier triumphs, to the advanced dilettante to the adepts of "La Ligues des Deux Plats."

Better a Breach in the Party Than a Breach of Faith

(Augusta Chronicle.)

If, as some newspapers seem to pretend to believe, the "inevitable split" in the Democratic party had to come, it is just as well that it came over a question of national honor as anything else—with 329 Democrats supporting the administration on that issue, as against only fifty-two in opposition.

But is there a split? And, if so, what does it amount to? Also, who is most likely to get hurt by it?

The Chronicle prefers to believe that there is no real—or, at least, no permanent—split in the party on the question of the repeal of the Panama canal tolls exemption; and to take Speaker Clark at his word, when he says that he has neither a personal nor political grievance against President Wilson, but that their respective positions represent merely an honest difference of opinion.

At one time the Chronicle might have preferred to see Champ Clark in the presidency than Woodrow Wilson—as a matter of fact, we preferred Oscar Underwood to either of them—but we have now compelled to confess that Mr. Wilson has, in this matter, at least, shown himself to be nearer presidential size than the man from Missouri.

The latter, it seems to us, has permitted himself to lay too much stress upon a somewhat minor plank in the party platform, and not enough on the world-wide issue of national good faith. The repeal of the canal tolls clause of the Baltimore "political treaty" as if it were forever binding on the minds and consciences of all who call themselves Democrats against any and everything—solemn international covenants, written contracts, national honor—that may be brought against it. As if any party platform should be permitted to weigh against any solemn contract heretofore entered into by one's country, which is not open to repeal.

President Wilson, on the other hand, has had both the wisdom and the strength of character to ignore this plain platform pledge—which is plain, however, nor half so solemn, as the contract which we entered into with the other nations of the world through Great Britain for the construction of a great interoceanic canal, and, under like terms to all nations, ours included——and stand flat-footed for national honor and the maintenance of our national good faith as against all mere party or platform considerations.

And in this issue—right or wrong—he has fought all along —in this matter—and the conscience of the country and of the world will uphold him.

If he is true, at least, to his own lights, he has acted as we are prepared to believe—through an honest desire to right a wrong and voluntarily set this country right before the world, rather than from any sense of expediency or desire to please Great Britain, in return for any imaginary favors that she may now or in the future confer upon us in any international complication which may or may not arise. In other words, in so far as the repeal of the canal tolls exemption is brought about through a desire to do right for right's sake, the president is to be commended, but it would be nothing to his prestige or that of his country if any other motive whatsoever has prompted him.

The Chronicle is no blind admirer of President Wilson; we have never been able, like some others, to believe that all wisdom and all integrity is centered in him. On the contrary, we think he has made some serious mistakes, and we have at times been forced to deplore his inconsistency—particularly toward his political friends—but we trust we may always be able to admire and applaud a big and brave act in any man, and if ever there was a time when this country needed a statesman to lead it out of error—even to the extent of forcing it to reverse itself on a vital question—that time was at hand in this vexed canal tolls controversy. Full well has President Wilson seen his duty—and done it.

THE SEARCHLIGHT

Pistol-Syringe for Molten Metals.

A machine, called a pistol-syringe, for the coating of various objects with metallic sheaths by directing a fine spray of molten metal against them has been invented in France. This machine is an improvement of an older method of plating by means of a molten spray. It is promised that the new process will work a small revolution in the industry of decorative metal sheathing, plating and in the reproduction of bas-reliefs.

Metal in the form of wire is fed automatically into the new device, wherein it is liquefied by means of a oxyhydrogen flame or by a specially compounded illuminating gas. The molten metal is then forced into the spraying nozzle, from which it is driven in even distribution upon the surface to be coated by compressed air pumped through the device also serves to work a small turbine which keeps forcing the wire into the feed. This machine is designed to supersede the old process of coating objects by the use of metallic powders.

Very thin coating can be produced by use of the pistol-syringe. It is also possible to use in it a great many different metals. Lead, tin, zinc, copper, aluminum, iron can be used, and the inventor anticipates that his device can be successfully developed for the use of glass and enamel. All kinds of objects can be metalized. Medals, reliefs, plates for engraving, ornamental metal coatings, among a number of other things, can be quickly, accurately and cheaply made by the new machine.

PA AND MA BREAK EVEN

By E. M. WOOLEY.

(Copyright, 1914, by E. M. Wooley.)

"Where's the hammer?" asked Pa Jenkins.

"Let me see," thoughtfully answered ma. "I believe I had it upstairs when I hung that new picture in the spare room. You'll find it on the dresser or somewhere."

Five minutes later pa's voice floated down the stairway:

"It ain't here."

"Well, look on the sewing machine."

A moment later: "Tain't there, either."

"My gracious, a man never can find anything," chided ma, as she ascended the stairway.

"There, I told you it wasn't up here," triumphed pa, when a thorough search revealed no hammer.

"Oh—" suddenly exclaimed ma. "I remember now it's down in the cellar. I used it to prop open the cellar window that hasn't any catch."

"Of course!" sputtered pa. "All I'm surprised at is you didn't use it to spank up the garden. The way a woman treats a man's tools is something awful."

"Now, pa—" began ma.

"Yessir," pa continued to grouch. "I got me a box of Allen wrenches so I'd have 'em handy when there's anything to do around the house. What's happened to 'em? Are they in that box? They ain't. Any time I want anything I've got to look all over creation for it. And when I find it, what is it like?

"The screw driver's all bent because you used it to open a window that stuck. My chisel's ruined because you used it for a can opener after you'd broken the can opener trying to pry the top off a can of peanuts. The saw hasn't got a decent tooth to it since you tried to saw through a board that had nails in it. The hatchet disappeared last fall, and I only discovered it leaning up against the back porch after the snow had melted away—it was all rusted.

"I had a dandy plane. I wondered why I couldn't keep the blade sharp. Then I saw you with a frozen slab of bacon and you were using it for a plane to slice it, and anybody knows that grease dulls an edge quicker than anything else.

"I try to keep the knives sharp in this house. But you used the steel I had for a poker, and you whittle kindling wood with the carving knife. By George, the only thing that's safe now is my safety razor. You used to use my old one for sharpening lead pencils and—"

"That reminds me," interrupted ma. "I wish you'd keep your old safety razor blades for me. I used one of the new ones to rip my blue serge that I'm making over, but the old one will do as just as well."

"And I thought it was a defective blade and raised a rumpus with the fellow I bought the last batch from," groaned pa.

"Pa," said ma, "do you remember when you kept house the two weeks I was away last summer? Do you remember how you let the silver lie in the salad dressing all night and get all tarnished and ugly, and how you let my best aluminum pan stand on the hot stove until it was ruined, and how you set hot dishes on the dining room table till it was covered with white spots and rings, and how—"

But pa had disappeared cellarward, from whence his voice presently arose: "Well, I can find the hammer. What was it you wanted me to fix?"

JUST SMILES

"Your name?" asked the teacher, registering a new pupil.

"Arthur."

"And what's your first name?"

"Brown."

"Oh, haven't you got them wrong? I think Arthur must be your first name, and Brown your family name. Isn't that right?"

But the small pupil was not persuaded. A day or two later he announced:

"Teacher, mother says Brown is my first name. She says I got that name when I was born and she didn't name me Arthur till three months later!"—Everybody's Magazine.

Whistler and Oscar Wilde did not love each other overmuch, and as they constantly met in London drawing rooms their sparring was pretty deadly.

On one occasion Whistler made a remark so brilliant as to provoke applause even from Wilde.

"By jove, Whistler," he exclaimed, "I wish I had said that."

"Never mind," replied Whistler, "you will."

Mr. Harper was very much better, so Mrs. Harper allowed the nurse an evening off. As she herself was to keep an engagement, she told Bridget to watch the sickroom and gave her several orders which she impressed upon the girl's mind were important. Returning later than she intended, she heard Mr. Harper moving restlessly and after quieting him she sought Bridget for information.

"I wonder what makes Mr. Harper so restless. He was sleeping soundly when I went out. Do you know, Bridget?"

"No, mum," said the conscientious girl, "unless I disturbed him, moind, when I woke him up to give him his shleepin' powder."—Everybody's Magazine.

Three convivial passengers were going to Elyria the other day. One of them was awfully tired, and as soon as he got into his plush seat, out of the stormy weather, he went to sleep. And as soon as he got to sleep one of his companions swiped his ticket from his pocket. Then the conductor approached and the two widewake ones aroused the sleeper. "Here comes the conductor for the tickets," they said. "Wake up!"

He woke up and searched his pockets, but, of course, he found no ticket.

"Say, you fellers," he said, "I can't find it!"

"Then you'll have to pay cash fare," they answered, cheerfully.

"I haven't got a cent in my pocket!"

"Neither have we; get under the seat."

So he crawled under the seat. Then the conductor came to collect tickets. And the joker who had swiped the ticket from the sleepy one produced them all.

"There are three tickets here and only two of you," objected the conductor. "Where's the other one?"

"Under the seat," answered the jester, promptly. The conductor took a look, and sure enough, there was the third member of the party groveling in the dirt.

"What's he doing there?" the conductor wanted to know.

"Oh, he always travels that way—he prefers it," was the smiling answer.

Uncle Jim Sugarfoots killed a fine rabbit for the entertainment of Parson Heavegrace, who was expected to dinner, but as rabbits are out of season he was afraid to avoid what might prove an embarrassing situation by making the parson think it was chicken he was eating.

"Brother Heavegrace," said Uncle Jim, when he came that for a second helping, "what paht of de hare would you like now?"

With a merry twinkle in his half closed eyes Parson Heavegrace replied:

"If you all don' mind Ah think Ah'll take de gizzard."

The gentleman who had been dining and "wining," not wisely, but too well, was perusing a rather erratic course homeward. Suddenly round a corner of the street came a fire engine in haste, sparks belching from its chimney and a warm glow issuing from the open furnace door. The gentleman halted and waved his umbrella.

"Hi!" he shouted, "hi!" But the engine dashed onward.

"Hi!" he said again. The engine rushed by, almost upsetting him in its headlong course.

Then the gentleman turned round and glared reproachfully after the fire. "Very well," he said, thickly, "very well, old sport! Keep yer old chestnuts."

MEN'S GOSPEL MEETING AT FIRST METHODIST

Rev. Luther B. Bridgers Will Hold Special Services Sunday Afternoon

A big gospel meeting for men has been planned in connection with the four weeks of revival services which are now being held at the First Methodist church. The meeting will be held at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and Rev. Luther B. Bridgers, who has been conducting the evangelistic services, will address the men.

Mr. Bridgers has interested large congregations during the past two weeks, and many have praised him highly for his earnest and eloquent addresses.

All men are invited to hear him preach at the special meeting Sunday afternoon. Mr. Bridgers will also preach Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and at 7:30 in the evening.

Gounod's "The Resurrection and Ascension," and "The Spring of Souls Today," by Lemare, will be sung for the first time in Atlanta at the First Baptist church on Easter Sunday evening, April 12, under the direction of J. F. O'Donnell.

The soloists will be Mrs. Peyton H. Todd, Mrs. James H. Whitten, Mr. Solon Bruckenmyer, Mr. Harry S. Bates. They will be assisted by a large chorus.

Coffee County S. S. Convention

The Coffee county Sunday school convention will hold its semi-annual meeting at Nicholls, Ga., on April 4 and 5. A splendid program has been arranged, and a number of out-of-town speakers, as well as some state-wide Sunday school workers will be present to serve on the program.

Among them will be Rev. T. B. Stanford, of Douglas church, Savannah, who was formerly a pastor of the Methodist church in Douglas for four years.

Cooking School

Much interest is being manifested in the cooking school conducted by Mrs. Dull at Central Congregational church, under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor society. The session is attended by all of next week and those who did not obtain tickets at the beginning of the course may attend upon payment of the nominal sum of 10 cents each day.

The menu for tomorrow is the following: Old-fashioned waffles, fish boudin, lobster souffle, nondescript. The sessions are held each afternoon in the assembly room, corner Ellis street and Carnegie way.

Savannah Pastor Called to New York

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 4.—It is said that Rev. W. C. Dakin, the pastor of St. John's Episcopal church, has now under consideration a call to St. Paul's Cathedral Buffalo, N. Y. It is not known what he is going to do finally although he has written to the vestry of St. John's about his intentions.

DR. OGDEN CELEBRATES FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

Special Services Will Commemorate His Fifth Year at Central Presbyterian

Special services will be held Sunday at the Central Presbyterian church to commemorate the fifth anniversary of Dr. Dunbar Ogden's pastorate.

At the morning service Dr. Ogden will review the work of the past five years, and outline the opportunities for growth and service which lie ahead of the church.

The subject of the morning discourse will be "Forward March," and at the evening service Dr. Ogden will preach on "Exalted and Lifted Up."

DR. B. F. FRASER RETURNS HOME AFTER MACON TRIP

Pastor of St. Pauls Is Planning to Hold Big Revival

Rev. Dr. B. F. Fraser, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist church, will have charge of the big Methodist revival that St. Paul's church and Trinity church are planning to hold April 17 to 26 inclusive, is enthusiastic over the prospects for the meeting.

"We have secured some of the leading men in the Methodist church in America, today," said Dr. Fraser, "and we expect to accomplish great evangelistic work.

"All the Methodists of Atlanta and throughout this part of the south will be invited to participate in the services, and a cordial invitation will also be extended to the general public.

REV. JULIAN ROGERS TO PREACH TO RAILROAD MEN

The Railroad Young Men's Christian association has announced very strong and interesting program for Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. Julien S. Rogers, pastor of First Atlanta, Baptist church, chautauqua Bible lecturer and a man of unusual force as a Bible expositor has been chosen as the speaker.

The Temple male quartet, of College Park, will sing and the excellent orchestra of the association will lead the general song service. The railroad man will realize at this service and will be glad to welcome their friends who are not of the railroad fraternity.

Sixteen young people will be received into the full communion of the English Lutheran church Sunday morning. The confirmation service will be held at the morning devotions.

Sunday evening the pastor, Rev. W. C. Schaad, will preach a sermon entitled "The Triumphal Entry," the first of a series of sermons which will continue throughout the week.

On Easter Sunday evening the Bible school will render a special Easter service.

Baptist News Notes

The Sunday school for the Sunday school and young people workers will be held at the Second Baptist church April 12 at 3 p. m. This is a mass meeting on Sunday, April 12, at 3 p. m. It is urged that all the Baptist churches and Sunday schools and Christian workers in general be present at this meeting. This will be the first service in the series.

The South Side Baptist church has called Rev. W. C. Ivey as pastor, and he has accepted and has begun work. Mr. Ivey was pastor of the Kirkwood Baptist church for several years, and did splendid work there.

The Jones Avenue Baptist church has called Rev. D. F. Green, of Moultrie, Ala., and he has accepted the call. He will begin his work in Atlanta May 1. His coming to the city was welcomed by some of the leading Baptists of the Southern Baptist convention.

The Immanuel Baptist church has organized an orchestra under the leadership of Mr. Greenblett, and it will render its first program next Sunday morning. This will add greatly to the music of the church. The pastor, Rev. R. L. Peeples, will speak Sunday morning on "The Dimensions of Love," and Dr. B. F. Robertson will speak for the church Sunday night. He will conduct "Enlistment Services" with the pastor next week.

Floyd Remains Interdenominational

ROME, Ga., April 4.—An effort to have the Floyd County Baptist Sunday schools withdraw from the control of the interdenominational Sunday school lessons and follow an independent schedule was defeated at the last meeting of the Floyd County Baptist Sunday school association. The leader of the movement for strictly denominational lines was G. W. Fleetwood, but after considerable discussion the resolution was defeated.

Dr. Stacy Resigns

ELBERTON, Ga., April 3.—Rev. C. I. Stacy, for eight years pastor of the Elberton Presbyterian church, tendered his resignation to the congregation recently. His church membership are loath to sever their relations with him, and they decline to do so. Under his leadership the membership has been doubled, the people furnished a handsome $12,000 church edifice erected and paid for, and the congregation greatly increased. A congregational meeting will be held next Sunday to take action on his resignation.

New Church at Rockmart

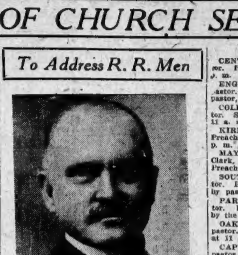

ROCKMART, April 4.—Dirt was broken last Monday for the construction of the Methodist church at Rockmart. The building is to cost between eight and ten thousand dollars. It will probably be a handsome and commodious auditorium. It is to be a brick structure set in black mortar with concave joints. The pastor, Rev. C. M. Lipham, says that the church will be completed within sixty days.

BEAUTIFUL SERVICES WILL MARK HOLY WEEK

Catholic and Episcopal Churches Enter Sunday on Week of Meditation

Next week is Holy Week, and in the Catholic and Episcopal churches special services will be held daily.

Begining Sunday with the distribution of palms, the Catholic churches will enter upon a series of beautiful services.

At the Church of the Immaculate Conception masses will be held Sunday at 7, at 9:30 and at 11 o'clock. The palms will be blessed and distributed to the faithful before the high mass at 11 o'clock.

Services during the week will be as follows: Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights at 8 o'clock, at which the tenebour service will be held and a sermon preached by Rev. Father Cornelius Mennle, C. M. D. D. of New York, a priest of the society of St. Vincent de Paul. The mass on Holy Thursday in honor and remembrance of the institution of the Holy Eucharist will be at 9 a. m. Divine service on Good Friday will commence also at 9 a. m. On Friday afternoon the devotion of the Way of the Cross will be at 3 p. m. Services on Holy Saturday commence at 8 a. m.

DR. HUGH K. WALKER LEAVES ATLANTA TUESDAY

Will Preach Farewell Sermon at First Presbyterian Church Sunday Morning

Dr. Hugh K. Walker, who was recently relieved of the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church following his urgent request to the Atlanta presbytery, will leave Atlanta Tuesday for Long Beach, Cal., where he will be pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

Dr. Walker will preach his farewell sermon Sunday morning, his subject to be "The Guiding Hand of God." Communion service will be held at that time.

Monday evening the congregation of the church will tender a farewell reception to Dr. Walker and all members of the congregation and the pastors of other Presbyterian churches, together with their wives, will attend.

The selection of a new pastor will next engage the congregation of the First church, but thus far, no definite steps toward calling another minister have been taken.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

BY DR. MARION McH. HULL.

April 5, 1914.

Golden Text—Everyone that exalteth himself shall be humbled; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted. Luke 14: 7-24.

Jesus was dining with one of the rich Pharisees. He was very much amused at the manner in which the guests took precedence on the part of the guests. This was characteristic of the Pharisees. They craved prominence. They craved the praise of men. Jesus rebuked this selfish forwardness on the part of the guests.

In looking around the company and noting the number of rich men and the absence of those who really needed hospitality, He also detected in the host a certain calculating selfishness which He could not but condemn. Therefore He made the occasion at the table an opportunity for conversation that was worth while. How different in this respect was Jesus from the host and guests whose table talk is frivolous in the extreme! There is one great lesson for us to learn from Jesus' attitude toward the guests. He gathered in this way for God will not accept the gift of conversation which each one of us devotes to purely conversational evangelism—making the table talk center around the things of things concerning the kingdom of God so much a part of our life that it shall naturally be the theme of our ordinary conversation. The fruit that will be gathered in this way for God will be multiplied many times in the future.

TRUE HUMILITY.

So Jesus, noticing the scramble of the guests, told them a parable which taught them how to secure the best places in the world to come. The text, which were His words at that time: "Everyone that exalteth himself shall be humbled and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted." Read the story for yourself so that you may get the use of it. Humility is the way to exaltation, but humility for the purpose of exaltation is the height of folly. The spirit of mock humility is the devil's darling sin, namely the pride that apes humility. How disgusting it is to hear the man or woman who is always depreciating self, and thereby fishing for a compliment. Such is nauseating to me.

What is true humility? Is it not a fair estimate of one's self, particularly when we compare ourselves with the standard which God sets up for us? It is not a humble spirit for a highly educated man to say that he knows more than a man of no education. Nor is it a humble spirit for an able man who is seeking to do the will of God to claim that he is master right in his field than the man who is not seeking to do the will of God. But, the truly humble man recognizes all these facts, but also recognizes what God is. Such a man forgets what he is contemplating what God is. The truly great are the greatly true. The Pharisees, in spite of their intimate knowledge of men, think themselves humble, did not recognize real humility when they saw it in the lowly publican who prayed from afar off. Jackets Won the First From Mississippi College Nine

LITTLE PAL---WELL, WHO BLAMES HIM?

-BY LEO

Tech Delivered Telling Punch In the Eighth

With Count 4 to 2 Against Them, the Jackets Pounded Out Four Hits, Netting as Many Runs, in the Eighth Round--Second Game on To-day

The Tech Yellow Jackets let their stingeress loose Friday afternoon and defeated the nine from the Mississippi college by the count of 6 to 4. However, Tech did not have an easy time stinging the Mississippi boys, and except for one good inning would have lost the fray, 4 to 2.

From the start the game developed into a great pitchers' battle between Bryant and Langston. Both of these pitchers twirled nice games for their respective teams. Up until the eighth inning Tech was not able to hit Langston consistently and had only secured four hits off of his delivery. In the eighth, however, after he had walked one man and another had singled, he was relieved by Brooks, who until he given credit for a loss, as the game was still Mississippi's when he went in. Bryant allowed six hits during the game and would have gotten off with only two runs, except for a fatal error in the eighth. Bryant fanned four men, issued free passes to two, made one balk, and hit one man during the eight innings he was in the box. Langston fanned three men, walked three and balked once in seven innings.

The big blowout came in the eighth inning for Tech. Holland walked, Malone singled to right, T. Montague singled to left and Holland scored. Malone took third and T. Montague second on the throw in. "Doc" Witherington then hit one on the nose for the only extra base hit of the game, a double over third, and Malone and T. Montague counted. Burr singled to center and Witherington went to third. Witherington scored the final run on a sacrifice fly by Pound.

Eubanks, who pitched the ninth inning for Tech, retired the Mississippi batsmen in one, two, three order.

Brooks and Lipsey starred with the stick for Mississippi, both getting two singles out of four trips to the pan.

Johnson, who played left field for Tech, was the only man to get more than one safe bingle for Tech. Johnson hit safely twice out of three times at bat.

The two teams will meet again this afternoon on Grant field for the second game of the series. Pitts will work for Tech, while Brooks, who pitched the eighth inning yesterday, will be opposed to him.

Tommy Stouch Will Manage Greenville

GREENVILLE, S. C., April 4.—Tommy Stouch will not manage the McKeesport, Pa., team this season. This statement was made by him today. Instead the erstwhile pilot of the Spinners will form a team here in Greenville to pit against Greenwood, Anderson and Athens and probably other cities. "In other words," declared Stouch "Greenville will have ball this summer. Several cities hereabout, those mentioned among them, have organized fast amateur teams, and I believe we ca ninterest the fans."

THE SPORTLIGHT
BY GRANTLAND RICE

WHERE THEY WILL FINISH—MAYBE.

For the first time in something like thirty years a major league ball club is on the verge of winning four pennants in a row. This "verge" may not attain a logical conclusion by October, but it is now pointing steadfastly in that direction, guided by the wavering forefinger of the Grandoldope.

We refer here almost exclusively to the New York Giants.

GIANTS SHOULD WIN.

In the National ensemble John McGraw's Giants are easily the most acceptable bet.

There are four reasons why they should finish first. 1. John J. McGraw. 2. The experience and the pennant habit. 3. The speed and the punch on attack. 4. An exceptional pitching defense.

OTHER WHEREFORES.

In Mathewson, Marquard, Demaree, Tesreau and Fromme, aided and abetted by a flock of passable youngsters, McGraw carries the best pitching staff in the older circuit.

In Burns, Bescher, Murray, Snodgrass, Fletcher, Doyle and Merkle he carries the greatest speed upon the attack.

And there you have the bulk of the answer, a ball club that can get runs and a pitching staff highly effective in curbing rival tallies.

1913—1914.

McGraw won last year when the Phillies had Seaton, Brennan, Knabe and Doolan—whom they haven't this year.

He won in spite of the fact that Merkle and Doyle had the worst seasons of their careers, and that Tesreau was 30 per cent below 1912 form.

In 1911 McGraw had Marquard ready to aid Mathewson. In 1912 he added Tesreau. In 1913 he piled on Demaree—a string of three crack pitchers added within three years to a wonderful veteran. In addition to these pitchers, the strongest point of the club, Doyle and Merkle, are almost sure to rise 40 points above last season's display. You can figure almost to a certainty that John J. will have a steadier, better club this season than he had last year. He will have a club that should be good enough to win by a ten-game margin.

THE YANKS.

Frank Chance is starting a season with exactly one veteran, outside of his battery forces, and by veterans we mean a ball player who has been an established regular for more than one campaign. This is Roy Hartzel at second base.

Naturally a club of this caliber is beyond the range of the dope, but if Chance can finish fourth or even head the top of the second division it will be largely through his own genius as a leader.

UP TO THE PITCHING.

A club of such exceptional soonness or youth is almost sure to be erratic. Its only chance to finish as high as fourth or fifth place rests with the pitching staff, which must come through in a hurry—and keep on coming.

And this staff is still quite a gamble. It has Ray Caldwell, who should be one of the great pitchers of the game, but who has never yet produced the proper display. Last season he was available for less than twenty games and ranked seventeenth.

It has Ray Keating, who will be a fine pitcher if he can eliminate a sore arm tendency.

It has King Cole, who has starred in both directions—up and down—and who in the Big Show must be still rated as a gamble until he makes good. It has Ray Fisher, a horse for work, but with only fair effectiveness. It has McHale, who is still to be tested under fire. And it has Hollis Schultz, who is there strong in spots, but who has yet to make his way. And it has Jack Warhop, the best man for his inches in the game.

This pitching staff must pitch effective ball to lift the Yanks out of seventh place. Chance has done a wonderful lot of work, but don't forget that he had the worst team in big league baseball. He has improved it more than a little, but with so much inexperienced big league material we'll doff our fedora to him if he can beat out more than two clubs or finish better than sixth place.

He'll get there before he's through, but you don't make first division clubs out of nothing to start with in a year.

IN BEHALF OF THE DODGERS.

If the Dodgers are not dedicated to death and exhibitioned to a rabid frazzle, the Hon. Wilbur Robinson should be up there battling around the bottom of the first division or the top of the second.

He won't beat out the Giants and he won't beat out the Pirates, and we doubt quite seriously that he will beat out the Cubs or the Boston Braves.

But he should beat out the Phillies, the Reds and the Cardinals, and give the others quite a battle.

Robby has the essence of a firstclass machine—but a machine that has been taught little baseball in other years. His catchers are good—his pitchers are average—his infield is only fair and his outfield should be firstclass. It is a machine that averages up well enough, but one that isn't any too well balanced. He has three eminent people in Daubert, Rucker and Wheat—and others not quite so eminent. The right section of his infield is strong—the left a trifle rickety. But if Aitchson and Brown come to the rescue of Rucker, Ragon, Allen, Reulbach, etc., the Dodgers may slide into the first division by an eyelash.

But the best dope can award them is fifth place—remembering always that the dope is composed almost exclusively of copy paper and the printed language.

SHARP SPORT JABS

Not so you could notice it!

One rainy day Joe Tinker's Feds were practicing in the Coliseum. A portly-looking gentleman asked a kid what was going on inside and the lad answered: "Oh, that's Joe Tinker's bunch playing inside ball."

Those wrestlers who quit at midnight Saturday night are that much like the Brooklyn Feds. They won't work on Sunday.

Philadelphia and New York are after the Army-Navy football game. Gee, they are selfish! All they want is the world's series and everything else.

Now is the time for some aspiring golfer to run a tournament. All our stars are abroad.

This man Copeland seems to be a very truthful person! He opines that he won't win the next Olympic games with the Austrian team he is training.

It is said that Milwaukee business men are opposed to the boxing bill.

Presumably as much so as baseball magnates are opposed to Sunday ball.

Why the prominence given the statement that Wisconsin may not row at Poughkeepsie this year?

There are flowers that bloom in the spring, tra-la;
There are flowers that bloom in the fall.
But there are hundreds of prize fightin' kids, tra-la,
Who never bloom at all.

Two Wrestlers Lose Mat Titles

Pendleton, of New York A. C., Loses Light-Heavyweight; Cook, of Chicago, Drops Lightweight

CHICAGO, April 4.—Two champions were beaten last night in the semi-finals of the national wrestling tournament of the Amateur Athletic union. In the light-heavyweight division N. G. Pendleton, of the New York A. C., was defeated by E. C. Caddock, of Chicago. In the welterweight class C. Johnson, of the New York A. C. was dethroned by A. Putkenen, of Chicago.

Louis Cook, of Chicago, the Central A. A. U. champion of the lightweight class, lost to I. Madigan, of the University of Minnesota.

In the heavyweight class Richard Goodis, of the Lima, O., Y. M. C. A. Central A. A. U. champion, defeated H. D. Strong, of the University of Illinois. Goodis also tried for honors in the 115-pound class, but was bested by John Verres, of Chicago.

E. J. Neshan, of Chicago, won from H. Kindt, of the Covington, Ky., Y. M. C. A., in the 125-pound class. Karl Gardner, of the Detroit Y. M. C. A., defeated R. Crouty, of Chicago.

In the lightweight class D. M. Jenkins, of the Pittsburg A. C., won two matches, defeating H. J. Spanjer, of Chicago, and G. Smith, of Gary, Ind.

Fullerton Notes

Some day ball teams will learn to remain south and follow the peach blossoms northward. Then there would be a chance to have a team open the season in condition.

Maitz beats Waters, says a headline. It was a billiard match, not a Wet and Dry argument.

Reno wants racing, meaning that some one wants Reno to stand for something that he wants.

Jawn McGraw must be getting pessimistic. He thinks Washington has a chance for the pennant. Imagine the Giants against Walter Johnson. They would have to hold their bats behind their backs or he would knock them out of their hands.

They have decided to name America's cup defender Resolute. The name has a good old-fashioned ring if we can forget who named it.

Jimmy Wood, captain of the Chicago team in 1873, has written the story of a crooked game played in 1875. Wait until 1942 and some one will tell of two games in 1910.

Hugh Jennings has his men practice standing, high, and running broad jumping as part of training. Some of them would smash a record if a Fed scout came near.

Jimmy Lavender thinks he was a bad pitcher last season because John Evers was manager. An argument between Lavender and Reulbach would be interesting.

Duke Kahanamoku, our champion swimmer, rescued the same girl from drowning twice in one day. Probably she liked it.

MOTHER GOSLING (STEWED).
A brewer, a baker, a quick lunch maker,
A man who deals in fish,
They said you couldn't make a league,
But you slipped one over on them.

It is all over. Charlie Ebbetts claims the National league flag. Nap Rucker may now begin studying how to pitch to Frank Baker.

Lou Gertenich was batting .413 for the Chicago Feds last season, and this spring not one of eight clubs want him. Lou ought to save up that average and retire on it.

MY OLD KYKY HOME.
(Words arranged to suit spring training.)
The rain pours down on my old Kentucky home.
'Tis snowing; the ball ground is all ice;
The mud's knee deep and the river's on the rise.
And the secretary's hustling for the price.

The Feds claim they have $54,000,000 behind them, but they don't know what is before them.

Naturally we are of a trusting and unsuspicious nature, but when a gent opens a pot, draws three cards and calmly shows down three sevens and a pair of fours we smash in.

Boxing is a grand little game, but if the fighters are guilty of 10 per cent of what they charge each other with doing it's a fine game to avoid.

We have been expecting it for some time. Milwaukee wants the Wisconsin boxing law repealed. No sooner do they get what they want than they quest it.

RECENT DIAMOND DOINGS IN THE VIRGINIA LEAGUE

LYNCHBURG, Va., April 4.—Upwards of 125 players, nearly all of them touted as John Bakers, Christy Mathewsons and Ty Cobbs, and rookies not a few, are in the training camps of the six towns of the Virginia league, getting ready for the opening of the ninth season of that circuit. The opening takes place April 16, with Petersburg at Richmond, Portsmouth at Norfolk and Roanoke at Newport News. There will be but two old managers back on the job, though four of the pilots this year are familiar faces on the circuit. Hainie Busch is again in charge at Petersburg, and Harry Matthews will get a better show this year at Newport News than he had last, for when he took the 1913 Shipbuilders they had had sixteen games without a victory. W. L. Pressly, two years manager at Roanoke, is at Norfolk this year and Ray Ryan, who handled the Norfolk team last year for several months, is in charge of the Richmond Colts. The two new faces are Joe Wall, at Portsmouth, and O. O. Mills, who comes from Jackson, Miss., in the Cotton States league, to succeed Doc Pressly at Roanoke.

N. M. Meixell, who was with Evansville last season, has been secured for the Newport News outfield. Manager Mathews knows the player personally and he declares he will fill the bill in the Newport News garden.

With the exception of Roanoke the teams generally have had a more extended list of exhibition dates than heretofore, Roanoke failing to land the big clubs en route home because of the distance from the other teams on the circuit. The visitors will include practically all of the eastern teams of the National and American leagues, and three or four of the International league.

The Norfolk team has secured the passage of an ordinance by the city council permitting it to close a street running in the rear of the ball park and by this means the left field will be lengthened about 100 feet. This will mean considerably fewer home runs to the credit of the Tars this year.

Frequent changes of players from Norfolk to Roanoke and from Roanoke to Norfolk have caused the fans to talk about a community of ownership in the two teams.

Manager Mills has announced that he will manage the Roanoke Tigers from the outfield. It was in that position that Frank Shauchnessy grabbed a pennant for the Magic City the season before he went to the Canadian league.

Gray, last year in the Ohio State league, has been secured to succeed Billy Laval in the Richmond outfield.

O'Brien, who broke into the game with the Lynchburg team in 1912 and finished that season with Macon in the South Atlantic, is a member of the Portsmouth pitching staff this spring. O'Brien is a product of the Baltimore back lot.

Monticello High Beat Tallahassee

MONTICELLO, Fla., April 4.—Monticello High school baseball team defeated Tallahassee High school team Friday by the score of 8 to 1.

Features of the game were the fast work of Monticello in the field and hitting of Mays and Brussell, who made five safe hits.

Batteries -- Monticello: Mays and Hughes. Tallahassee: Brussell and Walker.

Topsy Hartsel is already busy lining up a team for the Toledo club in the expanded Southern Michigan league. Two purchases announced are First Baseman Jack Cosma and Outfielder Cahill from the Jackson club and other clubs in the league are expected to come forward with offers of talent.

George Covey Tackles White

NEW YORK, April 4.—With the professional match between George Covey, of England, and Jack White, of New York, today, court tennis will hold sway at the New York Racquet and Tennis club. The professional match will serve as a curtain raiser for the amateur championship in singles which will start next Monday and continue throughout the week. Eleven entries have been received for the championship which will be defended by Jay Gould, the titleholder. These include the best amateur court tennis players in America.

According to the draw three matches will be played on Monday, four on Tuesday, two on Wednesday and one on Thursday. There will be no play on Friday and the challenge match will be played on Saturday.

Cornell to Enter Pennsylvania Relay

ITHACA, N. Y., April 4.—Contrary to first reports, Cornell probably will be represented at the Pennsylvania relay carnival in Philadelphia this spring. The Cornell Athletic association has decided to send a team of nearly twenty athletes to the big meet and the university faculty has approved the plan. The matter now rests with the finance committee to supply the funds necessary.

Crackers Meet Braves Again

Two Will Stage Last Battle Today—Game Should Prove Sensational Affair

The Boston Braves make their last appearance locally this season when they engage the Crackers at Ponce de Leon this afternoon. Incidentally the game will be the last battle staged with a big league club before the regular season opens. Up to th epresent time the teams have met in four battles. Of these the Braves have taken two, and the other two were no decision affairs.

It is more than likely that Manager Smith will use every resource at his command to take this afternoons' game. Friday's game was a rather heated affair, as were the two games in Macon, hence, the local entry is exceedingly zealous to grab off at least one game, and will put on a full head of steam in this their final chance. Friday's game smacked of a real battle in spots, and no doubt this afternoon's fray will prove even more heated. Manager Smith will probably start Frank Browning, while John Evers, who has the Braves in charge in the absence of Manager George Stallings, will probably start Leigh Perdue or Riess in an effort to curb local swatters.

Following is a probable line-up:

BOSTON.	ATLANTA.

Barons Swamped Rochester Nine

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 4.—Hitting the Rochester hurlers at opportune times, the Birmingham Barons scored an easy victory over the Rochester International league team here Friday afternoon, the score being 12 to 1. The Barons started after the Hustlers at the very beginning and during the first inning amassed four runs. Five more were added in the fifth, while a trio were annexed in the eighth.

Prep League Games

Stone Mountain Swamped Marist

Stone Mountain aided by the numerous errors that Marist made and also hitting the ball for 16 safe clouts, defeated Marist college yesterday afternoon in the first game of the season, 16 to 1. Marist was way off form, and repeatedly made errors that were fatal. Hall pitched a nice game for Stone Mountain, allowing only five hits.

Donald Fraser Easy for Boys' Hi

In the opening game of the 1914 prep baseball season, Boys' High by completely outplaying Donald Fraser very easily won the same Friday afternoon by the count of 17 to 1.

The game took over two hours and a half to be played and was a listless affair from beginning to end, the features of the game being the numerous times the Purple and White players hit the ball.

HERE AND THERE

By Innis Brown

Another draw with the Braves, and an extra-inning affair at that. The other halved contest was staged in Macon Tuesday. In that battle the Crackers got away to a good lead and were overtaken from behind. This order of things was reversed in Friday's battle.

As a matter of fact, the Braves started things as though they were going to rend the local aggregation body and limb. They scored one run in the very first round and came back with two more in the next frame. They were getting to Key Perryman in highly vulnerable spots, and were making the most of their opportunities. Five hits together with one free ticket to the first bag netted three runs in the two rounds.

But the further the ex-Emory star went, the better he got, and from the second inning on through the tenth the Bostonians were never able to get a man into counting territory. The big flinger allowed just four safeties in the last eight rounds, and they were never congested to a dangerous extent. In the seventh, Whaling and Maranville poked out safe ones, but John Evers was unequal to the emergency, and the two died on the circuit.

In the meantime the locals were finding Lefty George Tyler's offerings more acceptable as the game progressed. For five innings they levied an assessment of just three safe shots, and these were so badly scattered as the denizens of a Darktown social after a police raid. In the sixth, business began to pick up a bit. Long singled and came home on Flanagan's clout to right for two bags. In the eighth Long drew another single and Black Eibel beat out a beautiful bunt. Welchonce had walked preceding this pair, and the paths were clogged. Welchonce scored while Maranville was throwing Eibel out to Evers on Lynch's roller. Long moved up to second and he and Lynch tried a double steal, on which Tom scored while Maranville was tagging Red at second.

Perryman wobbled a bit beginning the ninth, and walked Tyler, after Whaling had grounded out from Lynch to Eibel. But the big fellow settled, Maranville and Evers tapped to Holland. In the tenth it was three up and three down for the visitors. The Crackers got the first man on in each of the innings, but further help in pushing them around was not forthcoming, and the starts went to seed. George Winters put a finish to the festivities by calling the game at the end of the first extra round.

John Evers put on a part of his sketch which has gained him a certain notoriety in the big time circuit, and Rabbit Maranville took a minor part in the performance. Evers' chief display was offered in the eighth inning, when the locals secured two of their runs. Welchonce had walked as a starter. Long then laid down a nice bunt, and beat it out for a hit, filling the bags. After Flanagan had flied to Griffith in short right, Red Lynch smashed one at Maranville, which the midget passed to Evers in time to trap Eibel. Evers relayed to first trying to smother Lynch, but Umpire Winters called him safe.

Then came the oratorical stunt, with liberal gestures. Evers opined that Lynch was out, and ventured the information to Winters from a point of vantage hard by the umps. But the arbiter's decision was writ, and appeals were ruled out of order. A moment later Lynch and Tommy Long attempted a double steal and Catcher Whaling threw to Maranville to cut the scrimmage off at second. The throw was high and Maranville dropped the ball. In the meantime Long was speeding for home, and he crossed the plate before Maranville recovered and tagged Lynch.

The other skit was worthy, but it was not nearly so dramatic as this. And Evers was ably enforced by a chorus, led by Maranville, chief of supers. The protest was loud, long and strenuous, but still Winters refused to alter his decision. As a matter of fact there was room for a kick for a gent so prone to protest as Mr. Evers on the former play at first, but his contention in the case of the play, whereby Long scored was absurd. Tommy was over the plate before Lynch was in six feet of the second bag.

However, this is a training trip for the Bostonians, and doubtless Evers figures that he may as well get in shape in all departments while on the junket. Furthermore the decision allowed the home folk to tie the score, and if Evers was voicing a protest against the outrage of running an exhibition affair into extra innings, when the wind was rather unpleasantly chilly, his point was well taken. This also goes for his supporting cast in the drama.

Tinker's Federals Leave Training Camp

SHREVEPORT, La., April 4.—Joe Tinker and his Chicago Federal league team ended their spring training season here yesterday and left last night for New Orleans, where they will play four games against an amateur team. From New Orleans the Chicago club will go to Knoxville, Tenn., for games April 10 and 11.

RECRUITS HAVE GREAT OPPORTUNITIES THIS YEAR

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON.

Youngsters striving for places on the big teams of the country are complaining, as they do each spring, that they haven't had a fair chance to make good. It is the same in every line of business: the fellow who fails goes back, crying that there was not a chance.

There are, or were during training, 282 new men trying for positions on the big league teams. Of these, there was actually room for about 148, counting pitchers who would be kept whether or not they were regulars, providing they showed promise of developing. The great majority of the youngsters who were trying for jobs were pitchers.

This spring there was more chance for a young player than ever before to win a job if he showed willingness to work, ability and brains. Let us see what the managers actually needed.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Athletics—One pitcher and one outfielder, with a view of being prepared to become a regular.

Yankees—Three infielders, two outfielders one catcher and two pitchers.

Washington—One outfielder, one infielder, two pitchers.

Boston—First baseman, strong substitute shortstop, one pitcher.

Detroit—First baseman, third baseman, outfielder, three pitchers.

Cleveland—First baseman, third baseman, outfielder, three right-handed pitchers, one catcher.

Chicago—Second baseman, extra infielder, one catcher, two outfielders.

St. Louis—Two infielders, two outfielders, one catcher, three pitchers.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Chicago—Shortstop, two outfielders, pitcher, catcher.

St. Louis—Shortstop, third baseman, outfielder, catcher, two pitchers.

Cincinnati—Shortstop, two catchers, two pitchers, outfielder.

Pittsburg—Two outfielders, catcher, three pitchers.

New York—Third baseman, outfielder, catcher, one pitcher.

Philadelphia—Two infielders, outfielder, four pitchers.

Boston—First baseman, outfielder, catcher, three pitchers.

Brooklyn—Shortstop, third baseman, outfielder, catcher, two pitchers.

Pittsburg, 47 players.

Total needed to complete and strengthen Federal teams, 68 players.

Total number of players actually in demand after being sought by the various managers to strengthen teams, 148 men.

All Ready for Injunction Suit

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 4.—Decks were cleared in United States district court here today for the first real legal battle between organized baseball and the Federal league. William F. Killifer, the catcher who began his baseball career with Michigan teams and worked his way to the majors, was the storm center. The question for the court to decide was whether Killifer is the property of the Chicago team of the Federal league or belongs to the Philadelphia Nationals. Last season Killifer was with Philadelphia. During the past winter he signed as a Federal league contender, then announced the independent organization and signed a new contract with the Philadelphia club. As a result the Federal league began injunction proceedings in the United States court here to restrain Killifer from playing with Philadelphia. The petition also asks that Killifer be declared the property of the Chicago Federals.

The reserve clause, sometimes termed the bulwark of organized baseball, may not be attacked by the attorneys for the petitioning club, although officials of the Federal league have held the clause to be illegal.

No Hits, No Runs Off of Adams

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 4.—Adams, of the University of South Carolina, held Guilford college, of North Carolina, without a hit or a run Friday afternoon, his team winning the game, 1 to 0, the only run of the game being scored in the opening inning on two hits with a sacrifice between. Only three visitors reached first base, the pitcher issuing two passes and suffering from one break in his support when an outfielder dropped a fly ball, Adams struck out twelve men, retiring the last batter on a pinch hitter, on strikes.

Benbow pitched a good game in the face of miserable support.

COTTON MADE NEW HIGH RECORD FOR MOVEMENT

Market in New York Closed 12 to 20 Points Higher Than the Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 4.—The cotton market showed a pronounced strength at the opening today with all positions making new high records for the season on a continued demand from the leading spot brokers and covering of shorts. Prices were 5 to 10 points higher and all the active months sold 10 to 19 points net higher during early trading with May leading the advance. Reiterated reports that prominent southern mill men were planning to take up cotton on May contracts helped the advance.

Realizing caused only slight reactions and at the decline Boston and other spot houses bought freely on the close, which was firm at a net advance of 11 to 20 points.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, April 4.—Cotton opened steady at an advance of 4 to 6 points on much better spot trade than due and reports of heavy rains in several important counties in south Texas, but the early trading the rise was widened to 6 to 8 points, the bulk of the buying being apparently for long account.

Profit-taking was heavy throughout the short week-end session, but the demand was sufficient to keep the market steady at the advance. At the highest the trading months were up to 13 points net. The close was 11 to 15 points, except on August, which was 26 up. Only a few transactions were recorded in August, at which at its highest was 29 up as the result of rains in south Texas.

HAYWARD & CLARK COTTON LETTER.

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 4.—Adjustment to new conditions and to the new crop situation facts are too imperative for the consideration of a moment. Liverpool came in again very strong, with futures about 4 points higher than Monday's closing prices, and with 30,000 bales sold.

It's hard to say what has supplied the inspiration to continental activity, but it seems also persistently, but they have done it for a month. Likely enough the idea that a great epoch minimum in the face of the fact of two seasons of only moderate production in America is widely held among consumers. Then, again it may be taken as a direct consequence that trade is improving. The money markets are indeed on easy tap the absence of serious political conditions alone clearly indicated and the trade has the full benefit of confidence and financial assistance for expansion.

The most above fair weather in Tennessee and north Alabama; cloudy in the rest of the belt. General precipitation in the western states, rather heavy in south Texas. Indications are for part cloudy to fair in the eastern states; cloudy, unsettled and rainy weather in the rest of the belt. Several points in south Texas complain of further delay in the way of rainy weather.

Conservatives over Sunday restricted activity in the market today. Prices, however, advanced as much as 10 points in the early trading and there is a good undertone and an advancing tendency. With the approach of the New York of governmert standards for new crops contracts, there is a tendency in the eastern states New York to come to a normal market difference with the south, as formerly existed, and the premium covering the difference in cost of bringing cotton to New York.

Statistics promise bullish, smaller into sight, larger exports and loss in stocks.

HESTER'S COTTON STATEMENT.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, April 4.—Secretary Hester's New Orleans cotton exchange statement today covers the monthly movement to the close of March.

Compared with last year, it shows an increase for the month in round figures of 99,000, a decrease in exports of 1,000, a decrease in spinners' of 333,000 and, with 1911 an increase of 297,000 bales. The total for the month was 761,000 against 662,413 last year, 1,134,161 year before last and 464,236 same time in 1911.

The amount of the crop brought into sight for the seven months, September to March inclusive, is 5,777,000 against 5,678,000 at the close of March a year before and 2,420,000 ahead of 1911.

The movement since September 1 shows receipts at all United States ports 5,678,482, against 3,808,982 last year, 10,085,950 year before last, increasing their total for the seven months to 5,142,000 against 3,808,982 last year, and 2,194,932 year before last. This makes their actual crop for the season to the cabos 70,726, against 67,432 last year and 72,453 year before last.

Foreign exports for the seven months of the season show 3,546,000, against 2,546,000, a increase over last of 335,016 and a decrease under the year before last of 1,250,000 bales.

Stocks at the seaboard and the 29 leading interior towns at the close of March were 1,553,936, against 1,285,806 last year and 1,678,236 year before last.

Including stocks left over at ports and interior towns at the close of March and the number of bales of the current crop brought into sight during the seven months' season, the supply has been 12,662,971, against 12,926,814 last year and 14,251,078 the year before last.

Up to the close of March last year 94 65-100 per cent of the cotton crop had been marketed and for the same seven months in 1912 the percentage of the crop brought into sight has been 88 45-100, and for the year 1911 the percentage marketed was 96 6-100.

In addition to the monthly figures, Secretary Hester issued today a statement of the weekly movement for the seven weeks ended April 3, inclusive, showing total brought into sight this year 138,138, against 139,557 for the seven days ending April 3 last year, 213,687 year before last and 84,392 same time in 1912.

NEW YORK COTTON LETTER.

NEW YORK, April 4.—The same thing occurred today that has occurred on the days the larger spot interests buying old crop. Gwathmey & Co. were aggressive bidders and the market which was said to be for Liverpool, this cause the first rise. Later came a sharp reaction from the ring and commission houses, some of which were credited with selling on the rise and the market to ease off a few points, but just before the close, buying orders came in from all sources, but brokers close to the spot interests were aggressive bidders and the market closed at the high point of the day. While there is a great deal of talk of a bullish character underfoot continues strong and the majority of traders fear the buying power of these who have been under the market for the past two days. It would seem that a reaction is due or day after something over a hundred points advance, but bulls contend that futures are not on a parity with spot and until this is the case we may look for further advance. Personally I would advise following the advance much further just now.—Anderson.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET WAS NARROW AND DULL

Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Union Pacific, Interboro and St. Paul Are Up

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 4.—The stock market was narrow at the opening today under pressure which was exerted late yesterday. Trading was light and changes were small. Reading, Erie and Missouri Pacific were the leaders, but most of the other active stocks were under yesterday's close.

The action of the early market indicated that the weak spots had been eliminated. While speculation was listless the tendency was toward firmness with an unusually large proportion of the dealings in the popular trading stocks.

With no new developments to shape the course of speculation the stock market today lapsed into a comatose condition. Recent speculative selling was ascribed to professional caution and favorable features of the present situation and the movement during today's half session was slightly upward. Trading in stocks with a large speculative following was limited and the small amount of buying orders executed supparently represented in large part the closing out of short accounts. Rails, coppers and Goldfields issues were steadier, forced liquidation of these stocks having been suspended. Bonds were steady.

Closed steady.

Weather Conditions

Forecast till 7 p. m. Sunday.

Atlanta and vicinity: Fair Sunday and probably fair, followed by rain.

Georgia: Fair in north, unsettled in south portion tonight and Sunday, probably rain.

Alabama, Mississippi: Unsettled tonight and Sunday, probably local rains in south portion.

A depression of low atmospheric pressure is central over extreme southern Texas, which is accompanied by generally cloudy weather over cotton belt with considerable rain in Texas. The pressure is high in the Ohio valley and Lake regions; but even in that section there is considerable cloudiness. A new disturbance is entering the country on the north Pacific coast.

Temperatures remain rather low for the season over most of the United States, 20@30 is still below freezing over the Lake region, reaching 18 degrees at Duluth. Lighting occurred at Asheville, light frost at Raleigh and St. Louis.

Increased cloudiness tonight will prevent frost in Georgia. The temperature will decline slightly tonight, with northeast winds.

Fair weather is indicated for tonight, but Sunday will be cloudy with possibly rain towards night.

COTTON GOSSIP

Finnes-Hunter says:

So far as the old crop is concerned the speculative position is the strongest feature for the big spinners' takings raise the question whether there is not enough cotton left to carry them to the end. Certainly the exports must be checked, but the mercantile mills will have to go on short time, but how are exports to be checked, if May and July contracts are settled? Undoubtedly the biggest problems will doubtless be solved in violent fashion, as of late. The new crop position is better weather throughout the belt the bears would probably spend the Easter holidays at their lakes counted, as old crops had not been so sad. And there might be a sensational break in the prices stricken from the Atlantic states, telling of an unprecedented crop fertilizer—Atlanta alone having bought $15,000 tons, as against 450,000 last year. If the weather should be bad, the new cotton exchange will begin to use the government standard on September 1 next, instead of April 1, 1915, as previously announced. The exchange was driven to this time had to be taken by the forelock. The unusual supplies of fertilizer will help the new crop to get started and would undoubtedly deal the market a blow if conditions were different. But a man who is a fierce bear on the crop will not allow for either of which would be impossible in a dyspeptic mood.

Map shows fair in Tennessee, north Alabama and central parts of the belt. General rains in Texas and Oklahoma; some heavy in south Texas. General rains are continuing tonight and rainy weather in the western and central states; cool tonight, 32 to 36 in the cotton belt.

Forecast:

Louisiana: Tonight and Sunday, unsettled; light to moderate northeast breezes on the coast. Mississippi: Unsettled tonight and Sunday. Oklahoma: Tonight unsettled, warmer; Sunday probably fair.

East Texas: Unsettled tonight and Sunday, probably rain in south portion; warmer locally tonight in extreme northwest portion; light to moderate northeast breezes on the coast.

West Texas: Unsettled tonight and Sunday, warmer in north portion; Sunday fair.

Central Texas: Cloudy tonight and Sunday; probably rain.

Kentucky: Fair tonight and Sunday; probably light frost tonight.

Tennessee: Fair tonight with frost; Sunday fair.

Mississippi: Unsettled tonight and Sunday, probably local rains in south portion.

Alabama: Fair tonight and Sunday.

South Carolina: Fair in interior; unsettled on coast; Sunday probably rain, frost tonight.

Florida: Unsettled, probably rain.

Texas: Some rains; it has been hailing May and July past week, are still aggressive buyers on all breaks. The old crop situation is getting higher, I would be afraid to follow the advance now.—Anderson.

Livermore cables: "Spinners calling, contingent good buyer on new crops. Market broadening."

Market opened very steady on buying by same crowd as yesterday, estimated bought 5,000 May on call, said to be for Liverpool. Schill sold 2,000 July, Mitchell, Gwathmey, Hentz and Clews were aggressive bidders causing investment demand and covering. Sentiment:

There is a growing feeling, however, that a reaction is due, and that without any more certain trated buying by large interests a decline would be in order. It is believed that the short interest has been eliminated to a great extent.—Anderson.

There was very large buying of May and July during first hour and again as soon as Gwathmey, Finnbee & Co. and Clews, much of it on Liverpool orders. Liverpool, in fact can be credited with the fact that during past 3 days, getting out of straddles short New York and buying outright long. This accounts for the one to shown by their purchases here today, while their market was steady, as there has been such a volume of cotton been traded in for delivery on May contracts, Mitchell, one of the buyers and are just beginning to show up long on the May ring room. There is nothing now as to the ultimate fate of May position. It is a big proposition, but as long as the stock is tendered on the option. The selling today was by Schill, Hentz and Schill Nephews, Clews, and if they covered, it was through other brokers. Spot trade was without doubt very active. August was in good demand and is considered to be in favor of spinners with July. But the big bulge recently has been in May and July. Cotton is still in strong hands. General business showed a great improvement.—Clevenburg.

Dow, Jones summary:

Attention was again directed to the car shortage case. Winthrop Moore, Daniels, of New Jersey, appeared on behalf of the Interstate Commerce commissioner. Attention ends retrenchment in western shops; merchants' pay improves. Failures this week 226, against 299. Dun's review says: "The business sentiment quite confident because of the improvement in the crop outlook. Failures $2,11 off 39. Twenty active rails 106.45; off .15.

GRAIN GOSSIP

Chicago Inter Ocean says: Sentiment was somewhat unsettled to bear side on the scenic prospects and light cash demand. Primary receipts were low for the day, from the market that export houses were not disposed to take short line. There was no gossip of the corn pit last night that most, if not all of the shorts had covered, and the short May corn on the bulge yesterday. Notwithstanding the gloomy 200,000 bushels primary cash sales which have been on for several days past, still 1,078 the year before and 1,000 c.i.f. Montreal yesterday was 60 cents, while the 65 cents mentioned recently is the asking bid figure. The best bid was 64 cents and that not possible that the corn trade may be closed today or early next week.

There was no session of the Chicago board of trade April 7; local election day, or April 10, Good Friday.

Bartlett, Frazier & Co. say:

Wheat—Shorts covered freely yesterday, which was the principal cause of the sharp advance in the quarter.

Corn—The market is still heavily long and some day liquidation will come from that source, but the active action of the cornrate commission to expedite the hearings, when coupled with the general belief in Washington of a financial district that as advance will be granted, has encouraged the bulls and caused much of the rise. The movement was only temporarily checked by the announcement of the interpolar of the week by bull speculation with a follow of small tendency.

Aside from brighter hopes of an early advance in freight rates, there as little in the week's news to dispel the bearish sentiment of the street. February reports of some of the large eastern railroads showed exceptionally large decreases in earnings. Steel trade reports were discouraging, although the copper metal market was firmer with a better demand.

Money was easy throughout the week, with no signs of a flurry such as the preparations for April 1 interest and dividend payments. New York City offered $60,000,000 at 4½ per cent, fifty-year bonds, taking advantage of the present ease of money and demand for high grade investments. Bonds for new rates by per cent below the previous offering.

GRAIN MARKETS STEADY; PROVISIONS ARE LOWER

Wheat Closed Unchanged to 1-8c Off—Corn, Oats Steady. Pork, Lard and Sides Off

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, April 4.—Favorable weather drew traders to the selling side of wheat today and pulled down prices. Dispatches from trade and conditions called to bumper crop and there were advices equally flattering from other parts. Corn commanded steady prices for a decline, however, checked the bears. Opening figures which ranged from ¼ to ¾ lower were followed by a moderate further setback.

News of some export call from Portugal traded later in the wheat market. Closed firm at the same as last night to ⅝@⅞c off.

Selling on the part of leading houses weakened corn. Pit demand was of a very restricted sort. Prices started ⅝@¾ to ⅞ lower and after a slight rally turned again down grade.

A little reaction in corn took place, owing to the favorable weather reports and crop quotations. Closed steady, ⅛@⅜ net lower.

Oats followed the action of the other cereals with light.

In provisions heaviness developed owing to lack of support. After opening 5c lower to 2½ up the market closed weak.

POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

Egyptian Wheat as a Chicken Feed

who keeps chickens or has any land to plant some of their seed to should by all means plant an acre or two of this wheat during the coming year. It should be planted and cultivated similar to sorghum cane and makes a nice white grain about the size of a large sorghum seed.

Kaffir corn is another product that can be grown in great quantities anywhere in Georgia and will make a heavy yield with but little care. This Kaffir corn is used largely in feeding little chickens and in nearly every pigeon feed and chicken feed more or less Kaffir corn will be found mixed with these different feeds. In the dry states of Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska Kaffir corn is grown largely for forage. In these sections it usually sells cheap and is bought by the people who manufacture most of the scratch feeds. We can raise ordinarily as many bushels per acre right here in Georgia as can be grown anywhere.

Sorghum seed also makes a splendid chicken feed and can be grown in abundance.

It is surprising why some enterprising person with capital has not already started a factory somewhere in Georgia to manufacture chicken feeds. Thousands of carloads are shipped into this state every year. The raw ingredients could be bought in bulk, mixed and sold in Georgia at a big profit just as well as it could be done in some other states, and it does look like some one would put up a mill and manufacture these products in this state.

I hope this year many people will attempt to plant and raise more of their chicken feed than ever. It already looks like we will have a good medium oat crop in this state this year, and if a big grain crop should be harvested by planting Egyptian wheat, Kaffir corn and sorghum seed, with these different kinds of grains we will have right at our door any amount of the best feed we could wish for to produce poultry with next year.

When we raise more feed than we do for poultry then we will find more poultry on every farm in this country. Having to buy feed is what has kept the poultry industry in this section of country more than any one thing, and the sooner we can raise this feed, as well as many other things that are consumed at home the better off will we be.

Yours very truly,

Grimpe Barney

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE

MADDOX PROPERTY

ON NEXT TUESDAY (legal sale day), at 10 o'clock, we are going to sell before the court house door, a splendid piece of semi-central property on the corner of Pratt and Moore streets, just back of the Grady hospital. The property has a splendid depth, an alley on the side, and if built up in houses, would rent rent anything in Atlanta.

The titles are perfect; and terms are half cash, balance in twelve months with 6 per cent interest.

Call for plat and examine the property vote!

FORREST & GEORGE ADAIR

FUNDS ON HAND FOR IMMEDIATE DISPOSAL AT 7 AND 8 PER CENT.

NORTH SIDE HOMES

196 ST. CHARLES, SEVEN ROOMS, $6,500

THIS price is $1,000 under the market, and a big bargain. St. Charles is one of the best streets on north side, all the homes are new and occupied by a fine set of people. Lot is 50x190 to an alley, three bed rooms, tile bath, furnace heat, sleeping porch, hardwood floors and a large living room that attracts the eye of any one. The owner has given us this price for a few days only. Go look at it. Terms to suit you.

LINWOOD AVE., $8,000, NINE ROOMS

RIGHT off Ponce de Leon avenue on one of the prettiest streets in Atlanta, is a handsome modern brick home, two stories, and has a $10,000 value. Has every convenience that modern experience requires in a home.

MYRTLE ST., CORNER, NINE ROOMS, $10,000.

MYRTLE street is strictly a home lovers' street. Plenty of street cars close at hand, but none making a noise in front of your door. There are more white people owning homes than any part of the city. As a rule you have to see a big profit to price one house, but now and then somebody has to sell, and it generally means the buyers to take notice.

THIS property is really a big value, the lot alone is worth $7,500, so you get a $6,000 home thrown in for only $5,500 more. Has five bed rooms, a very attractive looking interior. It was built as a home, and has honored workmanship and material in it." It is the kind of place one can afford to keep a long time. The terms can be made to suit you.

SEVENTEENTH ST., $8,000, EIGHT ROOMS

THIS location alone is worth the money, for there is no better section of Atlanta than the two streets, Myrtle, eighth, seventh, Juniper, sleeping porch and fine neighbors. Now try to get that kind of a combination for this money, and a few feet from the homes on Peachtree that are worth from $20,000 to $30,000. Has sensible cash payment and monthly notes will buy it.

SMITH & EWING

130 PEACHTREE STREET

IVY 1512. ATL. 2865.

THE JOURNAL WANTS reflect the needs of the business world. They tell of the call for workers. They show the activity of various lines of trade.

an interesting transaction in which Peachtree and Piedmont avenue, one of the most elegant fifteen-room homes, with every known modern convenience, with baths on both floors, furnace heated, finished in the most elegant oak throughout. There is not another home like it for rent anywhere in or around Atlanta. We want to rent this for strictly private home, and to such a party we would name a rental surprisingly low; garage, stable and four-room servants' house makes this a most complete home.

The property is on the north side of the street 633.5 feet east of Peachtree street. The lot is 95x314.

Mr. McHan gave as part payment, at a valuation of $15,000, Nos. 61, 65 and 69 Oak street, in West End.

EDGEWOOD AVENUE SALE.

Forrest & George Adair sold for the Atlanta Suburban Land corporation to Mrs. Laura B. King as trustee, No. 322 Edgewood avenue, a two-story building, on a lot 25x41, east of Yonge street for $4,150 cash.

ORMOND STREET SALE.

E. L. Harding has sold for Quillian E. Martin to a non-resident of Atlanta, Ormond street, a six-room cottage on a lot 50x150, for $3,250.

BLACK LOCATION.

Replying to inquiries today about the location of Edgewood avenue, Atlanta business men said that speculation on this matter was premature, to say the least.

He pointed out that, to begin with, the federal reserve board had not yet been chosen out of Atlanta's bid, and other board of three will have to be named. Then will come the selection of the district bank itself.

These men will have power to select the location, and it may not even be near the government. Until they are selected, such details as the location and physical operation of the bank cannot be known.

In spite of this, however, agents are already selling locations to be submitted to the bank. The opinion seems to be that quarters will first be leased.

STATE COMMITTEE TO MEET IN MACON; PRIMARY AUGUST 19

really a minority of the whole, to govern.

"Furthermore, the county unit has been fixed by the Democracy of Georgia as the means of making state-wide nominations; and any variation from the county unit for the purpose of making any nomination would be directly in the face of the mandate of the people.

"I am absolutely sure, therefore, that the people of Georgia will neither submit to a nomination by plurality nor to the substitution of a state-wide vote for the county unit.

"I believe that in this communication Governor Brown has expressed the sentiment of the Democrats of Georgia.

"Very respectfully,

"J. R. SMITH."

Interest in the meeting of the state democratic executive committee in Atlanta this morning centered chiefly in the announcements which Governor John M. Slaton and Senator W. J. West are expected to make shortly after the committee has adjourned.

Senator West is in the city to attend the meeting of the committee and to confer with his friends. He was asked Saturday morning if he had anything to say with reference to his plans, and stated that he would give out nothing until after he and his friends had talked over the situation.

Governor Slaton is quoted as saying he appointed Senator West to the ad interim place in the senate "without any strings tied to the appointment," and will support Senator West if he should be a candidate for the unexpired term of the late Senator Bacon.

That he will announce definitely, Saturday night, his plans regarding the United States senatorship was stated early Saturday afternoon by Senator W. S. West, of Valdosta, in conversation during the session of the state Democratic executive committee.

This probably will be followed by an announcement by Governor Slaton of his candidacy.

Many Candidates for Political Positions

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

FORSYTH, Ga., April 4.—With the announcement of U. S. Fuller, of Culloden, for representative in the Georgia legislature from this county, the political situation in Monroe county becomes more complicated. L. O. Hollis, a former county commissioner and an ex-member of the Forsyth city council, announced several weeks ago for the place.

C. M. Taylor, of Smarrs, is seriously considering throwing his hat in the ring.

Samuel Rutherford, formerly the senator from this district, is again a candidate for the senate, and his effort is being made to get B. F. Hill, Jr., one of Monroe's representatives in the state legislature, several years, to enter the contest. The name of G. O. Persons has been prominently mentioned as a candidate for senator, but he has just been appointed by Governor Slaton as judge of the city court of Forsyth and will probably not be a candidate in the senatorial primary.

J. C. Burt, the present incumbent, is being opposed for the position of tax collector by J. R. Hill, who formerly held the office.

So far the only candidate for county treasurer is Charner W. Hill, who is seekin re-election.

J. H. Phinazee and R. H. Holmes, who are candidates for re-election to the board of county commissioners, have no opposition.

Pottle Expected to Run Again in Ocmulgee Circuit

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

GREENESBORO, Ga., April 4.—Solicitor General Joseph E. Pottle of the Ocmulgee circuit, will be a candidate for reelection according to a story in the Greensboro Herald-Journal. The local newspaper says that it "learns from reliable authority that Solicitor General Pottle has decided to be a candidate for reelection."

This entirely controvercts the opinion of many prominent citizens of the Ocmulgee circuit who have thought for some time that Mr. Pottle would not be a candidate.

Albert G. Foster, of Madison, and Roy D. Stubbs, of Eatonton, are candidates for the solicitor general position but the Greensboro paper says that Mr. Foster has announced that he will not oppose Mr. Pottle and will withdraw from the race.

It is not known what Mr. Stubbs will do in the matter but it is learned that he had been under the impression that Mr. Pottle would not be a candidate.

Mr. Pottle had been reckoned with in the tenth congressional district as a possibility in the candidates who would seek the seat of Thomas W. Hardwick who has announced as candidate for the United States senate to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator A. O. Bacon. Already one Baldwin county citizen, Carl Vinson, is a candidate for congress and is making an active campaign.

Spalding Primary to Be Held on April 21

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

GRIFFIN, Ga., April 4.—The primary to nominate officers for Spalding county will be held on the 21st inst., and there is a contest for every office to be filled with one exception. Under a rule adopted by the county executive committee no aspirant for county office could enter the race after noon of April 1, but up to that time the following candidates had announced for various offices of the county:

For sheriff, L. D. Hutson, Grover C. Patrick and W. T. Freeman. For county treasurer, J. R. Lindsey and J. Eli Brewer. For county commissioners, J. E. Wallace, H. F. Ogletree and J. P. Davis. For tax receiver, Grover C. Padgett and H. T. Johnson. For coroner J. M. Bell and S. J. Futral. For clerk superior court, W. H. Wheaton and H. C. Cumming. For solicitor city court, William H. Beck. All the candidates are making an active canvass of the county and politics is about the only subject discussed upon the streets. The registration this year will undoubtedly be the largest in the history of the county, over 2,000 having registered up to this time.

To Hold Committee Meeting at Waycross

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

DOUGLAS, Ga., April 4.—Judge F. Willis Dart, chairman of Eleventh congressional district, has called a meeting of the executive committee of the Eleventh district to be held at Waycross on Friday April 10, for the purpose of adopting rules and regulations for the congressional primary of the Eleventh district and such other business as may come before the committee. The primary will be held along with the state primary which will be fixed by the state committee in Atlanta tomorrow. Of this Eleventh district committee the members are one from each of the following counties: Appling, Atkinson, Brooks, Camden, Clinch Coffee Charlton, Echols, Glynn, Irwin, Jeff Davis, Lowndes, Wayne, Ware and Ware.

Victors in Primaries At Douglasville

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

DOUGLASVILLE, Ga., April 4.—The vote in the county primary held April 2 resulted as follows:

A. S. Baggett, the incumbent, defeated L. O. McKelvey by 573 votes.

For clerk, J. E. Winn, the incumbent, defeated T. L. Pittman by a majority of 191.

Tax receiver, J. W. James' majority over J. P. Watkins was 98.

W. S. Bomar was elected over six opponents by a clear majority for treasurer.

D. W. Price is believed to be elected coroner.

Dr. T. R. Whitney, W. T. Williams and R. L. Gilley were elected commissioners.

Primary Election In Henry County

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

M'DONOUGH, Ga., April 4.—The primary election of Henry county was held Friday with the following results:

E. M. Smith defeated W. W. Milam for the senate. R. J. Arnold elected representative without opposition. H. C. Hightower defeated J. A. Bunch for clerk. W. B. Hand defeated J. J. Bunn for treasurer. W. A. Ward defeated Milt Walker for sheriff. J. H. Wallace was elected tax collector over his opponents. H. W. Carmichael was elected tax receiver over eight opponents. W. E. Long surveyor and J. S. Barnett coroner.

Coffee County Politics

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

DOUGLAS, Ga., April 4.—The county primary for Coffee county will be held on April 15, and the last day for qualification was March 31.

Those who qualified are as follows: For clerk of superior court, A. W. Haddock, Dan Walker; for sheriff, Ov-Sheriff David Ricketson; present Sheriff J. C. Gillis and J. W. Carter. For tax receiver T. J. Lindsey, Lige S. Sapp, I. J. Williams, J. E. Maine. For tax collector Ben Morris, Daniel Vickers. For treasurer, G. R. Moore, Tim Turner, Mark Anderson and Mr. Purvis. For solicitor of the city court, W. A. Wood, Incumbent; W. C. Bryan, J. H. Williams and J. O. Sirmans.

For the state primary Coffee county will offer the following candidates:

For judge superior court, F. W. Dart. For solicitor of superior court, Waycross circuit, no candidate has as yet made any formal announcement, but the incumbent solicitor, M. D. Dickerson, of Douglas, will be a candidate to succeed himself. For congressman from the Eleventh district, Judge J. W. Quincey will in all probability be in the race. For representative of Coffee county, the incumbent, C. E. Stewart and Dr. D. H. Meeks are, contesting, and this being Coffee's time to furnish the senator, already former Senator C. A. Ward and ex-Representative James I. Hatfield are in the race for senate.

HUNDREDS BELIEVE WOMAN CAN HEAL ALL ILL OF FLESH

the healing waters flow" shouted the singers. "Where the hea-ea-ling waters flow."

The young man in the chair leaned back with his hands raised while Mrs. Etter laid seemingly violent hands on his shoulder, his throat, his face. She called to him to believe on the Lord, to have faith. She rubbed his chest.

Pretty soon the young man arose, waving his arms. The singing stopped as he stumbled off the platform, with tears of joy streaming from his eyes. A woman advanced half-running down the aisle to meet him. She was crying in long sobs. At the first row of benches, the young man leaped to the top of them and fell into her arms. They sobbed and wept crying, "Thanks to Jesus! Glory to God!"

BELIEVES HE IS HEALED.

Afterward a reporter asked Bowie if he was really healed. He said that when Mrs. Etter was treating him he could feel a shiver pass through his lungs, that he believed he was healed, but time alone would show.

Mrs. Etter applied the same treatment to a woman who said she suffered from catarrh. All the time the singing continued and the men and women below the rostrum prayed loudly. This woman stated that she, who had been able to breathe through but one nostril for years, could now breathe freely through her whole nose.

The most pitiful spectacle of the morning was that of a deaf mute. While Mrs. Etter chanted into his ear and forced his mouth open, his friend, a young man, stood in front of him, shaking all the while his head. Big tears streamed down his cheeks and his whole face twisted convulsively. This boy declared that his friend had been unable to utter a sound for years. Under Mrs. Etter's treatment he made noises in his throat, but could not speak or hear.

These daily services of Mrs. Etter's take up the healing as the last part. She opens with song and then comes testimonies from those who said they had been healed. Among those who testified Saturday morning was Mrs. E. E. Hoyt of Chapel St. She said she had paralysis of the arm so badly she couldn't raise it, but that Mrs. Etter had cured him of lameness in the arm. She illustrated by waving her arms back and forth above her head.

Mrs. Sarah Puckett, of 99 Dargan street, Atlanta, said she had leakage of the heart, but was cured.

John M. Rosser, a Confederate veteran at the Soldiers' home, said he was cured of catarrh of twenty-five years' standing, partial blindness of two years' standing and deafness since he was a baby.

Mrs. Rushie Ramsey, of Eatonton, Ga., said she had broken her hips and has to walk on crutches, but that she was now able to walk about the house without any assistance at all.

Mrs. J. L. Gossett, of East Point, said she was cured of painful heart trouble.

J. M. Bennett, whose daughter, Mrs. W. W. Wooten, of 13 Baltimore block, testified that Mrs. Etter had healed him of dumbness.

A. L. A. Bridge, of Cottageville, S. C., came all the way through the country to see Mrs. Etter and testified that Mrs. Etter had cured him of lameness that confined him to his bed.

Rev. Arnos Smith, of Gainesville, testified that to him Mrs. Etter had healed him of mental confusion.

For her alleged cures Mrs. Etter claims no credit, only divine inspiration. As she walks about the platform and calls on those who are in trouble, she asks them first if they are Christians and then tells them to believe on the Lord, to pray hard enough and He will heal them.

BANKERS AWAITING FORMAL NOTICE OF RESERVE DISTRICTS

this great and successful work for our city.

Joseph A. McCord, vice president of the Third National bank, who has worked several years in behalf of the new banking system, said yesterday that he believes practically all the eligible state banks in Georgia will become stockholders in the Atlanta bank. Under the act, state banks of $25,000 or more capital are eligible to enter the system.

Mr. McCord represented his bank in the clearing house meeting Friday when resolutions of appreciation were addressed to Senator Smith, the organization committee, and the Georgia delegation in congress. This fact was omitted through error from The Journal's account.

THE STORY OF AN ACTOR

TODAY'S JOURNAL-SAVOY MOVIE STORY

An Odd Story of Love and Work, With a Queer Turn of Fortune—At the Savoy on Saturday

Lloyd Meredith tossed aside the bulky envelopes that he knew contained only play manuscripts rejected by flinthearted producers. Turning to the more promising portion of his mail, he found eleven violet scented notes from sentimental matinee girls, which he also threw away in disgust; a notice from the gas company threatening to turn off his gas unless a remittance of $9 cents were forthcoming; a pathetic dun from his tailor; a saucy reminder of bills long overdue from laundress, and—

Suddenly his face went white and he experienced a violent disturbance in the cardiac region. He jabbed his mail opener into a slender envelope that bore the name of Constantine, Bradley & Co., the famous producers. The missive fluttered in his hand as he read:

Dear Mr. Meredith: We are pleased to accept for production your play "The Ultimate Test" and hand you herewith our check covering same in advance of $1,000.

Meredith swayed dizzily as he pocketed the check. It was the biggest piece of luck that had come his way since his first play, "Salome's Offering," was accepted and produced with himself in the cast. He laughed softly as his eyes filtered over the cheap furnishings in the apartment and the litter of bills on the table. He had come to a turn in the long road at last; Alice could give up her position as stenographer to the fat and oily mill manager whom he cordially despised, and they would move in surroundings that befitted his genius and his position as a rising young dramatist. He could work with spirit and enthusiasm now—and he would frame that silly little gas bill and preserve it as a souvenir of the dark past.

THE LETTER FROM ALICE

Suddenly he remembered that he had not opened the remainder of his mail. He scanned the postmarks and the addresses and finally found one that was written in Alice's hand. Loyal little girl! At last to be rewarded for her patience and her strenuous efforts to help him over the rough places in the road. But it was queer that she had written. Why—?

He stood by the daintily penned note and read it repeatedly before its meaning stabbed him. Then with an anguished sigh he crumpled it in his hand, only to smooth the wrinkles out against the table and read it once more lest he had misunderstood.

Dear Lloyd: You will think I am foolish and cruel, but I can't help it. I can endure it no longer. I fear now that we both have made a mistake. I had been accustomed to a different kind of life, and this everlasting poverty is more than I can bear. I am going away. Please don't try to find me. It would be useless. And forgive me if you can.

ALICE.

Again Meredith crumpled the letter, and it followed the violet-scented notes to the waste basket. She would divorce him, of course, and marry that wheezy and rheumatic mill manager. Just what he might have expected of a girl who wrote silly notes to stage idols, he thought bitterly. Writing notes like that always proves a girl a fool, and he should have known better than to marry her. He paced the floor with his nervous steps. Yes, she was right; both of them had made a mistake.

But he had loved her once—Heavens, how he had loved her! Seated in her box with her parents, she had flashed optic messages at him as he swaggered through his role in "Salome's Offering." And he had followed them up with those silly violet-scented notes, and he had abided her for her foolishness. But one day that queer fancy came to him that she was different from the other authors of violet-scented notes. Her parents disapproved, of course, but that made him all the more determined to win her, and one night they had eloped under circumstances that were both romantic and ludicrous.

Oh, yes, he had loved her once, and as he paced the floor he determined to plot her effectively from his memory and his heart, he realized that he still loved her. She had been patient and loyal through all their poverty and suffering, she who had been accustomed to riches, diamonds and the costliest creations of the Parisian modistes. She was a mere child after all, and why should he censure her?

But the loss of her was just as bitter as if she had brought about the separation wantonly and with malice aforethought. The check from Constantine, Bradley & Co., seemed like a vapid jest now, a grim mockery. His career, be it ever so brilliant, could mean nothing to him after this. He wrung his hands and wondered what he should do.

SUICIDE? WELL, WHY NOT?

Suicide? His lips curled sardonically. Suicide was the favorite diversion of his interesting andtemperamental heroes and heroineswhen things did not go to the ir liking. It would be a fitting close to a tempestuous career. And in his last conscious moment he would have the satisfaction of knowing that Alice would be sorry.

He combed his hair with scrupulous care, put on a clean shirt, wrote a note to Alice and stopped the crevices in the room, exactlyas his misunderstood heroes and heroines had been in the habit of doing. He turned a jet and lay down on the bed, adjusting himself in a position that left nothing to be desired from a stage manager's viewpoint. He executed various grimaces until his expression was exactly as he wished Alice and the mourners and the undertaker to see it, and then he closed his eyes and awaited death.

He opened them again fifteen minutes later. A faint odor of gas pervaded the room, but of the chilling and numbing sensation of approaching death he felt as yet nothing. But he must have patience, he told himself, and slowly but surely darkness would engulf him and his fevered life trail off into limbo. His eyes closed again, but try as he might he could think of nothing adequate to the occasion—nothing but profane stage managers, silly matinee girls, gas bills, royalties, the patch on the trousers. He failed to attain the sublimity of thought that should accompany the death struggle of a man misunderstood.

THE GREAT CHANGE COMING

But presently the odor of gas grew stronger and an all-pervading languor crept over him. The Great Change was coming—he knew the symptoms, for he had depicted them in many a pathetic death scene. Well, he would die bravely and calmly, with a smile for the world and the wife who had misunderstood him.

Vaguely he heard someone fumbling with the lock, and Alice burst into the room. She threw herself on her knees beside him and with a fine contempt for the dramatic values of the moment began to sob and sprinkle tears over his face. Her soft and glistening tresses of hair brushed his face and her warm, caressing arms were wound about his neck.

"Lloyd, darling, can you forgive me?" she sobbed, and without knowing it he drew her head closer to him. "I was silly, I mean. Won't you forgive me, and I'll be a good little wifey? Honest I will!"

Lloyd knew then that nothing mattered—nothing but the love of the girl beside him. It reminded him of their sweet days of struggles and hopes and his reaching for fame and the loyalty and the patience with which she had borne it all.

Suddenly the girl rose. "Gas!" she cried. "The gas is escaping!"

Lloyd had forgotten all about it.

A man in grease-smeared overalls lurched into the room, accompanied by the landlady. Behind them crowded the other roomers, attracted to the scene by Alice's cry. The man in overalls glanced knowingly from the girl to the man lying on the bed.

"I've just shut off the connection down below," he chuckled. "Say, young feller, you've got to pay that $3 cents before you get gas enough to commit suicide."

Planning for the Stork's Arrival

Among those things which all women should know of, and many of them do, is a splendid external application sold in most drug stores under the name of "Mother's Friend." It is a penetrating liquid and many and many a mother tells how it so wonderfully aided them through the period of expectancy. Its chief purpose is to render the tendons, ligaments and muscles so pliant, that nature's expansion may be accomplished without the intense strain so often characteristic of the period of expectancy.

At any rate it is reasonable to believe that since "Mother's Friend" has been a companion to motherhood for more than half a century no more timely advice could be given the inexperienced mother than to suggest its daily use during expectancy.

Ask at any drug store for "Mother's Friend," a penetrating, external liquid of great help and value. And write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 302 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their book of useful and timely information to expectant mothers. It contains many suggestions that are of interest to all women.
