The hearing of the Georgia Railway and Power company's petition to the state railroad commission for permission to discontinue the rush hour service on a number of street car lines in Atlanta, which was held Tuesday morning with the attendance of several lines and with other lines not represented by petitioners, was held in the state capital building. The hearing was held in the audience chamber of the railroad commission.

Councilman Orville Hall and Alderman Albert Thompson, of the freight and passenger transportation committee of the general council of Atlanta, made the first move by asking the commission to postpone the hearing. They said their committee had asked for an adjournment of the hearing, the cost of a general investigation of travel and service on all the street car lines in Atlanta and they wanted to present the results of this investigation before the hearing was held. The commission postponed the hearing until Tuesday afternoon.

After celebrating her eighth birthday, Tuesday, little Blanche Berman, 110 South Pryor street, was burned to death Tuesday night.

Tired from a day of presents and happiness, the little girl went to bed early after making a drawing for her art class at school with a new box of crayons and pencils. At 9 o'clock she awoke, remembering a few unfinished lines of the drawing, and jumped out of bed to complete the picture.

Wearing a nightgown over her union suit, Blanche went to the fire in her bedroom to warm her mother, Mrs. Gustav Berman, who was in the room. Blanche stood on the bed, her arms outstretched, when her mother seized the little girl, tore the flaming garment from her back and tried to get her out of the burning union suit.

Blanche, screaming with pain, twisted out of her mother's arms and ran covered with flames, into the street. Mrs. Berman, with her own arms and shoulders terribly burned, collapsed.

RUN DOWN STREET
Blanche, a mass of fire, ran down Pryor street, dodging pedestrians who tried to stop her. A passing street car stopped; the conductor and passenger jumped out to save the little girl, but Blanche, screaming with pain, twisted out of her mother's arms and ran covered with flames, into the street.

WIFE HAS HER HUSBAND
ARRESTED SECOND TIME

Mrs. Horne Insists on Alimony
Awarded Her by the Court

D. M. Horne, former postoffice clerk, who was placed in the Fulton county jail Saturday for contempt, he having ignored the order of Justice W. D. Ellis requiring him to pay thirty dollars a month alimony to his wife, Mrs. Blanche Beatrice Horne, of 215 Forrest avenue, enjoyed a brief twenty-four hour liberty from Monday morning until Tuesday morning.

Horne was released Monday on a $100 bond signed by his wife, but was surrendered back to the sheriff Tuesday morning. Mrs. Horne says she felt compassion for her husband and thought she would carry out the order of the court relative to the alimony, but that after she got him out of jail he informed her that he didn't have any money and did not intend to pay any alimony. Then, she says, he had him put back in jail. Several months ago Horne sued his wife for divorce, alleging cruel treatment. She filed a counter suit and was awarded thirty dollars month alimony for two months, to be increased to forty dollars a month after that time. The alimony payments were to begin January 1.

TWO RAILROADS MUST CONTINUE OPERATION

Acting upon the opinion of Judge J. K. Ellis, its special attorney, that the state railroad commission is without authority to permit the discontinuance of operation of a railroad, the commission Tuesday afternoon declined the petition of H. W. Lamb, receiver for the Fitzgerald and Broxton Railroad company, for the right to discontinue operating and remove the rails from that portion of the road between Oxford and Broxton.

The commission also refused a similar petition of Mr. Lamb, as receiver for the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad, which applied to this portion of the A. B. and A. between Odessa and Jewsville.

When I take down my old fiddle
An' I roo'm up the bow,
I find the sweetest music
In the tones of long ago.
That's a kind o' mellow sweetness
In a good thing growin' old;
Each year that rolls around it,
Leaves an added touch o' gold.

We love the ole fren's better
Than we'll ever love the new.
We get the greatest comfort
When we wear the oldest shoe.
An' I find my greatest pleasure
When I'm smokin' fragrant, ripe
Age-mellowed, smooth, old VELVET
In my oldest, sweetest pipe.

Velvet Joe

A GOOD thing growin' old! Who would exchange a well thumbed, well loved old book, that the years have "mellowed" into a classic, for a dozen, modern "best sellers?"

Who would lay by his "old familiar" pipe, nut-sweet and browned by use and smoke, for the finest, shiniest, newest pipe ever made?

You, who like the good things growin' old, will like VELVET, The Smoothest Smoking Tobacco—Kentucky's Burley de Luxe, with an aged-in-the-wood mellowness, the result of more than two years' careful curing.

Herman-Eggers Match at Bijou Jam-up Affair

New Orleans Batter Gave Decision by Referee Saul, but Verdict Was Not Approved by Crowd—Both Boys Worked Hard and Fast

By Innis Brown

After two rounds of lively milling, the fight was given a decision over Johnny Eggers, at the Bijou theater Tuesday night, however, referee Mike Saul's verdict on the new talent was not approved by the crowd. While a good deal of the audience favored the New Orleans batter, many others thought that the winner, and still others thought that the fight would have been the property of the referee.

The writer figured that Herman had a chance to win, but the referee's decision was not approved by the crowd. While a good deal of the audience favored the New Orleans batter, many others thought that the winner, and still others thought that the fight would have been the property of the referee.

Eggers was plainly disappointed at the decision. He stated after the match that he considered that he had done better than Herman at boxing, and that he was feeling very good about the result of the fight. In all of his matches he has never been so well liked as he is now.

The Spotlight BY GRANTLAND RICE

HEART TO HEART TALKS WITH THE FLOCK
Eight years ago this spring we went south on a training trip with the Cleveland club. Those were the days of the Cleveland stalwarts—Larry Lajoie, Elmer Flick, Bill Bradley, Terry Turner, Bill Bernabeu, Adlin, John, Harry Beach and Harry Bay.

There was a ball club that carried the punch if a ball club ever had one—for eight men that could hit .300 or better—and but for the reason that the red-headed pooder ever dealt a machine it would have been in by ten lengths to the good. At one time, for example, eight regulars were out for a considerable stretch.

ABOUT THE BIG FRENCHMAN
On that trip we roomed with Lajoie, and through our friendship for him and abiding admiration, we made it a point to give more than passing study to his play.

He was the greatest hitter we have ever seen—for he had to make his hits clean—not having Cobb's speed to beat out the infield tap. He was, in addition, the greatest infielder the game has ever known when it came to making a hard chance look as easy as an accommodation batter. Eddie Collins can cover a bit more ground than Lajoie could, but Eddie nor any other man ever had that knack of shuffling over easily and half-lazily in front of a hard chance and picking it up without even the semblance of an effort.

THE MAIN LAJOIE DETAIL
But above all this, there was one other point which impressed us most and which still is an outstanding part of the Frenchman's career. We have seen Lajoie in at least three hundred ball games—possibly more. We have left camp for him for ten years.

But it is not to see him make a homebase play; and we have yet to hear of him making one. We have seen him make a slip or an, and Johnny is more brain than anything else, except course. We have seen him colling the alert, make his slip, and we have seen Cobb execute even himself in trying to start something.

But as far as we have known, Lajoie has been flawless in this respect. EXPLAINING THE WHY
Now, this is not to say that Lajoie is a brainier ball player than Ty Cobb, Collins or Cobb. But any such now exact. But in studying Lajoie's play we could never see that he was trying to do any thinking—or trying to make any certain play in advance. He merely made it at the right time.

So one day we put the matter up to him, to find out whether or not he ever thought out a play in advance—know just what he must do when the time arrived.

"No," he said, "I merely make the play as it comes. When a ball is hit to a man there is but one right place to make the play, and he knows it. He knows it to know that place without wasting time thinking about it. By the time the ball has reached me, the flash of an eye shows what the base runners are doing, and the rest is easy. Any man who has to think out a play, he has his mind taken off the ball, and this leads to a good many fumbles and misplays. When a man is entire he doesn't have to stop and think. He knows what he shall do at every bite or how wide open he must hold his mouth."

THE GENIUS OF INSTINCT
Lajoie plainly has always had the genius of instinct. He simply knew. He had an amazing intuition—the most remarkable in baseball. He would never make a man should make a wrong play. "There was only one play to make," he would say, "why not make it?"

The same instinct carried in his mighty batter. We've seen him let a strike cross the heart of the plate without shifting his legs and then on the next pitched ball, two feet wide, suddenly lurch over and drive a white streak of a hit to the fence. In places of waiting to see whether or not the ball would be a strike, Lajoie would make up his mind to swing on the next one, and so would be set for the wallop with all hesitation wiped out.

Under such conditions we have seen him twice, where the pitch was many feet wide, reach over and throw his bat at the ball for short springs over first base.

Donald Fraser Beats Tech Hi

G. M. A. Wins Over Peacock, Decatur Team Keeps Perfect Record of Games Own

The second round of games in the local prep league was played Tuesday afternoon. Donald Fraser played a winner over Tech High and G. M. A. defeated Peacock. The Donald Fraser Tech game was a rip-roaring affair from the jump, and the Decatur boys landed on the long end of a 16 to 14 score after one of the greatest games ever played in the league. The young Smiths led at the end of the first half by a count of 10 to 9. But the Decatur lads came back strong in the second half, by scoring just twice as many points as did their opponents. The work of Stanley at forward and of Reaven at guard were the feature for the winners. Captain Collins of the losers played a nice game, landing 24 of his team's points.

The score in the G. M. A.-Peacock game was 15 to 11. As in the other game the winners were trailing at the close of the first half. Peacock held a 2-point margin of 8 to 7 at that time. In the second half the College boys came up strong, rallying to a 11 points to their opponents 5. Ray was the star performer for the victors, while F. Knice did the best work for the losers.

The result of the games played to date leaves Donald Fraser with a perfect score of games won. Ray's High and Mundy did not play.

Reed, an Atlanta boy who made good in fast company, was sold by the Phillies to Portland. TRAILING THE NEWS BY INNIS BROWN

When Manager John McGraw put through the deal with the Phillies recently which carries Hans Lohr to the Giants, the late third baseman of 1904, the deal was made the mistake in a transfer which doubtless gives him a new distinction in the league ball. The German slugger has now graded the roster of no less than five clubs in the National league.

Doubtless few recall that Lohr was at one time a member of Fred Clark's Pirates. In fact, his first real professional contract was signed with the Buccaneers. Since that time Lohr has been successful in a club. He had a Philly and a Giant. It was in 1903 that Fred Clark bought Lohr's John Hancock to a Pirate agreement. He was a fast semi-pro on Pittsburgh, but was not good enough for big league work. He was farmed to Des Moines, and later became disgusted with a lot of petty disturbances and jumped to the outlay Tri-State league. From there he went to the Cubs and was later traded to the Reds.

His sojourn in Redland was the longest of any he had spent with any one club up to that time. He hung around Rhineland under the successive regimes of the late manager, and he was a part of that of Clark's drift, who traded him to the Phillies during the 1911 season. Now he has become a Giant, and surpasses the record of Josh Devore, who played for the Phillies in 1904. At league clubs, the Giants, Reds, Phillies and Braves.

Ray Caldwell, who joined the New York Yankees last summer, announced that two considerations prompted him in returning to the club. The one is...

New York A. C. Sticks to Union

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—The board of governors of the New York Athletic club last night voted down the resolution submitted to them by their athletic committee that the club withdraw immediately from the American Athletic union.

The resolution was based upon the suspension of six of the club's members for not competing in contests at the Metropolitan Show at Madison Square Garden after the club had withdrawn their entries.

After the registration committee had suspended the six athletes the New York A. C. submitted evidence which showed that the athletes had done no wrong and the ban was lifted.

First Adams, the club's all-around champion, who has been accused of professional foul play, tried to get out of the A. C. officials. He will be defended by two lawyers of the club and several members will testify in his behalf. Other members will testify for the prosecution and try to show that Adams is guilty of having violated A. C. rules.

Form in the near future. Rick wants Fred Meikle to play first for his club next season, but that he has to do is to get another man for the Giants. Such a man exists in Ed Kennedy, who jumped the Pirates a few months since. McGraw likes Kennedy, and Kennedy wants to play in Gotham, so it may be put up to McGraw to do a little amateur stunt in removing the big Romanian from the club.

A Baltimore soccer player kicked a goal for the opening team in a city league game, but he was not winning the game for his opponents, and incidentally clinching a pennant in the league race. Let's see, who was that star who stole some with the horse kick?

kind, loving and affectionate, and endeavored in every way possible to make their married life one of complete happiness. She reciprocated her husband's love and tried in every manner possible to make herself a faithful and loyal helpmate. Petitioner shows that she and her husband mutually enjoyed these warm relations, and their lives, from Longwood's two rivers, coming from distant and separate sources, ran together at last and one was just in the other. She shows further that her husband in of a sentimental nature, completely the opposite of the feminine sex.

IF CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH AND SICK

Look, Mother! If tongue is coated give "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "Fruit Laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so safely. A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is they become tightly clogged with waste. Liver acts sluggish, stomach aches, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act natural. Growth is lost, arteries full of cold, has more throat, stomach ache or diarrhea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few days all the constipated waste, and the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless, children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 10-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children, all ages and for grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, away. "California Syrup of Figs" Company. Refuse any other kind with contempt.—(ADV.)

The Treatment of Influenza or La Grippe

It is quite refreshing these days to read of a clearly defined treatment for influenza or La Grippe. In an article in the "Lancet," Dr. James Bull, of New York City, says he is convinced that too much medication is both unnecessary and injurious. When called to a case of La Grippe, the patient is usually seen when the fever is present, as the chill which occasionally occurs in the disease, has generally passed away. Dr. Bull then orders that the fever be opened freely with salts, and the crisis of convalescence. For the high fever, severe headache, and general soreness, he prescribes Aspirin. Tablets every three hours in quick succession. And there are also ordered for headache, neuritis and all pains.

The Globe Clothing Company Does the Biggest Business in Its History at Big Sale That is Now Going On.

"The biggest business we have ever done." That was what Miss Einstein said early this afternoon, when asked how the big sale was going, and the hundreds of men and women who literally flocked to the Globe big store down at 33 Whitehall street, from the time the sale opened at 9 o'clock this morning, up to 2 o'clock this afternoon, gave proof of the fact that what Mr. Einstein said about the day's business was true.

The above photograph was made by a Journal photographer this morning just at 9 o'clock. The big doors had been open for the first time, and the outside can be seen the moment people who were either looking in the windows, picking out the particular suit or overcoat they wanted, or who were waiting for the great sales to clear so they could get in.

Wonderful, isn't it? Yes, it is a wonderful sale, and right now while you are reading this the sale is still going on in the same busy fashion that has been in evidence at the Globe all day long.

There's a great crowd at the Globe and there's going to continue being a great crowd as long as this sale continues, but you can get what you want. The stock is arranged so that you can walk up and down the aisles, pick out the particular garment that you want, and it doesn't take long to get you fitted out.

Did you go today? If you didn't then you owe it to yourself to go tomorrow. Go, it's just to look and see the beautiful designs and the new patterns and fabrics that are being sold at half of their originally low prices.

While talking to Mr. Einstein this morning, a customer asked him, "How can you afford to sell such a suit as I have just bought for half price?" And that was the expression you saw on every face there, and that was the answer to the question: "How can it be done, but nevertheless it's being done all right." When we cut prices, we go the limit, said the Globe in its advertising in yesterday's Journal, and the Globe is certainly living up to its advertising.—(ADV.)
