

I Won My Battle Against

In 24 Hours

I obtained greater relief than I had ever found in years of search before. Now I am cured, well and absolutely FREE from every trace of that loathsome disease.

I Will Gladly Tell You How FREE!

You Need No Salves, Lotions, Jellies, Sprays, or Atomizers; No Greases, Pastes or Ointments; No Plasters, Masks or Bandages; No Baths; No Massage or Electricity; No Smoke to Inhale and Choke You; No Surgery; No Vibration; No Instrument or Appliance; No Pain or Operation. My way is simple, easy, convenient, pleasant, painless, invisible.

Conquer Your Catarrh Or It May Conquer You

The Filthy, Disgusting, Hawking, Spitting, Coughing and the Awful Foul Breath Are Not the Worst of It. Catarrh is a Sneak-Thief That May Steal Your Health and Happiness.

Do you realize that catarrh is a serious disease? Do you realize that it is perhaps responsible for more ill-health than any other one cause? Do you realize that catarrh of the nose, from which almost everybody suffers more or less, is only the beginning, only the first mild symptom, only the first step?

Do you wake up in the morning with nose clogged up and your throat stopped up with an accumulation of poisonous mucus phlegm thrown off by the inflamed membranes of the air passages? Do you have to "k-a-s-w-k" and choke and gag and spit after you get up in order to get your voice? Do you have to do that every day? It may not give you much trouble NOW—it may not seem important. But it is. It is, I tell you, it is important. KNOW IT. It is because I, myself, have been all through it. I tell you if I realized this when I first had these early symptoms, I might have saved myself torture, misery, suffering and embarrassment that no catarrh has already become worse than out! Don't fool yourself. A lot of it does hold in your throat, true enough, but a lot of it also gets DOWN YOUR THROAT and INTO YOUR STOMACH. And this doesn't happen only ONE night, but EVERY night.

Is it any wonder that people have CATARRH? Is it any wonder that people have CATARRH OF THE BOWELS and CATARRH OF OTHER VITAL ORGANS? Is it any wonder that the appetite is lost, that the body is tired, that the bowels fail to act properly, that the blood becomes impure, that strength and vitality are lost, that the mind is ruined, that the wrinkles and ravages of catarrh when it comes make a man hold upon the system? That after suffering its most painful and disgusting tortures for years, after seeing my friends shun me as they would a leper, after having tried everything that any one could think of, after wasting a lot of money for salves, lotions, inhalers, instruments and devices, electricity and such things, all the time getting worse and worse, until the symptoms to the stage where it undermined my health, destroyed my happiness and threatened my life, it and still it was not cured? IT IS ANY WONDER that I feel like screaming—yes SCREAMING the glad news of my cure to every catarrh sufferer in the world, and telling everybody that there is a simple, inexpensive way in which I WAS cured after all else failed?

IF YOU ARE SUFFERING—WRITE TO ME. NOW—NOW—NOW, if you suffer from any of the symptoms of this awful, loathsome, disgusting disease.

penalty I paid for neglect of early symptoms you would think and think hard. Yes, you'd do a lot of thinking and you'd do MORE than think. You'd do a lot of thinking and find it easier to kill and clean out the millions and billions of germs that are nesting, breeding, feeding, thriving in your nose and throat and filling these parts with their disgusting, poisonous, health-destroying dirt.

In the daytime you know that the poisonous catarrhal mucus drops into your throat because you have to spit it up. Now think of what happens at night when you are asleep? Do you think for one minute that these little goblins of the catarrh are asleep when you sleep, do you think the poisonous mucus dripping in your throat stops when you are asleep, or do you think it all remains in your throat till morning when you wake up and spit it

"Now! Conquer Your Catarrh as I Have Conquered Mine. Be Happy."

Let me tell you how I fought catarrh germs every minute of every day and night, for I fought them until it was time to go to bed, company, while at the theater and other places of amusement, while awake and asleep, without any one ever knowing it, and I did it without any one knowing it, and here I find myself conquering the disease and freed myself from its abominable clutches to my own unbounded joy and the surprise of all who knew me.

A FEW WORDS ABOUT MYSELF

I don't want anybody to think from what I say that I claim to be a great doctor, a wonder-working scientist or a performer of miracles. I don't claim to have any mysterious power.

I am NOT a doctor. I can't work miracles any more than you can, and I haven't got any mysterious power over disease or anything else.

I'm just a plain, common, everyday business man who has found out, after a lot of suffering and a big waste of money, a simple, easy, yet most effective way to fight catarrh, a way that cured me, cured my friends and cured scores of other people.

I know by my own experience that catarrh is a nasty, miserable, stubborn disease. I know that ordinary methods of treatment often have no effect. I know what an awful time sufferers have trying to find something that WILL CONQUER catarrh, and I know there are thousands of sufferers who will be glad to learn the simple, easy way I conquered MY catarrh after everything else I tried proved a failure.

I want to tell every catarrh sufferer in the world how I did it. So don't hesitate about writing me.

SEND ME YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS and let me tell you. And DON'T WAIT—DON'T DELAY—DON'T FIGHT.

You've got my address in front of you right now—right below the coupon. Fill in the spaces and mail it right off before you lay it down. I will mail it back to you a week and then it will be done.

If you wait you'll forget it, the paper may be thrown away or you may lose the address and this announcement may not appear here again.

After Suffering Years

I conquered the disease that was robbing me of every comfort, every pleasure. I cured myself, I cured my friends in a wonderful, simple, easy way that astonished all who knew me.

I Want All to Know How FREE!

If you've got CATARRH get rid of it. Don't let anybody tell you it can't be cured. IT CAN be cured. I know it can; I've proved it. Few people ever had it worse than I did, and I am cured. My friends are cured. Write to me, send me your name and let me tell you how. You'll be surprised to learn the simple, easy way it's done. I charge you nothing for this information. I want the whole world to know.

Catarrh Ruined My Health And Almost Wrecked My Life

Yet I Was Cured By a Wonderfully Simple Means When All Else Failed. I Am Now Free, Free, and I Know That Others Can Be Free. Send Me Your Name and Let Me Tell You How.

Very few if any people ever have catarrh any worse than I had. None but those who have it bad can fully realize how much suffering it can bring. Most people who have catarrh are inclined to do just as I did at first—let it go, let it run on without treatment or perhaps with only the occasional snuffing of a little water to clear out the air passages.

That's the greatest mistake that suffers can make. I consider it the greatest mistake I ever made. It certainly makes me unhappy, less of happiness and comfort, as well as loss of money, than any other mistake I ever made. It will be one of the greatest mistakes YOU ever made if you neglect YOUR case, it makes no difference whether it is very mild or very severe, and you will never know how TRUE this is until you are called upon as I was, to tell the whole world about it.

When I noticed the first symptoms of catarrh I paid little attention to them. I used to snuff salt water up my nose, and because that would clear out the passages and make breathing easier, I thought I was getting relief, never thinking about it getting worse until my folks began to tell me about my awful breath. I began to notice that I was getting worse and worse, and I was getting more and more uncomfortable. I used to snuff salt water up my nose, and because that would clear out the passages and make breathing easier, I thought I was getting relief, but that's all I did get. As soon as I stopped using these things I would be as bad off as before.

My breath was awful and my best friends would make some excuse to get away as soon as I would go near them. No one knew how this hurt me. I got so sick, so fat, and so bad that I had to give up just about just my sense of taste and smell. I was so fat I suffocated and I hawked and I spat continually until I was abashed, but what could I do? I could not help my disgusting habits any more than any other catarrh sufferer can.

I felt filthy and loathsome. My stomach went back on me and my food would not digest. I was weak, had headaches, and was half sick all the time. I was malnourished, had the blues, lost ambition, and felt like sneaking off in some obscure corner of the world away from everybody.

All the time I was trying first one thing, then another. I read about catarrh in medical books. I tried them, but nobody said good, in fact just about nobody ever heard of it. I was desperate. I had to make my living and I realized that unless I could find a cure I might soon be unable to work and I certainly had no desire to die in the poorhouse.

Then came the happiest day of my life—the day I found the simple, easy, wonderful means of cure that I have. The very first day I felt that my convulsions were at hand because the effect was absolutely different from anything I had ever experienced. I found a simple method enabling me to fight the disease every minute of the day and night. I could not sleep, but I could sleep, and I could squirm right into my nostrils. And O, the relief! The English language cannot express the joy I felt when I found that I could throw away all my contraptions and still be well. I could feel myself getting better every day, when folks began to notice and tell me that my breath was not nearly so bad as it had been. I began to eat more food again, and found that people did not run away when I went near me.

Almost before I realized it my cure was complete. Every symptom of it was gone. My head was clear, there was no more dripping in my throat, no more headaches, no more bad taste, no more bad breath, no more bad smell. I was every bit as well as I had ever been. I looked better. I could eat like a truck horse, and I got fat and strong again. I could sleep well again. I could work again. It was that worked such a wonderful change in me. I told them and many of them tried my plan with the same wonderful results.

DUCHESS DE RICHELIEU IS SERIOUSLY ILL IN FRANCE

Popular American Woman Afflicted With Malady Which Puzzles Doctors

Atlantans will be interested in a recent dispatch in the Knoxville Sentinel, stating that the Duchess de Richelieu is critically ill with a mysterious malady at the Hotel de la Paix in Paris. The dispatch came from Baltimore, the girlhood home of the duchess.

The Duchess de Richelieu visited Atlanta last spring, after attending Mardi Gras in New Orleans. There she was received by the Atlanta society, and made many friends.

When in Atlanta, the duchess announced he was hurrying back to France to join his regiment. Whether he is now at his posts behind the lines or not is not known.

The Duchess de Richelieu was Miss Eleanor Douglas wife of Baltimore, daughter of Rear Admiral Frederick Wiss of the United States Navy. She was one of the most beautiful and popular young women in America society.

She and her husband visited New Orleans last March. Gras was the home of the duchess during her stay in the city. She is a noted beauty. After the death of the Duke de Richelieu, Father of the present duke, the duchess and her husband returned to France. Later they were divorced.

According to the Baltimore dispatch, relatives of the Duchess de Richelieu are preparing to sail from New York to Europe to reach her son at Paris. She is in the care of one of continental physicians, and in the charge of an English trained nurse, but the duchess has not been able to diagnose the strange malady from which she is suffering.

N. B. BROWNE CHARGED WITH FORGING NOTES

Arrested on Municipal Warrant Sworn Out by J. S. Greene; Made $200 Bail

Charged with forging notes amounting to $100, N. B. Browne, an insurance man, was held on a municipal warrant Saturday by Deputy Marshal Lasseter, of the municipal court. Browne was released.

J. S. Green aware on the warrant in the municipal court, charging Browne with forging the name of J. S. Greene to notes for $100. Green alleged from Browne came to him, and showing him these notes, asked him to dispose of them. Browne said the notes in December for last week, but when the notes came due last week, he found them from the last, the latter had not signed the notes.

Green and Meany went to Browne's home, and Green secured an admission from Browne that he had forged the notes. This was four days ago, and Green, who had been unable to settle, but the money was not forthcoming, and Green went to the municipal court and swore out the forged warrant. The case is set for trial Tuesday.

CIGARETTES TIPPED WITH ROSE LEAVES LATEST FAD

Themelis Bros. Company Is Making Big Hit With Unique Idea

Cigarettes tipped with rose leaves, the latest in Atlanta, and they're crimson American beauties. They're made with the finest tobacco, and are accepted with the same enthusiasm as the Themelis Bros. company, cigarette makers, succeeded the unique idea and got it from the Floridas. The Floridas have been pushed to meet the demand for American beauties, and are pouring in for the cigarettes with their contract of red and white.

But the Floridas say if these American beauties aren't over the beau will have to choose between their cigarettes and malady's love for flowers.

POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

Feeding Grown Chickens For Egg Production

This same mash can be made up wet during the week and fed in the afternoons. It is also a good idea one or two days during the week to cover the dry mash hopper and only let them have access to it for two hours during the day. This will make them eat more than they will otherwise.

The main object in feeding chickens for egg production is to get them to eat as much as possible of a variety of food, and get them to drink as much water as possible and take lots of exercise. When hens do not eat well, if they are of the laying kind, they cannot help but produce eggs.

About 85 per cent of the egg is composed of water, and naturally the more we can get a hen to drink the better will she lay. When made to drink, to exercise and eat considerable coarse, dry food, naturally they will take into their systems egg-producing materials and they will produce eggs.

With this method of feeding the hen will take into her system a sufficient quantity of a properly balanced feed of all the necessary elements to lay eggs. These products then become in abundance, and by requiring fat hens to take lots of exercise, they will lay more eggs, and fat into eggs, when if they are not required to take exercise, it will not be utilized at all. Therefore, lots of exercise is of much importance, and can be had by making them scratch in a bed of litter.

For this reason, the best kind of litter can be used is to mix out wheat straw, alfalfa hay. Coarse shavings is also good, but hay or straw cannot be had. Leaves make another good substitute for scratching pens, but the main thing in the scratching pen is that it should be dry, and straw is not good for this.

Coarse long hay or straw is not good. It should be fine enough so they can turn it over and scratch it about vigorously, and one should be careful and never put more feed in the scratch pen than will be consumed. Coarse dry food will cause sickness quicker than anything else, and should never be used.

The same hen will lay more eggs when fed coarse dry food than when fed the best kind of food.

Hens kept under these conditions in clean, comfortable houses will usually lay well, and the sooner your poultry keeper finds out just how to manage and handle their hens for egg production, that much quicker will we have more people keeping fowls and being satisfied with the returns they get from them.

Thousands of other people are getting results from their fowls, and are as delighted with what they want their wants and habits and treat them the same as others who are getting results.

Of course, to start with one of the most important things is to have fowls that are the right kind of breeding hens, then comes the care and feeding, and finally the eggs, and that have been bred from known egg producers that have been properly raised. They are similar to a cow or a horse and must have a record of the parent stock behind them that have been producers, or you can never expect results even from the very best of breeds.

The following are our laying competitions and trapnests have been of undivided value.

It has taught our poultry breeders what kind of hens to keep to expect eggs from. Above all things, one of the most important and essential things is to keep hens that we know are from known producers and when we know that we are sure to get results from the fewest and best results.

Thousands of egg farms are being made profitable all over the United States by many of the various troubles have been studied and learned how to overcome. We have learned how to keep fowls healthy and how to feed them so that we can get the best results.

With this method of managing our fowls the right kind, and their method used in feeding them, there is no trouble to produce eggs when these instructions are followed and carried out. In this day and time when eggs are so valuable and selling at the prices they are, a hen that can raise a dozen eggs a day is a good producer, and the best is considerable, and is worthy of the best feed and the best care and attention that can be given her.

However, there are many things yet to learn about poultry keeping, but time and experience can teach us how to keep chickens more successfully, and with this as a byproduct of the farm, and with our splendid seasons throughout the South our farmers are gradually learning how to bring these methods into practice and to more carefully select the fowls they keep and get results.

That in turn will bring our country into the lead, but the laying competition in the United States, managed and handled under scientific methods will still learn more and more about the best methods of raising fowls, and such a competition is needed, it is in the south, and it is to be hoped that some method by which a competition can be put over will be found out and put into practice in our state before another twelve months has passed over us. It would be of value to add revenue to our farmers income at a time now when we need it most.

The egg crop of the United States is a big item and of too much importance to be neglected as it has been in the past. It is time to start day forcing for the fowls to produce more and to increase the production of the other fowl products.

Chickens and eggs are one of the few things that can be produced quickly, and by all classes of people, who will start with the right kind and pay the proper attention to their fowls. Chickens will probably help more people to success than any other animal, and the best kind of fowl that is produced on our American farms. This business is now in its infancy, but is growing by leaps and bounds, and some day we hope to see the poultry industry of the south one of the leading sources of the farmer's revenue the same as it is in many other states.

Few Announcements Made Last Week, but Several New Transactions Were Signed—Building Falls Off for January. Loan and Purchase Money Note Situation Featured Just Now—Broad Street Development—Other Notes

While no new announcements of consequence were made last week, some new transactions were signed—building falls off for January. Loan and Purchase Money Note Situation Featured Just Now—Broad Street Development—Other Notes

As there is always considerable time taken up in closing deals, it will probably be some time before the market is back to normal.

Weather conditions during the week were favorable for outdoor work, and if this week does as well, considerable activity may be expected.

Agents feel much better over the outcome of the new year, and the Penn Mutual are represented nearly all over the state.

Building and lending is difficult to place their money at, and it is difficult to have either to lend it at that figure on

The Week in Retrospect

MANY prominent club women of Atlanta were present Thursday in the meeting of the executive board of the Atlanta Federation. A very touching and moving moment of the meeting was the arrival of a delegation of citizens sent to the board by Dr. Harry W. White, president of the Atlanta Federation at the time of her death two years ago. The flowers were presented by Mrs. Ruth Wallace, and at the conclusion of her very gracefully worded address a letter was read from Dr. White. The flowers were sent to the grave of Mrs. W. P. Fattin, whose tent in 1913, Mrs. White was well known to have worked for the welfare of the federation.

At the hotel Wincoff the members of the executive were entertained at a delightful luncheon in honor of the out-of-town members.

Mrs. HENRY BISHOP, of Paris and New York, who spent the main part of the week with Col. and Mrs. W. J. Lowry, is now in the city. Mrs. Biship has been a frequent visitor to Atlanta. A delightful occasion was the dinner party at which Colonel Lowry entertained Mrs. Biship, Mrs. W. C. Womble, Mrs. H. C. Lovell, Mrs. W. B. Price Smith, Mrs. Julian, Mrs. Lucy.

At the Piedmont club, Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Beam gave a dinner in honor of Mrs. Biship.

Wednesday she was honored at a dinner given by John D. Little at his home.

Thursday was a dinner given by French Blanche vases.

Intervals were filled with

French and fragrant marches and songs.

Friday, Mrs. Biship

arrived at the tea dance

Piedmont club and was the guest of a party entertained by Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Womble.

Saturday afternoon at home at the Druid Hills Golf

Club, Mrs. Biship, Mrs. Womble, and Saturday evening, Mr.

and Mrs. Lovell, Mrs. Lovell.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Murphy's

mid-dinner Sunday was a pretty complete success.

Visitors were delightedly entertained during the remainder of her visit.

LARGE and enthusiastic audiences

plan Norman Guttmann

in his brilliant career at the Georgian Theatre.

The author is widely known for his artistic and brilliant lecturer and critic and his masterly knowledge of the drama in its many aspects has won him from his audience.

The first subject was "Drama in Relation to Religion."

"Drama in Relation to Life,"

"Poetic Drama" and

"Movies on Modern

Subjects." He also interviewed contemporary literature, setting the periods in which other great nations had produced their literature and discussing the idea that America eventually reach her supreme moment in which her great nations will be born.

There is a man of very genial nature and his propounding sentences were listened to with great attention.

A SPECIAL feature on the program of the Atlanta Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, was the delightful lecture by Mrs. W. C. Womble, state U. D. C. president, whose presence on occasion of an informal reception at the meeting at the residence of Mrs. Lovell.

A poem rendered by Mrs.

Womble and the vocal solo of members and friends of the chapter added to the delightful occasion.

After the lecture the members of the association gathered for a social reception.

THE bright sun shone Saturday

in the general gravitas

of the past few days made the week and the day unusually pleasant.

At the Golf club on Saturday all afternoon the hostess and her guests

enjoyed themselves

in the late afternoon

game of friends playing at the club.

At a number of large

houses the games

were splendidly attended

as dinner dances at the Capital and the home of Mrs. Lovell and the members of the club for the several dances lived a pleasant close to the week.

Club Entertained

Miss H. B. Duncan was hosted Saturday evening to the club by Mrs. Lovell.

Cathie rendered the entertainment, after which the members present were

Miss H. T. Stevens, treasurer.

Ensley Dealer Finds Apt Use For Side Car

Merchant of Alabama Town Builds Delivery Car on Basis of His Harley-Davidson Side Car—Great Scheme for Rapid Delivery

The recognition of the motorcycle for commercial use in the south is being well demonstrated by a new and novel use which has been put into effect in Birmingham, E. J. Anderson, dealer of Ensley, Ala., a suburb of Birmingham, in selling sewing machines. He rides a 1914 Harley-Davidson one-speed with a side car. A business call has him out over considerable territory in the county, and he is able to make a quick delivery by using his sewing machine.

Being tall a certain dealer set his mind to a scheme developed in mind of a car with his side car and motor which deserves attention. He has taken the side car off the side car, and has built onto the side car a substantial bed of strong oak with cleats which are down by thumb screws. He has strapped on two sewing machines on the side car, fastening them securely to the bed, and has a sewing machine which goes over the roughest roads without injury to the working parts.

With the aid of his motorcycle and arranged so he has increased his delivery service, he has been able to do such that the regular body of the side car is a sewing machine, using the same as a sewing fastener. The side car is secured to the bed, even considerable distance around Birmingham, several local men have offered to help him to get patents for his idea. He is in touch with the many other dealers that are using the motorcycle, and the increasing business of the Davidson motorcycles in commercial service. So far this season several dealers in the southern states that have placed their delivery trucks for delivery purposes, and of course the delivery trucks are not as good as the side car.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—"Kid" Gleason, the veteran of twenty seasons in baseball says he has played his last game recently drew his release from White Sox

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—"Kid" Gleason, for many years a prominent figure in baseball, has quit the game. When in the rejuvenation of the Chicago White Sox, the "Kid" received the news he had nothing but philosophy to offer.

Gleason, Philadelphia, and who directed the Cardinals for a number of years, and who has been assistant manager of Comiskey's team, Gleason, possessed of one of the best penmanship in the game, had his handwriting on the wall, and when it spelled "relax" had nothing to say more. He has not been in the game, the principal of which was:

"Through."

"Never will I put on a baseball uniform again," continued the "Kid." "My experience has all been out with the boys on the field, and now that I have been released, I will be a spectator, when I've had enough. Baseball, I changed much in the passing years, and I am not likely to sit back and watch the stars and say, 'How will you like it when the day comes?'

"But what's the use? I have been expecting my release ever since the baseball club decided on curtailment of the season, and with the American league will carry the year, and some of them will have to be cut out, and that must be the case. I am not the unexpected. I received a letter from Jimmy Callahan, who has been released, and in the agreement in which it was told that I might expect the same."

The Federal league, which has settled the date after hearing other 13 members of the board, will be in session on Friday, Feb. 1, to consider the changes. Mr. Hall anticipated the changes in the rules, then the major leagues were more than in the last year.

James proved very popular as a writer, and it is best to make no changes in the writers. The personnel of the league, however, will be changed.

Boykin Pleased With New Line

Feds Establish Minor Circuit

J. M. Boykin, of the W. J. Dabney Implement company, which organization recently taken on the agency for Maxwell cars in the state, is very high-spirited about this new line. Boykin will have charge of the automobile department, and he went carefully over the offerings in the automobile field before his company signed up for the Maxwell line. The firm, which organization now before the automobile public, has a large

Mr. Boykin will be assisted in handling the Maxwell line by Mr. Perryman, formerly associated with Studebaker corporation. New rooms have been opened up at 86-100 Peachtree street, and the players' league will be invited to pay an early call.

Dave Fultz has pleased organized ball very much of late by pointing out the men whom he has signed to the game by players that jump their contracts. The president of the Players' Fraternity has not been in good standing for some time before.

"I was offered the management of the Brooklyn Federal league club last year, but I turned it down because I am not ambitious to manage a baseball team. "LONG PERIOD OF SUNSHINY DAYS JUST NOW WOULD WORK WONDERFUL REVIVAL OF TRADE"

DELIGHTED WITH LAST WEEK'S BRIGHT DAYS
JOBBERS WANT MORE

Practically Two Months of
Have Made Country Roads
Well Nigh Impassable

COUNTRY RESIDENTS NOT ABLE TO VISIT TOWNS

Shopping Has Been Curtailed
and Cotton Has Been Kept From Market—"More Sunshine Now, More Business"

The few days of bright, sunshiny weather the latter part of the past week sent a thrill of delight throughout the Atlanta business community. It was the first period of open weather in the city and territory has experienced, particularly in the country, both as a relief and a diversion, with every one earnestly hoping for more. Several weeks of bright dry weather, jobbers declare, would do more than anything else to advance the residence. It would new life all business of commerce.

There has been much rain throughout all the country. That is reflected practically all out-door work, both in the city and on the farms. Farmers are particularly hard hit. Every one who works in the open air, has found it impossible to do much work during the past few days, even though he has a job or contract for it. In many instances, notwithstanding the fact that wheat and oats have been planted, the farmers have given up a real start of spring planting of grain, but until now this has been held in abeyance.

Another feature of the weather conditions that has been detrimental to business is the fact that in the country roads are in such fearful condition that many of the more numerous country people to the towns have given up all hope of marketing their goods in the usual channels. The merchants in the small towns found little demand for any part of their goods, and were compelled to slow in responding to the statements of the traveling men that their stocks were low.

With the continuation, however, of the weather, country denizens can come to town and buy what they will be good purchases because for two months they have bought little. And many a small town farmer who wished to sell their cotton have been unable to get it to market on account of the bad condition of the roads.

"MORE SUNSHINE NOW, MORE BUSINESS" was the general exclamation last week when the general exclamation, "If we can only have a continuation of sunny days, business will be good."

If the weather will stay bright for forty days it will help business in the city, but an interval of twenty days will not be good for cotton," said W. L. Percy, of the DeLoach & Wey Co. "In fact, I do not believe any cotton will be sold during the first quarter of the year.

A continuation of the good weather may be fine for business," said J. E. Morrison, of the A. M. Robinson company, "but we are not in a position to help it along."

"On account of weather we have been unable to do much business," said a merchant generally having a large number of stores. "We have been unable to do much business as most of the time we have been closed." "I know weather would help business," said W. G. Cole, of the Yatta, of Ridley-Williamson company. "I believe that just now is the best time for a continuation of the good weather.

"Continued good weather certainly would help everything," said J. E. Orr, of the W. G. Cole company. "If we have an improvement in country roads and decent cotton are now the best time for a continuation of the good weather. If this combination is allowed to continue for a time, we will see a big increase in all phases of business."

"I think the weather conditions" said W. G. Cole, of Paine & Stamps, "are good of all kinds.

"I think the weather now; that is what we want."

POLITICS DISCUSSED BY M'COMBS AND WILSON

Meeting of Democratic National Committee Will Be Called Soon

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Chairman McCombs of the Democratic national committee, today discussed with President Wilson the political situation and the federal taxes that the country to be passed by legislation.

Mr. McCombs said he planned soon to call a meeting of the national committee, and that a dinner would be held to celebrate two years of Democratic administration. He added that plans were being made in every way and that he predicted a sweeping Democratic victory.

President Wilson himself, Mr. McCombs declared, would have to say whether he would be a candidate, but he added that in view of the national committee's include laying a particular stress on the president's personal record.

The chairman discussed government finances with the president and said he believed the country favored strict economy.

The people of the country are economizing in their private lives, said Mr. McCombs, "and there is no reason why the government should not follow a similar course."

DECATOR MASS MEETING BOOMS AGRICULTURE

An enthusiastic mass meeting was held in Decatur Friday night when interesting speakers from all over the state addressed the audience. Pledges were made toward aiding the campaign inaugurated by the board of agriculture to help the development of DeKalb county. The meeting also pledged its co-operation in the campaign of the state district in Decatur in March, under the auspices of the Farm Market conference.

President Dabney of the board of agriculture, in his address, said: "There were small pimplles under the skin. It was informed at once that it must be a tick. He should be treated it very much. The breaking out on his face was not because he had been as if it would bleed. It seemed to itch and burn when rubbed. He was restless at night."

"He had the affection for four months or more before I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I had a tick on my face and before I had the soap used a marked improvement could be seen. I then bought a case of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I use Cuticura and in a month his face was normal again without any scars." (Signed) T. S. Deacon, Oct. 1, 1914.

Wounds Are Made By Bits of Bone Medals and Money

Irish Corporal Picks Up Two Diamonds From Drifting Sands in Southwest Africa---Germans Have Unexpected Fish Dinner

By Associated Press

PARIS, Jan. 30.—Unmarkable wounds that are caused by ricochetting bullets and secondary projectiles are commented on by Henri de Varigny, in the Debat.

Not only are deflected bullets frequently found in wounds, but with them such unusual substances as bits of bone from the bodies of other men, metal and medals and money, pieces of cloth and the like.

The presence of these extraneous substances in wounds invariably means that they have been projected by ricochetting bullets. An officer recently was found to have been injured by a part of the forearm of one of his men, who was struck by a stone that had been projected by a bullet.

In another case a part of one man's jawbone was picked out of another man's body wound; still another soldier lost the sight of his eye by being struck with a fellow soldier's tooth.

From the vast number of cases, come reports of finding in support of bullet wounds such unusual objects as buttons, nails, fragments of eye glasses, pieces of teeth, slivers of wood and bone, eyelets, scrap of leather and coins.

In one case a projectile struck a man's pocket and glanced off without hurting him, the skin the bullet hit another man, and in the wound were found bits of cloth from the first soldier's uniform, and 20 deflected pieces of gold from coins that were forced out of the pocket.

Diamonds in Sand LONDON, Jan. 30.—How an Irish corporal picked up two diamonds from the drifting sands of his sentry post in German Southwest Africa, is told in a letter which has just reached his family home in Ireland.

"My post is in a desert of sand, on the horizon," he writes. "A mirage shimmered continually on the horizon. The sand, blown by the wind, fills the eyes and throat and bites into the skin.

It is our duty to keep the railroad open. The men, very little soldiering, but a great deal shoveling, to do long the mattocks and the drifting sand, which would soon hide the rails if left to its own devices.

"Today, while I stood idly watching a group of complaining shovelers, my eye caught an unusual find, and I stooped and picked up a diamond, the size of a bean. I searched a little longer and found another, a bit smaller. There were no more."

Germans Eat Fish BERLIN, Jan. 30.—An unexpected fish dinner was enjoyed by some of the German troops who were captured in a mountain lake in East Prussia recently. The Russian batteries were shelling the German position. Many of their shells dropped into the lake, where they exploded and stunned or killed great numbers of perch and pike. Fish rose to the surface and were collected by the troops in boats.

A dispatch from Rotterdam says: "A dead whale which drifted ashore a few days ago on the northern part of the Dutch coast was found to have been killed by the Russian naval shells. Presumably it had been mistaken for a submarine by some of the patrolling warships."

Fists Instead of Guns German and Russian troops came to fistfights on the Polish frontier, according to dispatches received here.

A Russian aviator, having completed a reconnaissance over the German lines, was returning to the Russian training position when he found his supply of gasoline suddenly cut off by a German bullet which had passed through his tank. He was forced to plane down, and he had to land about half way between the opposing trenches.

The Germans stopped shooting, thinking the prize was secured, and, fearing damage to their valuable machine gun, they rushed out empty-handed to bring in the aviator. A party of Russians did the same, and the two groups found themselves facing each other, both unarmed. Finally the Germans, who had the machine gun, followed. The Russians came under fire from the machine gunners in the German trenches, and suffered some losses but got their aeroplane back to safety.

Zones of Silence GENEVA, Jan. 30.—Scientists are endeavoring to explain the "zone of silence" in which an artillery fire of the armies fighting near the Swiss border can be plainly heard in the Bernese Alps, while between them are zones of silence from 20 miles wide.

Such a zone of silence has also been observed with great distinctness near the frontier on the Swiss side, when for some distance it cannot be heard at all, while on the Jungfrau and other peaks it is so plain that it seems to come from a distance beyond the frontier.

In Querquin of Zurich, a noted physicist, has given considerable reason for these zones of silence, but has as yet found no good reason for them.

English Women Not To Knit in Church LONDON, Jan. 30.—"People do not go to church to knit, and take part in the service," said the Very Rev. Dr. G. C. Williams, Vicar of the Archdiocese of Canterbury in reply to a question which has been put to almost every woman in England by patriotic women. In order that the vote for the men in khaki might not be relaxed, it was proposed that the women be allowed to knit during the sermon time. But the people go to church to pray, sing, listen to the lessons and the sermon, continued the Very Rev. "If nothing is going on, they had better be on their knees praying for the soldiers on the battlefield and for themselves."

Soldier Sets Home To Dying Mother LONDON, Jan. 30.—An instance of "the human qualities of Lord Kitchener" is in Sunderland, where a soldier came and obtained leave of absence through the office of the Queen.

The woman's one desire was to see her five sons, who are all in the army. Four of them were in the English training camp and obtained leave of absence through the office of the Queen.

The youngest, who was serving in Flanders, Lord Kitchener was communicated with. The lad thereupon received seven days' furlough with ration and expense money, and arrived in time to see his mother before she died.

Two Million Jews Are Made Penniless LONDON, Jan. 30.—Two million Jews—one-sixth of the Jews in the world—have been made penniless in Russian Poland and the eastern fighting border by the struggling armies. Besides, there are 170,000 Jewish refugees in Galicia, 25,000 in Moravia and 75,000 in Bohemia.

These figures were given out at a Jewish meeting recently held in London, at the purpose of securing the entire distress of co-religionists. Plans, indeed, by Leopold de Rothschild, were made to raise funds by subscription.

Shells Made by the Millions for Germans AMSTERDAM, Jan. 30.—German ammunition works are at present turning out 3,000,000 shells a day, says a Berlin correspondent of the highest capacity of production of the Handelsblatt, "and their production has not yet been reached."

UNCLE SAM'S SOUTH AMERICAN BANK

ARGENTINE STOCK EXCHANGE BUILDING

Offices Were Opened at Buenos Aires in November by the National City Bank of New York City

By Frank G. Carpenter

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina. UNCLE SAM has at last begun a banking business on the southern half of our hemisphere. The National City Bank of New York opened its offices here last November, and it is now organizing a system of banks and credits which will eventually be extended to every part of the South American continent. It has already established a branch at Rio de Janeiro, and is now engaged in negotiations in Montevideo, Santiago, Lima and La Paz. Its chief banking establishment in Argentina is the stock exchange building, and this is the heart of the business section of Buenos Aires. The offices open out upon the Calle Rivadavia, and they are not far away from the "Pink House," where the president has his office. The bank here is under the supervision of Mr. John H. Allen, former manager of the Bank of Haiti, and one of the chief men who are in its establishment was Mr. Robert G. Moore, the assistant secretary of the treasury of the United States. The staff of clerks is made up of men trained in the National City Bank of New York, and those who have had experience in South American trade. In addition are some bank clerks who have been connected with the large financial institutions of this city.

National City Bank Is Doing Business in American Money

The National City Bank is doing a general banking business. It deals in savings and checking accounts, and has already a large amount of deposits. It does its business in American dollars and Argentine pesos; and for the time being one can buy and sell in the United States or in Argentina, and the exchange rates are the same as in the United States.

The Germans stopped shooting, thinking the prize was secured, and, fearing damage to their valuable machine gun, they rushed out empty-handed to bring in the aviator. A party of Russians did the same, and the two groups found themselves facing each other, both unarmed. Finally the Germans, who had the machine gun, followed. The Russians came under fire from the machine gunners in the German trenches, and suffered some losses but got their aeroplane back to safety.

Such credits in Buenos Aires and Rio Janeiro and, it will have duplicate fees in New York; so that it will make no place than in the Argentine to do business in the United States. It will also be the outlook for openings for American capital, and will be an invaluable source of information to our importers and investors.

For the sake of the reader, any idea of the enormous business that Europe is doing with the South American countries is given. The war has been stopped on account of the war, and the additional money of the near future must come from somewhere else than France, Germany and England.

The trade of Argentina with Great Britain and the total investments of that country in our sister continent have already run into the billions.

I have been told by the Rev. George Parish that the English have been investing in America. The amount in Argentina is $1,600,000,000; in Brazil, $739,000,000; in Chile, $606,000,000; in Peru, $1,041,000,000, and in Uruguay about $171,000,000, and in the total about $1,800,000,000. This makes a total of about $5,000,000,000, all told, and the most of the investments are paying big dividends, and the last few years the total investment has been about $800,000,000; for Brazil, $400,000,000, and for Chile, $137,000,000. In 1913 Argentina put out almost $200,000,000 in Brazil and Argentina, and they would be increasing such investments to-day if the war were not on.

Only Two Cities In U. S. Are Larger Than Buenos Aires

The above figures bulk large, but South America is a big continent, and it is only at the beginning of its development. The Argentine Republic has already 150 branches scattered here and there over the republic, and there are many other banking institutions, and also the great foreign banking institutions which have their headquarters in Europe. The number of principal banks enumerated in the Argentine Year Book is about 150, and there are many others which have a capital of over $500,000,000, and its deposits are more than $400,000,000 in paper, or very little in gold.

I refer to the National Bank of Argentina, which has altogether 150 branches scattered here and there over the republic, and there are many other banking institutions, and also the great foreign banking institutions which have their headquarters in Europe. The number of principal banks enumerated in the Argentine Year Book is about 150, and there are many others which have a capital of over $500,000,000, and its deposits are more than $400,000,000 in paper, or very little in gold.

One of the most important of the Argentine banks is the Banco Hipotecario.

The National City Bank will not only prevent such publicity, but it will serve as a financial institution for providing credits for trade. It is collecting data as to the credit of the various companies and merchants, and within a short time it will have the statistics of every business and its credit standing in every South American city to do business with the United States. It will keep files of

I have been told by the Rev. George Parish that the English have been investing in America. The amount in Argentina is $1,600,000,000; in Brazil, $739,000,000; in Chile, $606,000,000; in Peru, $1,041,000,000, and in Uruguay about $171,000,000, and in the total about $1,800,000,000. This makes a total of about $5,000,000,000, all told, and the most of the investments are paying big dividends, and the last few years the total investment has been about $800,000,000; for Brazil, $400,000,000, and for Chile, $137,000,000. In 1913 Argentina put out almost $200,000,000 in Brazil and Argentina, and they would be increasing such investments to-day if the war were not on.

Only Two Cities In U. S. Are Larger Than Buenos Aires

The above figures bulk large, but South America is a big continent, and it is only at the beginning of its development. The Argentine Republic has already 150 branches scattered here and there over the republic, and there are many other banking institutions, and also the great foreign banking institutions which have their headquarters in Europe. The number of principal banks enumerated in the Argentine Year Book is about 150, and there are many others which have a capital of over $500,000,000, and its deposits are more than $400,000,000 in paper, or very little in gold.

I refer to the National Bank of Argentina, which has altogether 150 branches scattered here and there over the republic, and there are many other banking institutions, and also the great foreign banking institutions which have their headquarters in Europe. The number of principal banks enumerated in the Argentine Year Book is about 150, and there are many others which have a capital of over $500,000,000, and its deposits are more than $400,000,000 in paper, or very little in gold.

One of the most important of the Argentine banks is the Banco Hipotecario.

The National City Bank will not only prevent such publicity, but it will serve as a financial institution for providing credits for trade. It is collecting data as to the credit of the various companies and merchants, and within a short time it will have the statistics of every business and its credit standing in every South American city to do business with the United States. It will keep files of new assets of between five and six hundred millions of dollars. The law requires it to place 50 per cent of its profits to a reserve fund, and its assets are to be held in a safe, guarded place. Loans are made on farm lands at a low valuation, and on lots in the cities at 60 per cent of their valuation, and building construction loans up to 60 per cent of their assessed value.

Riggs National Bank Is Associated With New York City Bank

The rate of interest on the bonds may not be more than 5 per cent, and all loans are subject to annual reductions of 1 per cent. This bank has been in operation for almost thirty years, and it has had to make much to do with the rapid increase in its business.

The foreign banks are doing a big business in this capital of the Rio de la Plata basin. This is especially so of some whose chief offices are in London. The American and Argentine banks have a capital of $9,000,000 and a surplus of $5,000,000 more. The London and Brazilian bank has a capital and surplus of $10,000,000, and the British Bank of South America has a capital of over $10,000,000.

The chief German banks are the Banco Almeyda, of Montevideo, and the Banco de la Argentina, of Buenos Aires. The latter was founded by the Dresden Bank for Deutschland, whose headquarters are in Berlin, and the former by the Deutsche Uebersetzer Bank. The Banco Almeyda Transatlantic has a capital of $30,000,000 marks, and the Banco Germano $40,000,000 marks.

Russian Girls Dress As Boys in Effort To Join the Army

Why Emperor Joseph No Longer Pays Visits to Hospitals--German Pastors Serving as Soldiers--Man Must Die Although Innocent

By Associated Press

PETROGRAD, Jan. 30.—The war has an unbelievable fascination for the Russian schoolgirl, hundreds of whom have run away in boys' clothing and tried to enlist as volunteers. Not a few of them have got into the lines, too, as the medical examination is only a negligible formality in many places.

Among the wounded girl from one of the country districts, whose discharge was not discovered until she reached the field hospital.

In all the larger cities and towns the authorities are trying to provide employment of a war-time nature for women and girls. In Moscow there is a war hospital attached to each school house, and the school girls are assigned work in connection with this. Each girl is made responsible for the clothing of one wounded patient, and the children collect the money necessary for the support of the hospital.

I Must Die. Yet, I Am an Innocent Man OLBERNHAU, Germany, Jan. 30.—The following letter was received here by relatives of Frederick Seyffert, who in November was condemned to death by a French military tribunal for the charge of espionage.

"You are truly,

"FREDERICK SEYFFERT."

Seyffert had been an employee of the Moroccan postal service. His execution was called a judicial murder by the German press.

"I must die! I am about to be shot. I am innocent! I have never carried on espionage! Farewell to all of you! My best thanks for all the good you have done me. Think of me in the future and pray for me. I die gladly for the beloved Fatherland. Farewell, dear!"

Have Them Kill Me, Wounded Men Be VENICE, Jan. 30.—The wounded men who obtained a surgeon's story of the emperor's last hours, who died in the Vienna military hospital is explained by a correspondent of a Venetian newspaper.

"The emperor arrived in our ward late in the afternoon, and approached a wounded soldier who had lost both legs and one arm through amputations made necessary by shell wounds. The soldier recognized the aged emperor, and asked to speak with him.

"I have a request to make of your majesty, who is all-powerful," said the soldier. "Anything I can do for you I will gladly do," responded the emperor.

"Please give them orders to kill me and put me out of my misery," said the man.

"The emperor, who is very tender-hearted, turned pale, and grasped the hand of an orderly for support. He had to be helped out of the ward, and since then his majesty has not been seen in any of the military hospitals."

German Pastors Are Serving in the Army BERLIN, Jan. 30.—The following letter was received here by a correspondent of the Tagesschau, a number of German pastors and theological students are serving in the armies at the front. The evidence is that the emperor has been wounded.

"In the Army of the Argonne, there is one entire company composed of theologians. The German universities which possess theological departments report large numbers of enlisted men from this class of students. Very few of them, it is stated, care to serve as officers but prefer to serve in the ranks, where it is believed their influence on the ordinary soldiers will have a great effect.

Men Fought Behind Barrier of the Dead PETROGRAD, Jan. 30.—A Russian regiment entrenched on the Rawka repulsed thirteen consecutive attacks in a single night, is told in recent dispatches from the front.

"The enemy came on in close columns, but were mowed down to a man," says one account. "After the tenth attack had been stopped the bodies were piled up so high that the Russian riflemen were unable to shoot.

"Men were sent out to burn heavily all the bodies so as to incinerate them for each other, and the next three attacks were repulsed from behind the shelter of the enemy's own bodies. All the Russian officers expressed great admiration for the courage and pertinacity of the enemy."

How English Were Bluffed by Turks CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 30.—The correspondent of the Tagesschau at Eskalar, a number of intervals, as far as the bombardment of the Turkish city of Alexandretta, is how the threatened bombardment of the city in view of the expected arrival of two locomotives.

After shelling the railroad line near Pala, a British cruiser appeared before Alexandretta, where, meanwhile, the two locomotives had already arrived. The commander of the British fleet demanded the handing over of the guns and the immediate and complete transfer of all arms in the city within eighteen hours.

The reply made by the Turkish commander was that for each Turk killed he would have an Englishman. In the end the English were repulsed from the city, and the two locomotives which had escaped the bombardment at Pala, too, would settle the matter. The correspondent speaks of the locomotives as "captive," but does not explain the reason why he uses this term.

Later in the day the Turkish commander sent word to the British cruiser that he could not find any dynamite for the blowing up of the locomotives. All dynamite had been sent to Damascus, he asserted. The commander of the British fleet, however, offered to supply "enough explosives for the destruction of the locomotives."

While these purports were in progress, a Turkish locomotive engineer had quietly steamed to Pala, hooked his engine to the partly demolished but still mobile train and started it on its way to the direction of Medina. When Pala heard of this, it made two locomotives in Alexandretta useless, and then steamed back to Pala, too, however, to reach the train with their guns. With throttle wide open the Turkish engineer was well away towards the interior when the British cruiser arrived at Pala.

An Army of Singers For the Welsh Troops CARDIFF, Wales, Jan. 30.—When the new Welsh army, of 40,000 taken to the field, they will go to battle to the sound of a Welsh male choir which has been substituted in its regiments for the customary brass bands.

The choral organization is known as the "Welsh Male Voice Chorus," and its members include some of the finest singers in the Welsh valleys, men who have competed in the scores of famous eisteddfods, or miasistry festivals.

CONCERNING HEALTH and BEAUTY

PROPER CARE OF THE FEET

Are your feet prepared for an emergency, such as a sprained or broken ankle? The most horrible example of unpreparedness of which we are young, is to find in the hospital room, in many popular novels—a walk, a sprained ankle, and at hand here the man of one's heart to touch the shoe and bathe.

Then it is a matter of how four plays an important part in one's opinion of the feet. Another reason that one walks, runs, jumps, and having one's bare toes come to light in the hospital room, not be like unto Tribby's in form, but it may be well groomed, which is far more important and impressive upon people, of good breeding and dainty habits.

It would warn you first to see the list of care when buying shoes, both for men and for children. Also have your feet well washed. A short shoe will cause blisters. A long narrow foot is to be preferred to a short wide one, and the former is the best for the hard worker, you will be able to sit. This does not mean, of course, that you are to squeeze the poor foot until the bones protest. It means that I am referring to the many unsightly toes and bunions that are caused by wearing short shoes.

For the feet aches or are very tired, one of the most easily affected, to say nothing of the actual effect on one's disposition. The bare feet will not sit in a chair. Another reason that one should be taken each night before retiring or immediately after a tiresome walk.

The water should be warm. Very hot water injures the feet and tender them. Allow the feet to stay in the warm water ten or fifteen minutes, then rinse them in cold water, so as to cool them off and to avoid the danger of taking cold.

Another method of refreshing the feet is to rub them briskly with alcohol after bathing. The alcohol is especially beneficial to the nerves, taking cold if the feet have become wet and chilled. It is well to rub the feet of children in this manner after they come in out of the rain or snow. For excessive perspiration the feet should be frequently bathed, afterward rubbed with alcohol and then powdered with the following formula:

Tablespoonfuls of talcum 60 grams
Boric acid 15 grams
Permanaganate of potash 15 grams
Balsam of Balsam 15 grams

A dainty woman powders her feet after each bathing, if it is only a bit of scented talcum. This will help to prevent the feet from perspiring, prevent a feeling of discomfort and give a feeling of comfort and that is delightful.

The toenails should be manicured with a manicure scissor, nail file, orange stick and cuticle knife quite one attends to the finger nails. It is not necessary or even desirable, however, to use nail polish. A buffer may be used if you like.

If you have serious trouble with the feet it is wise to consult a good chiropodist at least once a month, and wait until the feet are no longer painful that it is no longer possible to postpone such a visit.

If you think you are simple, however, the feet at home—that is, if your feet are not in a serious condition—try the following treatment.

I would caution you, however, against the use of nail polish, etc., that are not sterilized, as they may have invited blood poisoning in this manner and have frequently led or caused to the toes amputated.

Corns are bits of cuticle or epidermis made callous by pressure. They are of three kinds—hard, callous and soft, as is found on the soles of the feet, soft corns and those painful hard little things found upon the toes commonly known as "blisters." The latter are more dangerous except when we injure them in trying to remove them. The first thing to do for any corn is to relieve the pressure by the use of a small sort of a little thick plaster or layer of cotton with a hole in the center is applied. While this relieves pain it does not stop the removal of the epidermis of callus and the application of colloid and salicylic acid. This should be applied very carefully with a tiny brush. After

Poor Little Runaway Bride!

CHAPTER I.

SHANKS" McGEE, carrying one soiled newspaper a bell and collecting money for the newsboys' home as another bluffer suddenly paused by him and asked him where he was when such as he was coming up the long side street toward the Hotel Daniel a beautiful young girl. She was turning to look backward over her shoulder at every few steps.

"Oh, gee! A man was following her! And he was dodging along from tree to tree and from doorway to doorway, and every time he did the look back he ducked!" The man had been bidden to whisper, with a low, sharp, dark point just under his chin, and he carried himself with the ease which only a thorough scoundrel can acquire. Shanks McGee stood petrified, then took a long, deep breath and hurried up to the corner. He flattened his already fat moustache against the plate glass window of the modest Hotel Daniel.

The beautiful young girl conceded all that she could of her timidity as she walked through the door with what she thought to be a strictly businesslike manner. Seven men who had been morbidly eying their respective cupboards immediately turned their heads to the headmost. One of them looked bold, and another a decorative Frenchman, looked debonair. The beautiful girl strode straight up to the desk.

"A room with a bath, please," she requested.

The clerk, an indifferently aged man, held the register a moment while he studied the new guest of the house.

"Any luggage, miss?"

The girl, disconcerted, had recourse to her only armor. Now she shyly cast up at him her great, soft, expressive eyes, and the clerk felt ashamed of himself. He swung the register around to her.

"Oh, I'm glad you're here with my clothes."

The voice was soft and sweet.

"Certainly, miss." And the clerk whanged a bell which sounded like a fire gong. "Front!"

In response to that stentorian call a shock headed, loose limbed Irish boy jumped forward and took the key to 44. The clerk, without moving his body or his neck, turned around and laid his eyes to watch the signature, Mrs. J. G. Day.

A moment later the black Vandyke man strolled in, looked at the register and walked into the bar. Then along came Marie with a bundle of clothes.

The young woman went straight to the desk.

"My, my, my," she said, "I'm so glad to see the clothes piece by piece from under his eyes and ringing for front and looking at the young woman and the register all at the same time. The young woman, quite evidently a maid, glanced swiftly at the register.

"Marie, Day?" she repeated, breathing heavily.

"She's expecting you." And the clerk's eyes blinks.

"Room 44," cried a voice.

"Marie, tell June I want her!" cried a voice.

"She's here. I want her!"

"Why—er—" Ned stammered; then he grabbed the clothes from the maid's arms. "Now you lead me to 44."

"Sir, how dare you?" Marie said and turned appealing to the clerk.

"These are my wife's clothes!" declared the young man. "She's here. I want her!"

"What's her name?" the clerk demanded.

"Mrs. Ned Warner!"

"Not her."

"June Moore!"

"Oh, come off!" observed the clerk. "If I let you go through the directory you may hit it. Give this girl back her clothes, and good night!"

"This thing has gone far enough, Marie!" hotly stated the young man.

At that moment the voice stopped. Out of the bar had strolled elegantly the pride of Shanks McGee, the man with the black Vandyke, and he was neatly nibbling a piece of cheese. He was across the lobby and going out of the door, paying but a scant tribute of curiosity to the knot in front of the desk. The young man with the clothes was still there. The young man nearly upset Marie on his way to the door.

A porter stopped him to get June's clothes. Ned was then delayed at the ticket window and, glancing across the station, saw Bye going up onto an express.

June Warner locked the door of 44 from the inside and turned the bolt and dropped into a chair to rest.

Suddenly a voice called, "It's Marie, Miss June!" and a knock was heard.

June Warner opened the door of 44 in a hurry, and her eyes sparkled and she clapped her hands as she saw Marie with clothes sticking from her in all directions.

"We're caught!" panted Marie. "Mr. Ned grabbed me downstairs! He made a scene!"

"Where is he now?" June sat down limply.

"I don't know! All at once he threw down the clothes and ran out on the street! I don't know why!"

Ned Warner attended closely by the eccentric Shanks McGee, stood at the subway exit in a state of seethe beyond computation. Again Gilbert Bye.

Honoré Bye, exchanging spit with a green parrot, was suddenly interrupted by a call.

"Get him!" announced the caller, who was none other than Bill Wolf.

Honoré Bye sprang up instantly.

"Get my wraps!" she yelled to the abnormally ugly maid who had let Bill Wolf in. "Mr. Wolf, you fool me onds. Are you sure you have found Gilbert Bye?"

"If we ain't, so help me!" solemnly swore Wolf.

Honoré Bye, with Bill Wolf by her side, was soon speeding downtown in her little electric coupe in front of Luchow's restaurant they found a fat, white, balding man in the center of his mouth and his narrow rimmed slouch hat shored on the back of his round head and his eyes turned contentedly toward the stars.

"Certain party in Binky?" husked Wolf.

Binky Peters followed them into a busy cafe, and the balding bald toward the Thirtieth street entrance a tall, wide man with his hands in his pockets came in at the rear door—Sneaky Tavis.

"There's your party!" suddenly hissed Bill Wolf and pointed to a table where a dark Vandyke German with spectacles was entertaining a healthy, red-cheeked young woman with a green feather in her hair.

"You scum!" shrilled Honoré Bye to her three expert detectives and went home to her parrot.

Ned Warner stepped into the cigar store next door to the Hotel Daniel and telephoned June's home in Brynport. Mr. and Mrs. Moore were in the city at Boston, and Ned, with a soft voice, told his back old Aunt Debbie told him.

Blethering and the cheery voice of Bobbie. Yes, the Moores were there. And June was located? Great! Stanch Bobbie was all eagerness when Ned said he wanted the Moores and Bobbie and Iris to come down to the Hotel Daniel.

"I'm a swell!" shrieked Honoré Bye to her three expert detectives and went home to her parrot.

"That's the man you meant?" hissed Honoré.

"That ain't the guy," yelled Shanks McGee, who was about to be kicked out now.

"Gilbert Bye shinked in here after the beautiful girl and ducked into the subway when his sport gives him the run!

"Get him!" he shouted triumphantly while Binky Peters and Sneaky Tavis slunk up, one on each side of the cupboard. "Nab him, boys!"

"There he is, lady!" he shouted triumphantly while Binky Peters and Sneaky Tavis slunk up, one on each side of the cupboard. "Nab him, boys!"

"Mon Dieu! What the hell are you doing?" gasped Binky Peters and Sneaky Tavis dashed down on his arms. The rest of the observation was an incomprehensible polyglot jumble as, shrieking his indignation, the black bearded Frenchman strode to the door.

"Is that the man you meant?" hissed Honoré.

"That ain't the guy," yelled Shanks McGee, who was about to be kicked out now.

Colquitt County Farmer Shaves With a Cleaver

MOULTRIE, Jan. 30.—Allgood Kelly, a pioneer farmer of Colquitt County, has shaved himself regularly for fifty years, and he has never owned a razor. When Mr. Kelly gets ready to remove the unbrusque growth that marks the arrival of another week's end, he gets out an old cleaver that he has used regularly since he began to shave. He uses no soap and softens his beard with rain water.

Before beginning the operation Mr. Kelly says he sharpens his cleaver on a pair of old boots that he has worn on Sundays for twenty years.

Chicken Expert Sways To The Age Of A Pullet

Have You Heard These?

"Well, Bullockback," severely began Squire Ramshbottom, "you are charged with cursing your mule to a hole in the ground, and then driving the public highway, and further abusing the animal by hitting him with a brick. What have you to say for yourself?"

"Why, siah, yo' honsh, o' cou'se, I say 'Not guilty,' ukase dat's plumb edly what I is," replied the citizen of Senecaian descent, who longed for freedom from the law.

"Well, as you are one of the several persons who have been tried, and you saw a chance to get even with the press censor who had done things to your articles during the great European war, you are to be tried."

"I see," said the tourist. "Drive on to the next attraction, please."—Judge.

In Judge Andy Calhoun's Court

By William Garrard

EX-GRAYCROW is a short, knotty, Gunnis-lipped negro with a voice like an overgrown bullfrog. He was up before Judge Andy, whose week before had charged with lighting.

"Jude, yo' pa' sick," he belloved his dad, and Andy's to go on his funeral. "Abid, yo' pa' do' mornin'; no more, yo' pa' use, lemme go to mah pa' funeral."

There wasn't much evidence against Zeke, so Judge Andy let him go, with a frown.

"Zeke, yo' judge, his hard face grin, as he beat it out of the door.

Last week Zeke stood before Judge Andy again, charged with fighting.

"Jude, yo' pa' shuck the courtroom, 'Mahn' mab piled up high, er-shinin' under the ox light," said Mirandy.

"Jude, yo' pa' know how them coons shined. They just keep on shinin', right in mah eye, and this here chile holers laks her freen' to death. So ah goes and takes some of dat shinin' coal."

Mirandy studied apologetically, and hung her head.

Fiddle Older Than U.S. to Be Played at Convention

And Tunes Famous In Revolutionary Days Will Set Feet to Tapping

YES, sir, that fiddle is older than the country, and it is the property of Charley Randall, tenderly polished the old violin with a grimy silk handkerchief. "My granddaddy is more'n ninety—going on ninety-four, to be exact—and he says his granddaddy taught him to play it down the ridge from North Clingy before they fought the British in the big war."

Mr. Randall's violin, exhibited proudly at the auditorium to a little group of musicians, was the first to enter this week's Old Fiddlers' Convention, was not the only ancient instrument which will be played in the convention's program. There are fiddles which have come down from father to son through several generations, and which are heirlooms more highly prized than the high-priced banjos. There are no common fiddles in the mountains. No famous Italian name is to be found scrawled inside the brown belly of a Georgia fiddle. Most of them have names, such as "Old Head-plee," and cedar thumb keys and their wire strings, snapping in the middle of a jig, have cut deep scars in the shiny violin cases, played in plain and gay for generations. One could hardly imagine a musician coaxing Rubenstein or List from one of these.

But if the fiddles are old, the tunes they play are even older, and that is strange when one considers that they have never been set down in black and white. The tunes of "Soldier Boy" may have been in the songs of the Cavaliers, or the block houses of Daniel Boone. It is rather well established that the air was a favorite of the Indians, and the fiddle, played on the shrill fife, inspired the volunteers of the Colonies in many a famous charge.

There are other classics whose origin is lost in antiquity, but which are well known in the Rockies as the "Blue Ridge—Leather Breeches," "Hop Light, Ladies," and "Traveler," embellished by bits of humorous recitative between the stanzas of a song.

Opinions are divided as to the composition of the fiddlers of today, but there is no doubt of the fact that the graybeards holding that there have been no real fiddlers since the steam railroad days. But those who have heard Fiddlin' John Carson and Ross Bagley and "Deacon" Ludwig play the airs of the old times will find it hard to believe that their skill could be excelled.

Evil Is Done by Combinations Of Rich Men To Promote Good

One Group, Numbering No More Than a Score of Men, Are Endeavoring to Govern the Nation's Education

By Bishop W. A. Candler
Investigating Investigators

UNDER the caption written above this article in the Saturday edition of the Post prints the following brief editorial:

The Federal commission on industrial relations announces that it will work with the Rockefeller foundation, the Russell Sage foundation, the Carnegie foundation, and the Baron de Hirsch fund. The first three are the chief educational bodies. Whether they do their investigating well or ill can hardly be anybody's business except their own.

The nation has, however, an undeniable right to inquire into the future economic effects of huge foundations which may be expected to increase vastly as the decades pass. Administered with such benevolent funds of gigantic proportions have almost as great potentialities for evil as for good."

The Editor of the Post clearly correct in his views, which are presented and he suggests two points about which wise men will think much and seriously.

The point is that these huge foundations may be expected to increase vastly as the decades pass. The men who have created these foundations will continue adding to them doubtless, and they will be able to influence others also to make gifts to them.

Moreover, these foundations may have interlocking boards of directors, and thus form a powerful influence. This is true already with reference to the Carnegie and Rockefeller foundations, several men being on both boards, and Mr. Andrew Carnegie, a member of the board which controls the Rockefeller Educational fund.

The significance of all this was set forth by Mr. John Rockefeller, in his statement of the Carnegie's acceptance of a place on the Rockefeller board. The founder of the Rockefeller fund said: "If combination is to be avoided, it must be avoided in every way, and in getting better results, why is not combination far more important in philanthropic work? The general idea of co-operation in this field has scored a real step in advance when Mr. Andrew Carnegie consented to become a member of the board of the Board of Education, i.e., a member of the Rockefeller board.

The country knows quite well what Mr. Rockefeller means by a "combination to do business in the interests of the owners of the Standard Oil company" that phrase has meant to destroy all others engaged in the oil business, and then do as you please with the rest. And similar significance among the steel mongers who compose the Steel Trust, of whom Mr. Carnegie is chief.

We have the methods in education, turn over the educational control of the whole country to men who employ such methods. Some years ago Dr. Andrew Carnegie discussed Standard Oil money an "isolated," shall we have talented education also?

Again, the editor of the Post is right when he says: "Administered by trustees with broad powers, funds of gigantic proportions have almost as great potentialities for evil as for good. The rich should be taxed more heavily for evil than for good. In the few years of their existence these huge foundations have brought already untold evil, and the more they grow, the more which they could not control and affected hurtfully also institutions to which they make donations."

At an early day in the history of these foundations, that able and courageous paper, the New York Journal of Commerce," said: "A system of giving which has its own rules and customs, which is governed by principles of self-interest, dominates the world, which reigns throughout the country, and embraces especially those smaller institutions that are hampered by narrow means, is an infinitely more powerful force in the world than any man, than any single capitalist, who makes separate and often unconditional gifts to be controlled and invested by the institutions themselves, could ever be."

As a matter of fact, in the editor's opinion, there has, perhaps, never been anything in the history of education that would compare with the board system of "isolated learning." More than that, there is no better proof of solemn meaning.

A group of men, numbering no more than a score of persons, is undertaking to determine the correct education for the whole country. This is what the Outlook, edited by Dr. Lyman Abbott, predicted would be the outcome of the Rockefeller Foundation. When it first came out, it was established by Mr. Rockefeller, the editor of the Outlook, said: "I can do in many ways what the government does for education in France and Germany, and possibly will be enormous. It seems as if it might be able to determine the character of American education."

As it lets us be informed that this enormous power is exercised in utter irresponsibility to any authority of church or state, which is not true of the French and German governments. The only authority in the nation of the state is responsible to the common wealth which created and sustains it, and a college or a church is responsible.

BABIES THAT NEVER CRY

Tearless Little Folks of Grady Hospital

They Are Sojourners at Grady Hospital And They Never Cry Because They Are Never Coddled or "Loved" Like Other Babies

THEY lie in their iron beds on the big breeze-swept roof and gaze, wide-eyed, at you as the white-robed nurse leads you past. Some of them only stare in stolid silence. But none of those babies at Grady seem to cry. "No, we don't know just why," says the nurse. "But they don't. That's all."

They have a dozen or two babies in the ward nearly all the time. These are frisky, peevish, irritable. Sometimes the mother takes the baby, has cried for hours at a time. But after she has kissed the little one good-bye and given its pillow a pat and gone home the baby cries just a little, and then goes to sleep. And that's just as we stop to see what's going on. You can see for yourself how quiet the ward is now.

"Perhaps it's because they aren't being spoiled. If a baby learns that it will be taken up and coddled and 'loved' and fed when it cries, why, of course it will cry whenever it wants to be noticed."

We see if there's anything wrong, and if there isn't we leave the baby alone. So soon learns that crying is of no use, and when he learns that he stops. Maybe one has something to cry about, and his yells start the others. But the ward soon becomes quiet again."

Again, the editor of the Post is right when he says: "Administrated by trustees with broad powers, funds of gigantic proportions have almost as great potentialities for evil as for good."

He adds: "The rich should be taxed more heavily for evil than for good. In the few years of their existence these huge foundations have brought already untold evil, and the more they grow, the more which they could not control and affected hurtfully also institutions to which they make donations."

possibility is too painful to contemplate.

President Wilson has praised recently the new system of regional boards, declaring that it has "liberated the commercial credits of the country" from the power of a certain group of wealthy financiers. Would it not be well for Congress to liberate the educational interests of the nation from a thraldom which is now more dangerous to the republic—a thraldom made possible by Congress when federal charters were granted to these allied boards.

Thieves Invited to Laying Of the Cornerstone for Burglar-Proof Chicken Coop

Brooks County Mule That Has Made 30 Crops in 30 Years—Letter from Witness to United States Commissioner at Rome Ga.

M OULTRIE, Ga., Jan. 30.—A granite chicken house, double-locked and double-barred and fixed with an electric burglar-alarm will be built here soon by C. R. Atwater. He has posted on his front gate an invitation to all the chicken thieves of the neighborhood to attend the laying of the cornerstone, and to help him to lay it.

This invitation is a defense. He intends to build his new chicken house so carefully that it shall absolutely proof against burglars.

Let them come and look, if they choose, and learn his plans thoroughly. When all the double-locks and double-bars and electric alarms are in place, he defies any burglar to break in.

But for the time being this burglar will be the owner of one lone hen. This hen is the one that is left of Mr. Atwater's brood of chickens. One by one the others have been stolen.

This persistent thief determined him to build a granite chicken coop and to equip it with the precious gold were stored within. Not only has he invited all the thieves to attend the laying of the cornerstone, but he has arranged to have the event surrounded with unusual ceremony.

He succeeded until he had to slow down to take a long trestle, and then the train caught him. When the train left the station the dog could not be found. Later a blind dog was discovered in the bushes, and the dog was thought to have died.
