Heavy Fighting Has Been Resumed Along the Warsaw Front in Poland After a Long Period of Inactivity

RUSSIANS ROUT PARTY OF ENEMY IN POLAND

Continued Advance of Czar's Forces in East Prussia Is Claimed in Official Announcement from Petrograd

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Heavy fighting has been resumed along the Warsaw front in Poland after a long period of comparative inactivity.

The Russian occupation of Tabaria, northern Persia, unofficially reported that yesterday the British captured the Russian war office, which says the Turkish army in that vicinity was put to flight.

The view that Germany has entered definitely into a policy of deterring England's wartime commerce by use of submarines is corroborated by German newspapers which speak of the state of the British merchant ships as a "series of disasters" which will produce striking results.

Violent German attacks in Poland along the Warsaw front are interpreted as a sign that the German army is making a general offensive and that the German army is making a general offensive.

Fierce Struggle in the Carpathians Continues

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, Feb. 1. Reports of Russian operations over a vast area continue to come from the continent.

Russian occupation of Tabor, in Persia, has been confirmed, and the Russian army, which pushed the Turks out of this provincial capital of Persia, after their brief stay there, is sweeping to the south and to the west on the heels of the retreating Turks.

In the Carpathians sharp fighting took place Sunday in the forests of the Tatra mountains, where the Russians are striving to retain command of the passes which keep the open behind them.

In the Tatra mountains the situation shows no striking change, although hard fighting has continued for twenty-four hours near Le Basse and in the Argonne.

The allied armies will be largely reinforced with new troops in the next fortnight.

FINANCE SHEET'S FRIENDS EXPECT PASSAGE MONDAY

"Insurgents" Predict Amended Budget Will Pass Council and Aldermen

The "insurgents" of council, who added an amendment increasing the anticipation of revenue by $54,000 to the original budget of the finance committee, are confidently predicting the amended sheet will pass the council and the aldermen board Monday afternoon with a very slight change.

The change, which was agreed upon by a majority of the members of council at a caucus last Friday afternoon, will add $5,000 to the Milton avenue school in the Third ward for which Alderman C. G. McDonald has been fighting, and it will add $49,000 to the East Atlanta school fund.

Alderman McDonald, a member of the finance committee, supported the original sheet against the amendment two weeks ago when it was submitted to the board for a vote.

But the council members, who are fighting for the amendment, have now included in their tentative sheet the amendment which McDonald has been fighting, and several of them confidently predict Mr. McDonald will vote for the amendment Monday.

McDonald's vote would pass the amendment, for Alderman J. W. Madson, who was absent when the sheet was voted upon before, has cast his vote with the caucus, which he entered Friday with the amendment. He said that he would vote with the amendment sheet.

When the amended sheet was first submitted, Alderman Barnes, Thomson, Owens and Arnold voted for it. Alderman Madson's vote will make the fifth or tie ballot for the amendment, and McDonald's vote would carry it.

But Alderman McDonald, in taking a statement at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon, would not make a positive statement as to which way his vote would be thrown and expressed the opinion that the amended budget anticipates entirely too much revenue.

If the sheet should pass both boards Monday, it will likely be vetoed by Mayor Woodward, but leaders of the fight for the amendment say they will then get still another aldermanic vote and pass it over the veto.

Councilman Claude C. Mason, who is taking a leading part in the fight for the amendment, says he has found $25,000 in the appropriation to the sanitary department which he does not believe can be used.

While there will be no fight to take this amount from the department, Councilman Mason will use it as an argument to show the conservatism of making the anticipation of revenue necessary to the amendment.

POWERFUL LOCOMOTIVES BOUGHT BY GEORGIA ROAD

Three Engines Are the Largest Ever Put in Service Out of Atlanta

The largest locomotive ever put in service out of Atlanta was here Sunday in the roundhouse of the Georgia railroad. It is one of three new engines the Georgia road has bought, and it was taken Monday to Augusta, where the parts will be set up. Then it will be put on a regular freight run between Atlanta and Augusta.

The locomotive is of the Mikado type, built by the Lima Locomotive works, of Lima, O. It is 27 feet long, 15 feet 9 inches high, weighing 152 tons "light," or without coal and water. Its cylinders are 27 by 35, it carries 8,000 gallons of water and 30 tons of coal, and it will pull 2,750 tons.

The engine is a super-heater, and is equipped with all the latest appliances including an air reverse and the new Southern railroad valve motion, the installation of Engineer Brown, of the Knoxville division of the Southern railroad, Atlanta school fund.

MONEY AGAIN PLENTIFUL, DECLARES L. J. DANIEL

President of Clothing Company Bases Opinion on Success of Big Sale

That money is again in plentiful supply and that there can be no further doubt of returning prosperity is the opinion of L. J. Daniel, president of Daniel Brothers' company, clothing and men's furnishings.

Mr. Daniel bases his opinion on the fact that a sale inaugurated by his store last Saturday has already broken all records in the store's history, extending over a period of thirty years, for the amount of cash money which is being paid over the counters for merchandise.

The sale is on a strictly cash basis, and to the bargain in dependable merchandise offered by Daniel Bros., coupled with a better supply of money, is attributed the unprecedented success of the sale. Several times each day it becomes necessary to close the doors of the store in order that the crowd inside may be waited on without the jamming and interference of others who are seeking admittance.

Mr. Daniel says that the sale will continue for some time, as his store has a very large stock of choice goods in stock. Speaking of its success Monday, he said:

"The success of the sale has simply overwhelmed us. We had no idea that it would be such a big event in the history of Atlanta merchandising that it has been. Who I had no idea that there was so much money in the state, much less in Atlanta. And, believe me, you'd be surprised to see the large amount of gold that was handed over our counters. It came faster than ever before in the history of our store."

The federal grand jury was in session Monday morning with many witnesses present. Two counterfeiting cases and a host of moonshine bills were considered by the jury.

OHIO RIVER IS RISING FIFTEEN FEET AN HOUR

Hundreds of Farmers Are in Danger of Losing Homes in River Bottoms

(By Associated Press.)
EVANSVILLE, Ind., Feb. 1.—The Ohio river, rising fifteen feet an hour, reached a stage of 23.5 feet here this morning. River men have issued warnings of forty-foot stage.

Local weather bureau officials assert there is enough water in sight to cause thirty-six feet of water here. That would force several hundred farmers from their homes in the bottoms.

BY GRANTLAND DICE

YES, GO AWAY.
Ach, what a day!—a cloud against the sky:
A vast blue dome to greet the eager eye:
And here I sit within the tender sun
To rest again and cheer the winning run;
Back at my perch once more on Rotten's Row
To thrill again at Wagner's mighty blow.
Forgotten now dull Winter's atmosphere
Of Thriller Squabbles and of legal snare,
Where in the glory of the summer day
Old Matty breaks the magic Fadeaway,
And loud above the tumult and the rout
Bill Klein, the dauntless, clamor—"Beat out!"
And now, from where he labors on the hill,
The cunning Rudolph spends the hurling bill.
Where Doyle, free swinging with a mighty smash,
Leans up against a with the ancient ash—
On, on it falls, as if from a Krupp—
Don't wake me up.

Any number of ball players are now wintering in Florida. This is another sign of arrival spring. Only think of the poor people at Palm Beach on a day like this!

Some day we hope to reach such limits of serenity that we will be driven by some heartless slave-master into Florida to spend January, February and March. But up to date there is practically nothing doing in this direction.

MISSING A MILLION.

The queer turns and shifts that abound in sport have been mentioned before. But one of the queerest to our sizeable line of thought is the lack of development among the white heavyweights of the title enterprise. A trifle more than seven years have passed since Jack Johnson's triumph over Jim Jeffries at Reno. It required no expert prophecy of that period to tell that the first white heavyweight able to step out and beat Johnson had a million dollars in sight. Yet, with seven years to work on, not a contender has been developed worth ranking in the championship class.

SOUR FIELD.

With seven years to work in, look at the result—Carl Morris, Jess Willard, Gusman Smith, Jim Flynn, Frank Moran and Jim Coffey. Not a touch of science or skill in the lot—merely a vast collection of human flesh and bone, minus any of the ability or instinct that once belonged to the old crop—Sullivan, Corbett, Fitz and Jeffries.
Not a single first-class white heavyweight has displayed his frontispiece against the battle horizon in twelve years. Any number of stars at lesser weights have come and gone, but in the one field that would have paid a cool million in return there has been no entry worth the name.

THE REASON THEREOF.

The reason has been twofold. 1. Lack of heavyweight material possessing the fighting instinct; 2. Lack of proper training and aggressive competition for championship fights.

If Jess Willard had fought his way to the front as Jeffries did there would be no question today of Johnson's fate. But Willard has been content to stall along, fighting once a year, and he might have gathered in skill and experience enough to be one of the best of the game.

If some big strong and shifty young fellow of about twenty had started out in the right way seven years ago there would be another millionnaire added to the list. As it is Johnson may have to die of old age before any of the present chaps and prize challengers are ready to push him aside.

For if Willard wins at Juarez it will not be because Willard is any good, but rather that Johnson has only been tottering on the brink of the dump, waiting for the first shove.

NEAR LIMERICK.

There was a young league called the Peds:
That advertised beer, fish and bread:
They swore O. R.'s clench
On the game was a clench:
Did they ever try running the Reds?

There was a time when every manacle in the land was looking forward with a mighty yearning to April 14. But no more. The season opens then—but so does the payroll.

Old Boss Bulger bumped into a friend recently he hadn't seen for some time. The friend's condition was pink, but hardly mid-season form. "Drinking anything?" inquired Boss politely. "Yes, anything," was the reply.

OFFSIDE PLAYS.

The guy who enters with an excuse always ends with an alibi—plus a trimmings.

A star in the hand is worth four scouts in the bush.

We'll say this for the Peds—they picked a grand little business and a financial epoch to start a new league and host a nation. One of the grandest since the Egyptian famine some 4200 seasons ago.

Philly Scout Here on Way to Training Camp

Billy Neal Spends Day Here Looking After Affairs of His Club—Talks With Milt Reed, Trying to Put Over Deal With Bill Smith on Infielder.

Hardly a week passes these days but that some big league baseball manager, scout, or other attaché of the major does not pay Atlanta a visit. This week past was no exception. The visitor this time was scout Billy Neal, of the Philadelphia Nationals.

Neal blew into the city Saturday night and left last night for St. Petersburg. The Phillies train is in that city this spring, and Neal is on his way to look after details of getting things in shape for the arrival of the club. Manager Moran will take with him his players as well as his staff in Philadelphia.

Neal's stop-over in Atlanta, however, was made with other ends in view. For one thing, Neal wanted to have a little chat with Milt Reed, who has been planning to send Milt to Portland, in the Pacific Coast league, but the local boy is very much opposed to the move. He has been petting Moran to make some deal, whereby he can play in the east, or middle west. Neal dug out a grand young fellow, who has been playing in the bush, and the club doubters figured that he could counterbalance Reed's departure.

In addition to the matter of getting Reed straightened out, Neal had a little matter to discuss with Manager Bill Smith. The Phillies want to dispose of pitcher Hal J. Ryan, and have hopes of selling him to the Crakers. Ryan is an infielder, and can play either second, third or short. Terms, details, etc., of such a transfer were discussed fully, but no definite conclusion has been reached. Manager Smith has one or two other lines out, and he is waiting for a definite report of results before he will act on any line along new courses. Ryan is a grand young ball player, and would certainly make the Crakers a good find. Manager Smith has one or two other lines out, and he is waiting for a definite report of results before he will act on any line along new courses.

The Phillies, by the way, are scheduled to play a series, but the exhibition games have this spring, making their first appearance here in years. Last season they played in the National League training camp, and never returned to the city. Manager Moran will bring here a matter of games. The Phillies are being ripped up from stem to stern, and the old craft will doubtless present a different appearance to what it was a few years ago. When Moran finally selects his battle array, among those who are expected to stick through thick and thin, however, are Fred Luderus, Gevry Cravath, Grover Alexander, Frankie Meyer, and by Hyne and Bill Killifer.

Manager Smith has just closed for another series of exhibition games. This series will be played with the Havana Reds, a semi-pro team, rather as an independent team from the Cuban capital. Joe Mauerer, who has been prominently identified with baseball on the island for years, is handling the affairs of the team. Manager Smith writes that his team is composed of youngsters, who play a fast, snappy version of the game. A bunch of other Cuban players who later played in various leagues in this country. It is quite likely that some of these players will prove stars in the states within the next year or so.

Baseballers Begin Match Contest

A bowling match, which should bring out some of the best work seen on a local alley in years is slated to start tonight, when a picked team from the Atlanta alleys meets another from the city. The contest will be played at the Grand National Bowling Club, where the match will be played in the evening. The contest will be played in the evening. The contest will be played in the evening.

Pitcher Tom Jumps

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 1.—Fred Tom, pitcher of the Nashville team, has just announced that he has jumped to the Brooklyn Nationals, announced yesterday that he had signed a contract with the Pittsburgh Federal league.

The News

BY INNIS BROWN

President Nick P. Corish of the South Atlantic league, who gives baseball and its many problems, about as much thought as any league leader in the country, has offered a new suggestion to the men higher up in the game, which he believes is worth their earnest consideration. In fact Corish has had his league adopt a resolution, which has been forwarded to the national committee, urging that the commission use its office to have major league clubs train in towns in which clubs in organized ball are located.

President Corish is at present in Atlanta on private business, and told of his proposition, while speaking of the recent decision which arose over the fact that the Pittsburgh Federal league is going to train in August. When this information was first made public, President Barney Dreyfuss of the Pittsburgh Pirates took occasion to call the attention of Gerry Hermann, president of the commission, to the fact that the outlaws were being harbored in a city having franchises under the organization. Furthermore, clipping from Pittsburgh papers were exhibited which tended to show that Corish had given his consent to the plan to have the Peds train in the town.

Straightaway Hermann got busy to learn from Corish why he had given his approval to such a proposition. But Corish had not been sleeping on the job. He showed the commission that he not only had not approved of the plan, but that he had been opposing it since before the knowledge of the deal reached Dreyfuss.

An investigation revealed the fact that the Pittsburgh Dodgers had cancelled their leave on the Augusta camp to go further south to Daytona, Fla. This move left the Augusta management flat on any chance to land a major league club for their grounds the coming spring. Furthermore, the park is controlled by interests outside of the club, and there was no way to keep the Federals out, especially after the Brooklyn team had of its own accord cancelled the leave on the park.

The resolution urging that major league clubs train in towns having franchises in some minor league has been good. During the coming season, when a large percentage of the big leaguers will train in towns that do not have league ball at all. For instance, the Dodgers so to Daytona, Fla. The Phillies to St. Petersburg, the Cubs to Tampa, the Red Sox and Pirates to Hot Springs, Detroit to Gulfport and the White Sox to Pass Robles, Cal. Neither of these clubs have any help at all in minor league clubs in their training grounds. Whereas a training in a minor league city is quite a boost for the town and also helps interest in baseball. The commission would do well to give Corish's request full consideration.

Perry Matched To Meet Hanlon

Pittsburg Welter Will Box Local Boy at Bijou on the Night of February 9

Joe Hanlon, who has taken a hand in promoting boxing contests during the past few weeks, has announced the principle in his next card to be offered the followers of boxing. Eddie Hanlon, the local scrapper, and Jimmy Perry, who has boxed here on numerous occasions before, will be brought together on the night of February 9 at the Bijou.

Hanlon and Perry have mixed it twice before, and each holds one knock-out as a result of the two fights. On the occasion of their first meeting, Hanlon slipped the local sporting fraternity a surprise by showing over a "kay" early in the fray. The two were matched a short time after that, and Perry came back with a sleep punch in the eighth frame.

Hanlon has been boxing recently before the Birmingham Athletic club, and his work in Glasgow created very favorable comment. Perry has been in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh for several months, and has been doing quite a bit of boxing.

Hanlon is here at present and Perry is expected to arrive in a few days. There is no love lost between the pair, as their clash should prove a bang-up affair.

Manot vs. Dundee

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—Johnny Dundee and Joseph Manot were matched yesterday to box twenty rounds here in New Orleans, February 14. The match was made to fill a date set for a meeting between Manot and Ad Wolgast, which was broken last week.

B.A.C. Quintet Here Saturday

A return engagement between the Atlanta Athletic club and the Birmingham Athletic club will be the next big feature of the local basketball season. These two teams will clash Saturday night in the local gym, for their second and last game of the season. Two weeks ago, the Atlanta team, led by the home defenders by a good healthy team. They expect to repeat the performance Saturday night.

However, the Birmingham team is not conceding a victory to the locals as far in advance. In fact they entertain hopes of making it a fifty-fifty affair in this second contest. Last season each team won on its home court. But this year the locals have the advantage, and they expect to grab off both games. The local team should be in excellent shape for the game, having accidents between now and Saturday night. Captain Williams Smith played in a part of the Auburn game Saturday night of the last week. This was his first appearance in the line-up since the game with Columbus three weeks ago. As soon as he gets back into his top form, the team should show more strength than it has any time before this season.

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—"Gunboat" Smith and Jim Flynn, aspirants for the heavyweight championship, are to box ten rounds here tonight, with no decision to be given. Opposition has been voiced by the Methodist Ministers' association. A personal investigator for the governor, J. L. Shear, state and game commission, reported he could find no legal obstacle to the match.
