WASHINGTON, March 1.—France and Great Britain served notice on the United States today that they would hold themselves at liberty to stop all shipping to and from Germany.

A communication outlining measures of reprisal on the part of the allies for the submarine warfare on merchant vessels was handed to the State department yesterday by the French and British ambassadors, who called upon the United States to state its position to the government.

Secretary Bryan promptly apprised President Wilson of the new move, but declined to make a statement. He said the nature of the step was not disclosed by the ambassadors, who informed the State department that they would make all announcements through the State department.

Since the first report from London that the allies had decided to hold up shipping to and from Germany, no action along that line has been expected here, but officials have refrained from expressing any opinion. Bryan has been urging the American government in recognition of the validity of the measures and in the text of the communication to be made had been carefully selected so as to be carefully observed by the submarine warfare on merchant vessels.

PASTORS INBURE REVIVAL AND SIGN ON TABERNACLE

Evangelical Ministers' Association Adopts Emphatic
Resolutions Monday

The sign "Get Right With God," and the Chapman-Alexander revival were unanimously endorsed by the Evangelical Ministers' Association, at its regular meeting yesterday morning in the First Baptist church.

The meeting, which was widely attended by the religious leaders of the city, was convened yesterday morning at 10 o'clock and the sign and the slogan were among the first to be adopted.

A committee, composed of Dr. Charles W. Daniel, pastor of the First Baptist church, Dr. John E. White, pastor of the Little pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, and Rev. Lyman E. Stoddard, pastor of the First Congregational church, recommended the resolution and Dr. Head read it to the association. Nothing was said in opposition to the sign and the slogan but Daniel then arose and declared that "We have endorsed it," he declared,
"and we ought to say it."

The resolutions were unanimously adopted, and the association passed a motion to have the sign and the slogan placed on the tabernacle.

Dr. Daniel then arose and declared
that "We have endorsed it," he declared,
"and we ought to say it."

THE BACKBONE OF WINTER IS NOW ALL BUT BUSTED

Spring Will Be Here In Few Days, Says Weather
Man

The weather man gathered his strength Monday and prepared for the attack on the backbone of winter, he declared. As he stood in a forest of Such signs, coming on the first day of

NEW GRAND JURORS ARE WARNED NOT TO TALK

Testimony of Witnesses Must Not Be Divulged, Says
Judge Hill

Judge Ben H. Hill, of Fulton superior court, in swearing in the March 1 grand jury Monday morning, called their particular attention to the fact that they take the oath relating to the secrecy of grand jury matters and cautioned them particularly against divulging the testimony of any witness.

The judge said he made this statement because the grand jury oath had recently been misconstrued by a member of the bar who, he thought, might be tempted to divulge the secret of the grand jury, but misconstrued nevertheless, and he wanted to guard against a recurrence of such a misconception.

Although the judge did not mention the name of the grand juror in question, it was generally understood in the court room that he was Mr. Hirsch, a member of the grand jury which returned indictments against Dean L. Dorey, the attorney for Frank Thurman for subversion of perjury in the Frank case.

"I want to remind you," said Judge Hill to the jury, "that your deliberations and contemplated action are to be kept inviolate and secret. No grand jury should divulge the deliberations and witness, the language of the solicitor, or the language of any fellow juror."

That the testimony of the grand jury's oath has recently been misconstrued by a member of the grand jury, and that the judge did not misconstrue nevertheless, he divulged the testimony of certain witnesses to the court, and the names of the witnesses were indicated. His interpretation of the oath, as he stated, was that it did not prohibit the testimony of witnesses to more than the grand jury.

VIOLATIONS OF OATH.

"The grand jury," he continued, "on the motion of the other members of the jury, has the right to require the testimony of a witness in the jury room. To divulge the testimony of a witness in the jury room, or to pay cash in the case I refer to, the oath was violated, not intentionally, but violated just the same. What transpired in the jury room is sacred, and not to be divulged except as a sworn witness in open court. The reason for the oath in the case referred to because he did not believe it was lawful or constitutional that the oath be taken, the court wishes to stress upon you the strict interpretation of the oath in order that you may be clear in your understanding of it."

In the case of Mr. Hirsch, he was a member of the defense, which returned true bills against Leedom, Tedder and Thurman on the charge of subversion of justice. The defense attorney, Arthur G. Powell, leading counsel for the defendants, called attention to the fact that the defense of the Leedom and R. L. Barber before the jury, which included Mr. Hirsch, was the cause present to the trial jury for the purpose of showing that the grand jury was not impressed with the strength of the defense of Leedom, Tedder and Thurman, and only returned true bills to satisfy Leedom, Dorey, and the grand jury.

Mr. Hirsch, when put on the stand as a witness for the defense, was asked by his attorney, Mr. Dorey, if he had been scored by Solicitor Dorey on cross-examination for what the solicitor insisted was a violation of his oath, replied to the question, "No, I did not, but my own attorneys as to the interpretation of the oath and was satisfied it did

WOMEN AROUSE INTEREST IN EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

Committee in Charge of the Movement Makes Substantial Progress

The committee of Atlanta women who are endeavoring to raise money to open an employment bureau for Atlanta women out of work are making substantial progress.

Mrs. Beaumont Davison, chairman of the committee, stated Monday that one thousand dollars had been raised, and subscriptions of $10 each have already been received.

The sum they want is $1,000.

Wednesday afternoon, a general meeting was held in the Candler Hall to rally to launch an active canvas for raising the balance of the needed amount, which the secretary of state, that now women have to take cut each year, and that these numbers shall cost $5 each. Secretary of State Philip Cook, Monday morning called a decision by the United States supreme court which holds that the individual states have authority to prescribe regulations for the operation of employment bureaus.

Not only have a number of individual owners of automobile questions the constitutionality of the state law, but it has been indirectly brought to the attention of the secretary of state in the event one of its members is prosecuted for not having registered his machine.

McCumber, attorney for the state, in his defense of the bill, argued that the automobile owners in Savannah and America do not believe the law valid.

In fact, information has reached the secretary of state that the Automobile Club of America proposes to sue the state for an injunction.

The garments will be sold and the proceeds used to purchase more materials and pay for more sewing. Families with sewing to be done can give their time to the bureau, and those filled to measure, just as a tailor cuts and makes clothes to measure.

When the bureau is well under way it will be devoted to the work of providing clothing to the poor, and clothing received from people asked to aid in its establishment will be used to the best advantage.

Mrs. Davison said the bureau will be in a very hand the amount they need to be divested of the new, and not to be divided except as a sworn witness in open court.

VIOLATIONS OF OATH.

AUTOMOBILE LICENSE LAW IS BACKED BY THE COURTS

Secretary of State Cites Decision for Benefit of Those Who Question It.

For the benefit of a number of automobile owners in various sections of the state who have written him questioning the constitutionality of Georgia law which requires motor-vehicle registration, the secretary of state, that now women have to take cut each year, and that these numbers shall cost $5 each, Secretary of State Philip Cook, Monday morning called a decision by the United States supreme court which holds that the individual states have authority to prescribe regulations for the operation of employment bureaus.

Powell, leading counsel for the defendants, called attention to the fact that the defense of the Leedom and R. L. Barber before the jury, which included Mr. Hirsch, was the cause present to the trial jury for the purpose of showing that the grand jury was not impressed with the strength of the defense of Leedom, Tedder and Thurman, and only returned true bills to satisfy Leedom, Dorey, and the grand jury.

Mr. Hirsch, when put on the stand as a witness for the defense, was asked by his attorney, Mr. Dorey, if he had been scored by Solicitor Dorey on cross-examination for what the solicitor insisted was a violation of his oath, replied to the question, "No, I did not, but my own attorneys as to the interpretation of the oath and was satisfied it did

Mrs. Lamar Rucker Writes Interesting Article

The interesting interview with Mrs. Lucien Cooke of Roanoke, Va., former of this city which appeared in the Atlanta Journal, was written by Mrs. Lamar Cobb Rucker, of Athens, a Miss Nellie Cook, Mrs. Rucker's twin sister, who wrote the article in the journal of the famous old plantation homes of Georgia. The spirit of the old south is preserved in the quiet, old gardens and quiet surroundings which are still preserved in many of the colonial homes of Georgia. The author of these articles, with an abiding charm.

Among the homes described and illustrated in the series are those of the author, the famous Carter plantation near Carters and Ross Hill, the beautiful home of Mrs. Rucker. A few more articles will make the series complete and when finished the collection will be issued in book form. Mrs. Rucker has written several clever and interesting articles to the leading northern magazines which have been well received.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooke spent several days in the past week in Athens en route to the south. They were received with delightful hospitality during their stay. The fact that Athens has made the very best impression on them is surely to be published will lend an added interest to this new novel of Southern life.

Neighborhood Teas

The ward teas of the Fulton and DeKalb counties branch were held yesterday. Mrs. W. E. Foster, of Peachtree Street, Mrs. Frank Fitten, on Thirteenth street, and Mrs. Malcolm Turner, of Peachtree Street. The teas were well attended. Mrs. Frank Fitten talked interestingly about the work which is being done in Atlanta. Mrs. W. E. Foster, Mrs. Frank Mitchell, from Portland, Ore., also spoke. At Mrs. Turner's tea Miss Marguerite Beeson and Mr. Paul Johnson rendered charmingly one of the latest ditties.

SAYS WIFE IS BIGAMIST IN SUIT FOR ANNULMENT

S. B. Alexander Says Woman Married Him Before Divorcing Fourth Husband

In a suit filed Monday in superior court seeking to annul a marriage entered into July 18, 1912, S. B. Alexander, thirty years old, 65 South Howard street, Kirkwood, Georgia, who says he was Mrs. Anna Lois Alexander, wife of a former circus chariot racer, was married to C. C. Boyd at the time of her marriage to him.

Alexander alleged that Mrs. Alexander seemed to have failed to overcome the marks of record of King Henry the Eighth; before she had been married four times before she married him; or three four previous husbands, he states that she had been married to him the fourth was still her husband at the time of her marriage to him.

Mrs. Anna Lois Alexander, thirty years old, vehemently denies that C. C. Boyd, the husband in question, was also her fourth husband. Alexander exhibited a letter from L. Boyd, brother of C. C. Boyd, dated June 6, 1912, in which the Rev. L. Boyd, a Methodist minister, said that Boyd, his wife, and his son, C. C. Boyd, were chariot racers in the Ringling circus. Boyd says his wife was killed in a race at the Ringling circus.

"Boyd was dead over a month before I married Alexander on July 18, 1912," said Mrs. Alexander. "My marriage was perfectly valid."

Mrs. Alexander admits her first marriage to J. E. Segrist, in 1898. She was then nineteen years old. She and Segrist were divorced in Birmingham, September 19, 1904.

ALLEGES MURDERING MARTIN

Mrs. Alexander admits marrying H. P. Martin in 1907 in Nashville, Tennessee, and that his body lies in Greenwood cemetery.

Says she never married any one but the man after Martin's death. She married C. C. Boyd, the circus chariot racer, in Atlanta on June 6, 1912. Boyd, who was a chariot racer for months at a time, was killed in a chariot race in Waycross on the second anniversary of his wedding, June 6, 1912.

Six weeks later, Mrs. Alexander married C. C. Boyd in Atlanta. Alexander, in regard to De Martino, says: "The said Martin having departed this life, I married him again to De Martino. On this last mentioned venture, the defendant divorced De Martino, whereupon she deemed it advisable to leave him. She then learned that of her last husband, and she married C. C. Boyd under the name of Martin."

"On June 16, 1912, under the name of Boyd, she filed a suit for divorce against C. C. Boyd, and before the suit was determined, she married the plaintiff (Alexander)."

Alexander claims that her wife's original maiden name was Miss Annie Lois Wilson.

Mrs. Beatrice Segrist, the pretty daughter of Mrs. Alexander, with blue eyes and golden brown hair, became interested in the case. She has alleged his marriage to her mother was not legal.

"It is a good thing for him I can't see him at this instant," she said. "I'd scratch his eyes out. It's a lie. Boyd was dead when my mother married him, and I'm sure he is."

Hendrie & Silverman are attorneys for Alexander.

BOARD ACTED WITHOUT AUTHORITY SAYS MASON

Fight to Abolish Normal Training School Now Seems Certain

Mayor Woodward has received from City Attorney Mason a written opinion to the effect that the action of the board in this case was illegal.

The board, in its opinion, made no further fight on the school until the expiration of the present term, the opinion of the city attorney, meaning that fight to abolish, the institution is then certain.

HEAVY SENTENCE PASSED ON NEGRO BLIND TIGER

Recorder Johnson Monday passed the heaviest sentence given by him since he became recorder. When he gave Ed Heywood, soldier, the choice of paying $100 fine or spending thirty days in the stockade.

Heywood was accused of being a blind tiger. Officer Steve Felder had arrested him, colored, 1721 Gilmer street, Sunday, six days past, for $1000, but in court it developed that the "white" was Heywood's property.

Heywood was given a severe sentence since becoming a repeat offender, but never one where the $100 was also used.

ATLANTA RECORD BEATS RICHMOND AND DALLAS

Or the $22,900,000 of emergency currency issued since last August in the sixth district, which includes the territory of Georgia, South Carolina, and Florida, $20,000,000, or 89.1 per cent, was issued, according to Governor Joseph A. McCall of the reserve bank, who says that this record beats either Richmond or Dallas.

Mr. McCord also said that the $7,000,000 of emergency currency issued by the National Currency Association of Georgia, only $1,265,729 had not been received.

GREER IS BROUGHT BACK TO FACE FORGERY CHARGE

Charged with forging the name of J. A. Reed, his son-in-law, to a check for $100,000, he was brought from Mangum, Okla., Sunday night, to DeKalb county, Georgia, Broxton.

Greer is held on an arrest bond of $100,000 for trial in the superior court.

WAR MEANS PROSPERITY FOR U. S., SAYS AUTO MAN

Europe Using More War Goods Than She Can Supply, He Says

Declaring the war in Europe will usher in a era of unprecedented prosperity in America because of the needs of the belligerent countries for American goods, Fred S. Fish, president of the Atlanta Automobile Association of Automobiles, houses, wagons, buggies, and secretary of the Lamb-Fish lumber company, and officer in one of the dozen of largest industries in the country, paid a short visit to Atlanta Monday, en route from Florida to Australia.

Mr. Fish has recently returned from a trip to London, where he closed an order for $15,000,000 worth of his first car.

He accordingly asks for the recovery of that sum, for the delivery of $1,000,000 which he will loan to the removal of accident rental contracts.

Mr. Fish also claims the life insurance business; a sum for office rent: $5,000 because of the alleged damage to his office. He will be back to Atlanta after March 4 at which time he will become eligible for the position.

Declaring that the products of the mills and factories of Europe and their stock on hand will be used up in a short time, he said: "We must expand faster than they can possibly be supplied. They are nearing their end and we must expand to meet the demand of the other supplies in the United States. This was evinced during the last few days in Paris. From a depression immediately after war started, business began to pick up, and with the end of 1914 we had an increase of $100,000,000. We shall be far beyond that in 1915."

Mr. Fish, while master of many industries, is not master of all. From him, from pretensions of any kind. Most of his money he has made in the manufacture of automobiles and in lumber operations throughout the Mississippi delta.

STRIKERS IN ENGINEERING PLANT GO BACK TO WORK

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, March 1.—Many of the striking laborers at the Clyde Engineering Works resumed work today in accordance with an agreement reached with the government. The strike threatened to interfere seriously with supplies of material to the British war effort in the field. It is expected confidently all the strikers will be back at work by Wednesday.

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her Life and Sanity.

Shamrock, Mo.—"I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using your medicine. I had a bad cold, a sore throat, a headache, tension and congestion, female weakness, pains in both sides, backache and bearing down pains, was full of misery, nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights, and had neither strength nor energy. There was also a fear and dread in my mind, and I suffered from weak spells, but flashes over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never thought to myself, 'I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I certainly would have been in grave or in an asylum if your medicine had not relieved me.' I have been taking it every day, and at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells. All pains, aches, fears and dreads are gone, my house, children and husband are no longer neglected, as I am almost always at home with them. I am able to take my remedies, and all is pleasure and happiness in my home."

One dry Sunday, however, doesn't make a dry week.

Why shouldn't the war begin in the spring? They haven't a baseball season over there.

February has gone. Now look for gradually warmer conditions, with hot weather along in June or July.

Coming Cattle Shows.

The exhibitions and sales of high-grade cattle to be conducted at various points in Georgia this spring, beginning at Atlanta on April the fifteenth, should do much to encourage the raising of livestock at a time when that industry is of peculiar importance to Southern agriculture.

Interested in this enterprise are the State Chamber of Commerce, the federal Bureau of Animal Husbandry and a number of livestock agencies such as the National Hereford Cattle Association. By co-operating with these leaders, the commercial and agricultural bodies of Georgia counties can make the forthcoming exhibitions of substantial value to their respective communities.

Always a matter of far-reaching importance, animal husbandry is now a vital necessity in Georgia and other cotton States. Our own Commonwealth is spending vast sums of money for imported meat supplies which could be produced easily and cheaply at home. Every movement to remedy this situation merits hearty encouragement.

We shall see shortly whether the college graduate can make good in organized baseball.

The newest peace organization might also include for settlement some of the civil war in Africa.

We don't know anything about the Dardanelles, but all means let them be opened up. The Turks have had them long enough, anyhow.

For Public Safety.

The Public Safety committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce has undertaken the very important service of educating the people to a keener sense of the danger in walking on railroad tracks. Every business and civic organization in the State should support this undertaking, to the end that needful laws may be enacted and enforced.

In the United States, from the year 1901 to 1910, more than fifty thousand persons were killed and more than fifty-three thousand were injured as a result of trespassing on railways—an average of nearly twelve thousand casualties a year, or nearly one thousand a month. The idea that most of these deaths or injuries befall tramps is erroneous. A special investigation has shown that of one thousand persons killed on railroad tracks in the course of a year, five hundred and ninety-eight were self-supporting, three hundred and twelve were laborers, two hundred and seventy-three left dependent wives and children; and included in the list were merchants, clergymen, salesmen, teachers, students, chemists, musicians, engineers, farm hands, lumbermen, miners, and men of sundry other trades and professions. It is not merely, or chiefly, shiftless wanderers, but also valiant citizens who are maimed or killed in the dangerous practice of walking on railroad tracks; and among children, the toll is peculiarly distressing.

That this grievous sacrifice of life can be prevented by adequate, firmly enforced laws is evident when we compare the record of the United States with that of European countries. In England, for example, only five thousand, four hundred and seventy-nine persons were killed and injured on railway tracks during the period in which one hundred and three thousand, four hundred and fifty-two were killed and injured in this country. The amazing difference is due to the fact that England trespasses upon railroad property are forbidden by law and are consistently punished, while in this country only thirteen States have any such law, and in many of those it is indifferently enforced.

Public welfare demands that this tragic carelessness be checked. The committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce wisely that the first step to that end should be a campaign of education to arouse the public's thought and conscience. That effected, the needful laws and their enforcement will naturally follow. It is to be hoped that boards of trade, civic organizations and women's clubs throughout Georgia will take up this important work and carry it to success.

A man's temper may improve with disease.

Blessed is he who keeps his troubles to himself.

It's sometimes easier to settle down than it is to settle up.

Lloyd-George threatens to enforce a little prohibition in England, too. "But it will be moderate," says George, thus assuring the country that it shan't be Russified at this stage of the game.

No Extra Session.

It now seems that there will be no extra session of congress, and certainly there ought not to be. If the appropriation bills are passed by March the fourth, other measures, important though they are, may well be deferred in order that the country may have a season of needed repose.

The present Congress has been in session almost continuously for two years. It has to its credit the greatest program of useful legislation ever enacted within that length of time. It has readjusted the tariff to interests and rights of the rank and file; it has re-established the banking and currency system on a basis of economic freedom and security; it has transformed the government from an instrument of special privilege to an instrument of public service; it has put down old abuses and released new opportunities; it has redeemed virtually every pledge of the Democratic party. Its record is one with which the country is well satisfied and on which the Administration may well rest its claim for continued support.

The very fact, however, that the last two years have been so crowded with legislative activity and results makes it especially important that the country now have a period of legislative quiet. Business has not been harmed, but undoubtedly it has been kept in anxiety. Its nerves are on edge. It longs for an interlude of rest, a chance to turn its thought to wholesome commonplace.

It is to be hoped, therefore, that after March the fourth Congress will go home and stay home at least until next autumn. Should the necessity for an extra session arise before the regular December session, it can be called. In the meantime, the country needs, as President Cleveland once said, "rest and peace and reassurance."

True wisdom never thinks itself wiser than it really is.

The Russians also have better fighting ability on home soil.

Cotton Shipments by the Canal.

The first cargo of cotton to pass through the Panama canal was bound from Galveston for Yokohama. By using the canal instead of rounding the Horn, the vessel saved many days and more than five thousand dollars. How assuring and prophetic for the South! The markets of the Orient are thousands of miles nearer that they were and to all the world, but it means most to the South.

On her return voyage, the same vessel passed through the canal with a cargo of wheat from Seattle for Liverpool. In this instance, it is estimated, she will save some twenty-three days at sea and more than a thousand dollars. In the course of a year's shipping, these economies will mount far into the millions. They will stimulate commerce and will be profitable eventually to producers as well as to merchants.

The Panama canal opened in the shadow of the European war, so that its earnings are as yet comparatively small and its traffic greatly reduced. Despite obstacles, however, its usefulness is proved. Its tolls have steadily increased from month to month, and its splendid promise waits only upon the ending of the world war. Already it has been the means of establishing new trade routes between the United States and the Orient, notably between New York and Vladivostok; and it has stirred the South to particular interest in the possibilities of trade with the western markets of Latin America.

The opportunities offered by this great waterway are unlimited. It remains only for enterprise to grasp and use them.

In the spring of the year, the thoughts of the allies will turn to war—war in earnest.

The old-fashioned man who used to refer to the fighting of the "alleys" has caught on at last. It is a long war and it is teaching us many things.

Editorial Echoes

In dealing with the problems of the next twenty-five years, the trained mind and the expert in every line will be needed to produce efficiency and economy; but, at the same time, the technical expert must not lose sight of the broader questions of business as a whole and of the relations of the government to all business. So we need the technical man and the hard-headed economist to do the work of the world, to produce a sane public opinion and to furnish public servants of good sense and good experience, because the government is touching our daily lives in so many places.—Howard Elliott, Chairman New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

Our work is life!

We yearn for wings
To lift, and soar,
Our telling brings

The vision of things,
The widening beauty widening more

As further through each day we tread
Above the dust of double grown dead.

What'er my work, that is my life—
Forget the strife,
Forget what seem
The endless cares—
So onward fares

The soul to light,
The heart to dream!

We cry for life—
Our work is life!

We yearn for wings
To lift, and soar,
Our telling brings

The vision of things,
The widening beauty widening more

As further through each day we tread
Above the dust of double grown dead.

What'er my work, that is my life—
Forget the strife,
Forget what seem
The endless cares—
So onward fares

The soul to light,
The heart to dream!

THREE SERVICES HELD AT TABERNACLE SUNDAY

Tremendous Audiences Thrilled
by Powerful Sermons
of Dr. Chapman

Three times Sunday the Tabernacle was filled with an evening service for men only, and at afternoon and night services, at which the services were thrilling, the strong sermons of Dr. W. W. Chapman and the singing of the choir, led by Charles A. Anderson.

Men came at 7:30 o'clock at night. At both the afternoon and afternoon services Sunday attention was given to the one hundredth anniversary of peace between Great Britain and the United States, which was signed at the treaty of Ghent, which ended the War of 1812.

Dr. Chapman, in the morning service, called on the vast audience of men to repeat not only for another hundred years, but for another hundred years, but for peace and the banishment of war throughout the world. As one man the audience responded, "Yes, we the people, who would prefer world-wide peace."

Again, in the afternoon, Dr. J. J. Hall, secretary of the Georgia Peace Society, offered prayers for the establishment of world-wide peace.

From many of the city's Sunday schools marched in a body to the morning services, headed by bands from Georgia, the Atlanta Girls' Military Academy, playing "Forward, Christian Soldiers." The morning session of the Tabernacle, "The Lamb and the Whirlwind," and at its conclusion over 300 marched down the aisle and sang the avowal of the church, signifying their intention of leading a better life.

In the afternoon and at night more still than in the eloquence of the preaching and the wonderful singing of the choir, led by Mr. Alexander, the audience of men, who were the greatest number yet reached by the revival in twenty-four hours.

The Rev. Dr. Chapman, who was on the subject of God's power to change the hearts of men, "You Must Be Born Again," emphasized the necessity of a real change of heart before man can do his work as a Christian.

BIG CHARITY BAZAR TO OPEN TUESDAY NOON

Interest Grows in the Election of Queen of Mardi
Gras

At noon Tuesday the big five-day charity bazaar given under the auspices of the Atlanta Society for the benefit of the Home of the Friendless, Home for Incurables and Children's Home society, will open in the auditoriums of the Tabernacle until the Grand Mardi Gras day, the booths will be open to the public from noon each day to 10 o'clock at night, and each afternoon and evening there will be special high-class vaudeville by artists of the first rank, comedians, clowns, and about every other kind of amusement that could be devised to make the bazaar a genuine dyed-in-the-wool entertainment for young people.

The opening day has been set aside as "governor's day," and Governor Slaton and other dignitaries have promised to attend.

Interest in the election of queen of Mardi Gras is a certainty, and Atlanta girls may enter, as an increase Monday and friends of the candidates are invited to the ballroom to land the "royal barge" and the $100 diamond ring that will be given.

Monday morning at 10 o'clock the six jets that will feature the bazaar gave a show to the convicts at the federal penitentiary, and the convicts were to entertain the inmates of the Home for Incurables in the same manner.

MAN SICK TWO YEARS
TRIES TO END HIS LIFE

Sick for over two years from intestinal disease, Dr. D. B. Mathews, aged fifty years, of 110 Peachtree Street, tried to cut his throat with a penknife, and is now at the Grady hospital, where he is recovering.

Mr. Mathews was sitting in the front hall of his home, 331 Piedmont Avenue, when Dr. H. A. Stoddard, his wife, who was reading to him to quiet his nerves, Mrs. Mathews said he grabbed her and said, "I am going to kill myself before she was aware of his intention. The Grady hospital was called, and Mr. Mathews was found lying in a chair, prostrate, bleeding profusely.

TOO MUCH 'HOME TALENT' NOT GOOD FOR SCHOOLS

"No Greater Misfortune Can Come to System," Says

Education Bureau

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 1.—This city may have too much "home talent" in its teaching force, as a result of preference for home girls from the teacher-training school, according to a statement by the federal bureau of education.

"No greater misfortune can come to the school system than to have a steady increase in the number of the state-trained teachers," said Dr. W. W. Chapman, and the singing of the choir, led by Charles A. Anderson.

Meeting at 7:30 o'clock at night.

Both Men Probably Will Be Arraigned Tuesday on Dynamiting Charges

Los Angeles, March 1.—David Caplan and Harry S. Baker were indicted for murder in connection with the destruction of the Times building in 1910. Both defendants were arraigned, according to them by Anton Schindler, general organizer of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America. Appel expects to associate with himself other attorneys to represent the trial of the McGinnis brothers.

Caplan, who was indicted from New Orleans, and Caplan and Schmidt, who was extradited from New York, have not been allowed since their arrival here to have either to meet or talk with their attorney or talk with each other.

Both probably will be arraigned tomorrow on the charges, indictments returned against them.

LIVE STOCK ARE BURNED
WHEN BARN IS DESTROYED

Fire at Farm of W. H. Baker
Is Believed of Incendiary
Origin

Four cows, two miles and four goats were burned to death early Monday morning that destroyed a barn on the farm of W. H. Baker, on the Brown's Mill road, one mile beyond Lakewood, last night. The barn, not far from the house, was not far from the barn, was burned, but the wind shifted and it did not burn.

A son of Mr. Baker discovered the fire and called the fire department. At first attempts to put out the flames were fruitless, as could the live stock be saved. The fire was extinguished, but the barn was not far from the house, was burned, but the wind shifted and it did not burn.

County Policemen Carl C. Hearn and R. P. Jordan are investigating to see if one who had a grudge against Mr. Baker.

B. Smith Starts Work at Ponce

Force of Prisoners Engaged in Clearing Away Wreckage Left by Construction Work

Proceeding his annual inspection of all state prisons and other institutions, the director of the early spring days, Manager Bill Smith this morning equipped a force at hand with pick, shovel, scraper et cetera, and wended his way to Ponce de Leon to give the old, hard and gentle masses in the charge of the State a coat of the incide, and smooth down the wrinkled places in the outer surfaces before the split-hoof hounds began to arrive here next week.

The director is boasting a bunch of prisoners who have been turned over to him by the county construction department for a period of one week to put the park in condition for practice when the sun comes out again.

When the sun starts turning over again, the boys will be bolting old to the Ponce de Leon, the sun-making ability of the Detroit club will be sufficient to keep the Jennings line-up around second place.

Detroit Alex. Undoubtedly, if young Mr. and Mrs. Jennings are to be given a chance to sun themselves, the sun-making ability of the Detroit club will be sufficient to keep the Jennings line-up around second place.

DETROIT, Mich.—The Red Sox are boasting a well known ball player yesterday about the 1915 future of the Red Sox. "Don't you know?" we asked, "that Carrigan's club should finish in front?"

"Easy," he replied. "If they hustle one-half as hard as the Braves did last year, but no harder, then you just wait a minute and you'll see them up there playing baseball. And I never heard anybody last year accusing the Red Sox of strafing themselves."

WILLARD AND JOHNSON. Sooner or later, if not a bit before, Jack Johnson and Jess Willard must engage in a personal debate as to which deserves the lone camp stool on top of the heavyweight hill.

Their little war, long since the Mexican border was a good thing for the two fighters, even though it led to no immediate battle.

The main roar over the Willard-Johnson fight was Willard's lack of preparation for such event.

Johnson hadn't done any more than Willard for a year or two, but the Zulu warrior had done his best to make his prepared expert for his contemplated White Hope. Now, if Willard could sandwich in one good battle against some first-class competitor, he would be a long way nearer the championship zone.

PHANTOM ECHOES. What's that? I thought I heard somebody yell out—"Safe at third?"

And I could swear somebody cried—"Slide—you marble turt—slide!"

THE SIZE OF THE CUP. Many of those comments upon enlarging the size of the cup in golf write as if the cup was always the same size.

No falcon could be more foolish. We have putted on some days when the cup must have been fourteen inches across. And on other days when it could not possibly be more than an inch and a quarter—large enough to enclose a small marble.

EDDIE MABAN has gone out for the Harvard baseball squad. He'll be a tough man to tax in broken field, barring the use of a net.

FORCED MARCHES. There is also a slip on the short side of the start in burning bridge, but you be sure that you can swim.

There are a number of them that has 482 in theory which couldn't hit for .678-8 up against the rest.

The Princeton hockey team can sympathize deeply and keenly with Connie Mack in losing an aide by the name of Baker.

WESTWARD the star of empire takes its way," wrote the poet, who had evidently not looked into the baseball status involving the Red Sox and the Braves. Or perhaps he was merely a lawn tennis fan.

MCGRAW'S TASK. When John J. McGraw started his Giant party for Martin it was the first time since 1910 that his job was not built around the effort of defending the top. Having been displaced, there is now an added incentive to get back, for the top never looks so good when it is held by some other entry.

McGraw ended the long Giant drouth that extended from 1905 through 1910 just four years ago. Winning a pennant was soon taken as a matter of course. So when the shock came last August as the Giants invaded Manhattan, John J. McGraw was not through three days of warfare, general interest was imparted again to the Giant campaigns as well as the rest of the league's flag affairs.

PLACING OF EMBARGO ON COTTON CAUSED DECLINE

Market in New York Closed Down to 8 Points From Previous Close

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, March 1.—Cotton was unsettled in New York yesterday, the market showing considerable uncertainty as to the effect of the placing of an embargo on the export of cotton. For some time past, however, the market has been in a state of anticipation of such a development, and today's fluctuation marks a comparatively sharp change. The market was steady at a point or two over Saturday's figure, but then fell to 8 points below.

Liverpool became a seller here shortly after the market closed, and the market opened and closed off to a net loss of 8 points, or 2 points during the entire transaction. Liquidation of the market was not complete, and prices here stepped up to about Saturday's figure. The market was steady, but the heavy exports of the British blockade amounted to the extent of the exchange that a number of points went in the market only to be taken out again. Prices rallied with active money selling 7 to 10 points, and the market was steady. The market, however, stated that the embargo would not affect the market, as it may have followed around 2 o'clock yesterday, but the market was steady.

NEW ORLEANS, March 1.—Cotton lost 3 to 5 points yesterday, the market being steady on moderate selling, stimulated by the uncertainty of the new federal law. The market, however, is steady.

The market closed down in the market, the market having been steady for the past two months went a point over Saturday's figure.

In the afternoon, conflicting reports regarded the new law put to a net advance of 4 to 5 points and that in the net decline of 5 to 6 points.
