Russians Win Important Victory Over Austrians in Beskids Mountains. This Is Admitted by Vienna

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, April 6.—Loss of another member of the allied fleet attacking the Dardanelles is reported from Athens, by way of Berlin. The British battleship Lord Nelson is said to have been stranded in the straits, and then destroyed by the Turkish forts.
A German submarine sank the British steamer Olive off the Isle of Wight yesterday. The Russian vessel whose sinking was made known last night was identified today as the bark Hermes. Both crews escaped.

Notwithstanding official denials, it is believed in Rome that there is a basis for the report that Turkey and possibly Austria are considering initiation of peace negotiations. Significance is attached to the presence in Switzerland of Djavid Pasha, Turkish minister of finance. Rome dispatches say his denial that he is on a peace mission should not be regarded too seriously. An official statement from the Turkish war office says the Turkish sunk two Russian ships on the Black sea near Odessa. It is said also that a mine sweeper which attempted to approach the entrance to the Dardanelles was destroyed.

Nish at 228 men killed or wounded. The Bulgarian force, it is said, amounted to about one and one-half regiments.

Austrian forces in the Balkans have been compelled to retreat. Vienna has given no indication of the status of affairs along that section of the Hungarian frontier. There is as yet no inseriously with invasion. The Russian war office not only claims a great success in the Beskids, but asserts definite advantages have been gained over the Germans in northern Poland.

In spite of various official denials from the belligerent nations that negotiations steps have been taken to conclude peace especially by Austria and Turkey without consulting Germany, the report of Djavid Pasha, Turkish minister of finance, who now is in Switzerland.

It is pointed out that Djavid Pash was one of the first Turkish envoys to undertake at Ouchy, Switzerland, the conclusion of an Italo-Turkish peace and that he conducted his preliminary negotiations by roundabout method through neutral diplomats. While he has denied emphatically that he is at present engaged in a similar mission, it is considered here that this denial should not be taken too seriously because he scarcely could admit at this time that his government seeks a cessation of hostilities. Similar denials were made by him when he first undertook the task of bringing about an agreement between

CONCERT WILL BE GIVEN TO AID WAR SUFFERERS

Scottish Association Will Give Benefit in Hotel Ansley Wednesday Evening

A benefit concert and dance in aid of the war fund for Scottish widows and orphans will be given under the auspices of the Atlanta Scottish association at the Hotel Ansley on Wednesday evening next at 8 o'clock.

The number of tickets already sold indicates that there will be a large attendance and that a substantial sum will be raised. Scottish songs, readings and character sketches will make up the program and dancing will start at 10 o'clock and continue until midnight.

Miss Betty Devereux of Decatur, and Dr. A. B. Smellie will demonstrate a feature dance and among others singing part there will be Miss Mrs. Toland, Miss Liddell, Miss Onda Thayer, Robert Henderson, Mrs. W. H. McAlpine, Master Willie McAlpine, A. Girard Thayer.

A feature of the evening will be the original sketch, "A Night with the Macgregors," introducing Scotch songs and dances by the Baltimore company, assisted by Jimmie Liddell and others. Arthur A. Crail is chief of the association and other officers are Robert

AUDITORIUM'S LIGHTS BEING CHANGED FOR OPERA

Casuso's artistic temperament suffered a severe shock last year because the lights over his little auditorium couldn't be turned off and he was forced to play a dark scene in the light.

The city and the Music Festival association are combining forces this year to stand against any such mishap. The lights in the auditorium are being changed, under the supervision of City Electrician R. C. Turner, to an improved type of lights, which, combined in three clusters, will have 15,000 candle power. The city and the Music Festival association share the expense.

JUDGE ATKINSON WILL BE MEMORIAL DAY ORATOR

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ADLER, Ga., April 5.—Memorial day will be observed in Adel this year with appropriate ceremonies. Judge Spencer H. Atkinson, of Atlanta, former justice of the supreme court, will deliver the address of the occasion and a splendid program will be rendered by pupils of the school.

M. McWhirter, first lieutenant Dr. John Ouman, second lieutenant R. J. MacDonald, secretary; R. H. McDougald, treasurer; Harry Armstrong, chaplain, and Robert Murray, standard bearer.

MOTORCYCLISTS MAKE RUN FROM BIRMINGHAM

First Six Riders to Reach Atlanta Were on Harley-Davidsons

Leaving Birmingham at 6 o'clock Sunday morning, twenty-two of the twenty-four motorcycle riders in the endurance run to Atlanta, checked in at the Grady monument on schedule time and at 5 o'clock Monday morning started on the return ride.

The first six riders to reach the monument were mounted on Harley-Davidson and two more put in appearance soon after. Six of the machines were 1915 models, two of them 1914 models. Their good time excited considerable comment from the hundreds who saw them arrive.

The Harley-Davidson riders did not have to touch their machines from the time they left Birmingham until they reached Atlanta, save to renew a small amount of oil and gas. Nor had they been touched when the riders departed again Monday, confident of reaching Birmingham on time and winning the trophies.

Experts say the time of the run is an splendid testimonial of the development of motorcycle manufacturers to the point of perfection in building the "puttering" two-wheelers.

COMMITTEE ACCEPTS BID OF 37.9 OR CURBSTONES

The street committee of council Monday morning voted to accept the bid of $17.9 cents a foot for granite curbstones submitted by the Atlanta Mountain Granite company.

Recently the aldermanic board turned down the bid of $17 cents of the Southern Stone and the company, which had been accepted by the streets committee.

When new bids were taken, new specifications were made by the construction department and, according to members of the street committee the new specifications, call for an inferior kind of curbing. The Southern Stone and the company bid 46 cents on the new specifications. About ten miles of curbing will be used by the city.

DOG WRECKS AUTO, PASSENGERS UNHURT

A yellow dog ran into the Bull Sluice road Sunday afternoon, a speeding automobile hit the animal, skidded to the bank, turned over twice, and smashed into the bank again, a total wreck.

The three passengers, Joe McDaniel, driving, Everett Wright, of the Wright Brothers company, and John McDaniel, picked themselves up from the ground some distance away, frightened and

MINISTERS OF ATLANTA COMMEND DR. CHAPMAN

Resolutions Also Condemn the Modern Dance, Locker Clubs and Gambling

Resolutions commending Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, his teachings and all his doctrines, and the work of the Chapman-Alexander revival, recently closed in Atlanta, and condemning all forms of dissipation, the modern dance, locker clubs, gambling, and the like, were passed by the regular monthly meeting of the Evangelical Ministers' association of Atlanta, in session Monday morning.

The Evangelical Ministers' association also endorsed and fully commended the efforts of the Atlanta chamber of commerce in its efforts to clean up Atlanta, and make it a city beautiful.

The personal evangelistic campaign which the ministers of the city had pledged should follow the revival, was launched. Each denomination present pledged to work toward a certain goal in number of members secured into the church from now until June 1.

When they were caught under the car, there might have been a tragedy as it was so near to a busy street. The automobile was demolished. The yellow dog was dead.

DEAN ATKINSON SILENT ON DR. WHITE'S ATTACK

Dr. John R. Atkinson, dean of St. Philip's central, had nothing to say Sunday in reply to the attack on dancing delivered Sunday night by Dr. John L. White, pastor of the Baptist Tabernacle.

Some time ago Dr. Atkinson inaugurated a movement to establish a public dance hall in Atlanta, the same to be conducted under the direction and control of the municipal government and under the chaperonage of fathers and mothers of the community.

Dr. White in his sermon at the Tabernacle Sunday night made a severe attack on dancing in general and on Dean Atkinson's plan in particular. He denounced the Baptists, Methodists and Presbyterians of Atlanta do not want a public dance hall, and that the city government "shall never give the stamp of its approval on such an institution."

NO VERDICT RETURNED IN CASE OF MRS. M'BROOM

(By Associated Press.)

MOBILE, Ala., April 5.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Thomas M'Broom, the twenty-two-year-old Mobile woman charged with the murder of her husband, Rauben A. M'Broom, a well-known shoe merchant, was discharged this afternoon at 3:30, and a mistrial

ATLANTA ROTARY CLUB TO GIVE LUNCHEON TUESDAY

Bushel Baskets Will Be in Order for Souvenirs at the Hotel Ansley

The Atlanta Rotary club, "first annual spring shopping luncheon," as it is characterized, will be given Tuesday next at the Hotel Ansley. The time is 12 o'clock and the price "free will."

A distinguished feature of this luncheon will be the presence of the ladies—both the wives and the intended wives of the Rotarians.

Incidentally, there will be an address by Governor Clayton, and three five-minute talks to be delivered by Lefroy Duncan, Francis Morgan and J. Clark McMichael.

The ladies are reminded of the expense, which will consist of Brooks Morgan, from Irving Greaham; cakes from Frank Stone, candy from Brooks Morgan; brushes from Jimmie Hitch, to say nothing of souvenir packages from Earl Case, Francis Kramer and Eugene Hudson. Bushel baskets will be in order.

FEDERAL AID IN HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION DEMAND

Powerful Sentiment for Government Action Developed by Chattanooga Meeting

Federal aid for highway construction was a note sounded with ringing emphasis by the great Dixie highway conference at Chattanooga Saturday, and if the sentiment voiced by the states represented at that conference in other states, it will not be long before the national government, in response to an imperative public demand, will undertake the building and maintenance of a far-flung system of roads in the same way it has for years improved the rivers and harbors of the various states.

The conference was a wonderful demonstration of the interest of the people everywhere in taking in good roads. Expecting about 2,000 delegates, the treasury of the conference swells Saturday morning to find 5,000 enthusiastic good roads advocates camped in Chattanooga. They had come all the way from Chicago on the north to Miami on the south, and their spirit of intense interest coupled with the determined rivalry of the various constituent delegations furnished an abundant guarantee of the success of the highway project.

Conspicuous among them was Atlanta's delegation more than two strong representing the Fulton county government, and all of the civic bodies of the metropolitan area. The Atlanta delegation went to the conference prepared to offer whatever inducements would be necessary to bring the highway through this city. They found upon arrival in Chattanooga that Atlanta was a fixed point on the route, that every survey made by the state proposed came to a focus upon the city, and that no other city was contesting Atlanta's claim to the highway.

ATLANTIAN APPLAUD

Consequently the members of the Atlanta delegation were on easy street so far as a contest was concerned, and had nothing to do but advertise their city in the customary style with banners, folders, songs and Atlanta cheerleaders. They had the pick position in the parade on Saturday morning and were enthusiastically applauded all along the line of march. At the auditorium where they were held they were very promptly told of the informal preliminary charges they marched into the city and made a big hit with their songs and stunts.

The fixed points on the Dixie highway are, e. g., the points over which there are no contests, are as follows:

First, Chicago, which is the beginning point, then, as follows south: Indianapolis, Chattanooga, Atlanta, Macon, Jacksonville, and last, Miami, which is the terminus of the highway. Between these points various routes have been surveyed at the instance of the promoters of the Dixie highway project.

From Chicago to Indianapolis the survey takes one route and this route is not contested.

From Indianapolis a route has been surveyed by way of Cincinnati and Lexington, Ky., to Chattanooga, and another route has been surveyed by way of Louisville, Ky., and Nashville, Tenn., to Chattanooga.

The cities of Cincinnati and Lexington, supported by towns along their route, are making a very strong bid for the highway to come their way, and they are being opposed by the cities of Louisville and Nashville, which have the support of towns along their route, and which are hiding against Cincinnati and Lexington.

ROME'S SURVEYED.

From Chattanooga to Atlanta a route has been surveyed by way of Rome and another route has been surveyed by way of Dalton straight down the Western and Atlantic railroad. The Rome route goes through Chatsworth, Ga., and down the line of the Central of Georgia railway through a lovely valley, reaching Lafayette, Ga., Summerville, Ga., and then east to the Western and Atlantic railroad at Kingston, from which point it follows the alternate route into Atlanta. The Dalton route, which has been named the battlefield route, follows the general line of the old Sherman's army as it fought down the Western and Atlantic railroad (opposed by Johnston's army).

The city of Rome is greatly enthused over the highway and sent to the Chattanooga conference a delegation of more than 200 citizens headed by Judge Hone Wright.

Equally enthused is the city of Dalton, which also sent to the conference a strong delegation which vied with Rome in extolling the attractions of the battlefield route.

From Atlanta to Jacksonville three routes are proposed. One goes to Americus and Albany along the round-the-state highway established by the Atlanta Constitution. Another goes along the national highway established by The Atlanta Journal and made famous by the last glider tour. The third route lies further east, by way of Hawkinsville, Fitzgerald, Waycross, and Folkston.

Between these three proposed routes there is the keenest kind of rivalry. The counties along each of them already have many good roads and are prepared to build more, and when the board named by the governors of the states along the highway comes to locate the highway south of Atlanta to the Florida line, they will be in no doubt as to a good road over any route they select.

Savannah, which was not included in any of the surveys, showed her interest in the highway by sending a delegation to Chattanooga headed by General F. W. Delrin, a distinguished Savannah lawyer, who is president of the American Bar association. Savannah will urge her many beautiful and historic points of interest, her magnificent roads through Chatham county and her hotel facilities and all-around accommodations for the tourist, as reasons why the highway should be turned out of its course to take her in.

The location of the route is to be determined by a board of four members, two of whom are appointed by the governor of each of the states traversed by the highway, these seven states being Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia and Florida. Governor Sloan, immediately after the conference agreed upon this plan, announced his appointment of Clark Howell, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, and W. J. Anderson, editor of the Macon Telegraph, to represent Georgia on the board. The other governors will announce their appointments later, and the board will meet at its earliest convenience to go over all the data concerning various proposed routes and from this make a selection.

BARACA PRIZE WINNERS, who led all others in the Baraca class of the Brown Memorial church in raising money for benefit of the class Thursday night. Miss Nevada Chandler won the first prize and Miss Gladys Mize the second. Seventy-five dollars was collected at an enjoyable "April Fool" party.

"April Fool" Entertainment of Brown Memorial Church Organization Proves Great Success

Fruit cake baked out of cotton seed was one of the starting "April Fool" in the entertainment given by the Baraca class of the Brown Memorial church recently. Seventy-five dollars was raised from the entertainment, with this money a Baraca room will be built in the church.

The party was a success in every way from start to finish. It was held at the home of Miss Gladys Gray, 72 Hampton street. Over a hundred people attended, orchestra, and considerable fun was furnished by the musicians when the cotton seed cake was tried out on them. Miss Nevada Chandler won the first prize, a beautiful red fruit cake baked by Mrs. W. E. Owens, teacher of the class. This prize was given because Miss Chandler made more money than any one else for the class, taking in $44 out of the $75. Miss Gladys Mize won second prize as a money winner by collecting $16.

The new Baraca room will be built in the Howell Mill road. The class only from the organized, contains many enthusiastic members.

Turn Verein Dance

The Atlanta Turn Verein will give one of its regular dances at the club rooms on Hall street Wednesday night at 9 o'clock.

A limited number of invitations for friends of the members can be obtained from the entertainment committee, of which Newman Leach is chairman.

REPORT ON COASTAL PLAIN OF GEORGIA

State Geologist McCaille Calls Attention to Result of Investigations

Dr. S. W. McCaille, state geologist, has issued a statement calling attention to a report just published by the United States geological survey on "The Ground Waters of the Georgia Coastal Plain."

In 1905, the geological survey of Georgia, in co-operation with the United States geological survey, began the investigation of the coastal plain of Georgia with the understanding that the results of the work were to be published in two separate reports—one report, known as the geology of the coastal plain of Georgia, to be published by the federal survey, and the other, known as the ground waters of the coastal plain of Georgia, to be published by the federal survey. The report on the geology of the coastal plain was issued by the state geological survey in June, 1911, and the report on the ground waters of the coastal plain has just been issued by the U. S. geological survey. The nature and scope of this report is described in a press bulletin, issued by the department of the interior, United States geological survey.

An extract from this bulletin follows: Two profile sections show the general structure of the coastal plain to be monoclinal, the general dip of the formation being from the inland toward the southeast and southwestward toward the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic ocean. The conditions are therefore favorable for the production of artesian water. One part of the report treats of the chemical character of the waters. The chapter will be of great practical value to the consumer of water, whether it is required for manufacturing, domestic or domestic use. Some of the subjects treated are boiler supplies, and of compounds domestic supplies, and methods of purifying and softening water.

The report will be useful, not only to the present inhabitants of the Georgia coastal plain, but also to persons who contemplate moving to that region for the purpose of establishing industrial plants or engaging in agriculture. A copy may be obtained free on application to the director of the geological survey, Washington, D. C.

The Heavens in April.

We must now bid farewell to the brilliant constellations of winter. After this month the heavens seen at 9 p. m. will no longer contain Orion, Sirius, or the dog star Sirius. The constellations which replaced them in the sky are inferior to Orion. Of the 30 stars brighter than the second magnitude visible here at all times, 35 may be seen in a month. This is a larger number than can be seen any other month. The heavens will nevertheless be crowded with stars. The stars of the first and second magnitude are too close to the horizon to add much to the beauty of the sky. During the month nine of these stars will be lost in the evening twilight, leaving but 16 to appear next month, for not a single star of the first or second magnitude will be seen 10 of the 11 brightest stars ever to be seen.

And he wrought wonders—for the poor old tramp had place in the world, and that place was to care for the flowers.

His name—John Wilson—soon became a byword, for the kind woman hired him, and all of the citizens of the little town got into the habit of going over to John Wilson's garden to see how he did this and how he did that. He knew how to cure sick geraniums. He knew how to make a pansy bloom right! He could tell

His delight, however, was short lived for, on trying to carve the bird, he found it so tough as to resist all efforts. Enraged he sallied forth to find the woman he believed had swindled him.

After listening to his outburst of wrath she exclaimed: "Hoot, mon! Why, ye canna tell a guid fowlin' man ye are one. That buggly-jock's ta'en the first prize in ye see for this last year, ye ken!"

The Amazonian forest, which is the least known part of South America, is the veritable explorer's paradise, for it combines great scientific interest and undeveloped resources. In 1913, two young men, Donald and Gibson, to explore the Amazonian forest, made an elaborate report which dealt largely with the navigability of the river.

For one reason, they misconceived the very scope and purport of his great design. To Bismarck war was a means, not an end. He had no love for it in the absolute sense. He was not a pacifist. He was not a peace-loving man. He was a man who could put back the hands of the clock a half a century and create the Europe which might have been if he had never lived. Yet in estimating his statesmanship it was that he did must be subtracted from the sum.

A. D. LITTLE ADDRESSES ATLANTA BUSINESS MEN

Chemical Engineer Discusses South's Loss by Waste in Industrial Operations

An astounding statement of the south's loss due to waste in industrial operations, as well as of the need for conservation and to the exportation of raw products instead of manufacturing these products in the south, was given by a chemist of prominent Atlanta business concerns Monday by Arthur D. Little, the famous chemical engineer of Boston and president of the American Chemical Society, who is here as the guest of the Georgia branch of the society and whose honor the chamber gave the luncheon.

The waste alone from southern saw mills is sufficient if conserved and manufactured to supply the needs of the country, Mr. Little declared. And this is a loss of many times of waste to the south.

The address was one of the most important and valuable ever delivered to Atlanta business men, and as a result of the luncheon at the club, the chamber of commerce has decided to launch a series of lectures which Mr. Little suggested.

Already the Brunswick, Ga., chamber of commerce has invited him to that city to show Brunswick business men and capitalists the opportunities of manufacturing and conserving waste from sawmill waste.

Mr. Little arrived Sunday, was met and entertained by members of the Georgia branch of the society, was given the luncheon at the chamber Monday, and will, with Mrs. Little, be the guest at an informal reception at the university club at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon.

D. LITTLE'S ADDRESS.
The subject of Mr. Little's address at the chamber was "The Industrial Sources and Opportunities of the South." Summing up the development of the south, he said the aggregate of the numerous figures represents an achievement and a heritage of which any people may well be proud. But the community whose eyes are filled with a vision of the future should take measure of its successes but of its failures. That are the failures to be charged against the south?

First of all was the failure to utilize its agricultural possibilities, as shown in the federal low yields of cotton, corn and other staple crops, and the failure of many states to raise within their own borders the agricultural products they require.

In characterizing southern lumbering as one of the most wasteful operations conducted on the whole, he said that the south, he said, wastes as much as 100,000,000,000 cubic feet of lumber a year. In the Florida pine belt the loss of lumber is estimated at 100,000,000,000 cubic feet a year. In the Florida pine belt the loss of lumber is estimated at 100,000,000,000 cubic feet a year. PARENT-TEACHERS OPPOSE LONG SCHOOL SESSIONS

North Avenue Association Asks School Board to Make Change

Being that careful study and investigation has shown that manual training, domestic science and other arts can be taught in our schools without changing the present hours, the Parent-Teacher association of the North Avenue school Friday adopted a resolution announcing that the association is opposed to long, but "debatable" sessions and requesting the board of education not to change the present hours at the North Avenue school.

This resolution was passed following an address by Mrs. Max Greenfield, in which she pointed out that the schools of Columbus, Birmingham and Nashville taught manual training, domestic science and kindred subjects without prolonging their hours.

"With Birmingham having fewer pupils than Atlanta, they provided for manual training, household arts, kindergarten, vocational schools and special schools, provided for the first three grades, and are initiating vocational training and guidance," said Mrs. Greenfield. "For their hours of attendance are from 8:45 in the morning to 2 o'clock in the afternoon."

NEW PARCEL POST PLAN OPPOSED BY ATLANTIANS

Atlanta's business concerns for the most part do not favor the postoffice department's plan of collecting postage on parcel post matter on delivery of the parcels.

In order to get a line on sentiment along this line, the department at Washington instructed Postmaster Jones to write business men. He sent letters to seventy-five concerns here. None of the replies seemed to be enthusiastic about the idea, while most of them opposed it outright. The result of these inquiries will be communicated to the department by Postmaster Jones.

"An April Shower" Of Hand-Embroidered Lingerie

It is to be expected that we should have here this month showers for the May flowers and showers for the spring brides—but this, a shower of hand-embroidered lingerie in which the prices are often as low as you would find machine embroidered undermuslins! Indeed, here is affair that until now has never been on the calendar of any Atlanta store nor within the range of hope of Atlanta women.

But we are striving, striving, striving here, always to do a bigger and better thing. And we have, in this sale!

For where is the woman who does not "love" hand-embroidered-undermuslins? Who does not know that such hand work has, until now, placed such undermuslins in the realm of luxuries?

Now it is different!

That we should hold this sale right now when we are practically cut off from the country that has always supplied us with hand-embroidered lingerie, is a striking example of American ingenuity; for these garments (with the exception of a few pieces from our own stocks) were hand embroidered (no, they are not hand-seamed), in New England convents—but that is another story.

See these dainty, exquisite pieces—as lovely as ever the most womanly woman could wish, sheer, fine fabrics embroidered with the precision of seemingly infinite care. Then note their prices. When have you ever seen such work priced as now? Think of hand-embroidered gowns at $1.00.

Nor are there but a few pieces—but great masses, selections that will permit the spring brides to make up complete sets.

Gowns (Hand Embroidered) at $1, $1.49, $1.98, $2.25, $2.98, $3.50, $4.98

At $1.00 edged with ribbon run lace, scalloped Empire style with floral sprays. Nine styles.
At $1.49 six designs, sprays, picot edges, scalloped and colored embroidery.
At $1.98 three styles, satin finished, sprays, picot edges.
At $2.25 hand scalloped and eyelet embroidered.
At $2.98 six styles, high and low back—honey comb and punch work.

At $3.50, even the sleeves are hand embroidered.
At $4.98, elaborately embroidered, where the seams hand done the price would be nearly double.

Petticoats at $1.98, $2.98, $3.50 and $3.95
At $1.98 hand scalloped and decorated with sprays—only a small handful of these!
At $2.98 six styles, eyelet and satin finish embroidery.
At $3.50 two styles, elaborately worked.
At $3.95 two styles—and they are the new widths, flare skirts.

Teddy Bears $1.00, $1.25, $1.45 and $2.98

Five styles at $1.00; three at $1.25; five at $1.45; three at $2.98; and you will note that they are made in full sizes, no skimping—the daintiest faces, scalloping and sprays.

Drawers $1.50, $1.75 and $1.98

Scalloped edges and neat little floral designs.

Corset Covers $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50

Simple designs and rather elaborate designs—not every size in every style, but every size included.

Special Values in Crepe de Chine and Nainsook Underwear

We have planned that the whole undermuslin section shall respond with unusual values for Tuesday's event. A shower of hand-embroidered lingerie, and another of crepe de chine, and another of lace and Swiss embroidery trimmed garments.

Of Crepe de Chine

Gowns at $3.30, $3.69 and $4.59. Pink and white crepe de chine, tailored styles and very lacey styles. Garments that plainly show their greater worth.

Teddy Bears at $2.45 and $2.98. Trimmed top and bottom, three styles, only in the Empire effect is particularly smart.
Petticoats $2.98 and $3.50. Deep flounces of lace insertions and edges.

Corset Covers 89c, 98c, $1.45 and $1.98. A host of styles, V necks, lace trimmed front and back; some with sleeves.

Combinations at $2.89. Corset Covers and Drawers, as dainty as can be, trimmed with deep lace edges.

Of Nainsook

Gowns at $1.98, usually $2.50. Trimmed with Val laces and aero cloth medallions—most effectively—other splendid values at $2.25 to $5.00.

Teddy Bears at 98c to $2.98. A fine variety at each price, finished with laces and sheer Swiss embroideries.

Petticoats 98c to $5.00. Full flounced, many with fitted tops and others with draw strings. We have gathered daintier, finer garments than ever before at the same price.

BURGLAR FLEES HOUSE WHEN WOMAN SREAMS

Mrs. Johnny Sullivan Awakes After Nightmare and Sees Negro by Bed

Caught in the arms of fear while asleep, Mrs. Johnny Sullivan, 60 East 21st street, awakened after a nightmare Sunday morning at 7:30 o'clock to find a negro man standing by her bed with his hands outstretched toward her throat. Screaming with terror, she flung out of bed and ran to the adjoining room of Mrs. M. L. Scott, with whom Mrs. Sullivan boards. The negro jumped through a window and fled up the street. Mrs. Scott telephoned the police. Call officers McWilliams and Austin responded, and when they in turn entered the quarters to search for the intruder, they were informed that Mrs. Sullivan's room upstairs was all right. Mrs. Sullivan said she was not in bed at the time, but she was in the room when she heard the screams, and then she came running into my room, shaking with fear. The negro fled when she screamed.

Mrs. Sullivan said she could not identify the man, but the room was dark and that her terror prevented her from observing him closely. She said she was sure he was a negro, however. Although the suspect arrested was found by Patrolman Quattlebaum on Whitehall street shortly after the occurrence without hat, overcoat, coat or shoes. He could not explain what he was doing on the street at 7:30 in the morning in such attire, and was taken to headquarters. The police think he is the man who invaded Mrs. Sullivan's room. By identifying the clothes found on Mrs. Scott's porch, which belonged to the negro, the police think they can prove he is the man.

Mrs. Johnny Sullivan, whose screams caused a burglar to flee Sunday morning.

TWO LIVELY CONTESTS EXPECTED IN COUNCIL

Jitney, Bus and Pryor Street Paving Ordinances Subjects of Disagreement

Two lively fights, one over the jitney bus ordinance and the other over the Pryor street paving ordinance, are expected in city council Monday afternoon.

There is said to be little chance of the passage of the ordinance agreed on by the majority of the council members, which has been handling the problem. A minority report, reducing the amount of the license for five passengers, came from $150 to $100 will be introduced by Councilman Addison and Francis and Alderman Rasmussen. A substitute ordinance will be introduced by Councilman W. Smith, and many amendments to the present ordinance have been prepared by various councilmen. As a result it is likely the whole matter will be referred to another committee for further discussion and study before definite action is taken. However, a fight will be made by Councilman Lee and others for immediate action.

Councilman Knight, of the second ward delegation, will introduce an ordinance to purchase bonds for the paving of South Pryor street from the Southern Clay Manufacturing company, which has the lowest of the bids turned down by the purchasing committee recently.

It is generally predicted by council members that the second ward delegation will be able to muster enough strength to pass the ordinance despite the fact that Chairman Renslow, of the street committee, and Councilman Parham, of the finance committee, will oppose it. A lively tilt is also expected Monday afternoon when the committee on municipal research reports on Councilman Davis Johnson's resolution to authorize the appointment of a committee to draft two new charters, which the resolution would submit to the council for adoption with the present charter.

The report of the committee is expected and many many factions comment on the resolutions.

Wm. W. Woodhouse, who declared he will start an initiative petition in event council refuses to give the people a chance to vote on charter reform.

QUIT CLUBS OR CHURCH, SAY SUNDAY SPEAKERS

W. S. Witham, R. A. Broyles and W. D. Upshaw Address Meeting

At a rousing prohibition meeting held at Central Baptist church Sunday evening, the church members of Atlanta were called upon to quit either their churches or their clubs unless their clubs stop serving whiskey.

Address were delivered by W. S. Witham, the Atlanta banker; R. A. Broyles, the Atlanta merchant and public speaker; and W. D. Upshaw, editor of the Golden Age.

Mr. Witham said he was just back from Miami, Fla., and found that city enforcing prohibition in reality. The vice club of the city, he said, has set the example by discontinuing to serve whiskey to its members.

Mr. Broyles criticized those who are criticizing the Atlanta police for advertising the real issue is whether the department shall enforce the law or not. He said he would never let us in his right mind Georgia in reality a prohibition state from the mountains to the sea.

The conclusion of the address, a resolution was passed by the audience requesting the newspapers to discontinue the publication of advertisements for clubs.

W. M. SLATON INJURED BY FALL OF HIS HORSE

Head of Schools Painfully Hurt, but Will Be Out in Day or Two

Professor William M. Slaton, superintendent of the Atlanta public schools, was injured at his residence at 142 North Jackson street Monday as the result of a painful accident Sunday night when his horse, "Prince," slipped and fell with him at the corner of Moreland and Dekalb avenues.

Professor Slaton was riding home when the horse, in front of Fire Station No. 15, slipped at a street car and fell face on the street. Professor Slaton was thrown from the horse and his head was bruised and his left hand sprained. Call Officer James Long, on duty at the fire house, called an ambulance and Professor Slaton was rushed to his home. Physicians state he will be out in a day or two.

PERMANENT BANKER VS.
THE CHROMIC OPTIMIST.

By John M. Oakison.

Here are two options concerning the cautious banker.

"The bankers are all right," says the confirmed optimist, "and we like them. But they do need to be made to realize that the banks must go ahead and do our regular business."

To which a defender of the banker's habit of caution retorts:

"The banks are all right, and we like them, more, even, after and apart from the same, as with full realization of the fact that they are getting the same for any of these and for other purposes at any and all times, the right-of-way over the land of said islands, and the right-of-way along the water frontage of said islands, from the property of said Light, Water and Power company over a right-of-way to the land of said company on the said island and also easements for utility in and to the land of said company in and to the land of James H. Ryan."

"If bankers were not uneasy in troublesome times such as these, no one would be. As we take it, it is the duty of the banker to act as a brake upon the ambitious, that sometimes needless, number of the managers that are in the banks for credit and object in taking a little sound advice along with it."
 Banks exist for the accommodation of two classes of people—depositors and borrowers. The banker's first duty is to safeguard the money you and I deposit with him. The bank makes its stockholders' expenses, profit for its stockholders, and (on certain sorts of accounts) the interest paid on deposits by lending out to depositors you and I require the bank's officers and directors to be cautious; it doesn't take many bad loans to wreck a bank. Our neighbor, who manufactures shoes or collar buttons, books or locomotives, must be an optimistic soul. To be successful he must be able to anticipate a demand for his products.

As a result, the business man, who is not a banker, is not only unable to get a loan, but even bank that is closed. (Probably my estimate is far too favorable to the business men.) Credit at the bank is supplemented by borrowing from credulous private individuals who are also optimists, by bond and stock flotations. What the pessimistic banker has pre-

Successful bankers are the finest judges of business prospects in the world. They have to be! If they are putting on the brakes in these days of uncertainty, it is as depositors are grateful to them.

Gradually, however, this country's bankers are booming the brakes on credit, and that is the most cheering news business can hear.
