Atlanta Bring Out More Than 5,000 Fans Today?

KAT PASSED FOR COIN FOR CRACKER PLAYERS.

If you want to help the players who are striving so hard and earnestly to give Atlanta a pennant, you can do so by dropping a half-dollar into the slot of the "Rooter" when the members of the "Rooters" pass through the "Rooters' stands during Wednesday night games. They are going to give every one a chance to kick in with a subscription and to show their appreciation of the work of the club by dropping in your coin.

It is to be used for money for the individual Cracker players carries no conditions, it being the players' money. It is the move to give the players the money whether they win the pennant or not. The players who have played good ball and deserve the purse, so open your pocket and add to the fund. You will see the rosters passing the money.

At 3:30 o'clock this afternoon Atlanta and Mobile grapple again for the pennant prize.

Can the Crackers repeat? Can Atlanta maintain the terrific pace set in the last three weeks, a period during which the club has won twenty-one out of twenty-six battles that go down in the sanding?

Glooms predicted yesterday that the streak would break just when need

DEATH'S TOLL 21 IN WALLINGFORD WRECK

Investigation and "Coroner's Inquest Brings to Light Details of Tragedy"

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 3.—The death toll in the Wallingford wreck still stood at twenty-one this morning and the hospital list at seventeen. Railroad employees who played the leading parts in the New Haven's latest tragedy were under detention by the coroner's office. Meanwhile the machinery for the usual county state and federal investigations was in motion. Coroner Mox and Chief Engineer, and with the state public utilities commission, resumed this afternoon their investigation which they began yesterday jointly with the railroad company.

The interstate commerce commission's investigators on their arrival today found practically no wreckage of the wreck along the New Haven right-of-way. Notwithstanding telegraph orders from the commission that the wreckage be undisturbed off the road and the bodies of men clearing on the ground after the crash.

The two-year Pullman of the New Haven express, where nearly all the loss of life occurred, were nearly all destroyed by the crash. All this wreckage that could be turned was piled up in a dumper or more bonfire in the right-of-way of the wrecking gang last night. The damaged locomotive was hauled away with the remains of the third Pullman.

The revised list of dead as compiled by the coroner today was as follows: WILLIAM ALTMUTH, Norfolk; J. M. MARSHALL ARMISTEAD, Washington, D. C.; HARRIS BIDDLE, Torrington, Pa.; HARRY L. HULLITT, Philadelphia; EMILIE KENNEDY, Davis, Philadelphia; SAMUEL CROZIER FOX, Philadelphia.

ALBERT GREEN, New York; ROYAL A. HITCHCOCK, New Haven; HARRY H. HOPKINS, New York; HARRY T. IZANI, New York; GEORGE T. KOGA, New York; DR. J. B. MARVIN, Louisville, Kentucky; MISS JOSEPH B. BUTLER, Scranton, Pa.; MISS FRANK P. BUTLER, Scranton, Pa.; ROBERT M. VAIN, Philadelphia.

Miss Jane, only family name not yet ascertained. The second session of the coroner's inquiry began shortly after five o'clock this morning. August B. Miller, coroner of the White House, was called to tell more of the circumstances under which the train crashed into the standing bar Harbor Hotel. Elbert A. Robinson, his brother-in-law, and Charles Henry Murray, the flagman sent back to prevent a rear-end collision, all were ordered to submit to long cross-examination.

As yesterday the railroad insisted that the testimony should plainly state the equipment, appliances and condition of the railroad were in first-class condition.

Murray, the flagman, according to his statement, was sent back to flag the following train when the bar Harbor train was in sight. BAILIFF CHARGED WITH MURDER BY SOLICITOR

Preliminary Trial of Columbus Officer Postponed After Bitter Fight

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) COLUMBUS, Ga., Sept. 3.—The preliminary trial of Bailiff E. L. White charged with murder in the killing of a woman in a crowded room, and after nearly two hours' argument on the part of the attorney in the case, it was postponed to Friday, Sept. 5, the prisoner being remanded to jail without bail.

The motion for continuance was made by Attorney Love and Fort, representing White, the grounds being that the defense was not ready to proceed.

TECH NIGHT SCHOOL
OPENS SEPTEMBER 17

Registration Books Will Be
Open From September
15 to 19

Free night school at the Georgia Institute of Technology will open on September 17, according to the announcement made Wednesday by Prof. J. N. G. Wright, who has charge of the department. Enrollment and registration will be open from September 15 to 19, inclusive. Through this night school which was established in 1908 and which is a regular department of Georgia Tech, the state of Georgia has opened up the door to opportunity to hundreds of working men and boys in all walks of life. There has been an average attendance of 150 per year, in which the majority are men seeking for a living in Atlanta during the daytime, and for whom the technical night school is perhaps the greatest blessing that the state could offer. The only expense attendant on the course is the contingent fee of $1 per term.

Those who attend the night school are given the full benefit of the magnificent equipment of Georgia Tech. They have the same instructors as the day students at the Georgia Tech, and the same up-to-date equipment of the day students. In addition to the direct advantage of new technological education which this night course gives the men and boys of Atlanta and vicinity there is a special co-operative course arrangement, which the men who enter the night school may work toward a self-supporting office education.

The opportunities offered by the night school include courses in architecture, mechanical drawing, electrical engineering, wood work, carpentry and joinery, bookbinding, printing, machine shop work, mechanical engineering, mathematics, chemistry and English. Prospective students who want to take advantage of the opportunities offered by the night school should apply direct to Prof. Wright at the Tech between September 15 and 19.

Here From Washington

Major Eugene H. E. Schmidt has announced that the Marist college in ready for the first year course in Washington, D. C., Captain Winston, who was announced in the spring, will be in charge.

In consequence of this movement the college, though in good condition, has been removed entirely. A complete field outfit, with all necessary equipment, was assigned and delivered to the college. Indoor military practice and outdoor drill, under the supervision of the major, are to be in full force at the college.

Together with this work and the routine drill, preparations have been made for frequent lectures in military tactics and the training of the cadets in the use of arms.

Preparations indicate that the formation will consist of a battalion of three companies with full staff of cadet officers.

Cadets have been at work for several days getting ready for the new year, and the expansion and improvement of the educational work of the college.

MERCER WANTS TO BE GAME WARDEN AGAIN

His Brother Declares There's No Truth in Published Rumor
of Federal Plun

According to John E. Mercer, of Dawson, a brother of J. E. Mercer, the state game and fish commissioner, there is absolutely no truth in the rumor that the commissioner has applied for re-appointment to the post of federal game warden in the event Governor Shivers does not re-appoint him to his present office.

John E. Mercer, who has been in Atlanta for several days, has given out the following statement:

"This is a mistake. My brother has no idea of accepting any position in Washington, none has been tendered him, nor is he an applicant for any. He is the first game warden in Georgia and he is just finishing his term. His record is a record. He is an applicant for re-appointment and his friends will present his name to Governor Shivers on Sunday. It is true that my brother has been on the other side of the political fence here in Georgia, but those old fellows have passed away now. Initially, I differed with my brother in the old political line and I know many of my friends, who stood by me, are now supporting him. I hope Governor Shivers will be able to see the value in this light."

EVANGELIST KNOCKS THE "MODERN WOMAN"

Rev. J. M. Bass, now conducting the "big revival" at Grace Methodist church, today preached two sermons on women, holding a mother's service in the morning, when he highly criticized the woman who takes a mother's duties seriously, and in the afternoon preaching on the "Modern Woman," whom he highly scorned.

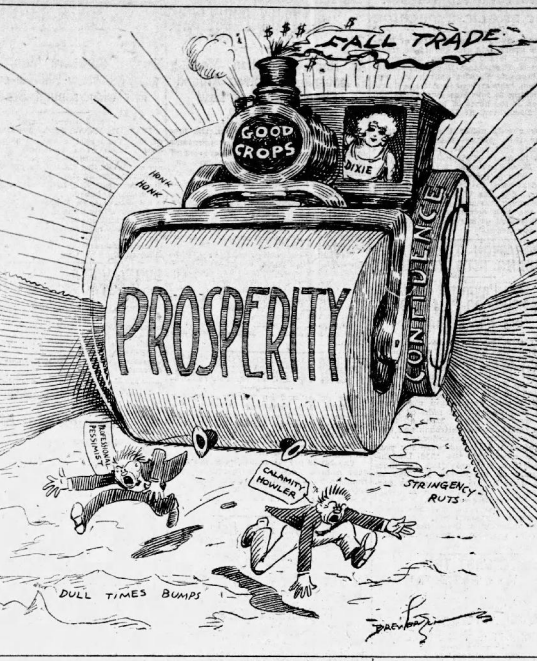

"These, dancing gambling and public houses are loved far more by the modern woman than children and the home," said Mr. Bass of the "Modern Woman." "These women, who consider themselves as the center of the home and who are to be the mothers of the future, are being led away from the home and the political line and I know many of my friends, who stood by me, are now supporting him. I hope Governor Shivers will be able to see the value in this light."

Services are being held twice each week at 10 o'clock and 8 p. m. On Friday afternoon a children's service will be conducted for children by Mr. Shivers, the church leader.

ATLANTA—"The Jewell Kelly."
FORBES—Vanderville.
GRAND—Kismet.
THEATRE—Emma Bunting in "The Circus Girl."

Genuine novelty makes the bill at the Forth this week just what the review on Tuesday declared, "The best show since last winter." It is all because of the opening of the regular season and the appearance of some of the most distinguished vaudeville comedians. The program will continue to draw the holding capacity of the theater at the matinee and the night performances the remainder of the week.

It is a positive treat to follow the novelty of "The New Leader." It is the contribution of them Matt and company, and has been voted to be the very best of the new season's offerings in vaudeville.

Matt is a most capable and a very interesting character comedian. He is supported by an acting company of six people. The sketch gives a scene at a Monday morning rehearsal in a vaudeville theater and is crowded with comedy and has a pretty story that has been interest.

Alexander and Scott score a tremendous hit in their singing novelty. Alexander is exhibiting a wardrobe that is the handsomest that has been seen on the Forth stage. Alexander makes up as a well-to-do girl. He is a master in the work and has proven to be a drawing card.

The comedy part of the bill is in the hands of Willard Simms and company, and there is nothing funnier than his wall papering stunt.

All the other acts are of real quality, and the bill is one of the best that has ever been seen at the Forth.

The popularity of Emma Bunting is being demonstrated in no uncertain manner this week at the Lyric, where her impromptu audience is crowding the theater every night and at the matinee to get a glimpse of the little actress in her new play, "The Circus Girl."

The several stock engagements in which Miss Bunting has appeared in Atlanta have endeared her to a host of theatergoers and the management of the Lyric could not have secured a better attraction to open the eighth theater season. Pretty Young Wife Sobs in Court as Husband Is Jailed

A. G. Kent, 22 years of age, who gives his occupation as an advertising selector for morning picture shows, was bound over for trial to the city criminal court on a charge of cheating and swindling by City Recorder Pro Tem W. J. Fretwell Wednesday morning.

His pretty wife was at his side in police court and interrupted the proceedings with her sobbing. When her husband was locked in a cell in default of bond fixed by the recorder she sobbed and declared that she would not leave him until she had secured his incarceration.

Kent is alleged to have passed a worthless check for $12.15 on J. H. Mullins, of 23 South Kirkwood street, in payment of a board bill. The paper was drawn on the National bank of Cuba at Monaca, Cuba. It was returned to Atlanta marked "No funds."

GEORGIA CHAMBER WILL HAVE MEETING IN MACON

President Will Be Elected and Plans for Furthering Campaign Discussed

To perfect further the organization of the Georgia chamber of commerce and to elect a president, following the formal meeting of the executive committee which was held at the Georgia Hotel, Macon, Monday, September 16, at which the commercial, manufacturing and agricultural interests of the entire state will be represented.

C. J. Haden, of Atlanta, is chairman of the executive committee which has charge of the details of the proposed gathering. The other members are P. M. Atkinson, Madison, R. D. Cobb, Newnan; J. S. Davis, Albany; G. J. Bess, Waycross; J. A. McCord, Atlanta; W. Shippen, Ellijay; and Charles A. Wickham, Atlanta Park. Charles D. McKinney, of Decatur, is the acting secretary.

BOOM! AIMS OF CHAMBER

Some of the specific aims of the state-wide chamber are as follows:

(1) To organize the commercial and industrial interests of the state by securing the most up-to-date methods for such organizations and presenting the results of this study to each local organization affiliated with the chamber of commerce.

(2) To bring about more effective cooperation between the various commercial organizations of the state in the general upbuilding of the whole state, especially along such lines as better roads, better sanitary conditions and better educational facilities.

(3) To bring the farmers and business men closer together in a study of better methods of agriculture, in better understanding of each other and in a more general recognition of mutual interests.

(4) To foster all movements of every kind that seem calculated to bring about better industrial, agricultural and commercial relations of the state.

(5) The continuous and persistent advertising of the results of the state of Georgia to the people of other sections of the nation.

(6) A careful and accurate study of conditions of the state as respects such matters as education, sanitation, roads, farming, manufacturing and the constant presentation of the results of this study to the people of the state through the daily and weekly press of the state.

(7) A thorough investigation by the executive committee has shown that there are in existence approximately seventy state, national and sectional commercial organizations. These are confined entirely to particular sections of the state and are as follows: Georgia, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, Massachusetts, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Texas and Wisconsin.

PRICES CHAMBER MODEL
The committee has made a careful study of the work of the various organizations represented in the state and as a model it seems desirable that the Georgia chamber of commerce be organized on the plan of the American Chamber of Commerce and Business Men's association.

The plan is to have a membership of 100 local trade bodies and nearly 1,000 individual members. During the year the organization spent $50,000 in its various activities. Other state and sectional chambers have spent even more than that.

Through the efforts of Mr. Haden and the other members of the executive committee the cooperation of the various trade bodies of Georgia is being secured and plans are on foot for the ultimate organization of a similar body in every county in the state that has not yet organized.

There is a vice president in the state chamber, whose duty it shall be to stand as a connecting link between the local organization and the organization in his territory.

The Georgia chamber of commerce is now organized for their support and already assurances of thorough cooperation are being received daily.

The directors of the Macon chamber, which is the first to be organized, are H. H. Hyman, secretary, have appointed a special committee to be charged with the arrangements for the meeting. On this committee are W. T. Anderson, J. F. Lawson, W. G. Lee and E. H. Hyman.

E. R. Adams, secretary of the Albany chamber of commerce, one of the latest organizations of its kind in the state, is planning for the attendance of a representative from the southern section of the state and has been negotiating for a special train with reduced rates to the scene of the convention. The Atlanta delegation will be joined by delegates from the surrounding towns who will make the trip in a special train.

Atlanta Opens Wednesday Night With "Mary's Lamb"

First Show of Season for Atlanta's Leading Theater Is Richard Carle's Famous Musical Comedy, With Den McGrath in Leading Role, Supported by Bertha Yeoman

Wednesday night the Atlanta will begin its season with a fine musical comedy entitled "Mary's Lamb." This comedy was formerly played by Richard Carle, who wrote it, and is one of the most laughable and entertaining produced in recent years.

Den McGrath is playing the Carle role, this season. McGrath is a capable company of which Bertha Yeoman is prima donna. In addition, the company is coming to Atlanta with the commendation of other cities en route.

Critics in many places have been profuse in praise of the Atlanta play and the local features. The chorus is a big feature, one of the strongest in an artistic studio sense. The play will be here Thursday matinee and night.

LOSE FURNITURE SOLD FOR DISORDERLY HOUSE

Judge W. D. Ellis Renders Interesting Decision Regarding Sale for 'House'

Judge W. D. Ellis rendered an interesting decision Wednesday when he directed the jury to return a verdict denying the right of the Abbott Furniture company to possession of furniture which was sold for the furnishing of one of the Manhattan houses of a certain Mrs. L. Purcell, alias Percy Lyons.

The case came on for trial at 10 o'clock. The furniture, which was not paid for in full, to St. Louis when the house was closed some time ago. The furniture company directed a plea against the Seaboard Air Line to obtain possession of the furniture which had been given to the railroad for shipment.

In order to determine its standing the court to determine if the furniture was sold to the court to decide whether the woman or the furniture company should have the furniture.

As was proven that the furniture of which there was a great deal, was bought by a disreputable house and that the furniture was to be paid for out of money earned, Judge Ellis said that neither the furniture company nor the woman was entitled to the furniture, and left it in the hands of the railroad.

GOV. AND MRS. SLATON EXPECTED HOME FRIDAY

Two Scotch Lassies and Their Brother Seeking Work Here

Two bright-eyed, rosy-cheeked Scotch lassies, and their brother, a smart Scotch lad, are in Atlanta on their own resources, and are looking for jobs here.

They are Mary Logan, aged twenty-one, Margaret Logan, aged eighteen, and David Logan, aged sixteen. They hail from Glasgow.

The girls went postions as housemaids. They are intelligent and industrious, and believe in keeping a place spotlessly clean. As David, he'll take most any sort of a job he can get, provided it's honest and pays him enough to get along on.

The Logans came to Atlanta from Fair Oak, Ala., near Mobile, where they went ten months ago, having been brought over from Glasgow by their uncle, W. M. Trumbull.

The girls want to work as housemaids and are getting along all right, but the boy wants to get into the business of a Scotchman himself, and his sisters couldn't support him. So they decided, with their uncle's consent, to come to Atlanta.

Cotton mill work was denied them, because they knew nothing of it. And they couldn't get the kind of work they wanted. The girls are now in search of work, and are getting along all right, but the boy wants to get into the business of a Scotchman himself, and his sisters couldn't support him. So they decided, with their uncle's consent, to come to Atlanta.

BOARD FOR FRANK JURY WILL COST JUST $375.06

Newt Lee's Attorneys Ask That He Be Paid for Time Lost

Pulaski county will pay $375.06 for calls and meals for the jury that heard the trial of Leo M. Frank found guilty of the murder of Mary Phagan.

His attorneys presented to the board of county commissioners Wednesday morning.

The German case asked $259.50 for lunches furnished during the twenty-five days of the trial, and the Kimball case $115.56 for rooms, breakfasts and dinners.

The commissioners approved the bills and agreed to pay them as soon as the jury formally approves them.

Dr. Graham and Messrs. Newt Lee, who also asked the county to appropriate a fair amount of money with which to pay Newt Lee, the watchman at the National Pencil factory, for the time which he lost while in jail. He was held in the Tower for four months as a material witness, said the petition, and was entitled to some recompense.

The petition stated that the federal government paid its witnesses for time so lost.

Shelby Smith said that he thought the amount of money ought to be paid to Lee, that he had lost much time, and that the county had been benefited by the facts that he gave out.

General C. L. Anderson, however, moved to refer the matter to the county attorney.

As Luther Rosser is county attorney, the members of the board expressed the opinion that he is disqualified to pass upon the matter, but Commissioner Anderson said that as a matter of courtesy it ought to be referred to him, and that he would return with the statement that he is disqualified.

No definite action was taken toward paying Lee.

The Established Park Policy.

It is to be hoped that there will be no further efforts at any time or by any persons to divert Atlanta's park property from its rightful uses.

This issue has been repeatedly raised within the past few years and in each instance it has been settled as it should be. Council and the park board have rejected all proposals which looked to the dismemberment or abuse of playgrounds and recreation centers.

The recent request for the use of the Piedmont park stadium for a circus performance aroused such a storm of public protest that the application was very properly withdrawn. The park board went on record, however, as being unalterably opposed to any such request which might be made in the future.

That is the city's established policy; it is the people's settled conviction; it should never again be called into question.

When Council decided a number of years ago that Piedmont park should be dismantled of the exhibition buildings in order that it might serve the exclusive and permanent purpose of public recreation, the real development of Atlanta's park system began.

Since then the use of a portion of the park for a school building has been denied, and rightly so; for if encroachments of this kind were once countenanced they would eventually result in the absorption of the entire park property.

No one should ever again seek to revive this issue. It has been determined wisely and in the interests of the entire community. Let it remain.

Oh, yes, and it's the open circus season, too.

Even the Outlook admits that President Wilson may be right in some things.

It is getting round to the time of the year when the coal and wood man takes home.

The South's Opportunities

For Cattle Raising.

Whether or not the South realizes its natural resources for livestock production, shrewd observers in other sections evidently do. A Missouri syndicate is planning to buy ten thousand acres of land in Louisiana, where it expects to establish a great cattle range. Similar enterprises, financed by outside interests, are being promoted in other Southern States. In diverse fields of agricultural and industrial development, the entire country's thought is centering upon the South's latent treasure.

This friendly invasion, so long as it is free from monopolistic designs, deserves and will receive a hearty welcome. The South's door is open to new workers and new capital, if they come as true Americans and in a spirit of wholesome business; for here is a vast empire whose abundance of natural wealth and opportunity is sufficient for all who would take an honest, constructive part in its development. "We should greet the new-comers from the West and North, East," says the Charleston News and Courier, "as valued friends, but of some time we should not be idle ourselves."

This latter caution is particularly apt. If it is possible for the Westerner to enter the Southern field of stock raising, certainly it is possible and profitable for the Southerner himself to do so. If investors from other sections are awake to the rich advantages which this good land affords, surely we ourselves should no longer sleep over our opportunities. And there are cheering omens that we shall not. The truths of scientific and businesslike farming, as proclaimed and demonstrated by institutions like the Georgia College of Agriculture have fallen upon fertile ground and are already bringing forth a plentiful harvest. In this State, as in neighboring commonwealths, a vast deal remains to be done in promoting livestock industries but there can be no doubt that a fruitful beginning has been made; we are at least moving in the direction and we shall arrive.

Those Americans in Mexico are probably glad to take a summer vacation, anyhow.

We repeat that dog days are a big improvement on the common conception of them.

It takes a lot of faith to enable a man to order wrapped eggs in a cheap restaurant.

It is surprising how much new people can give a reporter that is not intended for publication.

Voices of Prosperity.

The optimistic interviews in Tuesday's Journal with well-to-do merchants, bankers and real estate dealers present a season of brimming prosperity for Georgia and the South in general and particularly for Atlanta. These close observers of every business trend and often dealing with one accord that good times are not only ahead but are already here and that conditions in the large are sounder and brighter today than they have been for many an autumn past. Their faith is not the substance of things hoped for but the evidence of things seen at home and abroad—ready money, plentiful crops, quickening trade and a stir of new business life the nation over. It is a faith rooted in tangible and far-reaching facts.

Retail merchants have anticipated extraordinary sales and have purchased accordingly both in amount and variety of stocks. Their buyers lately returned from the east report an atmosphere of unclouded confidence in that section. Pending legislation in Congress, far from having had a dulling or disquieting effect, has led to economic conditions generally undisturbed. No one is troubled over what is going to happen. Everyone is intent over what is actually taking place and through the wholesome activity of the present day looks trustfully forward to the months and years ahead.

Wholesale dealers are no less assured and encouraged. Their representatives on the road have made records in August sales. Orders are booked as far ahead as October or November, an indication, as a member of one firm declares, "of renewed confidence and the abandonment of the recent hand-to-mouth policy of purchasing goods." Collections are emphatically better than they have been in many seasons; credit is easier and safer and trade is accordingly leaping forward.

Bankers are particularly impressed by the agricultural outlook in Georgia and the South at large, and their interests, like those of the merchant and the farmer, are fortified by an adequate supply of money for moving crops. The anxiety that was once felt in this regard melted completely away when Secretary McAdoo placed fifty millions of treasury funds at the disposal of Southern and Western banks on any terms for crop-moving purposes. That, indeed, was a turning point for business throughout the country and especially in the South. It relieved the strain upon the larger centers of finance and released, for use in ordinary commercial and industrial enterprises, money which heretofore has been held for the extraordinary needs of the harvest season. Since the announcement of this timely and patriotic policy of the Wilson administration, economic conditions have steadily improved and confidence, which is the very heart-beat of business, has grown continually stronger.

Back of the activity of trade both retail and wholesale, back of the sober optimism which merchants and bankers feel, lies that primal source of good times in Georgia—abundant crops. Less cotton was planted this year by every acre has been more carefully tended. More attention than ever before has been paid to the production of food supplies, corn, oats, wheat and other necessities. Sun and rain have wrought together upon the fields with nature's kindest alchemy. There will be more to eat, more to buy and sell in Georgia this autumn than in many a year gone by, and there will be more money to keep the channels of trade strong and free. Atlanta's inherent vigor asserts itself even when other towns and other sections are depressed. When, therefore, the country as a whole is astir with prosperity we may expect this city to move forward as never before. As the commercial center of the now wondrously fertile South, Atlanta is entering the richest era of its history.

When you find a woman who admits she is ugly, believe anything she says!

The income tax is going to work a hardship on the lot of these poor millionaires.

"We don't like for these things to happen," said J. Pierpont Morgan when informed of the New Haven wreck. We are glad to hear the great man express his disapproval.

Tribulations of a Book Buyer

IN his article on "The Tribulations of an Amateur Book Buyer" in the September Atlantic, John H. Hervey complains, cheerfully enough, of some things which are not likely to be speedily corrected. All books cannot be produced in a format and in a style which satisfies the book buyer who dwells in a flat and has to be economical in his buying. But Mr. Hervey writes in the most of one who of his books published wants to possess quickly those which appeal to his generous taste. He regrets, particularly, a commendable new translation of a celebrated French writer which he began to buy volume by volume, but had to relinquish because of the size of the volumes and their price. He has 2,000 books in his library, but calls himself no collector. He is aware of the pocket editions with flexible covers and little value, but all he wants cannot be found in these delightful small editions. Yet what do not the small books of this hour contain? All of Shakespeare and other poets of all languages, all of the essays, all of the novels that may be housed in a contracted library space and leave always room for more. This is the era of small, clearly printed books, and those who have no room for big books must not complain. Mr. Hervey's complaint is not a new one. As his little essay unfolds itself it becomes a somewhat discursive but always delightful dissertation on books and readers in the whimsical mood of a man who, in the opinion of his wife, "has a houseful of books and nothing to read."—New York Times Review of Books.

Mystic Numbers in Banking

(New York World.)
If the bankers lately in conference cannot agree upon a certain number, they will accept a division of this power into five regional reserve banks but no more. They will not hear to as many as twelve such banks.

Why not more than five? What is the mystic element in this number which makes it a tolerable maximum but twice twelve out of the reckoning?

We can understand why the administration has started its federal system of bank and currency reform with twelve regional reserve institutions. Financially considered, the country divides itself naturally into nine financial districts by the location of its sub-treasuries, as follows:

Eastern. New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New Orleans.

Western. San Francisco, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis.

Southwestern. New Orleans, San Antonio, El Paso, Fort Worth.

Northwestern. St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Chicago.

Rocky Mountain. Denver, Salt Lake City, Portland, Seattle.

Pacific. San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Tacoma.

Alaska. Sitka, Fairbanks, Anchorage.

Hawaii. Honolulu.

These twelve districts are the basis of the banking system.

THE SICK ROOM

By DR. FRANK CRANE.
(Copyright, 1912, by Frank Crane.)

The newspaper pages are filled with tales of vicarious life. Advertisers exploit their goods, theaters display their attractions, there are the activities of crime, of politics, of sport; the circle stream of humanly leaps and sparkles beneath the reader's eye.

And all the while a great part of those readers are in a condition where the arena of strife does not interest them, and the warmth of the world's blood chills them. I speak of the sick.

They are shut up in darkened bedrooms, they lie in hospital wards, they sit solitary by the windows of the sitting room, or huddle about with crutch or cane. They are the wounded in life's battle, the driftwood upon the banks of life's stream. So here's a word for them.

Do not imagine that because you are not well you are out of the game. Opportunity is still yours. Some of the best and finest work done for the human race is done by the sick people.

You may no longer be a center of active work in the business of money getting, but you cannot go to your office nor attend to your house, but you can do better than that. You can be a center of cheer and encouragement to all who know you.

If you will put away self-pity, if you will not complain, if you will be just as courteous and intelligent as the business of being unwell as you were in the street and mark when you were well, if in your weakness you will maintain a stout heart, you cannot realize how you will radiate life and power into all who come in contact with you.

There's a little old blind grandmother in a certain home who, by her spirit of sanity and her sense of humor, has been a great help to her family. She is just as brave and hopeful now as ever. Around her affliction have bloomed priceless flowers of love and tenderness, of whose existence he knew before she was.

Your sickness may be a privilege. It will show you what you can take if heretofore, the very best things in life.

You are out of the game of getting-on, but you are in the game of getting-through. Your life of inestimable value may be made clear and usable to you.

In fact, the best part of living is not complicated by the healthy people. Sickness has its spirit-compensation. It is very great and wide and high, it has vast mysteries to be solved, it has great things to be learned and feeling they cannot know.

In your quiet room you may find your soul, your rest, your peace, your joy, your strength, your life, and you may find that the desert remembers the oasis.

Around her affliction have bloomed priceless flowers of love and tenderness, of whose existence he knew before she was.

Your sickness may be a privilege. It will show you what you can take if heretofore, the very best things in life.

You are out of the game of getting-on, but you are in the game of getting-through. Your life of inestimable value may be made clear and usable to you.

In fact, the best part of living is not complicated by the healthy people. Sickness has its spirit-compensation. It is very great and wide and high, it has vast mysteries to be solved, it has great things to be learned and feeling they cannot know.

In your quiet room you may find your soul, your rest, your peace, your joy, your strength, your life, and you may find that the desert remembers the oasis.

There's a little old blind grandmother in a certain home who, by her spirit of sanity and her sense of humor, has been a great help to her family. She is just as brave and hopeful now as ever. Around her affliction have bloomed priceless flowers of love and tenderness, of whose existence he knew before she was.

MOTION PICTURE FILMS MUST NOW BE CENSORED

Drastic Ordinance Passed by Council—Name of McDaniel Street Not Changed

General council Tuesday afternoon passed an ordinance requiring a censorship of motion picture films by the Georgia library trustees before the films are shown to the public.

Some council members doubted if it would be possible for the trustees to censor such vast quantities of films every day, but inasmuch as the ordinance was drawn by the trustees themselves and sent to council with a request for passage, they decided they would let the trustees take a try at the task.

The ordinance also prohibits the wearing of "immoral, indecent or suggestive costumes" by women on the stages of motion picture theaters.

Council decided that McDaniel street should not be changed to Oxford place, notwithstanding a majority report from the street committee recommending the change.

It developed in the course of the discussion that the owners of 7,000 feet of frontage on the street opposed the change while only 2,000 feet are in favor of the change.

Miss Annie Wells, well known Atlanta lady who owns McDaniel street frontage, was vigorously opposed to the change and did a deal of missionary work among council members. She was present in council chamber when the vote was taken and applauded the result.

Charles H. Kelley, elected an alderman from the Second ward to fill the unexpired term of John E. McDaniel, who resigned, was given the oath of office by Mayor Woodward. Mr. Kelley served as alderman from the Second ward previous to Alderman McDaniel, and is, therefore, no stranger to his duties. He was warmly welcomed by the members of council.

An invitation was extended to the members of council, and unanimously accepted, to witness a test of the new automobile fire engine at the Fifth ward station in Oakland City next Saturday afternoon.

Aldermen Bagdale, and Councilmen Mason and Kimbrough, comprising the Fifth ward delegation in council, promise some interesting hospitalities.

W. W. TINDALL NAMED JUVENILE COURT JUDGE

Well-Known Lawyer Will Have Jurisdiction Over All Children's Offenses

W. W. Tindall, who for the last two years has been chief probation officer of the juvenile court, and who is also a lawyer, Wednesday was appointed to the office of judge of the juvenile court, the appointment made by the judges of the superior court under authority of the recent general assembly.

Previous to this the office has been filled by judges of the superior court in relation, a session of the juvenile court being held only on Saturdays.

The children's court laws became effective in Atlanta in April, 1911. Since that time the matters coming before the court have so increased that it became a tax on the superior court judges to supervise the juvenile court and it was found that a court should be established with exclusive jurisdiction over wayward and delinquent children with separate court room.

At present the children's court will be held at the detention home at 161 Central avenue. But soon the three-story brick building at 98 Trinity avenue, will be ready for permanent occupation, the court having leased it. Repairs are now in progress.

When the new building is occupied the juvenile court will have one of the most up-to-date juvenile courts in the south.

Clanny Scotts Meet "Braw and Early"
On September 5th

The Atlanta Scotts association will hold its regular monthly clan meeting at the "Klax Brawl" at such a meeting of the night of September 5th. This was decided by the members of the clan remaining from the meeting.

The meeting is clear to any one who is interested in the clan. The clan is a clan of men, to anyone else it is not. It can be described in a couple of words, however, by referring to a glossary of the Scotch clan names.

"The Guide" will meet the clan at the Klan and be at our meeting house "Braw and Early."

The clan also advises: "Bring along your clan name for you to be in the clan. From this it is evident that the association is increasing its membership."

NO QUARANTINE UNTIL WEEVIL HAS APPEARED
Georgia Board of Entomology Thinks Cotton Pest Will Come Soon

Not until the cotton boll weevil makes its appearance in Georgia will quarantine be established in the state against the quarantine and cotton growing states will be enforced rigidly. This was decided at the meeting of the board of entomology Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. H. B. Henshaw, president of the board, has announced that the weevil will reach Georgia during the present year, but that it may not appear here until next winter. When quarantine will be ordered against those states from which the pest comes.

The state board of entomology has organized a plan prohibiting the shipment of cotton seed into Georgia from those states unless the entomologist of that state certifies that the seed contains no pest.

The board also has decided that the territory not infested with the weevil.

GIFTED ATLANTA GIRL RETURNS HOME AFTER SUCCESSFUL CAREER IN NEW YORK

Takes Charge of the Oakland City Branch Library and Brings Delight to Hearts of Atlanta Girls and Boys With the Stories She Tells Them

Miss Mary Brown, who until recently has been one of the most valued members of the New York public library staff, is one of the constantly increasing number of Atlanta girls who have made a signal success in their chosen profession. Miss Brown has returned home to take up library work in Atlanta, her departure causing a most genuine regret in the New York library, where for four years she has had charge of the library work for children in the East and West sides.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Brown, of Union park. To the children of the state in New York she is known as the little library lady, or "the lady who tells us such good stories" and she has already endeavored herself to more children of a higher class with whom she has started library work in Atlanta.

She graduated from the Atlanta library training school in 1908 and shortly thereafter went to New York. It was not long before her untiring gift of seeing along with children made itself felt, and she was assigned to the difficult duty of making friends with the reticent and sometimes suspicious children of the East side.

For four years she worked with Irish, Italian and Jewish children, many of whom could not speak a word of English, and through constant struggle with refractory words she has come to have a good knowledge of the languages, although she modestly denies acquaintance with foreign words.

The Atlanta library has tried a number of times to secure her services, but she has always absolutely refused to give her up. This year, however, Miss Brown seemed to be at home (she won't tell why, but there have been a number of interesting letters from her).

GEORGIA NORMAL SCHOOL TURNS AWAY APPLICANTS

Lack of Room Forces State Institution to Close Doors to Any More Students

Owing to lack of room, the Georgia Normal and Industrial school at Milledgeville has been forced to turn away more than half the applicants this year. The doors of the college are now closed to students for this reason, much to the regret of the management.

In explanatory letters to prospective students who were turned away, M. M. Parks, president of the school, stated that such action was necessary because the state has not been able to erect

—FABLE—

Once upon a time the Giants and Phillies met in a ball game or a series in Philadelphia without a riot, a pitched battle or any outbreak more serious than a few broken heads. At least, the bulk of it was baseball and not a moving picture show, seeking to depict the French Revolution.

Moral—Fable is right.

We are yet unable to understand why the Giants and Phillies meet with bats and gloves. What they need is swords and rifles, poison and dynamite.

STILL THERE.

Mack's team, after winning sixteen out of seventeen, loses a double-header to the Yankees. Caldwell, ineffective most of the year, shuts the Athletics out with two hits. The Phillies hammer Marquard, Terrell and Mathewson in a row. Johnson holds the Red Sox to one hit in ten rounds and loses. Then the next day Groom and Eagle win in a canter. Cleveland wins three out of four from the Athletics and loses five straight to Washington and Boston. Yet there are those who desire to pry into the future of baseball affairs and who insist upon knowing in advance what may happen.

If any one should attempt to pick the world series winner upon the term both clubs have shown for about a month, the only answer would be that neither could help from losing out.

On the other hand, a club that starts sprinting from the barrier and swings into a long lead is likely to have as much speed for the stretch as one that has loosed along through July.

AS FOR ANGLES.

In the way of queer and unaccountable angles, here's another for you to dissect. Mathewson is leading the National league in victories and pitching upon his entire season's form the best ball he has shown for a number of years. Yet within the last three weeks upon three occasions he has yielded eight runs within three innings—a slaughter that rarely befalls the lowliest. After each setback he has come forward with the old stuff, showing that it was no arm trouble or any illness. He was in fine shape at all three starts, and yet combining these three rapid ambushes into nine-inning games he was assaulted, for (twelve) four runs—a higher average for nine innings than he generally allows for nine or ten games. Which goes to show that one day you are there in this game and the next you are somewhere else.

In the meanwhile Ty Cobb reeked the batting crest Saturday night, slipping on by Jackson. Force of habit, in the end, will generally tell the story.

Ty isn't out of danger yet, but as a rule he generally hits better in September than in June, July or August. Look back through the dope and you will find his heaviest batting has been in April, May and September. In June, July and August the pitching is generally more effective, when the heat thaws out the sinews of the arm and blurs the batting eye, which may account for the answer in part.

HARD LUCK VS. HARD LUCK.

There is quite a difference of opinion as to what constitutes hard luck. According to Connie Mack there is no such thing and with one fell swoop he peels the hide off the alibi.

"I don't consider," says Mack, "that I have had any hard luck recently. It is true enough that I have had eleven men crippled or sick, but I have always managed to have nine men on the playing field. I've heard most of the others roar like wounded sea lions with only two men hurt. Wonder what they'd say with eleven out of ten men."

Bollie Zeider has now had a bunion on his head and one on his foot. Some days if he isn't careful or lucky, he is going to have the dence of a line sitting down without the presence of poignant pains and considerable distress.

SAW CRACKERS WIN

Here is the lucky fan at the big Atlanta-Mobile game of Tuesday. Come around quick and you can get a ticket to see another good game between the two clubs. All you have to do is identify yourself.

"Kid" Herman Wins

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 2.—"Kid" Herman, of New Orleans, was awarded the decision over Eddie Coulon, also of New Orleans, at the end of an eight-round bout here tonight. Not more than a dozen clean blows were struck, but Herman's aggressiveness gave him the advantage. The men were "bantamweights." The men were "bantamweights."

ROANOKE, Va., Sept. 2.—Although the program for the annual shoot of the Virginia State Trap shooter's association, which opened Monday, covered but two days, the number of entries was so great that at the close of the contest Tuesday afternoon, several teams were not to take their turns at the traps. It is expected that the program will be concluded tomorrow, when the championship of Virginia will be decided.

"AWAY ABOVE" EVERYTHING

The $30,000 Battery

WHEN Barney Dreyfus gave $22,500 to the St. Paul Club of the American Association for the release of pitcher Jack O'Toole, the Pittsburgh National Leaguers put up a new high mark in baseball finance. To this sum, $7,500 was added and O'Toole's battery partner—William Kelly—was also secured, giving the Pirates the highest-priced battery in the world.

—LEAM, Mass., Sept. 2.—The Americans defeated the Germans even more decisively than yesterday in the second of the international under yacht series today. The race was a repetition of yesterday so far as luck went and was concerned, and was won by the Ellen, owned by Charles P.
